Commissioners Delay Action On Welfare Board

Lee said that he was, "here to help you in considering it (forming a Board), and I hope you do consider it."

Lee outlined the primary function of the Board as that of educating the community. He also said that the Board acts as a coordinating body between the needs of the small victims of abuse and the agencies that can help them.

Lee said that when a county contracts with the Department of Human Resources to establish a County Child Welfare Board there are then state funds made available to help that county take care of the needs of the child. These funds are for medical care. There are also state funds available for foster care of the child if he has to be removed from the home.

The Board system was organized by the legislature. A county can contract with the Department of Human Resources to set up a Board of between 7 to 15 people. The board is made up of ministers, school officials, attorneys, doctors, concerned citizens and commissioners themselves can serve on the Board.

Most county boards have an equal number of men and women or at least a good representation of women. School nurses are often appointed to serve. The Board is appointed by the County Commissioners Court.

To some, the name Child Welfare is confusing. It hasn't anything to do with welfare programs, food stamps or aid to the financially needy. The Child Welfare Board deals with abused and neglected children. These children come from all economic levels of society. As far as race and national origin is concerned, the racial percentage of abused children in an area seems to correspond with the population ratio in that area. Hence in an area with a population of 40% Anglo, 50% Mexican American, and 10% Black, there will probably be four Anglo, five Mexican-Americans, and one Black as a ratio of children suffering from abuse. These figures, of course, are not always the case, but are enough so that the problem surfaces as one that affects the entire population scale in an area.

Another misconception about a Child Welfare Board has to do with the duties of that Board. The Board does not pick up abused children. The Department of Human Resources removes the children. The District Court decides what is to be done with the child, and if there are to be charges filed against the adult offender it is the responsibility of the District Attorney.

Commissioners present at the meeting were, Jack Lackey, Bob Jarrett and Aaron Carthel. Judge Choise Smith officiated.

All three Commissioners expressed concern that by contracting for a Board they would then be expected to pay for foster home care as well as medical expenses for these children with county funds. They cited cases of having been presented with large medical bills for indigent county residents who had been treated at a hospital.

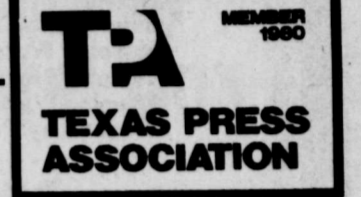

Lee said that in Crosby County they paid fewer of these expenses than they did before the Board was established in that county.

Lee said that in Crosby County the Commissioners had allocated $1000 to be used by the Board. The money was not set aside in a special fund, but was part in the county budget. Any bills that came in for the children or any expenses incurred went through the Court for approval. He also said that they hadn't spent much of that $1000 in Crosby County. He felt that the Board could be funded with $200. There must be some amount set aside in the budget to get the contract with the Department of Human Resources.

"You're not going to spend much money," Lee said. "The Board members are not paid. When they go to meetings to see how others are handling certain situations, they go at their own expense. The Board meets about once every three months."

Lee also said that 90% of the time if the parents of the child can't pay for the foster care or the medical expenses they can qualify for state aid. The Board helps the County in that capacity.

Raymond Lusk Changes Jobs and Director To Principal

Lusk was selected as Lockney Chamber of Commerce "Man of the Year" in 1977.

Lusk had directed Lockney school for several years, will be High Principal replacing Jim Frizzell.

Lusk's job in 1977 and in 1969 was as a principal. He moved into the principal's office and served two and a half years. He attended the University of Oklahoma and his master's degree returned to Lockney.

Over the years the Chamber of Commerce has had several new members. It has been a pleasure for me to talk to the members and to feel their business interests in the town. In a time of economic naught, these people are going full steam.

Raymond Lusk

About his decision to go into administration and leave the field of band, Lusk said "It was a decision that required a great deal of thought. I feel that a band director needs to be young enough to identify with the kids in order to keep them motivated. I'm beginning to be able to tell a difference. Also I feel that most of the goals I set when I came to Lockney have been accomplished. I could not have picked a better place to have this band program. The support of the community and the students has been great. The last seven years have been very rewarding for me and my family."

Lusk continued, "I like school business and intend to stay in education. But for myself and my family, I think it is time to make a career change if I ever intend to make one. I feel that this move will be a challenge."

Warren Accepts Head Coach Spot At Lamesa

Jim Warren, Lockney junior high principal and former head coach and athletic director, will move to Lamesa in June as head coach of the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes, a AAA school.

Steve Culwell, also a Lockney coach, will move with Warren and join the Lamesa coaching staff.

Jim Warren

"I have enjoyed the past six years here and I leave with mixed emotions," Warren said, "but I am also looking forward to the new opportunities and challenges afforded me at Lamesa," he added.

Warren's football team won district in 1974 and the departing Lockney coach compiled a 28-31-1 record.

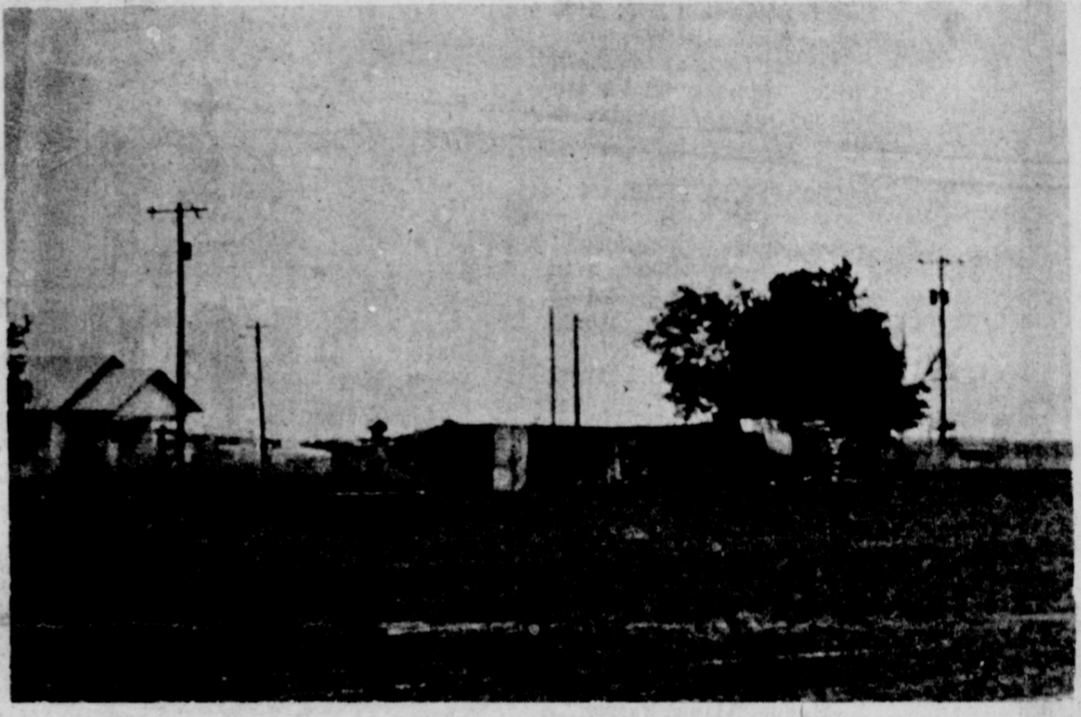

Warren and his wife, Lela, a junior high English teacher, have three sons: Steve, a Lockney senior, Russell, a freshman, and Doug, a seventh grader.

"I really appreciate the support of the fans here in Lockney," Warren said in his exit interview with the Beacon.

G.A.B. will be selling their "Hustling Horns" T-shirts this week May 19 to 23. Large and small sizes will be available and each shirt will cost $3.00.

CATTLETRUCK OVERTURNS EAST OF TOWN.

Cattle truck Overturns In Rainstorm With Help

A cattle truck loaded with 67 head of cattle overturned east of Lockney Wednesday morning during a heavy rain fall.

The truck driver, Steve Ogle, was not injured in the accident, and only one steer was lost. Clifton Cattle Company of Clifton, Texas owned the cattle and was shipping them to Western Lockney Limited Feed Yards.

The accident apparently happened when Ogle, trying to find the Lockney Feed Yards, made a wrong turn and the rig got stuck on the dirt road.

Two county maintainers were brought to the rescue to pull the tractor-trailer back to the pavement but in doing so the cattle shifted and caused the rig to turn over. Joe Lopez of the DPS office in Floydada said.

It was necessary to cut into the trailer with torches to free the cattle, Lopez said.

The cattle were rounded up by employees of the local feedyard and several local farmers. The wet and tired cattle were then transported to the feed yard in pickups with trailers.

Junior-Senior Banquet Held

More than 175 students attended the 1980 Lockney High School Junior-Senior Banquet Saturday night in the Cafeterium of the high school. The banquet was based on a Fantasy Island theme.

The room decorations included a white house with a bell tower and the guests entered walking over a bridge with water under it. A waterfall formation was on the left and on the right a grass hut. Other decorations included a trellis with flowers along the wall and strands of flowers coming from the ceiling, which showed the night sky coming through.

A gazebo covered with greenery, flowers and flower garden with a swing completed the decorative effects.

During the banquet, the juniors announced their selections for Senior class favorites. Kathryn Moore and Danny Delgado were named the Best All-Around Seniors and Paula Teuton and Arnold Alaniz were named Prom King and Queen.

Abel Ramirez and Brenda Williams were named as Most Likely to Succeed while Gay Frizzell and Curtis Ford were named Most Popular.

Honors as the Most Friendly went to Chris Hennagan and Melody Wiley, while Steve Auffill and Brenda Williams were named Most Representative of the Senior Class.

Following the Prom a senior breakfast was served in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Turner and the Junior breakfast was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Jackson of Providence community.

A BIGGER WORLD

There comes a time, even in a chick's life, when the way must open to a greatly expanded world. When his confining shell no longer allows proper growth, he makes a point of throwing off his shackles and steps out into a big, strange world.

This comparatively simple phenomenon is paralleled in human existence as each child grows toward adulthood, and reaches out for the wider horizon. What he finds there will depend in great part on what he has been taught.

For this reason the early and continued guidance of Christian home and church are all-important. From these things the foundation of faith is built. Through faith and understanding the shackles of fear and bondage are dispelled, and your child grows spiritually strong to meet the ever-widening horizons and challenges of a modern world.

After the commissioners had discussed the issue for a few minutes, Judge Smith asked them to make a decision one way or the other, and not just let the matter hang.

Bob Jarrett moved that the Commissioners do not establish a Child Welfare Board in Floyd County. Commissioner Lackey seconded the motion and in the ensuing discussion Commissioner Carthel said that he really did not know. He said that he would like to study the matter further. He would abstain from voting. "If it will work like he [Lee] said... I just don't know," Carthel commented. "It could save the taxpayers money."

Jarrett said, "I suspect that you're right." Smith suggested that it might be better to wait until Doodle Milton is here." He then asked Jarrett if he wanted to withdraw his motion.

Jarrett withdrew his motion. Lackey withdrew his second. He commented that he would not be in favor of it even at a later date.

Jarrett did say "no way that I favor making creating this Board without paying these outstanding county bills."

The minutes of the Court Meeting read: "The Court declined to make a decision until the Commissioner of Pet. 3 is present."

of needy children. But he feels strongly that if someone is abusing a child they should be arrested, that a stay in jail would stop the abuse.

Bob Jarrett moved that the Commissioners do not establish a Child Welfare Board in Floyd County. The minutes of the Court Meeting read: "The Court declined to make a decision until the Commissioner of Pct. 3 is present."

This reporter was also interested in finding out exactly what a contract with the Department of Human Resources would mean. Also in finding out how much of a need there is in this county for the Board.

A reliable source stated that there are cases in Floyd County now of children who need attention and that one reason they have not been attended to is that there are no funds to take care of them. There have also been cases of Floyd County children being taken care of by another county because this county would not pay. We were unable to confirm these points, but will investigate these cases further.

We talked to Paul Shawver in Amarillo, a spokesman for the Department of Human Resources. He said when a child is picked up as a victim of abuse, the court must decide what action is to be taken. If the court gives permission the child can be taken care of under three plans: the first plan is called 08 and is for AFDC Foster care. To be eligible the child must come from a home where there is only one parent or the father is disabled and unable to work. Floyd County can now apply for these funds.

The second plan is 09. Under this plan all medical bills for all children will be paid for the state. A county can apply for these funds only if there is a Child Welfare Board in that county. Floyd County cannot get these funds at this time.

The third plan is 01. This is set up by legislation and appropriates money for children who did not qualify for AFDC funds. This plan was made to help out small counties. In order to receive these funds the Department of Human Resources must file for permanent conservatorship of the child. A county can do this without a Child Welfare Board.

Shawver said, "We do not want to force the County Commissioners into setting up a Board in their county. They have to vote their own conscience. A Board gives us an insight into the community. We can get our program out to the Board."

He said that they act when the child's life is in danger and that a Board can help make decisions on cases. He also said that a Child Welfare Board is not going to incur county expenses any more than they have in the past.

The County Commissioners still have the authority to approve or deny any expenses or individual bills. We questioned him on this point. "If that even with a Board the Commissioners still have the right to deny payment of individual bills?" He said that was correct.

"Our object in getting the Board is to get their input into cases in their own county. And to get our message out to the community so that we will be able to provide assistance," Shawver said.

Come on out and join in the fun. Lockney has 71 players on five different teams in the T-Shirt League (7, 8, 9 yr. old). 57 players on four different Little League teams, and 30 boys on two different teenage teams, a total of 158.

From the first game on May 24 through the last game on July 8, there will be games going at Bickley Field five nights a week. T-shirt games will start at 6:30 with a 2 hour time limit and the Little Leagues will start at 8:30 alternating nights with the teenagers whose games will also start at 8:30.

This is the largest number turning out for baseball in Lockney in several years and it means more time and money required on the part of Lockney's citizens - and they have responded generously. The following are contributors to Lockney baseball and they are greatly appreciated.

WASHINGTON (AP) - It now costs the average American family of four more than $20,000 a year just to maintain a moderate standard of living, the Bureau of Labor Statistics says.

The Labor Department agency said Wednesday that a family comprised of a husband, non-working wife and two children needs $20,517 for an "intermediate" standard of living, based on last fall's prices. Officials conceded the figure would be higher by current cost levels.

The same size family maintaining a lower standard of living would need $12,585 a year, the report said. It would take $30,317 for what the government calls living at "higher levels."

Induction (cool heat) countertop ranges are unlike any conventional range -- mainly they're highly energy efficient, since they turn the cooking utensil itself into a burner. Also, they wipe clean, and the surface "doubles" as a cutting board or countertop. In addition, they feature several safety precautions -- they won't let a pot burn if it "boils dry," for example. Cooking without the usual heating elements, the induction range induces heat directly into the cookware -- rather than the usual method of heating up a cooktop and then transferring heat to the cookware.

Specifically, here's how it works: an electromagnetic coil beneath a ceramic cooking surface creates a magnetic field. When iron or steel cookware is placed within the field, it heats up instantly and cooks the food in the cookware.

Because the cookware itself becomes the burner, the only heat generated is the heat in the pan, although the pan might reflect a small amount of heat back to the countertop. Consequently, the induction unit is extremely energy efficient, and this method of cooking is cooler and safer than conventional methods.

Controls are permanent magnets of the slide-rule type, and they activate power switches inside the range -- so you can infinite heat selection from "high" to "off." Cooking starts rapidly and the heat decreases quickly at the end of the operation.

Several unique safety features guard against misuses of the induction range. A pilot light indicates when unit is on. Also, the range will automatically shut off if no utensil is over one of the units or if a pot "boils dry." If the homemaker accidentally uses copper or aluminum cookware -- and the current in the induction coil begins to climb, the current is limited automatically to a lower safe value.

Induction ranges do need special cookware -- steel or iron ONLY. This includes stainless steel and porcelain enamel steel, along with cast iron or enameled iron. These materials give a desirable range of cooking heats, since they possess enough resistance to the flow of current to provide an easy path for a magnetic field. On the other hand, glass and ceramic materials offer too great a resistance to current flow, as they will not heat on induction ranges. Also, aluminum and copper have too little resistance to the current flow, so they don't provide enough heat for cooking, either, although they are good conductors in conventional cooking methods.

Since the range top never becomes hot, any spills or stains cannot burn on -- they simply wipe off. Also, the magnetic controls lift off for easy cleaning. In addition, you can use the entire top as a counter work surface -- even as a cutting board. Ceramic is so tough that it isn't damaged if utensils are dropped on it.

INSTRUCTOR—Dr. Joe Reaves, instructor for Psychology 231 at the Crosbyton extension center of Western Texas College, uses audio-visual aids to enhance classroom lectures. The overriding goal is to make the course practical, he says, and keep it interesting at the same time.

WTC Offers Course In Fair Housing Practices

Western Texas College will offer a three-hour course in Fair Housing Practices on May 27 at Crosbyton High School.

Tom J. Brian, Crosbyton attorney, will be instructor for the course. The class will meet from 6:30-9:30 p.m. in room 103 of the science building.

In order to register, students must have their Social Security number and pay a tuition fee of $10 per person. Each student completing the course will receive a Letter of Completion to be mailed with their license application to the Real Estate Board.

Beginning Sept. 1, 1979, the Real Estate License

Amendment requires that persons seeking licensure in Texas must first complete three hours of classroom instruction on federal, state and local laws governing housing discrimination, housing credit discrimination and community reinvestment.

In addition to new license applicants, all agents and brokers licensed in Texas should be aware that the Texas Real Estate Commission has the power to revoke or suspend licenses of any person practicing discrimination. For this reason, persons already active in real estate may wish to consider taking the short course for their own protection.

SPTB Reminds Texans Of Rights

The State Property Tax Board (SPTB) today reminded Texans of their right to appear before local boards of equalization to appeal values assigned to their property for ad valorem tax purposes.

SPTB Executive Director Kenneth Graeber noted that "the right to appear before the board of equalization is the single most important remedy available to taxpayers regarding the value placed on property."

"The board of equalization is the taxpayer's opportunity to be heard in an informal setting and without incurring expensive court costs," Graeber added.

He pointed out that each local government which collects property taxes must have a board of equalization (BOE) to hear taxpayer appeals on values, and that most BOEs meet in the period ranging from May until about mid-July.

Taxpayers who rendered their property to the local assessor must be notified of the time and place of the board of equalization meeting if the assessor raised the value rendered.

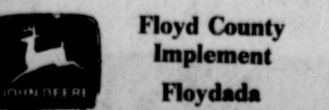

Even those who did not render still have the right to appear before the BOE, but persons in this category will have to learn on their own when the board will meet.

Graeber pointed out that

Cattle counters say beef production will be down again this year. However, the decrease in production is not expected to be as sharp as it was in 1979. Economists with the National Cattlemen's Association say beef production for 1980 will total just over 20 billion pounds. This compares with 21.1 billion pounds last year and 24 billion in 1978. Depending on a number of economic possibilities, any decrease could begin to turn around in late 1980 and production may be on the increase by 1981. Observers say cow herds are now two to three percent larger than at the same time last year but rising costs and high interest rates remain a threat to any significant production increases in the near future.

Changes For Design Effects

Design your own flared skirt by simply changing or considering the fabric grainline in cutting the skirt. The vertical direction of a flared skirt is usually placed on the lengthwise grain, since most fabrics are stronger, less stretchy and hang more softly in this direction. Crosswise or bias positions are used for certain design effects, such as stripes, border designs, or for a different fabric hang. By shifting the location of the lengthwise grainline, a four-gored flared skirt can look entirely different. Consider these possible locations:

Location 1: When the skirt's center front and back seams follow the lengthwise grainline of the fabric, the skirt will flare at the side of the body but hang straight in the center front and back. This results in a wider look from side to side but smoothness under the stomach and seat areas. Since the side seams are cut on the bias, they may stretch causing an uneven hemline.

Location 2: When the skirt's side seams follow the lengthwise grainline of the fabric, the skirt will flare in the center front and back. It will hang straight at the side seams. This results in a slimmer look from side to side but accents the stomach and seat areas. Since the center front and back seams are cut on the bias, they may stretch, causing an uneven hemline.

Location 3: When the lengthwise grainline of the fabric falls in the center of the skirt pattern pieces and does not fall at the side or center front or back seams, the flare will hang evenly around the body. Since neither seam lies on the straight of the grain while others lie on the bias (each seam lies slightly on the bias), there is less possibility of an uneven hemline. However, this pattern layout may require more yardage to cut.

Store Bread in An Original Container

Keep breads at highest quality and flavor by following a few guidelines, advises Marilyn Haggard, a foods and nutrition specialist.

Miss Haggard is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Store bought breads at the room temperature in the original container for best results, she says.

In hot, humid kitchens, keep bread in the refrigerator to prevent mold growth. Breads do stale more quickly in the refrigerator but are still edible and toast well.

-- white bread and plain rolls (quality loss is gradual)
-- two to six months
-- unbaked rolls, unbaked yeast dough and unbaked quick breads -- one month
-- partially baked yeast breads -- six to eight months

-- baked cakes and cupcakes -- four months
-- cinnamon rolls, fruit and nut breads -- three months.
Quick breads are best when stored in the freezer one month or less.

Bran muffins and fruit and nut breads are better baked before freezing.
Biscuits and muffins are better frozen uncooked. Use a standard recipe and double-acting baking powder, she suggests.

For biscuits, roll, cut and freeze on a double layer of freezer paper. Pack tightly once frozen, and remove the amount needed.
Bake biscuits on a greased baking sheet at 450 degrees F. Bake thawed biscuits 12-15 minutes, unthawed 20-25 minutes.

For muffins, place batter in baking cups and freeze. To bake, thaw at room temperature for one hour, then bake as for fresh muffins.

Yeast breads freeze well, especially those with a fairly large amount of sugar and fat, Miss Haggard says.
Thaw at room temperature in the wrapping, and heat in a 250-300 degree oven for 15-20 minutes.

Partially baked yeast breads are handy to have in the freezer. Small rolls freeze best.
Bake the rolls in a slow oven at 275 degrees F. for about 20 minutes, cool quickly, wrap and freeze.

To serve, thaw in wrappings 10-15 minutes and bake in a 425 degree F. oven for five to 10 minutes or until golden brown.
Unbaked yeast rolls can be made from plain or sweet dough. Shape rolls after the first rising, grease all surfaces well and freeze immediately.

Thaw in a warm place and let rise until light. Bake as usual, the specialist adds.

The first batch of pump efficiency tests conducted during the High Plains Water District project was conducted during the summer of 1978. The results indicate that there are tremendous opportunities to upgrade pumping plants and realize substantial savings in fuel costs (at the time of the test) normally will justify the investment. The United States produces a lot of cotton fabric; in fact it is enough to put a blanket, more than two miles wide, from Boston to Los Angeles.

And after that is done, there is the same amount of cotton left which can go into jeans, shirts and furnishings, in Korea, Japan, Hong Kong, Taiwan and China.

Cotton produced in the United States, according to a recent government publication, comes from more than 90,000 farms, is processed at about 3,200 gins and is produced into fabric by nearly 7,000 textile plants.

"The Cotton Industry in the United States - From Farm to Consumer," a 75-page descriptive booklet that tells the story of cotton from the boll to the shirt, has been published by Texas Tech University and the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The limited edition publication can be ordered free of charge from Dr. Don E. Ethridge, Department of Agricultural Economics, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas 79409, or by calling him at (806) 762-7696.

Ethridge and Dale Shaw, adjunct professors of agricultural economics at Texas Tech, are among the eight authors of the publication. It is edited by W.C. McArthur, University of Georgia, who is also one of the authors.

Ethridge and Shaw are with the National Economics Division of the Economics, Statistics and Cooperative Service (ESCS) of the USDA.

The illustrated publication notes the various changes in the cotton industry during the last several decades.

Changes in production, according to the published data, have mainly occurred in location of cotton acreage, amount of acreage and average yield.

"There has been a definite shift in acreage from the eastern regions of the Cotton Belt to the western areas during the last few decades," Ethridge said.

Also cotton acreage has declined from 24.4 million acres for the 1947-51 period to 12.4 million acres for the 1971-75 period, a drop of about 50 percent.

"But production has decreased by only 16 percent as a result of an increase in the average yield from 280 pounds to 473 pounds per acre during the same period," the Texas Tech economist said.

"But investment costs for a new gin plant have risen from $250,000 a decade ago to more than $2 million today, as a result of higher construction costs and the need for improved equipment that can handle the harvest," the publication adds.

The ginned product goes to the textile industry which produces about 22 billion square yards or 7,000 square miles of cotton fabric, enough to put a blanket, more than two miles wide, from Boston to Los Angeles.

However they are ineffective against such insects as stink bugs, squash bugs and spider mites.

A word of caution: Handle all insecticides with care and read and heed label directions exactly. To do otherwise could result in poor pest control and even injury to you, your family or neighbors.

For more specific information on garden insect control, a very good publication entitled "Vegetable Garden Insects and Their Control" M.P. 1257, is available through your county office of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Garden insecticides can generally be divided into two categories: Standard chemical insecticides for general insect and mite control and biological agents designed specifically for controlling worms.

Sevin R and Malathion are examples of standard insecticides. The biological agents will control several important worm pests—corn earworm, cabbage looper, beet armyworm and tomato hornworm, among others—without harming such beneficial insects as lady beetles and lacewing flies.

If you have youngsters under five years old, it's well worth your effort to be careful about how you use, store and dispose of pesticides. Protect them by keeping chemicals out of sight and out of reach.

Floyd County Farm Report

BY NANCY CARTEL

BOY!! IT RAINED
When it rains like this you can be sure it's either time to plant or time to harvest and this week it's time to plant and the rains did come.

The Sterley community received from 2-2½ inches. Jerry Davis reported 3.2 inches in his gauge.

Paymaster Gin in Aiken showed 2½. Larry Christian reported 1.6 inches at Lone Star and the Lockney gauges showed around 2¼.

Cotton planting in the north part of the county is from 50% to 80% complete and the rain will enable those in dry-land areas to have plenty of moisture to get their crops up.

Around 2" of rain was reported seven miles east of Floydada and 1½" south of Dougherty.

Planting has been a little slower in the southern part of the county because of the lack of moisture.

Corn and wheat crops look good. The recent rains have given them a boost. Some milo has been planted and a little cotton is already up.

Now farmers are greasing up the sand fighters and rotary hoes in anticipation of the wind and sand getting up.

The Federal Aviation Administration and the EPA has been petitioned by Friends of the Earth to require a 1,000 foot buffer zone for aerial spraying of pesticides and a 250-foot zone for ground spraying. Regulations would require written permission from all landowners prior to application. For assistance in blocking the adoption of these proposed regulations, contact your Congressman and Senators. Comments can be sent to Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the Chief Counsel, Attn: Rules Docket (AGC-24), Docket No. 19448, 800 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20591.

Another item of interest is the Fair Labor Standards Act Amendments (H.R. 1704) that proposes to set a 35-hour work week. Overtime would be double. If passed, workers would either make less or employers would have to increase hourly wage rates.

SAMPLING PROCEDURES MAY BE REVISED: The U.S. Department of Agriculture proposes to revise sampling procedures for cotton submitted for official classification. The proposal would allow each segment of a sample to be split lengthwise along layers, making two samples. However, only the sample containing the two outside portions will be eligible for USDA classification. This means samples received for official USDA classification will be unchanged. The change was recommended as a result of a recommendation of the Joint Industry Bale Packaging Committee to limit the number of sample cuts made on a bale when initially received at a warehouse.

EXPORTS RISE: Exports of 217,100 running bales of upland cotton during the week ended April 20 brought the season's total to 6,356,800, compared with 4,226,300 a year ago. New sales for the current marketing year delivery were 21,900 bales. The major buyer was Canada, 15,200. Sales of 134,700 bales for 1980-81 delivery included 40,000 to China, bringing its total commitment for 1980-81 to 902,000 bales. Other buys were Korea, 31,200 bales, and the Philippines, 27,000.

Mrs. Murry Julian

Mother's Day in South Plains was a beautiful day with hardly a cloud in the sky. Attendance at the South Plains Baptist Church was low because many families went to visit their mothers. Dr. Fred Howard brought the Mother's Day Message and visitors included the families of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Julian and Dickie of Roscoe, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Julian, Clay and Wade of Perryton, Mrs. Bernice Sandusky of Denver, Colorado. Corsages were presented to the youngest mother, Mrs. Carlton Johnson (Diane), to the one with the most children present, Mrs. Kendis Julian (Janis), and to the oldest mother, Mrs. M.M. Julian (Bonnie). For many years we saluted the oldest mother, Mrs. Walter Wood, who has moved to Lake Whitney with her daughter and family, and we sorely miss her presence on this important day, and wish her a happy Mother's Day.

High School graduation will be on May 25th at 8 p.m. for Baccalaureate services at the First Baptist Church in Floydada, and Commencement Exercises will be at the Floydada High School on May 27 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium for the high school graduates. High School graduates from South Plains are Renee Sanders, Breck Stapleton, Monte Lyons, Kelly Marble, Lori and Lisa Bice, Kristi Julian, Dwayne Marble, Joey Luna, Kenneth Young and Glenna Powell. The latter two are now living in Floydada, but went to South Plains all through the lower grades.

Both girls plan to go to college, and Kristi will attend San Angelo State University if her plans work out. Renee Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sanders had a 94.93 point average, and we add our congratulations to others in wishing them happiness and success in the future.

There will be an eighth grade graduation party given for all the graduates of the Eighth Grade classes in Floydada, held at the Massey Activity Center on Friday night, May 16, at 7:30 p.m. Those in the South Plains Community who will be in the eighth grade graduation class will be Cindy Mulder, Mizzi Julian and Cindy Marble. Dialysis Helps Sustain Life For 200 People Kidney disease is one of the major causes of work loss among men and women with approximately 10% of America's out-patient visits resulting from such problems. There is no single "kidney disease" rather, there are many diseases of the kidneys which differ according to the nature and cause of the problem.

Much can be done to treat kidney patients through drugs, diet therapy and the artificial kidney machine, but the hope of life for thousands is a chance for a transplant of a healthy kidney. There are 200 people from this area currently on dialysis in order to sustain life. Over 4,000 people in Texas need a transplant but only one in 10 can find a related donor. For this reason, the organ donor program is a top priority of the Kidney Foundation. If just 10% of all Americans would make arrangements to donate their kidneys, there would be enough to meet patient needs. Locally, there have been 10 kidney transplants in the Texas Panhandle since last spring.

Some diseases attack the kidneys without visible symptoms. For this reason the Kidney Foundation of the Texas Panhandle is currently providing a free Urinalysis Screening Program to the public schools. An elementary school, east of Amarillo, was the pilot school in this program recently. Out of 442 persons tested, 20 of these had indications of possible kidney problems and were referred to their personal physician. It is hoped that this program can be expanded to this fall and that all elementary school children in the 44 county Panhandle area can be tested for detection of early kidney disease during the coming school year.

Another priority of the Kidney Foundation is patient services. Some of the services offered include information, help with insurance and social security claims, medical alert jewelry, bloodplasma insurance, emergency transportation, transportation to the transplant center, patient information packets, emergency financial assistance, patient visitation teams and a lending library.

The Kidney Foundation of the Texas Panhandle is an affiliate of the National Kidney Foundation, servicing all cities from Lubbock to the top of the Texas Panhandle.

This campaign needs the attention and support of everyone. Anyone interested in helping to make this event successful can contact the Kidney Foundation at (806) 355-8913, 2710 Civic Circle, Suite 2, Amarillo, Texas 79109.

Public Notices

NOTICE AFFORDING OPPORTUNITY FOR PUBLIC HEARING

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation is planning the reconstruction of Los Lingos Creek Bridge, 6.1 miles north of F. M. 97 and Quitaque Creek Bridge, 5.1 miles north of F. M. 97, both on F. M. 1065 in Floyd County.

This proposed bridge reconstruction will consist of replacement of the total structures between present abutments. The proposed bridge widths will be 34 foot clear roadway.

In order to utilize as much of the present bridge structure as possible, it will be necessary to close F. M. 1065 to through traffic during this reconstruction, with traffic being routed over F. M. 599.

Maps and other drawings showing the proposed location and design and any other information about the proposed project are on file and available for inspection and copying at the Resident Engineer's Office in Post, Texas, or the District Office of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, 601 Slaton Highway, Lubbock, Texas.

Information about the State's Relocation Assistance Program, the benefits and services for displacees and information concerning the relocation assistance office as well as information about the tentative schedules for acquisition of right of way and construction can be obtained at the Resident Engineer's Office.

Any interested citizen may request that a public hearing be held covering the social, economic and environmental effects of the proposed location and design for this highway project by delivering a written request to the Resident Engineer's Office on or before June 18, 1980. The address of the Resident Engineer's Office is P. O. Box 99, Post, Texas 79356.

In the event such a request is received, a public hearing will be scheduled and adequate notice will be published about the date and location of the hearing. 5-18c

Paperwork Is Creating A National Headache

If the census bureau chose your household as one out of every six to complete the "long" census form, you're probably relieved that America's national headcount occurs only once a decade. Census officials figure that it took 45 minutes to fill out the long form for a seven-member family, but some Texans who report spending several hours struggling with the form scoff at that.

Beyond the census, the time-consuming task of responding to government paperwork demands is giving Americans a national headache. Last year, the General Accounting Office (GAO), an investigative arm of Congress, did a study at my request showing that American businesses spend over 69 million hours and one billion dollars a year on government paperwork.

The GAO concluded the inevitable: this surge of paperwork creates inflationary pressures, tacking on costs that ultimately are passed to consumers.

As Chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, I recently presided over a hearing on the inflationary impact of U.S. Department of Agriculture paperwork requirements. The GAO prepared a new study for the hearing on how the meat industry is burdened by unnecessary paperwork.

The report takes a look at the bureaucratic maze within USDA. American meatpackers must resort to the services of private firms that specialize in cutting through government red tape.

In a meatpacking firm makes five sizes of canned hams at five different plants, it must submit 25 separate applications to gain approval for the necessary labels. According to USDA estimates, a company spends $94 to complete the 25 applications. However, if the company processes its own forms, it could take up to three weeks for the applications to wind their way through USDA.

So, for an extra $200 - $375, the company pays a private firm to speed up the applications.

Agriculture officials may also be underestimating the amount of time that people spend to fill out their forms. The USDA calculates that a company could complete the Annual Packer Report in four hours. But when the GAO spotchecked 16 meatpacking firms, it found this estimate was off-base.

Single-plant packers were taking around seven hours to fill out the forms; packers with more than one plant averaged over 144 hours! In efforts to hold down the amount of paperwork, the Office of Management and Budget must clear any form proposed by a government department or agency before the form can be used. In another paperwork problem uncovered during our JEC hearing, we found that local officials of USDA have come up with "bootleg" forms which have not been approved by the Department or OMB.

We've found over 1,100 of these "bootleg" forms, but there could be more. When you look at the price that farmers and ranchers get for beef, and compare it to the going rate at the grocery meat counter, you'll see an incredible difference. Government paperwork adds a lot to this steep price markup.

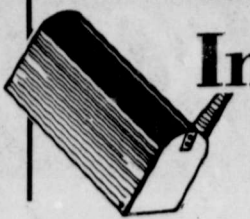

So far, two Bentsen anti-paperwork bills have been signed into law. One of them eliminates overlapping demands made by individual federal housing agencies. The other reduces demands made on local governments under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

I've proposed a third, more sweeping paperwork reduction bill as well. For too long, federal agency officials have used a "rule of thumb" policy to gauge paperwork needs. This year, I'm promoting legislation that will place a system of "checks and balances" on the stream of paperwork flowing from federal agencies. It provides a coordinated attack on all excess paperwork from a central office with the power to get the job done.

It will take time to ferret out all the excess paperwork demands made by the federal government. But our economic well-being is at stake, so I'm calling on Congress to speed up the process.

Mail Box Improvement Week

"It's time to do something for your winter-weary friend, the mailbox," says Postmaster E.H. Wester, "and the perfect time to do it is during Mailbox Improvement Week."

Residents of Floydada are urged to examine their mailboxes to determine whether they have been damaged during the winter by weather or vandalism — particularly those located along rural routes.

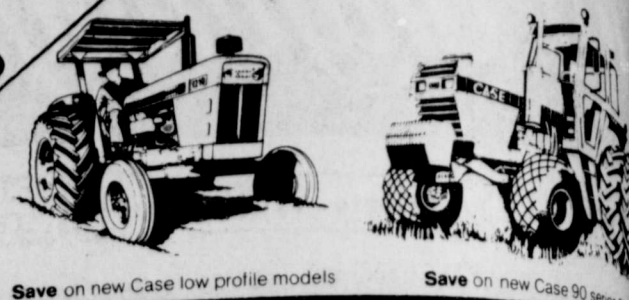

"Some boxes may only need painting," says Postmaster Wester. "Others may need to be replaced. Mailbox Improvement Week is a good time to decide the best way to improve your mailbox. A damaged or improperly placed box will make it difficult for rural letter carriers to leave that special letter or package."

The Postal Service does not restrict customers to a specific type of mailbox, but does say that all boxes—whether standard or custom-made—must meet certain specifications for size, strength and location. A variety of approved commercial mailbox designs are available for use with decorative posts. "Customers should check with the FLOYDADA Post Office for specifications," the Postmaster said.

"I would remind people that the mailbox regulations have been written with safety and efficiency in mind," said Postmaster Wester. "You should not use massive farm equipment or heavy objects like plows and milk cans filled with cement to hold up mailboxes. Supports of this type are potential accident hazards. They can damage vehicles and cause serious injury to people who accidentally strike them."
