REVEREND E. D. LANDRETH CONTINUES TO INSPIRE CROWDS AT METHODIST REVIVAL

HOME D. AGENT MAKES REPORT

MISS CLARK REPORTS ON SHORT COURSE HELD AT CANYON LAST WEEK.

"The Pioneer Woman," was the theme of the meeting in a one day Short Course held in Canyon on Thursday, May 16th, for club women and for Home Demonstration Agents from districts No. 1 and 2.

"Pioneer Women of Texas may be divided into two classes" said Miss Mildred Horton, State Home Demonstration Agent, as she talked on "Women as Pioneers". Into the first class will fall women who blazed the trails of Texas, who endured hardships and dangers to make this country what it is today. "These women had more than their share of courage, loyalty and fidelity," said Miss Horton as she told the lives story of Mrs. Dickenson, the heroine of the Alamo and of Mary Austin Holz, a pioneer woman, and colonizer of East Texas. Quoting from letters written in 1831 by Mrs. Holz, "Every family has the best land, the best water courses, the best timber, and every family is satisfied."

"The table was always set with one or two extra plates for the stranger." "Homes were rich and none were poor, all the people were happy because they were busy." These things were written 80 years ago.

"As I see it, you can be a pioneer to day." Miss Horton told the group of listeners at Canyon. "You are pioneering in organizations for farm women. Yours is the first organization for farm women. You have grown since 1918 to 50,000 members. As a member of the Texas Home Demonstration Association. You are a member of an organization of power and influence. Last Summer you sent 2000 farm women to short courses to study for one week at Texas A. & M. College, College Station.

"You of this second group are blazing new trails of thought. You are changing tradition habits and customs of women; you are making it possible for girls to have better education," continued Miss Horton.

"Near Claude, Texas is remains of an old orchard" which was planted in the 80's by a pioneer woman and an invalid husband who had come from the East to make their home on the open plains of West Texas. Miss Laura V. Hammer of Amarillo in a talk on "Episodes of the Plains," told of the first home, a dugout, with a mattress and springs for a bed. But they were happy. They grew vegetables and truck and sold them in Amarillo, then a tent city at the end of the railroad. Supper was eaten at 10:30 at night breakfast at 3:30 in the morning. On days when this ambitious pioneer woman of the plains would load her wagon and start to market, a distance of less than 30 miles but in this distance there were 21 gates to be opened and closed. In this way these people bought and paid for twelve sections of land.

"A tent, through which the water poured when it rained was the first home of Mrs. Witsell the first woman of Potter county, who with her husband settled on the Fryng Pan Ranch near Bushland, their second home was a large half dugout. Their third home was an

NAZARETH NINE WHIPS DIMMITT CLUB SUNDAY

Due to the inability of the Dimmitt batters to connect with the offerings served up by the Nazareth moundsmen Sunday afternoon the visitors displayed a better balanced baseball nine and won the conflict with a well earned 4-2 decision. The splendid play of Raymond (Hack) Wilson and pitcher Cecil Hyatt were the only highlights of the local's efforts for the afternoon and caused the Dimmitt club to remain in the ball game until the late innings of the battle.

The locals grabbed the lead in the third inning due to Wilson's single and daring base running plus a long sacrifice fly, and added another tally an inning later to complete the round trips for the home cause. Nazareth batters began to get an eye on the ball and taking advantage of ragged support on the part of the homelings' defense play soon knotted the count and forged on to win the diamond encounter, the first between these rivals of the season.

Besides rather erratic fielding on the part of Dimmitt the greater part of the defeat can be blamed to the determination of the local hickory wielders to strike at anything higher than their head, which was practically all served up by the Nazareth mound corps during the diamond festivities of the afternoon.

A good crowd witnessed the game and enjoyed themselves to a great degree. The local team will likely see action again this Sunday although at this time the foe and place of conflict has been unannounced.

METHODIST REVIVAL GROWING

REV. LANDRETH DELIVERING POWERFUL SERMONS OF INSPIRATION.

The revival services, in progress at the Methodist Church, is growing in both spirit and attendance as Rev. E. D. Landreth, guest pastor from the Clarendon Methodist Church, continues to win the hearts of his hearers with inspirational messages of stirring gospel truths at each service. Seldom has the christian forces of the community been so completely organized in a powerful and consecrated move to uplift the moral tone of this locality as Rev. Landreth is leading in this series of services, as he sounds an urgent and appealing call to unite in the great cause of God.

One of the most appealing and popular features of the revival is the special music at each service, under the capable direction of Ed West. Two pianos furnish the support with special numbers adding no little to the appeal of the meeting. A most cordial invitation is extended to everyone to participate in this portion of the services.

The morning services are at 10:00 a. m. At 3:00 p. m. the boys and girls meet and at 8:00 p. m. the young people. The adults meet for prayer at 8:10 p. m. Evening services are at 8:30 p. m. The church and pastors extend a most cordial invitation to all to come and enjoy the meeting. It will be a blessing to all.

T. A. Singer and Pete Whitlow left Wednesday morning for Fort Worth and Austin where they will attend to business before returning to Dimmitt.

HALE COUNTY'S PIONEER ROUND-UP IS SATURDAY

Hale County's Pioneer Round-Up plans are nearing completion for the Seventh Annual Old Settlers Reunion May 25th, at Plainview.

The Palo Duro National Park will be featured during the evening's entertainment. Pictures will be shown on the screen depicting the beauty and magnificence of the Palo Duro, the Grand Canyon of Texas. J. B. Elliston will be in charge of an exhibit of relics from the Park Museum. Mr. Elliston has collected more than 10,000 pieces for the Park museum during the past fourteen months, which include Indian Relics of various ages and tribes, prehistoric bones and teeth of Dinosaur and Phylousaur, some of which fossils he states are probably sixty to ninety million years old. Paintings of the Park scenes will also be displayed.

The Round-Up opens with a Pioneers Reception at the First Christian church from 1 to 4 p. m. These visiting hours and reunion of old friends is an enjoyable feature of the Round-Up. There will be story telling by a few of the old timers who will tell their "best stories."

A Chuck wagon supper will be served from 6 to 8 p. m. in the City Auditorium, during which time visiting hours will be resumed.

A committee on registration will register all guests, giving those residents of the plains of forty years and over a badge of red; residents from 25 to 40 years will receive a badge or orange; those under 25 years residence will receive a white badge.

Old time music and other numbers in keeping with pioneer days will be included in the program, beginning at 8 o'clock.

TWO YEARS OF AAA MOVING TOWARD PARITY FARM INCOME GAINS FARMERS ASSEMBLE HEAR PRESIDENT

From The Castro County News' Washington News Bureau

The AAA, one of the first New Deal agencies to be established in 1933, celebrated its second birthday last week and it might be well to review its accomplishments in the effort to secure "pre-war parity" between the prices of goods the farmers sell and of those they buy.

Almost everyone knows that when President Roosevelt entered office, the index of farm prices, computed by the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics, was 55—with 100 representing the pre-war average. Wheat, cotton, corn and other farm commodities had dropped in price much farther during the depression than manufactured goods, and farm purchasing power was practically paralyzed.

When the farmers' index number was 55, the same number for goods that he buys was 101. Now, about two years later, prices of goods the farmers sells stand at 111 but parity has not been achieved because prices of goods the farmer buys have moved upward to 128. According to statisticians, this represents eighty-seven per cent of parity compared with fifty-four per cent in the spring of 1933.

The remarkable improvement in farm buying power is a fact regardless of the cause. Difference of opinion naturally exists as to the effect of the AAA, the drought, devaluation of the dollar or natural rises from a panic level. However, it is worth pointing out that prior to 1933 both political parties were in favor of some control of production to balance supply with demand.

It is also worth pointing out that, in spite of the near approach to parity prices for farm prod-

LEAGUE WILL BE ORGANIZED HERE

BUSINESS MEN FIND MUSCLES "AIN'T WHAT THEY USED TO BE."

In spite of a belated start softball seems to have finally made its advent into the life of Dimmitt and with it attendant muscular ailments to the legs and arms of the business men of this fair hamlet. Tuesday afternoon some score or more of the male sex imbued with the desire to try their hand at the game which seemed so easy for their ladies of the community hied themselves to the high school gridiron where they chose up and played through an alleged game of softball during which time they became convinced that the fair sex were pretty adept at the sport and nothing was quite so elusive as grasping a permanent hold on the baloon baseball.

But being also endowed with the will to conquer, in spite of the miscellaneous assortment of torn ligaments, mashed fingers, charley horses and other marks of honor, the entire group of rookies state they are into the game to the end and plans are progressing toward the creation of a four-club league. Pat Dean Motor Company and Kimbell Elevators have tossed their hats into the plan and will sponsor a team and other managers are expected to announce and begin building their roster before all the stars are already signed by enemy outfits.

Practices are being held daily at the athletic field shortly after six o'clock. Make your plans to list your sore muscles among those others at the next session.

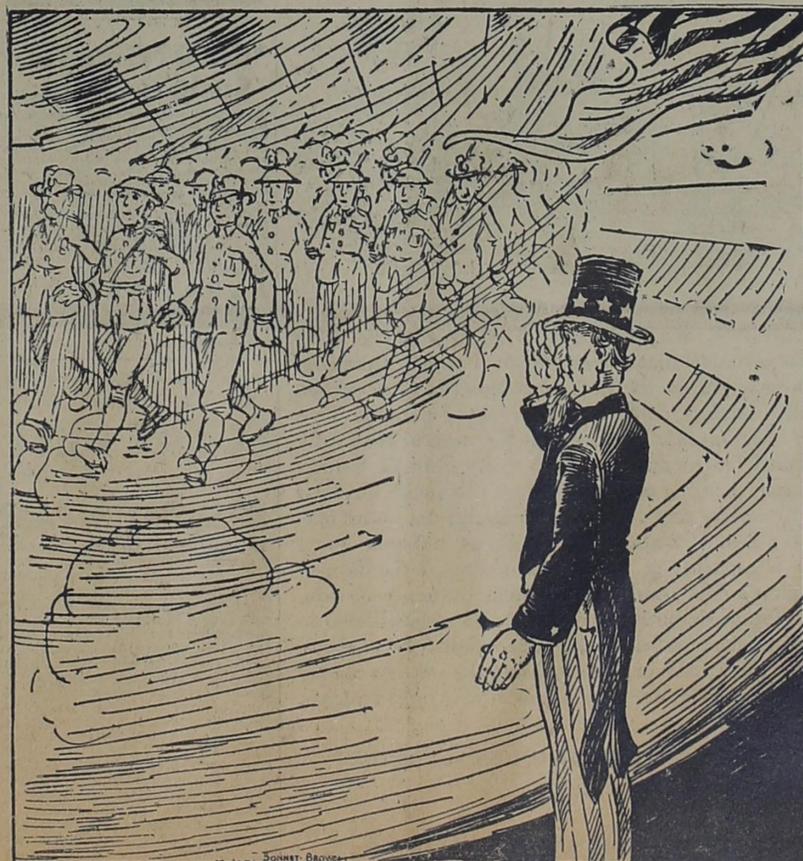

ucts the farm income of the nation as a whole is not yet normal. The fact that curtailed production is necessary to maintain parity prices indicates a shortage of farm income that can be measured only by the size of the reduction.

Farm income from the sale of principal products, plus governmental benefit payments for the first quarter of 1935 show a gain of twelve per cent, over the same period in 1934, according to the Bureau, which points out that farmers in thirty-two states made gains while those in fifteen states received less. Indiana and surrounding states are credited with the largest increases, and the heaviest decreases were noted in North Dakota, with reduced wheat marketings, and Maine, where potato prices were off.

President Roosevelt last week spoke to nearly 5,000 farmers from twenty-five states from the south portico of the White House, and received applause and shouts from the crowd, as he lashed "the high and mighty—with special axes to grind" who have been "lying about the kind of a farm program under which this nation is operating today."

The President drove home the lesson that the people of the cities suffer when the farmers lose purchasing power, insisting that "empty pocket-books on the farm don't drive factory wheels in the city." He poked fun at the ignorance of a few leading citizens and the "crocodile tears shed by the professional mourners." He praised the "Farmers' March on Washington" as a good omen and reviewed briefly the crop

CONSIDERING DIMMITT

Let us be sure that Dimmitt does not go mad in the pursuit of strange gods. Let us use enough common sense to understand the exact place of Dimmitt in the scheme of present things.

Dimmitt will not become as large as New York, or London. If it does the time is so far in the future that there is no gain to be obtained by spending our time in such dreaming. Dimmitt will, we may be sure, continue, to have a reasonable, steady growth. That is all we need.

Boom towns are not to be envied. With great growth comes various problems, suddenly larger than desired, and very often, unsolved. Moreover, boom towns have an unpleasant manner of exploding with a scattering of wreckage over considerable territory.

The Castro County News yields to no one in faith in Dimmitt. It is the servant of this community, but it hopes to be a wise, and not a foolish, one. Whenever The Castro County News speaks about Dimmitt it tries to be honest and sincere. It does not see a new metropolis of the world in chrysalis here. Our growth continues unabated. It is sure. Let us leave the matter of size alone.

A good rule for men in life is to attend to private business, letting other people's affairs alone. The same advice applies to cities. Dimmitt is not in competition with its neighboring towns and cities. It is complementary to them, and all are working for the upbuilding and improvement of this state. Each can, and should, make a contribution to the common good.

No city becomes great through size. Many of them have become infamous because of the terrifying problems that follow bigness. The chief justification of cities and towns is the convenience that accrues to men and women and children in their fight for better lives. That is the cause of the congregations of mankind that gather into urban settlements. All cities and towns should keep this cause in mind.

The chief goal for Dimmitt citizens should be the general improvement of our citizens, the betterment of their means of living, the growth of their culture and the development of the souls. It takes many contributing factors to attain the greatest combined good in all of these things. Economic phases are important, but they do not overwhelm others, and it is a mistake to assume that the economic growth of Dimmitt is the only growth. Let us keep our balance in an age that worships mere size. In the long run it will be worth while.

FARMERS AMAZE WASHINGTON

The nation's capital was amazed last week when five thousand farmers, from a score or more States, flocked into Washington to express approval of the AAA and to give form to a spirit of appreciation.

Washington has had many gatherings, such as the bonus army, the big business conclaves and other meetings, intent upon taking the hide off of some proposition or official but rarely has it seen the sight to equal that of these farmers in unofficial convention, praising the record.

Some mystery attached to the simultaneous eruption of tillers of the soil in widely scattered areas. Political observers thought that maybe AAA officials in the counties "suggested" the visit but anything like official support was vigorously denied. That the peaceful invasion astonished experienced politicians goes without saying and the thought readily suggests itself that this trek may not be without vast portent in welding agriculture into a solid political unit, to vote for agricultural benefits as the farmers view the questions of the day.

Secretary Wallace, according to the Associated Press, appeared and touched off a "wild demonstration." This former Republican, now Secretary of Agriculture, urged farmers to keep their minds flexible, saying that no program in the "only farm program" and attacked industry for wanting its tariffs while, at the same time, opposing farm benefits.

Clifford Day, of Texas, is credited with starting the movement but South Dakota farmers, who reached the capital at the same time, said they never heard of him until their own plan was complete. Sam Lassen, talking for them, gave the Big Business group something to think about, saying "when we saw that the United States Chamber of Commerce decided the processing tax was retarding recovery we knew it was time for us to speak up." He also declared that "if industry will heave over the tariff and sell its products in a highly competitive market, we'll be willing to let go the processing tax."

Any way you look at it the farmers convocation was striking notice to the country that agriculture is about to speak for itself politically and that it is about ready to fight for its rights in a country where the tiller of the soil has been progressively ignored until the whole industry of farming was about to go bankrupt and stay bankrupt.

SCHOOLS OUT

Vacation is near for hundreds of school children, college students, and teachers. After a strenuous session of work a little period of rest and recuperation is deserved and appreciated by all.

It's a pity that everywhere in life work, vacations couldn't be arranged, most of them like the teacher's with twelve months pay. Many men and women grind from start to finish of an earthly career and only stop at the final heart-beat.

Sooner or later in the progress of the world more leisure will be available for the working men and women in every sphere of life. What will be done with the spare time. Are we teaching ourselves to enjoy leisure in a healthful and helpful way?

In the meantime, here's luck and good enjoyment to those fortunate enough to have a period of relaxation and recuperation. May the summer vacation be enjoyed and may the next year's work be better than ever before.

We suspect that some urban Congressmen saw farmers for the first time last week, when the farmers went to Washington for their own lobby.

Auto makers are selling cars faster than they can make 'em. This shows you to what abject poverty the people of this country have arrived.

Sunday School
by HENRY-LESSON RADCLIFFE

THE LORD'S SUPPER

International Sunday School Lesson for May 26, 1935

Golden Text: "This do in remembrance of me."—1 Cor. 11:24.

(Lesson Text: Matt. 26:17-30.)

The entire Protestant Church observes the Lord's Supper in one form or another. It is the only sacrament which Jesus began himself and our lesson text gives us the account of its origin from Matthew's gospel. Its various titles are reviewed by Dr. Wilbur M. Smith, as follows: (1) "The Lord's Supper is a phrase definitely used once by the Apostle Paul (1 Corinthians 1:20); "The Communion," derived also from the words of the Apostle Paul (1 Corinthians 10:16); (3) "The Eucharist," meaning, literally, "that for which we are thankful," form the word eucharistias, meaning, "to give thanks"; used by our Lord in Matt. 26:27; (4) "The breaking of bread," from the phrase used in Acts 2:42, 46; 20:7, 11; 1 Corinthians 10:16; (5) "The sacrament": this is not a Biblical word, but came into use early in the Church, and by the Protestant part of Christendom. It includes both baptism and the Lord's Supper, though when it is used by itself it almost always refers to the latter. (6) The Roman Catholic word for this service, "the Mass," has no scriptural foundation whatever, and its obscure origin need not be entered into at this time.

"It is needful that we think ourselves back into that night, before we can obtain a right approach to the Supper of our Lord," says J. H. Jowell. "It is a dark and awful night, and its circumstances gave the setting to the solemn counsel of the Savior. This holy Supper takes us back to a definite historical event of two thousand years to an upper room where Jesus of Nazareth was sitting with twelve men; and in an atmosphere of feverish selfishness talking to them of his own sacrificial death. Our faith does not go back to clouds, and myth, and mystery. The Christian religion begins with the historic Christ. The table of the Lord takes us back, not to an airy legend, some mythical hero, but to a flesh-and-blood Jesus, and to actual events happening in Jerusalem."

Jesus arranged to eat the feast of the Passover with his disciples in Jerusalem. Although there is no definite evidence some believe that the home in Jerusalem was John Mark's. At any rate the twelve gathered with Jesus the night of his arrest and on this occasion he told them that one of their number would betray him. Jesus gave bread for them to eat and wine for them to drink, using these as symbols of the gift of his own body and blood.

"The nature of a sign, or symbol, may be made clearer by two examples," says Dr. Allington. "A kiss is a sign of love; a pound note is a symbol for a certain amount of money. Neither has any value in itself: the one depends on the sentiments with which it is given, the other on the power to pay of those who issue it; and no one can doubt which is the higher kind of value. A sacrament has some of the characteristics of each kind of symbol. We have no doubt of the power behind it, but because it belongs to the higher type it depends also on the good faith of those who receive."

"Since the whole Passover was a symbolical festival of remembrance; since, further, the body of Jesus was still unbroken, and His blood still unshed," says H. A. W.

Meyer, "none of those present at the table could have supposed that they were doing what was impossible,—that is, that they were in any sense actually eating and drinking the body and blood of the Lord. Again, the words spoken, according to Luke and Paul, in connection with the cup absolutely exclude the sense that the wine in the cup was actually itself the New Covenant. For all these reasons it can be no other than the copula of symbolical relation."

"The celebration of the Supper means a deliberate recalling of the teaching and character," says J. Golder Burns, "but especially of the passion of our Lord—how he voluntarily offered himself for, and in the place of men. Christ demands, not any mere facial conformity with a recurring convention, not the heaving of an elegant sigh, or the starting tear, all itself readily evoked, but remembrance, Remembrance, and ever Remembrance, until a tremor of reality strikes to the depths of our being, and, borne forward by an irrepressible surge of gratitude, devotion, resolution, and consecration, we cast ourselves once again upon the bosom of 'the Son of God, who loved me and gave himself for me.'"

SUNNYSIDE H. D. CLUB HOLDS INTERESTING MEETING

Large stripes are not slenderizing says Mrs. John McLain, at a club meeting in the home of Mrs. Ebling.

Large stripes are not slenderizing. But small stripes may add height to the stout woman. Sleeveless dresses are not for the large woman neither can she wear wide belts. Ragland sleeves are not for the drooped shoulders. A "V" neck adds length to the thin neck. A short skirt adds height to the thin person because it shows a long expanse of long thin legs.

The club will meet, June 5th with Mrs. Fennell.

Reporter.

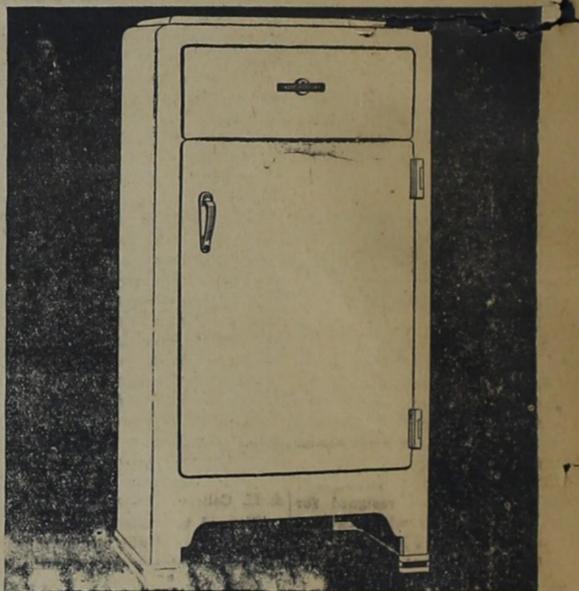

The Castro County representatives to the AAA conclave at Washington, D. C., last week returned Monday. Those from this county were Press Dyer, J. G. Davis and F. J. Axe. Each report a wonderful trip and express a belief that the movement will bring a direct benefit to the farmers of the county.

Ward Golden, who has been confined to his bed for several days, has recovered sufficiently to again return to his place of business.

The number of cattle on Texas farms and ranches increased almost 1,000,000 head from 1930 to 1935. During the same period the number of chickens rose more than 2,000,000,000.

The original of the Constitution of Texas was lost in Tennessee. Only the newspaper reports were ever ratified, and in the archives of the State today, a copy of the document, as printed in the Texas Telegraph, reposes.

adjustment plans for major farm crops.

Earlier, the farmers heard Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, who was evidently tickled over their visit and told them to retain the controverted processing tax as long as industry retains the tariff. The audience of farmers was as noisy as a group of collegians and ready to cheer the AAA, the President and the Secretary.

Chester C. Davis told the mass meeting it was "a demonstration of a united agriculture without a parallel in the history of the United States" and emphasized the farmers "can, and will write the agricultural policy of America."

Indicative of the sentiment of the meeting was the statement of W. H. Robertson, of Alabama, who declared, "We left plow handles to come here and are paying our own way. We are not pawns of high-powered lobbyists."

While it is not the intention of the writer or the function of this column to "take sides" in discussing political developments, the public might as well understand the trend that is apparent in politics. For years, there has been in existence a powerful lobby working in the interest of big business and solely dedicated to its advantage. The veterans of former wars have for years taken advantage of effective organization to promote legislation to secure benefits designed solely for them and the treatment accorded was veterans of this country testifies very eloquently to the power of this group.

The power of the Prohibitionist group, for a time more effectively used than that of the liquor forces, was organized for the purpose of influencing legislation by mass pressure upon Congress, and it is believed that Father Coughlin, of Detroit, hopes to develop a similar power over legislation in the interest of the proposals that he favors. Of course, everyone knows of the effectiveness of the pressure that organized Labor, representing a minority of workmen, can exert upon occasion. Inevitably, the farmers will follow the example of other groups and strive to emulate their successes.

In this connection, one might as well realize that any belligerent minority, well organized and supplied with some "sineews of war," can intimidate members of Congress. As every congressman knows reelection to office is dependent upon a slender balance of favor with the electorate, and the hostility of even a small but determined minority group often turns the tide against an incumbent. Under these circumstances, it is easy to understand why the congressmen are influenced by the demands made by these organizations when they happen to be strong in the precincts where they must secure votes to continue in public office.

The only effective opposition that can confront the demands of these groups or thwart their political threat must come from the President of the United States. As has been pointed out by Mr. Roosevelt and practically all of his predecessors in office, the Chief Executive is the only representative of the nation as a whole, obligated by law to regard the interests of the entire people and to act with sole regard to the general welfare of the United States. Naturally, there have been instances where presidents have failed to meet this responsibility and, as a result, selfish or sectional interests have been advanced at the expense of the welfare of the entire nation.

The President's veto of the Patman Bonus bill, in spite of its victories in the House and Senate, is an illustration of a President acting, as he thinks, in the interest of the nation as a whole and in opposition to the power of a special group. This truth should be realized by all those interested in the success of the American government, whether one agrees with the position taken by the Chief Executive or with those who think that the soldiers should be paid at once.

That the bonus will remain an issue in our politics until it is paid is not doubted. The pressure that can be exerted against legislators will be applied relentlessly and, in time, the necessary two-thirds will be found to ride houghshod over presidential opposition. In discussing this question and in pointing out the methods of minority groups to secure action favorable to their own programs and particularly in our observation on the bonus issue, the reader should note that the same question has been presented to presidents of both parties, with identical action being taken by them.

The average reader probably thinks that the stabilization of world currencies is not so important, but when one considers the importance of international trade to the welfare, not only of this country but to all the nations, and reflects that those engaged in commercial transactions that cross national boundary lines face peculiar difficulties as long as there is no basis for determining the relative value of national currencies, he will readily agree that world prosperity depends to a considerable extent upon a satisfactory solution of this vexing problem.

For several months the State Department has been studying the problem of neutrality but no public report has been made of any progress, although Secretary Hull has conferred with the President about the matter. Considerable support exists for the restatement of a policy to be followed by this country in the event of a serious war, with emphasis being placed upon measures to keep us from becoming embroiled.

Senators Nye of North Dakota and Clark of Missouri are interested advocates of measures to regulate passports and prohibit credits to belligerents for the purchase of contraband and to stop the export of arms to warring powers. Readers of this column are probably aware that the United States has for many years contended for the fullest "freedom of the seas," insisting upon its right, as a neutral, to trade with belligerent powers in accord with established international law.

During the World War, both Great Britain and Germany disregarded our rights with impunity, although the British policy of seizing ships did not involve the loss of life occasioned by the U-Boat campaign. It will be practically impossible, in the event of another European war for this country to insist upon its trading rights as a neutral without, sooner or later, becoming involved on one side or the other. In fact, in the eyes of many students, the nation becomes a participant in the war that makes this the case.

Something like a Federal Institute to war on the underworld, is suggested by the Department of Justice, which has made quite a reputation for itself lately in fighting crime. A crime laboratory has been suggested, with the idea of assisting and training police officers, aiding and training prosecutors to "beat rackets" and cope with modern crime problems, to conduct research work, collect statistics and act as a clearing house for practical information. Another suggestion is that a central radio station be used to broadcast police news throughout the country. While the plans have not been definitely accepted, it is quite probable that a National Crime Institute will come into being and render effective service.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Dean and son, Harold, visited in Thalia and McLean this past weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jones and children were Odell visitors the fore part of the week.

Rance H. D. Club Holds Meeting

"Whey punch, made with whey and various fruit juices, is often liked by children who won't drink milk," said Mrs. L. Rule in a report on the use of dairy products, at a meeting of the Rance Home Demonstration club which met at the home of Mrs. H. Behrends, May 16.

The making of cottage cheese salads and carrot custard was explained and recommended as ways of using the milk products found in the average farm home.

After a brief business meeting the afternoon was spent in working a tufted bedspread.

Those members attending were Mesdames L. Rule, J. D. Story, Ed Peacock, A. L. Behrends, Miss Myrtle Rule and the hostess Mrs. H. Behrends.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. S. Harper, June 6th.

W. M. S. ANNOUNCEMENT

The Hannah Sallee circle met in the church Tuesday afternoon with seven members present. A song, "Have Thine Own Way," was sung. Mrs. T. A. Singer led the devotional reading from the 37th psalm for the text. Mrs. Kirkpatrick reviewed the book being studied by the group and exams were taken, after which the session was dismissed with a prayer by Mrs. Aldrege. The next meeting will be an all-day business meeting next Monday, May 27.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Stafford and daughter, Miss Hallene, of Portales, New Mexico, visited in Dimmitt a short time Monday en route to Canadian, Texas, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Stafford's brother, J. B. Green. Roy Stafford of this city accompanied them on the trip.

adobe six rooms all in a row." "Mrs. Witsell then a girl of nineteen years introduced grace and beauty into the lives of the cowboys. They drove for miles to see her. One cowboy, now a prominent pioneer rancher still holds as his ideal of feminine charm and grace an apron with ruffles on it, the kind Mrs. Witsell wore.

"Mrs. Eleanor Carter, of Dimmitt came in wagons to Castro county in 1883. She and her husband brought lumber with them to build a five room house which was the recreational center for miles, at Christmas time the cowboys rode distances of 75 miles to share the good times of the Carter home.

These and other stories were a part of the talk given by Miss Hammer who said, "These women lacked the things in shelter and clothing and amusement which we feel are necessary."

This country in its early days was hard on women from the standpoint of beauty. None of these women have delicate complexions and hair. Their faces are grimey and their skins are leathery. But these women have a strength of character that has made them worth while and worth knowing. They suffered, but they did not know it. They were happy and all of them still laugh about those old days," said Miss Hammer as she closed her talk to the farm women of several counties.

Attending from this county were: Mrs. Lee Russell, Arney; Mrs. Charley Priddy, Mrs. Percy Hart, Mrs. Gob Whitlow, Mrs. Bird Cox, Mrs. Miles Cox, Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. Bill Johnson, Mrs. L. E. Nash, Mrs. Claude Stewart all of Hart, Texas; and Miss Izora Clark, Home Demonstration Agent.

Hints for the Household

Freckles or tan, especially of long standing, often prove difficult to remove. Since this month ushers in the open season for both these skin blemishes, probably a recipe for a harmless skin bleach will not come amiss.

Mix thoroughly three tablespoons of oatmeal, cornmeal or almond meal with two tablespoons of strained lemon juice adding enough witch-hazel to make a smooth paste. To use, first rub a little cream on the skin, then apply the paste. Leave on until thoroughly dry, then wash off with warm water, finishing with cold water.

Table Mats of Yarn

For all you readers who have made hooked rugs of yarn and have bits of the yarn left over this idea will be particularly appealing. You can make the most amusing table mats of them which are an excellent protection and very attractive as well. The tiny burlap squares may be purchased already stamped or you may get the burlap and make your own designs.

I have found that these are quite as satisfactory as the asbestos mats and, in fact, often seem to be better, (on account of their thickness, I suppose), in preventing the heat from the dishes marking the table.

Dye Those Old Slippers

Don't discard your soiled white and light colored satin slippers. Instead, get a bottle of liquid black shoe dressing or one of the numerous guaranteed harmless black dyes now on the market, apply to the shoes and let dry. Presto! New afternoon footgear!

Of course, after a few wearings, the color may start to fade but another coat of liquid is all that is necessary to remedy this.

IN FASHION NOW

Never has there been such an attractive assortment of accessories to choose from as there is this season. It seems. Gloves, bags, hose, shoes an the like are most delightful.

For the average woman, it is necessary to select a set of accessories that will go well with a number of costumes. This is not only a matter of economy but one of wisdom as well as it insures light-packing in case of an unexpected trip and elimination of the bother of keeping up with any number of different articles.

For the woman who has selected dark blue as the basic color of her Spring wardrobe, we would suggest the selection of chamois, natural pigskin or white accessories. The first two mentioned would, of course, be easier to keep neat and clean, but most white accessories these days are made of materials that clean well and retain their original whiteness.

1 cup of flour, sifted four times
1-2 teaspoon of vanilla

Separate the eggs. Beat the yolks with an egg-beater until light colored; add sugar, slowly, beating constantly. Beat egg whites until frothy, add cream of tartar and beat until stiff. Fold the whites into the yolk mixture and add vanilla. Fold in flour, a little at a time. Pour into an angel food cake pan and bake in a slow oven.

Do not let the oven get too warm because a crust will form and prevent the cake from rising as high as it ought. This may be served with or without icing. An orange icing is delicious.

Orange Frosting

2 cups of confectioners' sugar
4 tablespoons of butter
4 tablespoons of orange juice
Grated rind of half an orange
Boiling water
Mix sugar, butter, orange juice and rind. Add boiling water until of a consistency to spread. Beat until smooth and spread over top and sides of cake.

SUMMONS NO JOKE

St. Louis.—When Steve C. Salaban received a summons for jury service on April 1st, he thought it was an "April Fool" joke. When a deputy sheriff telephoned to order him to appear, he told him to "Come and get me." If Judge James Douglas had not had a sense of humor, Salaban would probably have had to pay a fine for contempt of court.
