race and then showed how he felt about one of man's institutions, the racing game, by latching onto the upper lip of his trainer, who brought to give him a congratulatory kiss. It took a dose of valium to unfasten his grip. A couple of wildlife records were set. In the annual Mayor's Frog Hop at Baltimore, Md., an entry named Cindy jumped to a height of 3 feet 9 inches, outdistancing one Lightfoot Louie. In San Antonio, a male whooping crane named Crip died at 33—a record for that rare bird in captivity. And Andre, the friendly 220-pound seal who swims each year from his winter home in a Boston aquarium to his summer home at Rockport, Me., set a new record for the 160-mile course—65 hours. Not breathtaking, to be sure, but 7 hours faster than last year's time. Finally, it was a year in which a raccoon got caught in a drug bust. After one burglary in which narcotics were taken, a Falls Church, Va., physician trapped an intruder on a return visit to his office and found that it was—that's right—a "masked bandit" with a ragged tail. After being lured away from the hard stuff with peanut butter and sardines, the two-time offender was loose in a woods several miles away for self-rehabilitation.

EVERY PENCIL tells a story — A little bit of history in a coffee pot.

A little bit of history found in a coffee pot

by Felicia Applewhite
How could a little six-inch-high coffee pot with a rose decal on each side and a decal at the bottom and top hold history? There is such a pot, and even though it spent its years at one time as a coffee pot, it now holds history. Estelle Powers became the owner of the pot on the death of her mother, Mrs. Byers, who came to Lockney at the turn of the century. The pot is filled with pencils that Mrs. Byers collected over the years. Those pencils tell the story. "I am big — so big" reads an old pencil whose eraser is worn even to the metal that holds it on. This old pencil measures half an inch in length. G.S. Morris store handed out pencils to people of Lockney and surrounding country around 1920 to advertise "groceries, hardware and undergarments, Lockney, Texas." The Morris store was located on the corner at 121 South Main. That same corner once was the location where Griffith built a store. He sold a 48-pound sack. He was followed by the 7-Brothers store operated by the 7-Brothers store, the Farley's Grocery located there. The old store who operated the store for the years kept a Bible on the counter before him and "went by the good book." It was reported that when he left the job, there was no money left for the farmers who owned the store. They even had to stop an order of 13 barrels of vinegar and to reimburse the company that sent the vinegar for the commission the old fellow absconded with. Reecer-Gomez cleaners is on that location now. Another pencil in the coffee pot is one that was given customers when M.W. Wiley was president of Lockney First National Bank. "Seasons Greetings," it says in red print. Green Christmas bells flanked by Christmas holly decorates the large printing stating "First National is a member of F.D.I.C." The bank was then located where the school tax office is now, before the present bank building was built. Can you imagine a pencil that has a flower in the place of an eraser? A red poinsettia complete with green leaves and yellow stamens adorns the top of the pencils from the Jack and June Shop. A variety of these pencils were offered by the shop by giving some with red stamens and white petals. There are four Jack and June pencils in the coffee pot in varying designs. "Seasons Greetings" says Jack and June with Christmas bells and bold red print announcing Jack and June as the "House of Style."

Jack and June furnished style for Lockney from the building where Barker insurance is now located. The same building once housed the Lockney State Bank, before the Great Depression caused it to fold. Jack and June's telephone number was 01-4-2341. Along with the other pencils in the coffee pot is a white unsharpened pencil with an eraser that is "harder than a rock" with age. It has "Cooper Agency, Lockney, Texas" on it. Somebody in Lockney knows where the agency was located and what the agency sold. In the same pot is an old pen staff. Nobody except people who went to school and sat in a desk with an inkwell would know the age of the pen staff. The once-shiny pen is corroded with ink and time. The red rubber band just above the pen has little color left under the ink layers. Who used that pen? "Behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy... a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord" — St. Luke 2:10-14. May joy and peace of the Holy Christmas remain with you all year long... is printed on the pencil given by Lockney First Baptist Church when Gene Hawkins was pastor. That is not all. On the same pencil is a small sketch of a red church with a white roof. Green fir trees furnish a setting for the small church. There is a bright pink pencil with a very hard, unusable eraser which says,

Wheat needs a good rain!

Floyd County wheat growers received enough moisture earlier last autumn to plant their crop but if the recent dryness continues, it could result in a smaller harvest in May than expected, according to two local observers. Tom Moore, of the Floydada office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, and Jett Major, county extension agent, agreed that the greatest danger caused by the dry weather would be from soil erosion when the late winter winds begin to blow. The wheat got enough water during planting to break the soil surface, where it went into a dormant period, according to Moore. The plants will remain inactive until the early spring, when an expected wet period should provide enough moisture to take the crop to maturity. While the eventual crop has yet to suffer any real damage to the crop, Moore noted that stock raisers had already sustained losses from the dry weather. "There wasn't enough fall moisture to get the wheat growing good so we've lost almost all our grazing," Moore said. Major agreed with his colleague's assessment of the situation. "The pre-planting water is the most critical," the extension agent said.

"Normally, a lot of the planted crop would be grazed during the winter. We had good moisture during planting, but there just wasn't enough water to bring the wheat up." Both men estimated that 95 percent of the 90,000-acre wheat crop had broken the surface already, hardly any of which received enough water to get the growth needed for cattle grazing. "The soil is not in any worse condition than is normal for this time of year," Moore said. "Since the wheat will be dormant until about mid-March, the rain until then doesn't matter much as long as there's enough to keep the topsoil from blowing away." Moore said he hoped for enough early rain to soak deep into the ground so the moisture will be available when the heat starts to grow. "We won't need an excess of rain as long as there's one good rainfall in each month of March, April and May," Moore said. "If there's no rain in May, we're in trouble."

RAIN? -- Clouds moving into Floyd County late this week brought the promise of much-needed early winter rains for the county wheat crop, but only a slight drizzle had fallen by Friday.

Around the County

By Jett Major
Floyd County Extension Agent

The annual Floyd County Soil Fertility Day, sponsored each year by the County Crops Committee, will be held on Wednesday, January 23, beginning at 7:00 p.m. at the Lighthouse Electric Cooperative Meeting Room in Floydada. This year's Soil Fertility Day will feature an evening program which will focus on the production, use and feasibility of alcohol fuel both on and off the farm.

Speakers for the program will include Jerry Winke of Petersburg representing the Union Development Company based in Tulsa, Oklahoma; Joe Cook of Cee Vee representing Cottle-King County Agri-Fuels; and Arthur Wyle, manager of Swiftly Distributors—a Floydada-based fuel company which currently handles gasohol. These three well-qualified individuals will discuss the process of alcohol production as well as the feasibility, use and efficiency of alcohol as both a fuel and a dual additive.

Other speakers and topics featured on the program include Marvin Sartin, Area Economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, with a presentation on the "Incorporation of Family Farms"; and Dr. James R. Supak, Area Extension Cotton Agronomist, with an up to date report on effective cotton weed control on the South Plains of Texas.

There is no cost for attending this informative program and all area producers, agribusinessmen and interested people are invited to attend the meeting.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or origin.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

The National Automobile Dealers Association (NADA) has announced the implementation of uniform standards for the operation of Automotive Consumer Action Program (AUTOCAP) panels. AUTOCAP panels are consumer complaint appeal panels designed to resolve difficult automobile consumer problems.

The principal features of the uniform standards announced by NADA for AUTOCAP panels are:

- *The percentage of consumer representation on mediation panels will be "not less than fifty percent."
- *Dealers will be bound by decisions of the mediation panels, but consumers will be free to accept or reject them.
- *Each AUTOCAP will be encouraged to publicly solicit all sectors of the community for participation on mediation panels, and each AUTOCAP will be urged to consider recognized local consumer spokespersons' appointment to the panels.
- *Public observers (including the press) will be invited to attend panel meetings.
- *Dealer permission to use the AUTOCAP name will subject to annual "recognition and endorsement" which will be nationally coordinated by NADA and the National AUTOCAP Council.
- *To advise the public of the service offered by AUTOCAPs, each AUTOCAP will be required to regularly and diligently publicize and promote its program to dealers and the general public. A national promotional campaign will also be conducted by NADA.

All present AUTOCAP programs will have one year's time to adopt and comply with the new standards.

Eighty percent of the country's twenty-six thousand franchise dealers and more than ninety percent of the new car/truck sales dollar volume is represented through NADA; therefore, the program has the potential of significantly affecting the resolution of consumer complaints about automobiles.

We support the NADA's program. It appears to be a positive response to the fact that automobile related complaints continue to be a consumer problem.

Although each state's participation in the national program is voluntary, I have been assured by the Texas Automobile Dealers Association (TADA) that the program will be implemented soon in this State. Of course, there is no substitute for effective law enforcement when consumer complaints reveal unlawful activities. The Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division will continue to pursue violations of law vigorously. The major contribution that can be made by the new AUTOCAP program is to provide a meaningful forum for resolving consumer complaints that do not involve unlawful conduct. Since many consumer complaints do not involve unlawful conduct, but instead appear to result from breakdowns in communication or cooperation between dealers and consumers, this program will be a welcome addition to the remedies available to consumers who experience difficulties with their automobiles.

March 3 deadline for farmers' tax returns

While most taxpayers have until April 15 to file their 1979 income tax returns, farmers and ranchers face an earlier filing date — March 3.

The March 3 date stands for agricultural producers who did not file an estimate of their income taxes and pay these estimated taxes by Jan. 15. Those who did file and estimate have until the April 15 deadline to file final returns.

For Texas farmers and ranchers preparing their 1979 income tax returns, Dr. Ashley Lovell of Bryan, area economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University system, offers several considerations.

Filing requirements for 1979 are changed from 1978. For example, an individual must file a return if his gross income is $3,300 or more and a married couple under 65 years of age must file if their joint gross income is more than $5,400. If both are 65 or older, they may make $6,400 before having to file a return.

For some businessmen, a more urgent deadline is Jan. 31, the due date for Form 943 and Form W-2.

Form 943, "Employer's Annual Tax Return for Agricultural Employees," must be filed if you were required to withhold and pay social security tax, or if you withheld income tax under voluntary withholding agreements on farm labor wages during 1979.

Form W-2, "Wage and Tax Statement," must be provided to each employee to whom you paid wages subject to social security taxes or from whose wages federal income tax was voluntarily withheld. Employees should receive Form W-2's by Jan. 31.

For other changes and reporting requirements regarding 1979 income tax returns, Lovell suggests a copy of Internal Revenue Service Publication No. 17, "Your Federal Income Tax" (1980 edition).

Farmers and ranchers will want to get a copy of IRS Publication No. 225, "Farmers Tax Guide" (Revised October 1979).

Basketball a non-contact sport?

The man who designed basketball to be a safe, non-contact sport never dreamed that players one day would be endangered by flying chunks of glass from backboards broken by dunk shots. But this is not basketball's only problem.

Players who could not dunk a basketball in a washtub face some of the same hazards professionals do because of hazards present in the game ever since the ball first plopped into the peach basket originally used for a hoop. Beginners and skilled players may share the same injuries because being out of shape makes amateurs open to injury while pros may crumble after years of extremely intensive physical stress.

Fortunately many injuries can be prevented by proper training, good shoes and other equipment, and by taking care of minor injuries before they get worse.

Sprained ankles and knees, two of the most common injuries, can be avoided somewhat by wearing high-top shoes to help ankles and doing exercises to improve strength and flexibility of these joints. These measures are especially important if a person has had previous sprains and strains.

Besides high-tops to help ankles, other important shoe characteristics include a good fit and tread that will provide traction without stopping the player too abruptly. Shoes that grab too suddenly can strain ankles, knees and other leg parts that undergo stress in basketball anyway.

People in poor physical condition and tired players may be injured more easily so being in good shape is important. Some studies recommend about four to six weeks of exercises and drills to build up strength, endurance, flexibility and general basketball skills before the season starts. Most players are injured in practice so common sense, good warming up and proper equipment are necessary at all times.

Some injuries are not as easily avoidable as sprains and strains. Bruises, cuts and cracked bones are some of the problems that may occur unexpectedly since the "non-contact" game of basketball has changed. Since there is no way to avoid occasional falls and body contact, TMA says proper care after injuries is the best way to cope with them. Taking care of an injury as soon as it occurs will put the player back in full participation sooner than playing while in pain and perhaps increasing an injury which will then require more extensive treatment.

As the number of female players increases, a controversy about possible injuries to them has arisen. Some theories say that a woman's wider hips make her more prone to hip and knee injuries than men are. Supposedly the wide pelvis puts women's knees at angles more susceptible to injury. The other side says women have the same type and number of injuries as male basketball players. Almost everyone agrees that chances of injuries to breasts and reproductive organs are slight.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

AUSTIN — Gasohol, once considered an "exotic fuel," is fast becoming all the rage at the State Capitol.

Texas family farmers fought all last year to initiate gasohol production in the state and until now have enjoyed limited success. Their hopes were boosted during the last Legislature when Reps. Dan Kubiak and Bill Keese successfully pushed through the legislation legalizing alcohol fuel production in Texas, but the necessary funding has not come through.

All that is changing.

Following President Carter's partial embargo of grain sales to the Soviet Union, gasohol's destiny has taken an upswing. Carter intends the federal government to buy the 17 million metric tons of grain and use much of it in the rapid production of gasohol. The benefits are two-fold: America can become more self-sufficient in terms of energy, and farmers can enjoy a solid domestic market for grain.

Amid all the busting, Texas farmers leveled a strong blast at Governor Clements, charging him with breaking a promise to their group by stifling gasohol production. They see Clements' ties to the oil industry (he is the founder of SED-CO, Inc., a Dallas-based oil well drilling firm) as the reason for his inaction.

"Oil Baron Governor,"

Specifically, the state coordinator of the American Agriculture Movement, Mike McCathern of Hereford, said: "We have an oil baron governor who doesn't want any competition with oil, and a liquor lobby controlling the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and we can't get anything done."

The commission, which normally oversees drinking alcohol regulation, is the agency which handles alcohol fuel production permits. During the recent year, the ABC has given out less than 25 permits across the state.

Embargo us

A spokesman for the Texas Farmers Union this week said the Carter administration should have long ago announced an agreement between grain producers and nations to set minimum world prices. Without such an agreement, the spokesman said, the embargo of grain from the Soviet Union is useless.

TEU secretary Ron Butler said he is surprised by announcements from Argentina and Brazil that they will turn to the U.S. to purchase grain.

One of the other producing nations, including Canada, are anxious to get into the market, Butler said. "It's not because they do not want to act as allies, but because they know that the remainder of the non-Soviet world market will be saturated with cheap American grain. We had an established agreement on export policy and price, there would not be this cut-throat competition between Western Hemisphere's producing nations."

Butler said that the U.S. government is permitting huge, multinational grain corporations to sell volumes of cheap grain for their own profit while acquiring it from American farmers at prices below cost of production whenever a surplus exists.

According to TFU, leading senators from the Senate Agriculture Committee have been advocating for more than two

ELECTRICITY FROM COAL...

It's good to know there's something we can depend on.

Almost all of us depend on electricity in our homes, factories, and offices to provide for more jobs, greater productivity, and a higher standard of living...

The constant striving for these innovative and advanced ideas and achievements of tomorrow means we will need more electricity. That's why Southwestern Public Service is continuing the building program of new electric generating plants that use coal as fuel.

Home heating emergency plan

Make home-heating emergency plans to set up a coal- or wood-burning stove or fireplace in case of a crisis. Your effort and expense in preparing for a disaster that may cut off your normal heat source could have great returns, says a housing and home furnishings specialist.

In severe weather, a heat-source cut-off could threaten your personal safety and comfort, and it could cause water lines in the home to freeze, explains Sue Young. Mrs. Young is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Supplies you'll need for setting up a stove include stove pipe, thimble, collar, adjustable elbow, damper and stove board.

STOVE IN FIREPLACE
If you decide to set up a stove in your fireplace, follow these steps:

Measure the fireplace, and cut a sheet of metal of asbestos board to close the opening.

Set the stove on a fireproof stove board at least one stove-pipe length (24 inches) away from the face of the fireplace.

Install a damper in one section of the pipe. Connect pipes to the stove and the elbow.

Adjust them in their final position — to determine the proper location for the hole you'll need to cut in the sheet metal or asbestos board used to close the fireplace opening.

Slide the collar onto the pipe, and insert the pipe into the hole in the closing board. Then fit the collar snugly against the board.

CAUTION: Burn coal ONLY in a cast iron stove with a grate designed specifically for coal.

FREE-STANDING STOVE
If you decide to install a free-standing stove or fireplace, follow these steps:

Set the stove on a fireproof foundation — such as asbestos-metal stove board, brick, or marble.

Install a prefabricated, insulated metal chimney, approved by the Underwriter's Laboratories (UL).

Prefabricated chimneys are available for installation through a roof or an outside wall, and they can be installed in mobile homes.

Cook of the week

Ma Colston, a Baker community homemaker, is this week's Hesperian and "Cook of the Week." Like to cook, but I am a plain country-girl Mrs. Colston com- mended this week, "and always have some- sweet baked."

powder
1/4 cup sweetened condensed milk (Eagle Brand)
Place peanuts in 13 x 9 x 2" baking pan; roast in 350 degree oven for 40-45 minutes. Stir in sugar and water; return to oven. Bake 20-25 minutes more, stirring frequently, til coating is dry and crisp. Immediately turn into another baking pan so nuts will separate easily. Cool. Makes four cups.

To Cook in Microwave oven:
Place peanuts in large shallow baking dish; micro-cook on high heat setting 12 min or til roasted; stirring every 2 minutes. Stir in sugar and water. Micro cook 11-12 minutes stirring three times, til syrup is nearly absorbed. Stir in cocoa and milk. Micro cook five minutes more, stirring occasionally, til coating is dry and crisp. Immediately turn into another baking pan and cool.

SOUR DOUGH BISCUITS
(given to me by my mother, Mrs. T.T. Hamilton and her neighbor Karen Drake gave it to her)
Dissolve one package dry yeast in one cup lukewarm water. Add two cups buttermilk, 1/2 cup sugar, four teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 cup cooking oil, one teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon soda. Add six or more cups flour, mix well. Cover and chill for at least four hours before using. Pinch off and cook on greased cookie sheet. No need to let rise. Cook at 375 degrees for about 20 minutes. (I like to roll out the dough and cut out with biscuit cutter.)

GLAZE FOR CINNAMON ROLLS

2 1/2 cups powdered sugar
6 tablespoons cream
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 unbeaten egg white vanilla to suit taste

Mix all ingredients and brush on cinnamon rolls. This glaze is also good to dip doughnuts in.

MEATBALLS MEAT MIXTURE

1 lb. ground beef
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs (I use 10 white crackers)
salt and pepper to taste
Combine ingredients; shape into small balls. Brown meatballs in electric skillet at 350 degrees, drain off fat. Pour sauce over meatballs, bring to boil and cook over low heat until most of sauce is absorbed.

SAUCE
1 1/2 cup Dr. Pepper
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons catsup
1/8 teaspoon black pepper
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon soy sauce.
Mix well and pour over meatballs.

Cottage cheese, that favorite with the dieter and weight-watcher, is soft, unripened cheese, available in three styles:

cottage cheese dry curd, cottage cheese and lowfat cottage cheese. The milkfat content of cottage cheese must be at least 4 per cent.

If you find a good buy on meat and purchase in quantity, be sure to refrigerate or freeze properly. Meat for refrigerator storage should be loosely wrapped. If you plan to freeze meat and poultry products, wrap each package tightly in moisture-resistant material

Wheat planting up in Texas

Despite the fact that Texas farmers have planted their largest wheat crop since 1949, field conditions indicated that production will be down in the state from last year.

A Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service survey indicates that 6,800,000 acres have been planted.

The acreage is 17 percent more than last year; however, based on conditions in the fields on December 1, production is expected to be significantly lower, down to 88 million bushels," Reagan Brown, ag secretary said.

Germination on dryland seedings was slow due to lack of moisture in August and September. High Plains wheat fields were providing only fair grazing for cattle on December 1. Early snow storms damaged some of the Plains crop. Productions in 1979 from 5.8 million acres reached 138 million bushels.

Conditions in Texas are comparable to those in other wheat-growing states, with the U.S. production forecasted to be 1.57 billion bushels, 3 percent less than that in 1979.

According to preliminary surveys by the Reporting Service, counties in the Northern High Plains have increased acreage from 2.7 million to 3.1. The Blacklands area also has a substantial increase, from 560,000 acres in 1979 to 1,060,000 for the 1980 harvest.

Other regions showing increases are the Northern Low Plains with 760,000 acres contrasted to 710,000 in 1979; Southern Low Plains, moving from 680,000 acres to 830,000; South Central Texas, 115,000 acres in 1979 and 127,000 acres for 1980.

Acreage reductions are forecast for the Southern High Plains, 260,000 acres in 1979 down to 240,000 for 1980; Cross Timbers, 380,000 to 370,000, and the Edwards Plateau, 175,000 to 160,000.

All other regions account for 153,000 acres planted for the 1980 season as contrasted to 120,000 for 1979.

AMBER WAVES — Texas farmers may have sown the largest wheat planting in the state since 1949, but poor field conditions will most likely force production significantly below 1979 levels.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, is openly opposing a cotton acreage reduction scheme proffered by the Delta Council, Stoneville, Mississippi.

The proposal would achieve a desirable reduction in cotton acreage, according to PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, "but almost the entire cutback would be forced on Texas and Oklahoma with the mid-South and most of the rest of the Cotton Belt giving up little or nothing."

The Delta Council presented its plan at House Cotton Subcommittee hearings December 27, asking that the Secretary of Agriculture be directed to enforce an acreage cutback following any year when the cotton carryover is expected to exceed four million bales.

The acreage reduction should be achieved, Delta Council recommended, by requiring producers (a) to plant five percent below their previous three-year average plantings in order to be eligible for the loan and (b) to reduce acreage up to another 10 percent as a prerequisite to disaster payment and target price eligibility.

"We can easily support the objective of reduced acreage following a year when the cotton carryover is too high," Johnson states, "but we can't leave unchallenged the proposed method of reaching that objective."

He points out that because of declining mid-South cotton acreage in recent years, producers in that area could cut back plantings to five percent below the 1977, 1978 and 1979 average and still plant 2,923,500 acres, over 10 percent more than the 2,650,000 acres planted in 1979. They could reduce the three-year average by 15 percent and still plant 2,615,700 acres, only 1.3 percent less than 1979.

These figures contrast sharply with the Texas-Oklahoma situation where acreage has been on the increase in recent years. The three-year Texas-Oklahoma average is 7,621,000 acres. Cutting back five percent would leave only 7,240,000 acres, 10.6 percent less than the 8.1 million acres planted in 1979. A 15 percent cutback to 6,477,800, would be over 20 percent less than last year.

Johnson also points out that plantings in the western states, with their highly predictable weather and consistent yields, wouldn't be affected because for the most part they couldn't care less about loan, disaster and target price payment eligibility.

"It becomes readily apparent that adoption of the mid-South proposal," Johnson concludes, "would cause a large acreage reduction over much of Texas and Oklahoma while the mid-South and others would be free to plant as many or more acres and reap a disproportionate share of the price benefits."

Statement on Beef Referendum

Agriculture commissioner Reagan V. Brown this week encouraged all cattle owners to participate in the upcoming Beef Referendum.

The referendum is calling for the establishment of a self-help program of research, promotion, marketing, and education, with assessments paid by all segments of the meat production industry from the rancher to the packer.

Registration to vote in the referendum will extend from January 28 to February 6 at county ASCS offices. Votes will be cast there February 19 to 22. Provisions are made for mailing absentee ballots.

In his statement Brown emphasized that every cattle owner in the state should vote on the proposal.

"Whether ranchers are for or against the issue is their personal decision; however, a move as important as this should have the full support of everyone affected if it is going to be implemented," Brown said.

"Without the proper backing, cattlemen are not going to be able to accomplish their goals," he added.

For the referendum to be valid, at least half of those registering must vote. A simple majority is required for passage of the referendum. Details on registration and voting can be obtained from the county ASCS offices and cattle organizations throughout the state.

LIBERTY AMENDMENT

In every session of the United States Congress since 1957, the following suggested constitutional amendment has been introduced as a resolution, and has been assigned to various committees, such as the House Committee on the Judiciary, which have failed to act upon it. It is currently identified as House Joint Resolution No. 23, and popularly known as "the Liberty Amendment", even though it has not yet been proposed or ratified as required by the United States Constitution, Article V. This is the text of the Liberty Amendment:

Section 1. The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution.

Section 2. The Constitution or laws of any State, or the laws of the United States shall not be subject to the terms of any foreign or domestic agreement which would abrogate this amendment.

Section 3. The activities of the United States Government which violate the intent and purpose of this amendment shall, within a period of three years from the date of the ratification of this amendment, be liquidated and the properties and facilities affected shall be sold.

Section 4. Three years after the ratification of this amendment to the Constitution of the United States shall stand repealed and thereafter Congress shall not levy taxes on personal incomes, estates, and/or gifts."

The following seven states have already passed resolutions encouraging Congress to propose the Liberty Amendment: Texas, Wyoming, Nevada, Louisiana, Georgia, South Carolina, and Mississippi. If finally approved by Congress, the Liberty Amendment would need to be ratified by thirty-eight states, and the states listed above would have to express their ratification in a new vote.

In addition to requiring the government to eliminate within three years all of its seven hundred government corporations and federal agencies operating over 11 thousand business activities, which the Liberty Amendment's supporters estimate would cut the federal budget by 50 percent, the amendment is also intended to repeal the federal income tax (sixteenth amendment), which would have decreased 1978 federal revenues by 42 percent.

The sixteenth amendment, stating that "the Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states, and without regard to any census or enumeration", is one of three important clauses on taxation in the United States Constitution. The others are Article I, Section 8 (1), which says that "the Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises, ... but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States"; and Article I, Section 9(4), which says that "no capitation, or other direct, tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration herein before directed to be taken".

The legality of the income tax in America has an interesting history. During the Civil War, Congress, badly in need of money, enacted the first national income tax law. The Supreme Court ruled that this tax was constitutional, classifying income taxation as an excise or duty rather than as a direct per capita tax on individuals. However, Congress repealed the act five years after the war, and did not subsequently pass an income tax law until 1894. At that time the Supreme Court reversed itself, classifying income taxation as a direct tax which must therefore be assessed against the states on the basis of the ratio which each state's population, this made the income tax unconstitutional for all practical purposes.

The adoption of the sixteenth amendment in 1913 gave Congress power to tax incomes from whatever source derived, and since the Supreme Court had held income taxes to be direct taxes, such taxes on income were not required to be either uniform or apportioned. The Supreme Court changed this interpretation again in 1916, by returning to the idea that income taxes are excises or duties. This meant that income taxes must once more be uniform throughout the United States, but an earlier Supreme Court decision in 1900 then came into play, which had held that the "uniform" requirement in Article I, Section 8(1), referred only to geographical uniformity, and not to percentage uniformity. In other words, the Supreme Court now thinks that progressive income taxation is constitutional, so long as the same schedule of progressive rates applies in each state of the nation.

The Liberty Amendment is intended to sweep the legal complexities which have developed as a justification for income taxation, by making such taxes, as well as federal taxes on estates and/or gifts, unconstitutional. The "Amendment", unlike many existing or proposed amendments to the United States Constitution, has no time limit for approval, and the Supreme Court has indefinitely. Supporters of the Liberty Amendment see this as one of its great advantages, but of course it would have to be voted out of committee and approved by two-thirds of both houses of Congress before that point would even become important.

ANIMAL BIOLOGICS BILL

On July 18, 1979, Representative William C. Wampler (R-Virginia), Ranking Minority Member of the House Committee on Agriculture, introduced H.R. 4853, the Animal Biological Products Act. The act, if passed by both houses of Congress, would give the Secretary of Agriculture the authority to license and regulate the production, sale, and shipment of animal biological products. "Animal biological products" are defined to include any natural or synthetic products, other than antibiotics or hormones, which are intended for use in the prevention, diagnosis, treatment, or cure of diseases of animals through a specific immune process, as determined by the Secretary.

Since December 1978, litigation has been pending in the Denver, Colorado federal court in which the plaintiff seeks a finding that the Department of Agriculture must assume authority over both intrastate and interstate animal biologics under the Virus-Serum-Toxin Act of 1913. Correspondence from Representative Wampler on December 17, 1979 indicates that he introduced H.R. 4853 to provide guidelines for the Secretary of Agriculture in the event that a declaratory judgment would require the Secretary to regulate the intrastate production and transportation of animal biologics.

Hearings have not yet been held on the proposed act, and Representative Wampler has not requested for any earlier than the second session of the present 96th Congress, however, requested the National Academy of Sciences to conduct a study on this subject in Washington sometime around the middle of 1980, to which all interested parties would be invited. An important discussion is that Article I, Section 8(3) of the United States Constitution gives Congress the authority to regulate interstate commerce, but not intrastate commerce.

SAFETY STANDARDS

The U.S. Occupational Safety and Health Administration has been urged by Congress during the October 12, 1979 through September 30, 1980 to exempt businesses with fewer than ten employees from safety record. The administration identified 49 industries that have fewer than seven workers and qualify for the exemption.

Congress is considering this type exemption to protect small workers.

COMMUNISM

On February 13th the United States House of Representatives will sponsor a bill to prohibit the New Hampshire will sponsor a bill to prohibit the former government attorney by the evils of the "McCarthy Era" as a position open for speaker will be Soviet espionage, and convicted perjurer Alger Hiss.

HUMAN RIGHTS TREATIES

There are four international rights treaties pending before the Senate. The four treaties are: (1) International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination, signed on behalf of the United States on September 28, 1977; (2) The International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights, signed on behalf of the United States on October 5, 1977; (3) The International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, signed on behalf of the United States on October 5, 1977; (4) The American Declaration of the Rights and Duties of Man, signed on behalf of the States on June 1, 1948.

A check with congressional records indicates additional hearings in connection with the treaties will apparently be considered if the Salt II treaties are disposed of by the Senate.

In summary, these international agreements are very dangerous to the American system. If the United States approves these treaties, the effect if enforced, alter the workings of the American system of areas of ownership of property, life, food distribution systems.

RUSSIAN GRAIN EMBARGO

President Carter announced Friday he was cutting off the metric tons of grain shipments expected to receive from the retaliation to the Afghanistan situation to ease the domestic effect of the grain embargo, the government grain supply contracts that 22 billion have with the Soviets for an estimated $2.25 billion. The grain includes million metric tons of wheat which the government will return to the marketplace. The hastily arranged administrative program also includes increasing the amount of the grain which will lend them if they place the storage as collateral. For the loan rate was raised to $2.35 a bushel from $2.25; for corn it was increased to $2.10 a bushel from $2.00. The government is also waiving year interest on the next 13 million of corn placed in reserve and annual federal storage subsidies for corn are to be reduced to 26 1/2 cents a bushel from 28 cents. To insure the corn and stay off the market longer, the levels were raised at which the would be free to withdraw from the reserve for sale. The which grain must, by law, be for sale were also raised. Corn selling a week ago for $2.40 would have to rise to $2.45 before farmers could withdraw the reserve and sell it. Wheat has to reach its projected price of $3.75 a bushel before it could
