Recollections Of Past Happenings At Lone Star, North Of Lockney

Felicia Applewhite killed by lightning near the Lone Star man as he was on the road near the Bill. All this was open prairie, no roads. The mules and other range stock were scattered.

...that the jaw teeth of an animal loosened when the animal was by lightning. The jaw teeth were loose. He also had a break from his shoulder to his back, and several through the back end of the fuel wagon. I never did have any more trouble leading him. I led him nearly five miles that way."

"The first slicker I had smelled real strong with linseed oil."

"One trick we used to play on a boy that would be riding along beside us on a horse when he wasn't looking. I loosened one on a boy once hoping to see his saddle turn with him, but his horse was so poor, the boy didn't know the girth was loose until he started to take the saddle off when he got home. That horse was so poor that his withers stood up so high he didn't need a girth to keep the saddle from turning."

"We used to have cowboys stop at our house for dinner. I remember one great, big, old fellow who stopped. He never pulled off his spurs of gun at meal time. He had to stoop to look into the mirror above the wash stand."

"I was going to town on a wagon load of wheat once. As I passed a house where some people had just moved in, a teenager rode up beside me on a pony. I asked him what he would take for the pony."

"And he asked in return what I would give him. I said that I would give him $2.50. He said for me to stop and let him unsaddle, I did. I tied him up beside the team and took him to town. At town, I thought I found a buyer, but he wanted to ride to demonstrate. After he rode, he refused to buy. I bought the pony, but finally gave him away."

"That pony wasn't worth a dime in handling and being useful. He wouldn't rein. It took half a section to turn him around. He was square broken."

"John Frye rode up to our house in a hurry one morning to get some camphor. He said his brother was coming through a gate on a bronc and his dad that was holding the gate for him to come through, punched the bronc with a stick. The horse swallowed his head and sent the brother in orbit. John had come to get the camphor to bring the brother to. Camphor was used in reviving fainting persons."

"I started to bridle a big mule one time. He had a snag in his off ear. When I started to slip the bridle over the off ear, it struck the sore snag. This caused the mule to fling his head from the bridle and toward me. His head came down on top my head and nearly drove me into the ground."

"Once Hal Underwood put a green rattlesnake hide over the candle of his saddle. It stuck like it was glue. It stayed on just like adhesive tape."

"Carl Daniel was breaking a big, old horse named Coon. He was in the breaks east of here. The trail he was coming up was steep and narrow so he was walking and leading the horse up. Up the trail a piece, Carl looked around causing the horse to shy from him. The horse threw his head up and shield off the trail and hit on his back in a muddy spring below. Carl had to get a rope and put it on the horse's feet before he could pull him over."

"One morning after a severe thunderstorm, an old family work horse came up from inside the field. I went to look to see where he got in and found the lightning had hit the fence, splinters a cedar post and melting the top five wires of six-wire fence. During another storm, lightning struck a neighbor's mare. The next morning I ran on to her. Her week-old colt was trying to suck. The mare was killed the night before."

"Carl had an experience that thrilled him because he didn't get killed. It was at one of those rodeos where there was a high ducking cloth wall around the rope corral where the horses bucked."

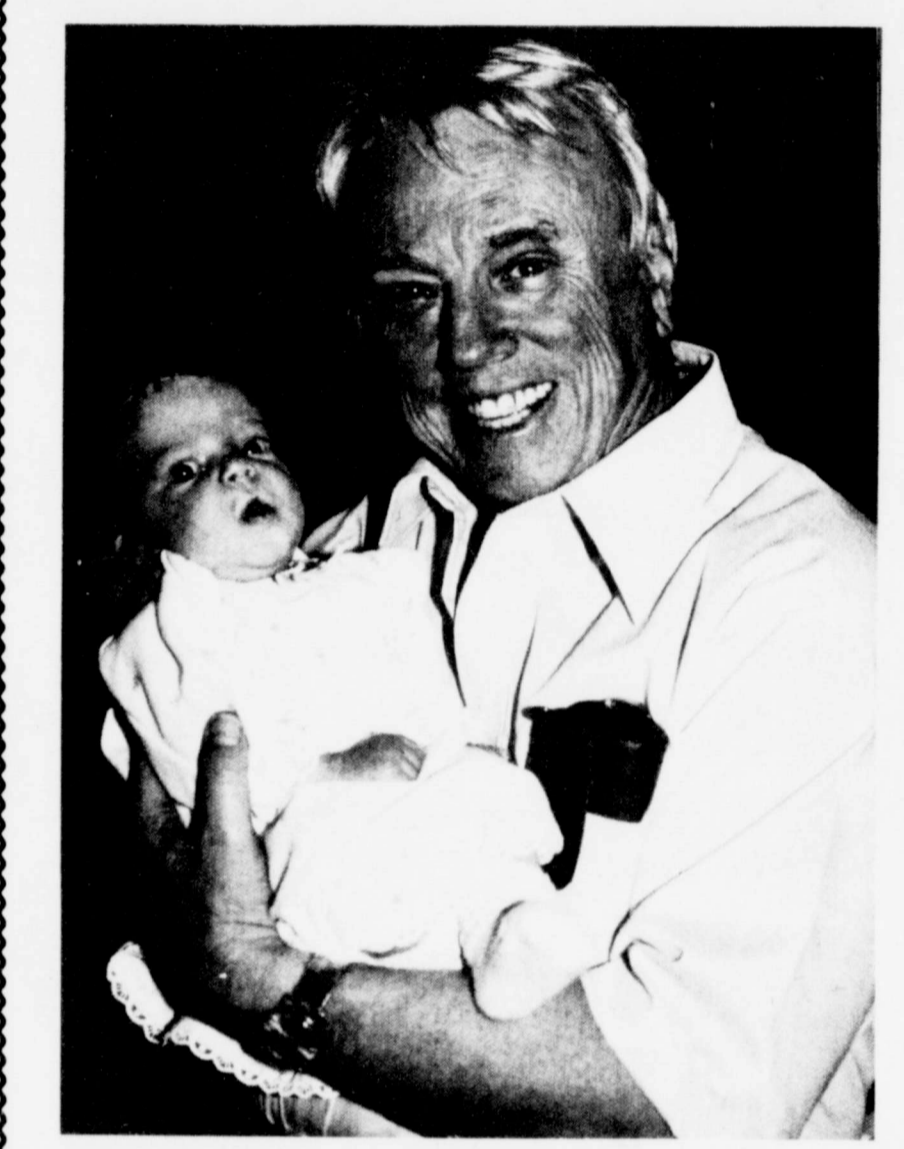

"The spectators stood between the ducking enclosure and the rope corral and watched the show as the bucking went on."

"All these shows had prized bucking horses. It was customary to offer a $100 prize purse for the man got lucky in his riding."

"Once Carl was given the right to ride the first night. He rode the horse but not according to the rules so didn't get the money."

ONE OF HIS OWN — After years of delivering thousands of babies and making proud grandparents of perhaps tens of thousands of other people, Dr. W.J. Mangold of Lockney became a "proud grandparent" himself February 16 with the birth of Allison Kristin Mangold, daughter of Gary and Brenda Mangold. (No, Dr. Mangold didn't deliver this one.) Allison Kristin is not only the Mangold's first grandchild, she's their first female descendant — Dr. and Mrs. Mangold's three children were boys. We're not sure exactly how many babies Dr. Mangold has delivered, but hospital records show that since January 1970, the total is 2,136.

TCJS Head Approves Draft On Jail Change

Vierna, acting executive of the Texas Commission on Jail Standards, has approved "with a few changes" an alternate plan for the Floyd County Jail.

Judge Choise Smith and Judge Lubbock architect who is working with Floyd officials on the project, New Wednesday to comply with Texas Commission on Jail Standard's guidelines.

No action has yet been taken on the original plan for which bids were called.

Bids on the original proposal show that the total project, including architect fees, would be $501,000.

Stiles was asked to compile a rough draft of the alternate plan, estimated to cost approximately $183,679 without architect fees. This draft was what Judge Smith and Stiles carried to Austin to show Vierna.

The latest proposal calls for renovation of the present jail, with no addition being construction.

Bickley Gets Award From Tech Baseballers

The plaque, weighing about 20 pounds is made of steel, with electric welding and brass brazing.

About 200 persons, including the Double-T Dolls, the Red Raiders "bat girls," attended the banquet in Wyatt's Cafeteria, South Plains Mall, Lubbock.

Burl Huffman, former baseball coach and public relations man for Tech, was the featured speaker and presented most valuable player and most valuable newcomer awards.

Bickley presented the "Burl Huffman Courage Award" at the banquet.

Warnie Was Oldest Barber Around

Chances are good that anyone who grew up in Floydada received his first haircut from W.H. (Warnie) Hilton.

"Warnie," as he is known to most Floyd County residents, barbered 56 years in Floydada before retiring. To most, he was a friend as well as a barber.

Hilton can name many families that he rendered the initial haircut to two and three generations.

Despite his general good health, he decided to retire "early." He was only 91 at the time...probably the oldest barber in West Texas.

brought his equipment here, "threw Shorty's stuff out in the alley," and hired Lauderdale as a second barber.

The building housing the business was a small frame on the south side of the square, "where Hale's Department Store is now."

Barber shops were one of the more popular businesses. Floydada had three places where men and boys could get a haircut and shave, as well as "swap a few yarns."

There also were three wagon yards, two livery stables, three hotels, four grocery stores, two dry good stores, a tailor shop, and maybe a couple more businesses when Warnie Hilton moved to this town of 600 people.

HAND MADE BOOTS
 He says a friend in New Mexico, "an old bachelor," hand made his boots. "I guess that's why it never bothered me to stand on my feet (while working many hours)."

Floydada had "a little school house south of the (present) co-op gin which burned early one morning." Another school, housed in a brick building, was located about two blocks south and east of the Piggly-Wiggly location.

There were three churches — "Methodist, Baptist, and Church of Christ." A family lived on virtually every quarter section of farmland.

Has the weather pattern changed through the years?
 Probably not, Hilton believes. "We had some pretty cold weather back then and lots of snow, but people are better fixed to take care of ourselves now."

Presumably Floydada's first baseball park was erected when a "bunch of us went in and built it. There were 19 of us. We paid Jim Willson Sr. $10 a month for the lumber 'till we got it paid off."

"I helped build the rodeo ground down there," Hilton said proudly, pointing in a southeast direction.

HELPED WITH PROJECTS.
 He was a part of these projects because of his love for his community. Hilton neither played baseball nor rodeoed.

"There weren't any organizations in town I know of then," Hilton relates. "The town sure has changed," the small framed Hilton says in reminiscing.

Have the changes been for the better or worse?
 "Oh, I think it's better...of course, everything's higher. Floydada is a good place to live."

One of the major changes has been in the mode of farming. "Every farmer had his own cows, chickens and hogs." Gardens also prevailed.

That also held true for city dwellers. "I always raised a garden and had

Saturday was "the big day" for a barber shop and every other business in fledging West Texas towns. Farm families brought cream, butter, and eggs to town that day to sell or trade for groceries. This was their day to buy and visit friends.

"I cashed a lot of cream checks...if they weren't too big," Hilton remembers. Floydada "had a creamery at one time."

Saturdays were "full days, starting at 7 in the morning and lasting 'till 11 or 12 at night...sometimes 'till 2. We just stayed 'till we got shut of the customers."

Was Saturday busy all day?
 "Yep," replies the former barber.

Beta Sigma Phi Celebrates 48th Anniversary

Beta Sigma Phi, a social, cultural, and service organization for women, plans the celebration of the 48th anniversary of its founding.

Beta Sigma Phi is the largest women's sorority in the world. Celebration will take place in the 30 counties in which the organization's 250,000 members in over 12,000 chapters exist. The organization is non-academic, non-political, and non-sectarian. The keynote to Beta Sigma Phi is friendship. Chapters of five different degrees meet the growing needs of various age groups. Members are active in small chapter groups. Each chapter adapts the plans for social, civic, and service and cultural activities to fit the interests of its members.

When Beta Sigma Phi events or civic endeavors are larger than one chapter can plan alone, all chapters in a city or area may combine their strength. There are state conventions each year which any members may attend.

Internationally, the chapters have created several special funds: The International Loan Fund, through which members help one another; The International Endowment Fund, which has donated over one million dollars to cancer research cystic fibrosis, homes for underprivileged children, and many other causes; The Exemplar Fund, which helps to support Literacy Village in India; and a college scholarship fund for members or their sons or daughters.

Outstanding projects and activities of the local chapter, Alpha Mu Delta, are: First Lady of the Year, Volleyball tournament, and parties at the nursing home.

The Founder's Day celebration on April 30, 1979 at K-Bob's in Plainview, marks the 48th anniversary of the founding. The organization was founded in Abilene, Kansas, by Walter W. Ross. Carrie Bertrand is serving as chairman of the Founder's

Day activities, along with Debbie Beatty, Kay Jones, and Judy Campbell as members of the social committee. Other members taking part in the program are: Pat Cates, chapter's official hostess; Julie Hickerson, JoAnn Patterson, Bama Coward, Donna Henderson, Teresa Whittle, and Kaye Powell.

GIRL SCOUT SERVICE UNIT MEETING

Lone Star Recollections

the kid wasn't hurt, but his dad saw him and "wore his britches off".

"We got out of a milk cow and I cried and cried. I wanted milk so much."

"Dad was coming out of town once on a load of lumber pulled by two mules. A car passed. The scared mules ran away and overtook the car. Dad thought the mules were going to get in the back end of the car before he could stop them."

"A boy and girl were riding horses when the horse the girl was on ran away. The boy caught the girl by the back of her dress belt and lifted her off the horse. He then stopped his horse and let her down without her falling on the ground."

"Luther Thomas had a stocking-legged horse that was nearly impossible to hold back. Once, he ran on to a buggy. Luther thought the horse would stop when he came up to the buggy, but he didn't. He jumped between the buggy wheel and bed of the buggy. That stopped him."

"A man stole three heifers from Dad. After he stole them, he dehorned them, threw them into the breaks and chased them a few days. He then put his brand and mark on them and threw them out on the ranch with other cattle. I rode right through the cattle where they were and didn't recognize them."

"You'd get lost out on the prairie if you didn't recognize the trails. Sheep made a little, narrow trail. The trail of sheep doesn't wind like a cow's trail."

"I was riding on a horse on a foggy day—not very cold—when I saw a covey of quail huddled under a little bush. I was on another man's horse. His gun was in the holster—a 22 high-power with soft-nosed bullets. I shot at the quail. There was nothing left what I hit but a pully bone as fully cleaned as though it had been dressed at the kitchen sink."

"Along with angora chaps, we used to wear bear-skin gloves. You can't do those any more. The gloves were brown skin with palms of light leather. The hair was on the backs and the back of the hands and the palms were of bear skin."

"Some boys saw a bunch of candles, shooting just above the ears. The mules scattered and ran through the fence on both sides of the lane."

"A man by the name of Lightnight wanted broke. Carl was breaking him to be gentle for Lightnight's wife, but putting it in the stall. It didn't get far enough for him to shut the stall, so he slapped him on the chest with his hand. The horse kicked the chest with both feet with such force that it knocked the breath out of Carl struggling for breath, he decided he didn't want to die there. He went for the tank, but just as he went to the fence, his breath came back."

"This morning slightly off the trail. Where I walk each day to get the trade I saw two tumble bugs at their trade. Diligently rolling the ball they made."

This is no unusual sight, you'll see it before I could answer, they tumbled. They tumbled into the grass and were gone. Then my mind resorted to what I thought

As I went on to see what the post had brought. So much time, so many miles since the other day. When we and I thought to watch the play. Since then, we, too, have traveled our way. In a world strangely uncertain in array. But with an assurance as we have to. That courage, peace and hope come from God."

YOUR ELECTRIC BILL IS HIGHER
IT'S COSTING US MORE TO PRODUCE ELECTRICITY

Electric bills are higher these days, and even though the cost of almost everything else is higher too, you are still concerned about your cost of electricity. We're concerned too.

The cost of the fuels necessary to operate generating plants is increasing by leaps and bounds. To counter the shortage and spiraling costs of natural gas and fuel oil, SPS has built new plants which use lower-cost coal. But building these plants costs money, too — three times as much as gas-fired plants. Even so, fuel is the largest single expense we have. About 51¢ of every dollar SPS received from its customers in 1978 went for fuel. Fuel always has been and always will be part of your electric bill. It's higher today than it was yesterday, and tomorrow it will be higher still. SPS is working to keep the price of electricity as low as possible, but as the cost of producing electricity goes up, our only choice is to ask our customers to pay a higher price. It's the only way we can maintain the adequate supply of power and the dependable service you expect.

Spring is a season of warm sunshine, fields of flowers, lingering twilight and gentle breezes. Spring is tender and romantic. It is a wonderful time to be alive.

This delightful season draws us like a magnet to the magic world of the great outdoors. Flowers begin to bloom in all their radiance, and birds sing once more. There's an assurance in the air itself of fresh, new hope.

Spring is also a time when we're more receptive to thoughts of the eternal mystery of life. It's a special time to marvel at God's supreme plan for each of us and for all of His creation.

This week discover a new sense of wonder of the divine power that sends us a bright, new spring year after year . . . in church.

Floyd Philosopher Says Shortage Of Energy Not As Bad As Shortage Of Horse Sense

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnsongrass farm on Floyd County examines the energy situation this week.

Dear editor:
It looks like this country is faced not only with a shortage of energy but a shortage of horse sense.
Take the 55 mile an hour speed limit. If that's what we want it looks like a better way to achieve it could be found than pleading with everybody to comply, especially when about two-thirds don't.
The horse-sensical way would be to require governors on cars, set for a maximum speed of 55 miles an hour. That'd do it and it wouldn't cost very much. Most cars are being re-called anyway and the governors could be installed then.
This would be a lot cheaper and far more effective than having highway patrolmen trying to slow millions of drivers down, which is about like having one cowboy on a bicycle trying to head off a wild stampede.
While we're waiting to get the governors installed, control traffic by having two patrol cars travel side by side at 55 mile an hour at 50-mile intervals down two-lane highways. If it's a three-laner, use three cars; four, use four. This will work, except that it'll back cars up from the Pacific to the Atlantic, from Floyd County to the state Capitol.

Or take lawnmowers. There must be 25 or 30 million of them, a large percentage of which will start. Think how much gasoline could be saved if the Energy Department spent some of its money not on pleading with people to conserve but on a crash program to produce a lawn grass that grows only two inches high. Think how much more sleep city people could get by not being woke up Sunday mornings by the roar of power mowers.
I realize this would throw lawnmower makers out of work but they could turn to something else, although I don't recommend farming.
I don't believe you can talk people into saving energy, any more than you can talk politicians into saving their breath.
Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Use Water Efficiently For A Better Lawn - Garden

By Birch L. Lobban
County Extension Agent

If irrigation water is limited in your area it is essential to make efficient use of what is available. Most people fail to realize that soils differ in their ability to take up water. It is useless to apply moisture to the surface of a soil at a rate faster than the soil can absorb it. When you apply water at the surface, the top layer of soil becomes saturated; that is, it takes up all the water it can hold.

Some of the water then moves down into the drier layer of soil below. The speed of this downward movement is influenced by the soil structure. In a tight or heavy, compact soil, the movement will be slow. In light, sandy soil, it will move much faster. It is important to note the rate at which the soil in your yard can take up moisture. When you apply it faster than the soil can absorb it, you simply waste water as it runs off the surface into the low areas, into the gutter, or into the natural drainage system.

The professional golf greens keeper gets the most good from every gallon of water by carefully timing the water application — 5 to 10 minutes on and 20 to 30 minutes off.
This system allows time for the water to saturate the top soil and then redistribute itself uniformly in the soil below. Utilizing special timing mechanisms he keeps repeating the on-off process until the soil is wet to a depth of 8 to 10 inches. Depending on the type of soil and the amount of vegetation the soil will not require water for at least a week to 10 days.
Another efficient system is to use sprinklers that cover large areas but which have a low rate of discharge. It may require 5 to 6 hours to saturate the soil to the depth necessary but there will be little or no loss due to surface run-off.

WHOZITS . . .

Lakeview Team In Whozit Photo

Many people's span back to 1931. Last Sunday's Hesperian Whozit, the 1931 Lakeview basketball team which won the county championship, was identified by several persons.
Roy Anderson and Leonard Alexander were shown at the top and the bottom row consisted of G.W. Smith, Willie Bunch, and Herman Nelson.
Orval and Lorene Newberry were among those making correct identifications. They noted that Anderson now lives in California and Nelson is an Oklahoma City resident.
Also naming the entire team were Adrian West, Otis Anderson, Mrs. J.C. Odom, and Earl Edwards.
Sam Spence correctly named Smith and Bunch, but he believed the others were Bill Hambright, A.M. West, and Homer Newberry.

FLOYDADA WHOZIT — This should be one of the easiest Whozits to identify! To even name his vocation would give away this identity, but he is seen each day by a multitude of people. If you would like to guess please contact our office between Monday and Wednesday.

Merle Mooney Lockney Whozit

Last week's Lockney Whozit was Merle (Myers) Mooney. It must have been a tough one, because only one person — Claudette Hulcy — guessed the identity of the mystery picture subject.

LOCKNEY WHOZIT — Can anyone identify the young stock show exhibitor in the center of the picture? Cooperation may be the key to solving this week's Lockney Whozit. Call The Beacon, 652-3318, if you know or would like to guess the identity of the mystery picture subject.

230 LEVEL-ACTION DISK

3-section flexibility with hydraulic fold

Three-section flexibility makes this disk an ideal match for rolling land. It can follow three separate ground contours in each pass. Choose working widths from 20 to 25½ feet. Overlapping front gangs cut away the center ridge most disks leave under the surface. Offset rear gangs pull in the same amount of soil front gangs throw out — and spring-loaded scrapers keep blades working. An exclusive self-leveling hitch puts up to 100 percent working weight — 95 to 120 pounds — on every blade.

TORNADO SAFETY RULES

TO KNOW WHAT TO DO WHEN A TORNADO IS APPROACHING
MAY MEAN THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN LIFE AND DEATH!

1. IF YOU ARE NEAR A TORNADO CELLAR:

When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave or underground excavation which should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure. It should be kept fit for use, free from water, gas or debris; and preferably equipped with pick and shovel. THERE IS NO UNIVERSAL PROTECTION AGAINST TORNADOES EXCEPT UNDERGROUND EXCAVATIONS.

2. IF YOU ARE IN OPEN COUNTRY:

1. Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour.
2. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

3. IF IN A TOWN OR CITY:

1. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a strongly reinforced building. STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS!
2. In homes: The corner of the basement toward the tornado usually offers greatest safety, particularly in frame houses. People in houses without basements can sometimes be protected by taking cover under heavy furniture against inside walls. Doors and windows on the sides of the house away from the tornado may be opened to help reduce damage to the building.
3. Standing against the inside wall or on a lower floor of an office building offers some protection.

4. IF IN SCHOOLS:

1. In city areas: If school building is of strongly reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on the lower floors when possible. AVOID AUDITORIUMS AND GYMNASIUMS with large, poorly-supported roofs!
2. In rural schools that do not have strongly reinforced construction, remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

5. IF IN FACTORIES AND INDUSTRIAL PLANTS:

On receiving a tornado warning, a lookout should be posted to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for moving workers to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

6. Keep calm. It will not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are very slight. Tornadoes cover such a small zone, as a rule, that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should know about tornadoes though, "just in case."

7. Keep tuned to your radio or television station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your individual request may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to relay advisories to radio and television stations for dissemination to thousands in the critical area.

Warnie: Barber 56 Years

 Warnie Barber, 79, says the town let me keep my own milk cows and my own tools. "A lot of town people have their own milk cows and their own tools," he says. "I have my own tools and my own cows." He recalls carrying a scabbard "many a time" which were a pair of "steel spurs" made in the town. "I've had a watch I've had for more than 100 years. It belonged to my father and was given to Warnie on his 50th birthday. I've had it ever since. I've cut hair all my life and I've had a bunch of hands and feet to cut their hair on."

Warnie Barber, 79, was born in Jacksville, La. on Jan. 16, 1882 in Jacksville, La. He raised horses on a ranch from 1908 to 1912. In the same period he and his brother started a meat market in Jacksville. This business was successful. "I must have been in the business for 20 years," he says. in 1974. The other daughter is Blanche Grundy of Aransas Pass. Warnie lost his partner of 57 years when his wife Lola succumbed Sept. 24, 1962. They were married in Hillsboro in 1905.

TWO GRANDSONS

Two grandsons and six great-children are points of pride for Warnie. Pictures of the two grandsons — Doyle Grundy, a chemical engineer in Port Aransas, and Bob Grundy, an Odessa accountant — are visible in both Hilton's living room and bedroom.

A 50-year Masonic certificate has its place on the living room wall. It was presented in March 1970. "I'll soon get my 60-year certificate....If I live that long," he says. He served 20 years on the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department.

Yet another certificate which he has hung proudly in his living room is a gold framed certificate which was presented May 24, 1978 — Old Settlers Day. It states:

"Floyd County Pioneer Association salutes you, W.H. 'Warnie' Hilton, a pioneer of Floyd County, for your loyalty and years of service. For your dedication to and love of your community and for the many years of residence, we do honor you this day."

This is symbolic of the affection Floydada residents feel for Warnie Hilton. And that path of love travels both ways!

SHOWING off his pair of magnetic steel spurs made in 1905 is Warnie Hilton.

Warm Soil Can Misdlead Cotton Planters

Soil temperatures on the South Plains already have warmed up enough that farmers are anxious to begin planting cotton. Although soil temperatures are an excellent guide for establishing the earliest feasible time for planting, they could be misleading, specialists at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center here cautioned.

"Soil temperature by itself may be misleading," warned Dr. James Supak, area cotton agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In many areas of the South Plains, the soil has reached a 10-day average temperature of 60 degrees at a depth of eight inches. The soil usually doesn't reach that warmth until early May, Supak noted.

In addition to the soil temperature, we need to look at the calendar, and especially at the long range weather forecast," Supak said. Several days of cool, rainy weather are normal in this area during late April and early May, he noted.

In fact, the 30-day weather outlook valid through mid-May predicts just the type of weather about which Supak is concerned, said Kenneth Wigner, agricultural meteorologist with the National Weather Service, stationed at the TAMU center.

Through mid-May, the forecast says, but above normal rainfall is likely over the rest of the area. Near to slightly below normal rainfall is expected for southern counties of the South Plains.

"Often, there is a dip in the soil temperatures in the South Plains in the first week of May," Wigner said. This occurs following rains which are common at that time," he explained.

The last 15 days of April often are much warmer than the first 15 days of May, agreed Elmer Hudspeth, director of the USDA cotton research laboratory at the center. The 60-degree average minimum soil temperature tells when not to plant as much as it tells when to plant, he added. Research has shown that until the 10-day average soil temperature surpasses 60 degrees, the percentage of emergence of planted seed is only about 30 percent, he said.

Supak said the present soil temperatures might induce farmers to plant now, but do not insure an earlier crop than if cotton is planted about May 1.

He cited a three-year study conducted on the South Plains by Dr. J.D. Bilbro Jr., research cotton agronomist with USDA — Science and Education Administration, Lubbock. It showed that cotton crops planted on April 10, April 20 and May 1 all reached the first bloom stage around July 5. (See Table .)

Earlier planting increases the possibility of stand reduction due to early hail and sand. Supak warned that looking at two months ahead and not gaining insight about the same," the agronomist said. Since there is no opportunity in earlier fruit set and anticipated rain and soil conditions, next two weeks can lead to problems with seedling establishment, he said. Farmers might be wise to wait until May, he said.

ACCIDENT CONTROL
While only 5 percent of workers are engaged in production, this group suffers the most accidents, those involving the most common.

'More Practical' Transportation Guidelines Urged By Cotton Head

The president of the National Cotton Council has called for "more practical" transportation regulations, but cautioned against any deregulation that might adversely affect the economic and efficient movement of farm commodities and other essential products to market.

Hoke Leggett, Hobgood, N.C., producer, made the remarks in an address at the annual meeting of the Cotton Warehouse Association.

He especially warned against changes that would allow railroads to (1) raise freight rates "whenever or how ever much they like," (2) abandon spur lines regardless of the consequences to rural communities, or (3) indulge in predatory pricing that would eliminate healthy competition from trucking lines.

The Council president said he was concerned about deregulation that might have a harmful effect on shipments of baled cotton and cottonseed products as well as those of fertilizer, fuel, chemicals, and other supplies vital to cotton production.

Noting that boxcar shortages are continuing to delay raw cotton shipments, Leggett pointed out that some rail lines in the Cotton Belt are now showing renewed interest in upgrading their lines and ordering new freight cars. As an example, he cited Illinois Central's recent announcement that its 1979 capital spending program will be the largest in the company's history. Plans call for adding about 2,000 new freight cars, rebuilding another 800, and improving locomotives and tracks.

"These are encouraging developments," he said, "and should prove beneficial in moving cotton to market."

Reviewing other issues, Leggett noted that cotton dust continues to head the list of industry concerns. He said an appeals court decision on the Labor Department's strict new cotton dust standard could come as early as June or some months later.

"But no matter what the court decides — whether it's in our favor or in OSHA's — the cotton dust problem will remain our most critical issue until we can eliminate or deactivate the unknown factor in cotton dust that can potentially cause byssinosis," he emphasized.

In this regard, Leggett said the Council has urged Congress to restore agricultural research cuts proposed in the Administration's fiscal 1980 budget.

"Unless Congress restores the funding to its present level, over half a million dollars would be taken away from USDA's Southern regional lab in New Orleans where important work is being done on the cotton dust problem," he added.

The Interior Department's proposed regulations to enforce acreage and residency requirements of the 1902 Reclamation Act were cited by the Council president as another issue with widespread implications for cotton. Noting that the proposed rules would set a 160-acre limit on the amount of land a farmer could own or lease, Leggett said this would mean that the federal government for the first time would be putting a limit said this would mean that the federal government for the first time would be putting a limit on the size of a farm.

He pointed out that under a recent court ruling these same acreage limitations also would apply to farmers using water from Corps of Engineers projects.

"There are dozens of such projects across the Cotton Belt, many of which serve our producers," Leggett noted. He said the Council and a number of other groups are supporting repeal of the act's acreage and residency limits as "outdated and inequitable" in today's agricultural economy. "We think it's short-sighted to put any kind of acreage limitation on farm size," the Council president said. "With the rapid changes in farming, any figure put on acreage might be just as obsolete a few years from now as 160 acres is today."

Springtime Storms Increase Lightning Deaths

Four out of five human deaths or injuries from lightning occur in rural areas, the Texas Department of Agriculture warns, and, as spring approaches, the likelihood of the violent electrical charges increases.

Isolated buildings and equipment in rural areas are interconnected by a network of water pipes, electric wires and metal fencing to make them irresistible conductors in lightning's search for a path to the ground.

Barns are particularly vulnerable as they are often the tallest structures around and regularly contain highly combustible material. Burning country homes and buildings are also at the mercy of limited rural fire-fighting equipment.

A farmer perched high in the cab of a tractor or rancher straddling a metal corral fence join the ranks of highly susceptible targets.

Like humans, animals are not nearly as often hit directly by lightning as they are electrocuted by ground currents radiating from a tree or other object. An estimated 80 percent of all accidental livestock losses have been attributed to lightning.

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown pointed out.

Cases of electrocution as the result of current passing from land to animal have also been documented, including one Utah incident in which more than 500 sheep were killed instantly when the pasture in which they were grazing was struck.

The ability of electrical current to travel from object to object explains the fact that most people and animals struck by lightning bear no visible scars.

Some good seems to come along with most of nature's evil and this is also the case with lightning, as it causes some of the nitrogen in the air to combine with part of the oxygen, forming nitric oxide gas. The gas, eventually dissolved in precipitation, comes back to the earth as soil-enriching nitrate at an average rate of hundreds of millions yearly.

While lightning presents a danger, both in rural and urban environments, the wise protection himself and his property is the best preventive medicine.

Lightning has struck, causing damage immediately.

In case of a storm, get inside and away from metal objects. Electrical equipment and a car is a good place to be. Your chances are still a little of being hit by lightning. Statistics doesn't offer enough to remember the wise words of an expert:

"If you heard the lightning didn't strike you."
"If you saw the lightning, you."
"And if it did strike you, you."

Around the County County Agent's Column

By Stephen R. Herber

There is something about a beautiful lawn; it is almost as if the best part of spring spent the summer at your home. A bit poetic, but a lush, green lawn is still the result of knowing and keeping tabs on what you have done.

More frequently, we are finding that some homeowners have lost track of what is occurring on their lawns. As a result, these homeowners are beginning to learn new words such as chlorosis (yellowing and poor growth), iron deficiency and micronutrients.

These conditions and the need for micronutrients can be brought about by excessive phosphorus levels in the soil. The very high to excessive soil phosphorus levels in the soil can be caused by naturally high phosphorus levels in the soil or from continuous over utilization of fertilizers containing phosphorus.

A survey of the soil samples tested in 1978-79 indicated that 21 percent of West Texas homeowners with lawn problems had very high to excessive phosphorus levels, reported Dr. Dale Pennington, Extension area soil chemist who supervises the Texas A&M University soil testing laboratory at Lubbock.

To address how and why this situation occurred, one can only guess. The first guess is that the homeowner did not realize how to properly apply the correct amount of fertilizer. The second guess is that the homeowner, over the years, failed to keep tabs of how much phosphorus had been applied each year. "Losing track" of applied phosphorus may have resulted in the phosphorus build-up.

A soil analysis prevents this phosphorus build-up from occurring and it also determines how much phosphorus should be applied. If you feel you need a soil test; here are some tips that will help you obtain better results from your soil analysis.

Prior to taking small samples, scrape the litter from the surface; then, use a spade, soil auger or soil-sampling tube. To use a sharp shooter, dig a V-shaped hole and take a half-inch slice of soil from the smooth side of the hole. Repeat in 10 or 15 different places.

Place subsamples in a clean container (plastic bucket, paper sack, etc.), mix thoroughly, and take out approximately one pint for the composite sample.

To aid in the interpretation of the soil test and in making recommendations, fill in Form D-495, Soil Sample Information Sheet for Lawn, Garden and Flower Beds, as completely as possible and submit with your samples.

Each soil sample should be marked with your name and sample number, which should correspond with the information furnished on the information sheet. Mark the analysis desired and include the proper fee. The information sheets and soil sample boxes are at my office.

Five hundred or more High Plains cotton producers, allied businessmen and industry leaders from other areas of the U.S. Cotton Belt are expected in Lubbock May 2 for the Twenty-Second Annual Meeting of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

The meeting will begin at 2:30 p.m. in the Aztec Room of the South Park Inn, near Loop 289 and Indiana Avenue, Lubbock.

In addition to standard reports to the membership from PCG officials, two authoritative speakers have been secured to speak on worldwide marketing of the area's two million bale annual average production of raw cotton fiber.

A 20-minute film on the research, market development and production work of Cotton Incorporated, the producer's fiber research and marketing company, will also be shown.

The two principal speakers are John Garner, a principal owner and editor of Cotton Outlook magazine, and Dale Hull, Executive Director of Cotton Cotton International.

Cotton Outlook is a highly respected international publication from which readers get weekly reports on U.S. and world cotton production, consumption, supplies, exports, imports, government policies and attendant economic factors that together determine U.S. cotton market demand and prices.

CCI under Hull's direction organizes and supervises trade teams, mill technical services and other cotton promotional programs in countries around the world, including cooperative advertising programs with some 40 textile mills, garment manufacturers and retailers.

"With their extensive knowledge of the international cotton trade and almost daily contact with its principals," states PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, "Hull and Garner are well qualified to brief us on opportunities in our cotton in world markets and to advise on how we can best take advantage of those opportunities."

Both Johnson and President Lloyd Cline of Lamesa will report to the membership on PCG activities, financing and plans for the future.

The membership will be called on to confirm newly elected and re-elected directors, two from each of the organization's 25 High Plains counties.
