Lockney Team Selected For Queens Classic

The Lockney girls basketball team has been invited to participate in the 1980 Plainview Queens Classic to be held in November. Only eight high school teams were selected from state-wide bids to play. Eight college teams will also participate in the Thanksgiving weekend tournament.

The field has been completed for the Classic and tournament officials are calling it the strongest ever assembled for the Thanksgiving weekend tournament. The Classic is sponsored by the Sports Committee of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce and will be played November 27-28-29, 1980. The Classic is played in beautiful Hatcher-Center on the Wayland College campus in Plainview.

Sports Committee chairman Tut Tawwater, in announcing the field, said "we feel that this is the strongest field that we have ever assembled for the Plainview Queens Classic in our five year history. We have three of the nation's Top 20 teams in the college division and three of the five Texas state champions in the high school bracket. We'll be able to offer fans in West Texas a tremendous Thanksgiving weekend of basketball."

In the high school division, defending Classic champion and AAAA Texas state titlist Dallas South Oak Cliff will be back to defend its crown. Beef Production Course Offered

A beef production short course for adult farmers will be held April 14-17 under the sponsorship of the Lockney High School Vocational Agriculture Department according to Mr. W.H. Hallmark, Superintendent, and Mr. Mike Glenn, Teacher of Vocational Agriculture.

Dr. Elmer V. Krehbiel, Beef Production Specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Animal Science at Texas A&M University, will be the instructor for the course. He is headquartered at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Krehbiel has a strong background in animal production and genetics. He received a B.S. degree from Oklahoma State University in 1950, an M.S. degree from the University of Arkansas in 1959, and a Ph. D. degree from Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1966. His graduate studies were based on selection for type and reproduction performance of cow herds.

Between periods of formal training, Dr. Krehbiel worked with the beef cattle industry as artificial insemination technician, beef cattle herdsman and ranch manager in Oklahoma. He also served as beef cattle research assistant in Arkansas, and animal geneticist for the USDA at Miles City, Montana. For two years prior to joining the Agricultural Education Specialist Program, he served as Area Livestock Extension Agent in Ohio.

The short course at Lockney is scheduled to begin April 14 at 8 P.M. in the Vocational Agriculture Building. During the dates the short course is in progress, Dr. Krehbiel will be available to assist cattlemen with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Mike Glenn.

Cattlemen interested in attending the short course should write or call the superintendent of schools, Mr. W.H. Hallmark, or the teacher of vocational agriculture, Mr. Mike Glenn. An entry fee of $5.00 will be charged.

Beef Production Short Course certificates will be presented to each cattlemen who attends all the training sessions.

Dr. Krehbiel states that the field of beef cattle production must take a close look at efficiency of production in the future. With land prices, feed, and taxes rising, the producer is meeting more and more competition for the consumer's dollar at the meat counter. From the economic view of the beef cattle business, there is every indication that in comparing the producer of yesteryear and the producer of tomorrow, beef must be produced more efficiently in order to be a profit-making business. Dr. Krehbiel indicated that the beef production short course will deal with methods of producing beef at a lower cost and the ways of producing the kind of beef that the homemaker wants to buy. The course will include such important topics as nutritional requirements, winter feeding, minerals, vitamins, feed additives, implants, facilities, equipment, selection of bulls and cows, animal identification including freeze branding, crossbreeding, feeder cattle grades, diseases, parasites, reproduction, market trends and management for efficient production. The course can be altered to meet the wishes and interests of the farmers and ranchers attending.

"Short courses in beef production, as well as in other areas, are available to farmers throughout the state under the cooperative program between Texas Education Agency and Texas A&M University," states Bob Jaska, associate professor, Department of Agricultural Education at Texas A&M University, who coordinates the program of Texas A&M.

"This Cooperative program," states Jaska, "is designed to make the services of specialists available to conduct short courses under the supervision of public schools. Such a program will enable teachers of vocational agriculture to provide improved educational services to people engaged in agricultural production and agribusiness."

Specialists are now available in the fields of beef production, farm electric wiring and safety, arc welding, horticulture, tractor maintenance, pasture, and oxy-acetylene welding.

Cotton Ginning: "It's A Good Life."

By Felicia Applewhite
The busy hum of the machinery at the Bill Evans' cotton gin shuts down after about a 4-or-5 month season each year. Only the door of the office where dominoes are played remains open. It is never shut all year except on Sundays. Local men who play dominoes there refer to the gin as the Bill Evans' Dominoe Parlor. Bill refers to the gin as a place to spend time, then he adds, "I like it that way because I like people." Bill fills in at a domino table at times to make a foursome. Even though he says that there is not much that is humorous about the dominoes, he chuckles when he observes, "We play hard. Some old timers out here would rather beat each other than make a hundred dollars."

Naturally Bill's time at dominoes is limited, especially during cotton ginning time. He has learned from long experience that to "keep the wheels rolling" a ginner has to be alert and on the job. His experience began when he was a kid working in a gin. In addition to that experience, he has helped build several gins. As for ownership, he repeats, "I like people. We have a good service going and it is a necessary service. I wouldn't pick anything else to do. I don't wish that I had done anything else. It's hard work, and like farming, you don't always put money in the bank."

The Evans' air blast gin, a 6-80 Stan Murray rated at six bales an hour, was built in 1952 by the Castle brothers. Bill came later in 1959 when it was owned by Stanforth from whom he bought it in 1975. He actually began managing it in 1970. The operations of the plant cover 15.4 acres of ground. The extra houses once used for gin personnel are all vacant other than the one occupied by his ginner, an Oklahoma Indian boy who has been with him four years, and who knows to be close to the gin because of fire hazards. The lint is removed from saws by air rather than by brushes making fires more likely.

There is no trouble in getting help. "I have this crew from Plainview who have been with me about three years. I furnish them gas — one tank a week — which is getting to be quite a proposition. That is the only motive you can give them to come this far to work. If someone comes up sick, my ginner, who knows everyone in Plainview has no trouble in getting me a hand. We pay top dollar. You've got to. I also pay them a 25 cent bonus if they stay with me until I am through. Last year they were drawing $3.25 an hour." Then, too, Evans mentions right off that Nancy Carthel, bookkeeper, "holds the whole outfit together. She cut her teeth on the gin books, which were in a bad shape when she first came here." Nancy grew up in a gin environment when her parents owned the Webster Gin in Lockney. Now "she could take over and manage this gin all by herself."

Evans says dealing with people is no big problem. "Just treat people half-way decent is all they ask. There are very few problems to face. I wouldn't trade his territory for any place I can think of. I'll put Lone Star up against any community as far as loyalty and being easy to work with is concerned. Dealing with people is a part of it. That is number one. I don't care how good a gin plant is, if you don't have people liking you, you had just as well forget it," says genial 6-foot, 3-inch Bill Evans.

At the same time, the gin prospers in proportion to area cotton production. "The conditions are getting around here now where they have very little choice in what to plant because of the lack of water and because of fuel cost. The big talk now is really on fuel cost. Since it takes less water to raise cotton than it does to raise corn and milo, we are going back to cotton and maybe wheat. Right now in this area if a man had plenty of water, the cost of getting the water to the crop is terrific. So, I believe we are going to have more acreage out here this year in cotton. That is not because cotton is such a good price, they are hoping to make more money."

This will probably mean an expansion in gin facilities. At this point, to stay in business, a change is necessary because a six-bale-an-hour gin couldn't make money "if you ran it seven days a week, 24 hours a day." It looks as though the future will mean better and faster machinery for the Evans' gin. "We have to. This gin machinery here was popular in the 30's and early 40's and will still do the job, but competition will cause us to modernize. We can't start bucking a 15-bale-an-hour gin."

There will be no tearing down the present gin building. When the new machinery is installed, it will not be possible to tell from the outside that a change has been made.

"I've just got some old machinery in there that needs to be replaced. It gins just as much as it can at the speed we now go, but it was made to turn at a certain r.p.m. and if you try to speed it up, you lose efficiency."

A further consideration concerns laws governing ginning. According to Texas laws, burs are not to be blown out on the ground. There are strict laws controlling exhaust from the gin. Now "they are bringing more criticism than air pollution. However, less than 2 percent of cotton gins are in the city limits or as much as one-half mile from the city limits. It is difficult to set up guide lines because no two gins throw out the same amount of noise, fumes or trash.

But extractors on cotton strippers would help by leaving burs in the field. That would rob a gin of weight, but then, burs are quite expensive to a gin as far as getting them separated from lint and as far the disposing of them. Not long ago, one means of getting the burs off the gin yard was to haul them to farms for fertilizer. It was not profitable to the ginner to furnish the spreader truck (one is still standing idle at the Evans' gin and they do not plan to use it again.) It is debatable that it was profitable to the farmer. It was responsible for pulling this wilt into the country plus noxious weed seed. Too many fields would not have had these weeds had they not had the burs spread over them. When the burs were used for cattle, the results are good. "I'll dump them for cow feed since we have to dispose of them. They are good cow feed. Compared to rice hulls and citrus pulp pellets that are hauled from South Texas they are better. They are a good filler, plus they have a lot more protein than we normally get from south Texas."

Now that baskets are used on strippers, cotton is easier to gin. It is not packed so much. When it was forked back, as many as three bales could be put on a two-bale trailer. When this was done, it was sometimes necessary to get in the trailer with a pitchfork, and loosen the cotton before it could be sucked up in the gin. Ginning the green bolls left at the end of the cotton rows in basket stripping is a problem. Ginning them is just another service. Those bolls are dirty and weather exposed much of the time. A good quality of cotton does not come from them. On the other hand, if they are turned occasionally and kept dry, they could turn out normal cotton.

"In another 10 years, we will be 80 percent modules here. A module gives a farmer an unlimited number of trailers during the season. He can just keep on moduling and not have to wait on a gin to get his trailer back. Most farmers would rather have cotton off the stalk on the turn row to let it wait there than to have it on the stalk. All the farmer needs is a $23,000 module and a tractor to run it. At least this method gets the cotton off the stalk.

A complete module ginning can be well. They simply take the module off the tractor, they show the module in for ginning, are going to go to the eliminates hauling. Lately, the ginning organization is being eyed by H.E.W. because of health because of health. "If we continue three-shift ginning day, we may have to have to quit ginning. H.E.W. will be taking hours a day, how many we can work. We are much to go to three shift get laborers to work eight hours. Most people make a quick buck and about the hours. Most mind working on Sunday.

"I wouldn't get it would be surprised to raise Cain when you Sunday. This gin is money ginning on you in black and white the expense. When I shut down on Sunday, I am sitting around while the parts. The Farmer's shuts down on Sunday successful."

"Every time there meeting at Plainview Sunday's ginning is nothing is accomplished needs a rest. A gin Sunday shut down. In 1954, fresh out Evans went to work ginner. He remembers were tearing down. It was wooden and had year.

"It surprised me for ginning had not from 1916 to 1954. This separating seed had changed. This concept Whitney. Another season to Bill Evans is just the meantime. Bill is certain to play dominoes.

Sleeping Beauty Presented As Musical

PRINCESS ROSA as played by Dana Duvall and the Handsome Prince as played by Wesley Teeter in the second grade class musical rendition of Sleeping Beauty.

The second grade music classes of Lockney Elementary School, presented the musical, "Sleeping Beauty," Friday, April 4 in the elementary cafeteria.

The entire second grade of 54 children composed the cast and was directed by Amy Frederiksen.

The musical followed the story lines of the story "Sleeping Beauty," with special attention given to Heath Rex-rode and Elvia Marcado, as the king and queen. Shea Jackson, as the wicked fairy, cast a feeling of doom upon all the castle, as she placed a wicked spell upon Princess Rosa, played by Dana Duvall. A feeling of lightness crept into the play as Phillip Glasson, tried to cheer up the ladies and gentlemen of the castle with his dancing and merriment.

In the second act, Princess Rosa, stumbled upon an old woman, (Cindy Cook) weaving and as a result pricked her finger and slept for a hundred years, as the story goes, she was awakened by the handsome prince, portrayed by Wesley Teeter. — And they lived happily ever after.

Up 'Fog' Between Sliding-Door Panes

Up 'Fog' Between Sliding-Door Panes
If you yourself can remember the two panes of double-glazed doors are dead air space between the two panes of glass to insulate the area and the home heat loss and heat gain. However, prefabricated double-glazed doors are sub-condensation between the panes of glass. The most common type of double-glazed door is two panes of glass separated by a aluminum mullion. Usually the mullion is filled with a desiccant, such as silica granules so air between the panes in condensation.

Problems with condensation generally occur after the use of the unit. The use of the seal causes the unit to become watertight and condensation between the panes of glass.

Place a thin bead of silicone sealant on the side edge of the bottom pane of glass, and position the mullion onto the sealant. Press down lightly on the top side of the mullion into it. To reset the gasket, run a medium of clear sealant around the edges of the slides and the glass. Position the gasket so the splice is at the top. Press the gasket into the still-wet sealant. Place metal edges of slides and top of mullion on rollers. Positioning the gasket splice is at the top. Press the gasket into the still-wet sealant. Finally, replace the edges of the door back into the frame.

Remove the screen and sliding section of the door by turning screws to tension on rollers. Lift the door up and, with a flat surface on a flat surface ant. Finally, replace the edges of the door back into the frame.

Veterans Administration. Also eligible are certain veterans whose service connected disabilities are permanently rated at 10 percent.

Veterans who believe they may qualify for the expanded dental benefits should contact the VA health care facility nearest their place of residence for application and assistance.

Dental treatment for former prisoners of war is previously limited to dental problems rated as service connected. The new legislation--Public Law 96-22--distinguishes between former POWs held captive for less than six months, and those who were prisoners for six months or more.

Short term prisoners are presumed not to have suffered irreparable dental damage while those held prisoners for six months or more are considered to have suffered such damage.

For this reason they are now eligible for any dental care, as determined necessary by VA, on an unlimited treatment basis.

Under certain conditions veterans living in localities remote from VA health care facilities may be authorized treatment by private dentists.

Clements Proclaims April Cancer Control Month In Texas

Governor William P. Clements has proclaimed April Cancer Control Month in Texas. Governor Clements met at the capitol with Dr. Jim C. Terrell, Jr. of Stephenville, state President of the Texas Division, American Cancer Society and Dr. James R. Walker, an ASCS cancer research scientist from the University Of Texas at Austin.

In an Executive statement the Governor urged all Texans to heed the lifesaving messages of the American Cancer Society and to provide generous support for its 1980 Crusade.

Dr. Walker is one of 40 American Cancer Society researchers doing work in Texas. Over $4.4 million of ACS research grants are currently in effect at 11 Texas institutions. In accepting the Proclamation Dr. Terrell announced that the chairman of the Division Crusade Committee. Mrs. James (Juandelle) Lacy of Midland, had recently made a $27,500 contribution toward one of those research projects; a new anti-tumor substance known as Interferon. Mr. and Mrs. Lacy have also announced a special statewide campaign to raise an additional $2 million for research on the promising drug. According to Dr. Terrell the National Society has already committed over $5.4 million toward Interferon research; some of which is being carried out at M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston.

Funds given to the American Cancer Society are used to support its three-part program of Research, Service to cancer patients and Education. 29,536 patients were given assistance such as sickroom equipment loans, transportation, blood, rehabilitation and counseling last year. 2.8 million Texans attended ACS Public Education programs; including 580,000 who participated in "Actions" programs, such as Stop Smoking programs, and personal instruction in Breast Self Examination. The fund raising goal of the Texas Division for 1979-80 is $7,000,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Weaks, east of Crosbyton, hid the eggs and had fun helping the children find them.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane McClintock moved the trailer house Penny and Dane used to live in to Lake Bridgeport about two years ago. They enjoy relaxing there during holidays. They left to go there last week, and also visited Duane's mother, Mrs. C.W. McClintock in Fort Worth, where she lives with her daughter.

Pay Taxes Due But Not In Cash

When paying your Federal income tax, send either a personal check or money order, but never cash, the Internal Revenue Service warned. Using a check or money order is safer from two standpoints, the IRS explained. First, a check or money order is harder to steal; second, the cancelled check or money order will serve as a record that the payment was made.

The IRS advised taxpayers to put their social security number on the check or money order directly below the signature. That way the taxpayer will be certain to get credit for the payment should the check or money order be detached from the return.

The IRS noted that no matter what type of check is used, the tax is not considered paid until the draft is honored by the bank in which it is drawn.

Lubbock Christian College and Texas Tech University will perform: Music, Theatre and Dance - Classical to Ethnic to Folk.

Groups included are: (On the Theatre Stage) - Lubbock Civic Ballet, Lubbock Civic Choral, Texas Tech University Women's Swing Choir, the Janis Geddis Briercroft Dancers with Miss Lubbock Terri Lynn Eoff, the Suzuki String Program and Gail Barber, harpist from Texas Tech University.

(On the Exhibit Hall Stage) - groups from the Lubbock Public Schools, the Ballet Folklorico de Mexicano de Lubbock, the Plains Wind Ensemble, the Texas Tech University Jazz Ensemble, the Lubbock Area Square and Round Dancers, Jazz Ensembles from Estacado and Monterey High Schools, the Lubbock Christian College Band, and dancers from the Adventure in the Arts program under the direction of Diana Moore.

Mrs. Letha Mulder arrived home Thursday to Amarillo, after two weeks visiting in Albuquerque, New Mexico, with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Mulder, who was in the Presbyterian Hospital part of the time she was there. She spent the night with her daughter and family, the Jerry Taylors, and she brought Ronda and Candy home with her to spend the weekend Easter vacation.

Mrs. Ruby Higginbotham went to Lubbock Monday accompanied by her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Gypert, from Giddings, which is near Austin. They were near the part of Texas which experienced the tornado Monday afternoon. They had flown in to be with Mrs. Higginbotham, his sister, on Friday night and were returning home.

The month of March went out like a roaring lion with a bad dust storm, and this Monday afternoon, after a beautiful Easter Day, we again experienced a terrible dust and sand storm. It was 28 degrees Friday morning and 32 degrees Tuesday morning, but we hope the fruit trees have survived the cold snaps.

At the school trustee election held at the South Plains school Saturday, April 5, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Upton presided at the polls. Two trustees were elected to office, Howard Staples and Kendis Julian.

Mrs. Bruce Julian and boys, Clay and Wade, came Friday night to spend the Easter weekend with her folks, the Edell Moores of Floydada and Mr. and Mrs. Kendis Julian and family. She and the boys had Easter dinner and attended church services in South Plains with Mrs. M. M. Julian. Others there were the Kendis Julians and Krisit, Mitzi and Tim. Janet and boys went home Monday in the terrible dust storm, and reported a slow, bad trip back home to get to Clarendon from South Plains, because of blowing fields.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nichols went to Canyon Sunday to visit her brother, T. B. Cox. They ate Easter dinner in Tulia, and when they arrived at the T. B. Cox home, they found T. B. dressed and sitting in his chair. This was the first time in many months that he had been up and dressed. All the Cox children were home for the Easter holidays; and as the Nichols came home they visited Mrs. Jack Smitherman in Central Plains Hospital in Plainview.

PCA Officials To Meet In Dallas

Plainview Production Credit Association (PCA) officials will be among 500 leaders of Texas Agriculture meeting in Dallas April 10-12. The occasion is the annual stockholders' meeting of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Texas. Directors from Texas' 30 Production Credit Associations and officials of various other financing institutions will convene in the Loews Anatole Hotel, Dallas' newest showplace.

Representing Plainview PCA will be H.L. Porter, Jr., Petersburg; Billy W. Carthel, Friona; A.W. Anthony, Jr., Friona; and Wells, Plainview. Porter serves as the PCA's official voting delegate.

According to Bill Black, the association's manager who will accompany the group registration is scheduled for Thursday, with most business sessions on Friday. Participants' wives will be treated to a two-hour fashion show "Fashions Through the Ages," tracing clothing through history and concluding with a showing of current styles. Friday night there will be a dinner and entertainment by the "Grapevine Opry," a country-western variety show.

Business sessions will deal with the condition of the FICB of Texas which provides money for lenders to agriculture. FICB of Texas President Jack H. Barton will deliver the report to stockholders.

The meeting ends Saturday morning, April 12. Plainview PCA provides agricultural loan funds to farmers, ranchers and producers in 8 counties.

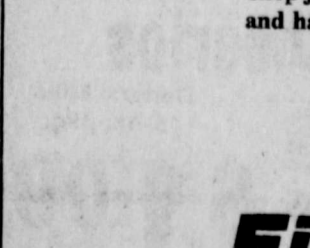

ATTIC FANS
Cooler attics mean cooler houses.

An attic-ventilating fan installed near the roof peak -- with air intakes in the eaves or in the gable sidewall -- will reduce attic temperatures and ultimately the interior of the home, says Sue Young, a housing and home furnishings specialist.

Mrs. Young is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

South Plains News

Monday Mrs. Letha Mulder visited her sister, Mrs. Clarence Cobb, (Mary), who is in the Tulia Hospital. Mrs. Jerry Taylor met Mrs. Mulder there and also visited Mrs. Cobb. Mrs. Taylor took her children Ronda and Candy Taylor home with her, as they had spent the Easter holidays in South Plains with their grandmother, Mrs. Mulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Powell had one son, Warren Powell of Centerville, Louisiana, in Central Plains Hospital since last Friday, following an operation. Saturday night their son-in-law, John Rushing, recently home from Schweinfurt, Germany, started to Plainview on his motorcycle, but had an accident with a truck. He had sustained a broken right leg, among other injuries. Mrs. Powell (Donna) and the boys are here with her parents, the Tillman Powells.

Mrs. Letha Mulder arrived home Thursday to Amarillo, after two weeks visiting in Albuquerque, New Mexico, with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Mulder, who was in the Presbyterian Hospital part of the time she was there. She spent the night with her daughter and family, the Jerry Taylors, and she brought Ronda and Candy home with her to spend the weekend Easter vacation.

Mrs. Ruby Higginbotham went to Lubbock Monday accompanied by her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Cypert, from Giddings, which is near Austin. They were near the part of Texas which experienced the tornado Monday afternoon. They had flown in to be with Mrs. Higginbotham, his sister, on Friday night and were returning home.

The month of March went out like a roaring lion with a bad dust storm, and this Monday afternoon, after a beautiful Easter Day, we again experienced a terrible dust and sand storm. It was 28 degrees Friday morning and 32 degrees Tuesday morning, but we hope the fruit trees have survived the cold snaps.

At the school trustee election held at the South Plains school Saturday, April 5, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Upton presided at the polls. Two trustees were elected to office, Howard Staples and Kendis Julian.

Mrs. Bruce Julian and boys, Clay and Wade, came Friday night to spend the Easter weekend with her folks, the Edell Moores of Floydada and Mr. and Mrs. Kendis Julian and family. She and the boys had Easter dinner and attended church services in South Plains with Mrs. M. M. Julian. Others there were the Kendis Julians and Krisit, Miltzi and Tim. Janet and boys went home Monday in the terrible dust storm, and reported a slow, bad trip back home to Perryton. It took two hours to get to Clarendon from South Plains, because of blowing fields.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nichols went to Canyon Sunday to visit her brother, T. B. Cox. They ate Easter dinner in Tulia, and when they arrived at the T. B. Cox home, they found T. B. dressed and sitting in his chair. This was the first time in many months that he had been up and dressed. All the Cox children were home for the Easter holidays; and as the Nichols came home they visited Mrs. Jack Smitherman in Central Plains Hospital in Plainview.

Wrong Social Security Numbers Delay Refunds, Says IRS

The IRS reminded taxpayers to check the information on the label before using it, however, to be sure all information is correct. Any changes should be made in ink on the label itself.

The IRS reminded those persons who changed their names last year to report the new name to their local Social Security Administration office. This insures that the new name will be assigned to the proper social security number.

Here's where I am, God

Know why there are so many public phones in airports? Everybody has to let someone know where he is . . .

Yes, we are dependent on one another for all kinds of support: "Please pick me up" or "I'll meet you in an hour" or "I'm finished here and moving on" or "What are my new instructions?"

One of the truths our churches stress is that we are dependent on God for support. We need a quality of support that is far above that which we have come to expect from one another.

Next Sunday when you see people on their way to church remember why there are so many phones in airports. Millions of us pray to God . . . to let Him know just where we are . . . to ask His support in fulfilling our present mission . . . or discovering our next.
