County Commissioner's Court Responsible For Many Services

BY WENDELL TOOLEY

Although their meetings are open to the public, very few people attend the monthly Floyd County Commissioner's Court meeting each second Monday.

Judge J.K. Holmes and the four commissioners: Grigsby (Doodle) Milton, Bob Jarrett, Aaron Carthel and Jack Lackey don't handle a lot of tax money each year ($609,808.80), but the spending of government revenue sharing money is becoming more controversial each year.

Considered to be very conservative by most people in the county, the commissioners each has an allotment to run his precinct ($70,7000). They also receive $20,000 each revenue money. They maintain that if they hadn't taken 60% of the revenue sharing money to buy equipment, taxes would have been raised to meet the increased cost of diesel, equipment, and manpower. At present the commissioners are taking 50% of the revenue money and have around $100,000 in the bank drawing 5 1/2 percent interest while they try to see what a jail house and a library will cost.

The Judge is the highest paid member of the county government ($9,864) plus $125 a month travel, also $2600 a year for county school work, county school system and each commissioner receives $605 a month, $125 travel. The commissioners cannot hire or fire elected members of the courthouse, but do set all salaries as well as their own. They hire and fire county extension staffers.

The Judge may vote on any issue brought up at a meeting, and of course has the power to break tie votes.

EQUIPMENT

All except Milton have three road grader maintainers, a couple of pickups, a couple of trucks, Carthel and Jarrett have bulldozers, the county has one big carryall that is used in digging dump ground pits for Lockney and Floydada.

Through the use of revenue money all equipment is in good condition except a few run-down trucks. They commissioners also use revenue money for diesel and salaries.

Revenue money has also been used for machinery barns at Lockney and Floydada, a deputy office at Lockney, carpet in the courthouse halls, a little help on the county museum, day care center, and mental health office budgets. Floydada and Lockney fire trucks were bought with county revenue money also property for police radio tower.

Most of the revenue money has been used to purchase maintainers which cost from $60,000 to $70,000 each. Each commissioner employs three to four men to operate the equipment.

Since city people also pay county taxes, commissioners are expected to grade roads inside the city limits at Lockney and Floydada. Of course there are very few unpaved streets in Floydada. The City of Floydada owns its own maintainer and does most of the street grading.

COMMISSIONERS

Commissioner of precinct 1 (Aaron Carthel) has been a commissioner for five year and lives in Floydada. He also has farming interests.

Commissioner of precinct 2 (Bob Jarrett) lives in Lockney and has been a commissioner for 18 years. He works for Farm Bureau as a crop insurance adjuster.

Commissioner of precinct 3 (Grigsby Milton) has been a commissioner for five years and lives near Cedar Hill. He is in the farming and airport business.

Commissioner of precinct 4 (Jack Lackey) lives in Floydada and just recently retired from the trucking business. He has been a commissioner 2 1/2 years. Commissioners seek election every four years.

COUNTY INCOME

Second to tax money, the county receives license money of $157,433, then some $81,654 from fees charged by the various courthouse offices. The Justice of Peace fines amount to $18,824, county court brings in $5,000, commissioners took in $28,500 for farm work.

The county has no indebtedness. The commissioners oversee 50 employees of the county. Salaries amount to $355,756.

MOST OF YOU ALL KNOW THIS, but low wheat prices won't bring lower bread prices.

And Bill Nelson of the Texas Wheat Producers Board in Amarillo agrees.

Even with a billion to a billion and a half bushel surplus of wheat in the nation, Nelson said supermarket prices for bread will fluctuate little.

Likewise, if farmers were drawing record prices for their wheat this season, it would have little impact on the price of bread.

That's basically because the cost of wheat and other farm products are only small portions of the total cost of a loaf of bread.

"You think of a loaf of bread as being wheat," Nelson said. "Actually there's as much milk in bread as there is wheat."

"If a farmer gave his wheat away today and its value was deducted from the price of a 35 cent one-pound loaf of bread, the bread would still cost 32.5 cents."

Nelson said of the average national price of 35.3 cents for a one-pound loaf of bread (not a 1 1/2 pound loaf), the wheat farmer gets about 2.8 cents, the dairy farmer gets about 2.3 cents, and the baker-wholesaler gets about 22.3 cents.

It takes a giant surge in wheat prices—or, alternatively, a giant decline in wheat prices paid farmers for the price of a loaf of bread to change significantly, Nelson said.

For example, for each change of 70 cents in the price of wheat, the value of wheat in a loaf of bread changes only a penny.

Of each dollar the consumer spends for bread, the farmer received 13 cents, the miller and baker receive 32 cents, the trucker, wholesaler and transportation system receive 36 cents, and the grocer receives 14 cents.

Local wheat markets are reporting prices for wheat of between $1.90 per bushel and $2 per bushel.

Nelson said a bushel of wheat will make about 60 loaves of bread.

Wheat has sold as high as more than $5 per bushel in the area in recent years. But even that price changed the cost of bread to consumers very little, Nelson said.

Chamber Honors Oklahomans On Visitor Day

Tary and David Davis of Enid, Oklahoma ate lunch at Rogers' Cafe Thursday, courtesy of the Lockney Chamber of Commerce. The Davises, June honorees in the Chamber's "Visitor Appreciation Day," say they'll remember the town, "...to say the least..."

It was their first trip through Lockney, but they said "We'll have to come back now."

Unlike most other out-of-staters stopped by Police Chief Raymond Hamilton, Davis said he knew he wasn't speeding—he thought "...maybe they were looking for somebody."

Davis, a steel salesman for Singer Metal Company, was calling on manufacturers in the area, including The Tye Company in Lockney.

The Davises, as honored visitors in Lockney, were eligible for free merchandise and discounts at other local businesses, including White Auto Store, Schacht Flowers, Jewelry and Gifts, and Rowell Variety, Page Thriftway, Bob Miller Insurance, Mize Pharmacy and TV, Jackson Tire Company, Floyd County Insurance Agency, Farm Bureau Insurance, Davis Lumber Company, Byrd Pharmacy, Brown's Department Store, Boot Hill Western Store and Barker Insurance. The visitors receive free meals at either Rogers, Strickland's Restaurant or Lockney Dairy Queen.

224 Businesses In Operation In Floyd County

NEW YORK, June 11—From the standpoint of the business activity, how well does Floyd County shape up? How many retail stores, factories and other commercial establishments are in operation locally? How many people do they employ and how large a payroll do they carry?

Answers to these and other questions emerge from a series of Federal reports, just released, entitled "County Business Patterns." They were prepared by the Census Bureau with the assistance of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Contained in the reports are comparable figures for all parts of the country as to each kind of business—retail and wholesale trade, manufacturing, construction, banking, transportation and the like.

For its size, Floyd County is shown to have a substantial number of establishments in operation. There are 224 of them that have one or more persons in their employ. Those that have no employees are not included.

Of the total, 156 have from 1 to 4 on their payroll, 33 have from 5 to 9 and 26 from 10 to 19.

The extent to which small and moderate-size businesses are supported locally is indicated by the large proportion that are in that category.

The figures show that approximately 96 percent of them have fewer than 20 employees. This compares with 88 percent throughout the United States and also 88 percent in the State of Texas.

The findings are that Floyd County's commercial firms provide gainful employment for some 1,136 people in jobs covered by Social Security.

This is exclusive of farm workers, self-employed persons, domestic service workers and government employees.

Despite the fact that there are more people out of work than usual, as is the case nationally, local payrolls have been going up because wage scales have been rising.

The current report gives the annual payroll for covered workers as $6,625,000. Four years ago, when a similar survey was made, the total was $5,812,000.

MRS. DARRELL CRUSE
(Brenda Wason)

Marriage Vows Pledged

Miss Brenda Margaret Wason and Darrell Joe Cruse pledged marriage vows in a double ring service at 7:00 o'clock in the evening, Saturday, June 10. Marion Kion of Plainview, Church of Christ minister, officiated the ceremony in the sanctuary of the United Methodist Church, Matador.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Wason of Matador. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cruse of Flomot are parents of the bridegroom. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lewis of Floydada. Mrs. Ronnie Cox, organist, presented a prelude of wedding music and accompanied Kelly Wason of Plainview, cousin of the bride, as he sang, "Evergreen." At the close of the ceremony, he sang the Wedding Song, with self accompaniment on the guitar.

The bride wore a long, flowing white gown with a full skirt and a long, flowing veil, framed in the Guipure lace. Shepheress sleeves were accented in the Valentine-Guipure motif, and puffed to a lantern effect and gathered to wide cuffs, edged in lace scallops. Plastrons of lace flowers embellished the full circular skirt that swept to chapel length train. The entire hemline and train were bordered in lace scallops. The bride's matching fingertip mantilla veiling was caught to a Camelot capulet and was also encircled in lace, and she carried a cascade bouquet of daisies, feathered carnations and baby's breath. A basket of the same flowers centered the setting. The bridal aisle was marked by yellow satin ribbon bows, centered with greenery and baby's breath.

Mr. and Mrs. Wason were hosts at a reception at their home, following the ceremony. The bride's matching fingertip mantilla veiling was caught to a Camelot capulet and was also encircled in lace, and she carried a cascade bouquet of daisies, feathered carnations and baby's breath. The bride wore the traditional "something old, new borrowed and blue." The new was her dress, and old was a lavalere which had belonged to her great-grandmother, Mrs. L. H. Lewis. She wore a blue garter and a ring borrowed from her sister, Charla. Miss Charla Wason of Lubbock attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a gown of apricot floral organdy, fashioned with empire bodice, cap sleeves, and A-line skirt, and a picture hat of matching color, trimmed with an organdy band and streamers. She carried a basket of daisies and feathered carnations.

Candlelighters were Karen Wason of Plainview, cousin of the bride, and Derenda Cruse, Flomot, sister of the bridegroom. They wore apricot colored dresses of dacron, designed with square necklines and cap sleeves.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was his brother, Donnie Cruse of Plainview. Ushers were James Gwinn, brother-in-law of the groom, and Mark Wason, the bride's brother.

The altar was decorated with yellow tapers in seven-branched wrought iron candelabra at each side, flanked by urns containing white gladioli, daisies, feathered carnations and baby's breath. A basket of the same flowers centered the setting. The bridal aisle was marked by yellow satin ribbon bows, centered with greenery and baby's breath.

Mrs. Charlie Lewis, Mrs. David Campbell and Mrs. Vance Campbell. The couple left for a short wedding trip, following the reception. For travel, the bride chose a green jacket and skirt ensemble with a white shell, accented with white accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

They are making their home in the Flomot community, where Mr. Cruse is engaged in farming. Both Mr. and Mrs. Cruse are graduates of Matador High School. Mrs. Cruse graduated from West Texas State University, Canyon, and has been teaching in the Lamesa School system the past three years. Following graduation here, Mr. Cruse attended A&M University.

NEWS 'N' NOTES

(by Sharon Hillis)

Remove mildew from clothing immediately—and better yet, prevent it—as it can stain clothing permanently without proper attention.

Remember, mildew grows in damp, warm, dark, and ventilated places.

It often leaves a musty odor and can eat holes in fabric if left too long.

Fabrics most susceptible to mildew are the natural fibers—cotton, wool, linen and silk—and cellulose man-made, including rayon, acetate, and triacetate.

To prevent mildew stains remember the following:

Make sure laundered clothing is completely dry before storing in closets or drawers.

Never store soiled cloth-

Be sure to dry clothing that is wet or soiled before putting in a hamper.

If possible, store clothing in a well ventilated closet—or leave the door open periodically to prevent moisture build-up in closed areas.

Dampen clothing for ironing only as you are ready to iron for example, using a spray pump bottle. Do not pre-dampen a lot of clothes thinking you will iron them all at once.

When storing clothing use a mildew inhibitor, such as paradichlorobenzene or paraformaldehyde, in the drawer or closet. These may be obtained at your local food markets or drug stores. Read the instructions before using to prevent clothing damage or health hazards. To remove mildew stains, follow these steps:

Remove the stain as soon as it is discovered.

Moisten stain with a mixture of lemon juice and salt. If the garment is launderable. If not, moisten with detergent and water. Rinse and allow it to dry in the sun.

If stain still remains, use a mixture of two tablespoons peroxygen bleach and one pint hot water if fabric can take it—if not, use lukewarm water—for thirty minutes.

As a last resort, use a solution of two tablespoons chlorine bleach in one quart water for fifteen minutes. Never use chlorine bleach on silk, wool, or spandex.

June Brides

This is the month of weddings-brides in white, marked-up-cars, rice, honeymoons, magic dreams.

For most Americans traditional wedding vows are still desirable and sought. And marriage as an institution remains the fabric on which stable, orderly societies are built.

Unfortunately, other forms of living together, without marriage, have been championed recently in the media. Marriage as an institution has been criticized. But thousands of years of history and ilyn Cates.

 June 22-Eddie and Ann Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fewell, Audrey and Barbara McCormick.

experience has shown marriage to be the best system for man and woman, the most productive of happiness and contentment.

June and marriages, then, are a happy omen, a hope for a stable future.

Going Home

A bus company recently announced a special "going home" fare. It would take the passenger and children under five home, to any part of the nation, for $50. If bought in May, tickets are good to June 15th. On June 1st the cost rose to $75.

Taking advantage of the "roots" mood in the country, the company offers each going-home passenger a folder showing how to trace his or her roots!

It's a newsworthy fare, which will help many. One suspects there will be some, however, who "re-root" back home, of financial necessity. It's a one-way fare.

CLIMBS TRADE CENTER

NEW YORK--George willing, 27, daredevil toy maker conquered the quarter-mile-high World Trade Center like a human fly recently, using an invention he fashioned from about $100 in material to scale the aluminum-faced monolith.

DRIVE-IN CLOSES

PANORA, IOWA -- After 27 years, Margaret Gibson, operator, closed the Star Vu Drive-In theater. The closing was due to vandalism and changing times and type of movies available.

A petition expressing strong opposition to proposed cotton dust control standards and bearing the signatures of over 5,000 Texas people from all walks of life will soon become an official part of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) hearing record.

Almost 2,000 of the signatures were affixed to the petition during cotton dust hearings held in Lubbock May 10, 11 and 12, where over 150 witnesses spoke, all in opposition to the proposed 200 micrograms per cubic meter dust standard. The remainder of the signatures were secured by ginners and other cotton and cottonseed processors, chambers of commerce, women's cotton promotion clubs and others whose livelihoods are dependent on cotton.

The petitions were mailed to Washington June 10 by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, and Congressmen, Senators and President Carter are being advised of their filing as an indication of the widespread opposition that exists in Texas.

Oral hearings on the proposed standard concluded in Washington May 17. All segments of the cotton industry presented opposing testimony. Testifying in favor of the standard were the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union, the Brown Lung Association, Ralph Nader's Public Citizen Health Research Group and the National Organization for Women.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Dr. Eula Bingham has said a decision will come this Fall.

Gaylon Booker and Phil Wakelyn, National Cotton Council staff members working with the Industrywide Byssinosis Committee, say it is difficult to predict how OSHA will react, but have advised committee members that "... many observers feel the new standard will be modified for some areas in textile mills and for non-textile segments of the industry."

This feeling was reinforced in the minds of PCG officials June 10 during a conversation with Grover Wrenn, OSHA's Deputy Director for Health Standards. Wrenn also made the point that legal and procedural limitations make it impossible that any standard could apply during the 1977 ginning season.

Although the standard may be modified, all cotton people agree that there will remain a pressing need to find and eliminate the agent in cotton dust that has caused byssinosis, or brown lung disease, in some textile workers. Otherwise, textile mills using cotton will be required to institute medical surveillance programs and other expensive procedures not required of mills using synthetic fibers.

The Executive Committee of Cotton Incorporated, producers' cotton research and market development company, met June 9 and 10 in Lubbock, and this latter point was made to committee members by current PCG President Lloyd Cline of Lamesa.

"We feel it is extremely important to our future that there be intensive research toward delivering a cleaner, more acceptable raw fiber from the cotton industry to the textile mill," Cline stated.
