be controlled with a combination of DDT and BHC in 100 gallons of water. See your county agent for spraying instructions.

Landscaping Farm Homes By 4-H'ers Steadily Increasing

The annual number of Texas boys and girls enrolled in the National 4-H Home Grounds Beautification program has steadily increased, and the 1949 figure is expected to follow suit, according to the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work. On a national scale, enrollment has more than doubled in the last five years.

4-H Club members start out by mapping the farmstead grounds and making plans for improvement. They learn to use flowers, plants, shrubs, trees and grasses in landscaping. Sometimes dad and mother lend a hand in the job, and share the satisfaction of turning the farm home into a beauty spot. "Before" and "after" photos are taken to show results.

For the 12th consecutive year, Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen of Chicago is providing merit awards for 4-H'ers having the most outstanding records of accomplishment in the project. County winners will receive a gold-filled medal of honor, and the state winner a 17-jewel gold watch. Judged on a national basis, eight state winners will be selected to go to the National 4-H Club Congress next fall, all expenses paid.

Texas named 22 county medal winners in the 1948 program. The Cooperative Extension Service supervises the activity.

Stockmen Alerted To Danger of Pests

College Station, May 11—Hornflies and Lone Star ticks are a couple of pests Texas stockmen ought to be on the lookout for, warns James A. Deer, assistant extension entomologist of Texas A. & M. College.

Both are showing up on the cattle along about this time of the year, Deer says, and both of them should be controlled in order to keep up beef and milk production. Insects keep cattle in a nervous condition and often cause wounds that come infested with screw worms.

The most effective control for hornflies is DDT. Animals sprayed or dipped with eight pounds of 50 percent DDT wettable powder in 100 gallons of water will be protected from hornflies for at least 10 to 15 days. Two or three treatments of DDT in the spring and early summer and one more in the fall usually kills the hornflies for a year.

Dipping or spraying at two week intervals will put a stop to the Lone Star tick. Control should be started in the spring as soon as the ticks are found and continued until no more are seen, Deer says. A combination of BHC and DDT is recommended for tick control. The same amount of DDT is used here as in the hornfly remedy. Mix this with four pounds of 6 percent wettable gamma BHC in 100 gallons of water. Mix the chemicals first in a small amount of water, then add this mixture to the spray tank or dipping vat.

But whether you're chasing away the hornflies or getting rid of ticks, Deer reminds the cattle owners not to use DDT on dairy cows nor beef cattle that will be slaughtered within 30 days.

Livestock will be better producers if they don't have to fight off flies and ticks.

The May plentiful foods list includes: carrots, potatoes, canned peas, corn, citrus juices, grapefruit segments, canned apricots, fruit cocktail, eggs, cheese, fresh and frozen fish, dried beans and peas and peanut butter.

SUNNYSIDE H. D. CLUB

The Sunnyside Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday May 3 in the home of Mrs. Jess Lillie. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Howard Bridges. The opening exercise was led by Mrs. Lloyd Blanton. The exercise was a song pertaining to vegetables. The roll call was answered with an embarrassing cooking failure. There was no demonstration due to the absence of our county agent. The business was directed by Mrs. Howard Bridges. After a thorough discussion our County Home Demonstration Club has been disbanded due to the lack of an agent.

After our club was disbanded, another Club was organized. Our new club will be led by the same officers and use our original year book as nearly as possible. The Club is now "Sunnyside Community Club".

Refreshments were served to 12 club members and one visitor. The visitor was Mrs. Jack Ebling.

After the club meeting a birthday party was given in honor of Misses Helen Lillie and Jolene Ebling.

The next meeting will be May 17 in the home of Mrs. Harry Parker. The program will be "The Emergency food shelf". Those on the program are Mmes. Ray Riley, Larry Parker, Billie King.

water—and an awkward pickup of a long "drowned" line can easily break a good rod. A level line will do at first, but a double taper is better—a three-diameter is best. With either of these last, cut off the level front to about three feet. And begin with a tapered leader of six feet.

Plunkett's Variety Show Here May 16, 17, 18

Plunkett's Variety show, with ten members of the family to give the show company its name, will set up in Dimmitt May 16.

A new flamerproof tent will house the show on the lot. The show is sponsored here by the Volunteer Fire Department.

The Plunketts family has spent twenty years in the tent show business, in the west. Thirty people are in the company of entertainers, presenting a three-act comedy play and ten acts of vaudeville with a complete change of program each night.

On the vaudeville bill this year Miss Jerri Plunkett, songstress; Kennedy (Chubby) Swain and Billy (Toby) Crunch, described as two of the funniest men in stage show business; Cleo and Flo Delgado dance team; the eight Plunkett peaches, a line of beautiful girls in gorgeous costumes; Capt. Plunkett trained animal acts, featuring the seals and Congo, the trained Chimpanzee, Miss Billie Plunkett flying trapeze; Kalo, master Magician; Sky Ballot, Miss Billie, Miss Gloria and Miss Charlene; The Famous Plunkett troupe on the bounding Trampoline; One of the outstanding acts is Mr. Jim Plunkett re-enacting the famous minstrel show days; Bob Wager in his Imperson actions.

This year the Plunketts proudly present the Dick Darling Productions of vaudeville acts in conjunction with beautiful wardrobe and lighting effects, using Stroblite.

School children are cordially invited to the show grounds during the day to see the seals. Free.

tended on top of the grip. Pull the line in with your left hand to straighten it, raising the rod no higher than 30 degrees from its horizontal position. Then without pausing and increasing speed, sweep the rod up, (You can't, but you'll avoid a low backcast.) Then stop the rod suddenly so the tip is just barely back of your head. Now pause until the line is almost straight behind you. Then "shoot" your line—sweep the rod out and upward a little; this movement begins slow and ends fast. Aim several feet above your mark so the line will straighten in the air and not splash on the water or roll out on it. Practice diligently, and pretty soon you'll have that fly landing exactly where you want it to land.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Fly casting is easier to learn than plug casting, insists Jason Lucas, and the man should know since he's one of the country's best known angling authorities. That is, it's easier if you get good equipment.

The "good enough to learn with" won't work in casting a fly. Even an expert can't do anything resembling good fly casting with a poor rod, so why should a beginner think he can learn properly on one?

Get a rod that is at least reasonably good. See that it has true "dry-fly action"—quite stiff in the lower parts with action mainly toward the front. This is much the best for wet-fly too.

And remember this: you don't and can't cast the fly; it's far too light to go anywhere. In fact, the smaller and lighter the fly, the farther and more easily you can cast. You cast the line, so it must have weight enough to carry itself out. Always dress your line with a good floatant, even for wet-fly fishing, or you can't pick it up cleanly from the

Precautions Urged Against Coccidiosis

College Station, May 12—The parasite causing coccidiosis is too small to see, but the symptoms it causes in poultry, sheep and cattle are easy to spot.

The disease effects the intestinal tract of many animals as well as chickens, says Dr. W. C. Banks, extension veterinarian of Texas A. & M. College. The passage of thin droppings sometimes mixed with blood is one of the first symptoms noted in coccidiosis. The animals are listless and eat very little, becoming lean and weak in a few days.

The disease is common to most parts of Texas, and it is commonly believed that most cases occur in animals confined in unsanitary pens or lots. However, it may show up in animals on pasture, too. Generally, a contaminated water hole is responsible for such attacks.

Sometimes called red dysentery, this disease is best handled through prevention, Dr. Banks says. When large herds of cattle are fed outdoors, muddy wet ground around haystacks, feed troughs and watering places becomes a problem. Fill in the low spots and provide sufficient drainage so the ground will dry out from time to time. Remove barnyard fertilizer to the fields. This helps prevent coccidiosis and builds crop and pasture yields at the same time. A change in the feeding place sometimes is a good idea.

Since this disease hits the younger animals—from four months to two years of age—it is advisable to separate this age group from the older animals.

This is especially true for the calves under four months of age. Infected animals should be penned off to themselves and left alone as much as possible.

Treatment of diseased animals is best accomplished with drugs, mainly sulfaguanidine, says Dr. Banks. This drug is more effective if given four times a day. One grain of the drug per pound of animal is the recommended dosage. For example, a 500 pound calf might need 500 grains a day, or roughly one ounce.

The treatment should be divided into four doses, so 1/4 ounce at a time is recommended.

It isn't difficult to treat coccidiosis in animals, Dr. Banks concludes.

Journalism Nonsense

TINY: Lonnie can stay gone.
Bob Hope: People who throw kisses are mighty near hopelessly lazy.
Will Rogers once attended a fashionable Park Avenue affair in cowboy duds. A dowager in an extremely lowcut evening gown approached him and looked down her nose.
"My dear man," she sniffed, "don't you have any clothes besides those?"
"Madam," drawled Rogers, "I was just about to ask you the same thing."
A family was objecting to their high school son's girl friend. They insisted he ought to be a little more particular about the company he kept.
"I'm sorry Dad," the little boy said, "but she's the best girl I can get with the car we've got"

Christian Science Service Announced

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 15.
The Golden Text is: "This corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality" (I Corinthians 15:53).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away" (I Corinthians 13:10).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Let unselfishness, goodness, mercy, justice, health, holiness, love—the kingdom of heaven—reign within us, and sin, disease, and death will diminish until they finally disappear" (page 248).

During the first few months of a baby's life, he needs more nightgowns than dresses and pretty clothes. Nightgowns should be easy to wash, quickly dried, easy to put on, comfortable and warm.
