Stenholm supports bilateral agreements

Congressman Charles Stenholm (Texas) appears to be the leading number of farm state support for multilateral trade agreements, according to state members of the Texas meeting in Dallas.

The U.S. did not sell one bushel of grain in world markets for a price above the cost of production since the state of Texas was formed, Stenholm told the statewide audience that off-shore nations such as Australia "are asking when we are going to stop selling grain."

Stenholm also said he had little doubt that fuel costs would rise by a dollar per gallon in a relatively short time, but, rather than suffering from diesel costs, farmers should be "getting the 16-20% return they are entitled to because of the definite price floor of 'gasohol' (ethanol) relative to crude oil."

Sen calls for import quotas

Senators on Thursday called for meat import quotas during 1981. They consider both the economic and the political impact of the quotas on the 1981 and then to negotiate agreements with other countries," Bentsen said.

The Department of Agriculture, the amount of meat imported without a quota of 11 million pounds and 1.447 million pounds of all other meat if any, impact on the economy and any action to suspend import quotas will have a severe impact on the American cattle industry, Bentsen said.

It's Not Easy

BY CAROL LEA CLARK
You suppose dishes grow on trees? You suppose dishes that are always two dozen more or less than you need are always there half an hour later?

Christmas my parents gave us two new coffee cups. I don't know how many are always dirty? I don't know how many are never a clean coffee cup to be used.

My husband says, "You only wash two or three times a week. That's not true. I wash dishes at least three times a day. I spend half my life washing dishes."

It still means a lot of work, especially when you have a little leprechaun who always stops the dishwasher when the dishes are really clean so that you have little "yucks" all over the place.

It doesn't mean to say that my husband helps with the dishes. He says he washes dishes, but I never can tell because our little leprechaun erases the evidence.

It's hard to tell that the spaghetti cooker was washed by my husband after dinner, because the remains of the evening's bowl of popcorn are in it the next time I see it.

I spent the first 18-years of my life washing dishes at my parent's house whenever I couldn't get out of it. It was amazing how many excuses I could come up with. A sprained thumb was good for a few days off. Studying was also good.

When nothing else worked, I would try hiding the dirty dishes in the oven. That worked until the next meal.

Naturally my parents didn't buy a dishwasher until I had been gone to college at least two days. Now whenever I go to visit them I call first to make sure that their dishwasher is working. At least they don't seem to have a resident leprechaun.

We could try using paper plates and plastic silverware, but there are still drawbacks. Have you ever tried carving steak with a plastic knife. Either it won't cut at all, or if it does it also cuts through the paper and you end up with steak juices on the table. Then you have to get rid of all those paper products, so you end up spending all your time taking out trash instead of washing dishes.

Some days washing dishes does get to be a bit much, especially if you're hungry and you know that you have to wash pots and pans before you can cook. Then you have to wash dishes before you can eat.

Maybe we'll just go out for dinner tonight.

Thanksgiving service tonight

A Thanksgiving service in honor of the freed American hostages will be held at 7 o'clock tonight at First United Methodist Church in Lockney. The Rev. Michael O'Connor will officiate at the service which will last about a half-hour. The community is invited.

The Lockney City Council will hold its regular monthly meeting next Thursday, February 5. The meeting begins at 9 a.m. in the council chambers at city hall. On the agenda is a resolution calling for a city election Saturday, April 4. Those whose terms are ending are Mayor Claude Brown and Councilmen Thurman Davis and Bobby McCormick. None of the three has indicated yet whether he will seek re-election.

Church sponsors dinner

The youth of First United Methodist Church in Lockney will host a chili supper next Tuesday prior to the Lockney High School basketball game against Abernathy at LHS. Chili, a drink and dessert will be served from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the junior high school cafeteria. The cost is $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12-years-old.

Merchants plan promotions

The Lockney Retail Merchant's Association has made plans for ways to promote shopping in Lockney in 1981. In their meeting at Strickland's Restaurant, they decided to promote Valentine's Day and Washington's Birthday in February and St. Patrick's Day, Welcome Spring, and Red Tag Sales in March. The organization plans to meet the first Thursday of each month to coordinate plans for the upcoming months. The next meeting of the Lockney Retail Merchant's Association will be next Thursday, at a time and location to be announced.

Floyd County in test path

The skies above Floyd County are on the route for simulated bombing missions and navigational training by several hundred strategic Air Command aircraft during several days this year.

Floyd County, Tullia and Nazareth are among the areas in the Texas South Plains which will be flown over during the low-level exercise.

There will be no advance notice of the practice runs. Global Shield '81, as the exercises are named, will be fully operational for only five to 10-days between now and the end of the year.

During the exercises, the aircraft will engage in simulated bombing missions, radar avoidance tactics and navigational training missions. Altitudes will range from about 300 feet to 1,000 above the ground. The route will be used to measure both precision radar bomb scoring and navigational training.

The Texas route begins near Alta in far West Texas and heads north toward Kent and then arcs in a long trail through South and West Texas.

The planes will fly over area cities toward the end of the flight over Texas. The route begins at a northwest track near Spur and passes near McAdoo, Mount Blanco, Dougherty, Floydada, Lockney, Sterley, South Plains and Whitley.

Near Tullia the planes will go over Nazareth, Dimmitt and Summerfield before reaching New Mexico.

DAVID GONZALES, right, was named employee of the year at the Tye Company and Kilburn Casey, left, received a special plaque as "an example to us all." The 85-year-old Casey has worked for the Tye company for six years after retiring as a farmer. He is described by John Tye, who presented the awards as "a special person."

District measuring depth

The High Plains Water District has begun its annual program of measuring the depth to water levels in more than 900 observation wells scattered throughout the fifteen county District area.

Floyd County irrigators may see a blue and white Water District vehicle in the vicinity of their property in the coming weeks while Dan Seale of the district staff measures the 97 wells in the district's observation network in Floyd County.

Since most of the wells to be measured are operational irrigation wells, the month of January was chosen to begin observations in order to allow for a dormant period and well recovery from the cone of depression developed during the pumping season.

Wells will be measured to find the depth to "static" water level. After measuring, each well will receive a red District identification tag for the owner's information.

Data gained from this program is used for decline rate projections, determining the amount of water left in storage, and very importantly, as a basis for the income-tax depletion allowance claims on landowner's tax returns.

Lockney starts program for gifted students

T.G.&Y. No, it is not a new store in Lockney but a new program at Lockney Junior High School.

"T.G.&Y." stands for talented, gifted, and young and that is just who attends special classes under the direction of LaDora Aull who works with approximately 14 students for at least one hour each week.

T.G.&Y. is a result of Lockney ISD's attempt to offer "qualitatively differentiating" education to students who are considered gifted and talented. A gifted student is one who has the three qualities of intelligence, creativity, and dedication to task.

Members of Lockney's gifted and talented program were selected to participate in this pilot program on the basis of teacher nominations, intelligence scores, achievement tests and creativity level.

The students will soon begin working on individual projects using these higher-level learning and research skills.

Teachers in the Lockney system have attended in-service workshops to increase their awareness of the gifted and their knowledge in working with these students.

More in-service workshops are planned for this school year and for next. Plans are also being made to include a gifted and talented program at the elementary and high school levels within the near future.

Officials feuding over County tax records

What began as a routine request for the abstract books from the county assessors office by the newly formed Floyd County Appraisal District has caused more furor than did the reevaluation.

The appraisal district, going on the verbal assumption that they were acting in behalf of the seven taxing entities, have been working on the appraisals assessments and preparing the tax rolls for 1981.

In order to do this they say that they need access to the county abstract books. County tax assessor, Jonelle Fawver has been reluctant to let the abstract books out of her office they say.

The county tax office and the district appraisal office are across the hall from each other in the county courthouse.

At the last regular county court meeting, January 12, the commissioners asked Fawver if she would be willing to let the appraisal district employees take the books across the hall to their offices to work on them.

Fawver said that she didn't mind if they used the books in the day time, but that they had to be back in her office at night.

She said that she used the books to look up information. She was asked if the books were currently posted. She replied that they were.

Commissioners consulted with County Attorney Kenneth Bain to find out whether or not the court had authority to order the abstract books taken out of the county tax assessors office. Also where their responsibility in the matter lay.

Evidently more came up on the subject because the county commissioners met in special session Friday, January 23. This reporter had no prior knowledge of the meeting and was not in attendance.

County Judge Choise Smith said in an interview Monday that the meeting was called for one purpose only and that was to discuss who would be making the county tax roll for the 1981 taxes. There was no action taken at the meeting.

"It is just a misunderstanding between the county and the appraisal district," he said. "It is my understanding that the abstract books will stay in the county tax office and that the county will be making their own tax roll."

He added that Jonelle Fawver would "bring the books up to date."

Judge Smith said that the appraisal district thought that they would be making the tax roll, but that to be official they would have to come back to each of the entities."

At 9 a.m. Tuesday, January 27, the county appraisal district board met in special session at their office in the county courthouse.

Present at that meeting were board members; Travis Jones, Adrian Helms, Tom Duvall, and Jack Lackey, Chief Appraiser, Sheila Faulkenberry was in attendance.

Ben Ayres was invited to the meeting where his personal and sometimes professional opinion was sought on most of the questions discussed by the board. This reporter was also present.

Travis Jones, president, began the meeting by appraising Ayers of the situation facing the board.

He said that the county had elected to come into the appraisal district a year before it would be mandatory by the state to do so.

He said that the county "by implication or verbally had indicated that the (district) tax appraiser would also do the tax assessment for 1981 and prepare the tax rolls."

Jones told Ayers that a meeting had been held in which each of the taxing entities were asked to bring a quorum of membership or alternates.

"The reason for the meeting was so that the entities could 'tell us what direction they wanted us to head.'"

"The implication of the meeting was that we would go ahead with the appraisal and preparation of the assessment," Jones said. "There was no vote taken, no motion made."

"It was a voice opinion," Duvall said.

Lackey, who is a county commissioner and because of that position serves on the appraisal board, said that at that time the commissioners said that "We'll back you 100%."

Helms said that, "the board was not trying to push anyone or take any authority from anyone. We were just trying to do what was our job...to do what the entities asked us to do."

Someone then mentioned that there was the fear of losing local control. "I don't see any aliens on this board," Jones said. "I was raised here and most of you were too."

Testing planned for Lockneyschool district

Third, fifth, and ninth grade students from the Lockney Independent School District will participate in the second Texas Assessment of basic skills test program scheduled for February.

The assessment plan, first of its kind in this state, is scheduled once each year under requirements set by the Texas Legislature during its 1979 regular session.

The Lockney ISD students will be among 700,000 expected to take the reading, writing composition, and mathematics tests during the February 2-20 statewide testing period. Each of the tests will require a maximum of 40 to 60 minutes to complete.

The Lockney ISD will report its district and campus aggregate scores to the public at a May or June meeting of the board of trustees, according to W.H. Hallmark, superintendent.

"However, individual student scores will be reported only to the student, parents or guardian, and the school personnel directly involved," Hallmark adds.

"This testing program is designed to help the student and the school improve achievement," Hallmark points out. "For this reason, results will be reported in a manner that will help everyone become more effective."

"Third grade students were added to the annual testing sequence for the first time this year. The three tests will make up an annual assessment effort designed to help both state and local school officials improve their services," Hallmark says.

Overall student performance, both by campus and by district, will be reported each year to the public by the local board of trustees.

CTB/McGraw-Hill of Monterey, California will help administer the 1981 test program and develop and field test new items for the 1981-82 series under contract to the State Board of Education. The California firm will also operate a computerized inventory of all test booklets to assure strict security at all times.

"Each test question will relate to a specific objective or skill students are expected to learn by the time they complete the particular grade," Hallmark points out.

"We use the term 'criterion-referenced' simply because it is a short way of saying the answer to each question must lead back to a specific objective," Hallmark explains.

Ninth grade students who do not make a satisfactory "exit level" score may re-take the test each year they remain in high school. However, they will not be required to take it more than once. Later attempts to improve scores and evaluate any remedial programs will be voluntary.

The annual test program will be administered by specially-trained personnel in each school district under the guidelines and supervision of the Texas Education Agency.

Insurance valuable protection

With a new government subsidy that pays up to 30 percent of the cost of carrying crop insurance, the best buy in farming today may be the few dollars an acre (tax deductible) that it costs to insure all the other dollars invested in producing a crop.

This advice comes from Ben A. Jordan, Jr., regional director of the recently expanded Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

Jordan suggests that there are no fewer than five sound reasons farmers should consider insurance this year, even if they have never protected their crop investments in the past.

First, the new policies offer more protection. Policyholders can insure up to 75 percent of average yields, which in most cases should fully cover the investment in the insured crop plus the cost of the insurance. They can also select, from several choices, the amount they want to be paid for each bushel or pound their crop falls short of the guaranteed production.

Second, the new federal subsidy can reduce the per acre cost of carrying all-risk insurance by as much as 30 percent. The combination of the subsidy and the tax deduction allowed for insurance premiums means the after-tax cost is only a small fraction of the protection provided.

Third, rising production costs mean the dollars and cents risks of crop production this Spring will be sharply higher than a year ago. In the event of crop losses, such as many farmers experienced in 1980, the financial consequences could be disastrous. Many farmers who have felt they could afford to farm without some amount of insurance in the past are now wisely reappraising the risks involved, Jordan said.

Fourth, the USDA disaster payments program, which some farmers have looked to as a solution for insurance, will end after this crop year. Farmers who elect to carry FCIC insurance in 1981 rather than participate in the disaster payment will be eligible for the 30 percent discount plus, if they do not incur a crop loss, an additional 5 percent premium discount in 1982.

Fifth, farmers who insure their crop investment will have an advantage, Jordan predicts, in competing for credit in this Spring's tight money market. The cash flow guaranteed by the policy assures a source of funds for timely loan repayment even in the event of a total crop loss. Moreover, at the option of the policyholder, FCIC policies can be pledged as loan collateral.

For information about the new, higher-coverage, lower-cost insurance protection, contact the nearest FCIC office or a private insurance agent that handles FCIC insurance.

Colston appointed to Texas wheat committee

Billy Don Colston, of Floyd County, has been named as a member of the Texas Farm Bureau Wheat Advisory Committee, according to Delmas McCormick, County Farm Bureau president.

Colston was appointed to the state-wide advisory committee by TFB President Carroll Chaloupka.

31 counties have organized to form the Texas Farm Bureau Wheat Division. The state advisory committee has five members and it meets twice each year. In the summer, the committee meets before Farm Bureau's policy development process begins, to help surface wheat issues to be considered by county Farm Bureaus. The committee also meets after the state convention in December to review and recommend ways to implement adopted policies.

The Commodity Department of Texas Farm Bureau was created in 1971. Its purpose is to provide a system within Farm Bureau in which members can participate in educational commodity programs and activities. There are nine established commodity divisions.

Billy Don attended the annual TFB Leadership Conference in Austin January 26-28 where commodity experts spoke, as well as Governor Bill Clements and American Farm Bureau President Robert B. Delano of Virginia.

Dry weather to blame

Poisonous plants are abundant

(COLLEGE STATION) 1981 looks like a bonus year for poisonous range plants.

"Due to last year's dry summer followed by a wet fall, all conditions point to generally a bonus year for poison plants in Texas," says Dr. Allan McGinty of Fort Stockton, area range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Bitterweed in the Edwards Plateau and loco, garbancillo, rayless goldenrod and threadleaf groundsel in the Trans-Pecos region of Texas has already been reported causing livestock losses this year, notes McGinty. So he cautions ranchers to become aware of the problem and to take steps to reduce further livestock losses.

"Ranchers should be familiar with and be able to identify common poisonous plants that occur in their pastures. They should also be familiar with symptoms of poisoning in livestock," points out McGinty.

As soon as animals begin to show signs of poisoning, they should be moved immediately to pastures free from poisonous plants and treated by a veterinarian.

If no pasture is available that is free from poison plants, ranchers may need to control weeds with chemical or mechanical methods. Caution should be used following chemical control methods since some poisonous plants become more palatable to grazing animals following herbicide use.

"Most problems with poisonous plants occur during winter and early spring when desirable warm-season forage plants are dormant and cool-season toxic plants are lush and green," explains the specialist. "During these periods, livestock will easily switch to poisonous plants to attempt to obtain a higher nutritional plane for their diet and to obtain some green vegetative matter."

"Proper supplemental feeding that meets the nutritional requirements of grazing animals and provides green plant material in the form of pelleted alfalfa can significantly reduce poisonous plant problems during this time," contends McGinty.

In general, solid range management techniques offer the best prevention of livestock losses due to poisonous plants, he emphasizes. Use of a planned grazing system that allows for periodic rest of pastures during the growing season can increase the quantity and vigor of desirable forages. This enables such plants to be more competitive with less desirable poisonous plants, reducing their availability to grazing animals.

Grazing systems that concentrate a large number of livestock in a single area may have extra benefits in that the amount of poisonous plant material available to a single animal is reduced.

McGinty advises ranchers to be extremely cautious when importing cattle from other areas of the state or country to a range containing poisonous plants unfamiliar to these animals. Such animals will more easily consume toxic plants compared to animals raised in that same area.

ferred to the fact that the re-evaluation of taxes and the setting up of a taxing office in each county is mandatory by state law in 1982. Tax book for farmers

A modern farmer has many tax situations, and a free booklet from the Internal Revenue Service can help answer the questions from these situations.

Publication 225, "Farmer's Tax Guide," covers a wide range of subjects such as soil sales, crop destruction, casualty losses on farming, Examples of how to use Form 1040 and related forms, and listings of important tax laws which affect farmer's throughout the year are also included.

"Farmer's Tax Guide" is written in a understandable style and can be a valuable information for farmer, according to the IRS. A copy reference can be ordered on Form in the tax package, or by calling the IRS Tax Forms/Information listed in the local telephone

Farm assignments for Stenholm

(WASHINGTON) — Congressman Charles W. Stenholm has been named to four key subcommittees of the House Agriculture Committee that will essentially serve as the staging area for formulation of the 1981 Farm Bill.

Subcommittee assignments for the 17th District Representative serving his second term in Congress include: cotton, rice and sugar; livestock, dairy and poultry; tobacco and peanuts; and wheat, soybeans and feed grains, including oilseeds.

While the entire Agriculture Committee will vote on the final farm package before consideration by the House, each subcommittee is handed the responsibility for policy formulation, including mark-up (complete deliberation and formal review) vote. In the past, mark-up has been before the full committee.

"I expect to take a very active part in work on the new Farm Bill," Stenholm continued, "and quite frankly, I'm

"We just want to know where to go from here," Jones said. Smith answered, "I think we should all do the same. If the other entities want you to make the tax roll we are for it."

But he still contended that "for it to be official for you to do the (county) tax roll we need to take it to the court."

Jonelle Fawver was also invited to the meeting and asked about her stand on the tax roll/collect question. She said that she had to fill out reports to Austin and sign them if she was doing the collecting and that she would be responsible in that case for the tax roll.

"All you have to swear to is the collection," Ayers said. "There have to be reports sent in, I have to swear to the corrections," Fawver said.

"To the collections?" Ayers asked. "Yes," Fawver said. "If you find errors you wouldn't be responsible for the mistake only for the correction?" Ayers pressed.

"Yes," Fawver answered. Judge Smith asked Jonelle, "if a contract were presented to the court and was passed by all seven entities for the district to make the tax roll and they (each entity) do the collecting...would you go along with that?"

"Yes, for one year I would," Fawver answered. The question of where the abstract books would be kept came up again. Faulkenberry said that they can get by for a year with copies of abstract sheets as they are doing now.

Fawver said that the appraisal district could keep the books for as long as a week at a time. "I have taken a sworn statement that I am the keeper of that office," Fawver said.

After Judge Smith and Jonelle Fawver left, the board discussed the necessity of written agreements with the entities. Tom Duvall made a motion that the president and the secretary of the board prepare and present to the boards of the taxing entities of Floyd County a letter of contract authorizing the district to perform for such entities the function of assessing taxes, and preparation of tax rolls for the year 1981.

The district is already doing the appraisal for the entities. The motion carried and the meeting was adjourned.

looking forward to it. Right now there are a lot of questions regarding the future direction of agricultural policy in this country and that policy will have a widespread effect on the economy of the country as a whole.

"We know there have to be changes made," Stenholm said. "We just cannot afford to continue to export our farm products below the costs to produce them. Neither can we afford the high toll on our soil, water and energy resources."

Hearings on the Farm Bill are expected to begin in mid-February. Stenholm is now one of only two Texans on the Agriculture Committee, a committee noted for its domination by Texans in past years. Congressman E. (Kika) de la Garza of Texas is new chairman of the committee.

Other House Committee assignments for Stenholm include a return to the Small Business Committee. Members of this committee will caucus within the next week for subcommittee assignments.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

BY DOROTHY NEFF
 We would like to thank the Sunshine Sunday School class of the First Baptist Church for the bananas and cookies. The residents really enjoyed them.
 Thursday was our monthly birthday party hosted by the City Park Church of Christ ladies. Poems and the birthday song was read and sang to our fine honorees, Mrs. Juanita Bailey, Francis Childs, Willie Dee Sims, Ollia Furrow and Mr. W.C. Cates. A beautifully decorated cake with banana punch was served to all residents and employees.
 Mr. Cates received a broken leg getting off the bus last week and was unable to come out for the party and Ollia Furrow was also unable to attend because she wasn't feeling well.
 We would like to welcome Mrs. Nora McNight to our home. We hope she will enjoy living here. She lives in room 5 down the North hall.
 Mrs. Velva Pricer's husband underwent hip surgery in Oklahoma City this past week. Reports are he's doing real good.
 We had 25 residents in the lobby to watch our three beautiful movies, "Hawaii", "Ski Fever" and "Dan Gibson's Nature Adventure."
 We want to thank all our visitors for the week: Mau-

IF YOU WERE AROUND DURING WWII you'll remember posters asking the war effort question: "Is This Trip Really Necessary?" Well, there's a war on to conserve fuel, and as one tactic in waging that war, the modern farmer has to ask himself the same question. Of course, a trip to town are important to the question of every farm business, but there are some things you can do to cut down the costs. First, maintain a good supply of routine maintenance and operation items on the farm. Use the off season to thoroughly check, repair and maintain equipment to avoid emergency runs. Whenever possible, use the vehicle with the lowest fuel consumption to get to town. To keep total mileage to a minimum, plan to accomplish as much as possible with each trip.

Lady Horns triumph over Tulia, 48-34

The Lockney Lady Horns rolled to an easy 48-34 victory over Tulia at LHS.

The Lady Horns came out shooting in the first period opening up a 12-4 lead over the cold Tulia team.

The Lady Horns led 24-10 at halftime.

"Our defense did real well in the first half," Coach Marsha Sharp said. "(Connie) Coffman, (Rebecca) Evans, and (Julie) Frizzell were all shooting real well."

Coffman was high scorer with 22 point while Evans had 14.

ABERNATHY NEXT WEEK
The win upped the Lady Horns to 3-1 in district play and set the stage for next week's confrontation against district leading Abernathy at LHS.

"It's a must win situation," Sharp said of the game which gets underway next Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at LHS.

Abernathy is atop district play this season. Abernathy scored a 45-42 victory over the Lady Horns at Abernathy.

The score was tied with four seconds left, "but we just didn't get the breaks," Coach Sharp said.

Outcome of next Tuesday's game against Abernathy may mean the district 3-3A title. A Lockney win could set the stage for a tie and a playoff game after the close of regular district play. A Playoff game, if necessary, would be played on a neutral court.

BOYS LOSE

Tulia scored an easy 69-49 victory over the Lockney Boys.

The Longhorns led 15-14 at the end of the first quarter but Tulia pumped in 24 second period points to just 12 for the 'Horns and opened up a 36-27 halftime lead.

The Longhorns hit just 20 of 73 shots from the field for a poor 28 percent average.

John Cummings was high scorer for the Longhorns with 20 points while Jeff McCormick had 11 and Nick Christian 10.

CONNIE COFFMAN GOES UP for a shot during the Lockney Lady Horns game with Tulia at LHS. The Lady Horns won the game, improving their district 3-3A record to 3-1.

Horns lose to Floydada

A three second call against Lockney's Junior McDonald with eight seconds left in regulation time let Floydada tie the score and go on for a 71-69 overtime win over the Longhorns at Floydada.

The Longhorns led 69-67 with eight seconds left in regulation time when the referee called McDonald for a three-seconds in the lane violation.

Floydada hit on a basket at the buzzer to tie the score at 69 at the end of regulation time.

The Longhorns got the tip at the start of the three minute overtime period but missed on their first shot.

The Whirlwinds recovered the ball and worked it down court getting a basket with seven seconds left in the game to take the lead, 71-69.

The Longhorns quickly moved the ball into their court where Jeff McCormick missed on a 12-footer from the left baseline at the buzzer.

The 'Horns did not score at all in the overtime period.

"We had the game won," coach Mike Lebby said afterwards. "We just gave it to them. It was a late Christmas gift."

John Cummings was high point man for the 'Horns with 32 while McCormick had 15.

LADY HORNS WIN
The Lockney Lady Horns scored an easy 64-41 victory over Floydada.

Lockney led just 15-14 after the first period but moved out to a 37-23 lead at halftime and led the rest of the game.

INSUR-MATION

Floyd County
Insurance Agency

Jerry Cooper

I do quite a lot of antique auto restoration as a hobby and have decided to build a garage-workshop entirely separate from my house but on my lot. What kind of insurance policy will cover this?
You are automatically insured under your Homeowner's policy for on-the-premises structures which are used in connection with the occupancy of the dwelling, but are not attached. However, the coverage on such buildings is only 10 percent of the coverage you carry on your home.
In most cases, this coverage would probably be adequate.
However, since the antique cars are housed in the structure you may want to purchase an endorsement to your Homeowner's policy which will increase the coverage on the structures to their full value. Talk to your agent about additional coverage.

THE NAME OF THE LORD

Many people use the name of the Lord very lightly. They are quick to exclaim, "My God!" or to use the name of the Lord Jesus Christ in vain.

We should all understand that the Bible declares that "God will not hold him guiltless that taketh His name in vain" (Ex. 20:7). This is one of the Ten Commandments which too many people forget or ignore. But it is more than a commandment. It does not merely forbid taking the Lord's name on our lips carelessly; it adds the warning "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain; FOR the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh His name in vain." Don't commit this sin. He warns, for if you do you will have to face God Himself for it and He will not overlook it.

Now, probably many of our readers have used the name of God and Christ in vain again and again. They have gotten into the habit and find it difficult to stop. Now what? How can such escape the condemnation of God upon this sin?

First, one of the principal reasons for not using God's name in vain is because of His infinite greatness. We should all bow and worship before Him. The second reason is because He—the infinite God—took upon Him human form and, as God the Son, died for our sins at Calvary. Now would you want to curse and swear in His name? You wouldn't want people to curse and swear in your mother's name, would you? How much less should we curse and swear in Christ's name or God's name?

Those who have this problem, invariably have never trusted Christ as their own Savior—as the One who died for their sins. Those who have trusted Him as Savior usually never are tempted to use His name in vain again. Rather, like St. Paul, who once was "a blasphemer and a persecutor," they exclaim with deepest gratitude: "He loved me and gave Himself for me" (Gal. 2:20).

Everyone ate so well they almost popped. We would like to thank everyone who came and who brought the food.

Our ceramic class is going so well. We can't wait to finish our projects and start on another.

Music Therapy is really rocking. When we play the tamborines we really have fun. Lisa Payne is doing so well in Plainview. We thank her for her time.

Our volunteers and visitors are a joy to us. We are glad for all they do for us. We are sharing their time and talents.
