Convalescent Home Project Discussed

Further discussion of the Lockney Convalescent Home project was heard at the Monday night meeting of the Lockney Lions Club. The local club has been talking about the project for several weeks and is looking to interest other clubs in the community in helping to promote the project.

At the Monday night meeting with the Lions Monday night were Henry Ford Jr., representing the Rotary Club, Jim Briley, representing the Chamber of Commerce and Jim Reynolds, representing the Lockney Fire Department. All expressed interest in the project and promised to present it to their organizations asking support. Officials say, however, that they want the support and help of all service clubs and community organizations including the churches of the town in the project.

It was pointed out Monday evening that a building to house the convalescent home could be built for about $1,000 per room, 100 feet. This would not include equipment. Considered also is the hospital and clinic building on North Main which is not now being used.

Already five people have expressed a desire to live at the home should it be started here. Some local citizens have expressed a willingness to donate money toward the project, Lions officials say.

EDITORIAL

I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me. — Philippians 4:13.

THIS SEEMS to be an anxious time of the year. Farmers are anxious about the cotton crop. The crop is late for the most part and more time is needed for it to mature. Damp, cool weather is not conducive to maturing and a late frost is hoped for in order to give the crop more time. Feed is coming in fairly well and the yields are tremendous, probably better than any in history. The merchant is also anxious. He has thousands of dollars of open accounts on his books, many of them several months old. He is needing money to pay his bills but he cannot collect until the farmer starts harvesting his crops and gets some money in the bank. Thus the economical situation of all depends upon the crops. It happens almost every year but we never get accustomed to the thing.

ONE THING seems certain about the presidential race — it will be a close one. Polls all indicate that the two candidates are running almost neck and neck — with the exception of the popcorn poll. Texas is listed as one of the "big" states which neither candidate is claiming, along with New York and some others. Texas broke tradition by voting for Republican electors in 1952 and again in 1956. This was something unheard of in previous years, with the exception of 1928. But the bolting of the party by Texas and some other Southern states did shake up some of the party big-wigs and it finally dawned on them that we were due some consideration. They gave us that by nominating a Texan as vice-presidential candidate. But they gave us no consideration in the party platform which is considered by many to be a slap in the face of Southern people. As a result the state is still doubtful.

OUR IMPRESSION is that a political revolution is on in the United States. For many years the trend was toward liberalism — that is a big centralized government which takes care of all our needs and does all our thinking for us. This is exemplified by the recent assertion by one bureaucrat that we are having too much fun and spending too much money, his suggestion being that the federal government take more of it away from us and spend it on worthwhile things — according to the government's notion. But more and more we are noticing a trend toward individual initiative and freedom by everyone, but especially among young people. The young ones are not buying the idea that they can't take care of their own needs.

OF COURSE the politicians have not heard of this trend as yet. They are still promising everybody everything at government expense along with a cut in taxes. They'll wake up one of these days and find out how the people generally are thinking — about the time someone comes along and beats them for the office they are holding.

DO YOU KNOW how much the United States of America has given away to foreign countries since 1946? We didn't until we saw a tabulation worked up by the Constitution Party and released recently. During the past 14 years we have given away $124,647,310,000. That's almost one-half of our federal indebtedness. That's approximately $700 for every man, woman and child in the United States. If you have a family of four you have given away $2800 during those 14 years. What for? To buy friends among the nations, to stop Communism, to help underdeveloped nations? We have few friends, Communism has not been stopped and little progress has been made in helping backward nations. That's a prime example of federal spending. One of the worst features is that 11½ billion of that amount went to the Soviet Union.

DONALD I. ROGERS, business editor of the New York Herald-Tribune, writes: "To any and all candidates who this year are seeking election to public office, I hereby serve the following notice: I will cast my vote, positively pledge it, for whichever candidates do not promise me a single, solitary 'benefit'; conversely, I will vote against and militate against any who promise to improve my lot. I've been improved all I want to be, and by golly, my lot can't afford any further improvement."

THE AMERICAN WAY

Truer Words Were Never Spoken

With Our EXCHANGES

PAGING KARL MARX . . .

If some people have their way, this country will ultimately become a socialized welfare state on a scale that would make Karl Marx turn green with envy.

For instance, an editorial appearing in the house organ of a farm organization was recently reprinted in the Congressional Record. This blueprint for America's future said, in part, "Co-operative enterprise should be used on a much wider scale than they are now being used to 'police' the whole private sector of the economy. Yardstick plants, financed by government loans, in such areas as steel manufacture, automobile manufacture, food processing and distribution and aluminum manufacture and fabrication, should be used to establish standards of cost and quality. The 'yardsticks' principle has worked well in the TVA and the Bonneville Administration in lowering power rates and increasing enormously power consumption."

The editorial did not point out that TVA, as a "yardstick", is about 18 inches long — for the simple reason that TVA pays no federal taxes, pays only comparatively small sums in lieu of state and local taxes, does not pay the going rate for investment capital, and is given many other tax-supported privileges denied private enterprise.

That aside, the author went on to say that we need government expansion in many other fields. These fields include federal health and hospital protection; federal aid in the rebuilding of cities and the solving of traffic problems; federal aid to education, and cheap credit to bring down interest rates.

And how would all this be paid for? The author of the editorial had the answer. "To finance such a program, we need an increasingly progressive tax system based on ability to pay. To an ever increasing extent, we must rely on the taxing power of the Federal Government which alone is able to tap wealth where wealth is." It can be added that the federal progressive income tax now reaches a high of 91 per cent — which, just isn't progressive enough for the writer.

Anyone who thinks threats to American freedoms — economic, social and individual — come solely from without is woefully in error. There's plenty to guard against from within, people and ideas as those suggested by such a person as this — Ralls Banner.

ALTHOUGH THEY make up less than 14 per cent of the driving population, drivers under 25 years of age were involved in nearly 29 per cent of the fatal accidents last year.

Dear Editor: I see where the gossip has been put out that Candidate Kennedy's wife spends $30,000 a year on clothes.

My fashion-fleeced neighbor says if this is the case, Jack really does need a job that will pay more than the $22,000 he gets for playing Senator.

But says he thinks Mr. Kennedy's supporters had ought to let him run on his merits, instead of making some play like this for the sympathy vote.

ONE UP BUT TWO DOWN!

When a brand new drug is introduced, its price is usually high. That's because initial sales may be low, and the price must cover production costs — which are generally as high for small quantities as for big quantities. But once many doctors begin writing prescriptions, the manufacturer steps up production . . . and is thus able to bring the price down. A survey in our store shows that, in the past 10 years, for every drug that rose in price because raw materials or labor costs went up, two came down in price because demand increased. Carthels Move Into New Home

After living 49 years on one place, the Francis Carthels have moved.

The couple and their son, Chester, moved into their spacious new brick home at the corner of West College and South West Seventh Street on Wednesday of last week. So after being country folks for a half century they are now city folk.

The Carthels moved onto their farm northwest of Lockney just a few months after they were married. Early this year they observed their Golden Wedding Anniversary and soon thereafter started construction of a new home in Lockney.

Sand Hill News

By Mrs. James Jeffress

Some have defoliated this week hoping to get their cotton out before the bad weather begins, but most of the cotton is so late, others are having to wait until more is open before they use the defoliate. The maize is moving, but lots of it is late and is still too green.

Sand Hill Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. T. Myrick. Mrs. Myrick gave the devotional and roll call was answered with "My Entries in the Fair." Mrs. Gene Bloys gave the council report. All yearly reports from the committee chairman should be sent in to the council chairman of each committee in time for council in October. They will be given at club Wednesday.

A nominating committee was appointed. They are Mrs. Gene Bloys, Mrs. Lynn Miller and Mrs. H. F. Jackson. Mrs. Lynn Miller led recreation. The program was on "Arranging Furniture," given by the agent, Miss Roggendorff. This was Pollyanna day and gifts were exchanged. Refreshments were served to Miss Roggendorff and Mrs. R. L. UNION OF CHURCH AND STATE

Martin Luther was not only active in trying to reform the Roman Catholic Church, he also translated the Bible into the German language. In his efforts to swing away from the formalities and human works of Roman Catholicism, he went to the opposite extreme and advocated the doctrine of "faith only".

Romans 3:28 says, "Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith without the deeds of the law." The passage means one is justified by faith in Christ and his gospel without the deeds of the law of Moses. Luther thought it meant one is justified without any deeds or works on the part of the sinner, even obeying the gospel of Christ and translated the verse "man is justified by faith only". This is how the doctrine of "faith only" came to be taught by so many protestant bodies.

"Epistle of Straw"

Luther left the book of James out of his translation and called it an "epistle of straw" because James 2:24 reads, "Ye see then how that by works a man is justified, and not by faith only." It is easy to see how his misunderstanding of Romans 3:28 created the false doctrine of "salvation by faith only".

MITCHELL SHOWS TWO NEW HYBRID GRAIN SORGHUMS

R. C. Mitchell, local seed grower, presented two new hybrid grain sorghums to those attending his field tour Thursday of last week. He has named them "Standmaster" and "Standing" and the qualities include a short stiff stalk with a high yield. About 35 farmers and agriculturists from over the area were Mitchell's guests on the tour. Among these were Jerry Thomas from the Pantex Farm near Amarillo, which has been growing some of Mitchell's sorghums. A number of Hale County farmers were present along with those from this county.

Both the new hybrids are red-seeded and have been test-grown in Old Mexico to make sure of their quality. Mitchell has been growing the Texas hybrids since 1956 and all his seed is test-grown in Old Mexico. The test plot is near Tampico and the seed is planted there about November 15. Its qualities are checked and it is harvested in February thus giving the grower ample time to know the quality of the seed before it is placed on the market in the Spring.

The Texas varieties which Mitchell has been growing for the past several years include 608, 610, 620 and 660. He has dealers over most of the Plains counties.

Among other things shown to the tour group was the effects of withholding water from grain sorghum to shorten the stalk. Mitchell said that by withholding the water for a two-week period he had been able to shorten the stalk by 12 inches without affecting the yield materially.

He also showed the group the difference in fields of grain sorghum which had been rogued and those which had not. He stated that the grower must rogue the field, that is go through and take out tall stalks and other undesirable plants, every other day during a certain part of the growing season if he is to produce quality seed.

Refreshments of watermelon and cold drinks were served to the group following the tour.

County Gets Two Miles Of Paving

Floyd County has been given an additional two miles of farm-to-market paving the two miles to extend west from the Aiken-Providence road in front of Paymaster Farm, County Judge J. D. McBrien said this week. This road branches off three miles north of Aiken and lacks one-half mile reaching the county line.

The project is included in the 1960-61 road program of Texas Highway Commission.

Work is progressing on the paving projects west from the same road at the Ewald Quebe home to the county line, and north of Providence.

What a strange feeling it gave me, the first time Laura went to school! As I watched her, I realized that these were her first independent steps. From this day forward, she would be increasingly on her own.

I don't think I ever felt my responsibility as a mother as much as I did at that moment. Had I given her the proper foundation to meet the trials, the temptations and frustrations that are an inevitable part of even a school child's life? Had I done enough for her?

Being human, I probably hadn't. But there was one thing I had done. From the beginning, I had made the Church a part of Laura's life.

You can't shelter your children from harsh reality. But you can, through the teachings of the Church, help them face life with strength and faith, giving them the assurance that God is ever-present.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Water Conservation Is Vital To This Area, Officials Say

Lubbock. — The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District states that surface stream water in the southern High Plains of Texas is capable of furnishing only a fractional part of the fresh water needed for irrigation, municipal, and industrial purposes; consequently, virtually all the water used comes from a vast underground reservoir that lies beneath the area.

The water stored in the reservoir beneath the land's surface results largely from rain water falling in the local area and running into the many thousands of wet-weather lakes and depressions that dot the Plains. Only a small per cent of the lake water percolates through the bed of the lake to the underlying formations; consequently, many centuries of time were required to fill the reservoir.

Annual natural replenishment to the underground water is meager indeed when compared to the amount of water in storage, or when compared to the amount of water presently being pumped from storage each year.

According to the High Plains District, more than 35,000 wells furnish water to more than 4 million acres of land in the southern High Plains for irrigation, and to fulfill all the needs of industry and municipalities.

About 98 per cent of the total amount of ground water pumped in the southern High Plains is used for irrigation.

Because we have been pumping about 5,000,000 acre-feet of underground water annually while receiving only about 100,000 acre-feet of water as natural recharge annually, it is apparent that a very real problem confronts the people of our area.

Artificial recharge will probably play a major role in prolonging the economic life of the underground water reservoir. Experimentation has been conducted by the High Plains Water District since 1953 in an attempt to determine the most practical methods for transferring wet-weather lake water, the only known economical source of surface water available to the area, from the surface where the evaporation rate is very high to the underground formations where the water can be stored for future use.

Draining raw lake water directly into production wells has proven to be partially, if not completely, satisfactory.

The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, and others in the field of water conservation, are leading in the continuing search for facts concerning the water situation as it exists in our area, and are recommending programs of conservation that will assuredly serve to prolong our present relatively-high economic standards.

Some suggestions for maximum water conservation are:

1. Conserve rainfall by proper soil and water management.
2. Select agricultural crops that will produce the greatest net income per acre-foot of water required.
3. Locate new wells as far from existing wells as is practical to minimize interference.
4. Reduce evaporation and seepage losses by replacing open irrigation ditches with closed distribution systems.
5. Apply water to crops at proper times and in proper amounts.

PECAN PIE TIP

A perfect pecan pie will be firm and crusty on top with glazed pecan halves on the surface. The crust on the bottom should be crisp and shiny. To achieve the perfect pie, Margaret Spader, home service consultant for the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association suggests you start baking the pie in the oven preheated to 450 degrees. When it has baked ten minutes at that temperature, reduce the temperature to a low 325 degrees and bake for 40 to 50 minutes. You can determine when the pie is done by inserting a silver knife blade into the filling. When it comes out clean, the pie has finished baking.

Dr. Popenoe To Speak At Wayland

Plainview. — An internationally known authority on family relations will be Wayland Baptist College's lecturer for the fall Willson Lectures on Christian Home and Family Life, Oct. 24-26, and area people are invited to share the two evening lectures, according to President A. Hope Owen.

Dr. Paul Popenoe, founder of the world famous American Institute of Family Relations, is widely known for his articles in "Can This Marriage Be Saved," which have appeared for nine years in the Ladies Home Journal and for his frequent appearances on Art Linkletter's House Party over television for the last 14 years. Mrs. Popenoe will accompany her husband to Plainview. They have just returned from a speaking tour in Europe.

"This will be a rare opportunity not only for the Wayland community but also for men and women of the area," says Dr. Owen. "Four formal lectures will be given, two at the 10 a.m. chapel period on Monday and Wednesday and limited to the Wayland community, and two at 8 p.m., Monday and Tuesday to which the public is invited without charge. Of course, the 500 seats in Wayland chapel will be on a first come, first seated basis. Our facilities are limited but we want to share our distinguished guest with as many as possible."

Why Ship Cattle To Feedlots In North Cornbelt?

Lubbock. — With millions of bushels of grain produced in the same area with thousands of cattle, sheep and hogs, why does West Texas ship so much of its livestock into the cornbelt to be fed for market?

To learn some of the feeding techniques used in cornbelt operations, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce next month is sponsoring a tour of interested farmers and ranchers, bankers and agriculturists into the Des Moines and Ames regions of Iowa.

Tour conductor Dr. W. L. Stangel said that anyone interested is welcome to join the tour. Stangel is chairman of the Agriculture and Livestock Committee of the West Texas Chamber and dean emeritus of Texas Tech's School of Agriculture.

Arrangements have been made, Stangel said, for accommodations on bedroom-type Pullman cars leaving Lubbock and Fort Worth on the afternoon of November 26. The cars will be put on the same train at Kansas City. Return trip is to be December 1.

First stop will be Chicago to attend the International Livestock Exposition where Texas Tech's Stanley Anderson is to name the Grand Champion fat steer.

From Chicago, the group will travel to actual farmer-feeder locations in Iowa and will also inspect the feeding research facilities at Iowa State University. Livestock feeding specialists of the university will conduct the entire tour of feeding operations, giving the group an opportunity to discuss actual feeding operations with farmers in the area, Stangel said.

Chartered busses will pick up the group at trainside and return them each night to the Pullman accommodations which will serve as hotel rooms.

Cost of the five-day tour, including train fare, Pullman bedroom, chartered busses and four planned meals, is $165 per person. Reservations may be made before November 1 by contacting the Abilene office of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

FRIDAY! THE GREATEST SIXTY-ONE DERFUL CHEVROLET

Here's the car that reads you loud and clear—the new-size, you-size '61 Chevrolet. We started out by trimming the outside size a bit (to give you extra inches of clearance for parking and maneuvering) but inside we left you a full measure of Chevy comfort. Door openings are as much as 6 inches wider to give feet, knees, and elbows the undisputed right of way. And the new easy-chair seats are as much as 14% higher—just right for seeing, just right for sitting.

Once you've settled inside you'll have high and wide praises for Chevrolet's spacious new dimensions (in the Sport Coupes, for example, head room has been upped as much as 2 inches, and there's more leg room, too—front and rear). Chevy's new trunk is something else that will please you hugely—what with its deep-well shape and bumper-level loading it holds things you've never been able to get in a trunk before.

Yet, generously endowed as this car is with spaciousness and clean-etched elegance, it holds steadfastly to all the thrifty, dependable virtues Chevrolet buyers have come to take for granted. Your dealer's the man to see for all the details.

There's never been a trunk like it before! The floor's recessed more than half a foot and the loading height is as much as 10 1/4 inches lower.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — Neither Texas nor the armed forces afford the losses incurred through traffic accidents involving military personnel in the this note, the Texas Military Traffic Safety Council was formed in Austin with a goal of reducing the accidents. About 200 persons, civilian and military, attended the Council's meeting, called at the behest of Gov. Price Daniel.

Servicemen have more auto accidents than any other population group in Texas, said Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety. Last year servicemen drivers were involved in 103 fatal accidents in which 130 persons were killed. A great many of the servicemen in Texas are in the 18 to 25-year-old age bracket, said Gen. Edward T. Williams, Fourth Army commander. People in this age bracket generally are the most inclined to have auto accidents. Gen. Williams urged vigorous enforcement of traffic regulations so that the driver knows he will be caught and punished if he breaks the law. Brad Smith, director of the Governor's Highway Safety Commission, outlined the five-point program recommended by the governor to improve highway safety.

1. Driver education for all high school students.
2. A law to permit chemical tests to determine if a driver is intoxicated.
3. At least 200 additional highway patrolmen.
4. Revision of the drivers license law.
5. A system of traffic courts.

WATER PROGRAM STUDIED — Texas' 7-man Water Development Board is considering whether to ask the next Legislature to expand and liberalize its program of lending financial aid to local water projects.

Decision is to be made at the Board's Oct. 28 meeting. Board presently has authority to issue $100,000,000 in bonds and use the money to make loans to local governments for water conservation projects. Loans are limited to one-third the cost of the project and cannot be more than $5,000,000 for any one project.

Under study is whether to ask the Legislature to step up the program by authorizing the Board to lend as much as $15,000 per project and to issue another $100,000,000 in bonds to purchase water storage space in federal reservoirs.

When the Board was created, the law provided that another $100,000,000 in bonds could be authorized by a two-thirds vote of the legislature.

DANIEL HONORED — Governor Daniel is the newly elected chairman of the 16-state Southern Governors Conference.

He is the second Texan in a decade to head the group. Former Gov. Allan Shivers was chairman in 1951-52.

Conferences are devoted to the study of problems which the member states have in common. This year the protection of home industries against ruinous competition from imports has been a prime issue.

Governor Daniel said he felt much could be accomplished by the conferring governors "if we stand together."

HURRY - UP HOSPITALS — With a long, long waiting list of mentally retarded patients, the State Hospital Board is studying short cuts toward providing housing for them.

A contractor-member of the Board presented drawings of one possible approach — semi-permanent one-story, concrete block cottages. They would provide for 40 persons, cost $38,000 apiece and could be ready for occupancy in 20 months.

More than 1,000 children are now on the state homes' waiting list.

Board has authorized getting an estimate of the cost of putting an automatic sprinkling system in the Confederate Home in Austin, now used for mental patients. Home has been called a fire trap, but if it could be made safe, the cost of replacing it could be postponed.

Also voted by the Board was a policy of preventing tuberculosis patients, by force if necessary, from leaving state hospitals until they are well enough not to infect other people.

A recent attorney general's ruling held that the hospital system does have authority to make TB patients stay in the hospital until they are no longer contagious.

EDUCATION SUPPORT SOUGHT — Texans will be penny wise and pound foolish if they try to avoid the cost of establishing a top-notch system of higher education.

This was the theme at an Austin meeting of the members of governing boards of state colleges and universities. A series of regional meetings are planned during October and November to rally public support for better appropriations for state colleges.

Regrettably, the regents pegged Texas state-supported colleges as less than best. A survey was cited showing that 65 per cent of the top jobs in Texas industry are held by graduates of out-of-state colleges. Texas is training the hired hands; other states are training the bosses, said Reagan Houston III of San Antonio.

Texans will pay, said John Newton of Beaumont, whether they ante up for good education or not. In an age of electronics, automation and exotic fuels, good educational and research facilities are a prime attraction for new industries, said Newton.

"Cost of losing major opportunities for growth will be at least as great as the cost of providing what we really need," he said.

PRISON PROBLEMS CITED — Seventy-five per cent of the inmates of the Texas prison system are in "tanks" or dormitories which crowd impressionable young offenders in with hardened criminals, says the chairman of the Department of Corrections.

More housing to correct this situation is urgently needed, H. H. Coffield told an Austin aud-

Floydada Hospital Trying Comeback

Floydada — Floydada's Peoples Hospital which two years ago faced a threat of foreclosure for failure to meet a mortgage payment, has begun a new fight in a comeback try.

A recent board meeting wound up with a reorganization of the board and election of H. O. Cline to serve as president of the board.

At the board meeting it was announced that a Federal judgment on records for unpaid taxes has been released, following settlement of tax claims. The hospital still must meet a note for $11,200 due the Farmers' Union Insurance Company and a second lien of $8,000 to J. M. Willson. The two debts, plus interest, total about $30,000.

The board announced that the hospital and its facilities have been appraised at approximately $85,000. The appraisal and the ability of the hospital to pay its way in past months encourages the board to hope their loan can be refinanced. The hospital has continued to meet all the standards of the State Board of Health for betterment and modernization.

Centuries ago, eyeglasses were thought to add distinction to a person's appearance; therefore many people wore frames (no glasses); likewise, many doctors and professional people of the past 100 years wore mustache or beard, to add dignity.

ience. On the bright side, Coffield said the Texas system had pulled up from one of the worst to one of the best in the nation, in the past 10 years — a period when the prison population skyrocketed. Yet per-prisoner cost is far below the national average.

As an "ounce of prevention" Coffield urged citizen support of such local agencies as churches, Scouts and Salvation Army.

It takes 6,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 atoms to make one drop of water.

DR. RHEA WILLIAMS POINTS OUT BENEFITS OF FOOTBALL

(Editor's Note: The following article was written by Dr. Rhea H. Williams, director of athletics in the Texas Interscholastic League and is reproduced by request.)

With the advent of the 1960 football season, there needs again to be a reemphasis of the values and merits of the game of football as it is related to our educational system. In this age where there is a growing tendency for our youth to become physically softer, we need the help of all in encouraging students to devote themselves to a program which requires rigid discipline and control of their attitudes, emotions and physical habits. There is no greater opportunity offered by public school curriculum for improving the physical, mental and emotional discipline than is found in the game of football.

We need during this time of world tension to develop young citizens who have the ability to discipline themselves, to think in times of emergencies and to learn the value of developing and maintaining strong and healthy bodies. If we are not careful, we will develop a "pot plant" generation of youth that will not be able to meet the stress and strain of modern day society.

Favor to "Whom"? It should always be kept in mind that the school and the community are rendering a most worthwhile service by providing a sound, educational, competitive interschool football program. Unfortunately, there are some parents who feel that they are doing the school and the community a favor by allowing their sons to participate in football. Any parent or any boy who has such an idea is completely "missing the boat," as just the reverse is true.

The parents should be eternally thankful that there is still some type of program in the school which requires such rigid discipline in order to achieve success. Where else in the school or community can you find any other program with better organized supervision and trained personnel than you have in football? Where else in the community can you find any more equipment and facilities available for the protection and welfare of your child than is provided for football?

It is essential that parents realize that they have a prime responsibility in the training, guidance and direction of their son's mental, physical and social attitude towards football. They can make a great contribution to the boy's education and to the school's football program by indoctrinating their offspring to the effect that it is a privilege and an honor to be a member of the local high school team.

Apron Strings
There is a growing "protectiveness" on the part of some parents relative to participation in football competition. This is especially true in the case of many mothers who want to "spread their wings" excessively over their children—many times until they are over 21 years of age. This attitude on the part of some parents encourages a boy not to participate in football because it is too rough or because he may get injured.

Certainly, there may be an occasional injury to a boy engaged in a contact sport; but the important question is, "What is the average boy doing when he is not engaged in some worthwhile, outside, supervised activity?" It is a proven fact by statistics that a boy is much safer in supervised football practice than he is when he is not supervised.

Car Versus Football
Paradoxically, in some cases, the same parents who will not let a boy go out for football because it is too dangerous will buy him an automobile or a "hot rod" and think nothing of it. From the viewpoint of the boy's scholastic achievements and his safety, statistics prove conclusively that the most dangerous thing the parents can do is to give him uninhibited freedom with an automobile.

It is a strange set of values on which some of our parents operate as regards allowing their sons to participate in football. Some of the parents abhor the idea of perspiration, physical exertion and bodily contact. This once again is typical of the softness which is permeating our society. With air conditioning, cars and the other luxuries which exist today, there is an even greater challenge on the part of the parents and school personnel to see that our young people participate in vigorous, competitive athletic activities.

The coach and the school have a great responsibility when parents permit their boys to participate in interschool football. The coach and the school should always keep in mind that the parents by so doing are entrusting to the coach the most precious possession they have. Therefore, it is imperative that the coach take every precaution to insure the health and welfare of each individual participant.

This means requiring physical examinations before participating, issuing adequate equipment which fits the player, teaching techniques and skills which are educationally sound, employing officials who are able to conduct the game properly, and providing the proper emotional, educational and social background for participants.

Good For Boy
There is an equal responsibility on the part of the school, the coaches and the parents to see that every effort is made to provide each player who participates in football the proper educational background in which to develop those specific citizenship traits which can come out of football. There should be less "protectiveness" on the part of parents and

TELEPHONE TALK

by J. C. Oakley, Manager

First Phone Call Via Satellite!

The day isn't too far off when you and your family, relaxing in your home right here in Lockney, may watch a royal wedding in Europe or a tennis match in Australia by live television. Or you may place a call to Singapore or Calcutta — by way of man-made satellites thousands of miles in the sky.

These things were only dreams a few years ago. Now they are much closer to reality, all because of "Project Echo." It was the first successful attempt to "bounce" a voice off a satellite.

Perhaps you've seen the silver "Echo" satellite orbiting the earth. To think of "bouncing" a phone call off it staggers the imagination. But that's what happened when a Bell Telephone Laboratories engineer in New Jersey talked by way of outer space with an engineer in California. They said they could hear each other as clearly as if they were talking across town.

Project Echo relied heavily on telephone science and technology. Bell Laboratories scientists not only participated in the first test of voice communications via satellite, but Bell Labs provided the guidance system that directed the satellite into its selected orbit.

This test opens a new era of worldwide communications. The Bell System has already proposed a plan for using satellites as relay stations to carry telephone calls and television programs throughout the world.

How To "Hold The Phone"

You and your family may be among the many that believe the color wall phone is the handiest thing in your kitchen.

You probably realize how it brightens up the room and saves you time and steps. You probably like the way it saves space — doesn't take up valuable room on a kitchen counter or table.

But did you know there is a handy way to keep the receiver from dangling if you are called away from the phone for a minute?

A number of people have told me they were surprised to learn they can hook the receiver over a notch on the top of their color wall phones until they return to the phone. The illustration shows how it works.

I thought you might be interested in hearing about this added convenience of wall phones in color.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.
