This project is being sponsored by the Business Mens Club, with Ben Ray as chairman of the building committee.

WT Homecoming Set For Saturday

Canyon. — Plans are nearing completion for the annual West Texas State Homecoming which has been set for Saturday, Oct. 27. College officials are making plans to accommodate approximately 5,000 of the school's 30,000 exes who make it back to the campus on the traditional day.

Highlight of the Homecoming Day activities will be a clash between the West Texas State Buffaloes and rival Hardin-Simmons University Cowboys in Buffalo Stadium at 2:30 Saturday afternoon.

With the final program arrangement yet to be announced, the program at present calls for the Homecoming Parade to be held at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning to be followed by the annual barbecue at 11:30 at the tennis courts.

Immediately preceding the football game will be the crowning of the college's football queen. Fifteen high school bands will entertain at the parade and at the game.

Club and organizational reunions will be held from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening. Modern dancing will be held in the college cafeteria starting at 8 o'clock with western dancing in Burton Gym.

Farmers Urged To Sell Scrap Steel

College Station. — Steel and more steel is needed by industries of the nation engaged in building weapons for defense, as well as items for civilian use. Steel mills can increase their output if greater supplies of scrap iron is made available to them. New steel is approximately half scrap and half pig iron and reports from the steel industry point out that supplies of scrap now on hand at the mills are dangerously low.

During the next month, farmers are urged to collect and sell all scrap that cannot be used on the farm. According to B. F. Vance, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Mobilization Committee, farm scrap is the special demand since it includes some of the heavier scrap iron and steel now needed by the mills.

Vance suggests that farmers check the farm for such scrap as worn-out plow points and shares, cultivator shovels and sweeps, horsedrawn equipment which has been replaced by tractors, unuseable wire and cables, old storage batteries and other items that no longer are used on the farm.

Farm machinery or equipment that can be repaired should not be scrapped, Vance says nor should metal that can be used for making repairs on other implements or equipment. Farmers are urged not only to make the best possible use of all machines and tools now on hand but to conserve all essential materials.

Discarded equipment unless collected and sold for scrap usually rusts away and no one derives any benefit from it. Periodic cleanup campaigns covering the entire farm also help to keep the farm tidy and more beautiful, says Vance. And farmers should remember that scrap is also needed to make the new steel that is used in making more and better farm machinery and equipment.

Homecoming For Tech This Week

Lubbock. — Texas Tech exes will find a different looking campus when they return for homecoming festivities Oct. 26-27.

Tech's $4 million campus improvement program is almost completed. And the skyline and turf have certainly changed by the expenditure. Almost completed are the new science building, a new engineering building, two wings to the administration building, a wing to the home economics building, a wing and a second floor to the petroleum engineering building, a new music building, and several other building improvements. A $500,000 student union building is underway, but is financed look-store profits, the Tech Ex-Student Association, campus concessions, and the accumulated surplus from the infirmary.

Most of the campus grounds are well matted in Bermuda grass to give Texas Tech a new look.

D. M. McElroy, executive secretary of the association, announced that registration of former students would start at 4 p. m., Oct. 26, in downtown hotels and on the campus. He expects about 5,000 ex-students to return for homecoming. The homecoming parade starts at 10 a. m. Saturday, Oct. 27, followed by a buffet luncheon at the Tech gymnasium.

The Tech-University of Arizona football game is set for 2:30 p. m. The homecoming dance will be at 9 p. m. in the gym.

ONE-A-DAY HOME HINTS

The average American spends 145 days of his lifetime in the tub or shower. There are 150 uses for hot water, and only four for cold water, namely: to cool off hot water, to sprinkle the lawn, to douse the fence when sleepy, and some people drink it.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY.

Longhorns Crush Hale Center 54-6

The Lockney Longhorns had a chance to play Friday night on Mitchell Zimmerman Field when they crushed the under-sized Hale Center Owls 54-6. It was the second district game and the second district win for the Longhorns.

The Longhorns scored the first time they got their hands on the ball, driving straight down the field from their own 38 with C. B. Smart carrying over from the 10 yard line. Bill Sherman kicked the point to make the score 7-0.

Statistics showed the Longhorns with 15 first downs to 5 for the Owls. The visitors didn't make a first down in the first half against the first and second string boys. Penalties were 30 yards for the Longhorns and 5 for Hale Center. The Longhorns attempted six passes and completed two for 41 yards while the Owls attempted two and completed one for 30 yards.

Late in the first quarter the Longhorns scored their second touchdown after a first down on the Hale Center 9 yard line. The locals made one into the line and then a pass from Meriwether to Bartram was good for the score. Sherman again stepped in to kick the point to make the score 14-0.

One thing that especially gladdened the hearts of local fans was the efficient way Bill Sherman kicked the points after touchdown. Bill kicked six straight points without missing one, in fact he kicked all that he tried. One was nullified by a penalty but Bill never missed a point all night.

Early in the second quarter a drive toward the Hale Center goal line was climaxed by a 26 yard run by Ray Ferguson for the score. The point was kicked but nullified by a penalty and the score was 20-0.

The Owls received the kick-off after the score and returned to their own 28, but couldn't gain and kicked to C. B. Smart standing on his own 35 yard line. Smart took off down field and aided by good blocking went all the way for the score. Sherman kicked the point and the score was 27-0.

Both the Hale Center and Lockney bands performed very nicely for the fans at the half-time. The Lockney drum major, Gayle Sherman, twirled a fire baton in darkness during the intermission and Glenda Beadhimer and Susie Farrish, with lights on their batons also entertained.

Coach Curtis Kelly turned the game over to Coach Robert Foote during the last half and reserves and the B squad finished it out. Almost every man in a suit played a part of the game.

The Owls received, returned to their own 20 and completed a pass to their own 35 for a first down. An exchange of fumbles resulted in Hale Center taking the ball back on their own 35. They couldn't gain and kicked with the Longhorns returning the favor. Hale Center fumbled the return kick and a Longhorn covered it on the Hale Center 25. The locals drove up to the 16 from which point Bill Sherman took off around left end, reversed his field and went all the way for the score. Sherman also kicked the point and the score was 34-0.

It wasn't long until he repeated the procedure. The Owls received and couldn't gain, kicked to their own 48. Sherman again carried for the score on a 48 yard run and again kicked the point, the score being 41-0.

A short kick by the Longhorns bounded off an Owl and was covered by a Longhorn on the Hale Center 42 yard line. Lewis Foster, reserve fullback drove through the middle of the Owl line and ran straight up the field for the score, the play covering 58 yards. An attempt to run the point failed and the score was 47-0.

In the fourth quarter the B string took over completely with Bill Paschal and Lewis Foster doing most of the ball carrying. An exchange of punts and a fumble gave the Longhorns the ball on the Hale Center 40. The Longhorns made 9, lost 2 and then Paschal dropped back and threw a beautiful pass to end Aubrey Cox who caught the ball in the open and raced over to score. The play covered 33 yards.

Paschal plunged the point and the score was 54-0. The Owls returned the kick-off to their own 42. They started a drive making a first on the Lockney 45, 1st on the Lockney 34, a pass to Owens was good for a first on the eight yard line and then Brewer drove through the middle for the score. The try for point was not good and the score was 54-6. The ball game ended soon afterward.

Methodist Notes

Our revival will begin Saturday night, Oct. 27, with a big Youth Rally at Petersburg. We will meet here at the church at 6:30. We will need some adults to take their cars. We want the Lockney church to have the largest crowd of any church in the District.

Rev. Lovelady of Marlin, our visiting preacher, will arrive in Plainview Friday afternoon. All the preachers in the District will meet there with the guest preachers for a dinner at the Methodist Church. They will get instructions and inspiration to go out to begin our revivals.

The total number reached during the revival in the other half of the state was 10,854. If we work and pray enough I believe we can reach as many or more.

We want the largest crowd at Church School since Rally Day. There was 250 Sunday. Let us make it 300 or more next Sunday. Come and be in your place. Invite some one to come with you. This is a big business that we are in, that of Winning Souls for Christ. The Bible says "He that winneth souls is wise."

Thoughts For The Week:

"God put his love within my heart,
 A love I ever must impart
 To a world in desperate need of care.
 All things God gives me I must share.
 This is the stewardship of living,
 A spontaneous and joyous giving."

You can help in our revival by being in your place at Church School Sunday. Don't forget to pray.

Nowton Daniel,
 Pastor.

Two Proposed Amendments Are Explained

(Editor's Note—This is the first of a series of articles written to explain five proposed amendments to the constitution of Texas. Voters will decide in an election on November 13 whether these amendments shall become parts of the constitution. These articles are provided by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce as a public service.)

RAISING RURAL FIRE PREVENTION DISTRICT TAX CEILING—Senate Joint Resolution (SJR) No. 8.
In 1949 voters approved a constitutional amendment providing for creation of Rural Fire Prevention Districts. It also provided that voters might create by election a tax not to exceed three cents per $100. The vote of this amendment was 153,252 for and 145,238 against.

The amendment to be voted upon November 13 would make only one change in this Rural Fire Prevention District provisions. It would raise the tax ceiling from three to 50 cents per $100.

VETERANS LAND LOANS—House Joint Resolution (HJR) No. 2.

In 1946 Texas voters approved by majority of 89,922 to 29,935 an amendment to the Constitution known as Section 49-b of Article III.

That amendment authorizes the State to issue up to $25,000,000 of bonds. Those bonds are sold to provide money that is loaned to veterans of World War II to buy farms or ranches. To operate this loan program the Veterans Land Board was created. It consists of the Governor, the State Comptroller and the Attorney General.

The amendment to be voted upon November 13 would make the following changes in the constitution's provisions affecting Veterans' Land Loans.

1. Increase from $25,000,000 to $100,000,000 the total amount of bonds the State could issue.

2. Make eligible for loans all men who serve in the armed forces as many as 90 days prior to December 31, 1952. The law now applies only to men who served prior to January 1, 1946.

3. Extend the life of the loan program from November, 1954, to November, 1959.

The legislature has enacted a law to put this amendment into effect immediately if it is approved on November 13.

To August 31, 1950 approximately one and one-half percent of Texas' 800,000 veterans had obtained these loans. The veterans' land fund purchased land for veterans costing $17,000,000 during the first year it operated.

Expense of administering the program is paid from the general revenue fund of the state—from taxes. This expense totaled $106,479 in the year ending August 31, 1950. The legislature has appropriated $150,000 for 1952 and $140,000 for 1953 to meet operating expenses.

EDITORIAL

For it is written, As I live, saith the Lord, every knee shall bow to me and every tongue shall confess to God.—Romans 14:11.

We're beginning to believe that Walter Rogers, congressman from the 18th district of Texas, has the making of a real statesman. At any rate we will agree wholeheartedly with Mr. Rogers position of the past week when he was the lone Texas member of congressmen to vote against President Truman's five and a half billion tax bill. Mr. Rogers voted against it with the statement that "I believe that this amount can be saved even in military expenditures by wise and careful use."

Imagine, if you can, $15,750,000,000. That's how much taxes have been boosted since the beginning of the Korean War. We don't mean World War II either. That tax boost means that every man, woman and child in the United States pays $100 per year more in taxes than they did during World War II. As Mr. Rogers says in a recent statement, "The needless waste of tax money, whether it be for military items or otherwise, is nothing short of criminal and must be stopped." In another place he says, "Military personnel should be more prudent in the expenditure of tax funds than they would be in their own personal business because they are in a position of trust."

It doesn't take a smart man to see and know that every federal government job is an example of extravagance and reckless spending. It happens almost every where there is federal money spent. The example set by the late President Roosevelt is getting this country prepared for World War II is being carried on to this present day even though the emergency is no longer with us. There might have been some reason to try to buy time with money in the early forties but there is no reason for that now. But the politician and military can't seem to break the habit.

Where will all this tax business stop? Already most private business, and especially the small businessman, is having trouble keeping his head above the water. There is no money left for improvement or expansion. He must plod along, hoping that taxes will some day be reduced, and that he will then have a chance to get ahead. To top it off, the President is already calling for another tax increase for January session of Congress. It is no wonder that people falsify their income tax reports and cheat the government every way possible. Not that such action is right, but it certainly is the natural thing to do.

The federal government is asking every one to economize and sacrifice for the public good while they are spending money recklessly, extravagantly and sometimes even foolishly.

Mr. Truman reveals almost every day his true nature—that of a cheap politician holding an office much too big for him. His appointment this week of General Clark as envoy to the Vatican just at the time of the adjournment of Congress is only another example of this statement. Of course, one purpose was to prevent Congress from having an opportunity to turn down the appointment before Clark arrived at Rome. The purpose of appointing the envoy in the first place was merely one of enticing the heavy Catholic vote in the states of New York and Pennsylvania.

The City of Lockney still needs some public rest rooms. If the City government doesn't have the money to spend to provide for such, then the businessmen themselves ought to get together and see that one is built. The present heavy population of transient laborers in this area has made the need critical. Of course, such a rest room could hardly be built now in time to help the situation this fall, but it is no less needed. Let's do something about it.

NOBODY PAYS FOR ADVERTISING, OKLAHOMA PROFESSOR EXPLAINED

Nobody pays for advertising but the non-advertiser, according to the definition of advertising, written some years ago by Prof. John H. Casey of the University of Oklahoma. Professor Casey wrote: "What is advertising? One form of salesmanship. "Purpose? To sell. "Who pays for it? "John and Mary Public says they do, indirectly. "Solomon Isaac Business Man says he knows too well that he pays for advertising. "But I say the customer does not pay an advertising bill if the advertising is effective, efficiently done, run in the right medium at the right time, and is, in every respect, right. "For when greater demand for goods is created by advertising, more goods can be manufactured in larger quantities, and shelves restocked at less cost per unit of production per item of merchandise, in consequence of that created demand, either at less cost or with more quality at the same cost—which amounts to the same thing.

"There you have the theory of mass production and quantity buying packed together in a pecan shell.

"Yes, the merchant is sure he pays the advertising cost. But I say he does not, for the larger volume of business the retailer can do, the less his percentage of overhead, of which advertising is but one of many items. No more light, no more heat, no more of several other overhead items are required for $110,000 turnover than for $100,000.

"Well, if the customer doesn't pay and the merchant doesn't pay for advertising—then, who does pay?

"Why, bless your soul! The truth of the matter is that effective advertising is self-supporting, self-liquidating. Nobody pays for good advertising, unless, if we must find someone to pay for it, I guess it comes pretty near being the non-advertising merchant who pays — and pays and pays—whose overhead goes up as his sales volume goes down—he and the non-advertising customer who buys blind, fails to read the ads and in consequence gets stuck with inferior, non-advertised goods, at higher prices than he needs to pay!"—The American Press.

SPEND, SPEND, SPEND

Raymond Moley devoted his recent Newsweek columns to Senator Paul Douglas's valiant and almost totally unsuccessful effort to wing a little of the water out of the Federal budget. In conclusion he wrote, "It will take more than name calling, phony statistics, and wisecracks by the President to dissipate the feeling over this country that since people are being forced by higher taxes to practice self-denial, the government should set the example. All through the country there are too many glaring examples of Federal extravagance to escape notice. The country is a wreck one, but it cannot stand military expenses of the size that will be essential, unless there is economy in nonmilitary spending. Taxes will not suffice and inflation must be the deadly harvest."

Every proposal to economize has been steamrolled to death in Congress. That is true of the huge rivers and harbors bill which is the pork-barrel deluge. It is true of such lesser matters as Senator Douglas's proposal to abolish the old practice of maintaining, at the taxpayer's expense, a free barber shop for Senators. The number of Congressional voices which have been raised against waste are pitifully few, and can hardly be heard over the roaring "spend, spend, spend; tax, tax, tax" chorus.

If there is any better way to destroy a country from within than to countenance waste, extravagance and corruption in government, no one has thought of it. The people are being bled white by taxes now, and the incentive to work to save, and to achieve is being destroyed. If we keep on going in the present direction there can be only one end—that is national bankruptcy and national ruin. It happened to great empires of past times. It can happen here.—Tulsa Herald.

Increased accuracy, smoother shooting and longer gun life will reward the shooter who spends a little time in keeping his guns in first class condition. Given a new gun to start with, a few minutes cleaning time will keep it in perfect condition whereas the neglected gun becomes increasingly difficult to clean satisfactorily.

Cleaning a rifle or shotgun involves five simple operations: The bore is first swabbed with a flannel patch well saturated with nitro solvent. Cleaning should be done from the breech of the barrel if possible, and the muzzle of gun should rest on a clean magazine or a block of wood (not on the wife's rug). The patch should be run up and down the bore several times to saturate the powder residue thoroughly with the solvent oil. Any brand of powder solvent available will do. The next calls for a brass brush. (Be sure it is brass). Running this up and down the bore will remove the sticky powder fouling partially loosened by the action of the solvent. The brush should be pushed out of the barrel on each down stroke. Reversing the direction of the brush inside the bore does nothing but ruin the brush. Next repeat the first operation. Dry the barrel thoroughly. Start by wiping the rod clean. You will need four to six clean patches. Run the first patch down, up, down and out at the muzzle end. Run the rest of the patches through the bore only once, discarding each at the muzzle end. The final patch should show perfectly clean and dry. If it shows dirt, you should repeat the operations.

The final operation is oiling. This is done with a clean patch. Use any good gun oil. This will protect the gun from four to six weeks. If the gun is to be stored for a longer period than this, use gun grease instead of the lighter oil.

Watch your expiration date.

ONE-A-DAY HOME HINTS

Grease is often carelessly poured down a kitchen drain. If hot water is poured down the drain immediately, it does not become clogged.

Soils can be protected against winter losses by providing them with a blanket of green. The blanket can be made of adapted winter legumes or small grains and both can be used as supplemental grazing crops.

Study Of Beef Prices Available

College Station. — "Selecting a market for his livestock is one of the stockman's most important decisions," points out Dr. John G. McNeely, agricultural economist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Dr. McNeely recently made a study of comparative beef cattle prices at the three major Texas public livestock markets — Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio — for the period 1946-50. The findings of this study are given in Miscellaneous Publication 78.

In this bulletin Dr. McNeely compares prices for all grades of livestock in each classification steers, cows, bulls, calves, and heifers — at each market, and for each grade at the three markets.

Transportation costs by rail and truck are included in the bulletin also, so the producer can evaluate prices in terms of additional costs of shipment to more distant markets.

"The purpose of this publication is to give the livestock producers an analysis of recent price behavior on the three leading livestock markets of Texas," said Dr. McNeely.

Miscellaneous Publication 78 is available from the Publications Office, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, College Station, Texas.

New Process May Mean More Chrome

Austin. — A University of Texas professor's discovery is expected to keep chrome trim on autos and home furnishings despite growing defense production.

Dr. Norman Hackerman, chemistry professor, has developed a new chromium plating technique which by-passes the use of nickel, in critically short supply because of the defense effort.

In present processes, nickel must first be plated on steel to give chromium a "foothold" when it is added. The Hackerman process allows chromium to plate directly on steel.

Plenty of chromium probably will be available for trim on manufactured articles

Violations Of Child Labor Law Not High

Dallas. — While most public schools in the Southwest have been in operation a full month or more, violations of the Federal law dealing with child labor in agriculture during school hours have not been alarmingly high, a government spokesman here reported today.

William J. Rogers, Regional Director of the Labor Department's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions for five Southwestern states, said that while his investigators had found some violations, most reports indicate that farmers generally were complying with the law and that, as good citizens, they wanted to comply with it.

Some newspapers, he said, are reported to have given the erroneous impression that violation of the law subjected violators to a minimum fine of $10,000. That, he pointed out, is the maximum assessment under the law, and it can only be assessed by a Federal court.

"We understand that penalties provided by the law have been imposed elsewhere in the United States," he said, "but no employer of farm labor in this region has been fined for violation of this provision of the law."

Rogers said he hoped that record of good citizenship in the Southwest would remain unbroken.

Soil Conservation District News

Ed Whitfill of Lockney made 5000 pounds of grain sorghum per acre on a tract of land on one of his farms. This area had been in alfalfa which was plowed up three years ago.

Wm. Whitfill has purchased a legume seeder to plant legumes in growing crops.

Harmon Handley, who lives south of Lockney, states that he made a good feed crop this year with just one watering on ground he had bench leveled. Mr. Handley says that he has had his benches long enough that he is sure that he can make a crop with one-half the water that it takes on the ground that is not benched.

New Publication, "Soil And Water" To Begin Soon

Landowners throughout the Lockney area will be interested in the announcement by the Association of Texas Soil Conservation District Supervisors that a new publication, "Soil and Water" will be launched the latter part of December, designed to help further the conservation of land through the far-flung soil conservation district program which now covers 95 percent of the entire state.

The Lockney area is in the Floyd County Soil Conservation District, served by SCS technicians with headquarters in Floydada.

The publication is being sponsored by farmers and ranchers who are members of soil conservation districts, which now cover 142,327,400 acres in Texas.

Its purpose will be simply to help solidify the efforts of these 100,000 far seeing landowners toward a permanent land usage program which will keep Texas soil productive from now on. Clayton Puckett, president of the association and a landowner and active rancher at Ft. Stockton, said,

"Soil and Water" will be published monthly, starting the latter part of December, and will contain upwards of 50 pages devoted to all phases of the district program, which includes conservation of soil, water, range, timber and wildlife.

Editorial offices will be maintained in the Wilson Building in Temple, where the long-handed organization, the Association of Texas Soil Conservation District Supervisors, has its headquarters. John B. Cole, executive director of the association, will serve as editor. He was formerly with the Texas State Soil Conservation Board and has had wide experience in agricultural work.

Louis Reid, native of Fort Worth, is managing editor. His experience includes publishing a community newspaper in Fort Worth, reporter for the Fort Worth Star Telegram and Fort Worth Press. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri.

H. B. Fox of Taylor will serve as a contributing editor. He writes for Collier's magazine and numerous Texas papers.

Ernest Lee Ludwick of Dallas is advertising manager. Ludwick is an experienced advertising man, attended school at UCLA and was a photo pilot in the Navy for five years during the war.

Dorothy Mahler of Temple, formerly with the Temple Telegram, will be circulation manager. "While the magazine is designed for landowning members of the soil conservation districts of the state, it will be of interest to business and professional people and others interested in Texas' foremost resource, its land, and frankly we invite all to become subscribers," Cole said. "The price is $3 a year." The magazine will be a non-profit enterprise devoted to conservation of our agricultural natural resource, he added.

The first fish hatchery as was established in Springs in Austin in 1882 was devoted to producing bass for the market.
