NOW THIS IS A TENNIS RACQUET ... You hold that end ... Danny Clark gives tennis pointers to Howard Moore. Actually, Moore is the tennis expert-he won the Region I UIL tennis tournament and qualified for state competition. Clark is the track authority-he qualified for state in both hurdles events. Clark and Moore will leave Lockney next Thursday for the state meet in Austin May 12 and 13.

The Republican ballot is also published in this edition and its propositions concern pari-mutual wagering, a bill to provide for the election of the delegates to a political party's national nominating convention by the voters in that party's primary and a limit on the amount of taxes which can be levied by the state and local governments.

Another barometer of a big voter turn-out is the extra large absentee ballot count of 153 when absentee voting deadline Tuesday night arrived.

along these tips: For women with large bosom choose V, oval and square necklines. The simple style top is less revealing in non-clingy fabrics. Balance top heaviness by wearing skirts with some fullness or attention-getting details such as large pockets. Avoid high or fussy necklines. For the women with small bosoms try lighter colored tops with darker skirts or pants, wrap blouses, dresses or smock tops. Those with narrow shoulders (some say sholters) should wear dresses or tops that emphasize width at the shoulder line (wing collars, boat necklines, extended shoulders); bodices with some fullness. A short necked person should wear are best. Avoid the turtlenecks, high collars, chokers or scarves at the neck. The wide hipped person looks better in a dress or top that attracts the eye upward. Balance the figure with tops that add width. Pants should be cut from a natural waistline on non-cling fabrics. Don't wear hip-length tops or skirts that are too full or

Pants and longer skirts are a good disguise for heavy legs. Keep fashion interest above the waist and wear simple shoes with enough bulk to balance the leg. Hosiery should match or blend with skirt or dress. If you are short waisted look for the easy-cut dress and seperates because top and bottom size may not be the same. Beltless styles are good. If you must wear a belt make sure it is a narrow one. The person with the thick middle and too much tummy should wear the

Tom Landry Again Gambling In Texa such as horse

DALLAS-Dallas Cowboy Tom Landry said Sunday that legalization of gambling in Texas would damage professional sports in the state.

"Every one of the professional sports commissioners, including Pete Roselle of the National Football League, oppose gambling," Landry said. "It has a tendency to influence players, officials, coaches and fans, just as it does jockeys, veterinarians, trainers, horse owners and race fans where pari-mutuel gambling is legal."

"The NFL," he said, "strictly prohibits association with any gamblers-legal or illegal-or any betting on football games. Association gives gamblers an edge and more opportunity for manipulation," he said.

"My major problem with legalized gambling", added the coach of the Superbowl champion Cowboys, "is that it puts a sanction on gambling. I believe the majority of people who watch professional sports are not gambl ers, but whenever you legalize gambling in one area,

A State Income Tax. A Hangman's Noose For Texas.

If you think taxes are choking you now, consider the possibility of a State income tax. It would be a noose around your neck. Around the neck of every Texan. And around the future of Texas.

A vote for John Hill is a vote for:

more inflation.

AND FOR A STATE INCOME TAX.

A vote for Dolph Briscoe is a vote for:

fiscal responsibility

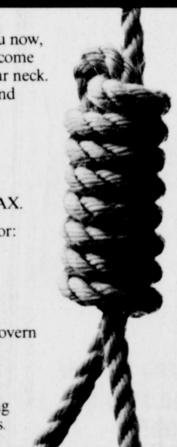

less — not more — government.

 We don't need New York-style govern ment in Texas.

 We don't need Washington-style bureaucracy in Texas.

 And we don't need a big spending liberal activist as Governor of Texas. LET'S KEEP DOLPH BRISCOE AS OUR GOVERNOR.

"We are already footing the bill for run-away government in Washington. As Texans we should not have to foot the bill for run-away government in Austin.

"I don't think Texas should spend itself into a state income tax. That is exactly what will happen if Mr. Hill fulfills only some of his political promises."

The College, which has been offering Continuing Education in the region since 1974, received the custom-built vehicle April 27. It is 33 feet long and 14 feet wide, seats 16 students, and is equipped with the latest audiovisual and other teaching helps. It even has a small library.

"In the past we have held classes in dayrooms, dining halls, and wherever space was available," explained Sister Aloysius Williams, director of Continuing Education. "This sometimes inconvenienced patients or staff members who ordinarily used those rooms. Now we do not have to inconvenience anyone and our classroom has everything we need"

That includes a dummy "patient" in a bed in the rear of the vehicle.

Nurses in rural areas, said Nursing Dean Eileen Jacobi, ordinarily cannot leave their posts to attend programs offered in El Paso or elsewhere. "The nurse in a rural area must be professionally quite versatile," she added, functioning in many capacities and in various departments within a health care institution-operating and delivery rooms, emergency room, giving medications, supervising others,

John Hill Opposes State Income Tax

When he announced for Governor, Attorney General John Hill said that he would oppose - and would veto - a state income tax or any other new tax bill. He has repeated that pledge many times since. Anyone who says that Hill would support a state income tax is just trying to mislead the public.

As Attorney General, John Hill cleaned up political corruption in Duval County, sued the phone company to stop an increase in rates and worked for a national energy policy that would be fair to Texas.

As Governor, John Hill will use the state's budget surplus to reduce property taxes and to help pay more of the cost of our public schools. There will be no state income tax and no other new taxes if Hill is elected Governor.

Consumers Urged to Protest Short-Weight Packaged Food

out for Texas consumers to voice support of stricter federal regulations that would protect them from short-weight packaged foods, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said today.

'Several companies within the food packing and processing industry have testified at USDA hearings in Washington against proposals that would strengthen federal net weight labeling regulations," Brown said. "Few consumers are aware of the drive to defeat these proposals, and it is important that the public make their feelings known by June 2, when the hearings close."

Brown noted that the proposed changes would be in the best interests of consumers. Current rules would be revised to require meat and other food products packaged under Psychology federal supervision to contain the exact amount stated on the label at the time of retail sale, he said.

"These packages now must contain full weight

AUSTIN-Time is running only when they leave the packing plant," Brown explained. "The weight of water and other juices that is lost during transportation, often amounting to three or four ounces, is charged off to the consumer.'

The Texas Department of Agriculture for years enforced much stricter state statutes which do not allow such wide variations in package weight, Brown said. However, this was disallowed last summer when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the more lenient federal regulations take precedence over state laws.

People, psychologists have found, are more content and less frustrated when they can feel they are making a contribution and have a say in society. Some people, unsatisfied with the political process, have found the best way to have a say in the American way of life is through opinion surveys.

MEAT PRICES in general, and beef prices in particular, always seem to command a large share of attention, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown commented recently.

While inflation has pushed beef prices up slightly in recent months, a quick check reveals that they are just now approaching levels reached four year ago, he notes.

- · Outstanding disease tolerance including MDMV, smut and others
- Good standability with good roots and sturdy stalks
- Outstanding height uniformity with good head exsertion

This new sorghum hybrid has a superior yield record in this area. Pioneer® brand 8501 produces heavy test-weight grain and has outstanding stress tolerance. Take a look at these other characteristics that make 8501 so dependable:

- Yields well under limited irrigation or dryland
- Excellent seedling vigor and disease tolerance including smut, MDMV and
- Uniform head height with good exsertion
- Beautiful field appearance

Get greenbug tolerance without giving up yield!

New Pioneer brand 8451 delivers top yields in its class of medium maturity sorghum hybrids. And its greenbug tolerance protects 8451 through serious infestations. This hybrid has a lot going for it in '78.

- * Outstanding greenbug tolerance without sacrificing yield
- * Good seedling vigor
- * Good tolerance to MDMV and head smut
- * Dries fast for earlier harvest
- * An all-around performer, irrigated or non-irrigated

Association evaluation published in the April issue of TEXAS OUTLOOK magazine. Stenholm disagreed with the other candidates on two of the issues. Number One-More federal aid to education. Stenholm's answer was, "No." Explaining his reasoning, he said, "We do not need an arbitrary level of minimum federal participation, he said, "We do not need an arbitrary level of minimum federal participation in our local schools. I think we need less federal involvement in all areas of our daily lives. If we are to have federal funds, they should flow as directly as possible to the local school district with a minimum of federal control."

Number Two-Separate Department of Education. Stenholm again answered, "No." He explained, "We cannot afford another federal bureaucracy. The need for funds at the local level for all purposes is too great to permit any additional loss of tax revenue at the Washington level. Due to the rural nature of the 17th District, we would have difficulty meeting the criteria of an urban dominated Department of Education."

Number Three-Inflation. Stenholm advocates balancing the budget and reducing bureaucracy as the best way to fight inflation. He proposes a "Sunset Law" similar to the one Texas now has. Under such a law, each federal agency, such as OSHA and EPA, would be required to periodically justify its existence. He suggested a review every five years.

Commenting further on balancing the federal budget and reducing bureaucracy, Stenholm stated that he had not promised to open an office anywhere, as one candidate had. "In my opinion, this would violate the spirit of the law which forbids offering any enticement to any individual in return for their support. I have promised to bring the office of the Congressman to all the District in the most economical way feasible. We do not need additional Congressional staff people working directly in cultivating and locating industries," he explained.

FOSTER WHALEY as County Agricultural Agent used his boots on a couple of bureaucrats; one tried to close down a cotton gin, the other tried to sell compulsory soil and water conservation to the local soil conservation district.

FOSTER WHALEY was the first to alert Texas' major farm organizations of this statewide effort. He wrote the resolution for his local farm organization's opposing compulsory soil and water conservation.

IN THE PEN ABOVE, Foster Whaley hedged the first cattle ever hedged in Gray County, and among the first ever hedged south of the Canadian River. He then taught this technique to thousands of feedlot managers, cattle feeders, farmers and 4-H members. Many 4-H members attended college on profits they earned from his help.

FOSTER WHALEY, as State Representative, will continue to boot any bureaucrat in State Government who gets over zealous in regulating our industries, organizations and agriculture.

keting economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, notes that overseas sales of agricultural products generate employment and income as well as boost capital investment.

"Texas is one of the leading states in farm exports, ranking fourth last year with an estimated export sales volume of $1.76 billion," points out Ander-son. "This represented 27 percent of all cash receipts from farm and ranch marketings in the state. Texas led the nation in shipments of cotton, cottonseed and animal fats, was second in rice, hides and skins, and third in peanuts, nuts and meats other than poultry."

The economist emphasizes that the total volume of agricultural exports in 1977 contributed roughly $3.5 billion to the Texas econ-

Farm exports from Texas in 1976 totaled $1.55 billion. On a national scale, Anderson says that overseas sales of farm products totaled $24 billion during 1977. Exports accounted for production from some 100 million acres of cropland, or about 30 percent of the total acreage harvested. Western and Europe and Japan absorbed 52 percent of all U.S. farm export sales.

"It is estimated that U. S. farm exports support well over a million fulltime civilian jobs, and the added business stemming from agricultural exports is about equal to the value of the products shipped abroad," adds Anderson. "Agriculture makes up about a fifth of all U. S. exports and contributes significantly to the U. S. merchandise trade balance. Due to soaring costs of imported oil, the U.S. nonagricultural merchandise trade balance has shown huge dificits in recent years. Even with agricultural exports exceeding agricultural imports by about $10 billion the past year, the U.S. trade deficit plunged from $9.3 billion in 1976 to $31.4

billion last year."
What's the outlook for continued high levels of farm exports?

Anderson believes that shipments may reach a record volume of 110 million tons in 1978 but that the total value of farm exports will be down to about $22.5 billion due to lower prices. Exports of wheat, feedgrains and soybeans should ncrease while the volume of cotton moving overseas should remain steady. And an active farm export policy must continue, he

Choise Smith

I am a resident of Floyd County for over twenty-five years and received my education at Crosbyton High School and West Texas State University before serving in both the U.S. Army and the National Guard. I was born and raised in the historic Hank Smith Rock House and am the great grandson of Uncle and Aunt Hank Smith. I am married to the former Kay Dean Gamble, she is a second grade teacher in Duncan Elementary School in Floydada. I have three children, Jodie a seventh grader, Hunter, a third grader and Choice Jodie, a first grader. We live on our farm near Lakeview, and are members of the First Baptist Church of Floydada.

I am presently serving as both the District Juvenile Probation Officer for the 110th Judicial District and as the Adult Misdemeanor Probation Officer for the Floyd County Court. I believe that my close contact and working with both the County and District Court has helped me to gain greater appreciation and understanding of our judicial system. I am a member of Texas Probation Association, completed Juvenile Officers Course Texas A&M Extension, and have served on the Criminal Justice Advisory Committee for the South Plains Association of

PANAMA CANAL FIGHT

"The Panama Canal Treaty is not a dead issue," said Crews McCullock, candidate for 17th District Congressman, at an airport press conference in Abilene on April 27, 1978. "The Senate vote on the treaties does not reflect the wishes of the American people and was a visible example of a few maneuvering the thinking in government and imposing their will on many."

"Are we going to continue to send men to run our country who forget they are there to represent us?" he asked. The treaties must be implemented by action in both the House and Senate. McCulloch pledged to fight vigorously against implementation of the treaties should he be elected to Congress. He said,"we still have some options in running our Federal Government and those options start with who we elect to represent us.

Crews McCullock is considered by many political observers to be the "DARK HORSE" in the race. He is the best qualified by training and experience. He is experienced in farming, ranching, industry, business, national defense and foreign affairs. He is a highly decorated combat veteran and has fought to build his own successful business. He has rejected campaign funds from special interest groups so that he may represent all the people and not just a few wealthy individuals and special groups.

You can help return your Federal Government to the people by electing a man who is well qualified to represent you and not afraid to step out and fight.

AG EXPORTS---Agricultural exports mean much to both Texas and the nation because they generate employment and income as well as boost capital investment, points out an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Texas was the fourth leading state in farm exports last year, with a sales volume of about $1.76 billion. This contributed $3.5 billion to the Texas economy. Nationally, farm export sales totaled about $24 billion in 1977.

ACCIDENT CONTROL---When applying pesticides, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service recommends these safety procedures: check the operating condi-tion of application equipment; apply according to the label; clean the equipment after use, wash up and change clothes; properly dispose of empty containers; and store leftover chemicals in original containers under lock and key.

About 500 4-H youth competed in the one day event which included 30 method demonstration contests. Awards were presented in the auditorium of Coronado High School.

Senior division teams qualifying for State Roundup were: Dawn Daniel and Darlene Broseh in Dairy; Jody Foster, John Fortenberry, Byron Brock, Kevin Turner, Timmy Cooper, Ty Williams, Ronee Thornton, Stephanie Turner, Rise Taylor, and Mona Henderson in Share-the-Fun; and Jill Whitfill, who placed third in Family Life Education, narrowly missing State.

Junior Division teams from Floyd County won numerous top honors. The teams placed as follows: In Agronomy, Heather Holt and Monty Teeter took first place. In Family Life Education, Sherese Cannon, Stephanie Bybee, Tiffany Duvall, Rusty Teeter, and Jeff Bayley took first place. Kim Carthel and Jerri Ann Mc-Cormick placed first in Family Resource Management, and Shawndra Bybee and Crissy Carthel placed first in Farm and Ranch Management. Other first place awards went to Earl Broseh and Ritchie Thornton in Home Environment Education, Lisa Terrell and Matt Mitchell in Horticulture Pro-

Speir Says Pari-Mutual Gambling Will Increase Problems

AUSTIN-Col. Wilson Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety in Austin, joined a growing number of state law enforcement officials who believe legalizing parimutuel gambling would increase organized crime and decrease Texans' quality of personally feel that such legalization (of pari -mutuel betting) would cause more problems for our people than it would solve. I believe that legalization of one type of gambling would not discourage other illegal gambling. I simply feel it would increase our crime problem," Speir said, emphasizing this as his personal opinion and that he is not speaking for the Department of Public Safety.

Law enforcement officials fear organized crime would increase with legalized parimutuel betting. Although organized crime is currently in Texas, the legalized betting would make organized crime's efforts more profit-

Carol Vance of Houston, district attorney, Harris County, said, "What we really need are stronger state laws to help us combat organized crime...not legalized gambling which would bring more of the wrong element into Texas."

Jim Bowmer, a Temple attorney, said illegal gambling would increase because placing bets with bookmakers would yield more money than the racetracks. The bookmaker gives a credit, pays no taxes and gives higher odds. According to Bowmer, the bookmaker is often connected with a national "mob." He believes placing a bet with an offtrack bookmaker by telephone will increase organiz-Ed Joyce, former chief of the organized crime section, U. S. Department of Justice, told a Texas legislative committee in 1977 that organized crime increases with legalized pari-mutuel bet-

Pro-gambling groups claim Texas would get tax revenue if pari-mutuel betting was legalized. The state, however, will spend money to police the community, R. E. Coons, former Sherman county attorney, Texoma, Texas, said.

"Pari-mutuel gambling is deceptive in that it really causes more law enforcement expense than the profits it creates," he said.

No amount of policing can keep organized crime from increasing in Texas if parimutuel betting is legalized, Bowmer said, because Texans don't have the type of police force to cope with a new problem. If the state adds to the problems, then it will add to the expense, and money will be spent to police the community, he said.

Bowmer believes Texas needs to spend money on current criminal problems instead of creating a new

Nationally, the average tax revenue from legalized gambling is only six-tenths (.6) of a percent of a state's budget. Statistics show that states surrounding Texas which have pari-mutuel betting receive less than one percent of their revenue from gambling. That doesn't include money spent policing the racetracks and the cost of the bureaucratic machinery needed to run gambl-

Will Wilson, Austin attorney and former Texas attorney general, said legalized pari-mutuel gambling is a have legal pari-mutuel bet- parasite, which feeds on the

"It (pari-mutuel betting) doesn't add anything economically. The expenses and problems that come with it take away from it what it gains," he said.

E. L. McClendon Jr., Polk county attorney, believes corruption at all levels accompanies gambling. As a result, family members would be affected.

"It seems that gambling and corruption go hand and hand," he said. "Many innocent people are hurt because of gambling of all types."

Bowmer believes the quality of life would decrease if pari-mutuel betting was legalized because people would lose money at the racetrack and not have necessities. When gambling was legal in Texas in the 1930's, merchants had difficulty collecting bills, he said.

Gary Price, district attorney, Brownwood, said, "All Texans will lose one way or the other, particularly children of the working man."

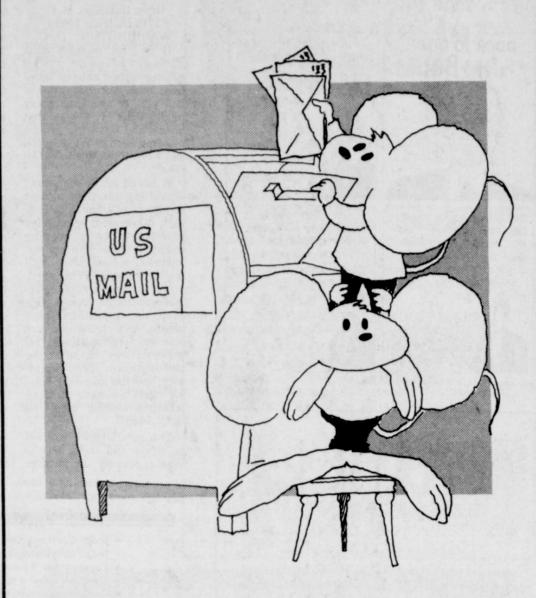

Former Texas Gov. Jimmie Allred's widow, who lived during the days of legalized horserace gambling in Texas, urges Texans "to heed the hard experience of the past."

Mrs. Joe Betsy Allred, 72, Wichita Falls, said her husband worked successfulfor the repeal of parimutuel gambling in 1937 "because it created racketeering, economic hardship and damage to families.

"I lived in Texas during those days," Mrs. Allred said. "I felt then that parimutuel gambling hurt the people of Texas, and I still feel that way."

Mrs. Allred said, "Only a small part of those promised revenues were actually realized by the state" and resulted in her husband urging the legislature in 1935 to repeal pari-mutuel gambling.

As It Looks

From Here Omar Burleson, M. C. 17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D. C. -It is just possible that conservatives and conservative causes have been more successful in the last year or two than many might think. It seems that liberal and left wing groups meeting here in Washington last week think this to be the

A broad cross section of liberal organizations agreed to join in an alliance to help each other meet what they perceive to be a growing challenge from the conservatives, whom they call "right wingers." The participating organizations include women's groups, religious organizations, labor unions, civil rights and civil liberties organizations, representatives of consumer and politicians. They reportedly had the common opinion that "we have all been taking a beating from the right wing." The new alliance will set up offices and staffs here in Washington for the purpose of providing a clearing house for the exchange of information on the activities of conservative groups and what they can do around the Country to counteract their influence.

Thursday, May 4, 1978

The alliance, according to reports, will set up regional and local seminars and workshops to promote liberal causes, and will put interested groups in contact with speakers and experts to promote their views. The new alliance adopted nor formal name as yet, although the scant reports on the meeting have been calling it the "Interchange."

A representative from Wisconsin was quoted as saying that the liberal groups represetned "had only recently come to appreciate the nature and extent of the threat from the new right." The spokesman, a Midge Miller, said she had been campaigning for the women's equal rights amendment and was disturbed by the efficiency and financing of the right wing opposition. The "right wing" has identified with such organizations as the National Right to Work Committee, Young Americans for Freedom, Americans Against Union Control of Government, Organized Opposition to the Panama Canal Treaties, and other organizations which the liberals consider to be ultra-conservative. In addition to the equal rights amendment and abortion issues, other policies on which the conservatives have had an impact are consumer protection legislation, labor law reform, anti-gun control, spending on social programs, defense preparedness and many others.

Among the groups represented in the meeting in Washington a few days ago were the AFL-CIO, the National Organization for Women, the National Women's Political Caucus, the National Council of Churches, the National Education Association, the National Consumer's League, Congress Watch. and the American Civil Liberties Union. Many of these groups, if not all, pledge money and other resources, including personnel, to work in behalf of the new alliance. The Country will probably be hearing from this new activity in the future. The fact that these liberalto-radical people are concerned at the conservative influence is no big comfort but it does give some encouragement that the trends of the last several years may be slowing.

buy another home now? A--If your previous loan has been paid in full, you are eligible for another VA loan guaranty.

Q-Is there any kind of VA education or training available for veterans who have serious service-connected disabilities and whose termination dates have passed?

Q--Congress has eliminated termination dates under the VA vocational rehabilitation program for veterans with serious service-connected disability who need education or training to obtain suitable work. Under the VA vocational rehabilitation program, the VA pays for tuition and other training costs, and the veteran receives a monthly living

Education assistance allowances for eligible veterans pursuing education at institutions outside the United States is exactly the same as for veterans pursuing education at institutions in the U.S., Jack Coker, Director of the VA Regional Office in Waco, says.

However, an eligible veteran may not pursue a World War II and recently program of education at an sold that home. Can I use my educational institution VA loand guaranty again to located outside the United States unless such program is "pursued at an approved educational institution of higher learning.

> That is the criterion set down in Chapter 34, Title 38 of the U.S. Code. Title 38 also gives the Administrator of Veterans Affairs the discretionary power to deny or discontinue educational assistance under Chapter 34, if the Administrator finds that enrollment in a foreign institution is not in the best interest of the student or the

. S. government. In order to avoid unnecessary delays in receiving educational assistance, a veteran desiring to attend a foreign institution should first determine if the specific course in which he is interested has been approved by the VA.
