

Floyd County Deposits Increase $3.78 Million

LOANS DROP

Loans at the Floydada bank decreased as compared with the March '78 figures, while loans at the Lockney bank were up slightly. Combined totals show a $448,586 drop in loans at the two county financial institutions.

First National Bank in Lockney had loans of $5.5 million on the final business day of March. At the same time last year, loans stood at $5,350,000.

Loans of $9,484,835.86 were reported by First National Bank of Floydada. This is a decline from the $10,082,586.33 on the same date in 1978.

Recent moisture has delayed irrigating in some areas, thus representing a savings on irrigation costs to this point.

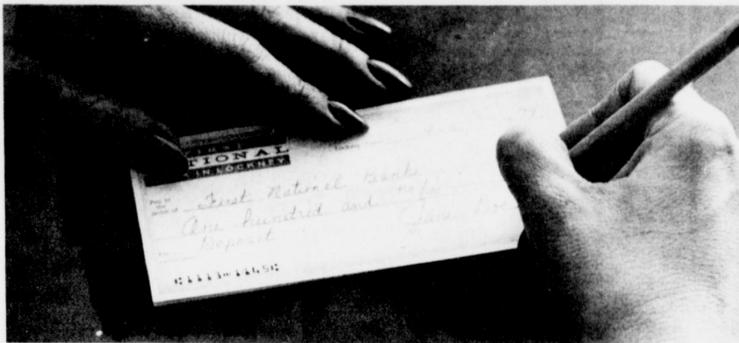

Farris attributes the increase in deposits to "a good cotton crop, for one thing, and cotton brought a good price, too." He notes that "strong cattle prices" also have made up impact.

George Sparkman, executive vice president of First National Bank in Lockney, says "progressiveness in the county and pretty good crops which were sold late" are responsible for a portion of the increase in deposits. He adds that "the increase in the cattle market contributed somewhat."

Sparkman pointed out that total assets at the Lockney bank were $18,542,000 on March 30, a rise over $16,378,000 on the final day of March '78.

Even considering the inflationary factor, the $3.785 million increase indicates a bright financial picture for Floyd County.

Hospital Costs Low In Texas, Lower In Lockney COMPARED TO OTHER STATES

average cost per admission at General Hospital during the month was $625.60, according to hospital administrator.

General average is some what above the average cost per admission in the state of Texas and below the average in Maryland.

The averages are from figures from the Texas Hospital Association in four states — Maryland, Connecticut and Massachusetts, where costs are controlled by government—with hospital Texas, which has a voluntary THA used those figures to support its contention that control of the hospital industry by the federal government is unnecessary and would be ineffective in containing hospital costs.

The THA is opposing the Hospital Cost Containment Act of 1979, as proposed by the Carter Administration.

The state hospital association is participating with the Texas Medical Association and 20 other groups to hold down the rate of rise in hospital costs. This concerted effort is known as the Texas Voluntary Effort (TVE).

Mrs. Fortenberry has received notification from the TVE that Lockney General Hospital's 1979 projected budget "...is in full compliance with the Texas Voluntary Effort's goals and objectives...."

The TVE recognized the Lockney hospital's "...continued efforts to contain the rate of increase in hospital expenditures and to incur new capital investments at levels that provide for the delivery of quality medical and hospital services commensurate with the needs of the patients...."

The TVE's notification to Mrs. Fortenberry continued: "As you know, each hospital's total commitment to voluntary cost containment is vital to our efforts to thwart federally imposed limitations and controls. Our success in this endeavor depends to a large extent on our ability to demonstrate the effect of our cost containment efforts — as successfully demonstrated by your hospital."

Floydada Men Cooperate In Jungle Rain Forest Mission

By Felicia Applewhite

"We were in the jungle rain forest in Guatemala," either Dr. Jack Jordan or Dr. Charles Craig will answer when asked where they went in February this year on their 13th annual flying mission trip." Their first trip was in February 1967.

This trip was made, like others, with the Flying Dentist Association under the auspices of the Christian Dental Society.

With the doctors making the trip for his 6th time was Jack McIntosh. Also, making the trip for the 5th time was Louis Lloyd, a former spray pilot. These two men know "about planes, know how to keep things going" in village work. An example: this year, they fixed an electric generator that had been inoperative for 5 months. They rewound a panel.

The 4 men left Floydada on February 7th in 2 single-engine 4-place private aircraft.

Each plane carried 2 men, medical supplies and equipment. "Our destination was Nuevo Vida in the Peten Jungle of northern Guatemala."

This small country—properly called the Republic of Guatemala—has a 70-mile coastline on the Caribbean and 220 miles on the west and north by Mexico and on the east by British Honduras and El Salvador.

After taking off from Floydada, they flew to Brownsville, then to Tampico, Mexico and on to Vera Cruz and the Isthmus of Tehuantepec where they crossed from the Gulf to the Pacific. Their last stop before Guatemala City was Tapachula.

We were in Guatemala City 2 days waiting for the weather to better. While there we did renew our relationship with the Wycliff Bible Translators and Mission Aviation personnel.

"On Saturday, we were able to get to Coban where we were another 2 days because of a heavy mist called 'cheapie cheapie.'" Here we met missionary pilot, Royce Riggs.

"The airport runway in Coban is long and extremely rough and is uphill one way. You land uphill and take off down hill."

A Guatemala twin-engine aircraft lies on its back a few hundred feet from the runway because it had tried taking off up hill.

"We waited for a clear ceiling for us to take off and were able to do so Monday morning. Our destination was Sayaxache where the road that leads toward Nuevo Vida, which was 18 miles away.

After leaving Coban, there is nothing but jungle vegetation.

"For 1/2 to 3/4 of an hour, we saw nothing—no trails, no Indians, no houses just flat rolling jungle. The heavy vegetation had mahogany trees 60 to 70 feet high mixed with banana, other trees, and vines."

The trees were so close together that their tops formed a solid canopy. Young trees can grow only where an old tree falls to let in the light. The broad leaves are always green.

Most of the land along the rivers in the Peten of Northern Guatemala has been taken by people who were starving at some other place. These people come in and clear a place leaving the banana trees standing. They then plant corn and beans between the trees in the clearings.

There is a choice in going to Nuevo Vida between going by boat or going by bush-type aircraft. The Floydada men chose air-craft.

"We were flown by a missionary aviator air plane in five minutes. The boat trip takes 6 hours going down stream.

"Nuevo Vida was a pleasant sight to us with its 35 acres of cleared land including the runway which was short and undulating bearing a couple of trees that prevented a straight final approach.

"It's a Mennonite settlement. A Mennonite missionary named Stolzus with his family from Pennsylvania formed the settlement 7 years ago.

They had first settled on a small island in the river but soon found that during the rainy season, they were unsafe.

They then machete-hacked a more livable space not far from the island on the bank of the river.

Most of the Indians who moved here were from the mountains to this government settlement project. Most of them spoke Spanish.

Stolzus had found that he could not separate himself from doing medical first aid along with establishing church work. He was limited in this endeavor because of lack of equipment. He had one dental instrument that he used to take his children's teeth out.

The Mennonites had access to boats that passed up and down the river. These boats were made in Sayaxache and were 35 feet long, 7 feet wide and could carry 20 tons. They were propelled by an 18-horse-power outboard motor engine and moved very slowly.

"We had our own bed rolls and a back-pack tent. We also had back-pack food. Since they had made a tent for us, we slept in it.

Here as in other sections, the vegetation had been cleared leaving selected trees.

One of the trees commonly found is the ceiba tree. They are usually about 70 feet tall. The limbs on this tree come out at the same place on the trunk, but opposite each other at a 90 degree angle.

They also leave the nut palm tree when making a clearing. It bears an edible nut about the size of a bantam egg. These nuts grow in large clusters.

On arrival in the village, the medical group set up for work.

They were shown a pretty, young girl in the village who had been brought to them about half dead a little while before. For some reason she had been left in the care of her grandfather and had been neglected.

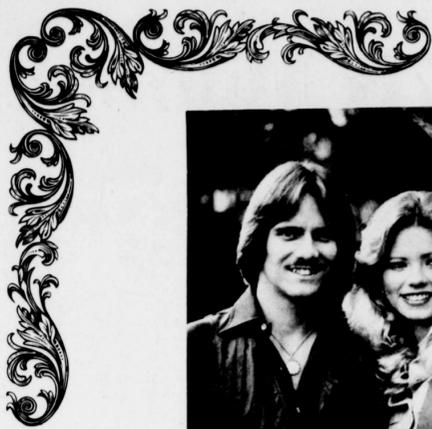

When she was brought to the Mennonite village, she had no skin left on the top of her feet. During the time that she had lain ill, the chickens had come along pecking at her feet until the skin was gone.

NEWS 'N' NOTES

EAT LIGHTER FOR LENT

Eat lighter for Lent if old Lenten favorites have lost their appeal. Low-calorie cheeses, along with raw fruits and vegetables, pack a lot of nutrition in lighter-than-spring salad menus. Plan menus around low-calorie dairy products and early spring fruits.

DAIRY DELICACIES

Low-calorie dairy products include cottage, ricotta and neufchatel cheeses and low-fat yogurt.

FRUIT FANCIES

Early spring fruits include strawberries and the ever-faithful banana. Apples and D'Anjou pears are plentiful and high quality, fresh out of storage.

And don't forget the myriad of canned fruits — peaches, pineapple, apricots, and mixed fruits.

If packed in heavy syrup, just pour off the syrup and use for fruit punches for active children of normal weight.

NATURALLY NUTRITIOUS

Dairy products are our leading source of calcium needed for bones and teeth. They also offer high-quality protein, riboflavin and many other nutrients.

Fruits are valuable chiefly because of the vitamins and minerals they contain.

Strawberries are a rich source of vitamin C needed for healthy gums and body tissue.

Apricots are rich in Vitamin A needed for growth, normal vision and a healthy condition of the skin.

Fruit is also an abundant source of fiber needed for proper elimination.

Highlight Lenten menus with these sparkling low-calorie salads:

GEORGIA FINLEY, Green Thumb hostesses at the Floyd County Historical Museum, examines an arrowhead in the G.L. Burns Indian Collection, a new museum feature.

Indian Artifacts In Burns Collection At Floyd Museum

The G.L. Burns Collection, new at Floyd County Historical Museum, includes points and artifacts found by Burns in the early 1900's. These interesting items were recovered from the Pease River, Tule Canyon, Palo Duro Canyon, on the old Crawford Ranch northeast of Lockney, along the Canadian River in Texas and New Mexico, at Roaring Springs and several other Floyd County locations. The Obsidian point was found by Burns by an Indian in New Mexico. Pottery and a piece of a peace pipe also were from New Mexico. Some of the points are from Indiana and Alabama.

The Floyd Philosopher

Floyd Philosopher Has Four Different Reactions To Egypt-Israel Peace Treaty

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm in Floyd County examines the Egypt-Israel peace treaty, somewhat.

At the peace treaty signing in Washington Sadat, Begin and Carter, apparently not having read each other's speeches ahead of time, all three said we ought to beat our swords into plowshares.

Can't we beat them into something else? Maybe it'd be the thing to do in India or Iran where they're still plowing with a forked stick but in this country we've already got enough plows to produce more stuff that we can get rid of at a fair price. Would it be all right if we beat them into windmill blades or car bumpers at least until we get rid of our surplus grain?

I've been asked what my reaction is to the Egypt-Israel peace treaty. I haven't made up my mind but here are several possibilities:

(1) What it amounts to is, if you two countries will sign this piece of paper we'll give each of you two and half billion dollars in American tax payers' money.

(2) By the way, on what page does it say how long this treaty remains in effect? Till the next election? Is the first side that breaks it a rotten egg? Is it true that throughout history the number of peace treaties that have been broken equals exactly the number that have been signed?

(3) If I can get into a big squabble with a neighbor, will Washington come out here and settle it by building each of us a new barn and re-graveling our driveways? We don't need any airports or fighter planes but would like to be guaranteed tractor fuel for the next 15 years.

(4) Five billion dollars to stop any war is a bargain, unless it's one between Russian citizens and their government. If somebody had stopped the Viet Nam war a month after it started we'd be 50,000 lives and 100 billion dollars ahead.

You can see that when it comes to international affairs I'm as befuddled as anybody else.

Yours faithfully,
 J.A.

WHOZITS . . .

NO GUESSES ON LOCKNEY WHOZIT

Last week's Whozit column was so mixed up we don't even want to talk about it. There were no guesses on the Lockney mystery picture, and it got in the wrong place in the Whozit column, and.....

LOCKNEY WHOZIT — This picture of a brother-sister pair was taken in 1953. Call The Beacon, 652-3318, if you think you know who it is.

Dot And Jim Word Floydada Whozits

Mary Garrett of Kansas City, Mo., phoned to name Dot (Dorothy Cousins) and Jim (James H.) Word as last week's Hesperian Whozits. She was the only person who made a correct identification. Mrs. Garrett is the Word's middle daughter. The Hesperian and The Beacon mystery photos were transposed and Mrs. Word's picture was above The Beacon description lines.

FLOYDADA WHOZIT — This Floydada businessman has lived his entire life (61 years) in Floyd County. The fellow, pictured on his horse Nichol, is a member of a large and well-known county family. Those who would like to guess the identity of this person from picture "made in 1922 or 1923" are asked to contact our office Monday through Wednesday.

When she was brought to the City for treatment where she recuperated and was now a pretty and healthy girl, three years of age.

Another girl who had a burned hand was under the care of Stolzfus who was doing the best he could with material from Guatemala City for treatment.

Dr. Jordan sent into Guatemala City for treatment. Mosquitoes were bad in the area, not so bad in camp.

We did our bathing in the mud-brown river. The spring where we got drinking water came down through a low lot.

There were only three days of mud work at the Mennonite village of New Vida.

All we did were extractions. We used a compressor to do fitting. It became inoperative and we could not repair it.

The Indians just came down by boat and walked in. We could clean up and take out bad teeth.

Tooth brushes were given to all kids.

Most of the adults had the 4 up front teeth missing. The ones from the teeth up had dental conditions because of professional or home care.

We stayed at the village, as very few of us went into families lived in huts scattered along the river bank.

One night we were awakened about 10 o'clock by a very loud noise. Somebody asked what it was and we found it was the "howie" monkeys roaring. They roar just like a human disease.

We did take a ride up the river one night for services in an Indian church. This service was in a Mennonite community. They had men and women choruses who used a tuning device to assist. One of the group might get up and end up singing a solo.

When they said thanks, everybody said thanks aloud. Since everybody spoke Spanish no interpreter was needed.

One mother who was breast feeding baby, fed the baby while she was singing in a women's group.

At the end of three days, the work in the jungle rain forest of Guatemala came to an end.

We left our medicines that we had not used.

I was working on my last patient when they came to pick us up. I stayed back extracting teeth until I heard the motor of the plane," says Dr. Craig.

We then flew northeast over Floydada where there is a lake out in the middle of the rain forest. The old Mayan city built in the middle of the lake, and connected to the mainland by a simple causeway.

Guatemala is a part of the territory once occupied by the Mayan Indians, northern Mexico and Central America. The civilization reached its height around A.D. 1,000.

The Mayan empire left a legacy that included a 365-day calendar, painting, sculpture and mathematics.

On our way out we flew over Mayan ruins of Tical and Mayan pyramids of the lost civilization.

We did visit about 2 hours Chichenitza Myan ruins. There we saw an observatory built about 500 years before Christ.

We found that their religion folklore had a lot to do with snakes and snake heads.

There were some bas-relief negro 10 heads. These possibly depicted an early visit of peoples from Africa.

Skulls at the base of a building extended from the ground to about feet up. They were like this all the way around the building. Of about 60 feet.

There is a story in connection with these skulls. It is that in the Mayan games. Similar to our Super Bowl, a defeated captain of a team was beheaded and his head buried behind a stone face.

From Chichenitza, we flew back Brownsville. By way of Carmen, Veracruz and Tampico.

Once again, Floydada's flying missionary team of doctors and helpers completed an annual February mission to countries to the south.

Vets To Lose GI Benefits

Approximately 49,000 Vietnam Era Veterans in Texas will lose their entitlement to GI Bill benefits during the next year.

VA estimates that on a nationwide basis more than half the number of veterans who have GI Bill eligibility today will lose it by 1984. "What we're emphasizing here," Coker said, "is the time factor. To make maximum use of GI Bill rights a veteran must be aware of the ten-year limit and get started well before time runs out."

FARM & RANCH NEWS

Cattle Number Increases 13.7% In Area

Sam Thomas, manager of agricultural development for Southwestern Public Service Company, has announced that 13.7 percent more fat cattle were produced in the 45,000 square mile area served by SPS. This is an increase of 600,680 or 13.7 percent over the previous year and is the largest number ever produced in a 12 months period. The survey, which has been conducted since 1963, is quoted throughout the United States as the most authoritative source as to the production of fat cattle in the Southern Great Plains area. "During the 1978 period, the feedlot capacity came to 2,728,400, which reflects a reduction of about 6,000 head over 1977. This also represents the consolidation of feedlots and the conversion to growing operations," Thomas said. "The total impact of the feedyard industry on the business community exceeded 8-billion dollars for the second year," Thomas said, "and the farm sale value exceeded 2-billion dollars. Profits on feedlots or fed cattle have ranged from a low of $3.33 per head to a high of $137.00 during the last 120 days." The survey also showed that the packing plant annual slaughter capacity continues to exceed 5-million head. "The only foreseeable limitations on the future of the fed cattle industry is the possibility and probability that the customer's ability to buy may be exceeded, however, this is not in sight," Thomas said. The survey has made a major contribution to the development and growth of the industry and has been especially valuable in the vertical integration that has occurred in the SPS service area. Copies of the survey will be available at Southwestern Public Service Company offices in about 60 days.

Larger Cotton Crop To Dampen Prices

"Cotton prices for the 1979 harvest season will likely fall if plantings increase as expected," says Dr. Carl G. Anderson with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The marketing specialist says prospects for more education, small U.S. 1978 cotton supplies, and strong export demand will highlight this year's cotton picture. "With normal yields, this year's production could develop into a 13-million-bale or larger crop, thus pushing prices down. Plantings should total 13.5 to 14.2 million acres compared to 13.4 million last year. Prices could approach the 1979 Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) loan rate of 50.23 cents a pound for Strict Low Middling, 1-1/16-inch cotton by late this year," projects the economist. With prospects for lower cotton prices, producers may want to consider forward contracting or hedging in the futures market during the next several months when and if a favorable price can be established, says Anderson. He expects exports to total six million bales this year, with cotton disappearance for the 1978-79 marketing year reaching 12 million bales. The estimated 1978 crop was 10.8 million bales. "Cotton stocks will total about four million bales by Aug. 1, down 1.3 million bales from last year. However, carryover stocks will remain close to the average since 1974," believes the economist. U.S. cotton supplies will likely increase from one to two million bales during the 1979-80 crop year, resulting in a carryover of five to six million bales by Aug. 1, 1980. Foreign cotton supplies are also smaller, with carryover declining one million bales to 18 million. This is the smallest foreign carryover since Aug. 1, 1971, notes Anderson. "Cotton prices strengthened last fall largely because of the small U.S. crop and strong foreign demand. Yet heavy sales in January contributed to a sharp slump in prices. Average prices to Texas growers dropped from about 60 cents a pound in November to around 52 cents in February. Currently, overall demand for existing cotton supplies appears soft," says Anderson. Over the short run, spot prices will probably move up and down several cents a pound as new developments (reflecting supply and demand) surface.

Use Of Fungicides Helps To Prevent Seedling Disease

Each year, some 360,000 bales of cotton are lost because of seedling disease across the Cotton Belt. Research which may save these lost bales is being conducted here by a plant pathologist with USDA Science and Education Administration (SEA). The work, to give cotton seedlings the best chance to produce a high quality crop, is being done by Dr. Earl B. Minton, in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. It is being conducted at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center north of the Lubbock airport. "Getting a uniform stand of vigorous cotton seedlings is critical in producing a profitable cotton crop," Dr. Minton said. "Healthy plants are more productive that diseased plants because they can better utilize soil nutrients and moisture." Vigorous cotton seedlings may produce more bolls and mature the crop before the onset of adverse weather, he added. "For the best possible cotton crop," the plant pathologist said, "the highest quality seed available should be planted." However, seed quality is often not as good as desired, he added. The best alternative is to plant seed properly treated with fungicide, Minton said. "The ideal treatment has not yet been developed," Minton said, "but progress is continuing to be made." Laboratory and greenhouse tests being conducted show that seed treated with fungicide can partially compensate for reduced seed quality, he reported. Seed with mechanically damaged coats, when treated with fungicide, attains greater increases in seedling emergence and seedling survival than untreated seed with intact coats. "However," he cautioned, "intact seed treated with fungicide should be planted since fungicides will not completely compensate for damaged seed." Seed dressing also reduces the seed rate for planting because it increases seedling emergence and survival. "This saving in planting seed has more than paid the cost of seed dressing in many instances," he said. "Until about 15 years ago," Minton said, "only seed protectant fungicides were available." Since the development of systemic fungicides, protection has been provided to both the seed and seedling, he added. "During the last eight years efforts have been under way to improve formulations of seed dressings." The USDA-SEA scientist said. Various flowable and suspension materials have been found to work better with wettable powder formulations. "There is no broad-spectrum fungicide that will control all of the seedling disease," Minton combination treatment may give control, but it is more costly than single treatment fungicide. "Even though the cost is compared to the cost of the cotton crop destroyed by disease." DISKING WEEDY AREAS FOR BIRD FOOD Running a disk over weedy pastures and ranges will help a weed crop this spring and supply for game birds and hunting. Disk to a four-inch depth any pattern that is in distance (one-fourth mile) cover, suggests a wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Report Tax Loss Next Year For Current Weather Damage

Texas farmers and ranchers who have suffered property damage from winter storms should take steps now to ensure they obtain the proper casualty-loss deductions on next year's income tax forms, urges Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

"If your operation has suffered a loss in value because of damage from winter storms, it would be wise to document the damage when it occurs," he said. "This will help you take the income tax deductions that are coming to you."

Officials of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers Inc. have announced that the organization's Twenty-Second Annual Membership Meeting will be held May 2 in the Aztec Room of the Southpark Inn, South Loop 289 and Indiana Avenue, Lubbock. Starting time will be 2:30 p.m. and the meeting should conclude shortly after 5:00 p.m. Emphasis of the meeting will be on existing opportunities for cotton in foreign markets, how those opportunities can be expanded and how the High Plains can fully realize its potential in those markets. To broaden cotton producer knowledge of the international cotton trade, PCG has secured "two speakers who are among the world's most knowledgeable and respected men in the field," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. Traveling from Liverpool England to be on the program will be John Garner, a principal owner and editor of the "Cotton Outlook" magazine. An international publication, "Cotton Outlook" each week covers cotton production, consumption, prices, government policies, exports and imports from every country of the world that exerts a significant influence on cotton trade. From his base in Washington D.C. will be David H. Cates, Associate Director of Foreign Operations for Cotton Council International. CCI organizes and supervises trade teams, technical services and various cotton promotion programs in countries around the world, including cooperative advertising programs with some 40 textile mills, garment manufacturers and retailers. In addition to these, PCG President Lloyd Cline of Lockney will address the group and Johnson will give the opening Executive Vice President's report. Following the membership meeting, the 50-member Board of Directors, two from each of the 25 counties in PCG territory, will meet and elect officers for the 1979-80 year.
