They're drilling for oil in Floyd County

One of the infrequent attempts to drill for oil and natural gas deposits in Floyd County got underway as November 6 dawned with a clear sky and a cool breeze. The rig, designed by the late Dr. J. H. Hatcher, is located on the northeast Floyd County line to look for indications that petroleum products might be in the vicinity.

But workers on the rig are quick to point out that the well is completely exploratory. "We're taking a gamble," commented Jeff Hathorn, the drilling logger for the rig. "There's no telling what we'll find since we don't even know what the subsurface structure looks like yet."

Hathorn's Company, Analytical Logging, Inc. of Shreveport, La. is responsible for taking readings on every level that the drill penetrates and to make recordings of those readings.

"Geologically, this is pioneering work," Hathorn said. A few wells have been drilled in Floyd County but not enough to get a clear picture of the underground strata.

"The nearest producing well is about 50 miles away," Hathorn said. "The rock strata has been mapped for that area but the formations may not even appear here."

Plans for the well call for drilling down to a depth of 10,600 feet. By Monday afternoon the crew was a third of the way there, with the bit still churning 3,500 feet below the surface.

The official drilling estimates said that the rig would be in place approximately 45 days but that estimate could stretch out to two months.

"If we do hit gas we'll have to slow down to run tests," Hathorn said. "So far we haven't come across anything."

Hathorn's van is filled with sensitive equipment that can detect the presence of oil or gas in minute quantities from the ground rock that the rig pulls from the hole.

"I can tell if there is one part of natural gas per million parts of drilled area with the hot wire," Hathorn said. Some of these instruments are so sensitive that they can pick up the oil off your fingertips."

Hathorn and his brother, Kevin, remain on the site 24 hours a day to monitor the progress of the well and to take readings and samples.

"Anything can happen and we have to keep an eye on it," Hathorn said.

On the rig itself, five-man crews work eight-hour shifts around the clock to keep the bits turning. Their job consists of periodically putting new 30-foot sections of drill bit extensions under the 150-foot derrick for insertion into the well, while at the same time keeping the machinery greased and working.

Hathorn explained that, in the event the well struck product, it would be easier to bring out the oil rather than the gas. Oil, he said, could be hauled out by truck almost immediately but natural gas would require a pipeline and a special pump to get it to the distribution points. And there's no gas pipeline anywhere close.

But while there are no promising results of the drilling yet, Hathorn noted that all the signs could be perfect and the well still might not produce enough oil or gas to pay for the steel casings.

The well is being drilled by the Vernon Drilling Company for Harken Oil and Gas.

WHAT THE... Young Johnny Gonzales Jr., one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Gonzales of Lockney, wasn't too happy about being plunked down in the lap of a fat man with a white beard and funny red suit Saturday afternoon. Johnny Jr. soon learned that Santa Claus wasn't going to hurt him, however.

BRING SOME DUST — The dust flew after seven miles south of Lockney when friends of N.S. Abbott harvested his cotton crop. Eight strippers were in the field at one time (five are visible here), and the 60-acre cotton-harvesting job took less than three hours.

Friends and neighbors of N.S. Abbott got together Monday afternoon and, by three o'clock, had Abbott's cotton crop harvested. The 17 Pleasant Valley-Sandhill community men stripped about 60 acres in under three hours. Eight strippers were in the field at one time.

Helping in the neighborly effort were Wayne Ashburn, Ray Aston, Ronnie Aston, Gene Bloys, Juan Gutierrez, Chon Guzman, Harmon Handley, R.C. Mitchell, Carlos Molinar, F.L. Montandon, Mark Montandon, Johnny Peralez, Alajandro Ramirez, Juan Silva, Buddy Sue, Eddie Teeter, and Roland Watson.

Abbott recently returned home after spending several weeks in an Amarillo hospital.

"Just typical of the way folks are around here," was the comment of one observer....

The Energy Crisis Assistance Program is administered by the Community Services Administration.

The Caprock Community Action Association, Inc. located at 214 South Ayshire, serves Crosby, Dickens, Floyd and Motley Counties.

Letter to the editor

To the editor:
Dear Jim:
To keep the record straight, I would like to see the new book that just came out. I was elected sheriff of Floyd County, and Leland Hart's name was left out. I was very sorry this happened. I worked with Leland as deputy in 1947 and 1948. Leland was elected in 1946 and 1948. He was the one that defeated Howard, not me.
I defeated Leland in 1952 and was in Florida and Lockney for about four months of the year when the farmers were harvesting their crops. In those days there were more people in Florida and Lockney for about four months of the year when the farmers were harvesting their crops than the population of each town. There were so many people on the streets walking down the street.
One Sunday I saw twenty-five red Mexicans go to a show in the theatre just north of where the office is now from 10 a.m. to 12 a.m. I thought if you think the three of those days didn't have work to do, you are mistaken. Some people might think there wasn't as much crime then as now. The more people you have the more crime.
I put fifteen in jail one Saturday night in the little building south of Taylor laundry by myself. Lockney didn't have a city officer then.
I just wanted the people that don't know Leland Hart. He was sheriff from 1947 through 1952. I think he deserves to be remembered.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

...And Presidential Polls
A statewide poll conducted by Monthly magazine indicates Carter much maligned in Texas, and not too badly in this state, but the voters and shakers in both parties are taking a wait-and-see attitude.
The poll showed Carter trails challenger Teddy Kennedy by one percentage point, 34.6 to 33.7, and that Cliff G. Jerry Brown musters only 6.9 percent support.
Kennedy's support came from large urban areas, except Dallas, Fort Worth, and from minority areas. Carter is backed by conservative Democrats and the liberals, and both have about an equal number of moderates at this point. Veteran observers say this for a real fight.
Among Republicans
According to the poll, former Gov. John B. Connally leads Reagan, George Bush, and all others in Texas.
Connally mustered 30.3 percent, Reagan's 27.6 percent and Bush's 11.9 percent. Not unpredictably, Connally called the poll's results "a victory" while his detractors called it "a setback" for him. Connally led in every category.
In a theoretical matchup, either Carter or Kennedy would beat Connally or Reagan, if the election were held today.
Carter was preferred over Connally by 51.7 to 48.3 percent, and Reagan 50.2 to 49.8 percent.
Kennedy beat Connally 51.3 to 48.7 percent, and took Reagan 53.2 to 46.8 percent.
Every political group one can recognize within both parties is finding a bit of credibility among politicians. No one is denying Texas will be a horseshoe on its hands. It may come to pass that Texas will be a primary battleground to decide the outcome.
AG Opinions
In a legal opinion issued last week, Attorney General Mark White said a police officer has no statutory right to appeal a disciplinary suspension for 30 days or less, but a hearing is required for a suspension resulting in charges which affect an officer's professional reputation.
White also ruled:
— If a justice of the peace issues a search warrant returnable to the complainant alleging an offense, the search through the search warrant filed with him.
— Issuance of revenue bonds by an industrial development corporation does not violate the Constitution.
— The Railroad Commission has authority and the duty to set rates for specialized motor carrier operations under the authority of a state agricultural license.

Hale Center beats LHS three times

Hale Center beat Lockney three times in basketball games here Tuesday night. The Owls opened with a 51-44 victory in the boys' junior varsity game, posted a 65-52 victory in the varsity girls' contest, and won 79-48 in the varsity boys' game.

"I thought we played really well in the first half," Sharp said. "But in the second half we weren't very consistent defensively. We thought we had to stay in the press to stay in the game, and Hale Center beat us back several times and got some easy shots."
"Hale Center has a fine basketball team. They're the defending state champions in Class A, and they do a lot of things well," Sharp noted.

JV BOYS

The Longhorns JV got off to a good start and led 18-11 at the end of the first quarter and 25-23 at halftime, but the Owls rallied after intermission and outpointed the Horns 14-7 in the third period.
Phillip Kidd scored 17 points for Lockney in spite of getting in foul trouble early and sitting out most of the third quarter. Alex Vasquez was also in double figures with 10 points.

LONGHORN VARSITY

Hale Center posted a 40-19 halftime lead and went on to defeat the Longhorns 79-48 Tuesday night in the varsity boys' game.
Jeffrey McCormick scored 16 for Lockney, and Kevin Evans added 11. Also scoring were Steve Warren, nine points; Nick Christian, six; John Cummings, four, and Arnold Alaniz.

LADY HORNS

Karen Waits of Hale Center was top scorer in the girls' game. She had 29 points, and Lockney coach Marsha Sharp said the Lady Horns did a poor job of defending against her.
Rebecca Evans led Lockney with 16 points. Julie Frizzell had 14, Penny Sterling nine, Tammy Hayes eight, and Connie Coffman five.

VARSAITY TEAMS IN TULIA TOURNAMENT

Both Lockney High School varsity basketball teams will compete in a tournament today, tomorrow and Saturday at Tulia. The Longhorns and Lady Horns will meet Brownfield in opening-round games this afternoon.
The boys' game starts at 2:30 p.m., the girls' contest at 4.

Tuesday night, the varsity boys and girls and the junior varsity boys play at Roosevelt.

The ceremony was officiated by Rev. V.L. Huggins, pastor of the church. The bride wore a white gown with a long train and a wide-brimmed hat. The groom wore a dark suit. The wedding party included bridesmaids and groomsmen.

The reception was held at the church. The bride and groom were surrounded by family and friends. The celebration was a joyous occasion for all involved.

The Floyd County Historical Museum and the "Floyd County Hesperian" were the focal points of last Thursday's meeting of the Penseroso Junior Study Club.

John Carroll, editor of the Floyd County Hesperian, related to members how a small town bi-weekly newspaper is put together from masthead to advertising. Of particular interest were the functions of various computers used toward "pasting up" the paper and the photographic processes in the final developing before the paper is printed and finds its way to our mail boxes.

Virginia Taylor of Lockney was a gracious tour guide through the Floyd County Museum. Mrs. Taylor explained the exhibits and their history. Especially enjoyable was the comb collection of Maud Hollums and the ranch house replica built by Thomas Eli Neff.

Joplin, Smalley vows pledged

MRS CURTIS SMALLEY

Marla Jo Joplin and Curtis Lane Smalley were married in the chapel of the First Baptist Church in Plainview, Saturday, December 1. The bride's father, Reverend Gene Joplin, pastor of the Happy Union Baptist Church, officiated. He was assisted by Reverend V.L. Huggins, pastor of First Baptist Church in Memphis.

The parents of the bride are Rev. and Mrs. Gene Joplin and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smalley of Petersburg.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of organza over peau de soie. The moulded bodice with empire waistline was of Chantilly lace with a cameo inset yoke, portrait neckline, and great bishop sleeves. The skirt was adorned with lace appliques and cascaded to a semi-cathedral length train which was layered with tiers of lace.

She wore a Chantilly lace Juliet headpiece encrusted with seed pearls. It secured her lace edged, double-layer veil of illusion. She carried on a white Bible a bouquet of roses, pixie carnations and button poms in pastel colors of blue, pink, apricot green, yellow and lilac.

For something old she carried in her Bible a handkerchief that had been carried in weddings by her mother, grandmother, and great-grandmother. Something new was a diamond necklace, a gift from her father. From her mother she borrowed diamond earrings, and wore the blue garter her mother had worn at her wedding. Pennies, minted in the years the bride and bridegroom were born, were put in her shoe by her uncle, Neil Barrier of Meadow.

Attendants of the bride included Jolisa Barrier of Meadow, cousin of the bride and maid of honor, and bridesmaids Gina Kemp, Plainview, and Penny Smalley of Petersburg, sister of the bridegroom.

Miss Barrier wore a dress of pleated organza over a solid blue lining. The bertha shoulder ruffles formed short sleeves. A deep ruffle was at the hemline of the long pleated print organza skirt. With it she wore a wide-brimmed hat that matched the blue underlay and she carried a long stemmed carnation and gypsophila of the same color.

Bridesmaids were dressed in identical fashion, one in apricot and one in pink and they carried carnations that matched their attire.

Flower girls were Misty Gunn of Plano, cousin of the bride, and Kathy Chandler. Train bearer was Autumn Thurman. Candelighters were Shawna Johnson of Sonora and Jon David Dunn of Odessa, cousins of the bride. Jeanean Hawkins presided at the guest register.

Kelly Smalley of Petersburg, brother of the bridegroom was a best man. Groomsmen were Jimmy Kelly Jr. and Marty Joplin, brother of the bride. Ushers were Mark Joplin of Lubbock, brother of the bride, Terry Barrier of Meadow, cousin of the bride, and Melvin Johnson of Floydada, cousin of the bridegroom. Ring bearer was Berry Trey Johnson III of Sonora, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Steve Garms played the piano accompaniment for Mrs. Weaver McClure who was the soloist.

The altar featured arched candelabra trimmed in greenery and holding blue tapers. It was flanked by spiral candelabra which also were trimmed with greenery and flowers in the bride's colors.

Assisting with the reception in the church parlor were Kathy Barrier of Midland, Shauna Cravey of Lubbock, Darla Duncan of Meadow and Martha Dunn of Andrews, all cousins of the bride. They served at the bride's table. Mrs. Jimmy Kelly Jr. of Floydada and Mrs. Donny McDonald of Ralls served at the groom's table.

The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth over blue underlay. Crystal appointments were used. The focal point was the three-tiered wedding cake over a colored water fountain. On either side were tiers connected to the cake by bridges with miniature bridal figurines dressed like the brides attendants. Cakes were decorated with rainbow colored roses and covered in bridal lace.

The groom's table was laid with an ecru linen cloth and appointed with silver.

Members of the household were Mmes. Troyet Ray, Donnie McKinney, Harlan Wallingsford, Jimmy Lewis, James Mull, Dale Walker, Fred Mulkey and Jimmy Kelly Sr.

The rehearsal supper was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at El Jardin Restaurant.

Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the couple will reside in Idalou. Smalley is Quality Assurance supervisor for the Ralston Purina Mill in Lubbock. He is a 1976 graduate of Floydada High School. The bride is a first-quarter graduate of Plainview High School.

Grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. Martha Howard and Mrs. Mattie Joplin, both of Brownfield and bridegroom's grandparents, Mr.

Kathy Burk speaks to Della Plains FHA

Miss Kathy Burk used a food processor, electric skillet and cookie gun to demonstrate electrical appliances to the Della Plains Future Homemakers of American meeting, November 15. The Lighthouse Electric home economist prepared cheese pastry sticks, toffee, and a Christmas wreath of marshmallows and corn flakes for the students.

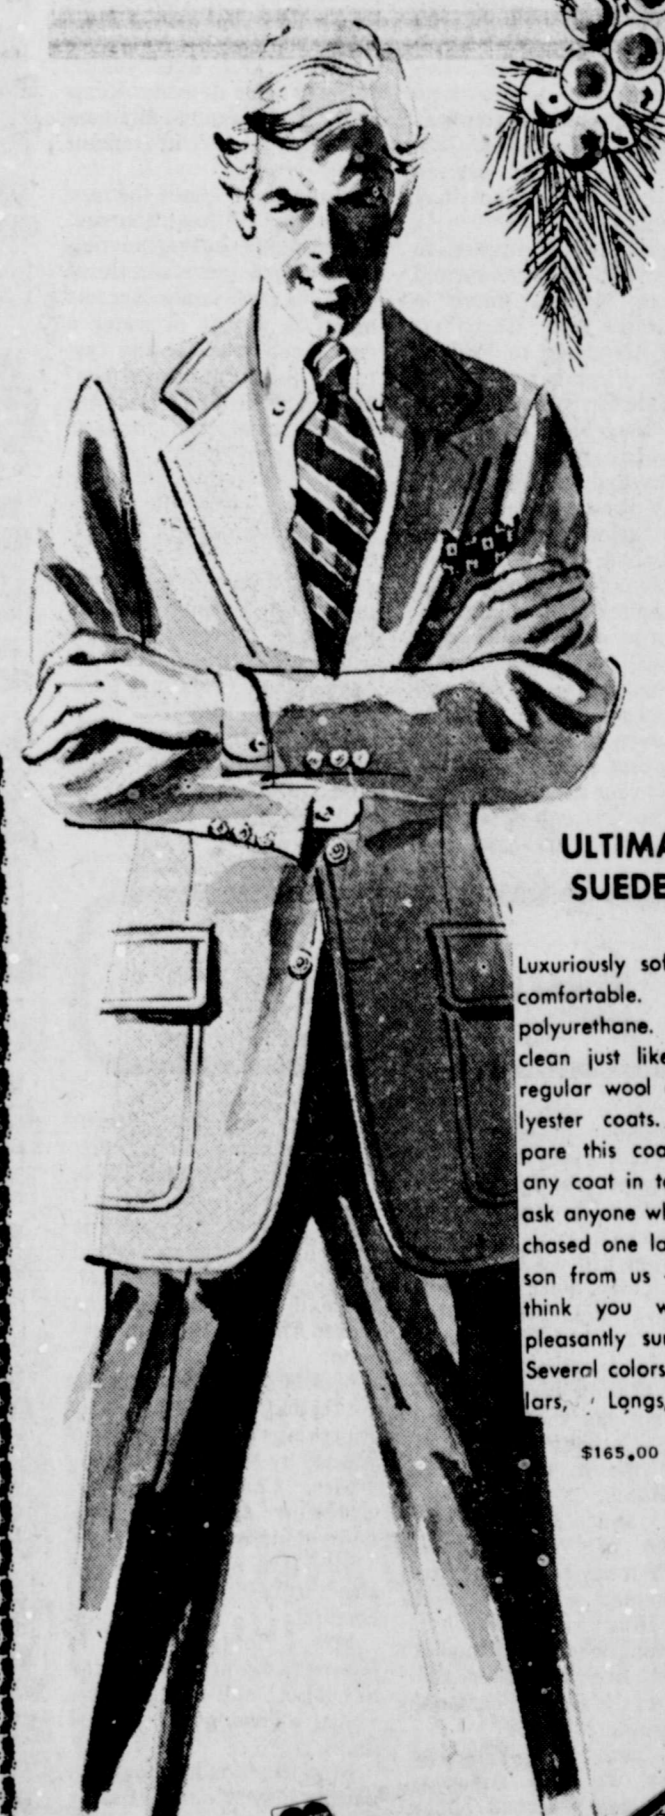

Dorothy Ledbetter, chapter president, presided at the business session. Treasurer Nellie Tamayo reported the amount of money earned by the group during their housecleaning, window washing, and pumpkin pie, cookie and cake baking services. Secretary Teresa Enriquez reported that thank-you notes had been written to Scott Simpson for donating pumpkin for the class to can, and to other people who had helped the class. Vice-president Simons Maldonado introduced the guest speaker.

BY MRS. CLYDE BAGWELL

December 3 — Time surely does pass by quickly — it will soon be Christmas, and then the beginning of a new year. The weather stayed dry but very cold most of the day and at night. Cotton is being harvested as fast as it is ready. Many fields are turning out poor yields.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Pace of Skellytown and her mother "Grannie Burgett" Irwin, who makes her home part time with her daughter, enjoyed a large crowd in their home for Thanksgiving dinner. Others present for this joyful occasion were Mr. and Mrs. George Burgett and family of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Kelley Brown and family of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Mercer and son of Midland; Miss Nancy Mercer of Texas Tech, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Davis of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Slope of Victoria; and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Walker and family of White Deer. Others coming in for an afternoon visit were Mr. and Mrs. Kenney Carter and family of Seminole, Mrs. Arlene Carter of Skellytown, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Walker, and Mr. and Mrs. Randy Walker and girls of White Deer, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pace and family of Amarillo.

In a letter we received from Neoma (Burgett) Pace last week, she states her mother, Mrs. Jennie Burgett Irwin, is doing well at this time. She divides her time between staying in the home of the daughter, Neoma Pace, and her son George Burgett. We enjoyed getting this news about our longtime friend and former neighbor. All of her friends here wish her well and send greetings to her.

Roy Walls spent Wednesday night with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Walls. We have just learned of the death of Mrs. Eva Knerim, who died at the Lockney Nursing Home. Mrs. Knerim had been making her home in Matador with her daughter, Mrs. Frank (Lola) Pohl, the past several years. She was 94 years of age. The Knerim family lived for a number of years in the Fairview Community, Floyd County. We always enjoyed Lola bringing her mother to the Center-Fairview reunions each year. Mrs. Knerim was a very talented person. We offer sympathy to Lola on the death of her mother. Mr. and Mrs. T.L. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Watts and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Smitherman and Greg, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Graham and family and Mrs. Leo Brown and daughters, Gail and Debbie, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Gilbreath Sunday for a family get-together and dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. J.K. Porter of Lubbock visited Sunday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Porter's brother, Mr. and Mrs. C.H. Wise. Mrs. Ruby Shoemaker visited Mrs. Kate Crabtree Saturday afternoon. Anne Swepston, along with others of the county, are busy working at the museum. They are handing out history books and mailing them to those out of this area. The books are really wonderful. It is obvious that a lot of hard work went into getting the books together.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Walls and sons of Plainview visited Saturday night with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Walls. Mr. and Mrs. L.L. Denton of Lubbock came by Friday and visited in the home of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. C.H. Wise. The Dentons were on their way to Paducah, where they spent the weekend in the home of his sister, Mrs. Mattie Mulkey. L.L. Denton did some work on Mrs. Mulkey's house while there, and then went bird hunting. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tye and Mrs. Bill Beedy visited Friday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A.S. Mize. Saturday, Mrs. A.S. Mize and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Mize visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tye. Mrs. Thelma Jones also visited for a short time in the Tye home.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bud Warren Sunday afternoon were their sons, Mr. and Mrs. Randell Warren and Robert Warren of Lubbock. Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. A.S. Mize, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Mize, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Pruitt and Karen and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tye were at Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beedy's for dinner. In the afternoon Mrs. Woodrow Wilson was there. That night Woodrow and Bessie Wilson were there.

Jackson kin visit in Albuquerque Twenty-four Jackson relatives from Lockney, Floydada and Lubbock went to Albuquerque, New Mexico, Friday through Sunday for a reunion with other relatives. Hosts for the reunion were Brad and Jere Huckabee and Brian, assisted by their daughter, Denise and Max Romero, and by Jere's brothers, Ted Rhodes and Susie, Danny and Peggy Rhodes and Danielle. Special guest from Albuquerque was Mrs. Clifton (Ilma "Sis" Rhoads. Out-of-town guests included Ilma's brothers, Floyd and Carolyn Jackson of Lockney, E.M. "Son" and Faye Jackson of Floydada, and their sisters, Bernice and Willis Reynolds of Lockney, and Mrs. H.G. (Bennie) Sprawls of Lubbock, and their brother-in-law, Bob Loudder of Happy. Also attending were cousins Jake and Sue Wofford and Nicki, Mrs. Dudley (Jan) Cooksey, Brandon and Colin, Tom and Kathy Sprawls and Kelley, all of Lubbock; Keith and Gayle Jackson, Dwight, Wade and Boyd, and Aaron Wilson, all of Lockney; Mrs. Eugene (Judy) Beedy of Floydada, and the former Mary George Davis of Albuquerque. The Texans stopped enroute to New Mexico in Farwell to visit with another sister, Mrs. Wade (Ollie) Carpenter in Farwell Nursing Home, and with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harold (Avis) Carpenter. The family enjoyed visiting and looking at the new Floyd County History Books.

FLOYD DATA
Mr. and Mrs. Travis Parr spent the weekend visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Parr of San Marcos. On Sunday, they went to Nixon and spent the day on the Pattillo ranch. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. David Parr of Abilene. David is administrator of the educational department at the state school in Abilene.

Before you take a bough, check one superstition about Christmas holly

New-house operating costs rise

Costs for operating a new home rose five percent faster than the new-home-buying costs over the past 10 years, says Dr. Jane Berry. Citing a report by a major title insurance company, she says operating costs rose 140 percent, while home-buying costs rose 135 percent. Dr. Berry is a housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Surprisingly enough, the smallest single increase in operating cost was heating and utility cost," she says. "This 123 percent increase likely reflects the improved energy efficiency of new houses."

Operating costs for maintenance and repairs spiraled to a 181 percent increase — the highest increase in operating costs, Dr. Berry added.

Monthly cost of operating a new home in 1968 was $90. By 1978, the cost rose to $223 per month. During the same 10-year period, the average price for a new home climbed from $26,600 to $62,400.

Operating costs include real estate taxes, maintenance and repairs, insurance and heating and utilities, the specialist said.

"Tis the season to deck the halls, but before you bring home boughs of holly you ought to know some of the history and superstition surrounding that tough, prickly-leaved, berry-bearing plant, according to the current issue of National Wildlife magazine.

Since the days of the ancient Celts, magical powers have been ascribed to holly, the National Wildlife Federation bi-monthly reports. And one legend holds that weather conditions at the time Christmas holly is brought in will determine who runs the household — the husband or the wife.

Holly's use as a decoration dates back to the Druids, a religious order that thrived in pre-Christian England and France. "These woody priests considered the plants eternally green leaves proof that the sun would never desert them," the magazine explains.

The early Romans extended this tradition by hanging holly indoors during the feast of Saturnalia, a mid-winter festival celebrating the return of longer days. Early Christian converts also adopted this ritual by designating Christmas Eve as "templum exornatum" — "temples are adorned." It was forbidden to bring any greens into the home before that night.

"Because of this ban on early decorating, many Christians believed that bringing holly into a house too soon would cause family quarrels and misfortune," National Wildlife says.

As Christianity spread, so did holly legends. In one tale, the plant was said to have had white berries until the Nativity. When a visitor broke off a branch of a holly tree growing outside the Bethlehem stable and offered it to the Christ Child, the baby pricked his finger on the sharply pointed leaves. "Horribly embarrassed, the holly blushed and its berries have remained red ever since."

Another holly superstition was promoted by Pliny, the early Roman naturalist. He asserted that a wild animal could be subdued merely by throwing a stick of holly at it. "He also alleged," notes National Wildlife, "that holly flowers could make water freeze, and that if the tree was planted near a house it would protect the inhabitants from bad weather, poison, and witchcraft."

Medieval English physicians thought holly berries could cure colic, but patients who followed their doctors' orders sometimes died from the violent vomiting the berries induced. Holly leaves, however, are harmless when roasted and brewed for tea. The brew was often drunk by South American Indians, who thought it gave them extra strength.

The subject of all these legends comes in more than 200 varieties, including some that lose their leaves each autumn. Nearly two dozen species are found in the U.S., the most common of which is American holly. This variety once grew thickly in forests throughout the eastern U.S., but now only a fraction of those wild stands remain, according to National Wildlife.

Like other varieties, American holly trees are single-sexed. Only the female plants produce the scarlet berries, and not until they are at least eight years old. The berries are food for mockingbirds, thrushes, robins, bluebirds, and many other animals.

"Beneath its rough gray bark, holly wood is chalky white and hard as rock," says National Wildlife. Once prized by cabinetmakers for its indestructible quality, the plant is now considered a nuisance because it's tough enough to break a chainsaw.

Most of the holly boughs seen at Christmas come from English holly, which grows wild throughout much of southern Europe. It was imported into the Pacific Northwest by a group of British immigrants and now about 1,000 acres in Washington and Oregon are used to cultivate the plant and fill our Christmas decorating needs.

If you contribute to the $3 million Christmas holly industry, maybe you'd better check the weather first. An old Irish Catholic legend has it that if holly is brought inside during fair weather, the wife will rule the household forevermore. But if boughs are brought in during a storm, the husband will be master.

Texas Tech News

A new kind of farm may appear on the Texas High Plains by the mid-1980s, farms that have giant egg beaters producing electrical power from the wind.

The wind turbine farms, as they are called, could produce up to 10 percent of the power that goes into a utility grid, according to a Texas Tech University mechanical engineer, Dr. James H. Strickland.

Strickland and his graduate students have been researching various aspects of producing electrical power from Darrieus turbines, shaped like egg beaters.

Funds for his research were provided by the university's Center for Energy Research and Sandia Laboratories, Albuquerque.

"Development of technology for wind energy will taper off during the next five years as most of the knowledge is now available and emphasis will shift to the commercial aspects of producing electrical power from turbine farms," Strickland said.

Basic questions about power output, aerodynamics, vibration and stress have been solved through the research efforts of university and government experts. Current research is focusing on aesthetics, spacing between turbines and other issues, Strickland explained.

Wind energy, he said, is not expected to produce more than 10 percent of the power that goes into a utility grid, "and to that extent it will not solve the energy crisis, but it will make a significant contribution."

The ten percent figure could go up if a technological breakthrough is achieved in storing electrical energy. The need to store energy is essential because wind produces fluctuating amounts of power, depending on wind speed, and if the energy can be stored then higher uniform amounts can be used.

At present wind power can produce electrical energy at about 12 cents per kilowatt hour (kwh). Conventional sources produce the same amount of power for about three to four cents, "but efficient production from wind can be achieved to reduce the price to a competitive figure."

Five egg beater turbines, each about 150-feet tall, can produce about one megawatt of electrical power at peak production. Each unit would cost around $200,000. One megawatt of electrical power would be about 15 percent of Floydada's needs, but only when the egg beater was producing at peak capacity.

The life span of a wind turbine would be around 25 years, Strickland said.

Snow or rain, unless it is in excessive amounts, is not expected to damage the blades of the turbine. The blades will create a small amount of noise like that of a helicopter.

Besides wind turbines, Strickland and his graduate students are also working on other projects such as effects of wind on solar collectors and solar towers.

Weather key to winter

How much winter pasture stockmen will have available for livestock grazing in the weeks ahead will depend on three key factors — sunlight, temperature and moisture.

And the way things are going so far, at least one of these factors — moisture — has been at a deficit and has kept production down.

"Winter pastures are generally poor over the state due to the dry fall weather," said Don Dorsett, a forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "This will put more pressure on stockmen to feed their herds more or to cull heavier."

With winter approaching the odds for substantial growth from winter pastures continues to decline because of sunlight and temperature factors. Winter means shorter days and less sunlight for plants to make their own food for growth. Cloudy days during winter further restrict plant growth, Dorsett said.

Fabric Stretch - A key to sewing knits

Sewing knits? Pay strict attention to "fabric stretch," says Becky Culp, a clothing specialist.

Fabric stretch — direction and amount — has the greatest influence on fabric and pattern compatibility, an important key in sewing knits, she says.

fabric stretch
Basically, knits fall into three different "stretch" categories: minimum stretch (stable knits or woven fabrics), moderate stretch and maximum stretch.

For example, most double knits are stable, while many jersey and sweater knits are stretchy.

PATTERNS FOR KNITS
Choose a pattern designed especially for knits to get the best results.

Avoid patterns with crisply pressed pleats and large bias sections.

Also, for very stretchable knits, avoid highly structured garment designs.

Patterns for knits are available in three categories:

1) Patterns "recommended for knits" — or woven fabrics — are most suitable for minimum-stretch knits — including stable heavier single knits, most double knits and dressweight warp knits.

2) Patterns designed "for knits only" are best for moderate-stretch knits.

These patterns have less ease than those made for woven fabrics or stable knits, of course.

In fact, it's best not to use a stable-knit fabric with these patterns, since the ease allowed may not be enough for comfort.

Also, these patterns are usually more suitable for the "think-young" figure with a small bust, since many of these patterns are designed without darts, especially bust darts.

3) Patterns designed for "stretchable knits only" should be used for knits with maximum stretch. These patterns have only a minimum amount of ease.

Use only this type pattern for bulky sweater-knit fabrics.

TEST FOR 'STRETCH'
In finding out how much "stretch" a knit has, do a "stretch test."

Use the stretch gauge printed on some pattern envelopes, or make your own gauge.

To make your own gauge, mark off four inches (10.2 cm) — on the fabric — in the crosswise direction. Always test the crosswise stretch of a knit.

Next, place one edge of the fabric on a ruler, and hold it firmly.

Stretch the opposite edge of the fabric gently with your thumb as far as it will stretch without curling. If the fabric begins to curl, you've stretched too much.

How far the fabric stretches without curling will tell you its "stretchability."

As a general rule:

- Stable knits will stretch less than 1/2 inch (1.3 cm).
- Moderate knits stretch 1/2 inch - 1 1/4 inch (1.3-4.2 cm).
- Maximum-stretch knits will stretch more than 1 1/4 inch (4.2 cm).

BUYING YARDAGE
Always buy knit yardage by the "with nap" requirement — to determine the amount you need.

That's because knit fabrics must be cut in one direction — to avoid light- and dark-looking sections, so you'll need that extra bit of yardage to allow for this.

Barry Love reports Central High Plains Results

Again this year Pioneer brand seeds are delivering outstanding yields in field after field. But we know it takes more than one year's performance to tell the whole story. Look at these results, then ask your Pioneer dealer to show you records from several years. You'll see for yourself why Pioneer brand seeds have become famous for their consistency.

First choice of many area farmers, this corn hybrid proved its excellent grain yield potential again this year by averaging 269 lbs./A. more than competitive hybrids in 38 tests on the central high plains. High seedling vigor with strong vegetative growth gets 3195 off to a good start. It also has outstanding head smut and MDMV tolerance. In the central high plains, 3195 is sure to be a strong performer again next year.

This tall, semi-upright leaved hybrid has proven its consistency on the central high plains by delivering top yields again this year. In 45 comparisons 3360 averaged 10.611 lbs./A. more than competitive hybrids. It also demonstrated better standability than upright leaved hybrids.

A child's self-esteem depends on...

A child's self-esteem greatly depends on his family, says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist. Reactions that children receive from people around them, especially those at home, between positive self-images and negative ones, she says.

Mrs. Welch is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Early caregivers make the greatest impact, the specialist adds. Their responses to a child send him messages about who he is — and whether he's worthwhile.

A child's development of trust has a strong bearing on his ability to build relationships with others throughout his life. During infancy, a baby is totally dependent on a primary person for fulfillment of his needs. The baby develops a sense of trust based on the way his needs are met — a consistent meeting of needs will increase trust.

Children enlarge their sense of self as they become less dependent on their early caregivers. They do this through contacts with others and with their environment.

Parents can help again by recognizing successful experiences — and by minimizing failures. Here are some suggestions on how:

They need verbal responses when they're trying to communicate. When parents ignore a child, the child feels worthless and undeserving of attention.

Treat a child with the same respect you would give another adult. State messages to the child in a positive way — with empathy and sensitivity for his feelings.

Let your child know you recognize the feelings — and the child's right to have them. Help the child work on self-control and on expressing feelings in positive ways.

Protect against credit card loss

Protect against credit card loss to avoid problems and financial burdens. Millions of credit cards are lost or stolen each year with millions of dollars of unauthorized purchases made on these cards, says Claudia Kerbel, a consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Consumers are partially protected against financial losses when credit cards are lost or stolen. The federal Truth-in-Lending Act provides that the maximum liability of a credit card holder is $50 for unauthorized charges made on a credit card.

However, many consumers carry a number of credit cards and, if, for example, they lose 10 cards, they are liable for $500, the specialist points out. To avoid problems and financial burdens of credit card loss, follow these tips:

- 1) Cut up and throw away all cards not needed or used regularly.
- 2) Maintain in a safe place a list of all credit cards and their numbers.
- 3) Keep a list of the toll-free numbers to contact if cards are lost.

Most companies that provide credit cards will provide a postage-paid postcard to send in the event that the credit card is lost or stolen. Keep this in a safe place because it usually shows the credit card number as well as a toll-free number to call.

- 4) Notify the issuer of a lost card immediately.
- 5) Upon receiving a new card, sign it immediately.
- 6) Never loan a credit card to anyone who hasn't been authorized to use it by the issuer — this is a violation of contract.

To recognize the possible signs of credit card theft, check the monthly bill closely, Ms. Kerbel advises. If an expected monthly bill doesn't arrive, someone may have stolen the card and sent in an address change.

Control personal inflation...

Feel poorer in spite of earning the highest income of your life?

You're not alone — and there is something you can do about it, says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

One reason we feel poorer comes from the tax squeeze, she says. "Inflation has helped push our incomes to higher levels, but because of the way our tax system works, our wage-increase dollars are taxed at a higher rate than our pre-wage-increase dollars," she explains. "And changes in the social security laws also take a bigger bite than they did before." Controlling personal inflation involves choice-making, and how we spend our after-tax dollars is the key.

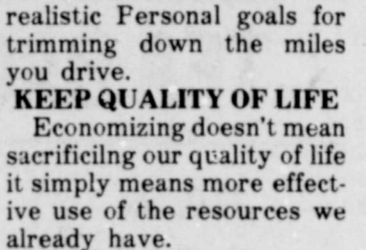

seven percent discount to cash-paying customers.

SAVE FIVE CENTS — Save five cents on every dollar you spend for a total five percent savings. Coupons for food purchases can save money if the price does not exceed that for another product of similar quality.

SHOP SALES — Buying on sales can show dramatic results, if the items meet real needs, not imagined needs. A 20 percent markdown can mean important savings.

SAVE GASOLINE — Drive fewer miles for sure savings on gasoline. Carpool with someone to cut gas bills. Plan shopping trips carefully before driving — to cut down total miles. Set realistic personal goals for trimming down the miles you drive.

KEEP QUALITY OF LIFE — Economizing doesn't mean sacrificing our quality of life; it simply means more effective use of the resources we already have.

FIGHT INFLATION RATES

One thing we can do is fight the rate of inflation. For example, if prices increase at the rate of 1.1 percent each month, consumers can:

- 1) Cut back spending by 1.1 percent.
- 2) Substitute for — or change — the mix of things you buy so your total bill is 1.1 percent less.
- 3) Don't change anything, but pay 1.1 percent less through careful buying.
- 4) Find alternative, non-economic means of satisfying your needs.

'IMPACT' STEPS

Fighting the rate of inflation will take specific "impact" steps. Here are five "impact" steps to accomplish some of the four plans listed above:

KICK THE CREDIT HABIT — Use credit prudently, not for spreading out the cost of everyday living. Unpaid charge accounts take an added 1.5 percent per month from your spending money.

GET DISCOUNTS — Some merchants may be willing to give a five-to-

And the holidays are when interest peaks, because nothing shows you care more than a handmade gift. Such crafts as wood carving and weaving met the practical needs of early pioneers. Today they're valued by novices as well as skilled artisans who realize how therapeutic and profitable crafts can be. Adults suffering mental strain at work can buoy their spirits at home by working with their hands in a creative pursuit. And at gift-giving time, handcrafted goods are often more appreciated than machine-made items because of the originator's personal touches. # PIONEER Harvest Hotline

Barry Love reports Central High Plains Results

Again this year Pioneer® brand seeds are delivering outstanding yields in field after field. But we know it takes more than one year's performance to tell the whole story. Look at these results, then ask your Pioneer dealer to show you records from several years. You'll see for yourself why Pioneer brand seeds have become famous for their consistency.

PIONEER 3195

First choice of many area farmers, this corn hybrid proved its excellent grain yield potential again this year by averaging 269 lbs./A. more than competitive hybrids in 38 tests on the central high plains. High seedling vigor with strong vegetative growth gets 3195 off to a good start. It also has outstanding head smut and MDMV tolerance. In the central high plains, 3195 is sure to be a strong performer again next year.

PIONEER 3360

This tall, semi-upright leaved hybrid has proven its consistency on the central high plains by delivering top yields again this year. In 45 comparisons 3360 averaged 10,611 lbs. and produced an average 268 lbs./A. more than competitive hybrids. It also demonstrated better standability than upright leaved hybrids.

A child's self-esteem depends on...

A child's self-esteem greatly depends on his family, says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist. Reactions that children receive from people around them, especially those at home, make the difference between positive self-images and negative ones, she says.

Mrs. Welch is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Early caregivers make the greatest impact, the specialist adds. Their responses to a child send him messages about who he is — and whether he's worthwhile.

A child's development of trust has a strong bearing on his ability to build relationships with others throughout his life. During infancy, a baby is totally dependent on a primary person for fulfillment of his needs. The baby develops a sense of trust based on the way his needs are met — a consistent meeting of needs will increase trust.

Children enlarge their sense of self as they become less dependent on their early caregivers. They do this through contacts with others and with their environment.

Parents can help again by recognizing successful experiences — and by minimizing failures. Here are some suggestions on how:

They need verbal responses when they're trying to communicate. When parents ignore a child, the child feels worthless and undeserving of attention.

Treat a child with the same respect you would give another adult. State messages to the child in a positive way — with empathy and sensitivity for his feelings.

Let your child know you recognize the feelings — and the child's right to have them. Help the child work on self-control and on expressing feelings in positive ways.

Protect against credit card loss

Protect against credit card loss to avoid problems and financial burdens. Millions of credit cards are lost or stolen each year with or without purchases made on these cards, says Claudia Kerbel, a consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Consumers are partially protected against financial losses when credit cards are lost or stolen. The federal Truth-in-Lending Act provides that the maximum liability of a credit card holder is $50 for unauthorized charges made on a credit card.

However, many consumers carry a number of credit cards and if, for example, they lose 10 cards, they are liable for $500, the specialist points out. To avoid problems and financial burdens of credit card loss, follow these tips:

- 1) Cut up and throw away all cards not needed or used regularly.
- 2) Maintain in a safe place a list of all credit cards and their numbers.
- 3) Keep a list of the toll-free numbers to contact if cards are lost.

Most companies that provide credit cards will provide a postage-paid postcard to send in the event that the credit card is lost or stolen. Keep this in a safe place because it usually slows the credit card number as well as a toll-free number to call.

- 4) Notify the issuer of a lost card immediately.
- 5) Upon receiving a new card, sign it immediately.
- 6) Never loan a credit card

to anyone who hasn't been authorized to use it by the issuer — this is a violation of contract.

To recognize the possible signs of credit card theft, check the monthly bill closely, Ms. Kerbel advises. If an expected monthly bill doesn't arrive, someone may have stolen the card and sent in an address change.

Control personal inflation...

Feel poorer in spite of earning the highest income of your life?

You're not alone — and there is something you can do about it, says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

One reason we feel poorer comes from the tax squeeze, she says. "Inflation has helped push our incomes to higher levels, but because of the way our tax system works, our wage-increase dollars are taxed at a higher rate than our pre-wage-increase dollars," she explains. "And changes in the social security laws also take a bigger bite than they did before."

Controlling personal inflation involves choice-making, and how we spend our after-tax dollars is the key.

seven percent discount to cash-paying customers.

SAVE FIVE CENTS — Save five cents on every dollar you spend for a total five percent savings. Coupons for food purchases can save money if the price does not exceed that for another product of similar quality.

SHOP SALES — Buying on sales can show dramatic results, if the items meet real needs, not imagined needs. A 20 percent markdown can mean important savings.

SAVE GASOLINE — Drive fewer miles for sure savings on gasoline. Carpool with someone to cut gas bills. Plan shopping trips carefully before driving — to cut down total miles. Set realistic personal goals for trimming down the miles you drive.

KEEP QUALITY OF LIFE — Economizing doesn't mean sacrificing our quality of life; it simply means more effective use of the resources we already have.

FIGHT INFLATION RATES

One thing we can do is fight the rate of inflation. For example, if prices increase at the rate of 1.1 percent each month, consumers can:

- 1) Cut back spending by 1.1 percent.
- 2) Substitute for — or change — the mix of things you buy so your total bill is 1.1 percent less.
- 3) Don't change anything, but pay 1.1 percent less through careful buying.
- 4) Find alternative, non-economic means of satisfying your needs.

'IMPACT' STEPS

Fighting the rate of inflation will take specific "impact" steps. Here are five "impact" steps to accomplish some of the four plans listed above:

KICK THE CREDIT HABIT — Use credit prudently, not for spreading out the cost of everyday living. Unpaid charge accounts take an added 1.5 percent per month from your spending money.

GET DISCOUNTS — Some merchants may be willing to give a five-to-

Human speech was first conveyed across the Atlantic in 1915 when a U.S. Navy station radio transmission in Arlington, Va., was picked up at Paris' Eiffel Tower.

GIFTS: MAKE THEM BY HAND

Crafts have enjoyed a popularity boom in recent years as Americans take greater interest in exploring and rediscovering their heritage. And the holidays are when interest peaks, because nothing shows you care more than a handmade gift.
Such crafts as wood carving and weaving met the practical needs of early pioneers. Today they're valued by novices as well as skilled artisans who realize how therapeutic and profitable crafts can be.
Adults suffering mental strain at work can buoy their spirits at home by working with their hands in a creative pursuit. And at gift-giving time, handcrafted goods are often more appreciated than machine-made items because of the originator's personal touches.
The best way to learn a craft, and which crafts might be best suited to your lifestyle and pocketbook, is to observe a master craftsman at work, ask questions and maybe try yourself—before investing in supplies and lessons. At Six Flags Magic Mountain family amusement park in Valer, California, CA, guests can do just that.
Spillikin Corners is the park's year-round crafts village where artisans representing more than a dozen different crafts ply their trades in full view, sometimes with guest participation.
Candles, sand paintings, dolls, doll wardrobes, weaving, wood carving, brooms and candy are a few of the time-honored folk arts and South Plains Hobby Club will have their Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Leighton Teeple on December 13, at 7 p.m. Covered dishes will be brought for the Christmas supper and evening. You should have your gifts for the nursing home ready and wrapped for gift giving, and on the outside of the gift give a description of item and tell whether it is suitable for a man or woman. Also, bring an inexpensive gift for exchange at the party. The nursing home party will be on December 21, in Lockney. Ladies will bring their husbands to this party at Mrs. Teeple's home.

Rev. and Mrs. Fred Blake and their friend, Mrs. Irene Hoague from Lamesa, left Monday morning for Fayetteville, Arkansas, where they will visit until Thursday with the Blake's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. J.T. The Otho Sanders have made their home in the South Plains area since the children were small. They reside on Silverton Highway near the home of the Frank McClures. We wish them years of happiness ahead.

They had a four inch rain on Tuesday night while they were there. They had left on Monday and spent one night in Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Letha Mulder left Saturday for Amarillo where she is spending a few days with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Taylor, Candy Ronda, Ronnie and Richard. She will be home the first of the week.

There will be a musical program at the South Plains Baptist Church on December 16, with Kendis Julian in charge. There will be songs and readings of Christmas.

Mrs. Ruby Higginbotham was hostess in her home in South Plains Saturday afternoon, December 1, from 4 to 5:30 at a baby shower honoring Ryan Lee Smith, three month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Brad Smith. Those who were hostesses for Ryan's shower were guests during the afternoon, and a time of visiting and a table of refreshments of sweet breads, including pumpkin and banana bread with wassail and coffee, was served guests. Honored guests present were the baby's grandmother, Mrs. L.N. Johnson, and his aunts, Mrs. Carlton Johnson and Tanner, and Denise and Denoon Johnson, home from college. The baby's gift was a lovely wooden highchair.

Mrs. Helen Dunlap gave personal reports of her trips to the islands studied, and told of visiting Tahiti and other islands. Those who went from the South Plains Baptist Church for the book review and evening were Mmes. Mamie Wood, Fred Blake, Tillman Powell, M.M. Julian and Letha Mulder.

The South Plains Baptist Lottie Moon Christmas offering goal has been set for $350 and the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions study has been set for Monday, December 10, at 10 o'clock in the morning. Everyone should bring a covered dish to have at the noonday meal, according to Mrs. Tillman Powell, who leads the study. "Among all Nations" is the theme for the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions and the Lottie Moon Christmas Offering for 1979.

Don Marble, a farmer here at South Plains and president of the High Plains Research Center Foundation, was among agricultural leaders of Texas who went to Texas A&M University at Bryan recently and took part in a seminar.

Heather Powell of Floydada spent the past weekend with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Powell. Her parents, the Tommy Powells, had Sunday dinner here and took her home with them. Elda Martinez of Dougherty was a weekend guest at the Powells with Sandy.

Many of us have received our history books from the Floyd County Historical Museum. The books are just wonderful! They are well written. I appreciate all the long hours and all the work done on the beautiful book. I especially want to thank the ones from South Plains and areas near here who have worked so long and hard on the books. These ladies are Nancy Marble, Nita Marble, Norma Welch, June Ware and Virginia Taylor.

Mrs. Gary Gilbreath and her three boys arrived Tuesday to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Powell.

Engineer scholarships offered

The National Society of Professional Engineers is making available 103 grants and scholarships to aid high school seniors interested in pursuing engineering careers. Dr. James R. McDonald, local chairman of the nationwide program, announced today.

Dr. McDonald, who heads the scholarship effort of NSPE's South Plains Chapter, said students will be selected for the awards on the basis of academic standing, participation in extracurricular activities, evidence of leadership, character and self-reliance, commitments of teachers and administrators, and financial need. NSPE scholarships are provided with the cooperation of 34 leading companies and educational institutions; recipients receive awards of $1000 to $4000 with some full scholarships.

Students must submit scholarship applications to the local chapter by December 15, 1979. National winners will be selected by March 31, 1980.

For applications and more information on the NSPE scholarship program, contact Professor L.J. Powers, Department of Mechanical Engineering, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas 79409. Phone is (806) 742-3563.
