Seminar Instills Patriotism In Boys

LHS seniors Kevin Stennett and Ches Carthel, recently returned from a "cram course" in political science and history, consider themselves fortunate to be American citizens.

And the Texas Farm Bureau Citizenship Seminar has inspired them to desire to be responsible citizens.

Floyd County Farm Bureau sponsored Kevin and Ches' July 17-21 trip to the seminar in Waco on the campus of Baylor University.

Speakers at the seminar lectured on socialism, communism, capitalism, economics and family life. Question and answer sessions followed each speaker.

"We were eager to attend each lecture because they were so interesting," both boys proclaimed.

The young men related that the question and answer periods with each speaker always went longer than the schedule had allowed.

Both of the boys confessed they had not planned on the seminar being so stimulating, and had expected a Farm Bureau emphasis. They did tour the state headquarters, but most of the activities were devoted to the citizenship portion.

They found the speakers inspirational. "They told us there was nothing to be ashamed or embarrassed about being patriotic." Both said that they came away with hope that the government could be better and that America could survive because of the people who still were patriotic.

Speakers included Dr. C.L. Kay of the Lubbock Christian College staff; Karl Kiisholm, a patriot, immigrant, farmer and legislator from Iowa who lived under Nazi rule during World War II; W. Cleon Skousen, author of THE NAKED COMMUNIST, which was based on his experiences as an agent of the FBI and as chief of police of Salt Lake City; John J. "Jack" Jackson, instructor in the flying training, ground school of American Airlines in Fort Worth (Jackson was speaker this spring at the Lockney Chamber of Commerce banquet).

Also Joseph E. O'Connell, special agent in charge, FBI, in San Antonio; Robert K. Campbell, president and chief executive officer, Texas Power and Light Company of Dallas; Dr. Thomas S. Cunningham, family life specialist; Judge Carl C. Anderson, 54th District Court, Waco.

Ches and Kevin will be speaking briefly at the Floyd County Farm Bureau banquet Sept. 7.

Hale of Floydada, were united in marriage in the First Baptist Church in El Campo on August 5, 1978 at 7:00 p.m. The double ring ceremony was officiated by Reverend John Taylor, minister of the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was escorted to the bridal altar which was accented with a backdrop of magnolia leaves, summer arrangements of mixed flowers, a branch candelabra at each end and centered by an arched candelabra. Church pews were decorated with hurricane lamps and bows.

The bride's honor attendants were Joy Jones, sister of the bride, of El Campo, who served as maid of honor; and bridesmaids Susan Jones, sister of the bride, Mrs. James R. Reed III, of Campo; Mrs. Paul Pope, Lawton, Oklahoma; and Brenda Ramming of Wichita Falls. Jennifer Ford of Deer Park, the bride's cousin, was junior bridesmaid.

Michael Hale, brother of the groom, of Lubbock was best man. Other groomsmen were Richard Hale, brother of the groom, of Floydada; Sam Henry of Plano; Bill Norman of Bryan; and John Wilson of Dallas.

Ushers were Bob Sheppers of San Francisco, California; Bruce Wilson of LaVerne, California; Kelly Smitherman of Providence, R.I.; and Ronnie Wind of El Campo.

The bride chose a formal gown designed by Phyllis for the house of Bianchi. It was fashioned in white English net and peau de soie, in princess silhouette. The bodice, lavishly applied with re-embroidered Alencon lace, was accented with bridal pearls. It featured a Queen Anne neckline, long fitted sleeves, caught at the wrists with bridal buttons and loops. The empire waistline was outlined in scroll design. The slightly flared skirt was beaded with a deep border of intricate design. It was worn slipper length in front and extended to a chapel length train. Her head was adorned with a Juliet cap of re-embroidered Alencon lace with bridal pearl accents, and was enhanced by a veil of imported French illusion, completely edged in a border of Alencon lace. She carried a nosegay bouquet of white glamelias and stephanotis.

Bridal attendants were attired in identical gowns of Romance blue chiffon. Asymmetrical shoulders, empire waistlines defined by blue satin ribbons and layered skirts in petal designs were the features of the classic gowns. The shoulders were covered by capes with high collars, tied in back with sweetheart knots. In their hair they wore flowers of matching blue chiffon. Each carried a round nosegay of mixed summer flowers. The musical "Prelude" was presented by Mrs. Richard Collins, who also accompanied Mr. Cecil Davis as he sang "Somewhere," "Can't Help Falling in Love," and "Lord's Prayer."

The bride's mother carried a tiny nosegay of cymbidium orchids and wore a dress of pleated lavender chiffon, featuring a V-neckline and attached cape. The hemline was fluted and worn mid-calf length in front, cascading to formal length in back. The groom's mother wore a long dress of chiffon in an abstract print of shades of mauve, ranging to plum, and styled with a scoop neckline with trapunta stitching, long full sleeves and a soft tie at the waist. She wore a corsage of white jappet orchids.

Grandparents of the bride are: Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Smith of Chester and Mrs. Pauline Ward of Houston. The groom's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Walton Hale of Floydada and Mrs. Willie Merle Haithecock of Lockney. A reception followed the wedding ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Guests were registered at a small round table placed at the entrance of the backyard area just inside a lattice arch through which they entered. The table held the bride's book and rice bags placed on a silver tray. Mixed arrangements with hurricane lamps lighted the driveway.

The bride's table was round with white latticed backdrop, holding the four-tiered banana cake, which was decorated with fresh flowers on each tier. The groom's table held a silver punch fountain at one end holding Blue Hawaii punch, groom's cheese shaped like wedding bells and inscribed with the couple's names and date of wedding, and a silver coffee service. Two arrangements of mixed flowers, each holding a candle, added an extra touch to the decor.

The L-shaped serving table held a large mixed arrangement containing five candles. The buffet table held sliced turkey, ham, roast beef, sweet and sour chicken, meatballs, small chicken crepes, a tiered fresh fruit tray, a tiered fresh vegetable tray with broccoli dip and a tray of deviled eggs.

The pool was encircled with small mixed arrangements and white rope. The grounds around the pool held small white tables with arrangements in brandy snifters. The pool itself held scattered arrangements of floating candles and flowers. For her traveling attire, the bride chose a skirt and blouse featuring long cuffed sleeves and a high buttoned neck. She carried a long-stemmed white rose.

The bride is a 1974 graduate of El Campo High School and a 1978 graduate of the University of Texas.

Hale is a 1973 graduate of Floydada High School and a 1977 graduate of the University of Texas. He is currently in the Tech School of Law.

Fairview News

By Mrs. Clyde Bagwell

August 7 - Rain showers fell over the area last Friday. Only a shower fell here in town, but some out Fairview way reported nearly an inch. E. W. Walls reported a half inch on part of their farm; 9/10 of an inch was reported at the Ray Cook farm and about one inch at Lee Burtons.

Those visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Graham during last week and also on Sunday evening were Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Walls, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hollums, Lee Burton and Mr. and Mrs. Walton Wilson.

Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Graham drove to Idalou, Petersburg and back home. While on this trip they happened to meet a friend, Mrs. Johnny Polvadore, with whom they chatted for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Nicholas, Kelli, Lance and Chad of Oklahoma City will arrive Wednesday, August 9, to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Payne. They will leave Saturday for Six Flags and Dallas.

Mrs. Mattie Mulkey of Paducah and her sister Mrs. C. H. Wise went to Lubbock Saturday afternoon to the home of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Denton, where they remained until Sunday. Another brother, J. P. Denton of Littlefield was there Saturday afternoon and evening.

CORRECTION

Due to a typographical error in this newspaper last edition, it was incorrectly listed in the Caprock Hospital report that Tommy E. Hager had expired. It should have read "Cora H. Fisher, expired."

This newspaper regrets the error.

The first known newspaper story on baseball appeared in the New York Mercury in 1853.

PRAYER FOR RAIN

(Back in 1935 in Kansas, dust boiled up until it blocked the sun. Rains were needed as badly as at any time in the white man's attempt to live on the prairie. Newspapers carried the following prayer for rain.)

O Lord, in Thy mercy grant us rain and by that we mean a shower.

We want to go out and watch the lightning rip across southwestern sky in hot blue forks as the fat clouds roll down drops the size of marbles, on a suddenly rising wind, the house just as the first sheets descend, frantically down the windows.

O Lord of Hosts, we want to look out of the window and watch the regiments of close-packed raindrops march steadily down. We want to hear the gurgle of the gutter in the eaves, and then the spatter of the downspout.

God of Israel, Isaac, and Jacob, let it come down on that the streets and sidewalks seem covered with a water of spattered drops. Then let it just keep up for a while, begin to taper off, and then turn right around and get a harder coming--Crackity, BAM--and the lightning flash, fast and furious you can't tell which flash goes with the peal of thunder. So that all the women will get some climb on top of the beds and scream at you not to get close to that window.

And then, O Jealous God, repeat the whole act about times, and in the middle of the second time we will see attic stairs and put the wash pan under that tiny leak on roof which usually you can't even notice in an ordinary rain.

And after a couple of hours, kind of taper it down, to a good steady rain--not a drizzle, but a buttoned rain that keeps up until just about dawn and then spits a few occasionally during the morning from a gray sky.

Kansas is indeed the Promised Land, O Lord, and a break it will flow with milk and honey. But we can't much longer on promise. So in Thine own way and in Thine own time, make mind, O Lord, and we will bow before Thy judgment. Thine everlasting name.

The Floyd Philosopher Explains The New Woman-Faced Dollar And Advocates Women Baseball Players

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses women's lib this week, we think, but that's his worry.

Dear editor:

As I understand it, the U.S. Treasury is coming out with a new silver dollar made out of whatever is handy. It'll be smaller than a half-dollar but larger than a quarter and on its face there'll be, for the first time in the history of the country, the likeness of a woman.

This is not because the Treasury has run out of famous men and animals to put on a coin, but because women insisted it's time one of them showed up there. They selected Susan B. Anthony, the woman whose crusade at the turn of the century paved the way for the 1920 adoption of the 19th Amendment giving women the right to vote.

Getting the right to vote is considered by women as a landmark in their struggle for equal rights, and of course it is, just as centuries ago their being allowed to learn to read was another, but the trouble with the Women's Rights movement is that it seems to go far enough.

For example, when they got the vote what did they do? They went to work and voted just like men. And they still demonstrate.

I will now change the subject. What to see established is a National Committee to comb the entire range of professional baseball players to see if a single player can be found who's happy in his job. If one player can be found satisfied with his million-dollar contract six months worth of work a year, his manager and the owner and the writers, doesn't want to be traded and he's lucky to be where he is, he ought to be lifted onto the committee's shoulders and carried into the Hall of Fame before changes his mind.

I'll bet if we had women baseball players the major leagues we wouldn't be having those squabbles.

Yours faithfully, J.A.

Federal Money To Help Rural Towns Improve Drinking Water

intended to insure that rural drinking water meets minimum health standards, was signed by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Under the agreement, EPA will designate communities whose drinking water fails to meet EPA standards.

Communities receiving this designation will be given higher priority to receive FmHA water system improvement grants or loans than those whose water meets EPA standards.

Grants and loans come from $1 billion available this year under FmHA programs to help build, enlarge and improve water treatment systems in communities with populations under 10,000. Grants are made for up to 50 percent of the cost of building drinking water facilities or acquiring land and water rights associated with the operation of a system. Loans, available for up to 100 percent of these costs, are made at 5 percent interest with a maximum 40-year repayment schedule. FmHA grant and loan programs are aimed at rural communities, public agencies, private nonprofit corporations and Indian tribes unable to obtain credit at reasonable terms from other lenders.

The Safe Drinking Water Act of 1974 authorizes EPA to set and enforce national drinking water standards but does not provide for funds to help water suppliers meet the standards.

EPA estimates that 12,000 communities — most of which are classified as small or rural — will need additional water treatment of some sort to meet EPA drinking water regulations.

Copies of the agreement are available from the EPA Press Office, room 329, West Tower (A-107), 401 M Street, SW, Washington, D.C. Telephone: (202) 755-0344.

Bollworm Poses Threat To Cotton

South Plains cotton farmers are facing the prospect of a tough battle with the cotton bollworm and tobacco budworm.

James F. Leser, area Extension entomologist at Lubbock, says there is no sure way of escaping bollworm injury in some of the better cotton because of the large numbers which are due to move out of corn, some earlier-infested cotton fields and weeds.

"You can cut off water to cotton during predicted egg-lay periods and make plants unattractive for an egg lay," Leser said. "This would also lower field humidity, increasing the likelihood of an egg drying up. Rains and cooler weather we normally experience during August could offset some of the benefit derived from irrigation scheduling." Bollworm and budworm egg-laying activity is predicted to increase during the next several days and peak out around August 17. After this, it would be anybody's guess as to what will happen, the entomologist said. Another egg-laying period is projected for the end of August in the corn-producing areas, but egg lay could be continuous before this time.

Eggs are generally laid on the top surface of newer leaves, bracts of small squares and the terminal area. The eggs hatch in three days and the young larvae feed first on the tender terminal growth, but gradually move into larger and larger fruit. The larvae require 14 days to develop and about 14 more days to change from a worm to a moth. Thus, there are 30 days or more between egg-laying cycles.

"A bollworm can be expected to consume or destroy 6-8 squares, one bloom and one boll during its lifetime," Leser said. "More boll damage can be expected later in the season when squares are in short supply."

In most years, he said, farmers don't consider the bollworm to be any kind of threat. "We are guessing that even in a light year, some irrigated cotton loses up to $40 to bollworm damage."

The entomologist said it is now time to start checking fields at least every three days to avoid costly damage from cropping up.

Bollworm eggs and newly-hatched larvae found in terminals give an early warning of possible outbreaks. Beneficials often give control before any damage occurs. Green square counts usually detect damage caused by 1/4 to 1/2 grown worms up to 3/8 inch long. Larger worms have passed the stage of effective biological control. Insecticides applied promptly as square damage counts indicate will generally hold boll damage below economic levels.

Leser advised any farmer planning to treat bollworms with an insecticide should apply the material before worms get larger, especially beyond 1/2 inch. Larger worms also begin entering bolls and are out of reach of insecticides.

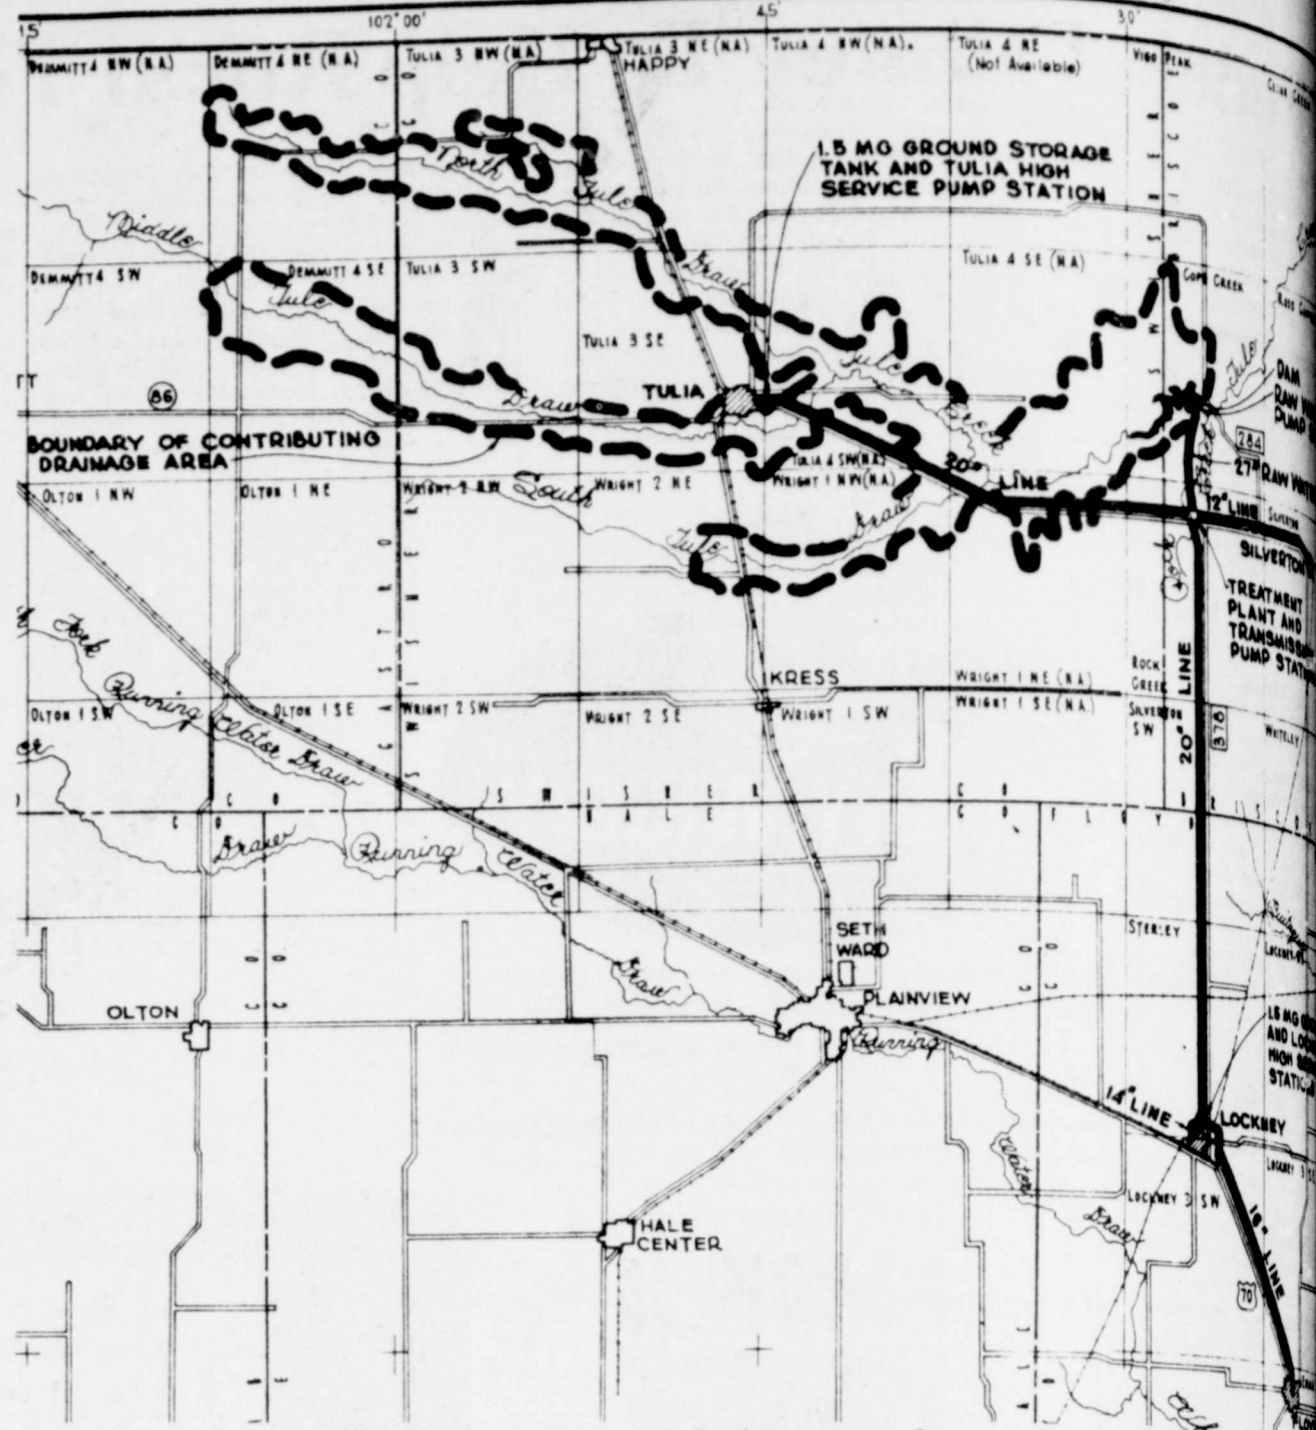

"Do not use insecticides against bollworms in cotton before bloom. After bolls are present, begin treatment with 8 to 10 percent of the green squares are damaged," he said.

Treatment may be delayed when beneficials are present in heavy numbers. Sometimes the use of one of the microbial insecticides such as Bactur, Dipel, Elcar or Thuricide may be all that is necessary to bring the infestation under control.

When squaring levels out and small bolls are numerous, treatment may be necessary if a moth flight is on and a sharp increase in eggs and small worms is found. "If farmers wait for square damage to increase to recommended treatment levels, they might get overwhelmed in these instances," Leser said.

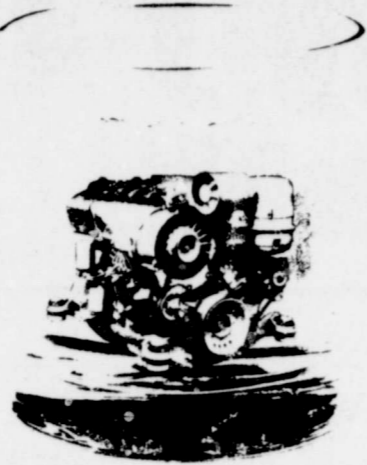

"Eggs and small worms indicate continued infestation pressure and call for repeated applications," he advised. "Early in the season, a single application may suffice. Later during the season, with heavy pressure, multiple applications may be required."

Headache Remedy

You can save yourself a lot of headaches by using Deutz air-cooled diesel engines. First of all, a major source of breakdowns is entirely eliminated. No liquid cooling system. No radiator. No water pump. No hoses. No cavitation. No freeze ups.

And they're quieter—about 10 decibels below most engines, without sound shielding. OSHA likes that. So do operators.

And you'll get instant relief from constantly increasing fuel costs. Diesel fuel versus gasoline—Deutz air-cooled diesel engines versus water-cooled diesel engines. And you'll save a lot of money on maintenance costs, too.

Buy or specify Deutz—manufactured by the world's oldest and largest manufacturer of air-cooled diesel engines. 10 to 500 bhp.

Everything Bites!

It seems that the ability to keep the proper distance from the animal or not putting an insect repellent on the clothing or skin prior to the trip. Of course, the poisonous snakes and spiders should automatically be given a respectable distance, but even the small "cute" wild animals such as young ground squirrels, prairie dogs and coyotes can be hosts to disease-carrying fleas and ticks.

A check with the Texas Department of Public Health at the Lubbock regional office indicates that the potential for disease like the plague is ever-present in the Panhandle and on the South Plains.

"The plague can be transmitted by fleas while biting humans who are handling infected rodents common to our area," said John P. Board, Jr., M.D. and regional director of the state health department.

"The plague disease occurs naturally in Texas and is not something new, but its presence should be considered while in areas of the high plains where rodents abound," Dr. Board continued.

Landowners noticing a sudden die-off among prairie dogs should contact either the state health department or the P&WD. These two state agencies work together while determining the cause of death among rodents or other animals.

Other diseases transmitted afield include rabies, hepatitis, and Rocky Mountain spotted fever. All bites and symptoms following an unhappy encounter with wildlife should be checked by a physician.

The trip outdoors in Texas need not be cancelled due to these potentially dangerous diseases or wounds, but common sense and care should be exercised by everyone.

Lunar Phenomena Witnessed

THE PLANET Venus appeared as a star twinkling at the tip of a crescent moon Monday night and many fortunate South Plains residents gazed up at a phenomena that occurs only once every 22 months, and lasts less than 10 minutes.

illumination would be visible.

As the moon passed in front of Venus, the planet was aligned in such a way that it appeared to be sitting on top of the moon. The sequence of events which produced the optical illusion is called an "occultation," according to Ronald Johnston, director of Texas Tech's Moody Planetarium.

Johnston said South Plains residents were fortunate to witness the phenomena; for residents of South Texas to Hawaii, the moon would pass directly in front of the planet and no illusion would be visible.

Center News

By Mrs. J.E. Green

CENTER August 7 — We had a few days of cloudy, misty cool rainy weather, but Sunday night it turned hot again.

Sunday was a good day at Calvary Baptist church with many old timers attending the 30th anniversary and homecoming. There was a good sermon by the first pastor, Brother Bilbrey, now 80, of Plainview, who was accompanied to the meeting by his wife and other family members. There was a bountiful dinner in the dining hall, plus one of those singing sessions that lasted until 4 p.m. A baptismal service followed the evening meeting. Bro. Payne was master of ceremonies.

We were glad to have present our two Navy boys, Gary Hill and Charles Bradford. They look fine. I guess Uncle Sam is being good to them.

Miss Vera Meredith is enjoying convalescing at home with an attendant. Mr. and Mrs. Hal Thomas visited her Friday. Also visiting were Mrs. Green and neighbors Mrs. Fred Battey, Mrs. Ola Warren and Mrs. Hudson. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Meredith and son of Hereford came Friday and visited over the weekend with his mother, Mrs. C. M. Meredith, and all visited Miss Meredith.

Mrs. Elmer Warren was among those attending the Frizzell Reunion at Plainview Sunday. Her granddaughter Malinda of Lubbock came home with her for a visit.

Mrs. Fred Battey and Mrs. Ola Warren visited the Thomas Warrens Saturday and Mrs. Hal Thomas Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Wright of Rotan came Saturday, picked up her mother, Mrs. Ava Jackson, and went on to Amarillo to spend the weekend with another daughter and family, the Orbin Carrolls where they celebrated Mrs. Jackson's birthday.

Mitzi Beedy of Plainview is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Leo Frizzell.

Mrs. Alma Dunn is home from a trip to Houston where she visited her children Joe Lee Dunn and Mary Parks and their families. Three of the grandchildren returned home with her to visit local relatives here and at Lubbock.

Mrs. O. G. Mayfield and several friends made a trip to Crosbyton today.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Lightfoot and Letha's mother, Mrs. Lindley, were in Haskell over the weekend attending a school reunion.

Visitors in the Marion Carpenter home last week were Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Stanfield of Kent, former neighbors when all lived in Irving. There were visits also at the Claud Carpenters Sunday.

Bro. and Mrs. Clay Muncy, Lockney, visited Miss Meredith Friday and Saturday.

The cannery is in full swing. Friday all the women were knee deep in a load of peaches brought in from "under the cap." Some corn, too.

Mrs. Green visited Miss Esther Peck Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Forman of Wichita Falls spent Sunday in Lubbock visiting his brother Buren Forman in Methodist Hospital. Buren seems to be slowly recovering from injuries received in a recent car wreck. The Wichita Falls relatives spent Sunday night with his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brewer.

Other visitors in the Brewer home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Fred McDougale of Crosbyton, the Millard Watsons of Mt. Blanco and the great-grands, Amanda and Deanna.

Visitors in the Clarence Ashton home Sunday afternoon were Mrs. Stiles and Mr. and Mrs. Wiley McNeal.

In a call Saturday from Frances Ashton to her parents, she stated it was "pouring down rain" in Connecticut.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fulkerson of Wichita Falls arrived Sunday at the home of his brother, the Charles Fulkersons. A son Tony came Monday. All came at this time primarily to attend last rites for their sister, Mrs. Gracie Riggles, whose funeral was Monday at the First Baptist Church. Our sympathy is with her loved ones and her many friends.

New Hunting Guide Available

LUBBOCK — The 24-page "Guide to Texas Hunting and Sport Fishing Regulations" for 1978-79 is now available at Texas Parks and Wildlife Department offices across the Panhandle and South Plains with license vendors also furnishing copies for the general public.

These booklets are designed as a guide only and specific questions about each county should be directed to local Texas game wardens or P&WD offices. The new regulations will become effective Sept. 1, 1978 and will list game and fish regulations for a period of one year ending Aug. 31, 1979.

Texas has such a great variety of hunting and fishing opportunities for the outdoorsman along with different seasons, bag limits, and restrictions that it is necessary to list the basic hunting and fishing rules country-by-country in the guide.

A locator map of the state listing all counties including those with special seasons on antelope, javelina, aoudad sheep, prairie chicken, pheasant, mule deer, and chachalaca is presented in the center of the guide.

Information on hunting and fishing licenses is included along with the correct method of attaching tags and permits to the various species of game that require these special tags.

Special sections on furbearing animals, lake regulations, general saltwater fishing information, protected species of wildlife and tropical fish and aquatic plants are also included.

On the back of the new hunting and fishing guide is a form to be used by persons who witness a game violation and want to report the violation to the P&WD.

Texas is too large and vast for the Texas game wardens working the counties assigned them to catch or apprehend all the game and fish violators. When a game violation occurs, it is the people of Texas who lose, and if the violation is not reported, the violator will assume no one cares but the P&WD. Only with the participation of concerned citizens and their testimony can Texas game wardens apprehend those who vandalize property and steal our wildlife resources.

For additional information about hunting and fishing regulations, parks, wildlife, or to report wildlife violations, call the nearest Texas game warden or the P&WD toll-free number 1-800-252-9327.

Facts from a pro on driving to survive.

Q. How do you pass someone on a motorcycle? Can you stay in the same lane if there's enough room or do you have to move into the left lane?—B. B., Wichita Falls

A. Move into the left lane. Motorcycles require the same passing margin and distance as any other vehicle, so don't crowd the cyclist when you pass or suddenly cut in front of him. Check over your right shoulder before returning to the right-hand lane to make sure there's enough distance between you and the cyclist. And don't forget to signal your intentions before moving left or right.

Q. My windshield wipers always streak the windshield so that it's even harder to see when it's raining. Is there anything I can do to avoid this?—K. P., Johnson City

A. Use your windshield washers when you first turn on your wipers. They should keep the windshield from streaking. Also check your wiper blades for cracks, especially after a long dry spell, and replace them when they are worn. It is also a good idea to service your washer bottle each time you stop for gas. Whenever you drive in rain, slow down, turn your headlights on low beam and, when you have to stop, start braking sooner.

Q. I've noticed signs by bridges and medians that consist of nothing more than a series of alternating diagonal black and white lines. Do they have a specific meaning?—J. B., Pearl-land

A. These diagonally striped signs mark the ends of the side rails of narrow bridges, medians, and other obstructions so that motorists will be more aware of them.

VA NEWS

Veterans of World War II and later periods of military service, who have serious service-connected disabilities, may still qualify for vocational rehabilitation training under laws administered by the U.S. Veterans Administration. According to D. G. Ayres, Service Officer for Floyd County, the statutory deadline dates which previously prevented some of these veterans from getting additional training have been abolished.

Until 1977, veterans generally had nine years from the date of their discharge of release from service to take advantage of this kind of training. The Congress enacted legislation which eliminated the termination date for certain seriously disabled veterans. As a result veterans who were discharged from service before January 1, 1969, and who have serious service-connected disabilities, should consider applying for training if they are unemployed or working in an unsuitable job and need education or training to obtain suitable work.

The Congressional action last year provides an extended eligibility for veterans who need vocational rehabilitation training to overcome the handicap effect of blindness or serious illnesses or disabilities which are related to military service.

Applications for vocational rehabilitation training are received individually, consideration is given to the needs of each veteran. Eligible veterans are found to be eligible for training will be given a plan and pursue a course of rehabilitation training that will lead to employment.
