

800 Registered Voters In Floyd County...How Many Will Vote?

Your Vote Is Important!

every one of those freedoms for which so many people you never knew have given their blood, sweat, tears and their lives to preserve for you.

How important is one vote? Well, in 1645, one vote gave Oliver Cromwell control over England.

In 1649, one vote caused

Charles I of England to be executed.

In 1776, one vote gave America the English language instead of German.

In 1839, one vote elected Marcus Morton Governor of Massachusetts.

In 1845, one vote brought Texas into the Union.

In 1868, one vote saved President Andrew Johnson from impeachment.

In 1876, one vote changed France from a Monarchy to a Republic.

In 1876, one vote gave Rutherford B. Hayes the Presidency of the United States.

In 1923, one vote gave Adolph

Hitler leadership of the Nazi Party.

And in 1941, one vote saved Selective Service—just 12 weeks before Pearl Harbor.

A wise man once said, "Liberty means responsibility—this is why men dread it."

Do you dread it? Or do you consider liberty your responsibility—to be preserved where it counts most: in the ballot box?

Is one vote all that important? You bet your free life it is!

YES, YOUR VOTE IS VERY IMPORTANT.

POLICE CHIEF DONNIE BALLEW

New Named Police Chief

Ballew, 30, a Lockney native since October 1, 1974, was named police chief Thursday morning.

Ballew was born and raised in Plainview. He and his wife Margaret have one child, Robert, age three.

Ballew stated: "I am looking forward to working with and for the people of Lockney, and I will do my best to work with the city council to make this a police department everyone can be proud of."

Auditorium 'Not Repairable'

Lockney City Auditorium is "not repairable" by A. C. Bowden, consulting engineer.

The $17,330 bid was competitive. Other area pavers did not submit bids apparently because they are too busy.

The $17,330 includes $16,560 for sealcoating and $770 for asphalt for speed reducing "humps" on streets near schools.

Alderman J. D. Copeland suggested setting the annual Lockney Clean-Up Day on May 19 and 20. The council requested that Lockney place anything they need hauled away in alleys (but not blocking traffic through the alleyway) on those two days. The city will arrange for special hauling on those two days.

City secretary Erma Lee Duckworth presented the yearly financial statement for the year that ended in March. At the meeting were Mayor Brown, aldermen Copeland, Bobby McCormick, Paul Reecer, and Jerry Perry, the city secretary, the city engineer, and a representative of High Plains Pavers.

Hospital Trying To Control Costs

Lockney General Hospital of Lockney has announced adoption of a resolution joining the state and national attack on rising health care costs.

Gayle Fortenberry, Administrator of Lockney General Hospital in making the announcement said, "we have been working diligently for a long time to hold down the cost of hospital care. This resolution indicates our strong desire to reassess our current operating and capital budgets to determine which expenditures can be reduced without sacrificing the quality of care."

The hospital industry's program to control costs is known as the Texas Voluntary Effort. This is a part of a national effort which commits hospitals to reduce the national rate of cost increase by two percent a year for two years.

It's Hospital Week. See Lockney General Hospital's Salute To Employees On Page 8.

Floyd Economy Gets $1 1/2 Million Boost

Floyd County's economy received a welcome boost this week with the mailing of approximately $1 1/2 million in agricultural payments to some 1,222 producers by the local ASCS (Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service).

"This money represents payments we are making to farmers under the 1971 Agricultural Act for their 1977 plantings," Tom Moore, manager of A.S.C.S. explained.

Asked what amounts the payments ran to Floyd County farmers and absentee owners, Moore noted that "the checks ran from literally a few dollars to a high of $20,000, the maximum we are allowed to pay by law. The 1,222 checks averaged about $1,227 each," Moore added.

The 30-year ASCS veteran, who has been manager here for 24 years, said the payments will definitely boost Floyd County's economy, with most of the money staying in the county, even in the case of the absentee owners who received checks.

"Those landlords who don't live here will still spend a lot of their payments with Floydada vendors when they buy underground tile, improve their waterways, and make other improvements," Moore explained.

Floyd County farmers are now signing up for the 1978 crop year under the 1977 Agricultural Act. Under this program farmers can elect to divert their plantings (plant less) or plant fence to fence, in the case of cotton or soybeans, but not for feed grains or wheat, Moore said.

Street Lights Shot, Money Stolen

Lockney police department is investigating the breaking of four city street lights during the early morning hours of April 28 and May 1, according to Donnie Ballew, police chief. Two of the street lights were in the business district, two in the residential area.

Ballew said the street lights were apparently shot from an automobile, probably with a .22-caliber pistol. No one reported hearing the shots. Ballew reported no arrests and no leads in the incident.

Police are also investigating the theft April 29 of over $200 in cash and checks from Cooper Conoco. The money, including $152 in cash, was taken from the office of the service station while owner Melvin Cooper was on duty in the shop in the back, between 9 a.m. and noon on Saturday morning.

'Mrs. Pat' Came From A Family Of Doctors

By Felicia Applewhite
Edith Patterson, "Mrs. Pat," was born in North Texas' oldest town, Pilot Grove, in Grayson County. Her early life was a constant association with relatives in the medical profession.

Her grandfather on her mother's side was a doctor who served during the Civil War. His health was ruined while doing military service, so he came to Texas for health reasons.

Her father was a doctor. The family name was Knox.

The name of the town, Pilot Grove, had a name that went back to stage coach days. In those early days, there was an historic inn located on a hill. As time passed, the place on the hill served as a sort of pilot or guide for the early travelers across the land.

The grandfather on her father's side, was an herb doctor, "when he wasn't hunting gold." Every time he heard of gold in a state, he took his family to that state. In 1898, he and 3 of his sons and 2 of his daughters went to Alaska. One daughter never came back to the states to live. She spent the remainder of her life in Fairbanks.

Her son was the first white boy to be born in Fairbanks. She was champion bear-killer woman of Alaska. She was also the first woman to drive a car in Alaska. Her husband had a gold mine north of Fairbanks. At first, they made "lots of money." A cousin in California inherited the gold mine.

The only brother of Edith's mother was a doctor in North Carolina, the original home state of her mother. One of his sons was a dentist.

"My father was a horse-and-buggy doctor. Sometimes, he would be gone overnight to see patients. There would be times we wouldn't see him for several days. He would come in after we were in bed and leave before we were up the next day," Mrs. Patterson remembers.

His medicines were castor oil, calomel, and a mixture of rock candy and whiskey for a throat gargle. Since there were no capsule medicines, he rolled dosages in small squares of paper. Edith sometimes helped to roll the medicine in the paper. Her father also owned a drug store.

"My father always owned gentle horses. He had to have a number to assure him of horses for emergencies.

His horses became family pets. We even moved our play house things by the use of horses. They were so gentle, that we didn't need saddle or bridle. We just loaded one with our play things and moved to a different location.

Mrs. Patterson was the oldest in a family of 7. Sometimes, their mother would take all 7 of them in a fringe-top surrey around the town.

"I learned to swim with my clothes on in water near our house. We called it 'go to the branch to swim' when we went to swim. When we went in with no grown person around, we would get whippings. Father took the boys sometimes and threw them in. They learned to swim that way," she explains.

There was always activity around the home of the Knoxes.

"I climbed every pecan tree on the place. I also rode papa's horses, sometimes without bridle or saddle," Edith says.

One time she and Nannie Meinicke, now of Plainview, were on a horse saddled with a side-saddle. Edith was on the side saddle and Nannie was on behind her. They were a "good ways" from Nannie's house. The horse took off for the house. Nannie fell off, and "I didn't look back because I thought she was killed. Her brother saw the horse coming and ran to open the gate. He was not quite fast enough to get the gate open before I got there. The horse ran right up to the gate and abruptly stopped. I kept on going and landed on the other side of the gate. I was just skinned a bit—no broken bones. That same thing happened to my brother when he was riding with no bridle or saddle," she remembers.

Edith's father delivered all of Mrs. M. C. Cook's uncles and aunts at birth. He operated on her grandmother to remove a breast cancer using the dining table for an operator table. Mrs. Cook is employed at the Lockney General Hospital in Lockney.

"My father was the doctor for a black community. Often to pay doctor bills, some of the community worked for our family. They cooked, washed and ironed. They were good, old saints. We just loved them. We called them 'Aunt' and 'Uncle,' " she says.

Another baby delivered by Edith's father was Bennie Benion, owner of one of the largest gambling casinos in Las Vegas. He also delivered the brothers and sisters of Bennie. Bennie's father raised coon dogs.

As a child Edith heard those coon dogs baying. "We heard those dogs a lot when I was growing up. I could tell by the way the dogs bayed whether something had been treed," she recalls.

During this time, Edith was in her first years of school. The school house was a mile from her home. She carried her lunch of biscuits and bacon or biscuits and jelly in a tin bucket. Sometimes, she poked her finger to make a hole in a biscuit for molasses.

"I can remember going barefoot to school because there were no sidewalks—just roads. It was necessary to stop to get the grass burs or stickers out of my feet. Then at school, I would get splinters sometimes because the floors were wooden," she says.

Across the road from the school house stood the old stage coach inn. It was called the Clement's Inn. It sat on the hill shrouded in legend and imaginary stories.

The first person buried in Pilot Grove died in Clement's Inn. He was buried there before his resting place was called a cemetery. The story about him was that he was ill on arrival at the inn. No one knew who he was. No name is on his grave.

"I started making my own clothes when I was 12. Mother was sick at the time. She had bought material for me a dress. I went in and cut it out. I just kept working at it until I had it fitted. She was shocked to death. From then on, I made all my clothes.

"I learned to crochet and tat early and did so much of it when I was older. All of my wedding clothes had tatting. I still have a tatted yoke from a silk gown that I wore until I wore it out," she says.

Edith grew up to become a school teacher. Her first school was in Stanley, where she taught the third

Lynn Daniel Hostess To Alpha Mu Delta

Alpha Mu Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held their regular meeting Thursday, May 2, 1978, in the home of Lynn Daniel. After being taxied in by Danny Daniel, because of the rains, Jennie Smith presented a program on recycling. Jennie showed many reusable items which we are all guilty of throwing away. There were toys for children from spray bottles; and several items made from scraps of material, such as bags for small toys or covering cans for storage, etc. She shared with us two handouts which gave examples of toys to make and a check list on items which might be worth recycling.

Following the program members and guests were served frosted strawberries, cookies, cheese hors-d'oeuvres and punch by hostess Lynn Daniel. Everyone enjoyed touring Lynn's new home at this time.

Kaye Powell lead the opening ritual and turned the meeting over to Lynn who conducted a contest of each girl guessing whose baby picture was whose. There were three winners who only missed one — Lu Ann Collins, Julie Hickerson, and Donna Henderson. They were presented a gift of a kitchen towel and matching pot holder.

Business was begun with communications received about the Beta Sigma Phi State Convention to be held in El Paso, June 23rd. A thank you note was received from Girlstown for the items taken to them last week.

Committee reports were given and it was announced that girls who signed up for the volunteer program at the rest home should attend a meeting Wednesday, May 3rd at 11:00.

Our next meeting will be May 16th at Donna Henderson's home and Vickie Latta will be giving the program. Members then voted on nominations for the Scholarship to be given to a graduating senior for further education at the Awards Presentation at High School May 9, 1978.

Final plans on the "First Lady of the Year" reception were discussed. Everyone is invited to this reception to be held at the First Baptist Church Wall Street parlor, Sunday, May 14, from 3:30 until 5:00.

New committees were then discussed for the following year. Members present were Daphna Simpson, Brenda Watson, Pat Cates, Ilene Kendrick, Diana Gross, Julie Hickerson, Kaye Powell, Donna Henderson, Vickie Allen, Lynn Daniel, and LuAnn Collins. Special guest was June McLaughlin; and Jennie Smith.

COLLEGE STATION -- Don't let yesterday's make-up techniques spoil the spring and summer fashionable look, says Beverly Rhoades, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Lighthearted and natural is the theme of today's look in cosmetics, she continues. Colors are sheer—but a bit stronger.

And, the entire face is a balance of color—no one feature should strongly dominate, the specialist advises. Choose foundation colors to blend into the complexion over a light base of moisturizer to keep skin fresh looking all day. Liquid foundation gives the sheerest look, but cream or cake foundation gives greater coverage.

Use foundation colors to "contour" the face into the desired effect. Darker or deeper colors create a receding effect while light colors tend to advance and emphasize features.

Remember, however, the overall effect is natural and blended into the complexion, she adds. A muted wash of color on the cheek is attractive. Place color just below the cheek bone for a fashionable low-cheek look. Use a cheek bone liner to glow. Choose the shades that best suits the face. Miss Rhoades says. To accent the entire eye area or more muted blend into the hair. Use a deeper shade on the lining outward to This gives a slighting effect to the subtle, flattering To lift and warm area, use soft, pinks or champagnes. Browns are a natural, blended face and brushed Lips are sheer moist. Luscious fresh colors range pastels to clear coordinated with array of color, out. Create a soft mood or a bold look with color chosen Also, coordinate with garment specialist adds. Soft, muted perfect for neutral fashions, while brighter colors message for the bright fashion

FDA To Prohibit Sale Of Certain Foods In School Cafeterias

Proposed regulations to prohibit the sale of candy, frozen desserts and chewing gum in school cafeterias after the last period, have been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The Department's action is a provision of the Food and Drug Administration Law 95-166, enacted in 1978, which provides the Department with authority to prohibit the sale in schools of food items that the Department determines to be of little nutritional value.

"We are proposing to prohibit the sale of these foods because we believe they contribute substantially to plate waste, reduced participation in the school lunch and breakfast programs, and a decline in the consumption of nutritious foods in school," said Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman. "The proposed regulations prohibit the sale of those foods that do not make a positive nutritional contribution to children's diets, dietary habits and appetites." The regulations define candy as a processed food consisting of sugar, corn syrup or other sweeteners. These may be combined with other ingredients such as chocolate, dairy products, egg products, fruits, nuts, flavorings and colorings. Candy items include hard candy, creams, jelly and gum-like candies, marshmallows, nougats, fudges, coffees, caramels, glazed candies, chocolates, and chocolate coated candy, fruits and nuts. Chewing gum is defined as flavored products made from natural or synthetic gums and other ingredients which form an insoluble mass for chewing. Definitions for soda water and frozen desserts in the proposed regulations are based on definitions provided by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). Frozen desserts include flavored ice bars and sherbets. Copies of FDA's definitions are available upon request from USDA.

The Department is inviting comments on the proposed regulations. All comments on the proposed regulations and requests for FDA's definitions for soda water and frozen desserts should be sent to Margaret O'K. Glavin, Acting Director, School Programs Division, Food and Nutrition Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250 by June 9.

The proposed regulations are scheduled to appear in the Federal Register of April 25.

Fishing Report Good At Mackenzie Lake

Fishing is good at Mackenzie Lake where the depth stands at 82.8 feet, public relations director John McCammon reported this week.

"One man caught a large string crappie, and the bass fishing has been fair, they are running 1 1/2 to 2 pounds," McCammon said. He also noted that the catfish are taking trotline bait.

A Silverton resident caught a 12-pound channel cat on a trot line and a few one and 1/2 pound wall eye are also being caught.

Water temperature Thursday was 66 degrees, McCammon said.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Max Cleland announced today appointment of Rosa Maria Fontanez-Marquez as Deputy Assistant Administrator of the VA's Office of Human Goals. The Veterans Administration became the first federal agency to establish an Office of Human Goals earlier this year and the official signing of the VA "Statement of Human Goals" was held March 23. LOCKNEY AREA CHURCH PAGE

Time out for GOD

THE WORLD GOD MADE

Peace... without stillness. One of the marks of the world God made.

Small avalanches rumble in the distant mountains as the spring thaw advances. Every hemlock sprig is bursting with new growth. In the sky as in the river there is life and motion, restlessness and questing. Peace... without stillness.

Doesn't that tell us something about our own quest in the world God made? Peace without stillness is one of the supreme longings of mankind. It seems to HAPPEN when every thing or person realizes his mission and pursues it.

Next Sunday you'll have a precious opportunity to join your neighbors at church. That's where folks are seeking — and finding — their mission in the world God made.

Auxiliary Sponsors First Aid Course

Joe Wall of Plainview was instructor for a four-night, 12-hour first aid course at the Lockney fire station, sponsored recently by the Lockney Volunteer Fire Department Ladies' Auxiliary.

Those attending were Vickie Hutton, Vickie Schaeffer, Barbara Carthel, Robin Carthel, Nellie Webb, Mertie Gibson, Wanda Dudley, Debra Webb, Ann Gaskins, Katy Ansley, Jim Ansley, Gary Bigham, Keith Owens and Tony Garza.

Each one attending was given a card proving he or she has taken the instruction.

and fourth grades. Roy Patterson was principal of the school. They were married in 1917 in the summer after the first year.

They married the week after he graduated from officer's training for World War I. He had enlisted before the school was out.

They moved to San Antonio to Camp Travis where he was company commander.

He also taught French to officers who were going over seas to assignment. They were in San Antonio nearly 2 years until the war was over. During this time, he was promoted to rank as major. He wanted to go to the European battle front, but the general kept him at Fort Travis.

When the war was over, they went back to live on a farm between Weatherford and Fort Worth for a few months. Then they went back to where they met. He taught another year before going into the gin business in Krum.

They still had time to teach another year in Cottle County just before reading an article in the Dallas Morning News reporting the need of a cotton gin in Lockney. Since the Pattersons had a partnership gin with a brother in Krum, they decided to move it to Lockney.

They brought the gin to Lockney from Krum in box cars.

"We even brought our furniture, cow and chickens all in one box car," she says.

Lockney was a booming town. They came here in a Model T Ford. Housing was scarce, so for 6 weeks they lived in a room in the house on Main Street where Mae Craiger lives now. They had their meals in the Alex Norris home.

"I cried for 6 months after we moved to Lockney. I had never lived where there were no trees, creeks or hills. It just wasn't home to me.

"The first year, Roy taught Spanish in Lockney High School. He often called on me to carry basketball girls at times to various games over a big area. Our car was handy and few people had cars.

"After school during cotton-picking time, I would take a load of kids to pick cotton with them. We did picking-not boll-pulling," she says. She soon became known as "Mrs. Pat."

Eventually, machinery had to be changed in order to gin bolls. They burned burs and coal for power to operate the gin," she remembers.

The first cotton was brought to the gin by horse-drawn wagon. When ginning began in the fall, farmers came as far away as Silvertown. They stayed until the wagon was empty. The round trip here and back home sometimes took several days. At times, the farmer stayed in the Brewster House. Most of the time, they brought their bedding along and slept in the wagon.

After a few years, the ginned cotton was pressed into round bales. The round-bale press was owned by Anderson-Clayton Company and leased to the ginner.

The first few years good money was made on round bales, then there was no sale for them and the ginner lost what he had made.

"Roy and I went to New Orleans to sell the round bales but just had to give them away.

"I made all our clothes, even to my husband's shirts and pajamas. We were kept at home much of the time when the children were small. Baby sitters were unheard of. We either stayed home or took the children with us.

Roy operated the gin until he sold it to George Webster in 1954. It is now owned by the Marble Brothers. Roy operated the elevator until his death in 1907.

Mrs. Patterson, in the last few years, has traveled extensively in European countries, Canada, and Mexico. At present, she lives quietly in Lockney where "Mrs. Pat" has many friends.

Lockney Locals

Mrs. Henry Bollman attended a college reunion April 24 and 25 at Texas Wesleyan College in Ft. Worth. It was a women's college at the time she graduated with the Class of '33. While in Central Texas Mrs. Bollman visited historical places of interest and obtained and gave out genealogical information in Waxahachie, Corsicana, Groesbeck and Richland. She visited with cousins at Hillsboro, and reports seeing beautiful fields of bluebonnets while on her trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Thornton spent the weekend visiting her sister, Mrs. Ernest Schuman at White Deer.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Sams spent Sunday in Amarillo visiting their son Kenneth Sams.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Foster of Lone Star community had as guests this past weekend their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Huffman of Euless. The Huffmans also visited her sisters, the Dan Teutons and the Jerry Cawleys.

Regulations For Boats

Type-111 PFD is an approved USCG device similar to type-11 with at least 15.5 pounds of buoyancy, but has a lesser turning ability to allow for comfortable design for water activities such as water skiing. Recommended for in-water sports.

Type-IV PFD is an approved USCG designed to be thrown to a person in the water and not worn. It is designed to have at least 16.5 pounds of buoyancy. This device is acceptable for boats less than 16 feet and canoes and kayaks and as a throwable device for boats 16 feet and over in length.

Additional information is available in the Digest of the Texas Water Safety Act which can be obtained at all P&WD offices and from your local game warden.

Burleson Offers Information Concerning Service Academy Nominations

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Omar Burleson reminds young persons who are interested in competing for nominations to the service academies, for the class entering July 1979, he uses a competitive method of selection so that all young persons who meet the necessary requirements may be considered.

The service academies are the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland; the Military Academy at West Point, New York; the Air Force Academy near Colorado Springs, Colorado; and the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, New York. These institutions offer a fine education and a great opportunity for service to their country by young persons who wish to follow a military career. In order for Congressman Burleson to consider applicants, a candidate must meet these requirements: (1) Must be a U. S. citizen; (2) Must be over 17 and a legal resident of the 17th Congressional District; (3) Must be under 22 years of age on July 1, 1979; (4) Must never have been married; (5) Must be physically fit, including excellent eyesight; (6) Must have a good high school record.

Burleson stresses that political influence is not a factor in his nominations to the Academies. The important thing is not who you know but what you are.

Interested young persons who meet the above requirements should write Congressman Omar Burleson, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515, no later than July 16. Examinations will then be scheduled as a rating device to set up slates for nomination. The competition is keen but Congressman Burleson wants to assure that all young persons who are interested in a military career may have an opportunity to compete for nomination.

Solons Pass Farm Target Price Bill

WASHINGTON — The House gave final approval Thursday to legislation granting the administration discretionary authority to increase target prices for wheat, feed grains and cotton in years when government programs to reduce planted acreage are in effect.

The bill, approved 212-182 and sent to the White House, is a fallback from more generous emergency farm legislation that was killed in the House last month after a veto threat from President Carter.

It is expected to result in immediate action by the administration to raise the target price for this year's wheat crop from $3 to $3.40 a bushel.

However, officials have indicated no increases will be forthcoming for feed grains or cotton because those crops have already benefited from economic aid under a new program of acreage diversion payments.

If the wheat support price were raised to $3.40, it could boost wheat farmers' income for this year by nearly $600 million. Another provision of the bill that is expected to bring about a minimum four-cent a pound increase in the cotton loan rate could cost an extra $100 million.

Congressional budget experts peg the overall cost of the bill at $1.58 billion for fiscal 1979 through 1983. The other emergency farm legislation rejected by the House on April 12 would have cost $5.7 billion just for 1978 crops, a price tag that prompted the Carter veto threat.

The legislation allows the administration to raise target prices to compensate producers for participation anytime the government asks farmers to cut back planting under a set-aside program. The discretionary authority runs from 1979 to 1981.

Critics said wheat farmers clearly need extra help to overcome their financial troubles, but the discretionary authority price setting gives too much power to the administration on agricultural policy.

Rep. James Johnson, R-Colo., said the bill gives the president "unchecked authority" to decide how much cropland will be planted, what crops will be planted, and what farmers will receive for loans and target price support.

"Those factors all relate to the market price," Johnson said, "so by passing the act, the president can in effect set market prices."

Johnson added, "If this passes, we can change the title of the Secretary of Agriculture to Sultan of Agriculture."

"Our administration has not really given us any choice in this matter," said Rep. Don Glickman, D-Kan. "The crisis in wheat is now because the price of wheat is so low that there is no incentive to participate in the set-aside program."

The House public galleries were partially occupied for this round of the farm debate. When previous emergency farm measures were discussed, the galleries were packed with farmers and their families, holding their red and yellow and blue farm strike caps in their laps.

Rep. W.R. Poage, D-Tex., said the bill "tries to get the farmers of America something. We can get something for some farmers... I am not going to support the bill simply because it does not do anything for everybody."

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland has said he will urge President Carter to sign the compromise bill despite an objectionable provision putting a 60-cent-a-pound floor under the support loan rates for upland cotton.

The floor is coupled with another provision that revises the method of figuring cotton support loan rates agreed to in 1977 since that formula has brought about an unexpectedly low loan rate.
