'Horns Go To Friona Friday

The Lockney Longhorns travel to Friona tomorrow night in quest of their second victory of the young football season. Kick-off time is 8 p.m. "Friona...is...huge," Longhorn head coach Jim Warren said Tuesday. Right-the Chiefs' offensive line is anchored by 276-pound left tackle Jerry Harrelson and 190-pound right end Koty Kothman. The fullback spot is ably manned by Jeff Peak, a 235-pounder. And there are some more pretty good sized Chiefs in the Friona lineup, too.

The Chiefs, Warren said, run basically from a 5-2 defense, with many variations. Quarterback Chris Barnett runs the power-1 offense.

Friona is 0-1 after a 26-6 loss to Tulia last Friday. The 'Horns surprised Post 10-0 in their season opener last week.

The Longhorns are healthy, with the exception of Todd Burleson, who continues to show improvement day by day.

Warren was asked to name outstanding defensive players in the contest with Post. "I don't know whether you can pick out individuals and say this one or that one played a super game," he answered. "They all played well. It was just an excellent team effort."

Of the Longhorn offense last Friday, Warren said "Earlee (Mathis) did some good power running and gained some 70 yards...there was good blocking downfield by the receivers...and the offensive line came off the ball well..." All that in addition to the 116-yard rushing performance by Curtis Ford.

Tentative starting lineups for Lockney:

Bybee Near Perfect On Contest

Louie Bybee of Route 1, Lockney won first place in last week's Beacon football contest, turning in a remarkable entry on which he missed only two games—the ties involving Canyon and Lubbock Monterey, Crosbyton and Valley. In every game in which there was a winner, Bybee picked the right one—and he circled Lockney in the tie-breaker. He gets $10 for his nearly-perfect entry.

Second place and $6 went to W. E. Thomas, Box 537, Lockney, who missed the ties and one other contest, the Abernathy-Petersburg game won by the Antelopes.

Kevin Stennett, Box 361, Lockney, collected the $4 third prize by missing only four games—the ties, Floydada-Dimmitt, and SMU-TCU. The Whirlwinds edged Dimmitt 7-7, and the Ponies downed the Horned Frogs 45-14.

Honorable mention went to T. L. Holland of Floydada, who missed five

BECOMINGS

By Duffy

On the Today program recently, Kenny Rogers (The "You Picked a Bad Time to Leave Me, Lucille" singer) said that one time he and his grandfather were talking about life and life passing you by, and his grandfather said something that really knocked him out. Kenny then played his guitar and sang the song he had written using his grandfather's thought. The simple but profound words were: "Youth only happens to you one time. So if you don't have it in your young time, have it in your old."

Reader Response

Aging is something we start the day we are born. Each stage in life seems more interesting. And why anybody minds growing old, I don't understand.

I am 66 years old. There are so many things I have learned down through the years. One is if you are a nice happy person to those around you, they will never notice your grey hair and wrinkles. (But who minds the wrinkles? It sure has been fun putting them there.)

I have lived at this same little town for 63 years where some of the best people in the world live... Where we all visit and exchange fresh fruit and vegetables and always have the door open for our grandchildren and their friends with something to eat and drink in the ice box. They can sure make you feel young.

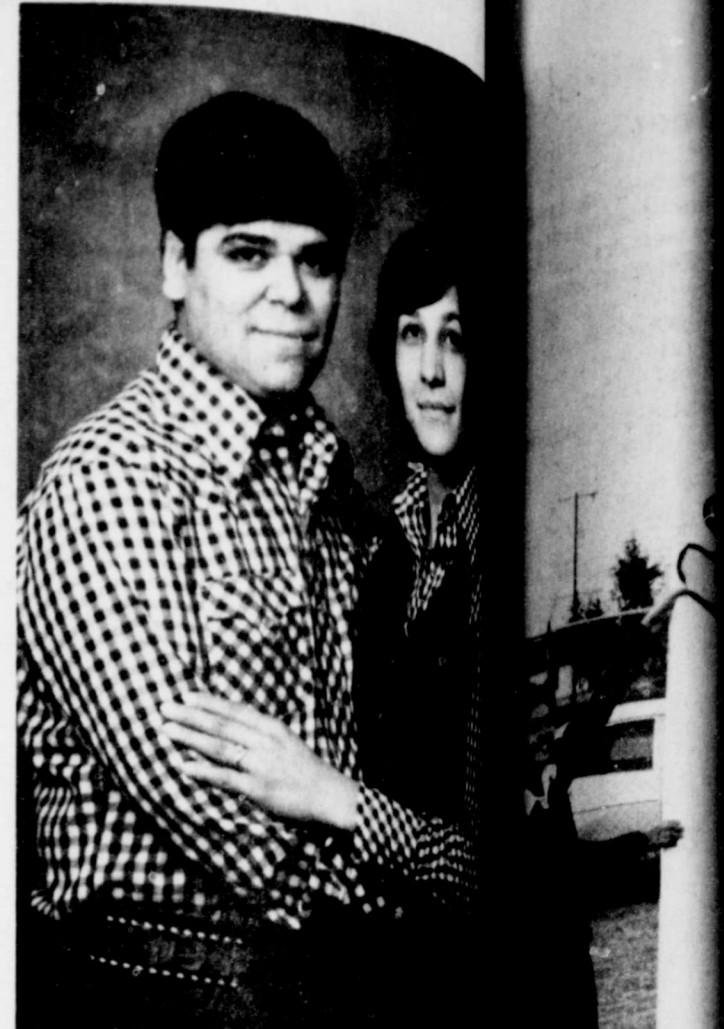

As we look back we can think of a lot of happiness and also a lot of disappointments. But there are so many things we can do to make our lives enjoyable.

I'm not sure how I feel about so many programs to keep us older people entertained. The young people are having to pay high taxes to keep us going. When maybe we could do it ourselves. Perhaps the reason some look on us "as not with it anymore" is because we give up too soon. Just because we have to be helped across the street doesn't mean we don't know where we are going. We should never say let someone young do it until we have tried.

Somebody may ask what an older people do. At our house we go to baseball, football, and basketball games, play 42, paint, and play in a string band, plus a lot of other things. But most important, we go to church three times a week and try to treat our fellowman as God expects.

So let's forget our age and get busy and make this a better world to live in just because we past this way once.

I could write a whole tablet about this subject. I didn't know my life had been so full until I started thinking about it. Name Withheld.

Engagement Announcement...Mrs. Tommie Lockney announces the engagement and wedding marriage of her daughter Alva Ann Enriquez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Enriquez of Floydada. The wedding is planned for October 14 and will take place in the San Jose Cathedral in Lockney. Miss Alaniz is a graduate of High School and The Plainview Vocational School. She is currently an LVN at General Hospital. Enriquez is a Plainview School graduate and is employed at a business in Floydada. After their marriage, the couple will be at home in Floydada.

1950 Study Club Begins

Also serving on the Committee were Sunny McDonald and Jo Payne. The program theme for the year is "Inspiration Through Unity."

How Does One Know If One Is Drunk?

Some people know when they're drunk (intoxicated) and some don't. Since the beginning of time there have been drunk people. Then came the automobile and the problem of drunk drivers. Driving while intoxicated people cause over 50% of highway fatalities.

Arresting officers for a period of time determined how drunk a driver might be by asking him or her to walk a straight white line. Some could and some couldn't.

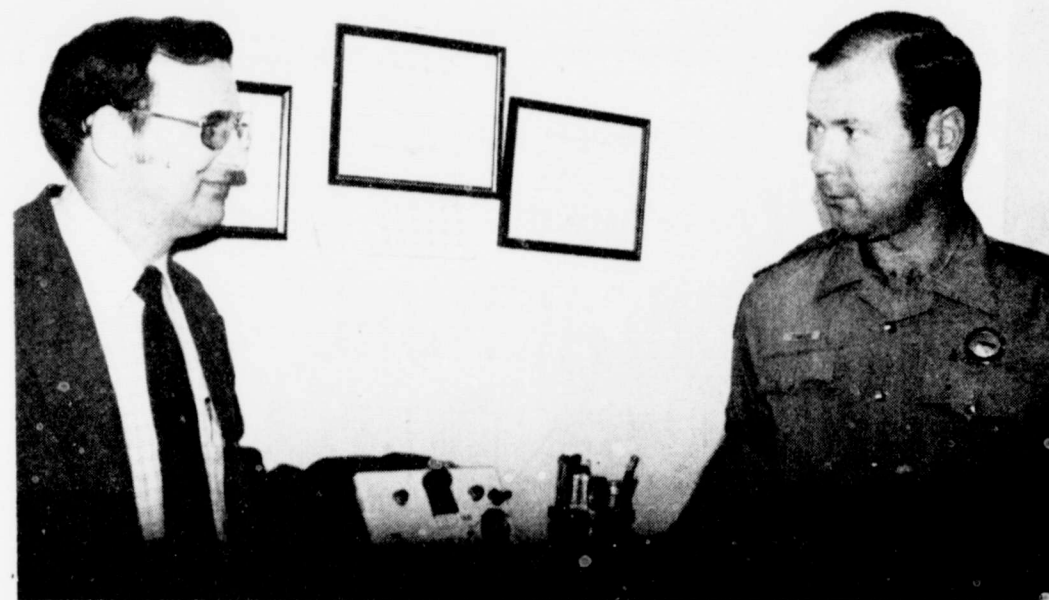

Then came the blood check to see how much alcohol was in the blood stream. Today's officers use a machine or gadget that is called a Breathalyzer. The Highway Patrol has owned such a machine for years and know how to use it. Recently county deputy Jim Gollahar completed a 40 hour course in San Antonio to learn how to operate the Breathalyzer.

If the Breathalyzer registers 0.10% breath alcohol content, the driver is declared DWI (driving while intoxicated) and charged.

Of course many times there is no doubt about how drunk a person is because the arresting officer first notices him as his car weaves back and forth across the road. However, the DWI case will stand up in court if actual readings from the Breathalyzer are presented in testimony.

So...if you gotta drink...stay at home...don't drink and drive...don't drive and drink

Jack Armstrong To Attend Old Trail Driver's Assn. Meet

Floydada's Jack Armstrong will be attending the annual Old Trail Drivers Association meeting in San Antonio October 5-6-7.

Long time member of the association will also bring his grand niece, Cindy Baca to the meeting. Twenty-year old Cindy was recently commissioned "Honorary Trail Boss" of the Association.

She is the daughter of Jane Johnson (a Floydada graduate). They are descendants of the late N.A. Armstrong, lifelong cattleman of the Floydada Area.

Cindy is a cousin of Debbie and Nathan Johnson. She was an entry in the queen contest at the San Antonio rodeo last spring and came in third runner-up of some 150 entries. She is a real horse enthusiast and "a chip off the old block" of N.A. Armstrong.

She is a resident of Leon Valley, a graduate of John Marshall High School and is employed as secretary at Goldwaite's Texas Toro. Jack and Cindy would like to extend an invitation to other descendants of day settlers and their families to stay open the house. The museum is located at the entrance to Park in San Antonio.

The annual membership of the Floydada Cooperative Gins, Inc. was held in Massie Activity Center Tuesday September 12.

A regular business meeting was held, including the election of Roger Dawdy to replace B.A. Robertson on the board of directors. Dividends amounting to $167,000 were distributed.

Refreshments were served to approximately 140 persons, many of whom received door prizes.

SMALL BUT HIGH TEXAS PECANS—Texas pecans will be smaller than usual this fall due to the severe dry weather, but the crop will still be of high quality, points out a horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This year's crop should average 25 to 26 million pounds compared to average production of about 40 million pounds. The 1978 Texas crop was plagued by a severe winter, heavy pecan nut casebearer damage in the spring, and a season-long drought.

SODSEEDING TO STRETCH PASTURES—Overseeding pastures with winter grasses (sodseeding) can provide for additional fall, winter and early spring grazing, contends a forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. With sodseeding, oats, wheat, barley or rye are seeded into an undisturbed perennial grass pasture in late September or early October. Plenty of fertilizer is needed along with fall and winter rainfall for good growth.

Juvenile Probation Office Remains Open

The juvenile probation office in Floydada has received enough funding to stay open the rest of this year. Lyn Busbee of Spur will continue to serve as adult probation officer for Floyd, Dickens, Briscoe and Motley counties. Funds may be available from the Texas Youth Council to keep the juvenile office open and applications will be received later in the year for Smith's successor.

SMALLER COTTON CROP BRIGHTENS PRICE OUTLOOK—Prospects for a smaller cotton crop than expected earlier this year have improved the price outlook despite sagging demand, says a cotton marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

While the U.S. crop will be down some, foreign production should be up slightly over last year.

Caprock Hospital Auxiliary Report

The regular fall meeting of the Caprock Hospital Auxiliary was September 11 in the hospital dining room with seven members present. Representative of Alcoholics Anonymous gave a disheartening work of that organization. No dues are required to enroll in A.A. A sincere desire to be helped by the problems of the general public has been slow to accept alcoholism as a disease. In hospitals at Big Spring, a nurse is employed to help alcoholics. It was reported that in Floydada, alcohol and drugs are easily available even in the jr. high school level. This is particularly true in homes where parents are non-caring regarding the activities and whereabouts of their children. It was suggested that educational programs could be helpful if offered in the elementary grades. Floydada does not have an organized chapter of A.A. Plainview has three which are listed in the phone book. President of the auxiliary Mrs. Bill Tye, presided over a short business meeting.

On August 27 the Lockney 4-H Club new and old officers and adult leaders joined to plan the 1978-79 yearbook.

Eddie Teeter, the adult leader president, announced plans for a drawing on Saturday, September 15.

Teeter also announced that a state adult leaders' meeting will be held at Brownwood at the state 4-H center. Juanita Broseh and Ann Foster plan to attend.

Lockney Care Center Family News

by Yvonne Steele

We have had an enjoyable time this week. On Wednesday afternoon Mae Brown, Grace Byars and Howard Withrow celebrated their birthdays with the other residents. We appreciate the ladies of the Main Street Church of Christ who brought the refreshments. Those attending were Ora Collis, Josephine Smith, Annie Lee Kellison, Ruth Royal, Cheryl Bradley and her young son, Jimmy. We also enjoyed Johnny and his wife, Maybelle Francis, from Silvertown and their daughter, Lori House and nine month old baby daughter Page from Olton who sang and played the piano for the residents Thursday. After the songs by Johnny Francis, we played bingo. Myrtle Burke, Alsp Kitchens, Ada Stewart, Lewis Roberts, John Turner, Mayme McGee, Charlie and Lula Mae Cottrell were our players this week. Alpha Kitchens held the winning blackout card.

Even though we enjoyed our fun the time came when we had to get down to more serious business. We are trying to fill the orders for the lamps we have been making. Several have told us they look "just like store bought" and they "certainly know where to come to Christmas shop". At the same time, we are busily working on our float for the parade. It has taken real work from all to get a float that we are proud of showing. We want to thank C.L. Henderson for loaning us his Lo-Boy trailer and Cecil Carthel for the use of his pick-up and offer to drive it. Our thanks goes to Jerry Perry for his willingness to let us use his Lo-Boy trailer. We will certainly enjoy our visit to the fair this week due to some complimentary tickets furnished by Paul Koonsman, President of Floyd County Fair Association. Hope we see our other friends there.

Don't forget that the Cecil Boyer Gospel Quartet will be with us this coming Wednesday at 4:00 p.m. The public is invited to come hear this gospel singing quartet from Hereford. Claude Wofford will be able to enjoy their playing the piano and gospel singing as he has rejoined us from the hospital. Those being unable to attend are James Turner and Grace Byars. They are in the hospital. We hope they will soon return to our family.

Evans Chapel Church of Lockney brought the devotional this past Sunday.

School Board Accepts Roof Repair Bid

Lockney Independent School District's board of trustees accepted J.Q. Long Roofing Company's bid for repair of school roofs Monday at the September board meeting, but took no action on bids for school district insurance. A special school board meeting has been scheduled at 6 p.m. Monday, for more discussion and possible action on the school insurance bids.

Long, of Plainview, submitted the low bid of $6,592.00 on the roof repair. Ajax Roofing Company of Lubbock submitted a higher bid. The school board officially hired La Dora Aull, junior high social studies teacher; Ruth Nolan, junior high math aide; and Carol Huggins, Plan "A" aide. They approved W.H. Hallmark for lunchroom representative and adopted the student handbook presented by high-school principal James Poole. Also approved by the board Monday was the amendment of school lunchroom prices to 55 cents (elementary), 60 cents (secondary) and 90 cents (adults). The price of elementary school breakfasts were set at 25 cents, and junior high and high school breakfasts were priced at 40 cents. Superintendent Hallmark reported that several new doors have been installed at the schools, and windows in the old gym are being replaced. He also reported on air conditioning repairs at elementary school. The board voted to send one from school to a 30-hour bilingual course in Plainview. Present Monday night were school board members, the three principals, the superintendent, and assessor-collector Jack Safford.

Commissioners Approve County Budget

In the 2 o'clock budget hearing Monday afternoon Floyd Commissioners approved a $990,218 budget and set the tax rate at 95 cents per $100 valuation. There is no tax increase for Floyd tax payers over last year's budget.

Commissioner Bob Jarrett served as chairman of the meeting in the absence of County Judge J.K. Holmes, who was on vacation. The Commissioners paid the $636 hospital bill of Murray (Boley) Jones at the request of Caprock Hospital board president Doyle Walls. Jones had an emergency operation while in the county jail. The Commissioners are seeking the ruling of the State Attorney General so they will have some guidance should the situation ever arise again.

The Commissioners voted to discontinue the services of Redd Pest Control and West Chemical Company. They also voted not to approve deputation of Weldon Emerit, Rickie Pernell and Thomas Wylie as reserve deputies.

A few people met with the Commissioners about how the next period's Government Revenue Sharing money would be spent. The Commissioners decided to use $40,000 for precinct work, $3,200 for the Plainview Mental Health and Retardation Center, $1,000 for the Floyd County Day Care Center, $1,000 for the Floyd County Museum and $62,144 for the jail construction fund.

GRIEVANCE COMMITTEE REPORT Going into September the salary of Floyd County's two Justices of the Peace was $399 a month and $125 a month for travel each. The first of September the Commissioners gave each JP a $125.00 per month raise. JP of Precincts 1 and 4 H.E. Porter had petitioned to the Grievance Committee a request for an additional $125.00 per month salary increase and that his $125 per month travel allowance be added to his salary.

The Grievance Committee approved the petition, which was then presented to the Commissioner's Court. This means that Porter will now receive $714 per month and no travel pay. JP of Precincts 2 and 3 R.H. Ford will receive $464 per month and $125 per month travel pay.

The Grievance Committee based its unanimous decision to give Porter the $125.00 per month raise because his work load is larger than that of Ford's. Porter collected over $26,000 worth of fines last year while Ford collected over $5,000 in fines.

THE GRIEVANCE COMMITTEE

LAW

In 1971 the State Legislature created the formation of a Grievance Committee in each county. This committee has final say, even over one who feels that he has been treated unfairly can petition a meeting of the Grievance Committee. Three citizens are selected on the committee as their names are drawn at random from a recent Grand Jury list. The other six members are the County Sheriff, County Tax Assessor-Collector, County Treasurer, County Clerk, District Clerk, and the County Attorney.

The three residents of the county provided by the law are Mrs. Robert Ward, Kenneth Poole and Jerry Moore. The County Judge presides at the meeting.

OPINION ASKED

The Commissioners voted to ask an opinion from the State Attorney General "under the open meeting law" which requires three day's notice given before the Grievance Committee meeting.

One Commissioner said he felt that $3,000 yearly salary increase was too much for anyone to get.

PUBLIC NOTICE SUMMARY OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS GENERAL ELECTION NOV. 7, 1978

"The Tax Relief Amendment" (H.J.R. 1)

H.J.R. 1 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution allowing the legislature to exempt intangible personal property, requiring the legislature to exempt certain household goods and personal effects, and allowing the legislature to exempt all or part of the personal property located from state and local property taxation.

The amendment requires the legislature to provide for the taxation of farm and ranch land on the basis of its productive capacity instead of its market value and allows the legislature to provide for the taxation of timber land on its productive capacity.

The amendment permits local governments to extend the present exemption of not less than $3,000 of the residence homestead of persons 65 and older to include certain disabled persons.

The amendment grants an exemption from public school property taxes of $5,000 of the market value of the residence homestead. It authorizes the legislature to grant an additional exemption from public school property taxes of an amount not to exceed $10,000 of the market value of the residence homestead of persons 65 years of age or older and certain disabled persons. If a person 65 years of age or older qualifies for this exemption, the total amount of public school taxes imposed on that person's homestead may not be increased.

The amendment prevents local governments from increasing property taxes unless the governing body provides public notice and conducts a public hearing. The amendment requires the legislature to provide by law for each property owner to receive notice of the revaluation of his property and the amount taxes will be increased.

The amendment limits appropriations from state tax revenue to an amount not to exceed Texas' estimated economic growth rate, with the legislature authorized to make exceptions for emergencies.

The amendment prohibits the statewide appraisal of real property for property tax purposes. Enforcement of uniform standards and procedures for appraisal of property for property tax purposes is required to originate in the taxing authority where the property tax is imposed.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to provide that the legislature may permit political subdivisions to issue revenue bonds to develop employment opportunities for its citizens."

NUMBER THREE (S.J.R. 44)

S.J.R. 44 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution which would allow the legislature to authorize cities and towns to issue tax increment bonds to finance the redevelopment of blighted areas. The bonds are to be paid solely from revenue from municipal tax increments. Payment cannot be made from the revenue of municipal taxes, utilities, or other services.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to give the legislature the power to authorize cities and towns to issue bonds to finance the redevelopment of blighted areas and prohibiting any city or town from granting its money or lending its credit for such purposes."

NUMBER FOUR (S.J.R. 53)

S.J.R. 53 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to allow the legislature to exempt from taxation solar or wind-powered energy devices.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to exempt from taxation solar and wind-powered energy devices."

NUMBER FIVE (H.J.R. 37)

H.J.R. 37 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to grant exclusive jurisdiction to justices of the peace in civil cases where the amount in controversy does not exceed $200, except where the legislature gives exclusive jurisdiction to another court.

The amendment grants justices of the peace concurrent jurisdiction with county courts where the amount in controversy is between $200 and $500, except where the legislature gives the county court exclusive jurisdiction.

The amendment also grants justices of the peace concurrent jurisdiction with both county and district courts where the amount in controversy is between $500 and $1,000, except where the legislature gives the county or district court exclusive jurisdiction.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to extend the jurisdiction of justices of the peace in civil cases."

NUMBER SIX (S.J.R. 45)

S.J.R. 45 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to allow the legislature to expand the number of judges on any court of civil appeals. Presently courts of civil appeals are limited to a chief justice and two associate justices. The amendment would allow the courts to sit in sections, with the concurrence of a majority of the justices sitting in the section necessary to decide a case.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment permitting the legislature to increase the number of justices on a court of civil appeals, permitting a court of civil appeals to sit in sections, and requiring a concurrence of a majority of justices to decide a case."

NUMBER SEVEN (S.J.R. 48)

S.J.R. 48 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution eliminating the State Building Commission and the State Building Fund. The authority of the State Building Commission has been transferred by law to the State Board of Control.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to repeal the constitutional authority for the State Building Commission and the State Building Fund."

NUMBER EIGHT (H.J.R. 42)

H.J.R. 42 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution allowing certain political subdivisions or districts in the state that can presently issue bonds or other indebtedness or otherwise lend its credit to engage in fire-fighting activities and to issue bonds or otherwise lend its credit to support such activities.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendments authorizing certain districts to engage in fire-fighting activities and to issue bonds or otherwise lend their credit for fire-fighting purposes."

The County Judge presides over the meeting.

honor was bestowed on former President C.L. Davis who was elected Manager of the Plains Cotton Association. This was the first time that Dan Davis had held the position of Manager. Since the PCCA has been one of the mainstays of cotton production in the area, and has grown in membership to over 20,000 members throughout the state. The association has made strides over the years and it made a record of 400,000 bales of cotton to Peoples Cotton Co. of China-the first time cotton to enter the market in 20 years. The PCCA was organized in 1965 and became the general manager of the year. He has been an integral part of the management of the association for many years, and we are confident that he will do an excellent job in his new position.

REGULATIONS are being prepared by Eddie Owens, Jr. and Mrs. Gaston Owens, who was named sports editor of the Plainview Daily News. He was a 1975 graduate of Quitaque High School and has had a wide experience in the management of sports and activities. Eddie Owens, Jr. is a member of the PCCA and he has been selected to serve as information director of the Baptist College. Take Charles provided the best of the catfish from the lake in recent years. Russians Will Have A Hard Time

Teaching Everybody To Love Work

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has discovered a new project Russia has undertaken.

I have never believed that human nature doesn't exist in Russia but according to an article I read the other day the Russian government has set out to prove it doesn't. It's seeking a "psychological breakthrough" that'll make a person like whatever job he's told to do.

Discovering that its high schools are turning out too many college prospects and not enough manual labor prospects, the Russian leaders have issued a mandate to out it out. Stop teaching so much literature and other fancy subjects, they say. Too many students are trying to make high grades in high school so they can get into college and wind up with a desk job.

The school teachers naturally will comply. I can hear them saying to their students:

"This morning we will take up the subject of the Joy of Digging Post Holes." Next day it'll be "The Delights of Changing A Flat Tire In Mid-August." The text books will be written by somebody who's never done either.

I don't know why, but there are people who like physical work and there are others behind a desk, and there are others behind desks who'd be fops anywhere else. If Russia can change that she's working with a different sort of human being I'm acquainted with.

Personally I like working with my hands, like turning the pages of a newspaper or hitting the keys on a typewriter, but as for digging post holes and changing flats, those courses never were offered in the school I went to.

Yours faithfully J.A.

Texas Love Pinto Beans, But Grow Very Few

AUSTIN--Texans love their pinto beans--and eat over 40 million pounds a year--but so few are grown here that crop figures are not recorded.

Ernest Jaska of Texas Power and Light Co. (TPL) in Waco thinks that is a bad idea. He wants to see more pinto beans grown--perhaps as many as 25 million pounds from 50,000 acres--in the sandy soil running from Gainesville up North all along the west side of the Blacklands.

"Anywhere you've got sandy soil," he said, "Beans just grow better in sand." To promote the idea and the crop from a recently completed pilot project on four farms in Milam and Bell counties, Jaska has been sending half pounds of the light brown speckled beans to politicians, media people and others he thinks would be interested. The beans arrive in plastic sacks accompanied by a letter--ostensibly written by a pinto bean.

"I think this shows how a good idea can be promoted inexpensively," said Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown. "We are all for the development of another fine agricultural product--especially one as popular as pinto beans."

The Law and Teacher-Pupil Ratio

by J. E. RAWLINSON

Parents and teachers are frustrated when they encounter classes exceeding 20 to 1 ratio, but actually, the law provides one "personnel unit" for every 20 students "in average daily attendance."

Parents claim an average district teacher ratio of 20 to 1. In Johnny's or...

According to law, each teacher must have a planning period; thus, if the school operates on a six-period day, about seven teachers will have a planning period at any one time, leaving only 33 teachers to instruct the 1,000 students, producing an average class size of 30.3 students.

State legislators passed a law which many people believe is the average. But the law is failing to understand the "average" aspects of the law, and even school ad-

Parents today are not unhappy when they encounter exceeding the 20 to 1 ratio. The public sometimes that higher ratios are school district mismanagement involving diversion of personnel units "to unjustified positions."

Belief that the Texas state can produce classes of 20 students is the real controversy.

A junior high school serves students in grades 7-9. It would provide one every 20 students enrolled, but actually, the law provides one "personnel unit" for every 20 students "in average daily attendance."

If the school has a 94 percent attendance rate, it would provide one unit; however, these units are not only teachers, but also librarians, two counselors, secretaries. This would result in teaching units to about 31.5 personnel units.

Subtracting a principal, librarian, two secretaries, reading specialist, itinerant nurse, and music teacher leaves 25 teaching units. This produces an average 26-pupil class (kindergarten figured on half-day basis).

The above examples make no allowance for other legitimate staffing needs. When a district attempts to rely on the state program to hire curriculum specialists, business office staff, vice-principals, and some other personnel, for example, the class size increases even more. Some districts hire these people at local taxpayers' expense.

Other factors tend to increase either pupil-teacher ratios or costs, if the district protects pupil-teacher ratios by spending local funds to hire additional staff.

For example, the size of the school is important; it is easier to "absorb" the impact of providing support personnel in a large school than in a small school.

In the elementary school mentioned previously, keeping the same support staff in a 500-student school would cause average class size to increase to 27 students.

Consider another cost factor: Varying enrollment sizes in self-contained elementary grades produce "extreme" choices in pupil-teacher ratios.

For instance, in the first elementary school, the average class size was 26 students; however, if a particular grade level has 60 students, the choice is between two teachers with 30 students each or three teachers with 20 students each.

A local district may choose the first alternative for upper elementary classes, the second for primary, and a wealthy district might consistently provide the smaller ratio.

School officials constantly face similar priority choices: If a high school principal elects to offer advanced math to 16 students, other classes must carry a larger load to compensate: if a senior class sponsor is given an extra conference period, this creates a class period with no students, so other classes must carry the load.

A district may decide not to provide such "extras," or may provide them and overload some classes, or may pay salaries of additional staff out of local funds to protect pupil-teacher ratios.

The 65th Texas Legislature enacted two changes in the school finance system which supposedly improved the pupil-teacher ratio situation. Analysis of these changes reveals they are more cosmetic than substantive, and address only the first four grades of school (K-3).

SB 1 changes the formula for personnel units based on attendance in grades K-3 from one personnel unit per 19 students to one per 18.5 students. This "improvement" actually produces only one more teacher for every two 700-student elementary schools.

The second change apparently came in response to the notion that large classes are created by local administrators. Districts are required to use 95 percent of personnel units earned in kindergarten and first grade, and 80 percent earned in second and third grades, solely for instructional services.

However, the mandate was diluted by a specification that aides, librarians, special education teachers, and special area teachers (music, art, physical education) could be counted toward satisfying the requirement. A district already hiring such specialists achieved no significant increase in staffing for primary grades.

Comparison of pre-1975 school financing with 1975 and 1977 legislative efforts produces additional evidence that SB 1 does not create smaller classes.

Before 1975, districts received personnel units by category: Classroom teachers, principals, counselors, aides, etc. Classroom teacher units were allocated at a 25 to 1 ratio.

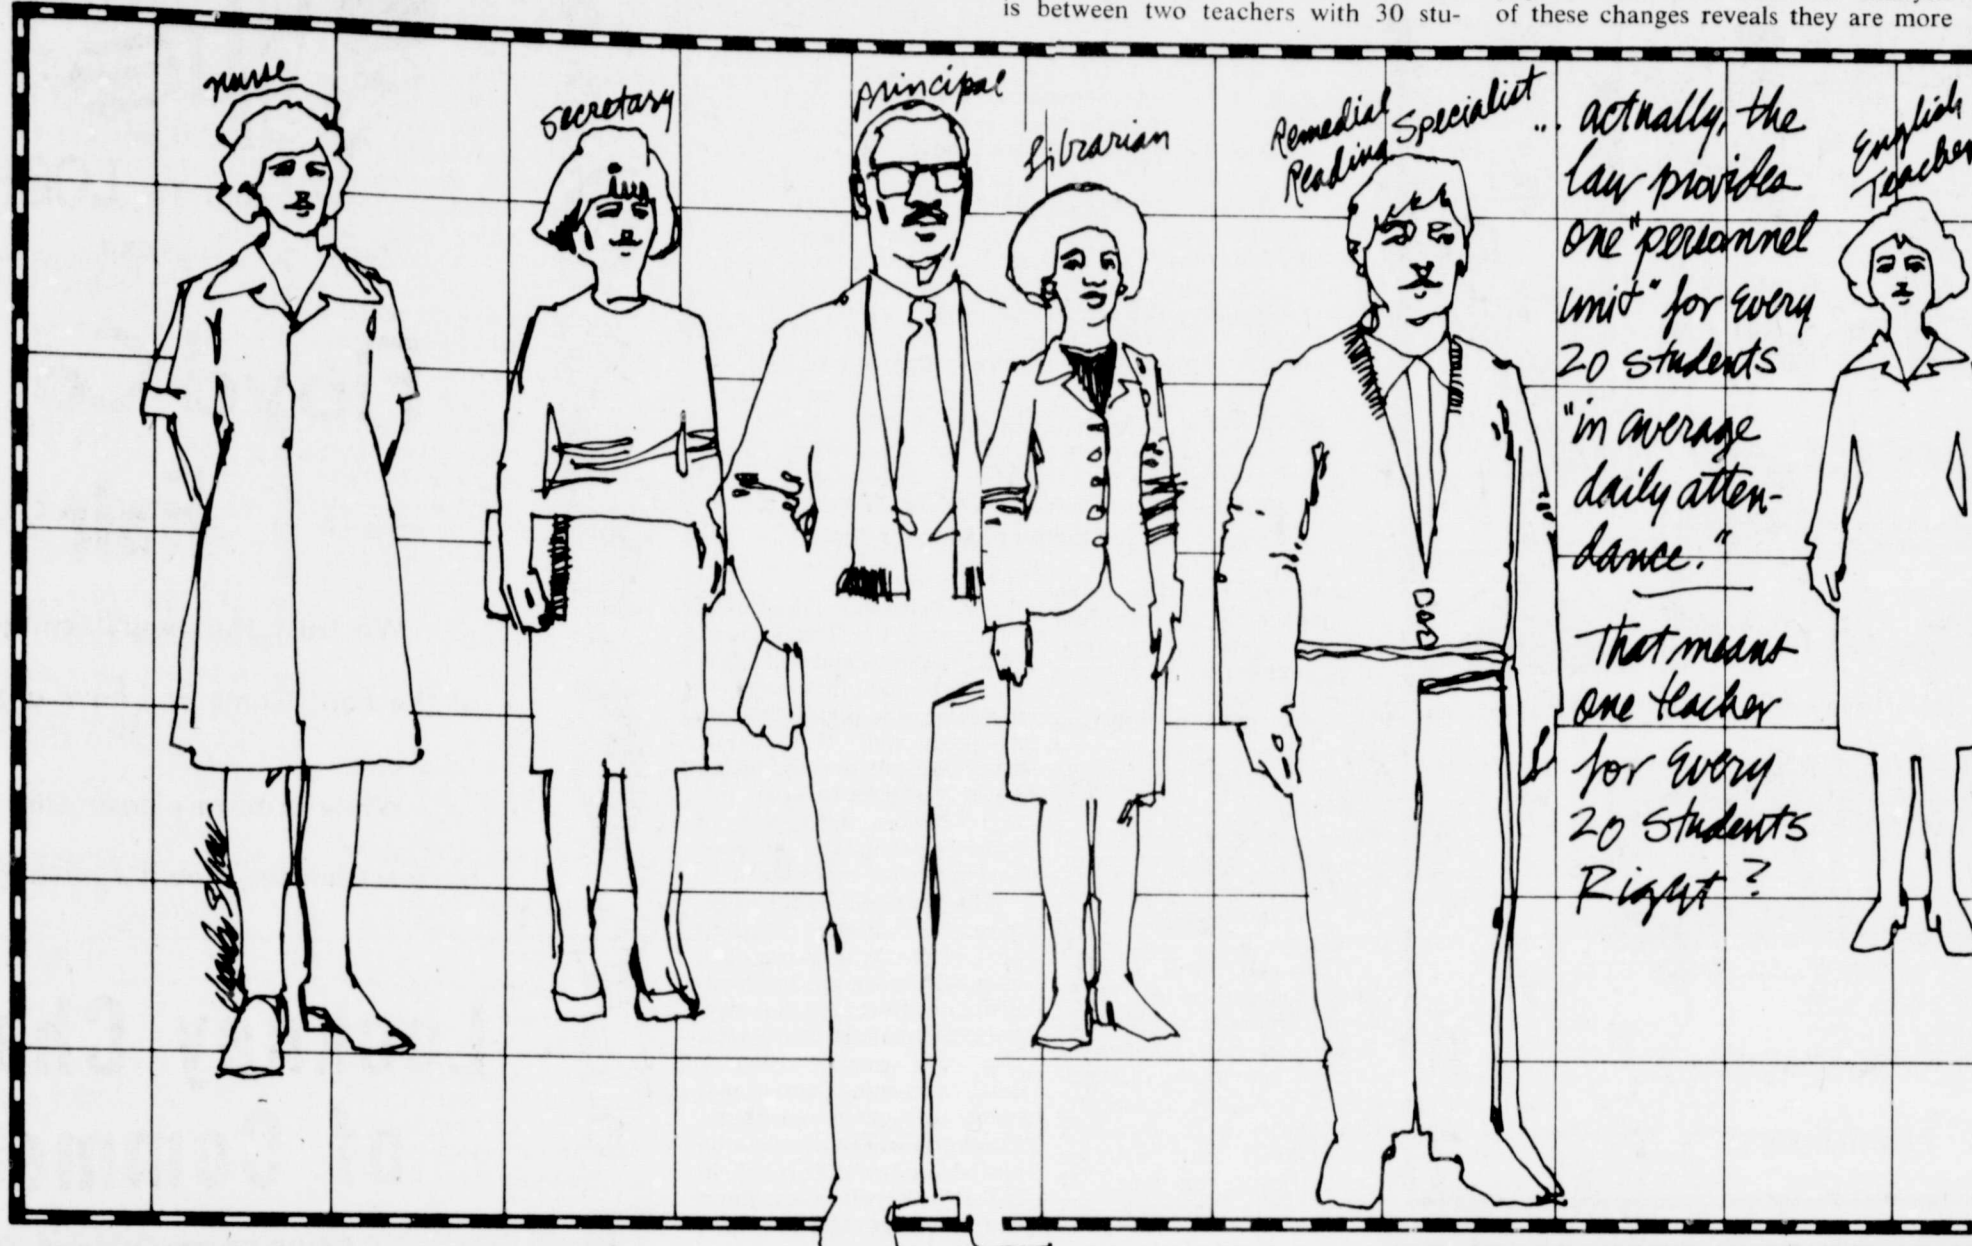

The new system replaced the multi-category plan with an all-inclusive "personnel unit" allocated on an approximate 19.5 to 1 ratio. But the apparent smaller ratio was not a bona fide reduction; it merely offset losses occurring when categories for support staff were eliminated.

Regarding legislative intent, the "proof of the pudding" is the legal stipulation that local districts must assign enough teachers to classroom instruction to maintain a 25 to 1 ratio—the same ratio required three years ago!

Has no progress been made? Clearly, the current finance system is better than the pre-1975 model. Improvements have occurred in many areas of Texas public school education; however, reduction in class size may not accomplish as much as some expect.

As more and more parents and teachers become aware of the facts, they can begin to influence legislation that actually will produce smaller classes.

"It's a great feeling to see a child running down a corridor, after doctors have said she'd die in the first two years of her life," says Bill Ball. "She's eight now and although she can't talk, she's alive and full of vigor. The sight of a child like that makes you want to work a little harder for something you believe in and help someone other than yourself."

Five days a week Bill Ball is a transportation stock and tool attendant whose job helps maintain the light and power supplies of Syracuse, New York. But Bill's efforts after working hours have brought light into the lives of hundreds of disabled youngsters.

Several years ago he became interested in fighting the effects of cerebral palsy in children born with that crippling birth defect. Assuming the job of program chairman of his local Elks Lodge, he built the lodge's fundraising campaigns around pancake breakfasts, bowl-a-thons, walk-a-thons, raffles and circuses. The lodge's fundraising climbed steadily until it led the state's 143 Elks Clubs with $12,000 in 1977.

"I told my wife Shirley when I first joined the lodge, if I couldn't make a contribution or help someone less fortunate than myself, I'd resign," Bill Ball remembers.

Anyone who truly loves God and those around him will find ways, both during and after regular working hours, to express that love. No talent need be left unused. There is someone, wherever you are, who needs it.

SORGHUM TEAM TO CULTIVATE SOME EUROPEAN MARKETS

Lubbock, Tex.—The drive to expand grain sorghum sales overseas will continue in September as a sorghum promotion team leaves for Europe. Led by Elbert Harp, Executive Director of Grain Sorghum Producers Association, the team will depart Sept. 16 to work in the seven European countries showing the most interest in purchasing grain sorghum.

With Harp will be Dr. Reed Richardson of Texas Tech University in Lubbock, Texas and Ben Baisdon of Texas Department of Agriculture in Austin, Texas. Dr. Richardson is a livestock nutritionist and will be dealing with problems of nutrition in livestock and grain processing.

Mr. Baisdon is Director of Marketing For Texas Dept. of Agriculture and will assist Harp in planning ways to remove trade restrictions on sorghum and of developing news services to keep foreign buyers informed of price relationships between sorghum and other grains.

The team will hold conferences to discuss feeding programs and problems. The men will work in England, Scotland, Germany, Norway, Poland, Romania, and Spain. They will present research data concerning nutritional value of grain sorghum. Emphasis will continue to be placed on the difference in U.S. No. 2 yellow sorghum and the high tannin, (bird resistant,) sorghum being shipped from other countries.

U.S. No. 2 yellow sorghum does not have a tannic acid problem but much of the grain that has been exported from South Africa, Argentina, and Thailand is of the type that is low in nutritional value because of the tannic acid content. The result is that livestock feeders are afraid to use sorghum.

Grain Sorghum Producers Association and Texas Grain

Sorghum Producers Board, (GSPA TGSPB,) have been conducting a worldwide educational program since 1975 aimed at showing the difference in U.S. sorghum and the "brown sorghum". The U.S. Feed Grains Council sponsors the sorghum promotional work overseas in cooperation with the Foreign Agriculture Service of U.S.D.A.

This sorghum mission will last three years so that Sorghum expanded rapidly in out of three acres per year. The United States has proper promotion by 50% in the years.

You Ought To Be Locked Up!

At least your home is safe when you are away. Many thefts occur in front of the house when the occupants are on the deck or are in the yard. A thief can enter the house while the family is in the yard. Keeping the doors locked while the family members are in the house, especially if one member is home alone, will reduce the possibility of an intruder entering the residence and committing a crime against whoever is home.

It is a good idea to determine who is knocking on the front door before you open it. An intercom system or a peephole door viewer should be utilized. At the very least look out a window to see who is on the porch before opening the door. Many criminals have used a pretext of being a repairman, policeman, salesman or even a clergyman to gain access to a residence to commit a crime. If you are not certain who it is at the front door, do not open the door and admit that person if you are home alone. Do not admit to anyone that you are home alone. If necessary, call a neighbor and have that neighbor come out on their porch and watch while you open your front door and speak to whomever it is on your doorstep. You, of course, should offer to do the same thing for your neighbor.

Many times one expects to become the victim of crime if they go downtown or go shopping or go on a trip. But all too many times people become victims of crimes when they least expect it, when they open their own front door. Lock on to a good idea—keep your front door locked.

NEWS 'N' NOTES

(by Sharon Hillis)

"Special" Children Special Needs

Parents who accept their "special" child's needs take the first step toward meeting those needs.

This also means parents must accept their own negative feelings toward their special child—as normal feelings.

Special children are mentally or physically handicapped or gifted children with special needs.

These children all share one need, however—the need to feel they are worthwhile members of their family.

At the same time, these families may struggle through more problems than other families—and they may suffer many frustrations along the way.

Discovering Needs
Just discovering the child's special needs can be frustrating in itself.

Parents of special children must adjust to the fact that their child is—in some ways—not what they feel a child of the same age should be. He may also be too far ahead, as well as behind.

Parents may, at first, try to deny that the child has any problems at all.

"He may be behind other kids his age, but he'll catch up," is a familiar reaction to a child with learning problems. Or, "He's smarter than I am, and he's only eight years old. What will I do with him?"

Eventually these parents may have to re-adjust their plans and goals for their child.

Accepting The Child
Parents of special children also often find it difficult to accept the child himself—because of his special needs.

Seeing teachers, other parents and other kids accepting and valuing the child may make it easier for them to do so.

Normal Negative Feelings
Negative feelings toward the child—such as feelings of anger, rejection, jealousy or even revulsion—are normal.

Most of us have learned to be uncomfortable with difference in other people, especially physical differences.

We grow up separated from blind, deaf, physically or mentally disabled people.

In fact, many parents' first real contact with such a person may be with their own child.

In addition, this child has probably caused his parents much worry, mental anguish, extra time and extra money.

It would be abnormal for such parents not to have negative feelings about these children.

Parents, however, are usually afraid to express such feelings—or they may deny they exist, even to themselves.

Guilt feelings also are common.

Parents may feel guilty about their negative feelings—or even feel to blame for the child's special problem.

However, these parents are probably not to blame for the child's needs.

A Message To Parents
Parents of special children should remember that their child:

- is a member of the family
- needs to develop a real sense of self worth
- needs a family that places realistic hopes on his achievement
- needs to have limits set
- needs consistent guidance and help with learning skills and behavior
- needs to feel secure
- needs the chance to explore new experiences
- needs to know that negative feelings of anger, rejection, revulsion and guilt are normal reactions to new situations.
