

Lockney Chamber goes after rod plant

BY PATRICK CLARK

Lockney Chamber of Commerce, led by president Gail Kring, is mounting an effort to entice two Lockney natives to build a proposed $6 million steel rod plant just outside the city limits.

The plant would employ 45-60 employees with an annual payroll in excess of a million dollars the first year and increasing to $750,000 in the fifth year of operation.

Proposed developers are cousins Nelson and Jake Wofford of Lubbock who own a steel sucker rod plant in Lockney.

A major factor in the negotiations has become developing a counter-proposal to the Woffords by the city of Crosbyton.

The Woffords said the Woffords five acres of land on a 99-year lease for a year plus installation of water, gas and sewer lines at no cost.

The Crosbyton site is on a railroad spur the Woffords said is suitable for the plant.

The Woffords have been negotiating for the purchase of 3.6 acres of land in the Lockney city limits and south of Highway 70.

The Woffords said the pie-shaped site is the wrong shape and they would like to purchase an additional 1.4 acres for the 40,000 square foot building they plan to build.

Kring is talking to the owner of the adjacent property to see if it could be arranged to provide the Woffords with the additional needed acreage.

The North and Denver rail line is nearby and a spur could be constructed. Woffords said that if they decided to come into Lockney instead of Crosbyton they would expect a similar arrangement on the water, sewer and gas lines.

It is estimated that it would cost 75-cents per foot for a two inch water line and the same amount for a two inch gas line.

A four inch sewer line would cost about $4 per foot. "If they (the city) would spend a few thousand dollars, we could make the town a lot of money," Nelson Wofford said.

In addition, the Woffords want a guarantee that the city will not annex their land in the future so that it will not be subject to city taxes.

At the regular city council meeting earlier this month, council members indicated there would be no problem with the annexation guarantee.

The Woffords said they would like to have the plant in operation by the first of the year, regardless of where it is located.

At present, the Woffords are trying to arrange the $6 million in financing they need to get started.

They have approached a Los Angeles financier about arranging the money. The Woffords said, however, that even though the money is being sought through the Los Angeles financier, it may come from a Ft. Worth bank.

"We're in the process of getting the financing," Nelson Wofford said. But the prime lending rate, in excess of 20-percent now, "isn't going to help us any," he said. "We may have to go to a lease-purchase agreement on our equipment. This is some pretty sophisticated equipment."

While the wooden rods are used for windmills, the steel rods are used on oil wells.

Nelson Wofford said they would have to ship 500 unfinished rods to their equipment manufacturer in Detroit where the manufacturer would build the appropriate machine to thread the rods and then take the machine apart and ship it to Texas.

They already have one major oil company customer lined up.

"We have a ten year commitment for a million feet per month from this company," Jake Wofford said. "And they have first right of refusal on anything in excess of that."

At one-dollar-per-foot for the rods, that commitment is worth $120 million over the ten years.

The plant would mean 45 to 60 new jobs for Lockney, Floydada and surrounding area immediately, with that half-million-dollar annual payroll.

The Woffords estimate that at least half of the jobs, if not more, could be filled with people from Lockney and Floyd County.

"These are not going to be skilled jobs," Nelson Wofford said. "People are going to have to be trained, such as machine operators, and we'll do the training."

Jake Wofford also points out that for every five new jobs, the need for one support job is created at local businesses.

If 60 people were employed at the plant, Jake Wofford said, an additional 18 support jobs would be created in town.

In addition, Kring said, the new jobs might spur a developer to build new housing or apartments in Lockney.

The water use of the plant, the Wofford's said, would be minimal.

Most of the water they would need, they said, would be for sanitation purposes. What water was used in the manufacturing process, the Woffords said, would be relatively minimal and water would be recycled.

The plant, which would be in operation 24-hours a day, would also require 13,000 cubic feet of natural gas per hour.

LOCKNEY FARMER JOHN BICKLEY, right, tells Railroad Commission hearing examiner Rory McGinty that the planned closing of the Santa Fe Railroad agencies in Lockney, Floydada, Kress and Hale Center would mean the loss of personal service to railroad customers in those towns. RR Commission studies closings

The Texas Railroad Commission is going to have to make a choice between economy and local service in its decision on whether the Santa Fe Railroad can close its local offices in Lockney, Floydada, Kress and Hale Center.

The Santa Fe Railroad has proposed establishing a regional office in Plainview to serve the four towns.

The Railroad Commission held two days of hearings in Plainview last week to consider Santa Fe's proposal.

Lockney farmer John Bickley was among the witnesses who testified against the closings.

Bickley said he opposed the plan because, "I am interested in the continuation of personal service. Have you ever tried to talk with a computer."

Don Marble of South Plains also testified before the hearing examiners against the proposal.

Marble has farming interests in Floyd, Hale and Castro counties. Marble said he is served by a railroad siding at Lockney for shipping cotton, and grain and for shipping and receiving test equipment from John Deere Co.

"I have had some serious problems from time to time in shipping cars of farm equipment to Des Moines, Iowa," Marble said. "My local agent whenever I have had these problems has been as helpful as possible."

"What we have now," Marble said, "works, pretty well, so any changes should be for the good of the customer and not just the railroad."

Also opposing the proposal was Steve Brown, a farm equipment dealer served by the Floydada agent. Brown said that creating a regional office in Plainview and discontinuing service in Floydada would cause him costly delays when he needed service.

JOHN SEAY, left, governor for Rotary District 573, addressed the Lockney Rotary Club last week during a district tour. Seay said the Lockney club has the biggest membership per capita of any club in his district. For every thousand people in Lockney, Seay said, 20 are Rotary Club members. Floydada only has a per capita membership of 10 per thousand people.

She must think old McDonald has the cows and sheep stashed in the back behind the malt and french fry machines.

I am afraid that it may take her years to figure out that eggs and milk and other things to eat don't magically grow under golden arches in the city, but on farms. Right now she thinks that a farm is a fast food restaurant.

I'm afraid that confusing McDonalds with old McDonald is not her only misconception. She thinks that Indians are another word for fingers and toes because of the song, "One little, two little, three little Indians," which I sing to her while counting the numbers off on her fingers and toes.

And songs are not the only culprits. When we went on a camping vacation recently, I tried to explain to her about vacations. She was delighted that we were on vacation, but she thought that the vacation was the tent.

Now one of her favorite games is making a "vacation" in the middle of the living room with two chairs and a sheet.

What can you say? She doesn't believe you if you try to explain that fingers and toes are not Indians and tents are not vacations.

What does it really matter? She can play with her Indian fingers in her custom made vacation and sing about Old McDonald who grows hamburgers on his farm.

After all, she's only two.

Judge Praises Entries In Crosbyton Art Festival

"The amazing thing about this show is the great cross section," remarked John Crump concerning the third annual Crosbyton Art Festival. Crump, a well-known artist from Anson, judged the show which was opened to the public Friday and Saturday.

Crump was highly complimentary of "the high quality show," which attracted 308 entries. "Good crowds" visited the event which was stated in the Crosby County Pioneer Memorial auditorium.

Judge Crump remarked "this is the best quality photography of any small town show I've seen." He also commented on the number and quality of wildlife.

He also praised the "excellent community involvement. The general attitude is overwhelming. I am very impressed with the art association and civic pride" evident in the Crosbyton Art Festival.

"BEST OF SHOW"
Chosen for "best of show" honors was a pastel of Louise Deering of Lubbock. It was entitled "Basket of Apples."

"People's choice" was a bronze of a young cowboy and his dad designed by Dwayne Cornelius. Prizes were presented at 4:30 p.m. Saturday at the show's conclusion.

Thursday evening, a patrons' reception was held in the auditorium. Patrons made their selections before the festival was opened to the public the next morning.

Dwayne Cornelius, president of Crosbyton Art Association, said purchase prizes totaled $3,610.

In addition to the $15 cash prize for first place winners in each division, ribbons were presented for first, second and third place and honorable mention.

Crump judged entries Thursday after they had been accepted the previous day.

Commissioners approve $124,000 appraisal budget monday

County Commissioners okayed their share of the over $124,000 Appraisal District budget in regular court session Monday morning.

The county's part of the Floyd County Central Appraisal District's budget will be $29,955.54. Commissioners voted to pay the sum quarterly.

County Judge Choise Smith said that the County Tax Office would be cut back in personnel to the Tax Assessor only next year.

In compliance with the new Texas tax law, the newly formed appraisal office will take on all duties of county tax appraisals, assessments, preparing the tax rolls, and collection of taxes for the 11 taxing entities in Floyd County in 1982.

There will be a four or five month change over while the County Tax Office completes the 1981 collections and turns the taxing duties over to the Appraisal Office.

The County Tax office will continue in all other phases of tax collecting as is done at the present time, car licensing, for example.

The county is obligated to 24.13 per cent of the total $124,142.30 Appraisal District budget, which the commissioners approved.

Sam Baker, Baker Insurance, met with the court to explain a Public Officials and Employees Liability Insurance.

Concern for such coverage has arisen from other cases in the state where lawsuits involving a court decision have named county judges and commissioners individually as well as in a group.

County Attorney Kenneth Bain Jr. was asked to examine the policy and make recommendations. He reported that he was not an expert insurance lawyer and could not give an opinion on that basis.

Commissioner Sam Spence, who is an insurance agent, and Commissioner Bob Jarrett, who is an insurance adjuster, agreed that exact interpretations of insurance policies is difficult.

Need for the liability policy was discussed at a recent meeting of county judges and commissioners. This type of insurance would protect elected and appointed officials the costs of being named in a class action suit. It would be in addition to the personal injury and property liability insurance now carried by the county.

The policy would be written for not less than three years at a total cost of $1400.

Baker reported that the City is considering a similar policy and that the Hesperian and Beacon have recently purchased a similar policy with specific adjustments for newspapers.

Bain recommended the need for the protection offered by the policy. "You need some coverage," he said.

After lengthy discussion motion was made by Bob Jarrett and seconded by Sam Spence that the county purchase from International Surplus Line Insurance Company a Public Officials and Employees Liability Insurance for county elected officials and appointed officials. All voted in favor.

Two budget requests were heard. Tentative budget requests were read for the County Extension office and will be considered with other budget requests later.

The cost per month for a county trapper will be raised $200. At the present time the county pays $500 a month for a trapper. That figure will be increased to $700 next year.

Judge Smith read a letter asking for a resolution on Bill 621. The letters sent to the commissioners was different from the one sent to the County Judge and so the matter was tabled until the exact resolution request could be determined.

The question of redistricting was discussed. After each 10-year census all voting districts are expected to evaluate their population changes to see if they still comply with the percentage guideline of the state.

Judge Smith suggested that a thorough study of the block maps would give a good estimation of population in each precinct. They could then break it down and get a population number "to see if it is way out of proportion."

The guidelines are set by total population not by registered voters. All four county precincts are about equal in square miles. However, Precinct 2 (Lockney) has the largest voter registration with 1801. Precinct 1 (Floydada) is next with 1255 registered voters; Precinct 3 has 844 voters and Precinct 4 has 926 voters.

The census was not figured by voting precincts so the actual population figures in each precinct will have to be compiled and then studied for proportional imbalances.

Historic committee to erect marker

The Floyd County Historic Committee met Monday, July 6, in the county courtroom.

President Jim Word led the reports on the work on the Della Plains historical marker. Descendants of the Mickey-Smith families recently contributed to the fund for the marker, to be near the Duncan gravel pit on the South Plains highway, where the county's first town was located.

Mrs. Nancy Marble read a report on the committee's plans for a marker at the site of the G.L. Burns blacksmith in Lockney. The committee plans to erect a marker telling the historical and economical contribution this business made to the growth and development of farming in Floyd County and surrounding area.

J.D. Copeland was appointed to a committee to locate historic houses in Lockney. Selected houses will be photographed and history collected on each. The committee discussed the necessity of incorporating the history of Della Plains with the history of Floydada. The story of Della Plains and names of those buried in the Della Plains cemetery will be on the same marker. Notes on history of the first town were given to the committee by Mrs. Alma Holmes of Duncanville, Texas.

This will be a county wide project, to memorialize the first town in the county. Donations may be given to the Floyd County Museum, Jim Word, or J.D. Copeland, for purchasing the marker of a size to be easily read.

Mrs. Emily Johnston reported on three historic homes in Floydada, in which the committee is interested. These include the George Linder house, the Marvin Massie house, and the Emmett Henry house, southwest of the swimming pool.

President Word presented a request for a marker for the Paymaster Farms Seed Company was owned by the Moody Cotton Company of Galveston and was started in 1927. Committee members present included: Joyce Williams, J.D. Copeland, Olive Hinton, Reba Henry, Nancy Marble, Choise Smith, and...

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of ivory satin and organza fashioned with a scalloped peau d'ange lace at the Victorian neckline. The long lace sleeves were accented with seed pearls and a wide ruffle at the wrist. The bodice of the princess silhouette was enhanced by a lace overlay with seed pearls in a deep oval. A wide ruffle of lace encircled the hemline of the gown which swept into a full chapel train scattered with lace appliques.

The bride wore an antique brooch belonging to her great grandmother and passed down to her great grandmother, Mrs. L.L. Clark of Floydada. For something blue she wore a blue garter belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Tom Daniel of Floydada. She also wore a penny with her birth date in her shoe.

Miss Cherri Redd, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Patty Garrison, Carol Maloney, Tracy Lytle and Kathy Llewellyn, all of Colorado.

Their full length gowns were of burgundy crepe satin with matching chiffon capes and they carried burgundy silk roses on ivory lace fans.

Best man was Jack Garrison of Gunnison, Colorado. Groomsmen were Mark

Mennose, Robin of Gunnison, Rocky Delmonico, and John Delmonico of Colorado. Brad Redd, brother of the bride, was candlelighter.

Following the wedding, a dinner and reception was held in fellowship hall.

Lockney Care Center news

BY VICKIE HUTTON

Bingo fever is growing and growing. We are playing bingo twice a week now. We have added three new players, L.A. Jones, Walter Craft, and Marie Leach.

A special thanks goes to Linda Holly for donating a new bingo game to the residents. We appreciate her kindness.

Our bingo winners this week are Lewis Roberts and Myrtle Payne.

We really had a watermelon feast Monday. The watermelon was delicious!! It was so juicy that we got more on ourself and on the floor than in our stomach. I think we could eat it everyday if possible.

The popcorn melted in our mouth while we watched the films "Hound" and "Zoo." It wouldn't be a movie without good popcorn. Mm! Mm! Things were really "rocking and rolling" during music therapy. Kim Sherman has a special touch to make the music extra special. Music is the one language that we can all enjoy.

We welcome new residents L.A. Jones, Walter Craft, and Marie Leach to our family. We are looking forward to having them join in on all the activities of the Care Center.

A special prayer is said for Sally Carpenter and Mattie Readhimer who are presently in the hospital. We miss their smiling faces and cheerful personalities.

A special recognition goes to all our churches who hold services and to all the great volunteers who give us their time and talent. Volunteers brighten our lives in more ways than can be mentioned.

That's ...would mean another $30,000 a year in tax money for the Lockney Independent School District. That $30,000 could mean lower taxes or better programs, new equipment, better facilities, salary for more staff if needed. Translated that means a better education. ...would mean more sales for local businesses. ...would mean more apartment and house rentals and home sales for local property owners. ...would mean the construction of new houses and apartments. ...would mean more sales for local grocers. ...would mean more sales for local clothing stores. ...would mean more business for our local insurance brokers. ...would mean more business for the local drug stores, the cleaners, the hardware stores, service stations and auto mechanics. ...would mean more subscribers for Lockney Cable Television and The Lockney Beacon. ...would mean these benefits, the city must offer assistance to the developers of a proposed plant. That means the installation of water, sewer and gas lines at an expenditure of a few thousand dollars. ...would mean the money. It has in the neighborhood of $300,000 on deposit in a local bank. ...would mean more money. "Hey, wait a minute. That money is for the Mackenzie project." ...would mean more money. But a few thousand dollars at this point won't make any difference. ...would mean more money. If there is no one here to drink the water, what difference will it make to you to telephone Lockney City Hall (652-2355) and encourage J.D. Copeland and Councilmen Gail Kring, Roy Holly, Pat Frizzell, James Wofford and Paul Reecer to act now to secure this plant for Lockney? ...would mean more money. Do it now. ...would mean more money. "If only we had done something."

Michigan comes the news of a minister who developed an electric shock to administer a low voltage shock to volunteers who sit on it. The minister got the idea from a magazine and tried it in his church's school. Latest word is that he has agreed to mothball the invention. The purpose of the stool was to get children to listen to the word of God. Really, the analogy is that sometimes it takes a great shock in life to get your attention. Some of the parents of victims were understandably initially, what the good pastor was doing was using behavior modification techniques to attain his goal, so that the children would listen to what he had to say. They could decide whether or not they would listen to God. We could adapt this kind of thing for the church as a whole. We could use the pulpit and put a control in the pulpit. Unsuspecting sleepers would end to their inattention.

What if we could start spiritual clinics along the lines of the smoking clinic that help folks quit smoking. The techniques are already available to help folks quit smoking. Wear a hair shirt for a week. Can't overcome your lust? Fifteen lashes self-administered every time an thought crosses your mind. And who knows, maybe there would also be a clinic for reading sarcastic articles by Methodist preachers. That would be a cure for all sort of maladies.

On the more positive side, did you see the little article about the man who gave his life savings to help pay the burial expenses for a man known who was killed in a car wreck? That really like the deceased boy, but wanted to show that somebody who an action serves as a witness to all of us. ...would mean more money. love your enemies and pray for those who despitely

My Savage World

"Biking can improve your health," says the Texas Medical Center. I guess that's true, if it doesn't kill you first. I've drawn up a set of rules for folks who haven't ridden a bike in a while since you were a kid.)

Ride when it's hot. You might die of heat prostration. Ride when it's cold. You might freeze.

Ride when it's raining. You might get wet. You might like excuses not to go to church, don't they?

Ride with long-legged pants. They might get caught in the chain. Ride with change in your pocket, especially if you have a hole in your pants. You might leave a trail of money for children to follow. You might like the Pied Piper.

Ride with high heels. They don't have enough traction when you're dragging your feet because you forgot about the brakes being on the handle bars instead of the pedals.

Ride in a dress. Especially if it's windy, because you will be blown when the dress blows over your head and you're afraid to turn the handle bars to pull it down, and besides you can't see where you're going.

Go to the store for ice cream unless you live next door. Send your money and get back before the ice cream starts melting and running down your pants.

Ride in the middle of the street even if you think no one is around. Children, and motorcycles can sneak up behind you and scare you.

Ride on loose gravel, especially if you have skinny tires like on the motorcycle. Those tires can slip out from under you before you know it and you'll end up with skinned knees, and scarred hands, and your kids will be laughing.

Ride until you become exhausted. To the end of the block is the end of the road. ...would mean more money. you're only a child once, or twice.

Consumer Alert

AUSTIN—Sometimes it's hard to say "no" to a door-to-door salesperson, even one selling something you don't particularly need or want.

And many Texas consumers find only after that persuasive sales pitch has ended and the salesperson has departed with a signed contract that they could have bought the same or a similar item in stores all over town, sometimes at a much lower price than they had agreed to pay.

Under the Texas Home Solicitation Transactions Act, a consumer who is solicited at his/her home by someone selling goods or services that cost $25 or more, or real estate costing $100 or more, has a chance to change his mind.

The act gives consumers the right to cancel a home solicitation transaction up until midnight of the third business day following the day the contract was signed.

The person soliciting the sale must furnish the consumer with a copy of the contract or a fully completed receipt before leaving the premises. In it, the date of the transaction, name and address of the seller, and a notice of the right to cancel must be printed in large, dark type near the spot on the contract reserved for the buyer's signature.

In addition, the law requires that a completed "notice of cancellation" be attached to the contract or receipt for the consumer to use if he decides to cancel the sale. If the seller receives such a cancellation from the consumer, he must return any payment or contract within 10 business days.

Our attorneys point out that a violation of the Home Solicitation Act is also a violation of the Deceptive Trade Practices Act, and that a person who believes such a violation has occurred should contact our Consumer Protection Division, the county or district attorney, or a private attorney.

Lloyd Bentsen

This year, the federal government will collect about $13 billion from Texas under the so-called windfall profit tax and transfer the vast bulk of it to other states. But legislators from industrial states in the Northeast and Midwest are pushing for even more.

Their efforts could balkanize this country. They have formed a Northeast-Midwest coalition in Congress, using a paid staff to gather statistics and plant stories.

These "snowbelt" lawmakers claim that producing states, like Texas, are reaping a windfall profit from decontrol and will use this revenue to pillage their industrial base. They propose that laws be rewritten to give their states a bigger portion of money distributed by the federal government. Many of the laws already are biased in their favor.

The fact is, the so-called windfall profit tax, which I voted against, may well result in the most massive transfer of wealth in the history of our nation. Overall, this tax will place $227 billion in the coffers of the U.S. Treasury over the next 10 years. Of that amount, $141.33 billion will be paid out by Texas.

Texas will prosper in the future, make no mistake about that. But our wealth will be fairly earned and long in coming. And we'll stand ready to defend it against raiders from "snowbelt" legislators armed with twisted logic.

Although Texas still has some of the poorest regions in the country, our state is finally nearing the national average in per capita income. Why should we be punished for catching up with the rest of America?

Let's take a look at these arguments about a producer state rip-off as a result of decontrol. What are the facts? The facts are that people, jobs and capital have been moving to Texas and other Southern states for more than a decade.

As a result of the 1980 census, the South and West will gain about 17 seats in Congress, with three of those seats going to Texas. This southward migration began long before the energy crisis and it will continue long after it is over. People come here to set up businesses, to live and work, because we offer an attractive economic environment that is committed to the free enterprise system.

That has been the secret of Texas-style success—it's a lesson our neighbors would do well to learn. Allegations that Texas and other "sunbelt" states are prospering at the expense of our fellow Americans in the Northeast and Midwest have no basis in fact.

Rampant, divisive regionalism does no one any good in this country, whether North or South. Instead of dwelling on the economic rivalry between Massachusetts and Texas, our Northern detractors ought to take a look at the intense competition between the United States and Japan for world markets. I would remind my Northern colleagues of Benjamin Franklin's words at the signing of the Declaration of Independence: "We must all hand together or assuredly we shall hand separately."

Social Security News

BY RAY PURCELL

There are some people living in retirement who are finding it to be pretty much what they expected, even with the effect of recent inflation of their income. There are others who have found a sharp drop in their incomes in terms of buying power.

The difference is not necessarily how much money they were making when they were working. The difference that accounts for their situations is more likely to be found in their approach to preparing and planning for their retirement.

People who know how social security works as a retirement income program are more likely to find their retirement income at a desirable level. Knowing what social security provides and how it treats income in retirement is absolutely essential to making it work for you.

It is important to know that social security benefits are designed to replace only a portion of your pre-retirement income—to provide a base on which you can build. Depending on your earnings, social security will replace from 30 to 35 percent of your pre-retirement earnings. The lower earner gets the higher rate because of the lesser room for a reduction in income.

Since it replaces only a part of your prior earnings, the social security system expects and encourages people to plan for other retirement income. For example, the annual earnings test, which is used to determine if a person has actually suffered a reduction in earnings applies only to earnings, not to other forms of retirement income. Income from rent, investments, savings, and other pensions is not subject to the earnings test.

At the same time, people who wish to supplement their retirement income with earnings can do so. A person 65 or over can earn $5,500 in 1981 without affecting his or her social security check. A person under 65 can earn $4,080 in 1981. Earnings over the annual exempt amount cause the social security check to be reduced by $1 for each $2 of earnings above the annual exempt amount. People 72 and over (70 in 1982) are not subject to the earnings test.

Another feature of the social security program is the protection it provides against inflation. Benefits are indexed against inflation and increase automatically with the cost of living once a person begins receiving them. Also, social security benefits are not subject to Federal and State income taxes.

It is important to know these facts about social security if you want to have sufficient income in retirement. If you have any questions about future benefits, call your social security office. We can help you.

Teleservice will save you time, energy and money! To file a claim for Social Security or Supplemental Security Income payments call collect, 806-293-4371. For assistance with other social security matters or Medicare call toll free 1-800-392-1603.

history of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce depression period of 1928-1931. The activities of the Red Cross seemed to fall naturally into the Chamber of Commerce which was the only active organization in Floyd County at that time that was capable of handling the many situations which had developed. In many instances, the weather conditions caused financial difficulties for Floyd County residents.

The Chamber of Commerce had few activities then so we devoted to the programs which the Red Cross had developed. A few of these friends were coming in constantly for help with food, clothing, and other needs which the Red Cross provided in Floyd County.

The Red Cross segment of the American Red Cross Society for help to the needy of this area. I remember one check for $2,500.00 which was a lot of money at that time.

It was a lot of money that I was fortunate in having Floyd County people who generously devoted their time, and their money to the Red Cross. A few of these friends were Ed Brown, Lon Davis, Sr., Fred Zimmerman Sr., Mark Martin and others, all of whom have been rewarded. Many other friends gave freely and anonymously to the Floyd County Red Cross for the various needs of the county. This, of course, was an otherwise almost unbearable task bearable many times. Cross worker was to notify Floyd County families that their son had been killed or wounded in the war. Service to families with men in the armed forces became most important during those years.

The women volunteer Red Cross workers throughout the United States were as energetic and as enthusiastic as were the men volunteers during this war period. They knitted 140,089,000 garments for the Army and Navy, and in addition they made 253,196,000 surgical dressings, 22,255,000 hospital garments and 1,464,000 refugee garments. The work was done under the direction of 3870 chapters of the Red Cross with more than 8,000,000 workers. Floyd County women contributed hundreds of hours of volunteer work to the war effort.

Inks Lake is great vacation site

BY SHELLY HARRIS

I spent a mini vacation at Inks Lake State Park a week ago and recommend the lake to anyone who enjoys woodlands, wildflowers and wildlife.

Even the rocks in that area are pink granite and beautiful. The park, a 1,200-acre panorama, is located in the Central Texas Hill Country between Burnet and Llano in Burnet County.

The park borders Inks Lake created by the Roy Inks Dam on the Colorado River.

Lake is second in a chain of lakes that were created by a series of dams built in the 1930's.

A little over 300 miles from Floyd County, the Inks Lake area is considered one of the most beautiful in Texas because of its scenic diversity and wealth of minerals, water and wildlife.

Archeological evidence around Inks Lake indicates Indians used the area as a hunting ground.

Occasionally stone tools and weapons are found by archeologists, and many still lie beneath the lake waters.

Of particular interest is the park's natural setting. Located in the mineral region, also known as the Llano uplift, the predominant stone exposed in the park is a pink gneiss and granite.

Deer, turkey, quail, numerous songbirds, and other species of wildlife are abundant in the park.

Early morning a herd of five deer visited the cabin areas searching for food left by the campers.

Teal ducks as well as some wild domestic whites swim the lake and came up to our campsite to preen and clean their feathers in the early morning.

Squirrels would often come into the campsite and explore the table and which ever boxes they could.

The lake is good swimming since it is shallow along the bank. One must share the water with large turtles and an occasional water snake, however.

The recreational features at the park include swimming, boating, canoeing, water skiing, sailing, scuba diving and fishing.

The park offers day picnicking facilities. Picnic tables and grills are part of each campsite, with electrical hookups in some areas. Screened shelters are also available.

Many restrooms with showers are readily available.

The park has a nine-hole golf course. Golf cars, pull carts and clubs may be rented.

Concession facilities at the park include a store where picnic supplies and groceries are available. Canoes, fishing boats and paddle boats may be rented, and a public boat ramp also is available.

Prices range from $2 per day for day picnicking to $5 per night for the shelters.

There are many nearby points of interest to visit.

Commission seeks cultural minority arts organizations

The Texas Commission on the Arts is seeking names and addresses of minority arts and cultural organizations in Texas to include in its updated version of the Minority Arts Organization Directory.

The directory includes Black, Mexican-American and Native American organizations in Texas and is used as a resource in providing grants writing and technical assistance to minority organizations. The Commission will also provide information on minority performing arts organizations to the Kennedy Center National Committee on Cultural Diversity, which is presently collecting information on minority performing arts organizations in an effort to locate and facilitate private funding sources for them.

Questionnaires which will be used to accomplish the update have been sent to local arts councils and minority arts organizations. To obtain a questionnaire contact these sources, or call Pat Jasper or Susi Le Baron toll free at 1-800-252-9415.

Cowboy Gilley to make his debut at 64th annual South Plains Fair

LUBBOCK—Mickey Gilley, who some credit with helping launch the urban cowboy craze, will make his debut at the 64th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair here September 28.

General Manager Steve L. Lewis said Gilley would be teamed with the famed Urban Cowboy band and singer Johnny Lee for two shows, 5 p.m. and 8 p.m.

It's the seventh and last of "big name" entertainment booked for the exposition, scheduled September 26-October 3.

Attractions announced previously include: Charley Pride, September 26; Don Williams, September 29; Marty Robbins and Little David Wilkins, September 30; Slim Whitman and Boxcar Willie, October 1; Mel Tillis and the Maines Brothers, October 2; Jacky Ward and The Kendalls, October 3.

Gilley catapulted into stardom in 1974, shortly after he recorded "Roomful of Roses" on the B-side of yet another single for a small label recording company.

Months later, as the first country release on the now-defunct Playboy label, it had sold a half million copies and Gilley was a star. Since then, he's spent more time on the road than he has in his club, which was opened in 1970 in the Houston suburb of Pasadena.

The huge club, meanwhile, continues to thrive—especially after the "Urban Cowboy" movie was filmed there. The film starred John Travolta.

As for Gilley himself, he has seven No. 1 country hits under his belt and his popularity is soaring. He makes many of his recordings in a special studio inside the club. Other stars, including Merle Haggard, Archie Bell and the Drells, also record there.

Lee is a perfect companion for Gilley on the stage.

When Lee's hit single, "Look-in' for Love", from the Urban Cowboy soundtrack, raced to the top of both the national country and pop charts, it confirmed what a number of country music fans in Texas had been predicting for some time: all he needed was one big hit to make him a national star.

Now, Lee is "featured vocalist" at Gilley's Club, he's touring the nation, is working on a new album and is guesting on several television shows.

Tickets for all shows are $6, $7 and $8 and all seats are reserved.

Mail order requests for tickets are being accepted by the fair association at P.O. Box 208, Lubbock, Texas 79408. Orders are being processed in the order in which received but orders will not be filled until early August.

Mail order reservations must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Texas livestock receipts down in 1980

Total cash receipts from Texas livestock in 1980 totaled about $5.2 billion, down some $800 million from 1979, according to preliminary estimates.

These estimates include cash receipts for meat animals, dairy productions, poultry, eggs and livestock products.

The $5.2 billion in livestock receipts should have an estimated agribusness impact of more than $19 billion on the Texas economy.

Dr. Carl Anderson, marketing economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, says downward pressure on beef and hog prices and fewer cattle marketings accounted for most of the decline in cash receipts from livestock last year.

Cash receipts from crops totaling about $3.9 billion and $633 million in agriculturally related income pushed the state's estimated agricultural income to the $9.7 billion mark, down somewhat from the $10.4 billion recorded in 1979.

Based on these figures, Texas still ranks third in the nation, behind California and Iowa, in total agricultural production, but leads other states in sales from marketing cattle and calves, sheep, wool, goats and mohair, points out Anderson.

Texas also accounts for 12 percent of the U.S. cattle and calf herd and 15 percent of all beef cows.

Cash receipts from cattle and calves totaled about $4 billion in 1980, representing about 40 percent of the state's total agricultural sales. The South Plains, Panhandle and Southwest Texas led the state in cattle and calf sales.

During 1980, cattle feeding in Texas represented 18 percent of the total fed in major cattle feeding states.

Cash receipts from milk totaled $505 million last year, second to beef in Texas' animal industry. Northeast Texas led the state in milk production with Central and North Central Texas closely behind.

Poultry came in third in cash receipts from animal agriculture in Texas last year with a total of almost $500 million. Cash receipts from broilers totaled $254 million, with East Texas leading sales followed by the Coastal Bend and Northeast Texas. Egg sales totaled $165 million, with the Coastal Bend leading in sales followed by East and South Central Texas. Cash receipts from turkeys totaled $57 million, with Central Texas having highest sales followed by the Coastal Bend and South Central Texas.

Cash receipts from hogs are estimated at $108 million, with the South Plains, South Central and Central Texas the top producing areas.

Texas leads the nation in sheep, wool, goats and mohair production. Cash receipts from sheep and lamb production totaled $70 million in 1980 while wool added another $18 million. Leading the state in sheep production last year were West Central, Far West and Southwest Texas.

Cash receipts from goats totaled $6 million and mohair sales reached $31 million, with the top producing areas being Southwest, West Central and Central Texas.

Honey sales also contributed to cash receipts for animal agriculture in Texas last year to the tune of some $5 million. The Upper Coast, Southwest Texas and the Coastal Bend were the top honey producing regions in the state.

While cash receipts from animal agriculture were down some last year, net income came under even more pressure due to ever-rising production costs, says Anderson. High interest rates and inflation continued to be major factors in the continuous squeeze between costs and receipts.

Prospects are for some improvement in 1981 agricultural income, adds the economist. Yet, high interest rates, rising production costs and sagging farm prices remain a challenge to producers.

Corn sales to be subject of regional meetings

High Plains grain farmers and interested businessmen are preparing to take their case to court. Believing that the Commodity Credit Corporation's sale of imported grain in the High Plains is unjust, damaging and illegal, the farmers elevator managers and bankers are raising the necessary legal fund to block any further sales and collect damages from CCC.

Grain Sorghum Producers Association (GSPA), with headquarters in Abernathy, is ready to file a lawsuit in behalf of area grain farmers and others in the grain-related industry if sufficient funds can be raised. GSPA Executive Director Elbert Harp stated, "We have worked with USDA and our High Plains congressmen for months, seeking a solution to this problem. All political avenues have been exhausted." Harp reports that GSPA has been joined by Texas Corn Growers Association, Texas WIFE, Texa Farmers Union, and members of all area farm organizations. Grain farmers and concerned businessmen have scheduled regional meetings throughout the High Plains to discuss the grain sales and consider the proposed legal action. A spontaneous "kickoff" meeting in Muleshoe on June 29 drew a large audience.

Farmers in the Eastern High Plains area will meet in Plainview on Thursday, July 9, at 8 p.m. in the Hale County State Bank Meeting Room.

July 10 has been set as the deadline for raising the legal fund. It is estimated that the CCC sales will cost a million-pound producer at least $5,000.00 in lost market prices. Farmers are being asked to invest at a rate of $250.00 per million pounds of production to support the legal action. Harp said, "I am now convinced that we will raise the money if the farmers and elevators continue their interest.

Checks are being mailed to GSPA Legal Fund, Box R, Abernathy, Texas, 79311. Harp encourages farmers to call 806-298-2543 or any of the organizations listed above for additional information.

Use rainfall efficiently for top quality hay

COLLEGE STATION — Recent rains over much of Texas have greatly improved pasture and hay conditions. Producers can capitalize on these much needed rains by following a few key steps.

Dr. Neal Pratt, forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, suggests several practices for producers to improve hay and forage production.

First, harvest excess forage as hay while its quality is still good. Spring and early summer normally are times of greatest rainfall. With excess rains, it's important to conserve forage growth and quality. As grasses mature, quality declines rapidly. Unharvested forage becomes almost worthless later in the season.

Next, remove low quality grass and stubble from pastures. Even if the hay will not be harvested, it's best to mow, shred or otherwise remove stemmy, low quality grass to encourage fresh, leafy, good-quality growth into summer months.

Third, forage producers can apply fertilizer to improve quality and grow hay for harvesting later in the season.

It's also important to get hay tested for quality as soon as possible after harvesting. This enables producers to plan supplemental feeding practices.

County Extension agents and program building committees throughout Texas conduct field demonstrations each year to show the advantages of these and other pasture management practices notes Pratt. Information on county studies is available at the county Extension office.

LUBBOCK'S FIRST FUEL ALCOHOL PLANT goes into production this week and is scheduled to produce 500 gallons of fuel alcohol per day.

First fuel alcohol plant to start production in Lubbock area

Lubbock's first fuel alcohol plant goes into production this week and the new industry carries with it important implications for the South Plains agricultural economy. A.R.D. Inc. composed of area business men and farmers, has spent more than a year building the prototype plant, located at 2715 Slaton Road, Lubbock, Texas.

According to A.R.D. President Bill Casey, the Lubbock pilot plant is capable of producing in excess of 500 gallons of fuel alcohol per day, with one cycle taking about 72 hours. Initial batches of the fuel alcohol will be made from outdated milo and corn planting seed acquired from Hunt Seed Co. of Lubbock. Casey says that long range plans include the using of cotton burs and gin trash for the alcohol feed stock.

A.R.D. and a research task force from Texas Tech University, headed by Dr. L.D. Clements of the Chemical Engineering Department, are participating in a grant of $179,800.00 from the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council (TENRAC) for the development of this new process. Texas Tech researchers have already produced fuel alcohol from gin trash in the laboratory. The A.R.D. prototype plant will be used by the University for refining this new technology.

A.R.D. plans to integrate fuel alcohol production systems at area cattle feedlots, using the Lubbock plant as a model. This phase of A.R.D.'s operation is being coordinated by chairman of the board Durward W. Lewter, who built the large Lubbock feedlot in the 1950's. Lewter made plans integrated into the "waste" that the time is coming must have an alcohol plant to operate near the future.

A "Media Day" alcohol plant Friday tours of the plant will be held in the near future. Area public officials, error Bill Clements, Clayton, Senator E.L. officials and others for the opening ceremony.

NOTICE

As of July 1, the Cotton Board will be located in the E.H. Crump Building on 5350 Poplar, Suite 210, Memphis, Tennessee. We will have a new phone number which is (901) 683-2500. Our mailing address will remain the same, P.O. Box 2121, Memphis Tennessee 38159.

Landscape & Gardening

BY KEN LANGLEY

OKRA
Grown extensively in home gardens in the South, okra is commonly served as a main dish vegetable. It can be used fresh or may be frozen or canned.

A 25-foot row of okra should produce 25 to 75 pounds of edible pods, depending on variety, care, weather conditions, and length of harvest season.

HARVEST CAREFULLY
Cut the pods with a knife or shears. In any case, harvest very carefully so as not to give a good yield but before they become fibrous. This is usually when the pods are about four inches long or between the fourth and seventh day from the time the bloom opens, depending on variety and weather conditions. Perference of the harvester as regards pod size is also a consideration.

You can grow your own seed if you raise only one variety of okra and have no near neighbor growing another variety. Late in the season allow a few plants to develop mature seed. After removing seed from the pod, dry thoroughly and store it in the refrigerator in a closed container until the next spring. Then you can be assured of having seed of the kind wanted as planting time.

The okra pod becomes fibrous from the tip down. To be edible a pod should allow a knife blade to pass through it without providing noticeable resistance. Okra pods that get fibrous or tough on the plant will slow down the plant's growth and decrease yield.

Several pests can injure okra, with nematodes probably the most serious. Gardens that have remained in the same location for several years usually are infested with these small round worms. The only remedy is to periodically treat the soil with materials that will kill most of them. Obtain directions for treating soil from your county agent.

Periods between harvest should be short, usually not over two or three days. Even then there will be considerable variation in the length of pods harvested.

With other conditions favorable, a fair crop of okra may be produced despite nematodes. But the harvest season is likely to be shortened.

The harvested pods should be handled with care, as they bruise easily. The pods will wilt rather quickly when harvested during warm periods. Therefore they should be used or stored at 45 degrees to 50 degrees F and relatively high humidity as soon as possible after harvest. A home refrigerator provides adequate storage conditions.

Wilts may kill or injure okra plants. The organisms that cause wilt are soil-borne and require soil treatment. Several insects also may cause damage to okra. These include the corn earworm, which eats into the pod, and stinkbugs and ants which are especially troublesome late in the season.

CUTTING BACK
Sometimes when plants get too large they are cut back and allowed to sprout again near the soil surface. If this is done, apply a top-dressing of a readily available nitrogenous fertilizer.

Recommendations for controlling pests vary as new products become available or old ones are taken off the market. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

BY PATRICK CLARK

Lockney Chamber of Commerce, led by president Gail Kring, is mounting an effort to entice two Lockney natives to build a proposed $6 million steel rod plant just outside the city limits. The plant would employ 45-60 employees with an annual payroll in excess of $1 million the first year and increasing to $750,000 in the fifth year of operation.

The developers are cousins Nelson and Jake Wofford of Lubbock who have been negotiating for the purchase of 3.6 acres of land in the Lockney city limits and south of Highway 70. The Woffords said the pie-shaped site is the wrong shape and they would like to purchase an additional 1.4 acres for the 40,000 square foot building they plan to build. Kring is talking to the owner of the adjacent property to see if it could be arranged to provide the Woffords with the additional needed acreage.

The Woffords have been negotiating for the purchase of 3.6 acres of land in the Lockney city limits and south of Highway 70. The Woffords said the pie-shaped site is the wrong shape and they would like to purchase an additional 1.4 acres for the 40,000 square foot building they plan to build. Kring is talking to the owner of the adjacent property to see if it could be arranged to provide the Woffords with the additional needed acreage.

It is estimated that it would cost 75-cents per foot for a two inch water line and the same amount for a two inch gas line.

A four inch sewer line would cost about $4 per foot. "If they (the city) would spend a few thousand dollars, we could make the town a lot of money," Nelson Wofford said.

In addition, the Woffords want a guarantee that the city will not annex their land in the future so that it will not be subject to city taxes.

At the regular city council meeting earlier this month, council members indicated there would be no problem with the annexation guarantee.

The Woffords said they would like to have the plant in operation by the first of the year, regardless of where it is located.

At present, the Woffords are trying to arrange the $6 million in financing they need to get started.

They have approached a Los Angeles financier about arranging the money. The Woffords said, however, that even though the money is being sought through the Los Angeles financier, it may come from a Ft. Worth bank.

"We're in the process of getting the financing," Nelson Wofford said. But the prime lending rate, in excess of 20-percent now, "isn't going to help us any," he said. "We may have to go to a lease-purchase agreement on our equipment. This is some pretty sophisticated equipment."

While the wooden rods are used for windmills, the steel rods are used on oil wells.

Nelson Wofford said they would have to ship 500 unfinished rods to their equipment manufacturer in Detroit where the manufacturer would build the appropriate machine to thread the rods and then take the machine apart and ship it to Texas.

They already have one major oil company customer lined up.

"We have a ten year commitment for a million feet per month from this company," Jake Wofford said. "And they have first right of refusal on anything in excess of that."

At one-dollar per-foot for the rods, that commitment is worth $120 million over the ten years.

The plant would mean 45 to 60 new jobs for Lockney, Floydada and surrounding area immediately, with that half-million-dollar annual payroll.

The Woffords estimate that at least half of the jobs, if not more, could be filled with people from Lockney and Floyd County.

"These are not going to be skilled jobs," Nelson Wofford said. "People are going to have to be trained, such as machine operators, and we'll do the training."

Jake Wofford also points out that for every five new jobs, the need for one support job is created at local businesses.

If 60 people were employed at the plant, Jake Wofford said, an additional 18 support jobs would be created in town.

In addition, Kring said, the new jobs might spur a developer to build new housing or apartments in Lockney.

The water use of the plant, the Wofford's said, would be minimal.

Most of the water they would need, they said, would be for sanitation purposes. What water was used in the manufacturing process, the Woffords said, would be relatively minimal and water would be recycled.

The plant, which would be in operation 24-hours a day, would also require 13,000 cubic feet of natural gas per hour.

LOCKNEY FARMER JOHN BICKLEY, right, tells Railroad Commission hearing examiner Rory McGinty that the planned closing of the Santa Fe Railroad agencies in Lockney, Floydada, Kress and Hale Center would mean the loss of personal service to railroad customers in those towns. Bickley testified at a two-day hearing on the proposed closings in Plainview. [Plainview Daily Herald photo]

RR Commission studies closings

The Texas Railroad Commission is going to have to make a choice between economy and local service in its decision on whether the Santa Fe Railroad can close its local offices in Lockney, Floydada, Kress and Hale Center.

The Santa Fe Railroad has proposed establishing a regional office in Plainview to serve the four towns.

The Railroad Commission held two days of hearings in Plainview last week to consider Santa Fe's proposal.

Lockney farmer John Bickley was among the witnesses who testified against the closings.

Bickley said he opposed the plan because, "I am interested in the continuation of personal service. Have you ever tried to talk with a computer."

Don Marble of South Plains also testified before the hearing examiners against the proposal.

Marble has farming interests in Floyd, Hale and Castro counties. Marble said he is served by a railroad siding at Lockney for shipping cotton, and grain and for shipping and receiving test equipment from John Deere Co.

"I have had some serious problems from time to time in shipping cars of farm equipment to Des Moines, Iowa," Marble said. "My local agent whenever I have had these problems has been as helpful as possible."

"What we have now," Marble said, "works, pretty well, so any changes should be for the good of the customer and not just the railroad."

Carol Lea Clark's It's Not Easy

Whenever we pass by McDonald's hamburgers and my two-year-old daughter sees the golden arches she begins to sing, "Old McDonald had a farm, eigh-i, eigh-i, oh."

She must think old McDonald has the cows and sheep stashed in the back behind the malt and french fry machines.

I am afraid that it may take her years to figure out that eggs and milk and other things to eat don't magically grow under golden arches in the city, but on farms. Right now she thinks that a farm is a fast food restaurant.

I'm afraid that confusing McDonald's with old McDonald is not her only misconception. She thinks that Indians are another word for fingers and toes because of the song, "One little, two little, three little Indians," which I sing to her while counting the numbers off on her fingers and toes.

And songs are not the only culprits. When we went on a camping vacation recently, I tried to explain to her about vacations. She was delighted that we were on vacation, but she thought that the vacation was the tent.

Now one of her favorite games is making a "vacation" in the middle of the living room with two chairs and a sheet.

What can you say? She doesn't believe you if you try to explain that fingers and toes are not Indians and tents are not vacations.

What does it really matter? She can play with her Indian fingers in her custom made vacation and sing about Old McDonald who grows hamburgers on his farm.

After all, she's only two.

JOHN SEAY, left, governor for Rotary District 573, addressed the Lockney Rotary Club last week during a district tour. Seay said the Lockney club has the biggest membership per capita of any club in his district. For every thousand people in Lockney, Seay said, 20 are Rotary Club members. Floydada only has a per capita membership of 10 per thousand people.

Judge Praises Entries In Crosbyton Art Festival

"The amazing thing about this show is the great cross section," remarked John Crump concerning the third annual Crosbyton Art Festival. Crump, a well-known artist from Anson, judged the show which was opened to the public Friday and Saturday.

Crump was highly complimentary of "the high quality show," which attracted 308 entries. "Good crowds" visited the event which was staged in the Crosby County Pioneer Memorial auditorium.

Judge Crump remarked "this is the best quality photography of any small town show I've seen." He also commented on the number and quality of wildlife.

He also praised the "excellent community involvement. The general attitude is overwhelming. I am very impressed with the art association and civic pride" evident in the Crosbyton Art Festival.

'BEST OF SHOW'
Chosen for "best of show" honors was a pastel of Louise Deering of Lubbock. It was entitled "Basket of Apples."

"People's choice" was a bronze of a young cowboy and his dad designed by Dwayne Cornelius. Prizes were presented at 4:30 p.m. Saturday at the show's conclusion.

Thursday evening, a patrons' reception was held in the auditorium. Patrons made their selections before the festival was opened to the public the next morning.

Dwayne Cornelius, president of Crosbyton Art Association, said purchase prizes totaled $3,610.

In addition to the $15 cash prize for first place winners in each division, ribbons were presented for first, second and third place and honorable mention.

Crump judged entries Thursday after they had been accepted the previous day.

Historic committee to erect marker

The Floyd County Historic Committee met Monday, July 6, in the county courtroom.

President Jim Word led the reports on the work on the Della Plains historical marker. Descendants of the Mickey-Smith families recently contributed to the fund for the marker, to be near the Duncan gravel pit on the South Plains highway, where the county's first town was located.

Mrs. Nancy Marble read a report on the committee's plans for a marker at the site of the G.L. Burns blacksmith in Lockney. The committee plans to erect a marker telling the historical and economical contribution this business made to the growth and development of farming in Floyd County and surrounding area.

J.D. Copeland was appointed to a committee to locate historic houses in Lockney. Selected houses will be photographed and history collected on each.

The committee discussed the necessity of incorporating the history of Della Plains with the history of Floydada. The story of Della Plains and names of those buried in the Della Plains cemetery will be on the same marker. Notes on history of the first town were given to the committee by Mrs. Alma Holmes of Duncanville, Texas.

This will be a county wide project, to memorialize the first town in the county. Donations may be given to the Floyd County Museum, Jim Word, or J.D. Copeland, for purchasing the marker of a size to be easily read.

Mrs. Emily Johnston reported on three historic homes in Floydada, in which the committee is interested. These include the George Linder house, the Marvin Massie house, and the Emmett Henry house, southwest of the swimming pool.

President Word presented a request for a marker for the Paymaster Farms Seed Company was owned by the Moody Cotton Company of Galveston and was started in 1927. Committee members present included: Joyce Williams, J.D. Copeland, Olive Hinton, Reba Henry, Nancy Marble, Jim Word, and J.D. Copeland.

Commissioners approve $124,000 appraisal budget monday

County Commissioners okayed their share of the over $124,000 Appraisal District budget in regular court session Monday morning.

The county's part of the Floyd County Central Appraisal District's budget will be $29,955.54. Commissioners voted to pay the sum quarterly.

County Judge Choise Smith said that the County Tax Office would be cut back in personnel to the Tax Assessor only next year.

In compliance with the new Texas tax law, the newly formed appraisal office will take on all duties of county tax appraisals, assessments, preparing the tax rolls, and collection of taxes for the 11 taxing entities in Floyd County in 1982.

There will be a four or five month change over while the County Tax Office completes the 1981 collections and turns the taxing duties over to the Appraisal Office.

The County Tax office will continue in all other phases of tax collecting as is done at the present time, car licensing, for example.

The county is obligated to 24.13 per cent of the total $124,142.30 Appraisal District budget, which the commissioners approved.

Sam Baker, Baker Insurance, met with the court to explain a Public Officials and Employees Liability Insurance.

Concern for such coverage has arisen from other cases in the state where lawsuits involving a court decision have named county judges and commissioners individually as well as in a group.

County Attorney Kenneth Bain Jr. was asked to examine the policy and make recommendations. He reported that he was not an expert insurance lawyer and could not give an opinion on that basis.

Commissioner Sam Spence, who is an insurance agent, and Commissioner Bob Jarrett, who is an insurance adjuster, agreed that exact interpretations of insurance policies is difficult.

Need for the liability policy was discussed at a recent meeting of county judges and commissioners. This type of insurance would protect elected and appointed officials the costs of being named in a class action suit. It would be in addition to the personal injury and property liability insurance now carried by the county.

The policy would be written for not less than three years at a total cost of $1400.

Baker reported that the City is considering a similar policy and that the Hesperian and Beacon have recently purchased a similar policy with specific adjustments for newspapers.

Bain recommended the need for the protection offered by the policy. "You need some coverage," he said.

After lengthy discussion motion was made by Bob Jarrett and seconded by Sam Spence that the county purchase from International Surplus Line Insurance Company a Public Officials and Employees Liability Insurance for county elected officials and appointed officials. All voted in favor.

Two budget requests were heard. Tentative budget requests were read for the County Extension office and will be considered with other budget requests later.

The cost per month for a county trapper will be raised $200. At the present time the county pays $500 a month for a trapper. That figure will be increased to $700 per month next year.

Judge Smith read a letter asking for a resolution on Bill 621. The letters sent to the commissioners was different from the one sent to the County Judge and so the matter was tabled until the exact resolution request could be determined.

The question of redistricting was discussed. After each 10-year census all voting districts are expected to evaluate their population changes to see if they still comply with the percentage guideline of the state.

Judge Smith suggested that a thorough study of the block maps would give a good estimation of population in each precinct. They could then break it down and get a population number "to see if it is way out of proportion."

The guidelines are set by total population not by registered voters. All four county precincts are about equal in square miles. However, Precinct 2 (Lockney) has the largest voter registration with 1801. Precinct 1 (Floydada) is next with 1255 registered voters; Precinct 3 has 844 voters and Precinct 4 has 926 voters.

The census was not figured by voting precincts so the actual population figures in each precinct will have to be compiled and then studied for proportional imbalances.

Carthel campaign continues

Contributions are still being accepted at First National Bank in Lockney for Lockney High School Senior Kara Carthel who has been chosen to perform with the Continental Singers on their overseas tour.

The Continental Singers are an interdenominational religious musical organization based in metropolitan Los Angeles.

Each year 280 vocalists and 190 musicians are chosen for the group from high schools and colleges around the country.

After a week of rehearsing in California, the vocalists and musicians are divided into 15 groups which travel around the U.S. and overseas as the Continental Singers.

Kara's group left this past Monday for a tour of Holland, West Germany, Switzerland, and Spain and the south-eastern U.S. She will return home August 27.

Kara is playing the trombone with her group. Funding for each student is paid half by the organization and half by the student.

A total of $2,500 is needed. An initial payment of $1,500 was made last week and another $1,000 is still needed.

An afghan made and donated by Georgia Ford was raffled off at the bank last week and was won by Bill Evans. Chances on the afghan were sold for $2.

A special account for Kara has been established at First National Bank for donations.

GEORGIA FORD held the box as First National Bank president Carroll Anderson drew the winning ticket in a raffle for an afghan made and donated by Mrs. Ford. Bill Evans was the winner. Money from the raffle went to the Kara Carthel fund raising drive.

Lockney gets new phone books

The 1981-82 Lockney telephone directory, now being mailed features cover artwork by well-known Western artist Charles Marion Russell.

The Russell watercolor, entitled "Come Out of There," is from the C.R. Smith Collection of Western American Art at the University of Texas and will appear on the covers of all the 1981-82 Southwestern Bell directories in Texas.

The painting depicts a cowboy attempting to pull a cow out of a ravine. The work is part of the permanent collection of the UT-Austin Art Museum and is on display at UT's Michener Gallery.

Russell's painting will be reproduced on the 186 Bell directories statewide, with total distribution of more than 12.4 million.

Jim West, Southwestern Bell manager, said one copy of the directory will be mailed to each residential phone customer. Additional copies may be obtained by telephoning the Southwestern Bell business office after July 29.

West said a total of 4,300 books are being printed. Of that number, 1,800 will be mailed to area residents.

The extra directories are for new customers moving to the Lockney area throughout the year. Also, subscribers sometimes wear out their books and need replacements," West said.

Russell (1846-1926) was considered one of the greatest of the American West. Some of his works, along with those of other outstanding interpreters of the American West, are included in the Smith Collection.

Dr. Eric McCready, director of University art collections, says the collection is an important one and the largest Western art collection in any American university museum.

The Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks has come out against the closings because of the loss of four jobs if the agencies are closed. The agents that would be affected include Leon Bell at Floydada and W.E. Stewardson at Lockney.

Local students travel to Washington

Bryant Higginbotham, Stan and... na McClendon travelled to Washington, D.C. with the Lighthouse Electric Cooperative public speaking contest winners last month.

Ralph Scheele and Maribel Torres Lockney won the contest that is sponsored for students in area schools. They are within the Lighthouse service area. Winners received an all-expense-paid bus trip to the state capitol.

Forty-one winners and chaperones made the trip. McClendon is a Member Services Advisor for Lighthouse Electric.

Contest winners spoke on the subject of "Rural Electric Cooperatives-Good for all Texans."

McClendon said Rep. Charles Stenholm made arrangements for the students to tour the White House while in Washington, D.C.

Consumer Alert

AUSTIN—Sometimes it's hard to say "no" to a door-to-door salesperson, even one selling something you don't particularly need or want.

And many Texas consumers find only after that persuasive sales pitch has ended and the salesperson has departed with a signed contract that they could have bought the same or a similar item in stores all over town, sometimes at a much lower price than they had agreed to pay.

Under the Texas Homes Solicitation Transactions Act, a consumer who is solicited at his/her home by someone selling goods or services that cost $25 or more, or real estate costing $100 or more, has a chance to change his mind.

The act gives consumers the right to cancel a home solicitation transaction up until midnight of the third business day following the day the contract was signed.

The person soliciting the sale must furnish the consumer with a copy of the contract or a fully completed receipt before leaving the premises. In it, the date of the transaction, name and address of the seller, and a notice of the right to cancel must be printed in large, dark type near the spot on the contract reserved for the buyer's signature.

In addition, the law requires that a completed "notice of cancellation" be attached to the contract or receipt for the consumer to use if he decides to cancel the sale. If the seller receives such a cancellation from the consumer, he must return any payment or contract within 10 business days.

Our attorneys point out that a violation of the Home Solicitation Act is also a violation of the Deceptive Trade Practices Act, and that a person who believes such a violation has occurred should contact our Consumer Protection Division, the county or district attorney, or a private attorney.

This year, the federal government will collect about $13 billion from Texas under the so-called windfall profit tax and transfer the vast bulk of it to other states. But legislators from industrial states in the Northeast and Midwest are pushing for even more.

Their efforts could balkanize this country. They have formed a Northeast-Midwest coalition in Congress, using a paid staff to gather statistics and plant stories.

These "snowbelt" lawmakers claim that producing states, like Texas, are reaping a windfall profit from decontrol and will use this revenue to pillage their industrial base. They propose that laws be rewritten to give their states a bigger portion of money distributed by the federal government. Many of the laws already are biased in their favor.

The fact is, the so-called windfall profit tax, which I voted against, may well result in the most massive transfer of wealth in the history of our nation. Overall, this tax will place $227 billion in the coffers of the U.S. Treasury over the next 10 years. Of that amount, $141.33 billion will be paid out by Texas.

Texas will prosper in the future, make no mistake about that. But our wealth will be fairly earned and long in coming. And we'll stand ready to defend it against raids from "snowbelt" legislators armed with twisted logic.

Although Texas still has some of the poorest regions in the country, our state is finally nearing the national average in per capita income. Why should we be punished for catching up with the rest of America?

Let's take a look at these arguments about a producer state rip-off as a result of decontrol. What are the facts? The facts are that people, jobs and capital have been moving to Texas and other Southern states for more than a decade.

As a result of the 1980 census, the South and West will gain about 17 seats in Congress, with three of those seats going to Texas. This southward migration began long before the energy crisis and it will continue long after it is over. People come here to set up businesses, to live and work, because we offer an attractive economic environment that is committed to the free enterprise system.

That has been the secret of Texas-style success—it's a lesson our neighbors would do well to learn.

Allegations that Texas and other "sunbelt" states are prospering at the expense of our fellow Americans in the Northeast and Midwest have no basis in fact.

Rampant, divisive regionalism does no one any good in this country, whether North or South. Instead of dwelling on the economic rivalry between Massachusetts and Texas, our Northern detractors ought to take a look at the intense competition between the United States and Japan for world markets.

I would remind my Northern colleagues of Benjamin Franklin's words at the signing of the Declaration of Independence: "We must all hand together or assuredly we shall hand separately."

Social Security News

BY RAY PURCELL

There are some people living in retirement who are finding it to be pretty much what they expected, even with the effect of recent inflation of their income. There are others who have found a sharp drop in their incomes in terms of buying power.

The difference is not necessarily how much money they were making when they were working. The difference that accounts for their situations is more likely to be found in their approach to preparing and planning for their retirement.

People who know how social security works as a retirement income program are more likely to find their retirement income at a desirable level. Knowing what social security provides and how it treats income in retirement is absolutely essential to making it work for you.

It is important to know that social security benefits are designed to replace only a portion of your pre-retirement income—to provide a base on which you can build. Depending on your earnings, social security will replace from 30 to 35 percent of your pre-retirement earnings. The lower earner gets the higher rate because of the lesser room for a reduction in income.

Since it replaces only a part of your prior earnings, the social security system expects and encourages people to plan for other retirement incomes.

For example, the annual earnings test, which is used to determine if a person has actually suffered a reduction in earnings applies only to earnings, not to other forms of retirement income. Income from rent, investments, savings, and other pensions is not subject to the earnings test.

At the same time, people who wish to supplement their retirement income with earnings can do so. A person 65 or over can earn $5,500 in 1981 without affecting his or her social security check. A person under 65 can earn $4,080 in 1981. Earnings over the annual exempt amount cause the social security check to be reduced by $1 for each $2 of earnings above the annual exempt amount. People 72 and over (70 in 1982) are not subject to the earnings test.

Another feature of the social security program is the protection it provides against inflation. Benefits are indexed against inflation and increase automatically with the cost of living once a person begins receiving them. Also, social security benefits are not subject to Federal and State income taxes.

It is important to know these facts about social security if you want to have sufficient income in retirement. If you have any questions about future benefits, call your social security office. We can help you.

Teleservice will save you time, energy and money! To file a claim for Social Security or Supplemental Security Income payments call collect, 806-293-4371. For assistance with other social security matters or Medicare call toll free 1-800-392-1603.

"Biking can improve your health," says the Texas Medical Association. I guess that's true, if it doesn't kill you first.

When you set a set of rules for folks who haven't ridden a bike in a while since you were a kid.)

Ride when it's hot. You might die of heat prostration. Ride when it's cold. You might freeze.

Ride when it's raining. You might get wet. Ride with long-legged pants. They might get caught in the chain.

Ride with change in your pocket, especially if you have a hole in your pants. You might leave a trail of money for children to follow. You might like the Pied Piper.

Ride with high heels. They don't have enough traction when you're dragging your feet because you forgot about the brake being there instead of the pedals.

Ride in a dress. Especially if it's windy, because you will be blown when the dress blows over your head and you're afraid to turn the handle bars to pull it down, and besides you can't see where you're going.

Go to the store for ice cream unless you live next door. Send your children to get back before the ice cream starts melting and running down the street.

Drive in the middle of the street even if you think no one is around. Children, and motorcycles can sneak up behind you and scare you. Drive on loose gravel, especially if you have skinny tires like on the old car. Those tires can slip out from under you before you know it and you'll end up with skinned knees, and scarred hands, and your kids will be laughing at you until you become exhausted. To the end of the block is the end of the world.

Remember, you're only a child once, or twice.

Although patio doors were designed for summer use, they don't keep the inside very cool in the light of direct sun. To remedy the situation, consider building an attractive wind and sun shelter. First, construct a 2 x 4 frame outside the door consisting of two walls and a roof of four feet in width. Follow the slant of the roof of the house through to your door shelter. Once the frame is built and secured to the exterior wall by nailing additional 2 x 4s to the wall, cover the sides inside and out with five-eighths inch plywood paneling. The roof can be shingled to match the house over three-eighths exterior plywood. Add 1 x 6 trim strips cut to fit. Stain or paint to match your house trim. Add a hanging planter inside the shelter for effect and enjoy the shade.

With inflation as high as it is, life insurance is not really intended to be such as stocks and bonds, etc. Life insurance question: Without you, would your parents suffer economically? If the answer is yes, then you need life insurance. True, inflation does erode the future dollars but this erosion also points to greater protection for your family. Whole life insurance provides the attractive addition of a cash value which grows over time. You need it. Many experts suggest that a percentage of your income for insurance protection will also increase accordingly.

INSUR-MATION
Floyd County Insurance Agency
With inflation as high as it is, isn't your life insurance a bad fixed dollar investment? Life insurance is not really intended to be an investment. Without you, would your spouse and children suffer economically? If the answer is yes, you need life insurance. True, inflation does erode the future dollars but this erosion also points out the greater protection for your family. Whole life insurance nest egg in the form of cash value which will grow over time. Many experts suggest setting aside a percentage of your income for insurance protection. Your income increases (due partly to inflation) insurance protection will also increase accordingly.

agri-facts

There may be at least one glittering high point in this year's wheat harvest: The railroads are ready for it, and have been calling on grain shippers to drum up business, according to reports from Kansas City. The box car shortage, which seemed to be an on-going, annual nightmare, has apparently subsided. Market watchers and railroad people alike say that there is no box car shortage and, for the time being, at least, no threat of one. Actually, the old, forty foot wood boxcars are nearly a thing of the past. Today, jumbo hopper cars have pretty well taken over the task of moving wheat from farms to storage. Last year's record crop was handled with little or no difficulty by the transportation system, and trainmen see no problem again this year, no matter the size of the yield.

Antonio; three daughters, Verda Mae Enloe of Allen, Shirley Green of Lubbock and Margaret Bartram of East Wrentham, Washington; a brother, Guy V. Cope of Amarillo; two sisters, June Bybee of Lockney and Ruth Fewell, both of Lockney; 10 grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were grandsons, Larry Green, Craig Green, Mike Williams, David Williams, Chris Bartram, Tim Bartram, Greg Bishop and Mike Bishop.

GRACE DINNIN

A King descendants gather

BY MABLE
Rev. and Mrs. A. King gathered for the 12th annual Massie Activity Center on Saturday, July 11.

Arkansas and southern Missouri to serve his churches which stretched over a 100 mile territory. He was born in Graves County Kentucky in 1834 and moved to Lafayette County, Mississippi in 1844.

He was educated at Oxford University and was licensed to preach in 1858. He settled in Izard County, Arkansas and later moved north to Wilderness, Missouri.

He lived in Oklahoma for a few years before coming to Floyd County in 1909. He and his wife, Anne Bone King and their family were members of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church at Floydada.

Scott King and his wife, Rita from Houston.

Traveling the greatest distance were Gerry, Liz, Elizabeth and Jeff Baker from Pacifica, California.

Traveling from Colorado were Elizabeth Roberts from Colorado Springs and her daughter, Wilma Tanner of Littleton.

June, Jill and Kay Wells, Denton; Vernon, LaJuana, Paul and David Henning, Jan Billings, Seagraves; Raymond and Mary King, David, Mary Beth and Allison Cranford, Donette Marble, Lubbock; Dale Powell, Ralls; H.B. and Zelma King, Morton; Jim, Sandra, Julie and Britt Sadler, Dumas; Randall King, Ora King, Jakey, Leora, Moody, Mysti, Leif and Tian Younger, Brett Turner, Doris McLain, Floydada; Mike, Tonya Justin and Micah Marble, Lockney; Don, Nancy, Brett Marble, Fred, Carolyn, Kelly, Cindy Marble, Keith, Neta, Dwayne, D'Lee Marble, South Plains.

The next reunion will be held July 10th, 1982 at the Massie Activity Center.

Wilson Cousins July Reunion

Now Wilbur Troy was a sight on earth
A sound healthy boy from the day of his birth
He climbed from the very first day that he walked
And charmed all of us from the first day he talked.

The next little cousin was a great source of joy
And no matter how old, I'll call him "Johnny Boy"
He came to all the Wilsons, a perfect little blonde
And of him all the Wilsons grew very fond
For the work he did to bring on this oration
Let all the people stand to give him an ovation.
Thank you, and listen now, whatever else you do
For the very next arrival was sweet Lanita Sue,
She was quite a little singer, a musician from the start
Another Wilson cousin wrapping strings around our heart

Now if I put Lanita Sue where Jimmy ought to be
I don't believe I'll change it for you can plainly see
That it would wreck my perfect rhyme
And then besides, I don't have time
But I could never slight my Jim
For I am very proud of him
Proud of him and his blonde brother
Because, of course, I am their mother
Jim came between our Bill and Brad
Another boy and we were glad
A brunette like his dad and me
Then came our Brad and there were three
Two brunettes and one blonde boy
Gave both of us a world of joy
I may have goofed again I think
But if I did, it's but a blink
Brad and Terry were close together
One chose fair — one winter weather
Terry, another Wilson charmer
Would be a lawyer — not a farmer
Whatever the weather — whatever the trends
These two became the best of friends.
Now all the cousins' natures vary
But there is one whose name is Gary
As quiet and calm as the ocean blue
But a Wilson cousin through and through
Now if you think my rhymes are corny
Just thank the Lord that ye were "borny"
Into a home with the Wilson label
For the Wilson label protects the table
And if you don't know what that means
It means fresh pork and turnip greens
Long printed on the Wilson Lard cans
That held the grease for Wilson fry pans
Now let us, dads and mothers all
Aunts and uncles, short and tall
Inlaws, outlaws, cousins dear
Enjoy each one who's gathered here

A picture of Pierce King's Grocery Store which opened in Floydada in April 1933 was featured on the reunion invitations. 1933 newspapers created topics of conversation including the Depression, the closing of the banks, NRA, popular movies, the Harley Sadler show, fashions, cost of food and clothing and school events. The King Family genealogy was displayed along with family photos.

75 registered during the day including relatives from California, Arkansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas.

The Rev. and Neill Hudson of Mountain Home, Arkansas and his son, Dr. Robert Hudson of Russellville, Arkansas attended the reunion for the first time. They represented Rev. King's brother James Farr King's family. The Hudsons were house guests of Don and Nancy Marble.

Also attending for the first time were Joyce King Russell and her husband, Rusty of Fort Worth and Dale Top photo shows Robert A. and Anne B. King. The Pierce King Grocery Store (left) in Floydada began in 1933 on the South side of the square in the Beall-Perry building. R.L. Teeple was the first customer. The King's have two children Randall King and Leora King Younger who reside in Floydada with Mrs. King.

American Red Cross involves entire community

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS
(The third in a series of four articles written by S.W. Ross for the 100th Anniversary of the American Red Cross)

In the post-war years from 1946-1980, there were marked changes in both the organization structure and the program of the Red Cross. Emphasis was given to the concept of involving the entire community in Red Cross programs. Young people of high school and college age are beginning to work as full-fledged volunteers, and opportunities for people of retirement age also expanded as well.

In the 1950s and 60's and 70's, the United States was stricken by many major national disasters in which the American Red Cross conducted enormous and costly operations. In the 1970's the Red Cross was conducting, annually more than 600 large disaster relief operations and giving assistance in some 24,000 local emergencies.

In the early years of the decade of the 1970's the American Red Cross activities were supported annually by the work of approximately 1,700,000 students participating in Red Cross programs in school, and by between 35 and 40 million people, who contributed financial support.

As the government took a stronger hand in disaster relief, the Red Cross worked closely with government agencies.

The humanitarian purposes of the American Red Cross have remained constant; but the content and the scope of the Red Cross programs have continued to change as the demands of the times have changed.

Thus, the American people are assured of an effective means, by which they might give help to one another in the many fields in which the American Red Cross is active.

Today's Red Cross aims to meet specialized needs of communities. It counsels Veterans in prison, instructs those who care for the homebound, offers courses in Spanish and sets up guidelines for young people. The American Red Cross is the only direct contact between Floyd County families and their men and women in the armed forces wherever they are throughout the world.

Today's Red Cross accepts International Red Cross humanitarian principles as living guidelines. It works to reduce suffering around the world by reuniting families, offering technical advice, providing training in First Aid, CPR, swimming or sending relief for disaster victims. It puts into action what might be called global humanitarianism.

In the Red Cross, the headline is people helping people! It is an organization built on dreams of individuals and millions of helping hands.

A few of the Floyd County residents who volunteered their services to the Red Cross in past years include Wynnie Angus, Mary Shaw, John Stapleton, Clarence Guffee, Troy Stansell, Massie, Bill Harden, O.M. Watson Jr., Hester Moore, Ian Moore, Jerry Finley, Sam Spence, Jimmy and Darlena Marquis, Mrs. Q.D. Williams, Marilyn Tate and Jett Major.

Students graduate from cooking classes at Lighthouse

Twelve students graduated from Lighthouse Electric Cooperative's "Food Fun for Juniors" classes this summer taught by Rosemary Paty.

The three-day cooking school is offered free of charge to boys and girls who have completed the fifth grade as part of Lighthouse Electric Cooperative's youth development program. The students studied the basics of cooking such as reading recipes, measuring, cooking terms, and kitchen safety. As daily meals were prepared, the class learned proper use of small appliances, meal planning for good nutrition, table setting techniques, and the importance of mealtime manners.

One of the favorite recipes of the school was Pigs in Blankets.

PIGS IN BLANKETS

night she spent with son, Johnny and family, near Lubbock. Sunday after church Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Latta and daughter, Carol and Ma Green drove to Plainview for a delicious dinner at Furr's. On the way home we came by the Lockney Medical Center and I visited briefly with friends from the old Center days. Mrs. Claude Carpenter of the hospital, who seemed to be having a better day with daughter, Candine in attendance. Then in the Care Center with Miss Vera Meredith who was better and homesick. And last was Mrs. Amelia Ashton in a wheelchair and her daughter, Francis near by and also saw there Mrs. Clay Muncy.

Summer photos capture memories

Although you can't stop the summer from passing by too quickly, you can stop the special moments in photographs. Pictures that stop motion can "freeze" situations that happen only once, so be ready to take the photo an instant before the action reaches its peak. If you wait until you see the action take place, it usually will be over by the time the camera shutter clicks. A sense of timing, combined with the right equipment and film, helps make picture-taking of fast action easier than you think. Always follow the movement through the viewfinder and anticipate every motion to take great action photos, and use a camera with fast shutter speeds—preferably 1/500 and 1/1000 of a second. Fast shutter speeds help you stop or freeze the movement in your photographs, especially when the action moves from side to side across your frame (such as in the photo above). Slower shutter speeds of 1/125 or 1/250 second may stop the motion if the subjects are moving towards or away from the viewfinder—instead of across it. When taking pictures at these fast speeds, choose a high-speed film because it makes better use of the available light during the exposure. Kodachrome 400 film for prints and Kodak Ektachrome 400 film for slides provide good results under these fast-action shooting conditions. Kodak Tri-X pan film is suggested when taking black-and-white action photos. Following are some additional tips to help you take great action photos: -Take several pictures of the action to get a wide variety of stop-action photo choices; -Try an automatic winder on your camera to increase your chances of capturing the exact moment desired; -Use a telephoto lens to cover action at a distance.

Dinner served to residents

BY DOROTHY NEFF We had so much fun on our picnic Friday not as many residents went as we had hoped, but we had a nice crowd. We had so much food it was impossible to even taste of everything. We have so many people to thank for their time and cooperation, without them it would have been impossible to carry the residents out. The Calvary Baptist Church furnished us their bus. Mr. Fred Cardinal sent his employee, Sonny Holmes, up to drive the bus for us. Jack McIntosh, Chuck Honeycutt, Billy Taylor and Sonny Holmes, loaded and unloaded the residents, wheelchairs and other items. Jean Baird furnished her pickup and food. Food was furnished by Evelyn Crull of Lubbock. Lois Walls, Dana Ellis, Mary Adams, Ruth McIntosh, Lynn Marler, Lorene and Luther Lancaster of Matador, Jean Kendicks, Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Cates, Floy Graham and myself. Dartha Westbrook was our nurse and helper. Also Dorothy Kerr was off and decided to make the trip with us. Residents attending were Henry Love, Mamie Daniels, W.C. Cates, Travis Corley, Juanita Bailey, Iva Simpson, A.G. Eubanks, Emmitt Lawrence, Verna McSwain, Nora McNight, Sally Kreis, Ethel Collins, Geneda Roberts and Vera Duke, other guests included Shane Walls, Chip Daniels, Lavonna Honeycutt, Misty, Jason and Mandy and Christy Rushing of Plainview and Kara Potts. We would like to thank the Sunshine Sunday school class of the First Baptist Church for the bananas and cookies. Marie Tardy and Opal Guffee visited with each resident as they passed out the treats. Vaughn Murff called Thursday to tell us she would be on vacation for the next three weeks. Vaughn will meet a tour group in Houston and enjoy sightseeing in Canada and Alaska. We certainly hope she enjoys her trip. She is one of our most faithful volunteers. Mrs. Francis Childs lost her brother, Reubin Richardson of Port Arthur, New Mexico this week. Mr. Richardson had been in ill health for several months. Visitors this week included Ruth Gilliland, Karen A. Gilliland, Earl Edwards, Gene Baird, Mrs. Leonard Baird, Mrs. Tommy Gilliland, Mrs. Steve Comey, Debbie Baird, Harvey Tardy, Marie Tardy, Sunshine S.S. PASSING THE BUCK Jerry L. Klein, Minister Main Street Church of Christ Lockney, Texas

The responsibility for sinning had to be pinned on someone. And Adam didn't want the label any more than we would. When God caught him in his sin, Adam said: "The woman whom thou gavest me she gave me of the tree, and I did eat" (Genesis 3:12). He blamed his own wife! He passed the buck. In fact, Adam actually tried to blame God for his own sin. In essence, he said: "You gave her to me" (Genesis 3:12, paraphrased). But, you can't blame God. Adam couldn't; and we can't. God gave Adam the power of choice; and then warned him not to sin (Genesis 2:15-17). Adam's sin was Adam's sin—no matter what excuse he offered. My sin is my sin—no matter who I blame (Ezekiel 18:19-20). So, before we send Adam to a hot eternity, let's consider what we might have done in his shoes. How often have we "passed the buck" to avoid the responsibility for some wrong, or unpopular, decision? How often have we tried to rationalize our way out of accepting the blame for our own sins? It takes courage to say "I did it," when we make mistakes. It takes courage to make a decision that is unpopular with the crowd. It takes courage to confess our sins to God, and each other. But courage is what God expects from His people. As God told Joshua: "Only be thou strong and very courageous, that thou mayest observe to do according to all the law, which Moses my servant commanded thee: turn not from it to the right hand or to the left, that thou mayest prosper whithersoever thou goest" (Joshua 1:7). Joshua was courageous—are we?

Farm, marketing options for cotton growers

Faced with a record world cotton crop and a lackluster demand for their product, cotton growers need to map out a solid marketing strategy. A key part of this strategy is keeping a close eye on the market itself.

Dr. Carl Anderson, marketing economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, System, suggests a number of marketing options for cotton producers:

--Establish a selling price by forward contracting or hedging in the futures market and arrange delivery at some future date.

--Sell at harvest.

--Hold and sell later.

--Place cotton under the Commodity Credit Corporation loan program and hope the price will go up.

"Growers can develop a 'feel' for the cotton market by watching daily and weekly reports on prices and worldwide production and use," says the economist. "Bumper 1980 crops in Russia and China have burdened the market, the U.S. prices have fallen about $35 per bale since January."

According to Anderson, two developments will bear heavily on the cotton market for the season ahead—low carryover stocks and export demand.

"During the summer, the market will move up and down between low supplies and good and bad reports on crop conditions," says Anderson. "A decline in interest rates might also give the market a boost."

Periods of market strengths may offer an opportunity to forward-price some cotton between now and the time harvest gets into full swing, he adds.

"Export demand will be the main factor influencing cotton prices this fall and winter," believes Anderson. "The growing importance of exports to disappearance of U.S. cotton suggests even more price uncertainty than in the past. Export demand is subject not only to the uncertainty of foreign production but also to political disruptions."

Any major change in the cotton market will likely stem from a change in exports from current projections of about 7 million bales, notes the economist. If the new U.S. crop turns out about 13.5 to 14 million bales, market prices will likely go up or down as exports go above or below the 7-million-bale figure.

"Historically, when cotton supplies improve—as it appears they will in 1981—the market usually remains tight. So watch for a time when the market is on the upswing to 'set' your price," Anderson advises growers. "With the high cost of holding cotton, timing your sale is more important than ever."

Wheat farmers threatened by low prices

PLANO, TEXAS—"This could be the last year many farmers in Texas and this nation will be growing crops because of the low prices they are receiving," Texas Farmers Union President Mike Moeller warned Thursday. Moeller spoke at the Wells Brothers Grain Elevators in Plano, an area which contains many wheat and grain farms. "Many farmers plunged deep into debt last year because of the devastating drought. This year, they are faced with even higher prices for seed, fertilizer and equipment, unparalleled high interest rates and a depressed market for their crops," Moeller stated. "And on top of all that, the prospects of having a Farm Bill in 1981 which will benefit the family farmer does not appear all too rosy," he added.

In Texas, wheat production is at an all time high, with the state agriculture department estimating 179 million bushels, 38 percent more than last year's production. Also, 29 percent more acreage was planted in wheat this year in the hope that many farmers could offset last year's losses with a good wheat crop.

"The Department of Agriculture in Washington has already announced there will be no acreage limitations on wheat planting in 1982 for the third straight year," Moeller noted. "No limitations coupled with the low loan levels mean that wheat and other grain prices will remain depressed unless action is taken by Congress which will adopt a Farm Bill this year," Moeller

1980 Texas crop sales generally stable

While the 1980 drought devastated crop yields in Texas, cash receipts remained generally stable due to higher prices.

Although final figures are not yet in, Texas Agricultural Extension Service estimates show cash receipts from crops at about $3.8 billion, down only slightly from 1979. Total receipts from all agricultural commodities for 1980 are pegged at just over $10.1 billion, almost the same as the previous year.

"These cash receipts, however, don't show the severity of damage that production levels underwent or the squeeze on net income," says Dr. Carl Anderson, Extension economist in marketing.

"Drought and higher production costs have placed serious financial hardships on many farmers. Young farmers and those depending heavily on credit for capital are under considerable financial strain. Record-high interest rates have added to the burden."

According to Anderson, hot dry conditions severely damaged crop production and caused subsequent price increases.

"Prices went up because of the small amount of crops that were available after the summer," explains Anderson. Despite weather problems, last year's crop receipts should have an agribusiness impact of about $16 billion on the Texas economy, he says.

As far as receipts from different commodities are concerned, cotton alone brought in $1.4 billion.

The South Plains of Texas brought in the bulk of cotton receipts with an estimated $665 million. South Texas (mainly the Rio Grande Valley) had the second highest cotton receipts at $163 million.

Wheat and grain sorghum ran a close race for second place among crop sales at about $450 million each.

Wheat, a winter and spring crop, generally escaped the drought's wrath. The Panhandle area led the state in value of wheat produced with $164 million while North Central Texas was second with a wheat crop of more than $85 million.

The Panhandle also boasted the highest cash value from grain sorghum in 1980 at $174 million. Second was the Coastal Bend with a sorghum crop valued at $116 million.

Corn ranked fourth on the list of estimated cash receipts from crops for 1980, totalling about $349 million. Top producing areas were the South Plains at $213 million and the Panhandle at $76 million.

Rice ranked fifth in estimated cash receipts, totalling more than $274 million. The Upper Coast is the state's major rice-producing area with receipts of $260 million. The remainder of the crop is grown in the Coastal Bend.

Other crops that contributed much to 1980 agricultural receipts were vegetables, about $250 million; nursery stock, $225 million; soybeans, $104 million; peanuts, $83 million; and hay, $45 million.

Gradual weaning of foals is best for both colt and it's mother

COLLEGE STATION — To make life easier on both a young foal and its mother, wean the foal gradually at three to six months of age, suggests a horse specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Traditionally, foals are weaned abruptly by separating them from their mothers. Oftentimes, mares are put in far-away pastures. This makes life miserable for both mares and foals for some time, says Dr. Doug Householder.

Since a foal is introduced to feed, deworming, vaccination and halter-breaking during the weaning period, all this can put a severe strain on the young animal. Full recovery may take six to eight weeks.

Research has shown that the most suitable weaning program for both the foal and mare is a gradual weaning system, points out Householder. This minimizes stress on both and enhances their health and growth.

Depending on facilities and available labor, the specialist outlines several gradual weaning plans.

One plan calls for placing the foal and mare in adjacent stalls so they can see, smell and hear each other but the foal is unable to nurse. Make sure the foal has access to creep feed, hay and water. Keep the pair separated four hours the first day, eight hours the second day and 12 hours the third day. Finally, separate them permanently after four days, says Householder.

Another plan is to place two or more foals in one stall and their mothers on either side, each in an adjacent stall. Use the same time span as with the first plan, and remove the mares permanently after three or four days.

If there are several foals to be weaned, place them all in one stall and all the mares in an adjacent stall or pen. Then remove the mares gradually, starting with the most aggressive ones with the biggest and most independent foals. Move these mares completely away after three or four days, and continue this practice until all mares are removed and weaning is complete.

After weaning, Householder advises keeping foals together and away from other classes of horses. They should stay on a suckling creep feed until age dictates changing them to a weaning ration.

STILL TIME FOR MESQUITE CONTROL

Due to abundant rainfall in recent weeks, mesquite trees in many areas still have immature leaves and soil temperatures may still be below the optimum for good control of mesquite with liquid herbicide. This means that the spray season for mesquite may extend well into July.

Ranchers planning to use liquid herbicide to control mesquite should check foliage development of mesquite. Some immature leaves (light green in color) can be tolerated if most of the leaves are mature, but have not developed a thick layer of wax. If herbicide is applied when many leaves are immature, expect a lower kill of mesquite. Also, if most of the leaves are over mature (heavy wax build-up on leaves) expect less control.

Plants with fully developed, dark green foliage without heavy wax build-up that are past full bloom and have small pods developing are in the best condition for spraying.

Another sign to check for is soil temperatures. Best mesquite kill is usually obtained when the soil temperature 18 inches deep at spraying is 75 degrees F. or higher.

Three registered and effective herbicides for mesquite control on Texas rangeland using aerial broadcast spray are 2,4,5-T; a one-to-one mixture of picloram spray and 2,4,5-T (Tordon 225E); and a one-to-one mixture of dicamba and 2,4,5-T. Dicamba and 2,4,5-T must be tank-mixed because a commercial formulation is no longer available.

Effective rates for these herbicides are one-half to one pound acid equivalent per acre. Tordon 225E and the dicamba-2,4,5-T mixture usually give a higher percentage of root kill than 2,4,5-T alone, but they are more expensive. Tordon 225E has given the best control in research and demonstration work.

If weeds are a problem along with mesquite, Tordon 225E and the dicamba-2,4,5-T mixture give excellent weed control in conjunction with mesquite control. Tordon 225E also provides good control of pricklypear.

Before applying any herbicide, read and follow directions on approval labels on the herbicide container.

To obtain the most benefit from mesquite control, defer grazing on the area sprayed for at least three months. This will allow desirable plants an opportunity to regain vigor and produce seed and for seedlings to become established. Where deferred grazing is not possible, consider reducing the stocking rate by culling and selling unproductive cows.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

IRON DEFICIENCY IN PLANTS: SYMPTOMS AND CAUSES

Due to the number of calls through my office, my next two columns will relate to iron deficiency in lawn and garden plants.

Iron is an essential element for plant growth. Hence, all plants are susceptible to iron deficiency. Where the amount of iron available to plants does not meet their minimum needs, the plants fall into a diseased condition called iron chlorosis.

Soil areas that produce chlorotic plants range from a few square feet to many acres in size.

Symptoms

Iron chlorosis in plants is characterized by blanching or yellowing of the leaves. This change in the appearance of the leaves is due to failure of chlorophyll (green coloring matter) to develop normally.

Mildly affected plants become unsightly and grow poorly. Severely affected plants fail to grow, flower, or fruit. Very severely affected plants die from lack of iron.

In deciduous (leaf-shedding) plants, areas between leaf veins become light green, yellow, or white. The greater the iron deficiency, the paler the areas, the leaf veins ordinarily remain green. In very severe cases, the edges of leaves or entire leaves turn brown, and the plants often die.

In conifers, needles turn yellow; then, if the deficiency is severe, they turn brown and die.

Occasionally only a part of a plant is affected.

Causes

Iron chlorosis occurs in susceptible plants wherever and whenever iron is not available to them.

The condition is often due to high pH, which makes it possible for other elements to interfere with the absorption of iron, rather than to lack of iron in the soil. It occurs most often on soils that are high in lime. Thus it is more prevalent in the arid West than in the humid East, since high-lime soils occur naturally in arid areas.

But iron chlorosis is not limited to naturally occurring high-lime soils. It may be caused by actual deficiency of iron, or by application of excessive amounts of lime or phosphate to certain soils. It may be caused by overirrigation, poor drainage, bicarbonate in the soil or in irrigation water, and high levels of certain heavy metals in the soil (for example, manganese, copper, and zinc.)

Control

If overirrigation or poor drainage is a possible cause of iron chlorosis, it should be corrected. Otherwise, the disease is controlled by furnishing soluble iron to plants, either through the soil or through the foliage of the plants.

Two principal types of iron-containing compounds used to furnish iron to plants are:

1. Iron chelates
2. Inorganic compounds containing iron in soluble form. Ferrous sulfate (also called copperas) is such a compound.

You can buy iron chelates and ferrous sulfate at stores that sell garden supplies and fertilizer.

Iron Chelates. Iron chelates are organic compounds containing iron. The iron remains available to plants when the chelates are placed in the soil.

The iron in chelates costs much more per pound than the iron in ferrous sulfate, but the amount of chelates required for control of chlorosis is much smaller than the required amount of ferrous sulfate, and the cost of treatment with chelates need not be greater.

Iron chelates are marketed under various trade names and in various formulations. Some are applied to soil, others to foliage. Some of those intended for application to soil are for high-lime soils, and some are for iron-deficient soils.

If you decide to use an iron chelate, get one that has been formulated for your particular conditions and purposes, and follow the directions on the package.

Ferrous Sulfate. Ferrous sulfate and similar compounds that contain inorganic iron furnish soluble iron to plants. However, when they are applied to the soil, much of the applied iron becomes unavailable to plants. Consequently, applications must be much in excess of amounts actually required by the plants. The iron is made unavailable by the same factors that cause iron chlorosis initially (high pH, interfering elements, etc.)

C. Aguilar participates in training

Marine Sgt. Edward Aguilar, son of Carmen Aguilar of Lockney, recently participated in desert training at the Marine Corps Air/Ground Combat Center, Twenty-nine Palms, California.

He is a member of the 1st Battalion, 11th Marines, based at Camp Pendleton, California. The training included live-firing the battalion's 105 and 155 mm howitzers in support of combat training with the 1st Marines during day and night operations. They also practiced moving their artillery pieces while maintaining a combat ready posture enroute to new emplacements.

We knew it was coming!

The electric cooperative was planning ten years ago to meet today's higher demand for electricity. That kind of lead time is needed to forecast future requirements and provide adequate service.

Included in today's long range forecast is a certainty that more power at higher prices will be needed in the years ahead. Thus, it is critical that our member-owners practice every possible conservation measure to help lower demand, reduce the size and number of generating plants and save money.

While the cooperative plans to provide more power they are urging you to use less.
