School enrollment for '86 increases

TRY THIS ONE

Grab a piece of paper, jot down these numbers and ask someone to add them up mentally:

1000, 30, 1000, 40, 1000, 20, 1000, 10.

At least nine out of 10 people will say "5000."

If that's your answer, add them again. If you still get 5000, we suggest you get either a pencil and paper or a calculator.

The correct answer is 4100.

PRAYING FOR RAIN TO STOP...

Clar Schacht said that at prayer meeting last Wednesday night probably a first for a Southern Baptist Church in West Texas happened.

The congregation prayed for the rain to STOP!

REQUIEM FOR A SCHOOL BUS DRIVER

First stop—It's 7:30 a.m.: "Driver, you're late." "Yes, Ma'am. What time do you have?" "I don't have a watch, but I've been standing here a long time." "Yes, Ma'am."

Second stop: "Driver, can you wait for my brother? Mom says you're early."

Third stop: "Driver, why can't you pick up my child on the other side of the street?" "Well, for one thing I'd be going in the wrong direction."

Fourth stop: "Driver, why are those kids standing up?" "They won't stay seated." "Yell at them. That's your job." "Yes, Ma'am."

Fifth stop: "Hey, you! What's the idea of yelling at my kid?" "Well, sir, he had a little girl by the throat. She was turning blue." "She deserved it. She called my son a creep."

Sixth stop: "Driver, can't you come a half hour later; I have to make breakfast for my husband." "No, Ma'am, then I'd be late." "Can't you change your schedule?" "Bye, Ma'am."

Between Sixth and Seventh stops: "Driver, Mary threw up all over my coat."

Into school: "How many kids you got?" "Seventy." "Principal wants to see you." "Hello, Mr. Principal." "I got a call from the president of the PTA and she said you ran a stop sign on Fourth Street." "I don't go near Fourth Street." "She took your bus number. Look." "Sir, you've got five numbers written down and my bus has only three." "Oh."

Driver endures two more trips in the morning, two more at noon and three more in the afternoon.

Finished. Parks bus.

"Hello, Dispatcher." "Got a call you were speeding on Tenth Street and almost hit a dog." "I wasn't speeding."

"Got your bus number. Look." "Hooray for the dog, he got the bus number right." "Boss wants to see you." "Okay." "Hello, Boss." "You're fired. You didn't pass your annual physical. Something about high blood pressure and nerves." — It Really Happened.

A FABLE FOR OUR TIME

(The following essay may be in the realm of 'a newspaper classic.' It has been reprinted many times, and its real authorship may be lost. But it has been called to our attention by a Canadian merchant, and it is as applicable here as anywhere on earth. — The editors of The Canadian Record)

By Monday, September 8, the enrollment of the Lockney school system was up over last year by six students. However at the end of the first week of school there was a decrease in enrollment by six students from the 698 who were enrolled in the first week of school in 1985. This year there were 391 students enrolled in elementary school at the end of the first week. There were 364 entered in elementary at the same time last year. By Monday the number of students attending Lockney Elementary School had increased to 400. An interesting note during the first week of school at elementary was that one day during that first week there were an equal number of boys and girls enrolled at that building. There were 190 boys and 190 girls, however later that same day the enrollment changed when one more student was added.

Lockney Junior High had the same number of students enrolled the first week of school in 1985 and this year, 139 and by Monday of this week there had been two more students added to that number making 141 students enrolled at the junior high school on Monday.

High school enrollment is down by 33 students this year. In 1985 there were 195 students enrolled on the first day and this year there were 162. However that number did increase by four on Monday morning bringing the total enrolled in high school to 166.

With additions to all schools on Monday the enrollment in Lockney on Monday of this week was 707 and for the same period last year it was 701. Superintendent W.H. Hallmark commented, "Overall at the present time we are noting a small increase in the enrollment in our school system over last year."

Guy Roberson promoted by equipment distributor

Plains Machinery Co., a distributor of construction equipment, has announced the implementation of a new marketing concept which entails the establishing of four distinct market territories with vice president-general managers appointed to head each one.

Named vice president-general manager of Plains West Division, which includes the Amarillo, Lubbock, and Abilene, branches is Guy Roberson.

Roberson joined Plains in 1977. He and his wife, the former Donna Record, are Lockney High School and Texas Tech University graduates. They have four children, three daughters and one son, and reside in Lubbock, Texas.

"We are implementing this new marketing concept to provide a sharply focused, decentralized, entrepreneurial style management philosophy to the Texas market," said James A. Mezera, chairman of the board of Plains Machinery Co. "Under our new marketing concept, each vice president-general manager has primary responsibility for utilizing the company's assets in that territory in the most effective manner for marketing products and providing appropriate product support to the customers. It places the decision-making authority in responsibility closer to our customers and will result in better service to them."

Reynolds wins grid contest

Well the first week of the football contest is behind us and we have a clear winner.

First place goes to Willis Reynolds, a regular in the contest each year. Mr. Reynolds missed only one game, picking Olton over Muleshoe. He was the only entry this week to miss only one game and he will receive the first place check of $10.00.

Second place goes to Dr. Gary Mangold and girls. They missed only two games on their entry. They had picked Olton over Muleshoe and the Raiders over the Broncos. Picking second place came down to the tie breaker and Gary and the girls picked Lockney to win and a total score of 34 points. They will receive the second place check of $6.00.

This week's third place winner is Michael Means, who is also a regular winner in the contest each year. Michael also missed two games, picking River Road over Friona and Post over Littlefield but his tie breaker score was 31 points with Lockney to win. He will receive the third place check of $4.00.

Winners may pick up their checks in the Beacon office on Friday. In several entries this week it was noted that entrants had put a tie breaker score in the right place but many had failed to circle the team they thought would win. Please be sure to circle the team you select as the winner and make sure that you have a winner circled in each football on the contest.

Remember to thank each of the sponsors on the contest for without them we would be unable to bring the football contest to you each week.

Terry Keltz resigns as hospital administrator

Terry Keltz has announced his resignation as administrator of Lockney General Hospital. "After a great deal of thought and careful consideration, I have decided to steer my career down a different path. Following fourteen enjoyable years of service in the health care field, I have chosen to enter the banking profession. I have held a long-term interest in the financial industry and joining First National Bank in Lockney will provide an excellent opportunity to develop that interest."

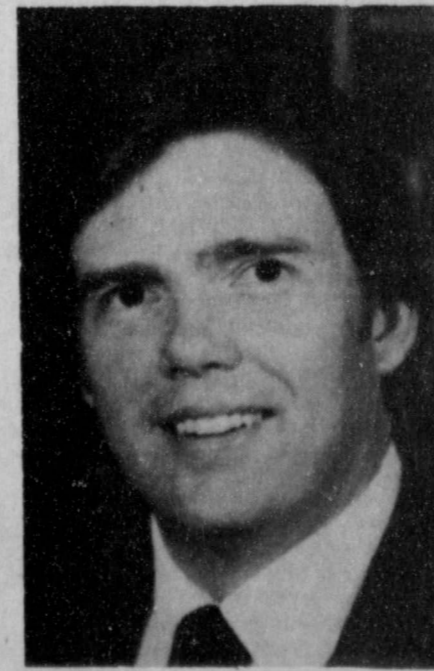

Keltz will be making the transition on October 1, when he will begin his duties as a vice-president, personnel director, and secretary to the board of directors of First National Bank in Lockney.

Following the completion of several strategic objectives, aimed at improving over-all efficiency and enhancing the ability to survive the current economic environment, the hospital is in a favorable position compared to other small and rural hospitals in the West Texas area.

"Although I will be leaving the Lockney General Hospital as its manager, I will continue to be one of its strongest supporters. I pledge my support to the continued success of the hospital and offer my personal time and resources to its future needs."

"It has been a pleasure to be associated with our fine doctors, nurses, administrative and allied staff, and the Board of Directors of Lockney General Hospital. The most difficult tasks I faced during my tenure were simplified by their unified cooperation and support."

Kim King, President and C.E.O. of First National Bank in Lockney stated, "The Board of Directors and staff are extremely excited and feel very fortunate that Mr. Keltz has accepted a position with the bank. He is a multi-talented individual whose innumerable accomplishments in hospital administration, combined with his outstanding educational background, make him a well-qualified candidate for the field of finance. Mr. Keltz is considered to be a strong community leader who is well respected in Lockney and in the surrounding area. We feel that he will be a tremendous asset to First National Bank and that Lockney will continue to reap the benefits of his community-oriented leadership."

"The bank, realizing the vital role Lockney General Hospital plays in the community, reaffirms its support and encourages Mr. Keltz's future cooperation with the hospital's administration

Coach's Corner

We were proud of the effort all of the Longhorns gave Friday night. Any time you can win the opening game of the season it gives you a mental lift. I think all of our players realize that Ralls was not as strong as they have been in years past however, and we should have no problem with over confidence.

Many players stood out Friday, but over all I thought it was a fine team effort. We still have not made a final decision in the backfield, and will probably continue to shuffle quarterbacks and running backs for the next few weeks still trying to find the best combination.

This week's opponent, Petersburg, will be much the opposite of Ralls. They are big, strong and physical. They lost their opener against Wilson, one of the top class A teams in the state, by two touchdowns 13-0, but both of Wilson's scores came on Petersburg fumbles deep in their end of the field. Petersburg is much improved over the last couple of years and it will take a great effort on our part to be successful. This will be an important week to have as many people as possible come to the game, because it is Petersburg's homecoming and they will have a large crowd backing them. Please support the Horns with your attendance Friday night.

Thursday our Jr. High will scrimmage Petersburg starting at about 4:30. Then at about 6:30 our J.V. will play Hart in their first game of the season. See you Friday night.

City council approves junk car ordinance

The city council held its regular monthly meeting on September 4 at the Lockney City Hall. In the meeting, the council approved a junk car ordinance which permits the removal of any and all inoperable cars which are a public nuisance.

The complete ordinance is published in this edition of the Beacon but the gist of the law reads that the Lockney City Council has determined that the removal of junked vehicles or parts of said vehicles will be removed from private property, public property, and public rights-of-way and would serve the public interest of the citizens of Lockney.

The Lockney police department will serve notice to those property owners who are in violation of the ordinance and those property owners will have 10 days to move the vehicle. If they have not been moved in the 10 day period the Lockney Police Department has the discretion to have the vehicle moved and to do away with the vehicle in what ever means necessary.

As mentioned above, complete details of the ordinance may be found in this edition of the Beacon. The ordinance will become effective on September 21, 1986.

In other action during the council meeting, aldermen voted to authorize the purchase of two new walkie-talkies for the police department.

Also discussed was a reciprocal police aid agreement with the City of Floydada, should they so desire. After discussion, the council agreed to study the agreement and also to appoint a committee to draft a police policy. Aldermen Kim King, Ronnie Aston, and Dan Smith agreed to serve as that council.

In other action the council approved re-appointing Claude Brown, Kenneth Tate, and Roy Howell for two year terms and Jim Gomez and Jinna Sue Turner to one year terms on the Board of Directors of the Housing Authority of the City of Lockney.

The council members also approved the payment of current bills during the meeting.

'Nice' 7½-8 pound strippers landed from Mackenzie

"Nice strippers" weighing 7½ to 8 pounds were landed at Lake Mackenzie during the past week by Max Sticker and Randy Labue of Amarillo. The fish were caught trolling with a Magnum Sapala and a Texas spinner walleye rig.

Bass weighing 2½ to 5 pounds are being caught on black and silver crank bait at Mackenzie. These were hooked off points in deep water.

Lake authorities report that catfish are being caught on minnows and perch, weighing 2½ to 4 pounds. Crappie are "very slow."

Temperature at the lake was 74 degrees Monday, and the depth was 112 feet.

GIRL SCOUT PARENTS

There will be a meeting of all parents of girls interested in Girl Scouts on Monday night, Sept. 15, at 7:00 in the elementary cafeteria.

Troops are being formed for Daisy Girl Scouts (kindergarten), Brownie Girl Scouts (1st, 2nd and 3rd grades), and a new Junior Girl Scout troop (4th grade). If your daughter plans to be involved in girl scouts this year, please attend the meeting or call Brenda Mangold at 652-3855 or Reeda Cay Smith at 652-2338 for more information.

OPEN HOUSE

Lockney Elementary will hold its open house for grades K thru 5 from 7:30 to 8:30 on Tuesday, Sept. 16. Parents and the community are invited to visit the classrooms, meet their children's teachers and review curriculum materials.

WHIRLERS

Whirlers are having the regular workshop Thursday (tonight) at 8:00 p.m. at the M.A.C. There will be a business meeting following workshop. Everyone is urged to attend.

In times like these... By Mary Jo Fielding

When the history of public relations coups is written, Daniel Ortega's recent whirlwind U.S. visit may rate but a footnote, if that. However, give the man from Managua his due. By the time his eight-day tour ended in early August, the Nicaraguan had blitzed three cities, given at least nine media interviews, and had shaken hands like an honest-to-goodness presidential hopeful.

Gone were the grim military fatigues, replaced by sober, well-cut business suits. Gone, too, the grim rhetoric and more notably, the gaffes that once gave his handlers cold sweats. On a U.S. trip last fall, Ortega and his wife spent over $3,500 on fancy eyewear, prompting President Reagan to call him a "dictator in designer glasses."

Instead of bile, this time there was bonhomie. Accompanied by his beaming wife Rosario Murillo, Ortega strolled the streets, chatted with passers-by and generally confounded a State Department that issued his travel visa expecting further public relations blunders.

Ortega's ostensible reasons for the visit was to urge the United Nations to support a decision by the International Court of Justice calling for a halt to America's "arming and training" of the anti-Sandinista contras. Under its commitments to the United Nations, the State Department could not keep him out even if it wanted to. Despite the hostility between the two countries, moreover, the U.S. and Nicaragua continues to exchange ambassadors and maintain correct diplomatic relations.

In those circumstances, the U.S. was obliged to grant Ortega, as head of state, an A-1 visa that allows unrestricted travel in the United States.

Texans buckling

Texans, who were buckling up at the rate of 10 percent to 15 percent before the safety belt law, have earned the national spotlight by buckling up in record numbers and staying buckled up since the new law went into effect last September, according to George R. Gustafson, Texas Safety Association president and spokesperson for the Texas Coalition for Safety Belts.

Observations in 14 Texas cities show that 66 percent of drivers of passenger cars and light pickup trucks are buckling up," he said.

"So far we are avoiding the national tendency of usage rates falling after the first initial public awareness of a new safety belt law," he said. Twenty-six states plus the District of Columbia have enacted safety belt mandatory use laws.

Dallas and Houston had the highest safety belt usage rates of drivers in 19 cities across the nation observed in a study by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) January through June, 1986.

In the NHTSA, Dallas was number 1, with 70.9 percent usage, and Houston was second with 70.1 percent. In third place was San Francisco with 52.6 percent.

The TTI study also showed that equal proportions of drivers in passenger cars and light pickup trucks were wearing safety belts. Before the law, usage in pickup trucks was lower than usage in passenger cars, according to the TTI work.

The TTI study showed an overall usage rate in the 14 cities of 66 percent for drivers, 56 percent for front seat passengers and 65 percent for the combined driver/passenger category (42,000 drivers observed).

Driver usage in the 14 cities were Amarillo, 65 percent; Austin, 75 percent; Beaumont, 60 percent; Brownsville, 63 percent; Bryan/College Station, 70 percent; Corpus Christi, 77 percent; Dallas, 71 percent; Fort Worth, 63 percent; El Paso, 64 percent; Houston, 69 percent; Lubbock, 63 percent; San Antonio, 60 percent; Tyler, 67 percent; and Waco, 57 percent.

"We in the Texas coalition believe that the positive and vigorous enforcement carried out by our local, county and state law enforcement officials accounts for a lot of the Texas success story," Gustafson said.

"The work of private and public sector groups doing local and statewide safety belt awareness programs is also a crucial contributing factor to these good statistics," Gustafson said.

"Of course, the most important benefit of these high usage rates is the decrease in fatalities in seating positions covered by the law. Department of Public Safety data show that front seat fatalities in passenger cars and light trucks fell about 13 percent during the first nine months under the new mandatory safety belt law in Texas," he said.

In Texas there were 217 fewer deaths in September, 1985, through May, 1986 (1,407), compared to September, 1984, through May, 1985 (1,624), relative to those positions covered by the law (Department of Public Safety, 1985 final data and 1986 preliminary data).

Social Security News

By Terry J. Clements

There are several agencies that use the Social Security number for purposes other than Social Security.

The Internal Revenue Service, for example, requires people to show their Social Security number on income tax returns. Also, the Department of Defense has substituted the Social Security number for the military service number for all members of the armed forces.

Social Security numbers are also required for any person who applies for or receives benefits under any Federal or federally subsidized program. Today there are comparatively few people who do not need a Social Security number for one purpose or another.

Among private organizations, there is a growing trend to use the Social Security number in their own numbering system and control records. Such use is neither authorized nor approved by the Social Security Administration.

There is no Federal law that requires a person to furnish a number to these organizations for such purposes.

On the other hand, there is no provision against such use of the Social Security number by an organization for its own records if the number is obtained voluntarily from the person. This is a private matter between the organization and the person.

Any organization considering private use of the number should realize that the Social Security Administration does not verify numbers or names or furnish other information from the records which would involve unauthorized expenditure of Social Security taxes or confidential information.

Square Dance News

Whirlers had a good dance Friday night with three enthusiastic squares. James Pettus from Portales was the caller. Refreshments were served by Wayne and Annabel Bramlet, Herman and Bonnie Graham, and Jim and Carol Huggins. R.V. Webster won the door prize.

We had 7 couples at the Federation Dance in Lubbock Saturday night dancing to the calling of Troy Ray. We were joined there by 40 other squares. Everybody who missed this dance really missed a good one.

We will have our regular workshop Thursday (tonight) at 8:00 p.m. There will be a business meeting following the workshop.

PUBLIC NOTICE BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS GENERAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 4, 1986

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 15 proposes a constitutional amendment that would permit the legislature to provide by general law for the apportionment of the value of railroad rolling stock among the counties in which the property of the railroad is located for purposes of property taxation, and would delete the requirement that the Comptroller participate in making the allocation. To comply with both statutory and constitutional law, the apportionment currently is being made by the State Property Tax Board in conjunction with the Comptroller.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to allow the legislature to provide by general law for the apportionment of the value of railroad rolling stock among counties for purposes of property taxation."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 33 proposes a constitutional amendment that would replace the constitutional requirement that the subject of a bill be expressed in its title with a mandate that each house of the legislature adopt rules of procedure that would require the subject of each bill to be expressed in its title in a manner that gives the legislature and the public reasonable notice of that subject. Determining compliance with the rule would be the responsibility of the legislature. Currently, a law is invalidated if a court finds its caption is defective. The amendment would provide that past and future enactments may not be held void on the basis of an insufficient title.

The amendment also would eliminate the suggestion that the state's laws be revised every ten years, and instead would provide for continuing revision of state laws.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment requiring each house to include in its rules of procedure a rule that each bill contain a title expressing the bill's subject, and providing for the continuing revision of state laws."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 73 proposes a constitutional amendment that would permit the Legislature to authorize any county, city, town, or other political subdivision to use public funds or credit to pay insurance premiums on non-assessable life, health, or accident policies. Due to the prohibition in the constitution against the lending of credit and granting of public money, political subdivisions currently are prohibited from becoming shareholders in associations such as mutual-insurance companies, in which policyholders are shareholders. A non-assessable mutual insurance policy does not allow a company to raise capital by assessing the policyholder an extra amount on a pre-

Sam Houston State University, with 10,000 students and 400 faculty members is located in Huntsville.

This amendment will allow mutual insurance companies and stock companies to bid for life and health group policies of political subdivisions. Public liability will be limited to the payment of premiums specified in the contract.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment allowing political subdivisions the opportunity to engage in and transact business with authorized mutual insurance companies in the same manner as with other insurance companies."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 4 proposes a constitutional amendment that would repeal the prohibition against branch banking by state banks and would allow state banks and national banks domiciled in this state to establish and operate banking facilities at locations within the county or city where they are domiciled. The amendment would also authorize the Legislature to permit a state bank or a national bank domiciled in this state to engage in business at more than one place if it acquires a failed state bank or national bank domiciled in this state.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to provide that a bank may offer full service banking at more than one location within the city or county where its principal facility is located, subject to limitations and restrictions provided by law."

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR WASTE DISPOSAL PERMIT

CITY OF LOCKNEY, P.O. Box 387, Lockney, Texas 79241 has applied to the Texas Water Commission for a permit (Proposed Permit No. 10211-01) to change the existing perpetual permit to a current no-discharge permit format with a 10-year term. The proposed amendment would also change the limitation for Biochemical Oxygen Demand from 30 mg/l to 100 mg/l. The volume of treated domestic wastewater effluent to be used for irrigation is to remain the same at 200,000 gallons per day average. Irrigation rates for the 160 acres of City-owned land are not to exceed 4.1 acre-feet/acre/year. No discharge of pollutants into the waters of the State is authorized by this permit.

The treatment plant and irrigated tract are located southeast of Lockney, Floyd, County, Texas at a point approximately 0.1 mile south of U.S. Highway 70 and 1.0 mile east of F.M. 378. The plant site and irrigated land are located in Segment No. 1240 in the drainage area of the Brazos River Basin.

Legal Authority: Section 26.028 of the Texas Water Code, as amended, and 31 TAC Chapter 305 of the Rules of the Texas Water Commission.

No public hearing will be held on this application unless an affected person who has received notice of the application has requested a public hearing. Any such request for a public hearing shall be in writing and contain (1) the name, mailing address and phone number of the person making the request; and (2) a brief description of how the requester, or persons represented by the requester, would be adversely affected by the granting of the application. If the Commission determines that the requests set out an issue which is relevant to the permit decision, or that a public hearing would serve the public interest, the Commission shall conduct a public hearing, after the issuance of proper and timely notice of the hearing. If no sufficient request for hearing is received within 30 days of the date of publication of the notice concerning the application, the permit will be submitted to the Commission for final decision on the application.

Requests for a public hearing and/or requests for further information concerning any aspect of the application should be submitted in writing to Michael E. Field, Assistant Chief Hearings Examiner, Texas Water Commission, P.O. Box 13087, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711, Telephone (512) 463-7905.

Issued this 29th day of August, 1986.

Roundup at LHS

The Future Homemakers of America will start off the year with a meeting September 16 at 7:30 in the Home Ec. Building. Lisa Terrell will be serving as President and Sandie Allen is the Secretary. We would like for many more students to join this year. Anyone wishing to do so should pay their dues as soon as possible.

The Cross Country teams represented Lockney well in Levelland. The boys came in 2nd; Eddie finished 18th and George came in 21st. The girls placed 3rd.

The Longhorns played a great game Friday night! Congratulations to them on their victory over Ralls. The score was 36 to 0!!!

We would like to thank the Main Street Church of Christ for hosting the after-game supper Friday night. It was greatly appreciated.

The Journalism Class will be attending a workshop in Lubbock at LCC this Saturday.

We would like to welcome two new teachers this fall: Cindy Belt, Homemaking I and Food and Nutrition, and Tonya Jolly, English I. We hope you enjoy teaching at Lockney High!

edge of town that proclaimed it "Countryside, U.S.A., the friendliest little town in these here parts."

They decided they would hold a dinner and play some games and give away some prizes. Now they wanted to raise lots of money, so they decided to mimeograph their tickets at the school instead of at the local newspaper-print shop and asked for a free story in the newspaper, and a free story to tell who had won what. The newspaper man looked a little bit disgruntled, but said he would agree to that.

Then they discovered they could buy the chickens they were serving at the supper for 10 cents a pound less in a town 45 miles down the road. One of the Worthwhile Club members was going there anyway to do her Christmas shopping, so she agreed to pick them up for the club at no travel cost to them. She bought the prizes out of town, too, while she was at it.

Of course they used napkins and cups from the local bank, and the other paper products they needed they bought at a discount store just 25 miles up the highway.

The wives of the local grocer, local hardware store man and the local banker all worked on the supper with the other Worthwhile Club members so there were no labor costs.

Well, the event was a huge success and the club raised $500 for the sign.

But it never got put up. Why? Three of the town's local businesses went under that year shortly before Christmas. It was thought by many that perhaps the fellows hadn't run their businesses as well as they should have. Of course, without any businesses to serve, the newspaper and the bank soon followed suit.

The Worthwhile Club has decided not to hold its dinner again this year, even though last year's was such a barn-stormer. With the bank gone, they would have to purchase all the paper products. The club membership had dropped about a third, and the ladies feel there aren't enough of them to do the work.

And the grocer, and the banker and the candlestick maker? Well, they're all members of the Jolly Good Time Club in that town 45 miles down the road now. That's where they pay taxes, and contribute to the Boy Scouts and work on church suppers. Their business planning seems to be doing a lot better nowadays, too.

Well, it's not for me to say, but I wonder what would have happened to Countryside U.S.A. if the Worthwhile Club and other organizations in the town had decided they would not only raise money for worthwhile causes, but would also consider keeping the local businesses healthy as one of their causes.

What if they had made $200 in the fund raiser and had given the newspaper some money for ads and bought those chickens at the higher price locally? Maybe they should have given a gentle nudge to the lady who was going down the road to do her Christmas shopping to look in at the local stores to see if she could find anything to fill the bill. What if they had given scrip money at the local stores as prizes?

It might have taken them two years to raise the money for the sign, but maybe then there would have been a town to put the sign up for. And maybe the best work that the club could have done would have been to patronize the local merchants and keep the town alive and healthy. — The Canadian Record

COMMON PROBLEM

In the depressed oil patch a story is making the rounds about an unemployed petroleum engineer, desperately seeking work, accepting a job at a Texas zoo impersonating a kangaroo. He hopped about so well that he accidentally jumped over the wall surrounding the lions' pit and attracted the attention of a ferocious looking beast.

After the kangaroo impersonator's attempt to climb out of the pit was unsuccessful, he ripped off the top of his kangaroo suit and yelled to anyone who would listen: "Help, help, I'm a man, not a kangaroo."

As the yelling continued, the lion edged up to him and growled: "Shut up, you fool. Do you think you are the only unemployed engineer in the zoo?"

JUNK MAIL 6 FEET TALL, WEIGHS 175

If you have ever wondered whether a year's "junk mail" could exceed a normal person's height and weight, the president and CEO of Lee Enterprises, Inc., has an answer. "Yes".

Towering over 6 feet and weighing 175.8 pounds are the 1,403 pieces of third-class mail Lloyd G. Schermer received at his Davenport, Iowa, home.

What annoys Schermer is that the Postal Service helped direct mailers offer his family almost $7 million worth of goods and services AVAILABLE LOCALLY.

"Not only are we paying for the privilege of allowing the Postal Service to take our advertising customers, but we're also paying the government to take business from our local and regional retailers," he says. Small publications, such as The Beacon, which are trying to stay afloat — some have already closed their doors and others, again like The Beacon, may be nearing that point — are being hurt drastically by "junk mail", with an assist from Uncle Sam. Strangely, we've never known of "junk mail" carrying public service articles and pictures, even for the Postal Service!

TO EACH HIS OWN

Among our most valued possessions are our three pets, two Presbyterian cats and a Baptist puppy.

Although we give them identical care, they respond differently.

The cats are aloof, independent. Only occasionally do they show affection. At times of their own choosing, they climb into our lap, invite our stroking.

They are suspicious, often untrusting, interpreting a quick body movement as an unfriendly gesture.

They appear to be unappreciative, gladly accepting our roof, our food, and our litter, but with never an expressed word or even look of appreciation or gratitude.

In a moment of nervousness or fear they may claw us, unintentionally, no doubt, but no word of apology, or look of remorse.

They take their time in coming when we call. They never seem to smile, but do exhibit a look of tranquility when all is well.

The puppy is something else. While his foster sisters are cool and independent, he is warm, happy and laughs continually except when he's asleep.

Extremely affectionate, he insists on being as near to us as possible, whimpering if we leave the room even momentarily. Even in the car, he insists on sitting in our lap . . . and we are constantly vulnerable to a sudden helping of "sugar."

Appreciative of even the smallest of blessings, the wag of his tail and his smile speak his perpetual gratitude.

He likes to chew on our hand, and when his sharp teeth cause us to register pain (for his benefit), he quickly begins to "kiss" the injured finger.

But different as they are, the three have one thing in common . . . they all have accepted us as their "master." They look to us alone for their needs and in their own ways express their devotion.

They react differently not because their feelings toward us are different but because they were created with different personalities.

We cannot expect a cat to act like a dog and vice versa. It is our responsibility to remember that the cats are cats and the puppy is a puppy. We would be both disappointed and unfair if we measured their own personalities by that of the other animal.

Despite their differences, of one thing we are sure. Each animal loves us in its own way. And our feeling for each is equal. We accept each according to his own nature and disposition.

Wonder if God is not much the same as he looks down on "cool and unemotional" Presbyterians and "testifying" and "aisle walking" Baptists? Problems invariably arise when we try to make the personalities of others conform to our own. —H.M. Baggally, The Tulia Herald

POST VANDALISM

Vandalism downtown continues to frustrate merchants who are trying to spruce up.

The most recent recurring problem is the dumping of the planters in front of downtown stores. The planters have been good additions to the scenery, and merchants have taken care to make their store fronts look attractive . . . only to have vandals come along late at night and pull up the flowers or turn over the planters.

Sheriff's deputies can not be expected to maintain a constant vigil downtown . . . so the creeps who think this kind of behavior is fun, do their stuff at will.

In the past, merchants have had similar problems with vandals shooting at store windows and generally trashing out our downtown.

With Post competing to be a Main Street city, it is important that we take action to correct this problem.

I have suggested in the past that perhaps we need a walking night watch patrol . . . a person with a lot of common sense and the energy to walk continuously down one side of the street and then down the other side, with no mandate other than to report any illegal behavior to the sheriff's dispatcher.

This night watchman would not be armed and could communicate directly to the dispatcher by portable radio.

I envision the night watchman (or night watchwoman) being the kind of person who would observe and walk, taking note of vandalism attempts, and report the incident immediately.

This person would not need to be deputized or be required to have any law enforcement training, just walk and watch.

Just having a mature adult walking our Main Street would probably deter any would-be vandals.

Anyone out there think this is a good idea? If so, let's round up some support and get the money together to find the right person. — Wes Burnett, Post Dispatch

PUBLIC OPINION

This column has ridiculed public opinion pollsters of late. I can't beat 'em, so I've joined up.

I asked 10 people in Haskell: "Do you think the senate should confirm the appointment of William Rehnquist as chief justice of the Supreme Court?" Here are the scientific results:

Yes, 0; no, 0; who?, 3; who cares?, 7.

I had so much fun with that one, I decided to go ahead and conduct polls on a variety of subjects.

One hundred and ten percent of the local football fans predict that the Haskell Indians will have a great season. Ten people were asked: "Who do you think will win district 7AA football championship in 1986?"

Here are the results: Stamford, 0; Hamlin, 0; Anson, 0; Hawley, 0; Albany, 0; Haskell, 11.

(One overzealous Indian booster replied: "Haskell! Haskell!" My computer interpreted that as two votes.)

Finally: "Who is your favorite newspaper columnist?"

The envelope please: Jack Anderson, 4; Erma Bombeck, 3; Art Buchwald, 2; Wendell Faight, 1.

(In this particular survey, I made a slight geographic deviation. In order to broaden the base of opinion, I mailed a ballot to my mother in Oklahoma.)

So there you have it, an honest-to-goodness assessment of the pulse beat of the people of Haskell. But just to protect myself against a repeat of Gallup's 1948 disaster, I'd better add this disclaimer: The above polls have a sampling error factor of 100 percentage points, plus or minus. — Wendell Faight—Haskell Free Press

Social Security News

By Terry J. Clements

People who work in employment covered by Social Security should check their work record every three years to make sure the records are correct.

This is especially important if the person changes jobs often or has more than one job. A free form is available at any Social Security office which a person can use to request a statement of his earnings as recorded in Social Security records.

A person's earnings record is very important. Eligibility for and the amount of any benefits due will be based on the information contained in that record.

Once a person receives a statement of earnings, he or she should check it carefully to make sure the proper amount of earnings has been reported to Social Security. If the person's own records do not agree with the amounts shown on the statement, he or she should contact a Social Security office right away.

This is important because most corrections to an earnings record must be reported to the Social Security Administration within three years, three months, and fifteen days after the end of the year the earnings were paid. The person should provide his or her own records of the earnings that are available so that an investigation can be made.

More information about social security earnings can be obtained at the social security office at 1401-B West 5th street, or you may call us at 293-9623.

Farmers must insure small grains by September 30

Texas farmers have until the last day of September to buy multi-peril crop insurance for small grains.

"Crop insurance is basically a risk management strategy in which a farmer pays a premium to protect against large, unpredictable yield losses," says Dr. Ashley Lovell of Stephenville, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Crop insurance can assure a farmer of a minimal cash flow in case of a major crop loss so that he will have a chance to farm the next year," adds the economist.

Producers who insured their small grain crops last year will have their contracts renewed automatically unless they cancel them, Lovell points out. However, any changes in the level of coverage or price election must be made by Sept. 30.

Multi-peril crop insurance for 1986-87 wheat, oats and barley will be available only under the Actual Production History (APH) program, Lovell explains. Under APH, yield guarantees are based on actual production records of the insured or grower rather than on county average yields as was the case previously under the area coverage plan. This means that a farmer must provide evidence of previous years' production and acreages.

Selecting crop insurance requires choosing a price election and a yield guarantee of either 50, 65 or 75 percent of the insurable yield which reflects the past production history, explains the economist. Price elections are $1.00, $1.25 or $1.50 a bushel for barley; 60 cents, 80 cents or $1.05 for oats; and $1.50, $2.00 or $2.60 a bushel for wheat. The combination of yield guarantee and price election determines the level of insurance coverage and cost of the premium.

Lovell reminds farmers that the premium cost for this insurance reflects the federal subsidy of the premium.

Interested producers can obtain additional information by contacting a local firm that offers multi-peril crop insurance.

Have a good day

not visible from the street or other public or private property; a vehicle or part thereof which is stored or parked in a lawful manner on private property in connection with the business of a licensed vehicle dealer or a junkyard; or unlicensed, operable or inoperable antique and special interest vehicles stored by a collector on his property, provided that the vehicles and the outdoor storage areas are maintained in such a manner that they do not constitute a health hazard and are screened from ordinary public view by means of a fence, rapidly growing trees, shrubbery, or other appropriate means.

Section 7. The administration of this ordinance shall be vested in the Police Department of the City of Lockney, Texas, except that the removal of the vehicles or parts thereof from property may be by any other duly authorized person acting on behalf of or instructions from the Police Department.

Section 8. After the expiration of the notice period provided for herein, or after an order requiring the removal of such junked vehicle has been served upon or delivered to the owner or occupant of the premises on which said vehicle is located, the Police Department of the City of Lockney, or any other duly authorized person acting on behalf of or instructions from the police department, may, if said nuisance has not been abated, remove or caused to be removed the vehicle which is the subject of said notice to a suitable storage area designated by the City Secretary of the City of Lockney, Texas. Such vehicle shall be stored in such storage area for a period of not less than ten (10) days during which period any party owning or claiming any right, title, or interest therein shall be entitled to claim possession of the same by the payment of the City of Lockney, Texas, the actual cost of the city of abating such nuisance.

Section 9. When any junked vehicle has remained in the storage area provided for herein for not less than ten (10) days, it shall be the duty of the Police Department of the City of Lockney, Texas to dispose of the same by removal to a scrap yard or by sale to any individual submitting the highest bid or offer received therefor or to remove the same to any suitable site operated by the City for processing as scrap or salvage.

Out of the proceeds of the same, the City shall pay for the cost of removal and storage with the balance, if any, to be paid to the person or persons entitled thereto (either owner or lienholder).

If there is no bid or offer for the junked vehicle, the Police Department may dispose of the same by causing it to be demolished or removed to a place designated by the City Secretary, or by permitting it to be removed by an individual who is willing to do so for the benefit of the junk or parts he can salvage.

Section 10. The Police Department may, in its discretion, file a complaint in the Municipal Court of the City of Lockney, Texas, for any violation of this ordinance if such violation is not removed and abated, and a hearing is not requested within the ten-day period provided in Sections hereinabove. Any person found guilty of maintaining a public nuisance as defined herein shall be punished by a fine not to exceed $200.00 and the Court shall also order removal and abatement of the nuisance. Each and every day that this ordinance is violated shall constitute a separate offense.

Section 11. A junked vehicle or part thereof shall constitute a public nuisance when visible from a public place or public right-of-way which is detrimental to the safety and welfare of the general public, tends to reduce the value of private property, to invite vandalism, to create fire hazards, to constitute an attractive nuisance creating a hazard to the health and safety of minors, or is detrimental to the economic welfare of the City of Lockney by producing urban blight which is adverse to the maintenance and continuing development of the City.

Section 12. The City Police may enter private property for the purposes specified hereinabove to examine a vehicle or vehicle part, obtain information as to the identity of the vehicle, and remove or cause the removal of a vehicle or vehicle part that constitutes a nuisance.

This ordinance does not affect any law authorizing the immediate removal, as an obstruction to traffic, of a vehicle left on public property.

Section 13. If any section, sentence, clause, or phrase of this ordinance is, for any reason, held to be unconstitutional or otherwise unlawful, such holding shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance, and all of the remainder of this ordinance not so held to be unconstitutional or otherwise unlawful shall continue to be in full force and effect.

Section 14. All expenses incurred in the abatement of such public nuisance shall be charged against the owner or owners of the junked vehicle. Such expense shall be payable in Lockney, Floyd County, Texas, and the City of Lockney shall have the first and prior lien on such vehicle together with ten percent (10%) interest on any delinquent amount from the date of removal of such vehicle.

Section 15. All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

Section 16. This ordinance shall be come effective until ten days following its publication, one time, in the Lockney Beacon, a newspaper having general circulation in the City.

ADOPTED by the City Council of the City of Lockney, Texas, this 4th day of September, 1986.

ORDINANCE NO. 244

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF LOCKNEY, TEXAS PROVIDING FOR THE ABATEMENT AND REMOVAL OF JUNKED VEHICLES OR PARTS THEREOF, AS PUBLIC NUISANCES, FROM PRIVATE PROPERTY, PUBLIC PROPERTY, OR PUBLIC RIGHTS-OF-WAY; PROVIDING FOR THE SEIZURE THEREOF; PROVIDING FOR EXEMPTIONS THEREFROM; PROVIDING PROCEDURES FOR THE ENFORCEMENT OF SUCH REMOVAL; AND PROVIDING A PENALTY.

WHEREAS, the City Council of the City of Lockney, Texas, has determined that junk vehicles or parts thereof constitute a public nuisance whether located on private property, public property, or public rights-of-way; and

WHEREAS, the City Council has determined that the removal of junked vehicles or parts thereof from private property, public property, and public rights-of-way would serve the public interest of the citizens of Lockney, Texas;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Lockney, Texas, that:

Section 1: In this ordinance:

- (1) "Demolisher" means a person whose business is to convert a motor vehicle into processed scrap or scrap metal or to otherwise wreck or dismantle a motor vehicle.
- (2) "Garage keeper" means an owner or operator of a parking place or establishment, motor vehicle storage facility, or establishment for the servicing, repair, or maintenance of a motor vehicle.
- (3) "Junked vehicle" means a motor vehicle as defined in Section 1, Chapter 42, General Laws, Acts of the 41st Legislature, Second Called Session, 1929 (Article 7601d-11, Vernons Texas Civil Statutes):
 - (a) that is inoperative; and
 - (b) that does not have lawfully affixed to it either an unexpired license plate or a valid motor vehicle safety inspection certificate, that is wrecked, dismantled, partially dismantled, or discarded, or that remains inoperative for a continuous period of more than 45 days.
- (4) "Storage facility" means a garage, parking lot, or any type of facility or establishment for the servicing, repairing, storing, or parking of motor vehicles.
- (5) "Motor vehicle" means a motor vehicle subject to registration under the Certificate of Title Act (Article 6687-1, Vernons Texas Civil Statutes), and also includes a motor boat, outboard motor, or vessel subject to registration under Chapter 31, Texas Parks and Wildlife Code.
- (6) "Antique auto" means a passenger car or truck that was manufactured in 1925, or before, or a passenger car or truck that is at least 35 years old.
- (7) "Special interest vehicle" means a motor vehicle of any age that has not been altered or modified from original manufacturers' specifications and, because of its historic interest, is being preserved by hobbyists.
- (8) "Collector" means the owner of one or more antique or special interest vehicles who collects, purchases, acquires, trades, or disposes of special interest or antique vehicles or parts of them for personal use in order to restore, preserve, and maintain an antique or special interest vehicle for historic interest.

Section 2. The Police Department of the City of Lockney, Texas, shall furnish notice to the owner of a junked vehicle or vehicles or parts thereof private property or on public property or on a public right-of-way requiring that the same be removed and abated within ten (10) days of receipt of the notice. Said notice shall further inform the owner that a request for a hearing must be made before the expiration of said ten-day period, such notice to be mailed by the Police Department by certified or registered mail with a five-day return requested to the last known registered owner of the motor vehicle and all lienholders of record and the owner or the occupant of the public property or public right-of-way whereupon such public nuisance exists. In the event any such notice is returned undelivered by the United States Post Office, official action by the Police shall be continued to a date not less than ten (10) days after the date of the return.

Section 3: Any vehicle which has been removed in accordance with the requirement of this ordinance shall not be reconstructed or made operable thereafter.

Section 4. Prior to the removal of the junked vehicle or any part thereof as a public nuisance, a public hearing shall be held before the City Council of the City of Lockney when such a hearing is requested by the owner or occupant of the public or private premises or by the owner or occupant of the premises adjacent to the public right-of-way on which said junked vehicle or part thereof is located within ten days after service of notice to abate the nuisance. Any resolution or order issuing from the City Council requiring the removal of a vehicle or part thereof shall include a description of the vehicle and the correct identification number and license number of the vehicle if available at the site.

Section 5. Notice shall be given by the Police Department to the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation of the State of Texas within five (5) days after the date of removal of the junked vehicle or part thereof, identifying said vehicle, so that the Department can immediately cancel the certificate of title to the vehicle pursuant to the Certificate of Title Act (Article 6687-1, Vernons Texas Civil Statutes).

Section 6. This ordinance shall not apply to a vehicle or part thereof which is completely enclosed within a building in a lawful manner where it is

Horns gore Jackrabbits in opener

The Lockney Longhorns began the 1986 football season with a bang as they shut out Ralls by a score of 36 to 0 in Lockney last Friday night.

Lockney began amassing its score total very early in the game when on the kickoff Ralls fumbled the ball and Lockney took over on the Ralls 23 yard line.

Jimmy Ballejo took the ball six yards on the first Lockney carry of the game and was followed by Matt Mitchell, who took the ball to the Ralls 11 yard line and another Lockney first down. Javier Bernal took the ball on the first and ten play and covered the eleven yards to the goal line. The extra point attempt failed but Lockney was on the board with a score of six to 0 with 10:19 left in the first quarter.

With 5:13 left in the first quarter, Lockney began its second scoring drive. Lockney took a Ralls punt on the Ralls 45 yard line and Matt Mitchell took the handoff on the first and ten play and gained ten yards for another Horn first down. He also carried on the second play and moved the ball to the Ralls 35 yard line for another first down. Clay Harrison took the ball on a second and two play and moved Lockney to the Ralls 20 yard line and another first down in the series. Matt Mitchell then took the ball on the next two plays and moved the Horns to the Ralls 13.

Ralls was then accessed a five yard penalty that put the Horns on the six yard line. It took four plays but on a fourth and seven play with just 1:45 left in the first quarter Rusty Teeter took a ten yard pass from Steven Cates to score the Horns second touchdown of the night.

On the extra point attempt, Joe Torrez took a conversion pass from quarterback Jimmy Ballejo to put the Horns ahead by a score of 14 to 0.

Ralls took the kickoff on their own 20 yard line. On a second and eight pass attempt the ball was intercepted by Lockney's Steven Cates which set the Horns up for their third scoring drive of the game.

With the ball on the Lockney 47 yard line Jimmy Ballejo reared back and threw a pass to Javier Bernal which moved Lockney inside Rabbit country. Matt Mitchell again moved the ball for Lockney, landing on the Ralls 12 yard and garnering another first down for the Horns. Three plays later, on a fourth and eight play, Ben Schuster was called on to try a 27 yard field goal which added another three points to the Lockney total.

With 48 seconds left in the second quarter the Horns were again put in scoring position. Jimmy Ballejo returned a Ralls punt to the Ralls 15 yard line and on the first and ten play Steven Cates completed a 20 yard pass to Joe Torrez which gained Lockney another six points on the tote board. The extra point failed and at the end of the half Lockney lead by 23 to 0.

Lockney's momentum remained after the half and they added two more touchdowns before the game's end.

With 7:37 left in the third quarter the Horns were faced with a third and one situation. Allen Stallings took the handoff and made the one yard run for the fourth touchdown of the game. Ben Schuster booted the extra point and Lockney was up by a score of 30 to 0.

In the fourth quarter Lockney had the ball for about three minutes and in the fourth and seven position on the Ralls eight yard line they elected to go for a field goal which flew wide of the uprights.

Ralls held the ball until 5:45 showed on the clock and then they kicked the ball back to the Horns. Lockney took possession of the ball on their own 32 yard line as Michael DeLeon returned the ball. DeLeon took the ball on the next play and moved Lockney to their own 48 yard line. On the next play freshman Michael Monroe was called on to carry the ball, and carry he did. Hurdling downed players and swinging wide of Rabbit tackles he landed on the Rabbits 30 yard line.

Parttime quarterback Jimmy Ballejo took the ball on the 1 and 10 play and ran 30 yards for the final score of the ball game. The extra point attempt was no good.

Coach Bob Purser commented, "Many of our younger players got some good experience against Ralls and they will need it this week. Petersburg is just the opposite of Ralls, they are big and have lots of experience. They will be tough but we have got players with the drive and determination to win. They are going to be tough but so are we."

THE REV. HOWELL FARNSWORTH was born in McKinney, Texas, but moved to Dallas at an early age, and attended schools there. He graduated from Sunset High School. He married Linda Sue Tate in 1960. They have two children, Phillip who was born in 1962, and Holly born in 1966. The Rev. Farnsworth received a B.A. degree in 1970 from Dallas Baptist College. He attended Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, receiving the M. Div. degree in 1974. He has served as pastor of Baptist Churches in Alvord, Texas, in Groesbeck, Texas, and Iowa Park, Texas. He became the pastor of the First Baptist Church in Floydada in October 1984.

'A New Challenge'

The school year is now in full swing. Our children and young people are getting back into the routine of class work, home work, football and all the other activities that go along with a new school year. We all want our youth to have a good year at school this year. We need to remember to pray not only for our children and young people in this new year of school but we need to pray for our teachers and administration as they direct our youth. In the Bible we are taught to pray for each other and to study hard to be the best we can be.

In the New Testament, Paul said to a young preacher in II Timothy 2:15, "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." Paul is saying to Timothy as well as to us that we need to be prepared for what God has for us to do in his world. We believe that God has a plan for each of our lives. God's plan for some is to farm, to teach, to be bankers, to nurse, to doctor, to be accountants and hundreds of other professions. In any thing we do we must be prepared and we prepare by studying. Paul wanted Timothy to be prepared to share the truth of God in a clear and understandable way so people could understand how to be right with God. What ever your job in life you need to know how to do the job. That is why we study and go to school, some of us for many years.

The new school year is a challenge for students and for teachers. We know we can meet the challenge and be prepared for the job God has in His plan for us. I know this will be a great school year. Be sure to encourage our young people and children this year. Pray for and stand hand in hand with our teachers and administration as they teach our children.

In Christ,
Bro. Hal Farnsworth

Offer creates changes in foreign trade fields

By Randall Robbins

The recent offer of the U.S. to subsidize grain sales to the Soviet Union will create changes in foreign trade relations and the domestic agricultural outlook. This situation is particularly important because of the impact the new U.S. farm bill is creating with the subsidizing of certain commodities such as corn and cotton. Since the use of price subsidies will be a part of the agricultural regulatory process for some time to come, this article will deal with the cause and effect of subsidizing commodities.

In the past decade the world price of American agricultural products have consistently been higher than competitive countries products. This has forced the overall decline of U.S. imports and greatly increased our use of foreign exports. This has created a serious imbalance of trade, which, as anyone familiar with macroeconomics knows, redistributes the wealth of the importing nation. The net importer eventually becomes dependant upon the exporting nations for its supply of goods while the exporter gains an ever increasing share of the importing countries national wealth. A prime example of this condition and its resulting effect is the boom or bust cycles experienced by the oil industry. Our dependency upon foreign oil and their cartels has spelled hard times for consumers (high prices as OPEC withholds its supply of oil) and oil business (as the OPEC nations dump too much oil on the world markets). Oil, however, is a non-renewable resource and as such will always be kicked around by those who have oil and those who do not. Agriculture, on the other hand, is based primarily upon renewable resources. If, therefore, an imbalance of trade is disastrous to economic policy, why should we as a nation be willing to settle for an imbalance of trade among agricultural products when we have at our disposal the renewable resources to not only be a net exporter but to be entirely self-sufficient with regard to food supply?

The new U.S. farm law is now being credited around the world as being disastrous for the agricultural exporting nations. Why? Because the slashing of price supports has made the U.S.

competitive once again. Export orders for this year's rice and cotton crops are running 35% and 156% ahead respectively, of earlier levels. Ontario farmers recently asked the Canadian government to levy duties on U.S. corn imports, charging that the U.S. unfairly subsidizes its corn growers. Other nations, meeting recently in Uruguay and Thailand, denounced U.S. farm policy. In response to these reactions, I believe that as long as these countries continue to buy our commodities they can complain to their hearts content. For the first time in years cotton farmers are optimistic, and their optimism is based solely on the impact upon foreign trade created by the competitive price for cotton that the new farm bill allows.

The grain deal that the Reagan administration proposes is aimed at making American grain more competitive, which of course is a good move for farm state legislators during an election year. Such a deal with the Soviets would not give the grain farmer any more cash, but it would relieve the surplus and storage problems which in turn would stabilize our domestic markets. We certainly need some means to revive our trade relations with the Soviets and grain is one commodity which could help restore our relations with them.

The treatment of America's farmer is always an issue during an election year. American wheat is still $10 to $20 a ton more than wheat of our competitors. Many of the competitors have grown so accustomed to our high prices that they often cite factors such as poor quality and dirty grain standards as methods to try and get us to lower our prices. Clearly some method is needed to make us more competitive in world markets. We cannot continue to be a net exporter of agricultural products. The use of our vast natural resources should be a tool with which we help maintain a stable domestic economy. This can be done as long as our prices are competitive. Admittedly, the cost to produce a bushel of grain is much higher for the American farmer than for other countries' farmers. However, a government subsidy to maintain lower prices is a small price to pay for the independence that the balance of trade can give.
