BY DOROTHY NEFF

Mr. Walter Collins really enjoyed his ride to the country. Thursday afternoon. Wayne picked him up around 1:30 and carried him to the farm.

We went to Roaring Springs Ranch Wednesday afternoon on the bus. It was hot and dry. However, the residents enjoyed the trip. We had cokes and cookies for refreshments. I took pictures of the residents standing on the bridge.

We came back through Matador and visited with Mr. Lawrence's daughter, Lorene Lancaster. Those enjoying the trip were Verna McSwain, Velva Pricer, Iva Simpson, Enmit Lawrence, Geneda Roberts and Juanita Bailey.

We have our curtains ordered for our lobby and the residents can't wait until we get to discard the old ones. I don't know how old they are, but they sure do need replacing.

Mr. W.C. Cates and Mr. Ray Reed tied for the top place in bingo this week with three games each. Mr. A.G. Eubanks, Clara Williamson, and Velva Pricer tied with two games each. Mr. Enmit Lawrence and Clara McNeely won one game each.

We have our home all decorated for Easter. We made cute Easter rabbits for table decorations. We will have an Easter party Friday, the 17th at 2:30 p.m. in the lobby. Cake and punch will be served and everyone is invited to come out and help our residents have a good time.

Many thanks to our visitors. We enjoy everyone and welcome you back.

Visitors were: Maurice and Ella Goodwin, Melva Martin,

Ruth Scott, Dorothy Y. Davis, Connie, Randy and Chad Wideman, Dena Myrick, Earl Edwards, Vera Ownbey, Elizabeth Bobo, Marie Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. M.H. Hartness, Edna Patton, Dosa Webb, Dana, Kim and Jo Lee Ellis, Elizabeth Armstrong.

James Michener's book Chesapeake contains a pre-civil war school text's description of the black in the south. The black is described as being stupid, lazy, unable of doing even the simplest work without being severely treated, a basically inferior creature. The only positive things, if indeed these can be thought of as positive in light of the rest of the description, were that the blacks loved to sing and dance.

Later in the book, Michener describes the immigration of another group of people into the area. These poor unfortunates were brought to this country in droves to provide cheap labor. They were generally kept in the poorer section of town, and thought of as being stupid, lazy, given to fits of temper, not easily controlled, a basically inferior sort of person. Their only positive attributes were thought to be their love for song and dance. Sound familiar?

The simple fact of the matter is that those people who are in control tend not to like anybody who is different.

they don't look it. It's just unfair competition for a show to feature a young girl who wasn't born until 1960. It should be some consolation that all those young kids on television will be thirty someday too, and feel the guilt of those first gray hairs. The only problem with that logic is that when B.J. turns thirty I'll be thirty-three.

Maybe I should just give up television and stick to books. Maybe not. Characters in books don't age at all.

The Rev. Michael O'Connor's

Perspectives

Different usually is associated to strengths if they belong to the ruling group, and weakness, or inferiorities, if they go with the group not in power.

Note that I am not talking in terms of minorities and majorities. How many people are in the oppressed group does not matter. What matters is who is in control.

The Samaritans were thought of as a generally inferior breed of humans by the Jews who lived around them. Yet, Jesus used the Samaritans as examples in His parables and teaching, as well as associated with the other dregs of society. In fact, one of the biggest complaints that people had against Him was that He associated with tax-collectors and prostitutes.

The scriptures tell us that in Christ there is neither slave nor free, Jew nor Gentile, male nor female. A modern day Paul might just put it: there is neither black nor white, Hispanic nor Anglo, male nor female. It is time for all of us to quit thinking of each other in stereotypes and begin to look at each other as human beings, all of whom are worthy of God's grace, and our love.

By the way, the dumb lovers of song and dance described in the second paragraph were my ancestors, the Irish. Sure, and methinks I dinna like it.

on some adhesives. Whatever you choose, work the solution underneath or through the label to release the adhesive. If you try cleaning fluid, remember it can soften some plastics. One cleaning-fluid procedure is to saturate a folded white cloth or paper towel with the solution, then place it over the label or tape for a few minutes, and when the adhesive softens, rub the label with another cloth or towel.

Water-Soluble Glue. Any label that was attached by moistening the adhesive with water requires a very simple procedure for removal: simply soak it in water, if possible. One way to soak the label without soaking the product is to saturate a sponge or several layers of paper towels with warm water and place it over the label. This method works effectively on water-soluble glue, but if used mistakenly on pressure-sensitive adhesives, it can make them more difficult to remove.

Appliques. Appliques are decal-like products sometimes placed on the bottom of a bathtub or shower for more slip-resistant surfaces. Through use, appliques show signs of wear or discoloration, and then it's necessary to remove them. Often the applique and all its adhesive can be pulled up easily. More often, the top layer of the applique will separate, leaving a thin film of adhesive on the tub or shower surface. To remove the film, get a grip on the edge with your fingernail, or get underneath it with a sharp-edge scraper. If the adhesive tears, try another edge, working toward the center until all traces of the applique are removed. If the film is too thin to scrape or peel off, try working a generous amount of commercial pre-wash spot remover underneath the film to work on the adhesive. Allow the solution to soak through the adhesive for about 30 minutes, then scrape up the residue. Take special precautions with fiberglass-reinforced plastic tub and shower units. Manufacturers of these do not recommend the use of strong solvents, abrasives and other preparations which can cause serious damage to the smooth protective finish.

Purple Price Marks. To remove purple price marks, use a cloth or paper towel dampened in a solution of half chlorine bleach and half water. This method will remove these marks that sometimes are transferred to kitchen counter tops and other similar surfaces.

BBB warns on false advertisement

BBB/South Plains is cautioning the media, especially print media, on doing business with a company by the name of RETAIL OIL ASSOCIATION, Drawer 427, Heflin, Alabama 36264.

A copy of advertising recently placed in newspapers around the country by the Retail Oil Association offers a 50 cents per gallon rebate on various fuels on payment of a $5.00 fee to the company.

On February 5, the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Alabama, Eastern Division, issued a temporary restraining order directing the U.S. Postal Service to detain incoming mail addressed to the Retail Oil Association pursuant to 39 U.S.C. 3007, pending the conclusion of administrative proceedings initiated against the company by the U.S.P.S.

The order was based on the Court's finding that "...there is probably cause to believe that Defendant is engaged in conducting a scheme or device for obtaining money through the mail by means of false representations..." On February 11, the Court issued a preliminary injunction ordering continued detention of mail addressed to the Retail Oil Association.

The U.S. Attorney in Birmingham has requested that he would appreciate any information leading to the whereabouts of a Mr. Don Bratck who signed ad insertion requests as Advertising Director of the Retail Oil Association. Governor proclaims May 3-9 clean air week

Governor William P. Clements has proclaimed May 3-9 Clean Air Week in Texas. In his proclamation, the Governor urges individuals, businesses, industrial leaders, organizations and government agencies concerned with the health environment to pledge themselves to more effective action for clean air for ourselves and future generations.

The Texas Air Control Board, the State agency with responsibility for controlling and abating air pollution, and the American Lung Association of Texas are co-sponsoring Clean Air Week at the State level. "Energy conservation is the theme for this year's Clean Air Week because of the relationship between energy production and air pollution," said Alan K. Pierce, M.D., president of the American Lung Association of Texas.

TABC Executive Director Bill Stewart said, "Because air is our most precious natural resource, it is important that air quality be maintained by limiting the amount of air pollutants. We hope that Texans will use this special week to become more aware of the relationship between energy use and environmental pollution and will think about ways to conserve energy."

"For example, oil and gas processing and electrical power generation, although vital to our well-being, contribute to the pollution burden borne by our air. Even applying the best available control technology to abate plant emissions cannot completely control the release of air pollutants. We can help reduce the air pollution burden and save our precious resources by using mass transportation or car pools and by adjusting thermostats and hot water heaters," Stewart said.

Pierce said, "Our future respiratory health depends greatly on the choices we make about how much energy we use, how we generate it, and how well we control the pollution that results."

"The most effective, quickest and least expensive means of reducing our nation's dependence on oil -- energy conservation -- will best protect the public health from air pollution," said Pierce.

Explaining that Texans must work together to keep the air clean, Pierce suggested several ways to help reduce air pollution: -- do not burn leaves and trash; -- keep automobiles properly tuned and keep pollution control devices maintained;

-- use car pools and public transportation and walk rather than ride as much as possible. Remember, the more cars on the road, the more pollution.

-- conserve energy in the form of electricity and gasoline. The more energy we use, the more pollution we create.

To learn more about air pollution and what you can do about it, write the American Lung Association of Texas, 7701 North Lamar, Suite 104, Austin, Texas 78752, or the Texas Air Control Board, 6330 Highway 290 East, Austin, Texas 78723.

SSA prosecutes fraud case

A 23-year old Plainview man has been sentenced in the U.S. District court in Lubbock, Texas for defrauding the Social Security Administration.

According to Ray Purcell, Manager of the Plainview Social Security Office, David A. Brown pled guilty to two counts of giving false information to the Social Security Administration and concealing that he was no longer a full-time student in order to continue receiving social security benefits on the record of his deceased father.

Brown was sentenced to five years supervised probation and $1,000.00 fine on each of the two counts.

Mr. Purcell said that this conviction resulted from a joint investigation by agents of the U.S. Secret Service in Lubbock and the Social Security Investigators in Dallas.

Smithlawn first cottage-style in America

Smithlawn Maternity Home is serving its 2,000th Smith girl since their beginning in 1960.

As the first cottage-style home in America, Smithlawn provides a responsible alternative for an expectant mother. She can live in the five bedroom brick home in complete confidentiality as she furthers her education and receives top medical care from various local hospitals.

The average stay in the home is three months. Girls who stay longer have more time to elaborate on the decision of giving up their baby to the Smithlawn Adoption Agency, established in 1966.

Smithlawn elder Joe Phillips says that women's attitudes have changed many times in the past 20 years. "Now — even though abortion is easy to come by, there is a growing conviction against it. Girls are more family oriented," Phillips said.

Staff Director Howard Hulet said, "We try to help the girls find a more contributing life." One girl had come to Smithlawn as a member of a theft ring and a ward of two states. After leaving Smithlawn, she had Tennessee connections inform Hulet of her newly directed life which was a result of the guidance and direction she received while in the home.

The maternity home and adoption agency are supervised by Smithlawn Church of Christ and supported by church affiliations in Texas and surrounding states.

For information contact Howard Hulet or Carol Anderson at (806) 745-2574.

WESTERN BELL'S Mark Wideman pauses in front of the Chamber of Commerce as he prepares for one of his local activities. Wideman has taken an active role in community affairs.

Wideman elected president of the Chamber of Commerce

FLOYDADA—The high school athletic teams here are nicknamed the Whirlwinds. That would also seem to be the right descriptive term for Southwestern Bell's Mr. Telephone here, Mark Wideman.

Wideman, a switching equipment technician-ESS, was recently elected president of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce. Add that to a list of community activities that includes serving as director of community service for the Rotary Club, director of Massey Activity Community Center, coach and referee of the Little Dribblers basketball program, involved in the Floydada Little League, Chamber of Commerce "Father of the Year" in 1979, Cub Scout Cubmaster and selected by the Jaycees as one of ten "Outstanding Young Men in America" in 1979. You can see what Floydada residents think about Wideman. "We really love Floydada," Wideman says. "We've had opportunities to move but this is home. My family and I like the community, the people and everything here.

"It was an honor to be elected chamber president and it's a privilege to represent the company in the organization. It think it's a good reflection on Southwestern Bell."

Wideman already has his work cut out for him in his new position. Not only must he hire a new manager at the chamber but he must find new office space. That's in addition to staffing nine committees and executing a program of work that includes organizing several major events. "We have a very strong chamber — 300 members in a town of 4,200."

"We're trying to find some way of honoring Don Williams, the country music singer," Wideman said. "We recently confirmed that he was born in Floydada and lived there till about age six. We think we can tie in a concert if he will come back."

In addition to his extracurricular activities, Wideman keeps the Floydada and Hale Center offices running smoothly and occasionally helps out in Lockney.

West Texas State to continue cooperative master's degree in social work

A conference between officials of the Texas Department of Human Resources, West Texas State University, and the University of Texas at Arlington was held recently to explore the feasibility of continuing the present "Cooperative MSSW Degree Program" between the two schools.

Contingent upon student interest and continued financial support from DHR under Title XX, the two universities declared their willingness to begin with the third class in Fall 1981. According to Dr. Hubert W. Oppe, Program Coordinator, the WTSU Board of Regents originally approved this cooperative venture in 1977, and the second class of students will have completed their required courses by the end of the Summer session.

As approved by both schools, the first year of the program, consisting of 32 semester hours, will be taught in the Texas Panhandle with faculty from both universities sharing the teaching load. Since many prospective students work full time, only six hours of courses will be taught each semester, thus stretching the one year WT based program over two calendar years plus a Summer session. For the second program year, students will travel to UT Arlington to study full time in residence to complete the master's degree. Courses scheduled for the Fall 1981 semester involve "Advanced Research Methods" taught by WTSU on Tuesday nights and "Human Behavior I" to be conducted by UTA faculty who will fly in every weekend for Friday night and Saturday morning classes. Approximately 20 students must enroll in the program before it can start. Individuals interested in advancing their professional social work education or wish to pursue such a career goal are encouraged to contact the WTSU Department of Sociology and Social Work, Box

826 WT Station, Canyon, Texas 79016, or the Graduate School of Social Work, The University of Texas at Arlington, Box 19129, Arlington, Texas 76019. An informational meeting with WTSU-UTA officials is scheduled for Tuesday, May 5, 1981 at 7:30 p.m. in Room 207, Old Main Building, West Texas State University, Canyon, Texas.

Indigestion could be an early signal of a heart attack

Mistaking the pain of a heart attack for indigestion can be hazardous to your life.

To help prevent you from making that fatal mistake, the Metropolitan Life Foundation has produced a card which describes and illustrates the early warning signals (EWS) of a heart attack. The card is available from Metropolitan district sales offices and sales representatives, or from the Foundation, Box E.S., One Madison Avenue, New York, NY 10010. The symptoms listed include pain of varying intensity in certain parts of the body, palpitations, nausea and difficulty in breathing. Instructions on first aid to heart attack victims are also described on the card.

To further inform the public of the early warning signals, an advertisement will appear in the April issue of Reader's Digest, featuring two previous heart attack victims who share their experiences with readers. The card, which is inserted in the magazine opposite the ad, may be removed and pasted up for ready reference.

know that a divorcee draws social benefits under certain circumstances if her husband dies? Or that a widow can retire on her own work record as early as age 62? If she is entitled to a larger benefit on her husband's work record she receives a payment equal to the larger of the benefits based on her own or her spouse's record, but not both.

A widow can receive benefits at age 60 on her deceased husband's record. If she becomes disabled she may, under certain conditions, qualify for disability benefits on her deceased spouse's work as early as age 50. Ordinarily, a widow loses her social security rights when she remarries, but benefits to a widow who remarries at age 60 or older can continue without reduction.

And if the new husband gets social security checks, she can take a wife's benefit on his record if it would be larger than her widows payment and she is 62 or older.

All of the above rules apply equally to widowers. In addition, a divorced wife or husband may qualify for dependent's benefits at 62 if his or her marriage lasted at least 10 years. The booklet contains other information on how social security affects women. Free copies are available at any social security office or you may call our toll-free number, 1-800-392-1603 and request the booklet be sent to you.

Band searches for the two best musicians in Texas

This year's search is on for two of the best young musicians in the state to represent Texas in the 1981 McDonald's All-American High School Band. Area high school band directors have been asked to nominate their two most talented musicians to the All-American Band, which will headline the upcoming Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York City; a salute to the USO on its 50th Anniversary during half-time activities at the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia; and the 1982 Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena, California. Official nomination forms have been mailed to more than 24,000 high school band directors throughout the U.S., Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico. From the thousands of nominations received, a select group of 104 musicians -- two from each state and the District of Columbia, plus one member each from the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico -- are chosen to be members of the All-American Band. A selection committee of music educators chooses the 104 members on the basis of the nominating band director's recommendation, musical honors and achievements, audition tapes and the Band's instrumentation and representation requirements. The final 104 members of the 1981 Band will be announced in early October. Dr. William Foster, Florida

A&M University Director of Bands and Music Department Chairman, is the 1981 McDonald's All-American High School Band Director. He believes that renewed interest in the program signals a commitment to achievement at the high school level. "For several years, many educators have been saying that young people are 'turned-off' to pursuing goals that require discipline, motivation and hours of hard work. I don't think that's true," said Foster. "There are thousands of student-musicians who deserve recognition for their dedication. That's what being nominated to the All-American Band is all about."

The Floyd Philosopher

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm makes a few final remarks on the hostage ordeal this week.
Dear editor: I guess about everything that can be said has been said about Iran and the freed hostages, but a couple of remarks by an Iranian leader have stuck in my mind. When I say leader I mean whoever claimed to be the leader that week, because not only did Washington not know who was in charge from one week to the next, neither did the Iranians. Anyway, the leader bragged about defying the United States by holding the hostages a year and two months.

"We have rubbed the nose of the United States in the dust," he said. This is like an underworld character, on sticking up a bank and holding some customers in the vault for ransom, saying "I sure rubbed that bank's nose in the dust."
The other remark by a leader, following the release of the Americans, was

"There is no proof that we mistreated them." I believe something must have been lost in the translation. If somebody locked me up for a week, not to mention a year and two months, I'd sure calculate I'd been mistreated. With such mysterious thinking as that, I won't be surprised if Iran sends us a bill for food and lodging for the hostages, wear and tear on their handcuffs, damage to boots used in kicking shinbones, replacements for blindfolds, time lost from work while demonstrating before TV cameras, and janitorial costs for sweeping up the ashes of burned American flags. The bill will probably come with postage due.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Drug Abuse program to air on Sunday, April 26

If you're a parent or a youngster concerned about drugs, don't miss the television special "Teenage Drug Abuse - What Can Parents Do?" from 4-6 p.m. (ET), Sunday, April 26.

This show, which will be carried live by public broadcast and cable services around the country, will create an open forum in which viewing parents, youngsters and a panel of experts can discuss the practical, everyday problems of drug abuse.

Produced by ACSN with promotional assistance from Drugfree retail drug chain, the special will feature Dr. Robert Dupont, former president of the National Institute of Drug Abuse and current president of the American Council on Marijuana; William Barton, director of the National Federation of Parents for Drug-Free Youth; and several young people who will discuss their personal experiences with drugs.

Viewers will be able to participate in the program through the innovative QUBE system and a toll free phone-in. QUBE, operated by Warner-Amex Cable

Communications Company, will be used to poll home viewers in Columbus, Ohio. The panel will pose pertinent drug abuse questions to assess the average parent's knowledge on the subject and the results will be shared with the nationwide audience. Other viewers around the country also will be able to participate via a toll free telephone number.

The ACSN special is being incorporated as part of Drugfair's "Straight Talk on Drugs," educational campaign which was endorsed by the White House Office on Drug Abuse Policy.

ACSN is a nonprofit network providing a 64-hour-per-week schedule of educational and community service programming to affiliates in nearly 30 states. In addition, ACSN also produces and makes available nationwide specials on such key topical issues as drug abuse, clean air and women in a changing society.

Parents can prepare for the April special with pamphlets which are available from Drugfair, 629 Edsall Road, Alexandria, Virginia 22314. Please include $2 to cover handling and postage.

FIX-IT FACTS

Thurman Davis

If you're looking around for things to do which suggest the possibility of summer coming eventually, here's a simple project which may be the answer to the picnic table you never got around to or for which there isn't enough lawn.

Similar to TV trays, except designed for lawn parties, these tables are made by first designing a pattern (round, square, oval or freeform) for the table top. A good size is about 19 inches in length, wide enough to accommodate a meal. The legs are 26 inches high, cut from 3- to 5-plywood and designed in the shape of an upside down "U", so you'll only need two leg pieces instead of four. You can hinge the legs to the top to fold for storage. Cut out a circular hole in the top to accommodate a large tumbler. You may want to cut a circular recess for a paper plate. Stain or paint and throw a lawn party at separate tables.

A rainy day.
I didn't care about the rainy day. Just looking at her happy face made everything seem sunny and bright.
"Good Lord, Harry, just look at all this. They ought to lock us up. We must have flipped. We really can't afford it!"
I looked around the reception hall of the local country club. Table after table had been set up for the wedding feast. An orchestra was tuning up off to the side on a raised stage. Waiters were scurrying around with buckets of champagne. Others were going through the ceremony of uncorking the wine. And it was all on me.
Mrs. Hillman, second cousin to the groom, passed by and grabbed my arm to say something I couldn't understand. But I smiled at her while I said to my wife, Martha, "Don't worry. I told you I had a way to pay for it. So you might as well enjoy it. Eat, drink, dance."
Now Mrs. Hillman was holding Martha's hand, babbling away. Martha smiled back at her but otherwise she was not paying any attention. Out of the corner of her mouth she said in a pained voice, "But I do worry. I'm a born worrier. What do you have in mind? A second job? Selling the house? Or just taking every last cent out of the bank?"
I wondered what the chances were of getting a glass of the champagne as I waved to the departing Mrs. Hillman. "Nope, not the house," I said to Martha. "But on the other hand, we will have to cash in a large chunk of those U.S. Savings Bonds."
"The Bonds! Oh, Harry, you clever devil, you, I'd forgotten about the Bonds. What a lifesaver."
I had almost forgotten them, too. But that's one of the good things about U.S. Savings Bonds. You buy 'em and

Around The County
By Jett Major
FLOYD COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

The long overdue rainfall that everyone in this area has been waiting for finally arrived in most parts of the county last Friday. It did not fall quite as slow as many of us would like to have seen it fall, but what did stay in the fields will certainly give the wheat a boost and will help build up the subsoil moisture needed for planting, especially on the dryland acreage.

The Trick and Aiken communities received the heaviest rainfall with over 4 1/2-6 inches being reported. Lockney, Sandhill and Sterley all received 2 1/2-3 1/2 of rainfall. High winds and some hail accompanied the rainfall which fell so hard and fast that run-off was a serious problem all across the county. Many producers were well on their way to completing much of their corn planting when the heavy rains hit and washed away furrows in low areas of the field and floated seed out in other areas. Some replanting will no doubt have to be done. Some of the more mature wheat stands suffered some hail damage, but the rainfall did more good than harm to all of the wheat which was burning up prior to Friday. Lower rainfall amounts were reported in the northwest and northeast corners of the county with about 1 to 2 inches falling in these areas. The southeast part of the county received no rainfall. Rainfall in the west and southwest part of the county ranged from 2 to 3 1/2 inches. A threat of blowing sand existed following this hard rain, but the weekend weather helped alleviate this threat by providing the area with the calmest winds it has seen in over a month.

With the arrival of warm soil temperatures and adequate subsoil moisture, many cotton farmers will be gearing up to plant cotton as soon as the fields dry up from the last rainfall. I urge those considering planting their cotton before May to monitor weather forecasts closely and remember that Floyd County is still due one last freeze. It is up to the producer to gamble on whether or not that cold spell will come this year, but with the cost of cottonseed and fuel as high as it is today, it might be wise to gear up to go fishing instead of planting this week.

Block-Reagan farm policy to be topic at Farmers Union meeting

A farm policy forum entitled "What We Can Expect From A Block-Reagan Farm Policy" will be held Tuesday, April 21, from 7-10:30 p.m. at the Massie Activity Center, sponsored by the Floyd County Farmers Union. Featuring very open and straight forward discussion of key farm issues by Dr. Ron Knutson, Texas Agricultural Specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and served on President Reagan's Agricultural Transition Task Force. He has the most current and complete information available concerning policy trends and outlook as they affect the people in the Rolling Plains.

A free barbecue meal, catered by King's Restaurant, at 7 p.m. Donations will be accepted.

At 7:45 p.m. Dr. Ron Knutson will present his program on farm policy measures including target prices, loan rates, parity price, parity income, rates of return, and cost of production.

A 9:00 a discussion will be held with Joe Rankin, Texas Farmers Union vice-president, presiding. This will be followed by a question and answer session.

Everyone is invited to attend.

Garrison attends stockholders meeting

Mr. Carroll Garrison of Silverton, has just returned from Houston where he represented the Federal Land Bank Association of Floydada at the 26th Annual Stockholders Meeting of The Federal Land Bank of Texas. The meeting, held at the Houston Oaks Hotel, was attended by members of 60 Federal Land Bank Associations in Texas. There were about 750 persons in attendance.

Thomas H. Benson, president, in his report to the stockholders, stated that there was an increasing demand for new loans in 1980. This was the second largest year of loans closed in the Bank's history, with 3,774 loans closed for a total of $322.3 million. This compares to 1979 figures of 3,960 loans closed, for a total of $337.8 million. "In this period of historic high interest rate, the advantages of the variable rate were apparent with our members paying rates somewhat below the prevailing rate," Benson explained.

Speakers for the meeting included, Sonja Hilgren, National Farm Editor for United Press International; Peter Carney, Fiscal Agent for the Farm Credit Banks and Gerald P. Carr, former commander of Sky lab and a vice president of Bovay Engineering.

The Federal Land Bank of Texas makes long-term loans on farms, ranches and rural residences and currently has 37,500 loans for approximately $1.8 billion outstanding.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Floydada makes and services loans in this area. Members of the board of directors are: Carroll Garrison, Malvin Jarboe, Dorris Jones, John Irwin, and Stuart Dixon.

Others attending the meeting from this area were Mrs. Carroll Garrison, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Dixon, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cranford.

USDA to make no 1980 crop corn; sorghum deficiency payments

The U.S. Department of Agriculture will make no deficiency payments on the 1980 crops of corn and sorghum, according to Edward Hews, acting administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Under current legislation, deficiency payments are made to producers when the average market price received by farmers during the first five months of the marketing year October through February is less than the established "target" price.

The national weighted average price received by farmers during the October 1980 through February 1981 period was $3.11 per bushel for corn and $3.04 per bushel for sorghum. Since these prices are above the 1980 target price of $2.35 per bushel for corn and $2.50 per bushel for sorghum, no deficiency payments are required, Hews said.

A look into the future for cattle raisers, discouraging (COLLEGE STATION)—Major keys for survival of the cattle business in the decade ahead will be flexibility, discipline and cost control, a nationally recognized livestock market analyst said here.

Taking a tough look at the cattle industry, Bill Helming of Overland Park, Kansas, said from the middle of 1982—and particularly from the early part of 1983 through 1986—the cost of production as it relates to owning and raising a cow and calf will exceed the value received.

Helming is president of Livestock Business Advisory Services, Inc., an independent market outlook, research and risk management consulting firm that serves virtually all phases of livestock production as well as many agri-business firms.

Helming was lead-off speaker for the Beef Cattle Short Course of the 1981 Texas Animal Agriculture Conference at Texas A&M University.

"Flexibility means that producers must know where they are in the cattle cycle. They should be flexible about using more forage and less grain and should think of themselves as a vital part of the food industry—a part that can adjust to consumer trends," Helming said.

The agricultural economist defined discipline as "having a constant plan of one to three years, and being able to take advantage of volatility in the marketplace."

Cost-control, or equity preservation, relates to the individual cow-calf operator figuring every way he can hold the line on costs.

"Producers can seek ways to use less energy, try to reduce capital costs and fight inflation at every turn," Helming explained.

Beef today is neither cost nor price competitive with other sources of protein, and consumers are more restrained in their demand for beef, he warned.

"At best, 1981 and '82 will have a flat, sluggish inflationary economy, which will see little improvement for beef," he said.

Costs of producing beef, however, will continue to accelerate sharply higher, he predicted.

Helming challenged livestock producers to "become more effective risk managers—rather than risk takers—as they produce a protein source of food."

In the next several years, more major industry adjustments will still be necessary, according to Helming. The price between feeder and fed cattle must narrow, and the new grading system will make adjustments necessary in that area. Grain, which will increase in price faster than beef, will hasten a change in feeding practices. Cattle will be fed grain 100 days or less in the near future, he predicted.

Consumers, Helming said, are very price conscious. "About 50 percent of the beef consumed in the U.S. today is in ground beef form and is moderately priced."

By 1990, from four to six beef processing firms will be processing about 90 percent of the beef produced in the U.S., Helming said.

Livestock owners need to move ahead vigorously to maintain a positive image and achieve greater cost production efficiency, the economist added.

"Those who choose not to become better managers will find the cattle business in the next 10 years to be very disappointing financially, not much fun—if any—and indeed discouraging," Helming concluded.

Little damage caused by increasing greenbug population

Greenbugs are increasing rapidly in many area wheat fields. Some fields have already been damaged by these pests. In many cases wheat is making good growth and although greenbug populations are increasing they are causing little damage. Beneficial insect activity is increasing rapidly in many fields also.

Field inspection is the only way to make sure control measures are needed. The number of greenbugs present coupled with the amount of damage they are causing and the number of predators and parasites are important factors to consider at this point in the growing season. Information in the following table may serve as a guide in determining the need for treatment.

Plant height	Number of greenbugs per linear foot
3-6	100-300
4-8	200-400
6-16	300-800

Irrigated small grains or fields with adequate moisture can withstand larger greenbug populations than fields under moisture stress. Greenbug populations may be much higher than another field including many dead plants.

Lady beetles are feeding on greenbugs. Lady beetle adults are in the foot of row can greatly reduce greenbug populations. Parasitic wasps are also increasing in some fields.

The insecticide control in following.

Methyl parathion pints/ac.
Parathion (8 lb. 10.5) Di-Syston (8 lb. 10.5) Cygon 400 or 800 pints/ac.

Over production of hogs not all "doom and gloom"

(COLLEGE STATION) — What was to have been "hog heaven" for producers this time of the year has turned out to be a general "bust" situation because of too many hogs.

"Hog prices are currently much lower than we expected because producers did not reduce numbers as they had indicated they would last September," explains Dr. Ernie Davis, Livestock marketing economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"We've got $42 hogs instead of $50 hogs because marketings during this past January were up 1 percent from January 1980 instead of down 7 to 9 percent as predicted," he notes.

Davis reasons that these factors had something to do with the increased marketings: some carryover of marketings from December into January, a mild winter that has finished faster, some finishing stock, and some June-August pig crop reduced a 10 percent drop in hogs on December 1st percent.

"However, all is not gloom" for the hogs, Davis says. "Since hog prices are another 40,000 December, these should be in February and March bring $47 to $48 per hundred."

Market hogs should be per 100 pounds during the past January were up 1 percent from January 1980 instead of down 7 to 9 percent as predicted, he notes. A possible decline in demand during this period, strength to port economy.

Liquid herbicides should be in battle against mesquite

Ranchers battling mesquite brush should consider flying on a liquid herbicide in late spring and early summer.

Since herbicides for mesquite control must be translocated from leaves to stems and roots to be most effective, spray when leaves have extended fully and have turned from light to dark green. Soil temperatures at the 18-inch depth should be 55 degrees or higher.

Hens produce methane gas

Aided by technology, 200,000 laying hens can generate about 66,000 cubic feet of methane gas every day, according to a speaker at the recent Texas Commercial Egg Clinic at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Ed Fulton at Tarleton State University has designed an anaerobic digestion plant that converts animal wastes to methane or bio-gas and fertilizer. Such a plant would cost about $281,000 and would be feasible for poultry operations with 40,000 or more laying hens.

Methane from the plant would be a direct energy source for heating and cooling and could also be used to generate electricity.

Slowing down the rising costs of anything these days. Even your electricity.

You've got someone working on it for you in the Southwest Southwestern Public Service is using Wyoming coal to make electricity in its new power plants. Because some of the old plants run on fuel that just plain costs too much. Electricity could cost a lot more than it does. But thank goodness it doesn't — because of coal.

Texas Schools may soon provide "The Arts In Education" program

Interested in your child having an arts experience? School districts throughout Texas may soon provide these activities, if they apply for financial assistance to bring professional artists into their schools.

"The Artists-in-Education program will place professional performing, visual and literary artists in accredited school districts to bring an enriching arts experience to children of all ages," announced Allan Longacre, Executive Director for the Texas Commission on the Arts.

Deadline for applications is May 1. Assistance awards will be announced in May for the 1981-1982 school year.

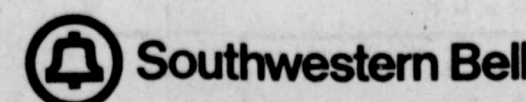

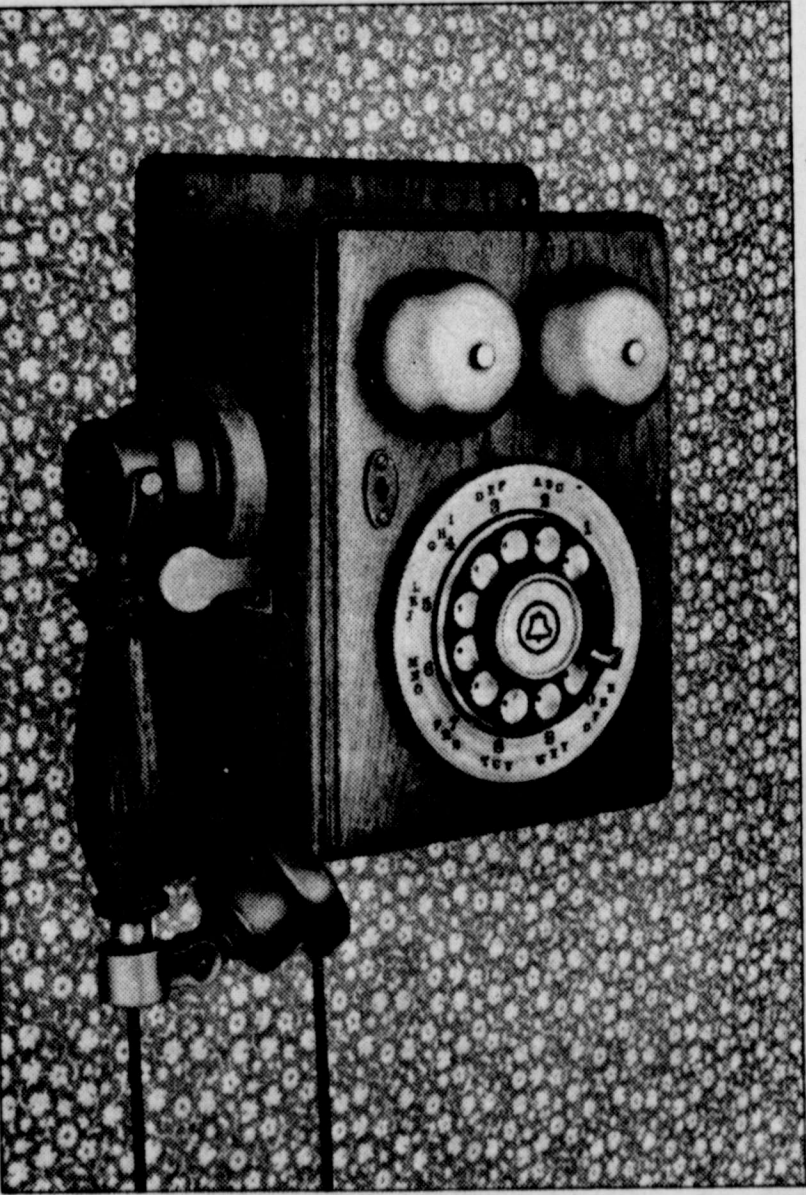

"Although the creative activities are aimed primarily at school children, teachers as well as the entire community take part too," Mr. Longacre explained.

Eligible sponsors may be any accredited school district, Regional Education Service Center, local government group, or a non-profit tax-exempt organization such as a museum or an arts council. Organizations may pool their financial resources
