Thornton Monday In Hospital

Claude Thornton, a former resident of Phoenia, Texas, is in a Phoenia hospital. Mr. Thornton was taken to the hospital on a train enroute from Los Angeles. Reports here said he was carried directly to a hospital on the train. He was taken away within a few hours.

Some Cotton Up, Rains Hamper Farm Work

Rains continued to hamper farm operations in Floyd County this week with moisture measuring up to three inches reported in the past week. Some cotton is up to a good stand while there will be lots of planting over in other fields.

Heaviest rainfall was reported in the area south of Lockney. Johns Cox reported 1.6 inches Thursday night and additional moisture Sunday and Monday nights to total more than three inches. Other farmers in that area received like amounts.

At Lockney the moisture measured .35 of an inch Thursday night, .35 of an inch Sunday night and .65 Monday night. The rainfall was also reported to be fairly heavy in the Sterley area.

In addition to hindering planted cotton the moisture, coupled with rust, is causing some wheat to fall, it was reported here.

Estimates were that 30 to 40 per cent of the cotton in the Lockney area is up to a stand but the remainder will have to be replanted if it has been planted. Replanting is especially necessary where 1957 seed is used, it was said.

At Aiken, reports from Paymaster Gin said that the matter is undecided there but that some would definitely have to be replanted.

At Lone Star only a small part of the cotton is up to a stand and there will be lots of replanting. There will be considerable "scratching" in all areas in an effort to get the cotton up.

A definite seed shortage in some areas has developed. Some farmers are being forced to plant seed of low germination because none others are available. Other areas report adequate seed to take care of immediate needs.

"KNOWN BUT TO GOD"

Thousands flock every year from all corners of our nation to stand in hushed reverence before the tomb of the soldier "known but to God."

To all others, he is labeled "Unknown." And in this fact alone, there is tremendous significance. No man knows who this boy really was—but God knows!

God knows you, too, as he knows every man, every woman, every child in the world. That means that no matter who you are, no matter what you do, you can never be really "unknown."

You might ask yourself, "Do I know Him?" If the answer is negative, remember that your first step in finding Him is the step that takes you through the door of His house on earth.

Start going to church!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For the sake of his children's sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Armed Forces Day Program at Reese Saturday
Additional displays, demonstrations and events slated for Reese's "open house" during Armed Forces Day, May 17, have been announced by Lt. Col. Raymond R. Ray, Project Officer.

Prior confirmed events include a flyover by 19 Navy and Air Force aircraft, a static display of 28 Air Force, Navy, and Aero Club planes, pilot-less aircraft flights, artillery firing demonstrations, a cutaway "Nike" guided missile display, helicopter maneuvers, and display of a satellite radio model. The aircraft displays and flyovers range from Piper Cubs to the latest model jet fighters and bombers.

Other displays consist of ground powered motor pool equipment such as a 20-ton crane, electric line construction truck, a 6,000 pound capacity fork lift truck, drivers school mock-ups, a five-ton all-purpose wrecker, and a tug used for towing aircraft and trailers.

Also, visitors may see a Marine field maneuver, a 3500th Pilot Training Wing parade, special music by Texas Tech's Army-Air Force ROTC band, and precision drill by Tech's AFROTC "Sabre" and "Angel" flights.

One of the day's highlights will be a sonic boom pass over Reese by an F-100 jet fighter. The plane, which will be flying 10 minutes in the area, will make the pass at 3:50 p.m. from 45,000 feet at transonic speeds. The boom will be aimed at the unpopulated area of the base, and the aircraft will pull out to the northwest away from towns and villages. Reese officials emphasized that no possible damage could result from the boom.

Meanwhile, many other activities for the open house are being planned to make Armed Forces Day one of the most interesting and informative ever held at Reese, Colonel Ray stated.

These include additional exhibits of military equipment and an information program portraying characteristics of aircraft, both on and off the ground, and other items on display.

Open house activities will begin at 8:30 a.m. and run until 5 p.m. Visitors will be able to walk through and around aircraft. The flyovers, sonic boom, artillery firing, music, and drills will be scheduled closely throughout the day.

Sufficient parking space will be available on Reese's ramp, and alternate lots will be designated if the ramp fills. Also, refreshment stands operated by wives clubs will sell homemade cakes and pies, soft drinks, coffee, and hotdogs. Boy Scouts will also operate stands and will purvey drinks, ice cream, candy and popcorn on the flightline.

TESTING PROGRAM IS PROVING VALUABLE HERE

A testing program in the local school system, instituted and operated by Supervisor Henry Ford Jr., is proving valuable to teachers and administrators alike and will become more so as the various individual records obtain more complete, a study of the program revealed recently.

Although local students have been given achievement tests for several years, it was only two years ago when Mr. Ford began the program in an organized way and started keeping individual records on each student. He has a cumulative record file now on each student and will continue to add to the file as long as the student remains in the local school. Thus only a short record of some two or three years will be available on high school students but the lower grade students will have a longer file depending upon what grade they were in two years ago.

The tests are given all grades at various times during the year and then Mr. Ford works up a profile chart on each student, for use of the school administrators in planning the school program and also for use of the school teacher in working with the individual student in the coming year. The testing program covers all subjects in the curriculum.

The testing program reveals the weaknesses in the school program, showing in what particular subjects the majority of the students are having trouble and therefore enables the school administration, in planning its program for the year, to try to overcome those weaknesses. It also reveals the weaknesses of the individual students and is an aid to teachers, enabling them to plan special emphasis on the subjects in which the student shows a weakness. In like manner the program also reveals the strong points in each subject and each student thus letting the administration know that a good job is being done in those special fields.

The local test results are compared to the national norm and each student's grade is compared to the class average, and from this comes a percentile rank for each student. The tests may be used to see that the student is growing and developing normally and also may reveal special talents or skills in some certain field of study. It also measures fundamental skills or abilities in all students in all fields of study. Home room teachers are always glad to discuss individual problems with the students or their parents if previous arrangements are made. Mr. Ford said.

CROSS ROADS REPORT
Dear Editor:
Crossroads, U.S.A. I see where Congress figures on passing an amendment to the music of "The Star-Spangled Banner" so it will be easier for people to sing.

But my untuned neighbor says most of us can't sing anyhow, knowingly or unknowingly, regardless of where they put the black dots on the little ladder in the song books.

What we ought to do, he says, is swap our National Anthem for a new National Yell. Something a little more stirring, of course, than the "Ouch!" we have been using lately.

D. E. SCOTT

Specials emphasized that no possible damage could result from the boom.

HOW LONG TO BEAT EGG WHITES

Some recipes call for "soft peaks," others say "stiff peaks" — what's the difference when a recipe calls for beaten egg whites? Margaret Spader, home service editor of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association says that soft peaks bow their heads when a knife is run through the surface and stiff peaks stand erect and proud. Egg whites beaten to the soft peak stage are used for leavening in recipes, while meringue type recipes call for egg whites beaten very stiff.

Sand Hill News

By Mrs. James Jeffress

Everyone was busy watching clouds Sunday night and hoping there wasn't any hail. Only 1/2 inch of rain was received, but that was nearly too much after the rain Thursday night. Some cotton is trying to come up this week.

Visiting in the home of Mary Starkey Wednesday afternoon were Beverly Jeffress, Fern Sissney and Karen McPherson. The later two were from Lockney.

The Sand Hill Club met Wednesday afternoon in the club room with Mrs. T. C. Hollums as hostess. Mrs. Hollums gave the devotional from Matt. 7. Mrs. Lynn Miller reported that Floyd County may get a home demonstration agent in the near future. Mrs. Orion Miller gave an interesting report on the District meeting in Big Spring. The Sand Hill nominee for the State T.H.D.A. meeting in Austin August 14, 15, 16 was Mrs. Orion Miller. Guest speaker was Glenn Amburn from Radio Station KFLD who spoke on Civil Defense. The two main subjects being radio active fallout and tornadoes. Present were Mmes. Wayne Billington, A. L. Bullocks, T. C. Hollums, James Jeffress, Walter Knight, Orion Miller, Johnny Miller, Orba Miller, Lynn Miller, J. T. Spears, Hollis McLain, Bill Stringer, and Ed Noel. The next meeting will be May 24 with Mrs. W. R. Billington as hostess.

All parents should teach their children what to do in case of tornado if they are away from home. It may save their lives. In schools always avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums. Everyone present was very proud of the new home freezing books Mrs. Orion Miller passed out. George Mahon was kind enough to send them.

Those in the home of Jim Holmes Friday night listening to the book of "Revelations," being taught, were Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Miller and family. Mr. and Mrs. Willie Patterson and family. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Billington, W. E. Miller, Veri Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Orion Miller Refreshments and singing was enjoyed afterwards. This was sponsored by the Church of Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Owens from New Mexico were visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Knight over the week end.

Billie Gail Holmes and La Wana Womack enjoyed the Floydada band picnic at Roaring Springs Saturday.

Sand Hill Baptist Church had a monthly business meeting Wednesday night. All reports were given. M. B. Swanner, Sunday School Superintendent, said all grades were down this month. Bad weather and sickness being some of the causes. There will be a mission school November 17 thru the 21. Preparation day for Bible School will be June 2 and the opening day will be June 3 and lasting ten days. Brother Wayne Bristol will do the preaching in the Youth Revival beginning May 30.

We are sorry to report that Robert Becker has been in the hospital the past week. He is home now and is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Ferguson have been enjoying a few days fishing this week.

Janet Miller and Buck Jackson were honored with a birthday get together in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Jackson Saturday night. INSECTS — Many farmers are experiencing damage on corn, grain sorghum and vegetable crops from Flea beetles. The small black insect 1-6 inch long that hop like fleas when disturbed. The main damage is found on the leaves. The use of toxaphene 1-3 to 2 quarts per acre, Chlordane, 1 to 1 1/2 quarts per acre, DDT to 2 to 3 quarts per acre. Dust may also be used but on the average better control can be expected by spray due to high winds. Guides for amounts may be obtained in the County Agent Office.

EARLY INSECT CONTROL — This can be one of the most profitable operations in producing quality cotton. Early season control insures early fruiting and maturity. Early season control applied automatically at the four to eight leaf stage should be a yearly practice. This application can be applied at a cost of 50 cents or less per acre. Three applications seven days apart will cost $1.50 per acre, this is one of the cheapest practices for the return we receive. In tests, the return for three applications has been as high as $100.00 per acre as compared to no early season control.

Quality cotton is going to pay dividends to farmers who follow steps to improve his cotton, by production practices.

ONIONS—The damp weather that we are having is very conducive to Fungus diseases in onions. We have had some fungus disease the past two seasons. If you notice a fungus disease appearing in your onions dust immediately with a good fungicide. If a fungus gets a head start it can be rather expensive to control.

Fungus diseases are very likely to appear after hail storms. If you get much hail you might be ahead to dust with a good fungicide.

If the weather turns off hot after cool damp weather, blast might appear in the onions. There is no control for blast. It is very hard to distinguish between blast and a fungus disease.

4-H Electric Program Sparks Future Scientists

Somewhere in this great state may be a teen-ager who one day will make a vital contribution to the nation concerning new uses of electricity and electronics. The opportunity lies in the 4-H Electric program conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service for 4-H Club members between the ages of 16 and 21.

It is highly probable that many 4-H'ers participating in the project will find a future career in electrical and scientific fields. They will help to lessen today's urgent need for more and better scientists.

4-H'ers Rewarded

Hundreds of 4-H'ers already have achieved nation-wide recognition for their inventiveness and application of electrical energy to both farm and home use. In addition, thousands have been rewarded by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation, which has supported the 4-H Electric program for almost a quarter of a century.

Maintain High Goals

The principal objectives of the project are to learn more about electricity and its uses, and to develop good citizenship along with effective leadership. All 4-H'ers completing projects may submit their achievement records in competition for county, state and national awards provided by Westinghouse.

County winners will receive medals like the one pictured above. The state winner will attend the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago with all expenses paid, while six national winners will be awarded $400 college scholarships.

"Learn" Stressed

Recently one of the nation's top atomic scientists stated that educators should stress "learn" instead of "teach." Since the beginning of 4-H Club work, the 4-H slogan has been "learn by doing," the Extension Service points out, and the electric project is no exception.

Local volunteer 4-H leaders cooperating with State and County Extension workers guide club members in their various undertakings.

$1.81 Minimum Support Price On Wheat

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced an "advance" minimum national average support price of $1.81 per bushel for 1959-crop wheat, if wheat marketing quotas are approved by producers in the June 20 referendum. The advance support price reflects 75 per cent of the estimated modernized parity price for wheat as of July 1, 1959. The level of support is indicated on the bases of estimated wheat supplies for the 1959-60 marketing year.

Unless growers disapprove quotas, the law provides for a variable support level (between 75 and 90 per cent of parity) based on the relationship of the estimated total supply of wheat available for the marketing year to a determined normal supply for the year. The "forward pricing" provisions authorize setting up minimum support price in advance of crop planting time, using the latest information and statistics available.

The estimated supply of wheat for the 1959-60 marketing year which begins July 1, 1959, is 170.9 per cent of the normal supply. With quotas in effect, this calls for a minimum 75 per cent level of support under the law's supply formula.

If marketing quotas are approved by producers, the national average support price available to eligible producers in the commercial area will be not less than the $1.81 per bushel announced May 1. This minimum average support price will not be reduced but may be increased if a combination of the wheat parity price as of July 1, 1959, and wheat supply relationships of that date indicate a higher support price. Producers in the commercial area who stay within their allotments will be eligible for price support on their entire production. In the 10-State non-commercial wheat area, county support rates, as provided by law when allotments are in effect in the commercial area, will be 75 per cent of what they would be if the noncommercial counties were in the commercial area.

If marketing quotas are disapproved, the support level in the commercial wheat producing area under legislative provisions will be at 50 per cent of parity, or about $1.20 per bushel on the basis of estimated transitional parity. Compliance with allotments would continue to be a condition of eligibility for the lower support price.

Commencement At Tech June 2

Lubbock—Texas Tech's June 2 commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Arthur S. Adams, president of the American Council on Education, Dr. E. N. Jones, Tech president, announced.

The 62-year-old physicist and spokesman for U.S. education is former president of the University of New Hampshire. He left that post in 1951 to head the council in Washington, D.C. Dr. Adams was a central figure in planning and administering the Navy's wartime V-12 training program, in which 150,000 officer candidates were enrolled in colleges and universities.

He also helped shape the postwar Naval ROTC program. He has been chairman of the Defense Department's joint advisory panel on ROTC affairs and of the reserve forces policy board.

Dr. Adams began his scientific career in the Navy. He was graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy and served in the submarine service before going to the University of California for a master's degree in physics.

Educational administration began claiming his time at Colorado School of Mines, where he received a doctorate in physics and metallurgy.

After becoming assistant to the president there, Dr. Adams moved to Cornell University as assistant dean of engineering. He later became provost.

FEATHERED GRIDDLE CAKES

Beat three egg whites until they hold peaks but are not dry. Beat the three egg yolks until they are the color of lemons. Then stir in 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup flour and 1/4 cup cottage cheese. Fold in the beaten whites. Place a lightly greased griddle over the automatic top burner heat control on your range and set the dial at 375 degrees. Place a tablespoon full of batter on the griddle for each griddle cake. Cook about one minute on each side. Serve with maple or fruit syrup. This recipe makes 16 small pancakes or 4-5 servings.

Class History

By Jan Widener

ABC, 1 and 1 is 3 . . . In 1946 nineteen little six-year-olds enrolled in the first grade. These 19 youngsters were the beginning of the class of '58. Their first grade teachers were Mrs. Muncy and Mrs. Cox. This little group consisted of Joe Rigby, Barbara Wilson, Jane Chandler, Paul Schacht, Kelly Harrison, David Howell, Ronnie Laceywell, Wayne Cumble, Bobby Mills, Hope Cox, Clifford Hardy, Neilson Wofford, Eddie Gloyna, Jerry Davis, Charlyne Brown, Gayle Rucker, Virginia Caldwell, Kay Golden, and John Truett. At mid-term of that year three more playmates joined their midst: Loy O'Brien, Glenda Foard, and Jerry Williams.

3 take away 1 is 4 . . . The second year brought much learning. These future seniors learned to subtract and to write their names in longhand. The teachers of these eager youths were Mrs. Page and Mrs. Hansard. Five students were added to the class the second year; they were Betty Graham, Dolores Brown, Sally Cox, Larry Hammit, and Bruce Lynn.

K-A-T spells cat . . . Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Ayres helped to develop the minds of these tots during the third grade. They learned to spell cat, dog, and rat; they learned to draw pretty pictures; they learned to add 8 and 19, Lahoma Rowell, Jean Wofford, Arlie Pinner, John Hanst, Anna Mae Leach, and Jan Widener arrived in Lockney during that year of advancement.

1/2 and 1/2 is 2 . . . Joining the prosperous class of '58 in 1949, 50 were Martha Harden and Jane Willis. During this fourth year of progress, Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Gannard taught those 31 students, along with other things (such as baseball) to add 3-4 and 1-4 and make it.

Canada is south of the United States . . . The fifth grade brought about many interesting situations. Along with spelling, reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, the young boys learned to carve L L U V U on the desks of the fifth grade room. At mid-term of that year Lajuan Sandlin joined the ranks of these young lovers. Miss Norris and Mrs. Bacous taught them the various fundamentals of learning.

George Washington was the sixteenth president . . . During the sixth grade these youths were becoming young ladies and gentlemen, or so they thought. The members of the class and their teachers, Mrs. Haynes and Mrs. Reeves, welcomed Joyce Dillard and the twins, Coy and Roy Kidd to the sixth grade class of Lockney.

San Antonio is the capital of Texas . . . Seventh graders at last, Tommie Davis, Bill and Fayze Musser arrived at the C. N. Townsend Grade School in time to step up the seventh rung of the ladder of learning with the other girls and boys of the Future Class of '58. Assisting that seventh step of advancement were Mrs. Dutton and Miss Williamson.

The subject of the following sentence is went: The man went to town . . . At the beginning of the eighth year these young ladies and gents were moved to high school because of lack of room at elementary school. The last months of the second semester they were privileged to move into a shiny new junior high building. That year Lone Star sent four new students, Donald Farish, Larry Jarrett, Sandra Lawson, and Betty Graves. Other students which came were Bill Bigham and Anita Durham. To conclude that year 43 young people graduated into high school as freshmen. Mr. Bradford and Mrs.

Entering the class as new freshmen were Martha Cryer, Nelda Tims, Kenneth Holt, Joe Rexrode, Dickie Barton, and Aubrey Green.

The toe bones are called phalanges . . . Algebra II, biology, and dating. They survived the underclassman year. Joining the Family of '58 that Sophomore year were Troy Stapp and M. L. Johnson. Their sponsors through these nine months were Mrs. Ingram and Mr. Lyons.

Two lines perpendicular to the same line are perpendicular . . . Junior Play, Junior Senior Banquet, Football, Basketball, Track — Hoorah! for our team. At last they became upperclassmen. Assisting in their activities during the year of 1956-57 were Mrs. Adams and Mr. Johnson. Lane Crank was added to the class this year.

These were the experiences of the Seniors of 1958. Such wonderful hours spent together. Sharing these experiences with them were sponsors, Mrs. Ziegler and Mrs. Applewhite, along with parents and friends. Howard Purcell joined the class this last year. THE BEACON fore joins with other people of the community in extending congratulations and best wishes to all the graduates, both those from high school and those from the eighth grade. Discounting all the trite phrases that have been repeated hundreds of times concerning the graduating classes that have gone on before it is still quite some accomplishment to complete the required work and receive a diploma showing that your efforts have been satisfactory. Especially notable in the high school graduating class is the number of honor students. All through the year an unusual number in this class have appeared on the honor roll and the final list of those with average grades of 90 or above totals more than 20 out of a class of a little more than 60.

NATIONAL COTTON Week is set for next week, May 19-24. Which reminds us that we in the cotton country don't make enough to do about cotton. We ought to emphasize more the wearing and the use of cotton in various ways, we ought to demand some of our stores and encourage the use of more cotton in all phases of manufacture. It is well known that any manufacturer advertises his product in order to sell it and that he himself uses it. Why not the grower of cotton push the use of his product in the same way. National Cotton Week ought to be a big thing in the cotton country.

THREE of four races in the Democratic primaries will furnish most of the interest for the current campaign, as far as Floyd County is concerned. Of course the governor's race may create quite a bit of excitement, especially if "Poppy" O'Daniel gets loose very much. The race for State Senator, 39th district, may also create a lot of excitement. We've heard rumors of some sensational developments in this race but don't know for sure what's going to happen, of course. The four candidates for state representative will have a lively race. It should be a close one since each of the four counties in the district has a candidate of its own and none of them are well known outside of their home county. It's the first time we can remember when each county had its own candidate in this race.

IN THIS PART of the county, of course, the big race is that for Commissioner, Precinct 2, with six candidates in the race. Four men are in the race for Justice of the Peace, precincts 1 and 4, Floydada, and two men are in the race for Commissioner, precinct 4. Many candidates will be unopposed but there is apparently enough competition in the various campaigns to create considerable interest.

A STUDY made in 1954 by the Committee for Economic Development, which is composed of 150 leading businessmen and educators, came to the conclusion that it is in the national interest of the United States to reduce our tariffs and other barriers to foreign trade on a gradual and selective basis. A Committee spokesman says that this need is even more compelling now than it was then, a major reason being the Soviet economic offensive.

THE ANNUAL Red Cross campaign for members and funds is underway. According to General Gruenther, Red Cross president, disaster expenditures have totaled $56 million in the last two-and-a-half years and have swept away all disaster reserves not cup deeply into already inadequate emergency funds. He adds that the organization is in a more critical state now than at the beginning of World War II.

COLUMNIST VICTOR RIESEL reports that the AFL-CIO big union, working through its Committee on Political Education, will go all-out this year to elect political candidates who are favorable to its goals and programs. At least 40 million pieces of literature will be distributed in the next eight months, and an attempt will be made to see that all of the union's 13,500,000 members are registered to vote. Emphasis is on grass-roots activity.

NONE WHOLE OR CLEAN

An old boy writing to the editor of The Clovis News-Journal seems to have trading at home on his mind. We quote the letter about incongruous things:

Editor: Did you ever hear laughter at a funeral? Incongruous ain't it!

Incongruous pronounced incongruous is a seven-year-old's word for something goofy. Like if in tracing a T-bone served in a Clovis cafe you had to travel to Ft. Worth and wind up back in a Clovis cattle auction pit.

It means like when I saw a grocer stick out his tongue at people passing by enroute to Roswell or elsewhere to buy food neither better nor cheaper. His tongue wasn't incongruous, but his sentiments were: because in this hell-and-hog raising country his meat counter was stacked with hams imported from Holland.

There was something incongruous about the ideas of the proprietor of a novelty store where I buy my wife's jewelry: he stood before a prominent display of gaudy IMPORTED dolls berating people who patronize mail-order houses.

If a prospect barged into the office of a certain automobile dealer and confessed to the disloyalty of having chosen a foreign made car, it would be incongruous for the dealer to bounce the culprit over the head with a couple of his foreign-made office machines, but he could.

Finally, there's no better example of incongruity than its application to the reasoning of officials in at least one nearby town who write dums on imported typewriters for the collection of taxes figured on imported calculators in support of schools whose students must use Italian-made typewriters to produce themes on the superiority of American workmanship. — J. M. Forbes in Muleshoe Journal.

MODERN CIVILIZATION

So you think you live in a modern civilization, where most of our ideas are new. Well, just listen to this: Babylonia had Hangover Remedies; Farm Belief was common in Sumaria 5,000 years ago; Rome used the Secret Ballot in 139 B. C.; Ancient Egypt had Regular Postal Service and a Prescription for Baldness; Communism was tried and wound wanting 2,000 years before Christ; prehistoric man used mirrors, hinges and tweezers more than ten thousand years ago; and ancient India had free hospitals and a sales tax of 10 percent. Haven't heard of any nation, though that spent a fourth of its waking hours watching Westerns on television. And you thought this was a modern world. — W. H. Curry in Crosbyton Reveiw.

Youth Phase Of Extension Service In 50th Year

College Station — Fifty years ago an event took place in Jack County which established the youth phase of Agricultural Extension Service work in Texas. The occasion was the organization of the first boys' corn club in the State by a county agent and resulted from the failure of an adult corn show held in 1907.

The late Tom Marks was the county agent and the remark, "You can't teach old dogs new tricks," prompted Marks to come up with the statement — "Then I'll start with the pups" — and that is exactly what happened. He enrolled 25 boys and by demonstration taught them the latest practices then known in corn production. The corn show held in Jackboro in the fall of 1908 in the caboose of a train proved Marks' point that farm youth could put into practice the better known methods of production.

This method of teaching among the rural youth of Texas is now in its 50th year and is known over the world as 4-H club work. The first of many special observances, honoring the pioneer workers, members and leaders of the early day clubs, will come during the annual 4-H Club Roundup scheduled for June 10-12 at Texas A&M College.

While the major emphasis and activities of the 1958 Roundup will be devoted to determining state winners in 22 different judging and team demonstration contests, plans are being perfected to initiate a series of observances to carry recognition and attention to the importance of 4-H club work. The theme of the Roundup and for the activities to follow in the counties will be, "Learn Today — Lead Tomorrow."

Total attendance at Roundup, according to Extension Service officials, will approximate 2,200 with 4-H members making up a majority. Others attending will be county extension agents, adult 4-H leaders, friends of 4-H, parents, representatives of the news media and others.

Class Prophecy

By Debra Ferguson

One bright morning in 1980, Mrs. Zeigler entered Mr. Smith's office, while at the same time shaking from her shoulders a few flicks of moon dust, recently collected on her trip to the moon. She planted herself squarely in a chair. "Friend on earth, while I was on the moon, I saw three of the members of the Class of 1958. Do you remember that Class?"

"Why, yes, that was one of the finest classes ever to graduate from Lockney High. If you remember, we used to say that there were great possibilities in that class," said Mr. Smith.

"Well I remember — that is if you don't mind taking a few minutes to reminisce with me," asserted Mrs. Zeigler.

"You're right," was his reply. "Well, let me tell you, while I was on the moon, I saw David Howell, Ronnie Laceywell and Joe Rigby giving examinations for would-be ham operators."

"Yes, and Nelson Wofford and Anita Durham have now retired after he made his fortune by being the first man sent up in a satellite," added the principle. "They don't always turn out like you think they will, do they?"

"They certainly don't! Donald Farish and Kenneth Holt own an escort bureau for beautiful women only; and of course they do the work themselves, except sometimes when they are a little rushed and they call on John Truett who is always eager to be of assistance."

"Jan Widener is now editor of the New York Times and on her staff are Wanda Cox, Nelda Tims, and Lajuan Sandlin. Continually appearing in the society columns are Larry Hammitt, the famous movie director and Howard Purcell, the great comedian. Another well-known person about the world in Hollywood is Charlyne Brown who is designing clothes for all the famous stars, including Sunny Lawson who is famous for her work."

"Hope Cox decided she was tired of her lute — Lane Crank, the Pro football player. The other girls are going along to keep her mossie up. Gayle Rucker was recently married to Larry Jarrett that famous basketball star and Virginia Caldwell is still doctoring four broken engagements."

"John Hanst is now coach of the Oklahoma Sooners and Jean Wofford is raising their family of little sooners — all boys. Bill Musser is still running the mile, only now in the olympics. Sally Cox is the present dean of Vassar College, while Aubrey Green and John Paul Schacht are professors at Yale University."

"Now, friend, if you don't mind I believe I'll run up and start writing a book on this class."

"You're right."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—Leaders of the Texas cotton farming industry, long plagued by regional feuding, have joined hands. Object: to try to stave off a drastic cut in the 1959 acreage allotments.

Unless the present farm law is amended by Congress this session, the national cotton acreage allotment would drop automatically from the presently authorized national quota of 27,500,000 acres to approximately 14,200,000 acres in 1959.

Spokesmen from all the states' cotton producing areas met in Austin to hammer out an alternate proposal. Their plan:

- (1) Retain the 27,500,000 national acreage allotment.

- (2) Give farmers a choice between planting higher acreage at lower price supports or lower acreage with higher supports.
- (3) Abolish the present Soil Bank program.

It was the first time, said leaders, that this Texas industry had been so well unified behind a program. In previous years, East and West Texas growers have been at loggerheads over quotas.

Texas cotton men say that neither they nor the economy as a whole can stand the three-fold 20 to 25 per cent slash. Of its 27,500,000 acres now allotted to cotton over the nation, Texas has 7,474,000, giving the state a hefty stake in the future of the industry.

A STITCH IN TIME — Thrifty farm families who can a good portion of their yearly produce will probably have been chances of survival if nuclear bombs ever should fall on Texas.

These and other facts bearing on the key role of rural and small town citizens in civil defense were pointed up as Texas participated in the nationwide practice exercise, "Operation Alert."

For two days officials and representatives of agencies making up the State Civil Defense Council met in the map-lined, bomb-proof Disaster Control Center at the Department of Public Safety building. Pre-tending five cities had been hit, they practiced coping with the gigantic problems that would arise—maintaining government, re-establishing transportation, communication and power facilities, providing food, shelter and medical attention for victims, escaping radioactive fallout.

Small towns and rural areas would serve as recycling centers for evacuees from target cities.

Providing food is regarded as especially crucial. "If all transportation were knocked out, Texas would have only 14 days supply of food," says State Defense Coordinator William L. McGill. Garden plots and crops in the field might be ruined by fallout. Frozen foods might spoil for lack of electricity.

Hence, if worst comes to worst, a well-stocked pantry is seen as an ace in the hole.

LIVING WITHIN MEANS — Texas government should try to make spending fit income rather than vice versa, says a spokesman for the Retail Merchants Assn. of Texas.

Charles J. Lux of Austin, executive vice president of the Retail Merchants, said his organization is opposed to any new tax, whether on sales, income or gross receipts.

He suggested the State Tax Study Commission and Texas Research League concentrate on finding ways to economize rather than hunting a new source of state revenue.

ECONOMY STUDY — Along this line, an interim legislative committee is searching into higher education expenses.

Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro, chairman, said the study is directed toward achieving maximum efficiency and possible savings.

Specifics to be considered: (1) how many college classes are below recommended size (2) how much public money is required to subsidize athletics and health services and (3) cost of college presidents' homes.

LOST OIL FORESEEN — If Texas continues to limit oil production to market demand, the state may lose permanently some of its underground oil resources.

Railroad Commission Chairman Olin Culberson told a group of some 600 Southwestern oil men that if present trends continue, development of secondary recovery programs will not be justified. In short, going after the last drop available from a pool is hardly worthwhile when production is stringently limited.

Culberson suggested to the Texas Petroleum Research Committee's Oil Recovery Conference that a new approach might be needed to conserve Texas' prime resources. Alternative, he said, might be the loss of well over half the oil under Texas.

STILL HERE — Texas business reports at the end of the first quarter, '58, show that the recession "is still very much with us."

RESORT WASHABLES—Neat and casual is this Sharpes jacket and tunic set in Reeves combed cotton with Zelan water and spot repellent. The Norfolk type jacket is lined with cotton suède.

Dear Editor:

I note that the Internal Revenue won't let a private power company deduct its advertising expense what it spends on printing the low-down on its main competitor—the federal power business.

My reasonable neighbor says, though, it don't seem hardly right to expect the federal to help pay the cost of advertising their shortcomings.

But if this works to keep administration knockers shut-mouth, likely next they will start disallowing the $600 exemption per child anytime we are caught raising one of them to be a Democrat.

CAKE TALK

When you decide to serve cake, modern marketing gives you many choices. You may buy the ingredients for a homemade cake; you may buy a commercial mix; or you buy a ready-to-serve baker's cake, fresh, canned or frozen. Your family's choice and your skill in baking will probably affect your choice. Modern automatic ranges have eliminated some of the causes for homemade cake failures. Accurate oven temperatures and precise timing have helped the most inexperienced cake bakers turn out perfect cakes every single time. The important points to remember are: Preheat the oven so the temperature is right when the cake goes in. Don't peep. Remove the cake from the oven the minute it starts to pull away from the sides of the pan.

Lower for May — Report of the Senate's contingent expense committee showed widely varying amounts spent by various senators for such items as telephone, telegraph, postage and office supplies. Examples, all from the same two-year period: Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton, $5,490.86; Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas, $2,086.04; Sen. R. A. Weisner of Seguin, $398.95. State franchise tax collections to date for 1958 total $37,141,213, which is $2,249,838 more than for all of 1957, Sec'y of State Zollie Steakley announced.

Insect Control Program Will Be Profitable

Lubbock — A good cotton insect control program is one that gives protection to the plant and its fruit before damage occurs.

It is also important that injurious insects not be allowed to build up into damaging numbers. Most growers feel that the early crop is their money crop, and go all-out in protecting the early squares from damage by insects.

The Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. through the Plains Cotton Guide is urging farmers to keep a close watch on their cotton crop this year. Statistics show that early season control is profitable three out of five years.

An early season insect control program insures early fruiting and maturity and results in higher quality cotton. The first fruit or squares of the cotton plant are very attractive to two insect pests — the flea-hopper and the boll weevil.

About the time cotton plants first start squaring, flea-hoppers leave their host plants and move to the most attractive cotton fields. This tiny insect sucks the juices from the newly set squares, causing them to turn brown, then black and fall off. The loss of this early fruit hurts in several ways. The yield is reduced, maturity is delayed, and the plant is thrown into a vegetable-type growth. When this occurs, the plant requires excessive amounts of water and the extra leaf growth cuts down on the number of squares the plant sets.

It will mean a lot of money to cotton growers to take the necessary steps to see that this year's crop is harvested early in order that they might get the best grades possible. The higher grades will bring much more money and the demand will be stronger than for the lower grades. This is caused by the poor quality of much of last year's crop and the heavy withdrawal of high grades from CCC stocks.

Early protection of cotton plants from insect damage will often allow the grower to harvest the crop two or three weeks earlier than otherwise. Insects such as cutworms, armyworms, careless weed, webworms, flea beetles, grasshoppers, etc. sometime destroy stands. This necessitates replanting and a costly delay in getting the crop off to a good start.

Other insects like thrips, aphid, and red spider often attack the plants soon after they come up. These insects feed on the juices of the plants causing them to be stunted and fruiting to be delayed.

The loss in yield and quality caused by a late crop was disastrous in many sections last year. Certainly no grower wants or can afford a repetition, of poor quality crop, this year.

Chicken broth, tomato juice or orange juice may be used in place of water or milk in scrambled eggs. Cubed avocado, sauteed mushrooms, slivered tongue, chive cottage cheese, crumbled crisp bacon, pieces of asparagus, chopped oysters, shrimp or lobster are just a few of the ingredients that will add interest to this everyday dish. Remember to turn the flame low and to handle the eggs gently and you'll be rewarded with tender, flavorful eggs.

SILICONE: CLEANING MAGIC
You can cut hours off cleaning time by preventing dirt from accumulating according to home economists with the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association. Silicone treated cloths will prevent steam and fogging on bathroom mirrors. Other cloths are treated to prevent rust and corrosion on metals, some prevent shire and lint when pressing wools. An ounce of prevention adds up to hours saved over a year's time the home economists say.

The early season insect control program outlined in the Texas Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects is designed to insure early fruiting and maturity. Guides are available from all County Agents.

The Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. recommend that every cotton producer on the High Plains keep a close watch on his crop after it comes up and follow the recommendations of his county agent or those in the Guide as they apply to his conditions.

If this is done, perhaps damage will be prevented and an early-maturing, high-yielding crop of good quality will result.

Many Have Not Had Polio Vaccine

Five years ago this spring the thought uppermost in people's minds was, "If only there was a vaccine for polio." Today we have that vaccine, one of the most effective ever produced against a major communicable disease. Yet thousands of people — forgetting their anxiety of five years ago — have failed to take advantage of it for themselves or their pre-school children.

In ages between five and 20 response to the vaccine has been good, showing the influence of school-sponsored vaccinations. Among children under five, the response has been fairly good. It has been less than fair among persons between 20 and 40.

Does the vaccine really prevent paralysis in cases of polio? Here is last year's record: There were 734 cases reported — both paralytic and non-paralytic. Of that number, paralysis developed in 62 per cent of those with no vaccination; in 47 per cent of those with only one shot; in 37 per cent of those with two shots; and in only 22 per cent of those who had had all three shots.

In other words, in all cases of polio reported last year, paralysis developed in three out of five cases without any shots, but in only one out of five cases in persons with all three shots.

Despite a continuing barrage of publicity concerning adult vulnerability to polio, many adults apparently must still be convinced. The truth is that about 16 of every 100 cases of polio in Texas hits at people 15 and over. And when it does hit it hits with greater impact. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis reports that three out of four respirator patients today are 20 or older.

Another misconception is that a child can be too young to be vaccinated. This is a judgement for the individual physician to make. Before the vaccine, children age five to nine years were polio's principal targets. But last year it struck hardest at children age one year.

As far as the picture in Texas is concerned, we need a higher level of protection among persons 20 to 40 years old, and among children under five.

Texas has an estimated population of 6,230,000 persons persons six months and 40 years of age — the age recommended for polio vaccinations. It would require more than 18 million doses of vaccine to fully protect that number of people. But as of April this year, total vaccine shipments into Texas totalled 10.5 million.

Protection against polio is one of the biggest bargains you can buy today. If you haven't had your shots yet, it's time you started them.

By 1975 we will be using daily ten times as much water as our grandfathers in 1900. Now in our homes the average daily consumption per person is put at 150 gallons.

Scientists have shown that about a half-dozen cancers in animals are caused by viruses. Some contend that all cancers may be virus-caused. And in a few animals with cancer, certain viruses have completely destroyed the cancers.

Some scientists are trying to "train" viruses so that when they are injected into cancer patients, they will go to the cancers wherever they are and destroy them. So far, these measures have met with only partial success in treating humans. But studies are being continued.

Help science help you! Send your contribution to the American Cancer Society!

SOIL STEWARDSHIP WEEK MAY 11-18; ACTIVITIES MANY

Soil Stewardship Week of May 11-18 has been designated as Soil Stewardship week. It will be a busy week for the nation's 2750 soil conservation districts.

Activities during the week will be many and varied, but all will stress man's obligation as a steward of the good earth that feeds the world.

Soil Stewardship sermons will be preached in thousands of churches. Many newspapers will feature soil stewardships, and many radio and television stations will carry special stewardship programs.

In his proclamation designating May 11-18 as Soil Stewardship week in Texas, Governor Daniel said, "Soil and water are our most important and necessary resources and all people should support and work for their conservation and improvement."

Approximately 35 cooperators of the Floyd County Soil Conservation District have recently made application for 3000 Arizona Cypress trees for use in planting tree windbreaks for their farmsteads.

Application for the Great Plains Conservation Program are increasing weekly since the program was first announced several weeks ago, according to A. W. Dalrymple of the local Soil Conservation Service office.

Three contracts have been signed to date. They are: Fred and Virgie Skinner of Quitaque, Charles Patterson of Floydada and L. R. Bain of Plainview. Work will begin on several more contracts this week.

Some of the more important practices under this program are:

1. Underground irrigation pipelines
2. Land leveling
3. Constructing wells for live-stock water
4. Construction of terraces and diversion terraces
5. Waterways
6. Tree windbreaks for farmsteads
7. Seeding range grasses
8. Controlling brush

The government payment runs from 50 to 80 per cent of the average cost of installation

4-H'ers Learn And Profit From Soil, Safety Projects

Chicago — A total of sixteen $400 college scholarships will be awarded 4-H Club members this year for best achievement in the 4-H Soil and Water Conservation program, according to an announcement made by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

The scholarships, together with expense paid trips to the National 4-H Club Congress are offered as incentive awards to boys and girls throughout the nation. Donor of the soil and water conservation awards is the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company. The safety awards are provided by General Motors. Both concerns have supported 4-H work for well over a decade.

While the 4-H'ers have their sights set on winning, the awards are not the chief goal, the National Committee points out. The objective of 4-H is to develop good citizenship and leadership; to contribute to the welfare of the community; to "learn by doing" and achieve the best results in individual project work.

Information regarding enrollment in the soil and water conservation and safety programs may be obtained from the County Extension office or from local 4-H Club leaders. The 4-H programs are under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Farmers and ranchers are encouraged to learn more details about this program. Mr. Dalrymple and his staff at the Soil Conservation Service office will be glad to discuss their program with interested farmers and ranchers.

SAUTEED SANDWICHES

Turn a cold sandwich into a hot one by buttering the outside of the bread instead of the inside. Then saute it over a medium flame. If you have an automatic top burner heat control on your range, turn the dial to 300 degrees. When sauteed at the right temperature, day-old bread tastes oven fresh. Filling suggestions for sauteed sandwiches: Cheese and ham, corned beef and tomatoes, scrambled eggs combined with dried beef, sausage, mushrooms or green pepper and ground meat fillings.

PCG Grants $6,000 To Plains Station

Cotton Research at the High Plains Station of the Texas Research Foundation was strengthened by a grant of $6,000.00 for 1958 by the directors of the Plains Cotton Growers Incorporated by unanimous action at their meeting April 29th. Orville Bailey, Ropesville chairman of the Finance Committee for the P.C.G. presented the proposal. Frank Moore, Plainview area Finance Chairman of the High Plains Station outlined the cotton research program, under irrigation, to be conducted at the High Plains Station.

Here's why Plymouth, America's favorite family wagon, is

TODAY'S BEST BUY-TOMORROW'S BEST TRADE

You get more wagon for your money today...more money for your wagon tomorrow!

Any way you look at it, you can't find a better wagon buy than Plymouth! So big—it carries more, does more, provides more room for family fun. So beautiful—just look at those long, years-ahead lines. So economical—Plymouth is priced right in the low-price "3", yet you can't buy a bigger wagon at any price. And further proof: Plymouth beat every car in the low-price class in the 1958 Mobilgas Economy Run; Plymouth's second consecutive victory!

Get the biggest wagonload of value at a price far lower than you would expect. See your Plymouth dealer today.

FIVE BIG REASONS WHY YOUR NEXT WAGON SHOULD BE A PLYMOUTH

1. Biggest of the low-price "3". Big as wagons costing thousands of dollars more. You can't buy a bigger wagon at any price!
2. Holds so much more than the "other two". Over 7 cu. ft. extra passenger and cargo space. Optional "secret" luggage compartment available in 6-passenger models.
3. Rear-facing 3rd seat. Folds flush into floor. You don't store it outside when it's not in use. Easy to enter, has convenient back step.
4. Disappearing rear window. Rolls down into the one-piece tailgate. Doesn't jut out. Only on Plymouth wagons in the low-price "3".
5. Torsion-Aire Ride at no extra cost. Only Plymouth has it in the low-price "3". No sidesway on turns...no nose-dive on stops.

They don't come any bigger than Plymouth station wagons

Complete the circle of safety...check your car...check your driving...check accidents

HOW TO KEEP WHITE NYLON WHITE

First, dial 100 degrees on your water heater. Then pre-treat heavily soiled areas by rubbing with an undiluted liquid detergent. Select only white articles for the machine load. Use a heavy duty detergent and water softener if your water is hard. Run the load through a 5 to 8 minute cycle.

Rinse and spin. Place articles in dryer at the "low" to "medium" temperature setting for about 20 minutes. Remove ny-lons from the dryer while slightly damp and hang to re-move wrinkles.

Beacon's Search For Daughter Of J. F. Lockney Successful

Some three weeks ago R. A. Lockney of Oklahoma City came to The Beacon office seeking some trace of the family of his great-uncle, J. F. Lockney, for whom the City of Lockney was named. The Beacon ran an article asking for information about the Lockney family and received quite a response from local people. Using some of this information, The Beacon editor wrote to Mrs. Alez Ramsey at Chloride, New Mexico, daughter of J. F. Lockney, and this week received a reply from the lady, now Mrs. Alez Reynolds of Young, Arizona.

The letter from Mrs. Reynolds follows:

"Dear Sir:
"I was pleasantly surprised by your letter. Yes, J. F. Lockney was my father and he and a cousin started the town of Lockney. Dad bought the paper there and while Dad was editor it was known as The Lockney Free Press.

"I am writing R. A. Lockney. I also am working on a family tree and will be so lucky to swap data with a cousin I didn't know existed. We will find out who is on the horse thief or preacher side of the family. And if we don't get hit in the face with a rotten coconut we will be lucky. I will send you a skit of Dad later for your paper, and when I do bill me for 10 copies for interested kin.

"The reason I do not enclose the data is I received your letter at 8 p.m. and I am going to Phoenix for two days. Then I will give a party for the assistant ranger who has just been made ranger and will be transferred. Then I am one of the sponsors for the senior trip for the school which will take three days.

"I am curious to know how you found me.

"I am no longer Alez Ramsey. I was a widow seven years. I married Rege Reynolds last August. He is the ranger here. This is the Pleasant Valley Ranger Station where Zane Grey wrote his book, "Under the Tonto Rim," etc. It is 28 miles to the rim. It's a beautiful country.

Alez Lockney Ramsey Reynolds
Box 7, Young, Arizona."

The Beacon secured Mrs. Reynolds' previous address from an old newspaper clipping furnished us by Mrs. Hugh Counts. The clipping was from the Amarillo Daily News and appeared in that newspaper several years ago when Mrs. Reynolds visited Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Martin, her father's cousin. Mr. Martin apparently was the cousin who was here with Mr. Lockney.

Others who called The Beacon in response to our request for information included Mrs. Henry Bollman, who told of a Lockney Ranch just west of Truth or Consequence, N. M., apparently one on which Mrs. Reynolds lived prior to marrying Mr. Reynolds.

Dr. J. M. Floyd told us of meeting J. F. Lockney in Truth or Consequence, N. M., several years ago. Mr. Lockney passed away since that time.

Mrs. Skeet Thornton told of meeting Mr. Lockney in Amarillo several years ago and Dorsey Baker told us of seeing the article in the Amarillo paper. Possibly others called.

CROSS ROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:
I see where in high-nose circles these days a fashionably-dressed woman is classified as witty, instead of the old style "chic".

Which kind of stumps me, because I have always thought "witty" meant something sharp, snappy and smart, but this don't fit the chemise any better than the chemise fits womankind.

My word expert neighbor explains it all, though. Says the word witty covers the situation all right, on account of it is somewhat kin to the word funny.
