First Annual Rodeo slated here

RAYMOND LUSK looks on as Mayor J.D. Copeland signs the proclamation for Lockney Rodeo Week.

The First Annual Lockney Championship Rodeo will take place on July 21, 22, and 23. The rodeo will be held at the rodeo arena on the Floyd County Fairgrounds in Lockney.

In honor of this coming event the City of Lockney and the Lockney Chamber of Commerce have proclaimed the week of July 17-23 as Rodeo Week in Lockney.

The Floyd County Fair Association is sponsoring the rodeo. The stock for the rodeo is being furnished by the C bar T Rodeo Company of Lubbock which is owned and operated by Charlie Thompson. The rodeo is approved by the Texas Cowboys Rodeo Association and over 300 entries are expected with over $15,000 in prize money expected.

Scheduled events for the rodeo include barrel racing, barebacks, bull riding, team and calf roping, saddle bronc riding, and a calf scramble, and other special events. The rodeo will begin at 8:30 on each night. Some top rated contestants from Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Colorado are expected to enter. Any local entries are also more than welcome.

Entry fees are as follows: barrel racing - $40, barebacks - $50, bull riding - $50, team roping - $60, saddle bronc riding - $50, calf roping - $50, and the calf scramble has no entry fee and is open to kids 10 and under. The books for entering will open on Tuesday July 19th. Rough stock will open at 12:00 noon and timed events will open at 3:00. All books will close at 6:00 p.m. on the 19th. Anyone wishing to enter should call Charlie Thompson on the 19th, at 794-2317.

Tickets for the rodeo are $3.00 for anyone 13 and up, 6-12 are $1.00, and under 6 are free. Tickets can be purchased from any of the girls who are selling tickets in the rodeo queen contest. At press time only four girls had picked up tickets but there are plenty of tickets and plenty of time left to sell them. The girls who are selling tickets now are Karen Ford, Rachelle Ford, Judy Collins, and Tammy Hollyfield. The girl who sells the most tickets will be crowned queen. The queen will receive a belt buckle, which according to rodeo company owner Charlie Thompson, is beautiful and also valued at $150. Any girls interested in selling tickets should contact Darla Ford at 652-2726.

Following the rodeo on Friday and Saturday nights there will be a dance in the entertainment building on the fair grounds. Admission for the dance will be $4.00 per person on both nights. The Playa Playboys from Floydada will be providing the music for the dance.

Tentatively a chili cookoff is scheduled for Thursday night. Should the chili cookoff go on, the gates will open at 3:00 when the cooking will begin. Judging for the event will begin at 7:30. Anyone interested in entering the cookoff should contact Laura Wilson at 652-2456.

The Fair Board needs your help to prepare for this rodeo. In order for this rodeo to be a success the rodeo arena must be in top form. The fair board is having a work day at the fair grounds on Saturday, June 16th. Last weekend work was done on the stands and other parts of the arena but there is still much to do. The work will begin at 8:00 a.m. but anyone who wants to help is welcome to come any time during the day.

Anyone needing further information on the rodeo is urged to call John Quebe at 293-5788.

PERSPECTIVES

By the Rev. Michael O'Connor

The new Miss Texas had to make a lot of sacrifices in order to win the title. She lost boyfriends, had to spend hours in preparation and training, and had to completely dedicate herself to the concept that she was the best woman in Texas. Apparently she thinks the effort was worth it.

Her dad spent some $8,000 dollars of his own money to help his daughter attain her dream, and some $20,000 more went into the creation of the new Miss Texas. I guess whoever financed that kind of money thought it was worthwhile as well.

A good deal of time went into this project as well. The current Miss Texas, Dana Rogers, age 22, started entering pageants as far back as 1976. One of the judges from the '76 campaign recalls that Miss Rogers had one of the best bodies he had ever seen. Who said these contests are the last remnants of sexism in our age? Obviously the mind is the most important aspect of these affairs.

Miss Rogers says that she was taught to excel at anything she attempted, and she is apparently well on her way to being a professional pageant person, since she is already looking toward the Miss America pageant. If she wins that,

I wonder what she will go for next.

But is it really worth what she had to go through in order to win? Certainly the material rewards are nice, and the exposure she gains may help with her ideal of becoming an entertainer. But is it worth the hurt feelings of a man she supposedly liked, but who was dumped because the pageant was more important? Is it worth the investment in time and money in a world with problems which would be best solved by people who had the determination to excel? Is it worth being packaged into a particular kind of person who always has the right smile, the right clothes and the right not-too-controversial-answer, instead of being a normal, sometimes flawed person?

If you have come to the conclusion that I think the answer to those questions is no, you are right. We are called to sacrifice self for the benefit of others, rather than the other way around. I am afraid pageants all too often do the latter.

Should we then stop having pageants? Look at the scholarships they give, some say. My reply: Let's start giving away that money to the unnoticed people whose real beauty come from having given their lives in service.

FIREMEN from the Lockney Fire Department battle grass fire north of town.

Fire Department News

Friday the Lockney Fire Department was called to a grass fire north of town. Upon arrival they found an old barn surrounded by burning grass. The firemen extinguished the flames around the barn and then set about putting out a pile of burning wood and several patches of burning grass. The fire appeared to have started from a nearby house where trash was burning and spread to the adjacent lot which had much dry grass and weeds on it and traveled toward the barn.

SOUTH PLAINS NEWS

July 11th:

There is still wheat harvest going on here at South Plains, and we see combines and trucks in several fields. Most of the harvest has gone on to the northern parts of the South Plains. Cotton is growing in the hot weather we have had, but now we are needing rain on the fields.

Visiting here at the home of their grandparents are little Jamie and Jennifer Somers of Louisville, near Dallas. Rev. and Mrs. Cecil Osborne met the children last Thursday and brought them here for a few weeks visit. The children will be here until July 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete and Eunice Land from Clarendon, and Mrs. Inez Minyard of Littlefield came Thursday to visit their sister, Mrs. Letha Mulder.

Visitors here Sunday morning at the South Plains Baptist Church were Melissa Horne of Plainview and Kristi Julian, who had spent the weekend here with her folks. The summer second semester begins at Texas Tech this Monday, July 11th.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Craddock of Sundown were guests here on June 30th, Friday, and Saturday and Sunday, July 1 and 2nd. They were staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sanders and Layne. Mrs. Mary Grisham of Plainview underwent eye surgery on June 27th in Lubbock, and has gotten along just fine. She came out and spent some time here with her daughter, Mrs. Nina Sanders and family.

Mrs. Charlene Starke from Kress was visiting and working here in South Plains vicinity on Wednesday, as she took care of the mail for the South Plains School, which had come since school was out for the summer, and she was checking up at the school house.

E.P. Pritchett came to the farm during the weekend, and was here until Sunday afternoon. Early and Nell spend a great deal of the summer over at Ruidoso, New Mexico. We miss them when they are away.

Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Horne and daughter Melissa of Plainview went to Gilliland this Monday to attend the funeral of Teddy's grandmother, Mrs. Elmer Hall, 95, with her funeral services to be held this Monday, July 11th, at the Church of Christ Church in Gilliland, at 3:00 p.m.

Roy Burks, now of Rockwall, near Dallas, is at home again, after being in the hospital. He has suffered a stroke at his home recently, but we understand he is getting along well at this time. Mr. Burks lived here at South Plains at one time, and is well known here. We all wish him the best.

Mrs. Jo Y'Blood, who is the sister of Mrs. Nell Pritchett, underwent major surgery Friday morning on one of her knees. She is in Highland Hospital in Lubbock, and is in Room #318 there. She is getting along well, and will be at the hospital for some time taking therapy. We are sending her best wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. R.V. Bartlett of Fort Worth visited all their relatives here a week ago Friday to Sunday, and were in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sanders, their nephew on Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. Charlene Starke and Mrs. Nina Sanders and Layne had a wonderful trip and vacation as they left here June 20th for San Angelo where they spent the night visiting with Charlene's daughter and family. They started on south, reaching Paint Rock, with its Indian writings and signs. Their guide told them the writings and pictures were some as far back as 1500 years ago. They went west of town, up the creek and to the rock cliffs there at Paint Rock. They were in Fort Concho, where they viewed artifacts, soldiers bunk-houses and old chuck wagons and from there they went to Fredericksburg, where they toured the Admiral Nimitz Museum; saw the Japanese Peace Garden, which was a gift to the United States from Japan in the 1950's. Tuesday night they spent there at Fredericksburg, then went to Johnson City where they visited all the sights; also were at the home of former President Johnson and Mrs. Johnson. Going south, they came to San Marcos, and enjoyed the Aqua Marine Springs, and tourist sights there. Their next stop was San Antonio, where they visited with Charlene's son and his family, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. They were real tourists in fact, as they went to the Alamo, ate on the famous San Antonio River and were at the zoo; took a carriage tour of the cultural area, etc. While touring San Antonio, they visited so many places of interest, and got to see the famous Gutenberg Bible, which was written in the 14th century. They arrived back home a week ago Friday after a wonderful tour of south Texas. They heartily recommend a trip in your own beautiful state!

Lisa Terrell has been a member of the Lockney 4-H Club for five years. She keeps a Record Book each year which she enters in County and District 4-H competition. Her Record Book is in the area of Achievement with her main project's being Foods and Nutrition.

The 4-H Foods and Nutrition project is designed to teach 4-Hers like Lisa about nutrition, food costs, meal planning, food preparation, and food preservation.

Lisa started this project as a pre-4-H member at the age of eight. At her first Food Show she made and displayed deviled eggs.

In other County and District Food Shows she has exhibited Chicken Puffs which were miniature cream puffs filled with chicken salad; Chicken Divan, Texas Corn Casserole, and Breads.

At the 1980 District 4-H Food Show, Lisa placed third overall with her Texas Corn Casserole. This was Barbara Mathis' recipe in a Lighthouse Electric Cookbook. Last year at the 1982 District Food Show, Lisa got first place overall with her Braided Bread. This recipe was given to her by Gayle Jackson who had received the recipe in the mail from a friend.

Besides Food Shows, Lisa has exhibited baked goods and canned foods at the Floyd County Fair and the Panhandle South Plains Fair. She has received first place on her bar cookies, Braided Bread, cinnamon rolls, and grape jelly at the Floyd County Fair. She got second place on her rolls and third on her brownies at the Panhandle South Plains Fair.

Lisa enjoys all cooking and especially working with breads. This love is inherited from her grandmother, Mrs. Walton Lehmborg of Mason, Texas.

At an early age, Lisa started helping her mom decorate Christmas cookies. These old fashioned sugar cookies are as a family tradition hung on the Christmas tree.

Crosby County Arts Festival slated for July

Preparations are in full swing for the annual Crosby County Arts Festival, slated July 13-17 at Crosby County Pioneer Memorial Auditorium in Crosbyton, according to Arts Association President Dwayne Cornelius.

Invitations have been mailed to hundreds of area artists and craftsmen, judges secured for fine arts and photography and pledges of purchase awards are being sought.

The show will be open to the public from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday, July 15-16. Area craftsmen are invited to display their wares (nothing flea market caliber, please) on the square Saturday.

An awards ceremony will conclude the show Saturday afternoon.

Entry selected Best of Show will receive a $75 award and first place in each division of the show receives $15. People's choice winner receives $25. Ribbons will be given in each division and purchase award ribbons are given when an entry is selected for purchase by a purchase award donor.

or class work, suitability for display and in good taste.

Lockneyites attend State FFA Convention

Six of Lockney's FFA students will be attending the 55th Annual Convention of the Texas Association of Future Farmers of America, July 13-15, at the San Antonio Convention Center. The boys will leave on Tuesday and return on Saturday. Those attending are David Martinez, Keith Hight, Gary Bigham, Glen Sutterfield, Earl Broseh, and Donny Ferguson. Also going are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Broseh, and Mike, Patty, and Amber Mowrey. All of the boys, as well as three who are unable to attend, Darin Widener, Scott McCarty, and Mike Floyd, will be receiving their Lone Star Farmer Degrees. This degree is the highest level of recognition by the State association.

While attending the convention the boys will have the opportunity to hear three outstanding speakers. Micheal Broome, renowned speaker and humorist from Charlotte, North Carolina; Grant Teaff, head football coach from Baylor University; and Jan Eberly, the National FFA President, from Fallbrook, California will be the speakers.

During the convention the state president for the 1983-84 year will be elected. Also the state FFA sweetheart will be chosen.

Lockney woman to snorkel for biology credit off Florida coast

Agnes Scott College student Jill Deann Whitfill of Lockney will snorkel and observe sea life underwater along the Georgia and Florida coasts in August. She is one of eight students at Agnes Scott, a women's liberal arts college in suburban Atlanta, who will travel over 2,000 miles to study marine biology for academic credit.

Ms. Whitfill, a 1981 graduate of Lockney High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Whitfill of Route 2. A biology major, she is one of two recipients of the Doeringhaus Scholarship awarded for the marine biology trip. A student admissions representative, she is also a member of the Agnes Scott's college bowl team and the Christian Association.

The eight Agnes Scott students and biology professor, John F. Pilger, will depart from Decatur August 14 in the college van loaded with underwater camera equipment, microscopes and camping gear.

A highlight of the three-week trip will be a four day stop at the University of Georgia Marine Lab on Skidaway Island. At Skidaway, the students will study the physical and chemical properties of sea water and the marine organisms in estuaries, marshes and on barrier islands.

From there the group will travel to St. Augustine, Florida, and will be given an overview of the biomedical work being done at the C.V. Whitney Marine Biomedical Laboratory. Marine biology in the space age will be demonstrated to the students at Cape Canaveral where they will visit Kennedy Space Center and see how satellites monitor the earth's oceans and other natural resources.

At the Smithsonian Institution's Marine Station at Link Port, Ft. Pierce, Florida, the students will have three days to study sea water properties and the marine organisms inhabiting sandy beaches and mangrove islands.

On their way to the Pigeon Key Environmental Station in Pigeon Key, Florida, the group will make a one day stop at the International Oceanographic Foundation to see the Planet Ocean display. After studying the tropical and subtropical coral reefs at Pigeon Key, they will compare organisms found in this environment to those found at Skidaway and at Ft. Pierce. The students will also develop and conduct individual projects concerning a behavioral, physiological or ecological aspect of marine life.

On their way back to Georgia the group will travel through the Everglades National Park and visit the Mote Marine Lab in Venice, Florida, which is known for its shark research. In Tampa they will tour a sewerage treatment plant to understand how the city is coping with waste that has been dumped in its bay.

From Tampa the biology students will return to Agnes Scott with what Professor Pilger hopes to be a better understanding of marine organisms and the marine environment.

FISHIN' TIPS

from ... Tom Mann

QUESTIONS FROM THE MAIL BAG

DEAR TOM: Do you pay any attention to a thermometer when fishing bass?—Fairweather Fred

HELLO FRITZ: You bet! The colder the water the less active bass will be. For water in the mid 40's to mid 50's, I use plastic worms, grubs, and Mamm-O-Lures snuckdab on the bottom. When the water's in the mid 50's to mid 60's, I prefer slow-moving spinners and crank baits. In the 70's and above I do best with surface plugs like Top Mann, crank baits move right along, and plastic worms.

TOM MANN: Just what the heck is a "smoken island" these fishermen talking about?—Harold Cross

HELLO HAL: Well, this is fisherman's talk. Maybe it was an island at one time but now that water covers it they refer to it as a smoken island. An underwater hump is a better term. You can locate these with a depth sounder, and the more of them you have pinpointed the greater your catches will be because each one can be a honey hole at certain times of year.

HY TOM: I see you on TV fishing a lure you call Little George, a weighted spinner. Why do you jerk it so hard?—Ben Watchin

HELLO BEN: Well, I call this "rippin'" a spinner. I let it sink to bottom and many times a big, of bass is eyeballin' it. Then when I reel slack out of my line, and jerk it off the bottom with the spinner-a-flyin' around, man, of biggun just can't resist bustin' it!

Care Center Capers

By Mavis Barton & Mary Jo Fielding

July 1st: This was left off Fridays goings on. When we came back in, I had to take off my sunglasses, it was so dark. I went to my room, I should say mine and Grannys room, and finished my column and gave it to Jean. Then I went to the lobby to watch TV. But no TV, it was broke down. So we listened to tapes. Whatever came on we sang or if we didn't know the words, we hummed, and I do alot of humming. Then Esker Pyle turned on the TV and it workd! I guess lightning hit the high TV tower. I was glad it came on in time to see what shindigs. J.R. was up to this week. It clouded up and we had a nice little cotton shower.

Saturday, 2nd: We got up late and went to breakfast then I remembered it was my bath day. I was waiting my turn with the new nurses aides giving baths. So I waited and waited and Mr. Grabbe said he wanted to go back to his room and lay down. I said, "you bathe first" and he said, "No, you go first, so we argued back and forth. Then we found out he was not down for a bath today. Finally, I got my bath in time to go to lunch. I talked with Granny after lunch in our room and spent most of the afternoon there. After supper, we went into the lobby to listen to "Hee Haw." Another resident changed the channel to Lawrence Welk. Mary Jo and I looked at each other. Mary Joe went outside and had a tussle taking down the flag. I felt like saying, "that is a no-no!" But this is cowboy country and I may be treading on some readers toes but, my Father was a lover of high brow music and I had more than my fill of it. We were suffering when Richard Lanham came into the lobby. Mary Jo told him we didn't put that on. Richard said "well, we have a right to see what we wanted and changed it back to "Hee Haw."

Richard and Lewis Roberts went outside to take in the cool evening, but came right back in saying it was still hot outside!

I had a nice surprise this afternoon. Lori, my one and only daughter, and her friend, Kevin came to see me. Not bragging but Lori is a dream and so much fun to be around. She attends Amarillo College during the long term, so she is not only beautiful, she is "libre", as the Germans would say.

Sunday, July 3rd: I usually start out with my trip home for the day, but I had so much to write about I would not have time to write it in time for the dead line.

So here goes. I went home for the day, via Cedar Hill to John B. Bartons home (my father-in-law). What was nice and green last Sunday, was all dry and dead looking today. Although we had a nice cotton shower here in Lockney, I was praying for my husband to get the same and one his fathers cotton at Flomot. When we got to the "Cap" we could see for miles and fields were leaving out. After we crossed the river, field was blowing away and my husband said that cotton was real pretty before it rained. They had 1.10 in twenty minutes, so the farmer lost his crop again. I guess I prayed too hard because that shower we had that was so good, but just broke loose when it dropped off the "Cap", with heavy rain and same hail. My husband left me at the house, while he went to the field to finish fighting the sand. Then we loaded me in the pickup and stopped at Matador to see my sister-in-law and husband "Louvaine" and Charlie Scaff. We had dinner with them and John B. Barton. Watched football and then my husband and Charlie went to town and got five plates of "fried fish, potato salad, pinto beans and cole slaw." The Matador firemen held it in their new building; I guess it was a celebration opening. They had a good crown, as we drove past them on our way to the Care Center, we heard a drum beating and I think there was some dancing. But who in their right minds would be dancing in 100 degree weather? It beats me!

Monday, 4th: Well, today is kinda slow, nothing to do special. Watch TV or visit of course we had church as we do every weekday morning. Then comes lunchtime and most Residents take an afternoon nap, others try to keep cool. Boy, summer hit us with a bang and I guess it is here to stay. Mr. Esker Pyle and his wife Rose have their own TV, watching the ballgame every night. We watch the ball game as often as we can and sometimes we get outnumbered, Mary Jo and I and have to watch something else. Richard Lanham and Mr. Lewis Roberts go to bed early and they both like ball games. So there goes our backers.

I spent the Fourth watching the double header, the Cubs and the Expos. However, I become a little disgruntled when another resident decides to change the channel to another program. Yesterday I was lucky, no interference, so I could keep my eyes trans fixed to the TV. The Cubs lost both games, but they gave a pretty good show, regardless. I wonder if Ryne Sandburg is related to Carl Sandburg, the poet who wrote the poem "Chicago, Chicago, Chicago."

July 5th, Tuesday: Mr. Pyle and Mary McCracken are playing dominoes, which reminds me that I was left out the domino game last week, when Mr. Esker Pyle, Lewis Roberts, Richard Lanham and Ada Happen played. When she got tired and left the game, Mrs. Hassie Arnold took her place.

We started making quilts this morning, Jean Strickland had made a nine piece square for a sample. Mary McCracken and Mary Jo Fielding were cutting squares while Nena Loudermilk and myself were sewing them together. By hand I'll have you know.

While we were doing that, Mrs. Mary Green, Esker Pyle, Richard Lanham and Lewis Roberts had large ice cream sticks and Elmers glue. Mrs. Mary Green was showing them how to make a "Wishing Well Planter." She had already made one, when she went on the Plainview trip. We had fun this morning, of course, Richard was in the middle of it as usual.

"Granny Self" got a letter from Keith Bailey who was left in our care while his family went on a trip for about 4-5 days. He was physically handicapped and Granny always stopped and talked to him and today she got a letter from him.

Mrs. Hassie Arnold, Mary Jo Fielding and Elvia Martinez, nurses aid, who pushed me outside in my wheelchair, then we all had a talk. It was so nice and cool, after a while "Granny" decided to join us. We all enjoyed being out and didn't want to come in, but it was getting close to bedtime.

Wednesday, 6th: Nurse Myrtle Gibson came back to work yesterday, and I was beginning to think she was playing "Hookie" when she showed up again today. She told me she had a lot of company for several days. I was beginning to think that "Old Tom" had showed up and they were having a hard time loading him up again. "Old Tom" is a black Angus bull.

Mr. William Poole had a visit with his son Bill Poole. The staff roll his bed and all out to church when he wants to go.

Thursday, July 7th: Well, Richard Lanham went with his sister after breakfast to spend the day and it was his birthday too. I think that he thought, some of us would be playing tricks on him. We all pick on him. We usually have a birthday party with cake, cookies, punch and ice tea the first Wednesday of the month, for everybody who has a birthday that month. One of the church ladies usually serve at the party, but we won't have a party this time until the second Wednesday of July.

Friday, 8th: We played bingo this afternoon and Diana Truitt called it for us. Mary McCracken played a card for Mr. William Poole, who is improving, but still is bedfast. She won two fruit to give to him and I played a card for Hallie Roberts and won two fruit for her. Bingo is a lot of fun for us, especially when one wins the "black-out." Mr. Esker Pyle was our winner last Tuesday, and my cohort, Mavis, was winner this afternoon.

We went to sit outside again tonight it was the same old crew, Elvira Martinez. (I got it right this time - Vera), Hassie Arnold, Mary Jo Fielding, Euna Bradshaw decided to join us this time and then "Granny Self" came to sit with us after she had fed the birds. They all knew what Graddy was doing because they flew into the trees above and when she came back to sit down they all flew down and was fighting each other over the crumbs.

Help clean up the rodeo grounds on Saturday July 16th.

Let's talk.

Information about your changing telephone service from Jim West, Community Relations Manager

By now you've probably read about the company's rate request for $1.7 billion. How did we come up with that figure? Why is this request so much larger than previous rate filings? In this column, I hope to provide some answers for you.

Local rates subsidized by long distance

If somebody else were to pick up half your lunch check, what would you say? Probably, thank you. But what if they started paying half of all your meals? At some point it would be human nature to start taking them for granted. Our situation is similar.

You've been paying an average of $11 a month for something that costs about $29 a month: residence telephone service.

Long distance and other services have been picking up the difference. This came about because the company wanted to keep local service as cheap as possible. That way everyone could afford to have a phone. And as long as Southwestern Bell operated as one big system, this worked fine.

But with recent government rulings, things have changed. Southwestern Bell can't continue to subsidize local rates with the money we make on optional services. As Paul Roth, vice president of revenues and public affairs, said in a recent press conference, "Local rates no longer can hide behind long distance, because we're just about out of the long distance business." For the most part, the long distance business is going to other carriers like AT&T and MCI. And, we're virtually out of the customer equipment business. As a consequence, local rates must go up... substantially.

Three main components make up rate request

Basically, the company's request for local rates can be divided into three parts: —The company is requesting an increase of $502 million statewide to recover the costs of doing business, and to produce a fair return on Texas investment. —We're asking for an increase of $450 million in depreciation expense and other capital recovery charges that is more consistent with today's technological changes.

—The company is seeking $249 million in access charges to partially replace the subsidy provided by intrastate long distance revenues to local rates. The filing also proposes additional charges of $504 million to intercity carriers such as AT&T and MCI.

Lower cost options due later this year

We are concerned about how these increases will affect our customers... particularly those on fixed incomes. That's why we're researching several lower priced offerings as alternatives to flat-rate unlimited service.

Under such offerings, customers would pay for each call made, but the monthly rate for most would be substantially less than unlimited service. With local rates rising to meet costs, it doesn't make sense for all customers to pay the same flat rate no matter how much or little they use their line. People who use less should pay less. This is no different than rates charged for other utility services.

For further information and background about the rate filing, send for our free booklet, "Telecommunications Changes and the Cost of Telephone Service." Address requests to: Rate Request Booklet, Southwestern Bell, P. O. Box 225265, Dallas, Texas 75265.

Lisa shares her recipe for Sour Cream Rolls, a yeast bread with a light, delicate texture. Lisa shapes these rolls into crescents, but for variety she suggests shaping the dough into Parker House, cloverleaf, fan tan, or pan rolls.

Sour Cream Rolls
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 (8-ounce) carton commercial sour cream
1/2 cup sugar
2 packages dry yeast
1/2 cup warm water
2 eggs, beaten
4 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
Melted butter or margarine

Place butter in a small saucepan, and bring to a boil. Remove from heat; stir in sour cream and sugar. Cool to lukewarm.

Dissolve yeast in warm water in a large mixing bowl. Stir in sour cream mixture and eggs. Combine flour and salt; gradually add to yeast mixture, mixing well. Cover and refrigerate overnight.

Punch dough down, and divide into 4 equal parts. Roll each into a 10-inch circle on a floured surface; brush with butter. Cut each circle into 12 wedges; roll up each wedge, beginning at wide end. Place on greased baking sheets.

Cover and let rise in a warm place, until doubled in bulk (about 1 hour). Bake at 375° for 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown. Yield: 4 dozen.
