The Lockney Beacon

Volume 80 Number 41 Thursday, October 18, 1981 24 Pages in Three Sections

MEMBERS of the Floyd County 4-H Club were this week publicizing their participation in National 4-H Week. These enthusiastic members were seen at the First National Bank, a strong 4-H booster, when caught by the Beacon's camera Monday. In the front row is Ralph Scheele, Lisa Terrell, Heather Holt and Joel Mitchell. Matt Mitchell makes up the second row, while Earl Brosch is at the top.

4-H Achievement Banquet Smith, Hight win Gold Stars

The drizzle of rain didn't dampen the spirits of the over 150 guests attending the Annual 4-H Achievement Banquet at Duncan Elementary in Floydada Tuesday night.

Monty Smith and Keith Hight were the winners of the prestigious Gold Star Award during the ceremony following the banquet.

Smith has been an active 4-H member in Floyd County for seven years. His projects include clothing, sheep, nutrition, soil-judging, and livestock judging.

Hight's project work has won many honors for her, including Honorable Mention for an outstanding entry in the 1980 Floyd County 4-H Fashion Revue, and an opportunity to compete at the state level on the Floyd County 4-H Soil Judging Team in 1981.

She has participated for two years in the 4-H Interstate Exchange Program and has attended District II 4-H Electric Camp for three years.

Jodie Hight has served in a leadership capacity on local and county-wide levels, and is currently serving as the junior leader for the 4-H foods and nutrition project. Jodie is the daughter of County Judge and Mrs. Choe Smith.

Keith Hight has been actively involved in 4-H in Lubbock and Floyd Counties.

During his seven years as a 4-H member, he has had projects in beef, lambs, foods and nutrition, leathercraft, poultry, soil judging, and livestock judging.

He has attended District Electric Camp in New Mexico for three years and has participated in the 4-H Interstate Exchange Program for three years.

Keith has held several offices in the Lockney 4-H club and has served on the Floyd Co. 4-H Council. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G.L. Hight.

Melanie Foster served as Mistress of Ceremonies.

Entertainment was provided by the "Lost and Found Band" which is a local group made up of Kay Crabtree, Bobby Miller, Jerry Ford, Bryan Sanders and Harvey Allen.

The tables were decorated by individual Floydada 4-H members to depict various projects on their 4-H curriculum. Table themes included: clothing, shooting sports, recreation, livestock, bicycle, foods and nutrition, camping

Revenue Sharing Budget adopted by Commissioners

During the commissioner court meeting Monday, October 12, a budget for the use of the Revenue Sharing Funds allotted to the county will be adopted.

A public hearing at the September court meeting saw several groups requesting a share of the estimated $77,000 government funds.

These funds have been allotted to cities and counties to be used in the public interest. Though there are no restrictions on how the money is distributed, it was originally intended to be used for parks, libraries, hospitals, public buildings, and other public interest uses.

In Floyd County the greater share of the funds have been divided among the four precincts to be used for machinery or whatever road or county maintenance is required. In the 1981 budget, $54,800 out of $86,750 was earmarked for the precincts. In the 1982 proposed budget, $56,500 has been designated for the precincts.

The remaining funds have in the past been allotted to various groups representing the needs of the county residents. Central Plains Mental Health/Mental Retardation was allotted $3200 in 1981 and is the proposed '82 budget for the same amount.

Senior Citizen - Mini Bus
 In 1981, even though the Senior Citizens requested funds, they were left out of the adopted budget. They did however, receive $1,500 a year of county tax money for the Mini Bus.

The Mini Bus expense was originally paid out of the Revenue Sharing funds. For the past several years it was included in the county tax budget.

When the fact that the Senior Citizens had not been given a share of the Revenue Sharing funds was brought up last year the commissioners took the Mini Bus allocation of $1,500 off the tax budget and put it back in the Revenue Sharing Budget.

Therefore in the 1982 budget proposal the Senior Citizens have two requests. One for the Mini Bus of $1500. The second request was made at the hearing in September.

The roof on the building used by the Senior Citizens was hail damaged and because the roof is over 20 years old, the insurance would only pay 20% of the repair bill. They asked for $1800 to repair the roof.

The commissioners will discuss all requests before adopting the final budget. Speculation is high that the $1500 will be allotted for the Mini Bus. There is, however, the problem that with government cutbacks the Revenue Sharing funds might not be made available this coming year. Most insiders say that they can't really plan on the funds until the check is received.

If the Revenue Sharing money is not made available, that means there will be no funds for the Mini Bus.

A request for $1000 was made by R.G. Dunlap in behalf of the Soil Conservation saying there would be matching state funds up to $2000. Soil conservation is listed in the proposed budget for $500.

EDITORIAL By Shelly Harris

For those who have a project we love approach it with energy and enthusiasm. Great ideas, plans, and hours to devote. Things can happen. A person can work too many hours. Face too many setbacks. They can burn themselves out.

This is what has happened with Jackie Walls and with Janice Lloyd and many others who have pleaded, (yes even suffered indignity) and have come and talent into the libraries they loved so much.

It would be nice to have someone to blame. How about the county commissioners? If you want to see a bored look on a couple of the commissioner's faces mention the library. If you are looking for support for the library the very quiet in the court meetings.

As citizens of Floyd County, you elect those officials. You are the ones who make the decisions.

Let's face it Floyd County does not have a library that is accessible to the school children past 5 p.m.; that working people cannot use it's facilities after businesses close; that the elderly cannot climb the stairs; that there are not enough funds for proper staffing and maintenance...that fact is known and understood by those in the county.

We have sat back and let a few carry the load and we have worn them out. The blame is not to blame for this. I am to blame. It's my fault because I should have done this cause long ago. The two newspapers should be leaders in a drive for funds.

Let's not blame for not speaking up. Collectively, we as citizens, are allowing our proudest institutions to falter when it should, in fact, be growing.

Responsive? When our library is still housed in the county courthouse where it has been temporarily 30 years ago!

There is money in Floyd County for our libraries. There is county money, revenue money, that can be used. There is tax money that each of us would share. There is private money for a memorial gift.

Let's believe that these libraries are not important to our people.

When I watched the awards given out at the 4-H Achievement Banquet and again filled with that deep-warmth and pride that I feel each time I see the county adults and youngsters working and playing together.

It is a special thing that you have here and that you have allowed us to become a part of.

In a world today these kids need every bit of knowledge they can get. The teachers at school are handicapped because they can only make assignments that need little library research. Our children are limited...yes, held back...not given the same opportunity as the youngsters in other counties.

It is a shame, because our library facilities far outshine anything any of these counties have to offer.

There is definite about resigning. There is no one of her caliber or her energy to take over the duties of county librarian. What to do?

Let's help us, the people of the county. If you want changes tell your commissioner. The library belongs to the county and he oversees the running of it. Let's know how you feel.

Let's get some volunteer work, make the library a project for your club. Take part in it. You have been considering a substantial donation for a memorial, please forward. Now, is the time.

Filmed in Italy

Recent Lockney visitors make movie

Two Italian girls who were recent visitors to Lockney have made a definite mark for themselves on the movie scene in Italy. And they may very soon make that same mark in America.

Sandra and Paola, daughter of Tony and Maria Antolini, of Rome, Italy, recently spent several days as the guest of Larry and Jill Golden, at which time their story came out.

The two girls had a prominent part in the motion picture "Help Me To Dream," which was filmed in northern Italy and featured an all-star cast. Tony Francisco headed the cast, with Mariangela Melato, considered second among Italian actresses only to Sophia Loren, as the leading lady. Also in a prominent role was Jean Pierre Leaud, a leading European actor.

The picture, which was recently released in Italy for movie theater showing, is scheduled for release on television in the United States in 1982.

It will also show as a three-part mini-series on Italian television in 1982.

The plot concerns Francioso, an American Army pilot, shot down by the Germans in World War II and hidden out by Italian partisans until the end of the war. He decides to stay in Italy and eventually marries and has a family consisting of a wife and the two Antolini girls.

Tony Antolini explained to the Beacon that the theme of the picture is the dream of Italians to come to the United States which, to them, is a Valhalla of freedom and opportunity—thus the title "Help Me To Dream."

The Antolinis were visiting in Lockney and Floydada in the course of picking up their 12-year-old son Stefano

Four Lockney school board members and Supt. W.H. Hallmark attended a joint convention of the Texas Association of School Board and the Texas Association of School Administrators that was held in San Antonio Sept. 26-28.

Seminars and workshops discussing topical problems faced by school boards and administrators were attended by the local board members and Supt. Hallmark.

School board members attending were Eddie Foster, Bill Race, Kelton Shaw and Keith Jackson. They were accompanied by their wives, Ann Foster, Ann Race, Sally Shaw, Gayle Jackson, and by Mrs. Peggy Hallmark.

4-H week observed by county youth

The Floyd County 4-H Clubs and 4-H members across Texas and the nation are using the theme, "4-H Pathways To The Future," in observing National 4-H Week, October 4-10.

Nearly five million members of America's largest out-of-school youth organization and their 567,000 volunteer leaders are taking part in special activities, notes Dr. John Pelham, state 4-H Leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Texas boasts some 140,000 4-H members and 22,000 volunteer leaders. As the youth program of the Extension Service of state land-grant universities and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, 4-H reaches boys and girls between the ages of 9-19 in every county of the United States. Programs similar to 4-H also involve nearly 4.5 million youth in some 82 countries around the world.

Overall mission of the Extension Service in conducting 4-H programs is the development of youth individually and as responsible, productive citizens, says Pelham.

This year's theme challenges members to become self-directing, productive and contributing members of society.

4-H members learn specific skills of projects such as food-nutrition, animal science, forestry or gardening. They also learn to keep accurate records, make oral presentations and develop life-long management, consumer and communications skills.

They use their skills to contribute to community development through such projects as beautification, historic preservation, work with the elderly, energy conservation and involvement in civic affairs.

Each member works on his or her own "project." Some of these might include auto care and safety, cattle, poultry or swine, bicycling, clothing, dog care and training, child development, foods and nutrition, target rifleing, horses or electricity.

There is no membership fee for 4-H. However, each member is responsible for financing his or her own project.

Home economics projects are expanding and growing. These projects no longer include only cooking and sewing. "Members learn practical information and develop skills in home environment, consumer education, child care, home management, clothing and food. The projects help members learn more about their roles in families.

Those in home environment projects learn how to make their homes attractive. Home management projects teach members how to set realistic family goals and take advantage of available resources.

Consumer education projects helps members learn to spend dollars wisely. "They also learn how to shop discriminately and study warranties and time-payment contracts."

Traditional offerings include the 4-H nutrition program and sewing projects.

Upcoming events and opportunities for 4-H members include the county livestock show and fashion revue held January through March; county roundup and district roundup in April and May; state 4-H roundup and teen leader lab in June; district fashion show, county horse show, district trap and skeet shoot, county record book judging and electric camp in July; county camp, county fun fair (project show, poster contest and dog show) and Children's Barnyard in August and September; and National 4-H week, county awards banquet, county food show and district food show in October through December.

Gary Ball to lead gospel meeting

Evangelist Gary Ball of Abilene, will be the speaker at gospel meetings Sunday, October 11 through Wednesday, October 14, at the City Park Church of Christ, corner of 5th and Tennessee, Floydada.

This area is not new to him as he formerly served as the minister for the South Plains Church of Christ in Lubbock; in fact, he was instrumental in helping to establish that congregation. After leaving Lubbock he worked as a minister in Arizona for a time before making his recent move to Abilene.

The schedule of services begins with Bible classes at 9:30 a.m. on Sunday, followed by the morning worship service at 10:30. This worship service will consist of congregational singing, prayer, observance of the Lord's supper, free-will contributions, and a lesson from God's word.

The Sunday evening service is at 6:00 o'clock and the weekday services are at 7:30 p.m. These will be similar to the Sunday service with the exception that there will be no communion nor collection. These are designed to afford you an opportunity to worship God in "spirit and truth" as taught in the New Testament (John 4:24).

Pastor Zumwalt cordially invites everyone to attend any or all of these meetings. "A warm welcome awaits you," he adds.

Farm Bureau members attend convention

Floyd County Farm Bureau members attending the annual convention and banquet Thursday night in Lockney re-elected Rick Mosley of Lockney as director and chose Ken Campbell of Floydada as a new director. Campbell replaces Billy Don Colston of Floydada who retired from the board.

Delmas McCormick, president of Floyd County Farm Bureau, served as master of ceremonies and introduced the special guests; state Farm Bureau president Carrol and Mrs. Chaloupka of Dalhart, state vice-president S. M. and Mrs. True of Plainview, district field representative Steve and Mrs. Cochran of Aspermont, district insurance manager Don and Mrs. Grantham of Lubbock.

Chaloupka commended the Floyd County Farm Bureau directors for administering the FB program in the county and urged the membership to be active. "Complacency will kill this organization," Chaloupka admonished.

Although attendance at the banquet and convention was light, those present held lively discussions as to the passing of resolutions to be presented to the state convention.

Martha Gonzales of Lockney reported on the citizenship seminar which she attended this past summer as a representative of the county Farm Bureau, and John Guzman of Floydada told of the firemen's school which he attended through the sponsorship of the Farm Bureau.

Door prizes of two tires each were won by Mrs. Ernie Widener of Lockney and Mike Dietrich of Providence.

President McCormick reported to the membership that Don Morrison who was insurance agency manager of Floyd County most of this year is returning to Plainview to work as a career agent. The county directors are presently attempting to hire a new county insurance manager.

McCormick introduced the county office staff of Mitzi Nixon and Linda Lunyus, secretaries, and Donice Casey and Max Jones, insurance agents.

A gavel plaque was given to both president McCormick and last year's president, Kenneth Pitts. A gift certificate was presented to Mrs. McCormick.

The roast beef dinner was prepared by the Lockney Elementary School cafeteria workers. Pledge of allegiance was led by Lockney Boy Scouts Daron Widener and Chad Jackson.

A companion story on the proposed budget explains the project.

The proposed budget has included a fund of $10,000 to be used in the proposed budget for the elevator project. Tentative discussions in the early part of the year, however, the fire inspector has discussed the elevator project, saying the elevator would not comply with fire codes.

The court then "backed-off" the project and those funds are in the court's possession.

IT'S AMAZING what some guys will do to get their picture in the paper! Take Joel Mitchell, sixth grader at Lockney Junior High, for instance. He went so far as to break both arms at the same time—which is considered as going just a little mite too far. Joel claims his classmates were swinging him by his hands and feet, and dropped him on the wrong end...a very likely story! However, we feel that he has suffered long enough waiting for his picture—since the "accident" occurred on September ninth.

Jackie Walls resigns

Jackie Walls has submitted her resignation as Floyd County Librarian to County Judge Smith effective on November fifth year. Mrs. Walls has been in charge of both the county library in Floydada and the branch library in Lockney. She has been in the position since the "accident" occurred on September ninth.

County Judge Smith said he feels that each head of a department knows their own situation and if they need help. "I think the court should consider that," he said. He went on to say that Jackie has asked for help and did use the CETA workers, but that program is no longer available. "But the court has to consider where the money is coming from without raising taxes," he added. Judge Smith also voiced his regret that she is leaving and said that she had been an excellent librarian and that he didn't know who the county would get to replace her.

Last year, before the county budget was adopted, Jackie Walls requested funding for a part-time employee in the library from the commissioners court. She also requested a new bookshelf for each of the two libraries. There is no mention in the court minutes about the request for additional help. The bookshelf question was tabled until after January. Finally funds for the shelves was approved.

In June, President of the Friends of the Library, Janice Lloyd, presented a check to the county court for $700 from the "Friends" to be used to purchase a microfilm viewer for the library. At that time Janice asked for extra help in the library. The court took no action on the matter of employees, but aided the library in getting the microfilm viewer.

The libraries are allocated $29,000 per year in county funds. That sum covers all costs from salaries to new book purchase. Off and on there has been a CETA worker in the library. Mrs. Walls explained it is very hard to find someone in the program who qualifies for library work. "The answer of course is to move the library so people have access to it's services," she said. "And that would mean more staff and more upkeep."

Janice Lloyd, who had served as president of Friends of the Library for the past three years, did not seek re-election this year. Linda Morris was elected president. Janice retains her position on the advisory board of the West Texas Library System.

Funds sought for pavilion on square

Who needs a courthouse square pavilion? Floyd County does! Have you ever been downtown on Old Settlers? Kids running, young folks visiting and the Pioneers of our county sitting in the sun. Something needs to be done. The Community Appearance Committee of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce has decided to take on the responsibility for erecting a Pavilion over the concrete slab on the south side of the Courthouse. This would get the Pioneers out of the sun on Old Settlers and could also be used for various other activities for the young and old alike. The County Commissioners will be voting on the proposed budget for Floyd County on October 12 at 2:00 p.m. in the County Courtroom of the Floyd County Courthouse. Tentatively there is $2,000.00 revenue sharing earmarked for the erection of this Pavilion. If you agree that the Pavilion would be an asset for the community, please contact your commissioners, or be present at the meeting, to let them know that we are supporting this project, and hope that they will vote favorably to including this $2,000 in the budget. Anyone interested in helping or devoting with this project should contact Nancy Willson at 983-3753, or Gene McDaniel at 983-3480. Lockney Band Boosters will have a meeting on Tuesday, October 13, at 6:30 p.m. at the band hall. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss upcoming projects.

Sugar substitute to be available

A new sugar substitute—aspartame—is expected to be on the market in about six months.

Aspartame, to be marketed under the tradename
"Equal" by G.D. Searle Co., was approved recently by the Food and Drug Administration.

The new product is made up mainly of two amino acids, phenylalanine and aspartic acid, points out Al Wagner, food technologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas
A&M University System.
These, along with other amino acids, are the normal building blocks of protein in foods consumed as part of any healthy diet.

Phenylalanine and aspartic acid combined in a certain manner produce an intensely sweet-tasting substance called aspartame that is about 180 times sweeter than sucrose (sugar), says Wagner.

A major disadvantage is that it is not stable to heat for prolonged periods.

Consumers sensitive to the
somewhat bitter aftertaste

longed heat, with a consequent loss in sweetness.

If a food containing aspartame is represented to be for special dietary use as might be expected of a low-calorie product, the food must be labeled in compliance with FDA's special dietary foods regulation.

Searle Co. is to monitor actual use levels of aspartame for the FDA.

Advantages that aspar-
tame is supposed to have over other non-nutritive sweeteners are that it is virtually indistinguishable from sugar in taste, has no bitter or metallic aftertaste, and seems to act like a flavor
enhancer for some fruits, such as MSG (monosodium glutamate) does for high-protein foods.

A major disadvantage is that it is not stable to heat for
prolonged periods.

Consumers sensitive to the
somewhat bitter aftertaste

often associated with saccharin sweeteners will be delighted with this new product

Gonzalez participates in "Reforger '81"

Staff Sgt. Noe C. Gonzalez, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Henry V. Gonzalez of Floydada has participated in "Reforger '81," a series of training exercises conducted by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) forces in Europe.

Gonzalez, a gun chief with the 3rd Armored Division, Hanau, West Germany, joined with members of his unit to provide vital support for the United States and allied forces taking part in this annual exercise.

The 13th of its series,
Reforger '81 tested mobility, plans, capabilities and support agreements between military and civilian transportation agencies of both the United States and its NATO partners.

The exercise, stated Department of Defense officials, provided soldiers and airmen the best possible peacetime training for performance of duty under simulated combat conditions.

Nearly 17,000 people along with 27,000 tons of equipment were sent to Europe from the United States in support of Reforger '81.

His wife, Yolanda, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
David Balderas of Lockney.

PREPARING FOR MULESHOE—The Lockney Longhorns ignored the cold drizzly weather Tuesday as they buckled down to a spirited practice session in anticipation of the visit here Friday night of a wild herd of Muleshoe Mules. Spirits were high and the workout was intense as the confident Steers prepared some surprises for the highly rated Mules.

Horns prepare for showdown with Mules

It was cold, wet and windy on the practice field, but the spirit of combat was flaming hot, as the Lockney Longhorn football squad members went through their paces Tuesday in preparation for their meeting with the vaunted Muleshoe Mules Friday night.

The Horns showed a great deal of hustle and spirit as Coach Dewayne Sexton put them through their paces in plays and formations designed to harness the powerful Mules. Coming off of two weeks of rest, afforded by an open date last week, the squad appeared to be in excellent shape and very eager to get back into action.

Asked about injuries in a post-practice interview, Sexton said there were no major injuries and no one on the squad had any further ailments than the normal bumps and bruises and the week of rest had done words of good for them after the rough and rugged game against Littlefield.

Speaking of the Littlefield game, the coach said he was more than satisfied with the effort his boys put up against their highly rated team. "Although our boys were fewer in number and smaller over all than the Wildcats, I do believe that if the Horns had realized in the first half how well they could handle them, we could have won that game," the coach said, adding that "our kids were really coming on strong and gaining confidence in the third and fourth quarters. The game just didn't last long enough."

Coach Sexton lists the outstanding assets of his squad as "attitude and effort," and is confident that no matter who they are playing, they are going to give both him and the opponent forty eight minutes of rock-solid football, and that kind of effort is bound to pay off down the line.

"Next week we begin district play against Tulla, and though we have half or less players on our roster than the rest of the district schools, I give us a good outside shot at the district title. If positive attitude and all-out effort will do it, we will get it done," the coach stated.

Sexton was also very enthusiastic about the fine leadership he was getting from his nine senior gridmen this year. "They are always in there settling down the younger squad members and pointing the way to the goal line," the coach concluded.

Sexton says the best thing that can happen to the Longhorns in more and more

Lockney High School Graduate completes national war college

Joe W. Rigby, a 1958 graduate of Lockney High School, has graduated from the National War College in Washington, D.C.

Rigby, who is the son of Mrs. Imo L. Rigby of Aspermont, is a graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point and was one of the few selected to attend the joint service college which is one of the two schools conducted by the National Defense University in Washington.

The college offers a course of study emphasizing national security policy formulation. Students study military, economic, scientific, political and other topics which affect the formulation and conduct of national security policy and strategy.

Each class includes senior officers from each branch of military service, as well as civilian executives from various governmental agencies. Those attending the school were selected for their professional performance and future potential.

Rigby will now attend the Defense Language Institute, Monterey, California.

His wife, Lovetta, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Mingus of 885 W. Long St., Stephenville, Texas.

He received a master's degree in 1971 from the University of Texas at Austin.

Tyke Dipprey, Mack Sherman to compete Lockney Longhorns squad one more year (EDITORS NOTE: The Lockney Longhorn football squad has nine senior members who are playing the final games of their football careers. Each week till the end of the season the Beacon will feature one or more of them. This week we honor Tyke Dipprey and Mack Sherman.

Tyke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dub Dipprey, stands six feet two inches tall and weighs in at 191 pounds. He plays tight end on offense and strong safety on defense and is a real sparkplug according to his teammates.

He has played football, basketball, tennis and golf all four of his high school years and participated in track one year.

He was a class officer and chapter treasurer of the Federation of Christian Athletes during his junior year.

He was class favorite in both his freshman and sophomore years. He has been a member of the Future Teachers of America, the Future Farmers of America and the National Honor Society.

Tyke's hobbies are water sports, hunting and fishing. He plans to attend college next fall, although he has not announced which one he will choose.

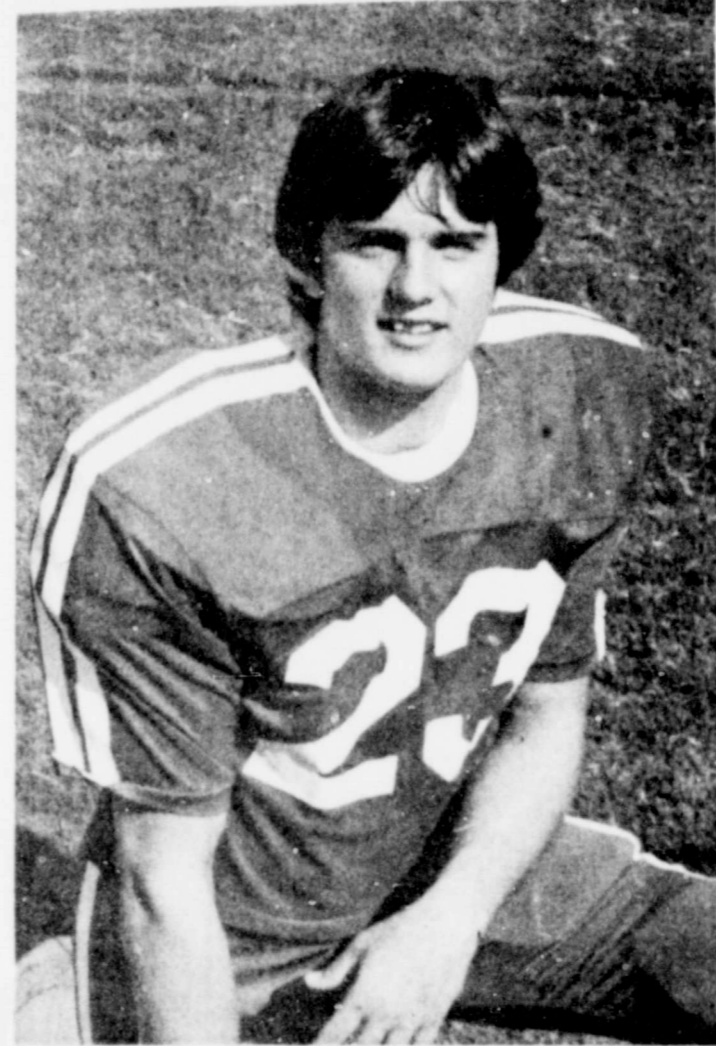

"Tank" is the aptly applied nickname for the Lockney Longhorn's Mack Sherman, No. 76, and he resembles his namesake as he flows into the opponent's line.

Mack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sherman, is five feet nine inches tall and weighs a solid 185 pounds. He plays center on offense and tackle on defense and makes like a "Mack truck" as well as a tank on both sides of the line.

His active high school career has included four years of football, two years of basketball and three years in track and field. He has been a member of FTA, FHA and Ag. He has served as chapter sentinel and has won the coveted Green Hand Award for outstanding performance.

Mack's outside activities include raising animals, hunting, riding, fishing and water skiing. His future plans

What's job sharing, and how does it work? Job-sharing couples professionally share less than two full-time equivalent positions, says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist. They are emerging as members of the clergy, jour-

Texas student loan corporation operations deemed success

The Texas Guaranteed student loan corporation announced that over $100 million dollars in student loans had been guaranteed by the corporation since it began its administration of the guaranteed student loan program for the state of Texas in January of this year. The corporation, TGSLC, was created by the Texas Legislature in 1979 as a public, nonprofit corporation to guarantee loans to college students made by private lenders in the GSL program. TGSLC was created, in part, to improve private lender participation in the guaranteed student loan program and to provide college students greater access to student loans. Joe L. McCormick, Executive Director of TGSLC noted that the positive response of banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions throughout the state has been tremendous. McCormick pointed out that of the $100 million dollars guaranteed to date, over 96 percent of these guaranteed student loans were made by private lending institutions. Recently passed federal legislation will restrict the student's eligibility to families with $30,000 income or less. Families with higher incomes will have to demonstrate financial need in order to qualify for a guaranteed student loan. It is difficult to predict just how many Texas

BLAYNE WHITE

Ex Floydada resident at Kilgore College

Blayne White, a graduate of Canyon High School where he played under Coach Dean Wright, is one of 14 returning sophomores on the roster of the nationally-ranked Kilgore College Rangers, seventh-time champions of the Texas Jr. College Football Assn.

White is the grandson of Marie Baxter of Floydada and a nephew of Mrs. Richard Burns, also of Floydada. As a former Floydada resident, Blayne played football with the Floydada Jr. High Breezers while they resided here.

The Rangers went undefeated in regular season play in 1980, and for four weeks were rated in first place by the National Junior College Athletic Assn. poll. They went on to play in the national championship game at the Garland Bowl to finish third in the nation.

Jim Miller, head coach of the Rangers, was also named Coach of the Year in 1980 for the third time by Texas Sports Writers Assn. He is assisted by Jim Prewitt, defensive coordinator since 1976, and Marion Turner, offensive coordinator since 1975.

White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry White, of Canyon, lettered in football, baseball and track while in high school. He was named Player of the Week, Defensive Player of the Year, and to the All-District team.

At Kilgore College, he is an oil and gas technology major, and plays rover and weakside linebacker for the KC Rangers.

Block withdraws proposed school lunch

U.S. Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block said he is withdrawing the U.S. Department of Agriculture's proposed revisions in meal patterns for federally-assisted school food programs.

Block's statement came shortly after he discussed the issue with President Reagan at the White House today. He said the president agreed the proposed revisions due to adverse public reaction.

"The president and I both strongly feel that the intent of the proposed revisions was sound and in step with the administration's goal to reduce federal regulation and return flexibility to local units of government," Block said.

"However, it appears that the administration's intent was not clearly understood in the form that the proposals were drafted. Our task now is to study the proposals, restructure them if necessary and again present them for public inspection."

Block said he has been in contact with the White House on the matter throughout the past two weeks. But it was not until after his meeting with the president that Block made the decision to withdraw the revisions.

The regulations, which under administrative procedures were to be commented on until October 5, basically gave local school districts and local school dietitians more flexibility in meal planning.

"The proposal set minimum standards that local school districts must face for federal reimbursement purposes. It did not set maximums or establish school menus as critics of the measure lead the public to believe," Block said.

Pest Management Report

Two meetings have been scheduled to discuss field storage of cotton and harvest aid chemicals. The meetings have been scheduled for 9:30 a.m. on Thursday, Oct. 8th at the American Legion Hall in Hale Center, Texas and 2:30 p.m. on the same day at the Chamber of Commerce Meeting Room in Plainview, Texas. All persons interested are invited to attend.

Last week we mentioned the use of light applications of defoliants on rank cotton to take off a few of the top leaves. After talking with Dr. Supak very little is known about what reduced rates would be acceptable. Under some conditions defoliants at low rates still have a potential for excessive defoliations. If this happens to immature cotton reduction in yield and grade may occur.

We hope to look at several rates which a few growers in the area are going to apply. Hopefully this will provide inside into this practice for future years.

Board members heard two reports describing efforts to increase U.S. cotton exports. Dan Miller, Marianna, Ark., producer and Board chairman of Cotton Council International, said that in July and August the organization had sent trade teams to China, Japan, Korea, and six other Far East countries that account for 90 percent U.S. cotton exports.

He also reported that CCI, the overseas of the Council: (1) will conduct an orientation tour of the Belt in November for foreign mill executives, (2) has launched a cooperative market development program for U.S. cotton in Indonesia, and (3) is exploring opportunities for direct cooperative promotion of U.S. made cotton textiles in certain foreign countries.

David C. Hull, Washington, D.C., CCI executive director, reported that Council President Frank M. Mitchener, Jr., at the invitation of Agriculture Secretary John Block, will participate October 9-21 in a special overseas mission to expand exports.

Discussions will be held with key officials in Japan, Korea, and China. These countries accounted for 61 percent of U.S. cotton exports over the past two seasons, Hull explained.

Armyworm outbreaks have been reported on small grains from several locations in the state. Several species of armyworms attack small grains. Armyworm outbreaks are generally favored by cool, damp weather and their larvae are attracted to green, lush growing small grains. As their name suggests, armyworms may attack small grain fields in large numbers, devouring all plant foliage in their path.

In taller, more mature small grains, armyworms may feed below the crop canopy causing extensive damage before being detected. Periodic inspections of wheat fields should be made in the fall and spring. Early detection is very important because small larvae are more easily controlled with insecticides. Where 4 to 5 larvae per square foot occur and seedling stand loss and foliage loss on older plants are occurring, control measures are recommended.

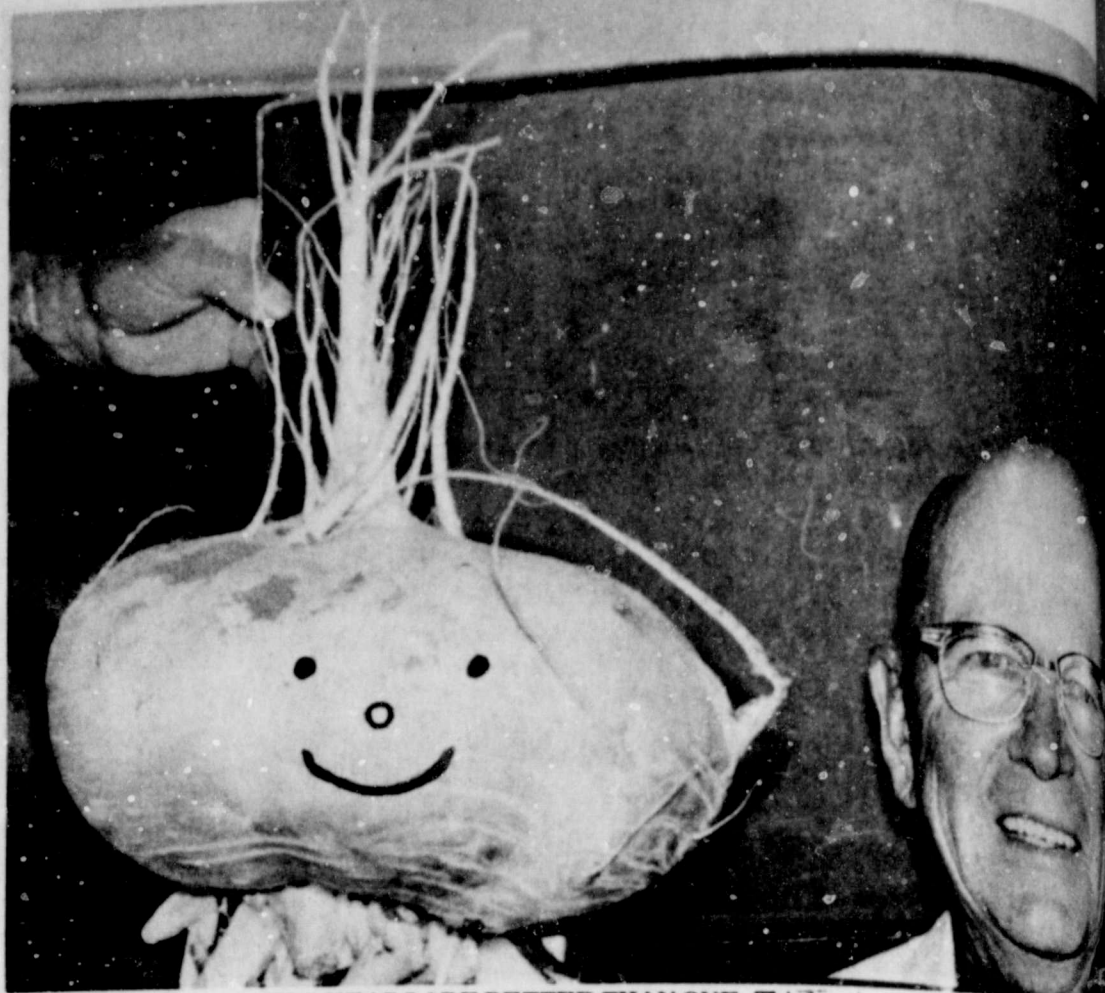

Insecticides applied by aerial or ground methods will effectively control most species of armyworms. Application rates should be sufficient to penetrate the crop canopy. Baits impregnated with pesticides also have been effective in controlling armyworms.

Greenbugs, the same aphids which damage sorghum, also attack small grains. Greenbugs develop in large numbers on small grains and can cause economic losses. During the winter infested fields may have yellow spots preceding the appearance of small dead areas.

Later, Greenbug may increase and spread throughout the field. Greenbug damage can be increased during periods of moisture stress in midwinter and cool springs. Greenbug damage is often confused with moisture stress or nitrogen deficiency.

Greenbugs reproduce rapidly at temperatures below 55 degrees and 95 degrees F. natural enemies of Greenbugs reproduce slowly when temperatures drop below 65 degrees F. Therefore in cool weather Greenbugs can reproduce and spread, with little control from natural enemies.

Occasionally Greenbug populations of 25 to 50 per foot of drill row in very young, small grain plants may warrant treatment.

TWO HEADS ARE BETTER THAN ONE. This turnip turned up at the barber shop this past week. Jerry Nix grew this 10 1/2 pound turnip on his farm. The turnip is 30 1/2 inches around and would cost $6.80 to mail next door. Pictured is Larry making a comparison of sizes. Larry also offered to give the turnip a hair cut. (Review Photo)

Better Business alerts public to solicitors

Consumers and businesses are urged to use caution when being approached by individuals soliciting for donations that will be used to assist the Special Olympics program.

The Better Business Bureau has been advised by Missy Dyer, Area 17 Coordinator for the Texas Special Olympics, that one and perhaps two groups are soliciting in the name of Special Olympics without the approval of Special Olympics Organization.

One group is, via telephone, soliciting funds for tickets to a Special Olympic bowling tournament which, according to Ms. Dyer, is non-existent. Later this

COTTON TODAY

Council Economist Gaylon B. Booker told the Board that a U.S. "export level somewhat above seven million bales seems a reasonable expectation."

Booker reported that foreign cotton stocks are low in relations to expected use. "This season's beginning stocks represent 31 percent of expected consumption. That compares with stocks at 47 percent of consumption in 1975 and an average of 35 percent over the past 10 years," he explained.

Another factor, Booker said, is that the price of U.S. cotton is more competitive, both in absolute terms and in relation to prices of other growths, than it's been in quite a while.

Individuals', companies' 1981 tax bite reduced

New tax laws give individuals and businesses a chance to cut their 1981 taxes — but not without careful planning.

Recently signed legislation — the Economic Recovery Act of 1981 — makes sweeping changes in many federal tax laws, points out Dr. Richard Edwards, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Changes in asset depreciation, investment tax credit, leasing, inventory methods and tax rates can all help reduce the tax bite for 1981, particularly as they relate to agribusinesses.

Depreciation of business assets is the most significant of the changes, believes Edwards. Previously a complex matter dictated by IRS guidelines, the depreciation process has been simplified through the Accelerated Cost Recovery System (ACRS). ACRS recognizes the difference between the economic and usable lives of equipment, and most important, allows businesses to recover a portion of their equipment costs over a much more realistic time period.

Classes of depreciable assets have been reduced to three — 15-year, 5-year and 3-year, explains the economist. Most light trucks and cars fall into the 3-year class; fixtures and equipment, the 5-year group; and buildings, the 15-year class. Additionally, the depreciation method is accelerated and changes gradually over the next five years.

The new depreciation table is so structured that December purchases receive the full tax write-off, thus allowing more flexibility in year-end tax planning.

An alternative to ACRS allows straight-line depreciation for periods equal to or longer than the life of the property class the equipment would be in if ACRS was elected, notes Edwards.

New tax laws also have simplified and liberalized investment tax credit. The time that eligible property must be held to get the full 10 percent tax credit has been reduced from seven to five years. Another change is that 6 percent credit is allowed on some eligible assets after just three years.

An additional change relates to the recapture of investment credit (if credit is taken and then the property is disposed of before the minimum number of years are met). The new law, in essence, allows an investment credit of 2 percent per year up to the maximum allowable for each year equipment is held, notes Edwards.

Remodeling of old facilities also provides increased tax incentives. Investment tax credit increases to 15 percent for structures 30 to 39 years and to 20 percent for those at least 40 years old.

In the past several restrictions were placed on the ability of leasing agents to show transactions as leases rather than conditional sales. Those restrictions have now been removed, says the economist, to simplify leasing.

Another cost-saving device included in the new tax laws deals with adopting a LIFO (last in, first out) inventory system. This method of inventory accounting is generally preferred in times of inflation because it reduces tax liability, explains Edwards. But in the past it has been based on complex indexes.

New tax legislation allows the Secretary of the Treasury to establish suitable indexes as the basis for inventory valuation. This should be especially helpful for small businesses. The changes also will allow a business to spread out the added tax liability associated with the first year of LIFO accounting over three years.

Reduction in marginal tax rates for small businesses also should benefit agribusinesses, believes the economist. Starting in 1982, the marginal rate on income under $25,000 will drop from 17 to 16 percent, with an additional drop to 15 percent the following year. For those in the $25,000 to $50,000 bracket, marginal tax rates will also drop 1 percent each of the next two years from the current 20 percent.

Individuals also were granted a reduction in marginal rates under the new legislation. A total reduction of 25 percent will be spread over a three-year period — 5 percent starting Oct. 1, 1981; 10 percent July 1, 1982; and 10 percent beginning July 1, 1983. The so-called marriage penalty tax also has been altered.

Beginning with the 1985 tax year, marginal tax brackets will be established to prevent inflation from pushing persons into higher brackets with no increase in "real" income. This should help the situation that most wage earners now face — paying a larger tax burden while seeing a decrease in spendable dollars, notes Edwards.

Many other tax provisions have been liberalized under the 1981 tax legislation, adds the economist. These include individual retirement and Keough plans, estate and gift taxes, new employee credits, extension of carry-over periods for operating losses and tax credits, and treatment of capital gains.

Looking at the current tax year and the changes that have been initiated, Edwards suggests including as many expenses as possible in 1981 since income will be taxed at a higher rate. Also, since the depreciation changes are retroactive to Jan. 1, purchases made this year come under the new accelerated depreciation rules and qualify for more liberal investment credit provisions.

Garland Tucker undergoes emergency open heart surgery

BY GRACE LEMONS
It is misting rain again today although there is no measurable amount. Cotton is opening fast and harvest will soon be here.

R.C. and Myrt Guest accompanied their son and wife, Dick and Joy Guest of Floydada, to the farm at Flomot and enjoyed a picnic lunch while viewing the crops Sunday.

Garland Tucker underwent emergency open heart surgery Thursday evening and is reported to be doing as well as could be expected. He is in the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. We trust that he will soon gain his strength and our prayers are with him and his wife, Mary Ann.

Albert Mize celebrated his 88th birthday in his home with his wife Clara. Visitors who called during the afternoon were Edna Beth Tye, Winnie Deedy, Thelma Jones of Stockton, California and Cecil Fyfee, Walton and Veda Wilson. The day was filled with joy for Albert who attended Sunday School and church that morning and had two telephone calls from Missouri, two from Arkansas, one from California, one from New Mexico and one from Minnesota. We wish him many more happy birthdays.

Sports being offered

Wayland Baptist University is now offering pre-collegiate programs in a wide variety of lifetime sports for towns in the Plainview area, according to Dr. Sylvia Nadler, chairman of the Division of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Instruction is available in areas such as gymnastics, karate, aerobics, archery and golf, among others, Nadler said. "All that we require is a facility and a minimum of 20 persons."

The program is an outgrowth of Wayland's already successful efforts at supplying on-site instruction for adults at various off-campus centers, including Reese Air Force Base in Lubbock, Sheppard Air Force Base in Wichita Falls, the Pantex Ordnance Plant in Amarillo, and at various military bases in Hawaii.

Similar adult courses in aerobics met with tremendous success in many towns in the Panhandle-South Plains area during the past two years, with as many as 1,300 persons enrolled at one time.

"We're making available the same educational opportunities to young persons that we've made available to adults in the past," Nadler explained. "Our primary emphasis is on service to the student, and if there is a need, we will deliver the instruction."

The pre-collegiate program is open to all youngsters between 6 and 18 years of age. Cost is $58 per person per course.

Persons interested in organizing a class in their area should contact Nadler at 296-5521 as soon as possible.

Making a difference with United Children's Fund

Something good is happening in the world today. UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, is improving the lives of children in 111 developing countries. And every year, Americans of all ages support this life-giving effort through National UNICEF Day activities and UNICEF greeting cards. October 31 is National UNICEF Day by Presidential proclamation. Since 1950, hundreds of thousands of volunteers have raised more than $60 million by participating in UNICEF Day collections and other activities. Thanks to this nationwide humanitarian effort, Halloween has come to mean nutritious food, medicines and vaccines, basic education, and safe water and sanitation for the world's neediest children. And throughout the year, thousands of Americans put their greetings to work with UNICEF cards. Acclaimed for their message of peace,

Lecture reveals museum research

Behind-the-scenes research at The Museum of Texas Tech University will be brought out into the open during a free public lecture series, beginning October 8.

Topics including cloning and frozen life, the world of bats, venomous spiders of the South Plains, a new Triassic reptile from Texas, the Paleoindian lifeway on the Llano Estacado and the Ute Indians will be discussed by the museum's curators.

The 7:30 p.m. Thursday lectures will be nontechnical and members of the audience will be able to ask questions and meet Museum personnel. Lectures are scheduled October 8 and 22, November 5 and 19, and February 4 and 18 in The Museum's Assembly Room.

Also internationally known for his research on bats, Baker will discuss the world of bats in a February 18 lecture for the series.

Other series speakers include Dr. Oscar F. Francke, curator of entomology; Dr. Sankar Chatterjee, curator of vertebrate paleontology; Dr. Eileen Johnson, director of the Lubbock Lake Site and curator of archaeology; and Dr. James A. Goss, museum director and curator of ethnology and anthropology.

Francke will discuss venomous spiders of the South Plains on October 22. He is an expert on venomous scorpions and spiders and is in charge of the Texas Tech invertebrate research collection.

Chatterjee, who recently uncovered a fossil of a meat-eating reptile that preceded the dinosaur, will on November 5 talk about his discovery. The Postosuchus fossil is expected to provide clues on the evolution of the dinosaur and to contribute evidence to the theory of continental drift — that the earth's land was once joined in one super continent. Chatterjee's research is funded by a grant from the National Geographic Society and has taken place in the Dockum

Rocks, one of four North American late Triassic paleontological sites, 12 miles southwest of Post.

On November 19, Johnson will discuss life in the South Plains during the Paleolithic era, 12,000 to 8,000 years ago, with reference to Goss on February 4. Goss has done language, oral tradition and ethnographic research with many American discoveries in the Lubbock Lake Site excavations.

The Ute Indians and their view of their arid environment will be discussed by Indian groups including the Ute with whom he lived three years.

The curator lecture series is co-sponsored by the West Texas Museum Association and the curators of The Museum. For more information call 742-2456.

Carol of lights at Tech welcomes Christmas

The first lecture, "Cloning, Frozen Life, Science Fiction and Museums," will be given by Dr. Robert J. Baker, coordinator of research for The Museum and curator of living tissues. Baker, Horn professor of biological sciences, initiated the frozen cell bank at Texas Tech University. It is the only systematic collection of frozen animal cells at a university museum in the United States.

Baker said he wants to further a public understanding of cloning in his lecture. He will discuss some of the problems, such as science fiction myths, encountered with cloning.

In addition, he will talk about the process of freezing live tissues and possible future uses of the frozen cells in The Museum's frozen life division.

Slides and growing cells that may be examined under a microscope will be part of the lecture.

"Light the World with Love" is the theme for this year's Carol of Lights December 4 at the Science Quadrangle and Memorial Circle of Texas Tech University.

Welcoming the Christmas season to the University for the 20th year, the Carol of Lights attracts hundreds of South Plains residents to witness the lighting of more than 12,000 lights on the buildings around Memorial Circle and to join in Christmas caroling.

The ceremony will begin at 7 p.m. with a carillon concert by Dr. Judson Maynard, Texas Tech music professor. A torch-light procession will be led by the Saddle Tramps, a men's service organization, and the Texas Tech Trombone Ensemble.

The Bass family of Lubbock will be honored as special guests at the ceremony, in recognition of their many contributions to the community. Byrnie Bass will give the invocation.

Mike Steinberg, president of the Residence Hall Association which sponsors the event, will welcome visitors prior to Christmas caroling by residence halls and organizational choirs. The Texas Tech choir also will sing two carols before the final comments by Beth Taylor, chairman for the event.

After a trombone fanfare, the lights will illuminate the campus, and spectators can join in the celebration by singing Christmas carols to welcome the yuletide season. The victory bells will chime with the message of the 1981 Carol of Lights, "Light the World with Love."

The lights will be turned on 6-11 p.m. daily December 5-27.

Lecture reveals museum research discoveries in the Lubbock Lake Site excavations. The Ute Indians and their view of their environment will be discussed by Indian groups including the Ute with whom he lived three years.

The curator lecture series is co-sponsored by the West Texas Museum Association and the curators of the Museum. For more information call 742-2456.

Rocks, one of four North American late Triassic paleontological sites, 12 miles southwest of Post.

On November 19, Johnson will discuss life in the South Plains during the Paleocene era, 12,000 to 8,000 years ago, with reference to Goss on February 4. Goss has done language, oral tradition and ethnographic research with many American Chatterjee, who recently uncovered a fossil of a meat-eating reptile that preceded the dinosaur, will on November 5 talk about his discovery. The Postonchus fossil is expected to provide clues on the evolution of the dinosaur and to contribute evidence to the theory of continental drift — that the earth's land was once joined in one super continent.

Also internationally known for his research on bats, Baker will discuss the world of bats in a February 18 lecture for the series.

Other series speakers include Dr. Oscar F. Franke, curator of entomology; Dr. Sankar Chatterjee, curator of vertebrate paleontology; Dr. Eileen Johnson, director of the Lubbock Lake Site and curator of archaeology; and Dr. James A. Goss, museum director and curator of ethnology and anthropology.

Behind-the-scenes research at The Museum of Texas Tech University will be brought out into the open during a free public lecture series, beginning October 8. Topics including cloning bats, venomous spiders of the South Plains, a new Triassic reptile from Texas, the Paleolithic lifeway on the Llano Estacado and the Ute Indians will be discussed by the museum's curators.

The 7:30 p.m. Thursday lectures will be non-technical and members of the audience

Chemicals conference to examine waste disposal, computer use

LUBBOCK — A symposium on disposal of hazardous wastes and discussion of the challenges of computerization will highlight the 29th annual West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Conference in Lubbock October 13-14.

Some 500 agribusiness leaders, chemical dealers and educators from southwestern and midwestern states are expected to attend the two-day meeting at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center. It is sponsored by the West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Institute (WTACI).

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Oct. 13, said Eugene King of ICI Americas Corp., Lubbock, institute president. The program begins at 1:15 p.m., with Ernie Houdashell, farm director for KGNC Radio, Amarillo, moderating the session on hazardous wastes. Representatives of Dow Chemical Co. will lead the symposium.

Awards for outstanding contributions to agriculture in the region will be presented during the awards banquet at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 13. Award recipients will be a representative of the chemical industry and of an educational institution or government agency.

Sessions Wednesday, Oct. 14, will begin at 9 a.m. and focus upon weed and insect control, growth regulators and nitrogen use. Bob Etheredge, agricultural manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, will be moderator.

Weeds of the area and herbicide application techniques will be discussed by Dr. John Abernathy, weed scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Lubbock. Dr. James Supak, cotton agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will discuss growth regulators and nitrogen.

The insect situation during 1981 will be reported by Dr. James Leser, Extension entomologist at Lubbock. David Ivie of the Texas Department of Agriculture, Austin, will outline current pesticide regulations.

The Wednesday afternoon session will examine the computer age and its application to the agricultural chemicals industry. Calvin Pigg, editor of The Southwest Farm Press, Dallas, will be moderator. A representative of International Business Machines Corp. will discuss computer hardware. Computer software will be discussed by a representative of Systemic Computer Service.

Contract computer service will be explained by Lubbock Data Service. Joe King, who operates Western 66 Co. in Muleshoe, will discuss use of computers in a dealership. Ways computers are used by the grower will be examined by Rodney Kitten, Slaton farmer.

Throughout the conference the latest in computer and chemical equipment and products will be on display in the Civic Center, King said.

Tractor efficiency saves more diesel fuel

COLLEGE STATION — High fuel prices ought to make farmers think twice about riding high on oversized tractors. Large tractors have more power than necessary for many farm operations and burn more diesel fuel.

Properly matching tractors to jobs as well as maintaining engine efficiency are important, says Henry O'Neal, an agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"The excess power of a 150-horsepower tractor doing a 75-horsepower job is not used, even though the diesel fuel is burned," O'Neal says. In such cases he recommends throttling the engine back.

"Operating in a higher gear at reduced engine speed can save up to 1/4 of the fuel consumption," says O'Neal. "For a 150-horsepower tractor that could mean almost two gallons per hour."

"Diesel engines don't need service as frequently as gasoline engines but they should not be neglected. O'Neal points out that failure to service the pump, fuel filters, injectors and air filters can waste one gallon of fuel per hour on a 150-horsepower tractor before any mechanical problems become obvious.

Good management also plays a part in fuel economy, says O'Neal. "A 150-horsepower tractor idling for an hour wastes half a gallon of diesel fuel. Remember that stops for lubrication, refilling of sprayer tanks, measuring land or lunch breaks can add up."

Fuel wasted because of poor tire traction also adds up. O'Neal says soft soil and inadequate tractor weight can easily result in 20 percent wheel slippage. For good power use, he says there should be no more than 15 percent slippage.

"Improper tractor operation and maintenance add up to sizable fuel costs," warns O'Neal. "Efficient operators get more hours of work from their tractors than inefficient operators on the same fuel. Some day that may be a crucial difference."

Sorghum producers elect fair directors

Four sorghum farmers were elected to six-year terms on the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board (TGSPB). Three of those elected were incumbent candidates. They are: Larry Witten of Olton, the current TGSPB Chairman; Ralph Mabry of Lubbock and K.B. Parish of Springlake. New to the Board is Bob Gillispie of Gruver.

Elections are held biennially to fill four positions on the twelve-man Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board. The election was conducted by mail balloting which concluded on September 15. A canvassing committee met on September 29 to tally the votes and certify the election. Chairman of the canvassing committee was Lubbock County Judge Roderick Shaw. Other members of the committee were Hale County Extension Agent Ollie Linder, Assistant Marketing Director for the Texas Department of Agriculture Bob Gray and TGSPB Executive Director Elbert Harp. The Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board is composed of farmers who are elected by their fellow-producers to administer the program of market development, research and education that is supported by producer assessments of five cents per ton collected at the elevators in a 29-county area of the Texas High Plains. The sole objective of the TGSPB is to work on projects that will improve the profitability of grain sorghum production.

New TGSPB Director Bob Gillispie lives on a farm north of Gruver in Hansford County. He has about 640 acres in grain sorghum this year. Bob and his wife, Kathy, have two sons and a daughter.

TGSPB directors are non-salaried elected officials of the state of Texas. The newly elected Board members will be sworn in at the next TGSPB meeting scheduled for October 13 in Dumas. At that time, the Board will elect its officers for the next year.

New safeguard established for the herbicide 2,4-D

Users and producers of the herbicide 2,4-D from many segments of industry have recently established a national, single-issue coalition to safeguard 2,4-D from irresponsible or regulatory action at the federal, state and local levels.

The National Coalition for a Reasonable 2,4-D Policy demonstrates a collective and concerted effort to confront unreasonable and ill-founded assaults on agricultural chemical tools.

Incorporated as a non-profit organization, the Coalition provides a clearing-house for farmers, foresters, applicators, chemical formulators, agri-women, cooperatives and all others concerned with 2,4-D to challenge unwarranted restrictions on the herbicide, while relating the socially-redeeming contributions of safe herbicide use.

"Various social activist groups and certain state/local government regulatory agencies are resigned to restricting this herbicide which has been widely studied and applied for over 37 years with an enviable safety record," said Coalition board chairman Robert Miller.

"The National Coalition for Reasonable 2,4-D Policy recognizes that the availability and cost of food and fiber hinges on the safe and responsible use of herbicides. Our efforts will constructively assist in managing the destiny of 2,4-D and related agri-chemical tools."

The Coalition's by-laws outline the following objectives:

- *Ensure that scientific facts and risk/benefit considerations are recognized in any 2,4-D regulatory action.
- *Establish a network of pro-pesticide coalitions at state and local levels.
- *Obtain congressional recognition of the benefits of 2,4-D to industry and the public.

While the Coalition will concentrate on the 2,4-D issue, involvement is anticipated in a number of generic pesticide issues such as aerial application and water quality standards.

2,4-D or 2,4-Dichlorophenoxyacetic acid is a vegetation management tool used in control broadleaf weeds principally in cereal grain crops, sugar cane, turf, pasture and non-crop land.

FORT WORTH — A record $400,000 in prizes and purse money was announced this week for the 1982 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show and Rodeo with the mailing of over 6,000 premium lists for the Jan. 27 through Feb. 7 exhibition.

President-manager W.R. Watt Jr. said the 86th anniversary year of the Stock Show will be one of the best ever presented. He urged potential exhibitors to read the premium list carefully before mailing entries.

"Rules may have changed from last year," Watt said, "and a number of the exhibition times are different due to added classes in many departments." He said exhibitors who do not receive the book may request one at the Stock Show office P.O. Box 150, Fort Worth, Texas 76101 or pick up one at the office, 3400 Crestline.

Entry deadlines for cattle, sheep, swine, horses, donkeys and mules are Dec. 10 and for poultry rabbits and pigeons are Jan. 15.

Junior division premiums jumped more than $4,000 to $55,926. Two prestigious breeding cattle shows, the Register of Merit Hereford Show, and the Standard of Perfection Polled Hereford Show, are scheduled along with 14 other cattle breeds.

Among the quality cattle auctions planned are commercial Hereford females Angus, Shorthorn, Polled Hereford, Brahman, Maine Anjou, Simmental and Limousin. Sales are also scheduled for Paint and Quarter Horses and donkeys and mules.

A variety of breeds and types of horses will show with an expected entry of over 2,000 head. The Quarter Horse division will be an approved point show for amateurs. Amateur numbers will be required on entry cards. Open and non professional cutting horse contests are on the schedule. Mail orders for the performance book are set at $2.95. The Feb. 7 at 2 p.m. and at 10 a.m. are $7 each for all rodeos and Exhibitors should include postage and handling mailed in each show.

October favorable planting for legume pastures in Texas

COLLEGE STATION — Legumes are a good bet for permanent pasture in Texas, and planting time is here.

Legumes offer several benefits for Texas pastures, points out Dr. J. Neal Pratt, forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

They provide higher quality forage than perennial grasses growing in most Texas pastures. Legumes can improve the total production of quality forage on most farms and ranches.

Legumes also can lengthen the pasture growing season. Options for pasture establishment include September and October planting legumes, and early October planting time.

Several legume species are well adapted to specific areas of the state. Vetch is a good grower well in the state. Madras sorghum rooted legume and Central, South and relatively new legume clover, does well in bahiagrass pastures on Gulf Coast areas.

County Extension program building committees the state annually convene to show advanced pasture production practices encourages producers county Extension office dates on legumes.

Defoliation meeting to be held for Floyd producers

Crosby, Floyd and Garza County Agricultural Extension Services will be sponsoring an educational meeting concerning the use of desiccants and defoliants on cotton this fall. Due to the large amount of cool, wet weather experienced in late summer and early fall, the cotton crop has excessive vegetative growth and is maturing slower than normal. Because of this condition, some farmers may be able to use desiccants to their advantage this year.

The defoliation meeting for Crosby, Floyd and Garza County producers will be held at the High School Vocational Agriculture Building in Ralls at 2:00 p.m. on Friday, October 9. The Vocational Building is located on the north side of the High School at the northeast corner of the football field. Floyd County producers are also invited to attend a cotton defoliation meeting in Plainview at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, October 8, in the Plainview Chamber of Commerce Meeting room. This will be the same program given in Ralls on Friday and may save producers in the Lockney area some time and miles if they plan to attend.

Presenting the programs will be James Supak, Extension Cotton Agronomist in Lubbock; Elston Grubbaugh, Extension Agricultural Engineer-Mechanization in Lubbock; and Roy Childers, Extension Agricultural Engineer-Cotton Ginning and Mechanization in Lubbock. All interested producers are encouraged to attend one of these meetings if at all possible.

Bankers Ag Credit Conference December 4-5

Bob Boykin, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, will be the featured speaker at the Ninth Annual Bankers Agricultural Credit Conference December 4-5 at Texas Tech University. Approximately 200 are expected to attend.

Economic change and financial management for agriculture in the 1980's will be the theme for this year's conference. Boykin will give his talk at the noon luncheon Saturday, December 5.

Lee Herring, senior vice president of the Grand Prairie State Bank, will address the conference at a 7:15 p.m. banquet Friday, December 4.

Participating in the Saturday program and speaking on 1982 crop outlooks, livestock and production cost estimates for the High Plains will be Vern Peckham, senior vice president for the Agribusiness Department, Republic National Bank in Dallas; Lynn Futch, state director for the Farmers Home Administration, U.S. Department of Agriculture in Temple; and Dr. Samuel E. Curl, Texas Tech College of Agricultural Sciences dean.

The conference is sponsored by the Texas Tech Department of Agricultural Economics, the Board of Directors of Agricultural Bankers Conference and the Texas Bankers Association.

For additional information contact Dr. J. Wayland Bennett, associate dean of Agricultural Sciences, Box 4190, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas 79409, or call (806) 742-2876.

Texas banks are major source for ag lending

As of the first of the year, 1,212 of the 1,500 banks in Texas held farm loans of more than $2.9 billion a spokesman for the Texas Bankers Association reports.

"Of the total amount Texas banks provided for agriculture, $2.35 billion went for non-real estate purposes, while over $550 million was devoted to agricultural real-estate lending," said Bob Greer, TBA president, citing results of the American Bankers Association's annual agricultural credit activities report.

"By comparison, Production Credit Associations provided $963 million; the Federal Intermediate Credit Banks, $146 million; the Farmers Home Administration, $865 million; and the Commodity Credit Corporation, $90 million in non-real estate farm loans in 1980," Greer said.

In real estate loans, Federal Land Banks provided $1.8 billion; Life Insurance Companies, $994 million; Farmers Home Administration, $324 million; and individuals and others, $1.9 billion.

Nationally, banks held a total of $40.3 billion in agricultural loans, 38.3 percent of the market share of non-real estate loans and 9.5 percent of the market share for loans secured by farm land. The total farm debt held by all major lenders during 1980 was up 11.3 percent from the year before.
