The Wesley Circle met Monday evening in Fellowship Hall at The First United Methodist Church for a salad supper. Mrs. Blanche Scott Rutherford, of Plainview, gave a book review on "One Corner of Heaven", of which she is the author.

She also read a poem about Texas, which included, "When God made this part of Texas, when He got to the place where He ordinarily made the rivers, mountains, lakes and trees, then He stopped and thought, "I'll just leave it like this, and maybe some people will love it this way", and He did.

MRS. MICHAEL DON SIMON

Miss Hale, Simon Vows Pledged

The First Baptist Church in Floydada was the scene on Saturday, May 26 at 8 p.m. for the wedding of Mary Katherine Hale and Michael Don Simon. Dr. Floyd C. Bradley, pastor, officiated at the ceremony.

Mrs. Bill Hardin, organist, and Mrs. Mack Hickerson, pianist, provided wedding music and accompanied Bravada Garrett, soloist, as she sang, "Starting Here, Starting Now," "You and I," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The church was centered with an eight-foot candelabra holding pillar candles and flanked on either side by arched candelabras covered with fresh magnolia boughs. On either side were large white porcelain urns of mixed white spring flowers. The arched candelabra were repeated to decorate the altar nave. The bridal aisle was decorated with hurricane light candles, fresh magnolia greenery and gypsophelia.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a candlelight gown of antique satin and re-embroidered alencon lace. The moulded bodice featured a wedding band neckline with a high alencon lace collar, which featured a cameo type lace motif. The bodice was completely embellished in the lace. Long full antique satin Renaissance sleeves were gathered to wide cuffs. Each cuff featured an alencon lace insert, which fell over the hands.

The empire waistline drifted to a gathered natural waisted back and swept to a chapel-length train. The hemline and train were defined in a scalloped cameo alencon lace pattern.

To complement her gown, the bride wore a matching veil. The headpiece was designed in a turban-like fashion and featured an alencon lace border with antique satin pleats. The illusion was gathered in a calligly at the nape of the neck and fell to a chapel length.

She carried a cascading bouquet of stephanotis, freesia, gardenias, sweetheart roses and gypsophelia. "Something old" was a linen handkerchief made by her paternal grandmother and belonging to her aunt Mrs. Sammy Hale. "something new" was her wedding attire. She wore her mother's wedding band for "something borrowed" and "something blue" was the traditional wedding garter.

The groom was attired in a candlelight tuxedo with satin lapels, matching the bride's gown.

Johnnie Bachus, Stephenville, served as maid of honor, and Leslie Hall Noyes, Dumas, served as matron of honor. Dana Woody, Floydada; Donna Grove, Houston; and Karen Alldredge Klein, Lubbock, served as bridesmaids. The attendants wore identical gowns of candlelight chifon knit. The bodices featured square necklines, which were edged in ivory cluny lace. A wide chifon knit ruffle outlined the neckline and was again edged in cluny lace. Long sheer sleeves were gathered to wide cuffs and a row of cluny lace defined the empire waistlines. Floor length A-line skirts fell from the waistlines and were enhanced by a wide chifon knit flounce. They carried garden bouquets of mixed spring flowers and each wore a sprig of baby's breath in her hair.

Serving as best man was the brother of the groom, Jim Simon, of Aurora, Colorado. Groomsmen included Tim Watson, Mark Ross and Ted Hilburn of Dallas and Steve Barth, San Angelo. Ushers were Jim Hull, Kent Hale, brother of the bride, all of Lubbock, and Rob Brandes, Midland.

The bride's mother wore a long dress of pink chifon with a beaded bodice and the groom's mother wore a long dress of tan knit, each with shoulder corsages of pink roses. A corsage also complemented the dress of the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Sam Jackson of Fort Worth.

A reception given by the bride's parents was held in the First Baptist Church fellowship hall. As guests entered the reception, their names were secured in the bride's book by Cindy Laura, Lubbock. The decoration theme for the bride's reception followed the motif of a European garden. A three-tiered ivory wedding cake decorated with fresh spring flowers was centered on the bride's table draped in a floor-length cloth of off-white silk illusion, re-embroidered lace and seed pearls. On either side of the bride's table were two serpentine serving tables of full length off-white chifon over apricot. Centering the tables were Flemish arrangements of mixed spring flowers. The back-drop for the serving tables were white lattice and wild smilax. Cake, coffee and punch were served from silver appointments by Mrs. Maurice Davis, Susssex, England, and Mrs. Dave Warren, San Angelo, sisters of the groom and Mrs. Jim Simon, Aurora, Colorado.

Also serving were Ellen Ross and Patty Prather, both of Dallas, Cindy Simpson, Lubbock, Ann Tally, Kerrville, and Mrs. Joel Tankersley, Ralls.

The bride and groom greeted their guests in front of a ten-foot colonnade flanked on either side with white lattice and smilax greenery.

Assisting in the house party were Mr. Al Galloway, Mrs. Kinder Farris, Mrs. Lon Davis, Mrs. Travis Jones, Mrs. M. J. McNeill, Mrs. J. P. Moss, Mrs. F. C. Bradley, Mrs. R. G. Dunlap, Mrs. Vernie Moore, Mrs. W. L. Davis, Mrs. Arthur Wylie, and Mrs. Sammy Hale, all of Floydada; Mrs. Kenneth Roberson, Petersburg; Mrs. John Hale, Abernathy; and Mrs. Helen Henderson, Granbury. Rose petals were distributed by Krista Tankersley, Ralls, and Michelle Warren, San Angelo, niece of the groom.

The bride, a 1975 graduate of Floydada High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Hale of Floydada. She graduated this spring with honors from Texas Tech University with a degree in accounting. While at Tech she was a member of the Beta Gamma Sigma, school of business honorary, Beta Alpha Psi, the accounting honorary, Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary, a recipient of the Business Administration Council Scholarship, Alpha Phi social sorority and was Mortar Board treasurer. She will be employed by Ernst & Ernst, CPA's of Dallas.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Simon of Midland, is a 1974 graduate of Midland Lee High School. He attended Texas Tech University with an international trade major and a Spanish minor. He also attended Anahuac University in Mexico City. He will finish his studies as a senior at the University of Texas at Arlington. After a wedding trip to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, the couple will reside in Irving.

NEWS 'N' NOTES

(by Sharon Hillis)

During the past four news-releases, I have devoted my column to the microwave appliance. It's been fun researching and sharing information and recipes you may not have known or yet tried! And now, I hope we have enticed you enough to join us on Thursday, May 31 from 8 to 10 p.m. at Lighthouse Electric Meeting Room in Floydada to share an exciting and fun-filled evening of learning designed with you, the homemaker and owner of a micro-wave appliance, in mind. Many additional recipes will be available for you to take home and, of course, sampling of all the dishes will be the highlight of the evening. Don't miss this one time opportunity. Make your plans to join us—NOW!

In evaluating a microwave appliance, the operating features and warranty protection are two very important areas of consideration. OPERATING FEATURES

Features include defrost cycle, browning devices, variable power settings, temperature probes and sophisticated timer controls, including digital clocks, computerized touch controls and traditional dials.

Automatic defroster — Even thawing is achieved by automatically turning the power on and off to alternate cooking and standing time. To avoid cooking the outside of foods and leaving the inside icy, models without this feature can still be used for defrosting by setting the timer for 30 seconds then allowing the food to stand for 30 seconds. Repeat this process until the food is thawed.

Browning devices — Browning units are either calrod or infrared.

Portable microwave ovens are designed so that browning devices operate simultaneously with the microwave cooking operation. The browning unit draws 1000 to 1400 watts. The timer may be set so that the browning unit will automatically operate for a specified time at the end of the microwave cooking time or it may operate separately.

Browning grills are special utensils designed to absorb microwave energy which cause the utensil to become very hot. After the empty utensil has been preheated for 2 to 5 minutes (longer preheat times may cause the grill surface to reach temperatures of 550 degrees to 750 degrees F or 287.8 degrees to 398.9 degrees C), food placed on and in full contact with the surface becomes browned. The cooking process in completed using standard microwave cooking techniques.

Power settings — Some models have only a full power setting. Others have full power and one or more lower power settings. Lower settings are more useful in thawing foods and in cooking protein foods. Lower power settings may be achieved by lowering wattage output. Some manufacturers achieve lower power settings by cycling full power on and off. The time base used in any complete off/on cycle is from 1 to 60 seconds. At a defrost setting, all ovens are on 1/2 of the base time cycle. At the lowest settings, the oven may be on as little as 1/10 of the base time cycle. Changing power setting is usually done manually at the end of each time period. A programmed system which sequences power and time settings is available.

Temperature probe — A temperature sensing probe inactivates the timer, and power remains on until the temperature probe senses the pre-selected temperature. At that point the power is automatically turned off. When the item being cooked becomes cooler than the selected temperature, the power is turned on again.

Timer — This control automatically turns off the power after operating for a set time. Timers operate within the range of 5 seconds to 60 minutes. Timers should be designed with the seconds clearly marked in the first 2 to 3 minutes. Compare the timer feature to determine which one is easiest for you to read and operate.

Warranty Protection Full warranties are usually for 1 to 2 years and include both parts and labor. Limited warranties may extend for 5 or more years and cover specified parts such as the magnetron tube. This part of the appliance is the most expensive to repair or replace.

Greedy Farmers? Consider This!

BY ARNOLD SCHWERTNER
 * Two-thirds of all homes lacking complete plumbing are in rural areas
 * Rural infant mortality rates are 10 percent higher than urban ones
 * 70% of the rural poor and half of the rural elderly have no automobile.
 * While only a quarter of all Americans live in rural areas, 40% of the nations poor live there.

Source: President Carter's economic report, printed in the January 25, 1979 Congressional Record, page S640.

The actual average net income of farmers placed them in the poverty level for the last 4 years, despite the glowing report of a 40% increase in farm income. Farm net income should include compensation to the farmer for his labor and for the unpaid labor of his family, as well as a return on his assets. During the last three years, the Agriculture Department has at most doubled farm income figures by padding them with imputed values, such as counting the garden produce consumed on the farm, counting the rental value of the farm house as "income" and counting unsold or unfed inventory as "income." IRS does not consider those items valid "income" and neither should the USDA, nor should they be allowed to use such statistics to cover such pitiful net farm income.

As Americans awaken to the seriousness of the debt and burden we, our children and future generations must carry, the raw material producers may some day again receive 100% full honest parity for the products produced each year.

Only then will the story of how America has exchanged parity agriculture for parity war, debt and credit be understood.

It is time for Americans to stand on their feet like men, to earn their living honestly with respect for the producers of raw materials. The interest game of the credit lending institutions must be stopped even if it means for one man to work what he can justifiably do himself.

Sincerely,
 s/s Arnold Schwertner

CARTER ANALYSIS

The best analysis of President Jimmy Carter we have read came out this week by James Fallows, formerly the President's chief speech writer, who says Carter took office "in profound ignorance" of the job and has made matters worse "by a combination of arrogance, complacency and insecurity." Fallows describes the president as "a good man" of many flaws, "determined to prove that he and his associates had not stepped straight out of Dogpatch." Above all, Fallows argues, Carter is a problem-solver who lacks presidential vision and the knack of inspiring people, a man who tells his speech writers to use words that a Georgia gas-pump attendant can understand.

Now that may not be all bad, to make speeches in terms that everyone can understand, but any President has to realize that the average American might be smarter than he thinks and that it might not be necessary to talk down to the people in every speech. Fallows says that Carter believes 50 things but no one thing. He holds explicit, thorough positions on every issue under the sun, but he has no large view of the relations between them, no line indicating which goals (reducing employment, human rights) will take precedence over which (inflation control, a SALT treaty) and he fails to project a vision larger than the problem he is tackling at the moment.

In short, the former presidential speech writer holds a view which we have long held and that is the pure and simple fact that Jimmy Carter, a fine and decent man, is nevertheless overmatched in the job of President of the United States. He has learned on his Georgia friends who are also overmatched in the jobs they hold. As the nation's leader, he has been a nice guy who just may not be tough enough to deal with the international bullies that this nation must face.

Congressional Comment

In "Wealth of Nations," Adam Smith argued that profits are the legitimate return for risk and effort and that the "Invisible Hand" of market forces would convert private greed into public benefits.

The economic theories of Adam Smith are as applicable to the marketplace of today as they were 200 years ago. The free enterprise system works because it allows a person to reap the benefits of his labor.

Profits are the invisible hand that motivates individuals to make a product or perform a service that will benefit the community as a whole. The better an entrepreneur is able to perform this service, the bigger the reward (profits) he receives.

Profits are called by many names these days—obscene, exorbitant, and excessive. Granted, profits can be improper if they are exploitative or the result of price-fixing schemes or monopolies.

But we must remember that in a capitalist economy the promise of monetary reward is a prime motivator. Without hope of a reasonable rate of return, no one would start a business, introduce a new product or service, or even continue producing an old one. And without the reality of profits, no business in the long run can keep itself alive—except by government subsidies.

Also, we must remember that even if profits are excessive in the short run, the market will adjust and force prices downward. Pocket calculators are a good example.

Today a good calculator can be bought for as little as $10 from a variety of companies. Just a few years ago, only a limited number of firms made calculators at a price many times that of the present rate. The same will happen in our energy industry if only permitted. The profit incentive will attract few firms into the market and production of additional hydrocarbons and alternative sources of fuel will become more feasible. In the long run excess profits will disappear as competition increases and the public will benefit.

The basic principles of free market economies are understood by people everywhere whether they admit it or not. In contrast, governments seldom recognize the advantages of individual initiative.

The Russian people understand free market economics. The state takes 90% of the production of collective farms in the Soviet Union, but lets workers keep what they earn by farming their backyards. Soviet state agriculture is perpetually in poor condition and a third of farm output is backyard production. The Soviet leaders have tried everything but increasing the size of backyards.

The hostility towards profits largely rests on the myth that dividends flow mainly to the pockets of wealthy individuals. In terms of dollar value, nearly half of the Rev. and Mrs. Russell McAnally of Merkel spent Monday night with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Jackson and sons. They were enroute to Amarillo to attend the Northwest Texas annual conference.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Terrell and Jeff were their daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Mike King of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Glenn of Edmondson, and from Lockney, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Watson, Amanda and Jeffrey.

Kay King is spending this week with her parents and will be present Thursday night for the high school graduation of her brother Jeff.

Dr. and Mrs. Otto Schacht of Lubbock and their sons Jackie Don and Byron visited this past weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Durward Jack and Mrs. Eleanor Schacht, and other Lockney relatives. They were on their way home from Purdue University in Indiana where Otto had participated in a seminar.

Agnes Hanna of Mena, Arkansas, and her friend Loree Tidwell of Dallas recently visited in the home of Mrs. Hanna's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Cooper. They also were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hardy and Robin.

Chuck and Joyce Wilson of Wilson Photography had a booth in the Texas Arts and Crafts Festival Saturday through Monday. They were accompanied to Kerrville by their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Aaron of Lubbock.

Members of the Lockney Junior High School band went to Amarillo Saturday for an outing at Wonderland Park. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lusk, Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Record and Mrs. Cliff Hardy.

C.L. and Lucy Dean Record were in Dumas Sunday to attend the Record family reunion.

 Confessions Saturday 6:30 p.m.

A man alone in a field . . . making the field ready for spring planting . . . perhaps is closer to God than he realizes.

The field didn't "just happen." The earth didn't "just happen." Those fruit trees, laden with blossoms, didn't choose to bloom just because they wanted to look pretty.

Stop and think about it. In the natural order of life, little is left to chance. There is a precision about the very rotation of the earth itself. There is a miracle embedded in each blade of grass.

All about us is the unmistakable evidence of Creation, by a Master Hand. The man in the field is, in some ways, closer to this creation than many of us, yet he too may very well be unaware of it. We can all capture or recapture this awareness by going to church regularly.

Elaine Hardy's Pupils In National Auditions

Twenty-seven piano pupils from the class of Elaine Hardy of Lockney have registered as candidates for memberships in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians, sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers, Teacher Division of The American College of Musicians, of which their teacher is a member.

This group of young piano hobbyists played May 18-19 in the National Piano Playing Auditions at Trinity Baptist Church in Lubbock.

State and national honors were conferred according to the number of standard classic, romantic and modern pieces chosen from the Masters of piano-forte literature each student creditably performed in the presence of an imported examiner of note from another state.

He was Dr. Lynn Dean of Hobbs Junior College, Hobbs, N.M.

From coast to coast over 90,000 enthusiastic piano pupils of the nation participated in this annual national piano-playing event being held in 700 music centers of the country. Every entrant "worth his salt" was certificated, given a gold or bronze embossed pin, a year's membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians and Piano Hobbyists of the World.

Begun at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, Tex., in 1929, national headquarters are still maintained in Texas, where rules and regulations are available upon request free of charge by addressing Piano Guild, Box 1807, Austin, Texas 78767.

State awards (seven pieces memorized) with silver pins were attained by Amy Ansley and Tana Perry of Lockney.

National honors with 10 pieces being played by memory were Karen Ford, Stephen Turner, Shandra Bybee, Tricia Steele, Mary Huffman, and Barbara Moore of Lockney.

Floydada students participating were Jamie Thayer, Virginia and Sandra Mitchell, Andrea Bonner, Shannon Edwards, Troy Neeley, Lori Lyles, Cristi Norrell, Cathy Langley, Becky Reeves, Alissa Hambricht, Shaunda Sanders, Mike and Tommy Leatherman, Amy Burns, Cristi McNeill and Terri Lloyd.

Angie Taylor of Petersburg and Stacey Chandler of Plainview also won national honors.

Abby Hendricks and Treva Hambricht of Floydada entered the Social Music Certificate and received gold pins for their efforts.

Twenty-seven of the students entered received ratings in the Superior Class and four received Excellent Plus ratings. In the top of the Superior Class, highest honors went to Becky Reeves, Andrea Bonner, Christi Norrell, Shaunda Sanders, Jamie Thayer of Floydada and Mary Huffman of Lockney.

RECITAL

Thirty-one of Elaine Hardy's piano students from Floydada, Lockney, Plainview and Petersburg presented a recital Tuesday night in First Baptist Church of Floydada.

Mrs. Hardy presented the following awards: Cathy Langley, Misti Orman, Cristi McNeill and Abby Hendricks, most improved students; Amy Burns, Theory award; Troy Neeley (high school), Shaunda Sanders, Christi Norrell (junior high), Andrea Bonner, Becky Reeves and Jamie Thayer (grade school), tied for first place in points. The students who tied will have for two months out of the year a traveling trophy — a bust of Chopin.

All of the award winners were from Floydada. Mrs. Hardy also presented audition pins to her students.

LIBRARY BOOK SALE Mrs. Louis Lloyd, president of the Friends of the Library, reports that the Friends made $464.00 from the sale of books on Old Settler's Day Saturday. At 25 cents each that means 1,160 books were sold. The books were donated by Floyd County residents from their own book shelves and storage rooms to the book sale.

Money from the sale will go into the special county fund for a new library building, Mrs. Lloyd said.

At least two book collectors added books to their collections as a result of Saturday's sale. Others enjoyed looking and many were reported to say they would buy a bunch of books, read them and enter them in the sale again next year in the annual event.

Esther Freeman was the lucky winner of the sunflower quilt given away on Old Settlers Day. Manager of Bealls, Randy Hardin, drew the winning number. The drawing was sponsored by the Floydada Rebekah Lodge. All help given on this project and all those who bought tickets are greatly appreciated.

Bill Haehnel

Science Demonstrator

To Be At Rotary

Bill Haehnel is proving that a good show keeps people coming back for more.

Haehnel, Southwestern Bell's science demonstrator for three years, is scheduled to show recent Bell System innovations in his new science presentation before the Lockney Rotary on Friday, June 1, noon, at Rebe-kah Lodge in Lockney, and before the Floydada Rotary Club on Wednesday, June 6, noon, at Massey Activity Center in Floydada.

The new show is titled "Through the Looking Glass—Lightly." Haehnel expects to carry it 35,000 miles and present it to more than 300 groups in Texas.

"More than 2,500 changes have been made in the basic telephone over the past 25 years," Haehnel said. "In fact, virtually every component has been changed in the past six years to increase efficiency and fidelity as soundwaves are converted to electrical waves and recon-verted into the sound of a voice."

The Bell System handles 500 million calls a day, Haehnel said. "Ten years from now, we'll double that to a billion calls a day. That's why new technologies are being developed to handle those calls without investing huge additional sums of money in new equipment."

Using a century-old device invented by Alexander Graham Bell, Haehnel demonstrates in his show the practicality of converting soundwaves into electrical waves and transmitting them over lightwaves.

The device is called a "photophone," and it was one of Bell's most exciting inventions—but one that never saw the light of day.

"Mr. Bell based his photophone on sunlight—using a nonmetallic element called selenium—and he actually transmitted soundwaves through the refracted light across a room. That was in 1880, and he never really had the time or encouragement to perfect his photophone," Haehnel noted.

He said both the selenium device and modern-day solar cells developed by Bell Labs are solid-state, light-sensitive components that have almost infinite telecommuni-cations capabilities.

Bell's early efforts are being developed by the Bell System in more sophisticated ways. Haehnel said light-waves from lasers are being transmitted through flexible glass fibers, carrying tele- phone, data and video trans-missions.

"The success of a light-wave communications trial in Chicago is perhaps one of the major breakthroughs toward the way we'll be communicat-ing in the near future," he said.

But right now, a variety of telephones and services are available or on the horizon, Haehnel said. One new in-strument, he said, is the Touch-a-Matic automatic dialing telephone.

Available with 16 or 32 buttons, Haehnel said, it allows a customer to dial at the touch of one button 10 or 31 frequently called local or long distance numbers. The last button will automatically dial the last number that was manually dialed by the cus-tomer.

"Innovations that have re-sulted from Bell System teamwork are stepping stones to the next plateau of equipment and services that today are but a gleam in the eyes of scientists and engi-neers," Haehnel said.
