Bobcats Eye Conference Crown After Defeating Tulia 20-13 Friday

The Dimmitt Bobcats continued picking their way gingerly to a hoped-for conference crown Friday night when they shouldered their way past a scrappy Tulia Hornet team, 20-13.

The Bobcats showed surprising power in the game to hand Tulia their first defeat of the season. Next week's Dimmitt opponent will be Friona, the hapless 62-6 victim of the Dalhart Wolves last weekend. Friona has won only one game this season, a 14-0 win over New Mexico Military Institute. They have lost to Muleshoe, 47-4; Portales, 43-6; Morton, 48-22; Plains, 30-0; Farwell, 20-0 and Tulia 34-0. The game will be at Dimmitt Stadium beginning at 7:30. Dimmitt needs a win over Friona and Dalhart to nail down the conference championship.

Coach J. D. Covington's Bobcats have apparently found themselves and are beginning to click. After knocking off two of the giants of class I-AA they are setting a different pace from their lethargic early season efforts. It took a Tulia fumble in the final several minutes of the game Friday night for the Bobcats to punch over the winning touchdown. They picked up the ball on the 45 and drove for the touchdown, exhibiting the power that had already picked up two touchdowns. Long winded James Cowell carried five straight times to score, capping it off with a scamper from the ten. Tulia scored first, early in the opening quarter, but that was the last counter in the see-saw second half. The Bobcats Donnie Nelson broke loose for a wild last scamper from the Dimmitt 12-yard line early in the second quarter for Dimmitt's first tally. The try for extra points was no good and the teams were tied 6-6 at the half.

The Bobcats picked up the kickoff and moved 61 yards in some ten plays for their second touchdown and moved ahead, 12-6. A perfect pass play from quarterback Jim Ratcliff to Gene Bradley ended the drive, but the extra point attempt failed again.

Things looked bad for Dimmitt after Tulia boomed right back to score on a sustained drive of 80 yards in 15 plays that put them ahead 13-12.

Dimmitt failed to move with possession again and a beautiful 49-yard punt put Tulia in operation deep in their own territory. They had made it to the 45, but were in trouble with the stubborn Bobcats when they fumbled. Dimmitt picked it up and went the distance for the score putting the game on ice with about a minute and a half left. Tulia made a game last-ditch try in the final seconds, but the game ended with Dimmitt ahead and the Hornets losing their first game of the season and any serious hopes for a one-owner title.

County Farm Bureau Convention Adopts Resolutions Here Monday

Wheat Acreage Diversion Plan Takes First Steps in County

Notice of payment rates on diverted acres of wheat were mailed recently. The allotment notices mailed previously had the 10 percent reduction taken out. There will be a payment made on this ten percent, but farmers must sign an application.

Besides signing the application, the farmer must also treat the diverted acreage as such and they must not exceed the acreage shown on the notice of wheat acre allotment if price support and payment for diverted acreage is desired and a marketing quota penalty avoided.

A farm with an allotment of 8.0 acres, but which has been planted as much as 15 acres in the years 1959, 1960, or 1961, may plant 13.5 acres in 1962 and would not be eligible for price support, but would be eligible to participate in the wheat stabilization program by treating a minimum of 1.5 acres as diverted acres and signing an application no later than December 1, 1961.

The following dates have been set to sign up under the 1962 Wheat Stabilization and 1962 barley program: Community A, October 18 and 19; Community B, October 25 and 26; Community C, November 1, 2 and 3; Community D, November 8, 9 and 10 and Community E, November 15, 16, 17.

"You are urged to be here at the date set for your community," ASC secretary Charley Hill said this week, "but if you are unable to do so we would work you in at one of the other dates with another Community. The Community to which your office, such as 74-035 A-2, which would indicate Community A."

The American Legion Auxiliary will hold a rummage sale in the Old City Hall building Saturday, beginning at 9 a. m. Anyone wanting to place items in the sale should call 647-3788 for pickup.

Dimmitt Band Receives Award

The Dimmitt Bobcat Band joined with nearly half the bands participating to win a "1" rating in the Region II University Interscholastic League marching competition Tuesday at Dick Bivins Stadium in Amarillo. Twenty-one "1's" were awarded out of 46 bands participating. Bands also receiving this top Interscholastic League award included Tulia, Dimmitt, Dalhart and Hereford. The Dimmitt Bobcat Band is directed by Ralph Smith.

Legion Changes Meeting Times

Due to many conflicts in meetings of different organizations in Dimmitt, Sal Dieuffa, commander of Greer H. Estes Post No. 445 of the American Legion, announced that the Legion meeting time has been changed from Thursdays to the first Monday of each month. The next meeting will be held on Monday, November 6th, he said. Legion members will be notified in case of special meetings.

ASC Asks Farmers To Wait for Sorghum Checks

"We would appreciate your waiting until notified to call at the ASC office for final payment under the '61 feed grain program,'" Charley Hill, ASC secretary, announced this week. It will be necessary that all interested producers sign the final payment application as was done for the advance payment. "We realize that a number of you have not been paid at this time, but we are making payments as quickly as possible with no personal feelings as to who or what community will be next. We know that all of you need your money, but we trust also that you realize that we are unable to pay everyone at once. Your patience and consideration will be appreciated," he said.

Local Trio Admits 25 Area Theft

Dimmitt was shocked and dismayed Saturday evening when it was announced that Mr. and Mrs. Randy Follis and Charles Houtchens had admitted to a total of twenty-five burglaries in seven Texas counties and New Mexico.

The flabbergasted citizens watched as the incredible story unfolded in newspapers and television stations all over the Panhandle-South Plains area. It was a real jolt to the people who knew the three as hard-working, industrious and law-abiding citizens. Mr. and Mrs. Follis were newlyweds and he worked for a local furniture store and Mrs. Follis was employed by a local dentist. Houtchens, 30, had operated Dimmitt's only photographic studio on Broadway for the past four years. Both Follis and Houtchens were ex-students of Dimmitt High School and had led law-abiding lives until for some reason they slipped and made their first mistake.

According to their own statements, they decided one night last February to search the small home of Harmond Arnold, an elderly bachelor who had just died, for a cache of money they had heard was hidden there. Sure enough, after searching for several hours, they found $3,868, mostly in $20 bills, under a rug beneath the dead man's bed. They split the money evenly.

They embarked, they later decided to try again, and before they were finished, the grand total ran to an almost $17,000 in money and merchandise. The trail ended Friday night when an Amarillo policeman caught Houtchens and Follis trying to break into the Sears and Roebuck building there. They had set off an alarm at the police station when they first touched a rear-door knob, and the officer stopped them while they were trying to force open the door.

They were taken to the Amarillo police station and booked on charges of attempted burglary and Dimmitt officers were notified as a matter of course. Sheriff Jack Cartwright, and City Marshals W. W. Jones and Rex Cowart, still investigating several unsolved burglaries here, decided to go question the suspects began admitting a series of burglaries that seemed to have no end. In Dimmitt they admitted, besides the Arnold robbery, breaking into Brown's Texaco Station, twice in Bob's Super Market, Trimble Barber Shop, three times in Mc Gowan's Garage, Kirkpatrick's Service Station, Dimmitt High School, and the attempted robbery of the First State Bank night depository. Most of these times, Houtchens and Follis worked together they said, although several were by Follis alone.

Other break-ins included Littlefield High School, Muleshoe High School, Hereford High School, service stations at Muleshoe, Sudan and Lubbock, a Friona dry goods store, a lumber yard and auto agency in Clovis, Price Hub Clothiers, Pauls Carpet Store and Roebuck (attendant) and the Vaughan Building in Frillo; the Canyon Bowl in Clovis; a bank construction site in Lubbock.

Officers brought the two men to Dimmitt Saturday evening, were past midnight loaded in four pickup loads of radios, color and portable TV sets, fixtures, carpeting scores of other articles.

Houtchens was very despondent. "I can take whatever I've got," he dejectedly told a reporter. "The only thing I face up to is the realization I've let everyone down who had faith in me. I don't know if I did it and I don't know if I didn't stop. I know this was a lot of people who were ends and that's the worst of the whole thing."

"I want to come back to Dimmitt and start over when I have a chance," he said in a low voice. "I hope the people here will help me."

Houtchens gave an indication the strain he had been under. He said "Anyway I'm glad over now. Maybe I can straighten things out."

Follis was matter-of-factly the whole thing Saturday. With some precision, he listed to many stolen goods houses he rented, pointing which was his or his wife's which was stolen.

"I'm glad it's all over," he said. "We plan to come to Dimmitt and live it down. We're not going to wear. We'll face it out." "I year old youth continued. "It's over. We'll make this did and I'm willing to own it and take whatever I've got."

Mrs. Follis, 22, did not return Dimmitt. She had been taken into custody in Amarillo when she there to see about her husband Houtchens. She later admitted helping with several burglaries they either used or stored homes. None was sold so far, including the clothes they were wearing. The money was a by spent as it was.

They had several close calls resulting in a Lubbock police call at the Follis home were never suspected as they continued their workday life. Unable to bring to a halt occasional nighttime forays locked doors.

Houtchens told officers Frillo that "I was reared in an home and I believe it will of God that we were. But in Dimmitt, where I all three well known and I word "why" kept cropping gain and again all week.

Old Country Schools Have Vanished, But Their Debts Linger

By PENNYE NELSON

Everyone knows the story of the rural school building, of how changing times caused them to be inadequate for educational needs and so were consolidated with larger, independent school districts. What people are not generally aware of is that some of their school tax money is still being used to absolve indebtedness on these rural buildings. Dimmitt is still paying on Big Square and Jumbo.

These rural schools were given up grudgingly in many instances, because a school, a church and a country store represent the focal points of any rural community. Once one of these is gone, particular a school, that community has gone a long way down the road to a lost identity.

While rural people may have felt they were giving up a great deal to consolidate, at least the problem of paying off the debt on their buildings was shared with the independent system with which they consolidated. Because the bonds issued to finance these buildings were written in some cases, on 40-year terms many independent districts over the state are still paying for these buildings, many of which have long since been sold to the highest bidder for a small fractional amount of the original bond issue, torn down and moved away. Some are still standing vacant, desolate and unused.

In more progressive communities they have been sold to the community for community centers.

In the case of the two buildings the Dimmitt District is still paying for, the Big Square building will be free of debt in 1963. There is $2,000 outstanding on this building. Dimmitt will pay 36.64 percent of this amount and Springlake, with whom the district was divided will pay 63.36 percent. Interest rate is 4 percent. The original bond issue was voted in 1942 in the amount of $12,400, and was consolidated with Dimmitt and Springlake in 1945.

Jumbo School was financed in 1926 with a bond issue in the amount of $15,000 and will not be paid for until April of 1964. There is a remaining indebtedness of $1500. Interest rate is 5 percent.

to consolidate with Dimmitt free of debt. When they consolidated the building was sold back to Bethel for $1.00 as a community center. It later burned and has been replaced with a new community center.

Cleo School was financed in 1936 with a bond issue of $9,000. In 1945 an amount of $6,800 was still owed on the building and in the following year of 1946 the building was sold to the highest bidder, Mr. M. G. Johnston for $1,000. Dimmitt Independent School District has since finished paying for the building which has been non-existent since 1946.

The only communities which still have school buildings intact are

Easter, Big Square, Jumbo, Arney. Districts that have consolidated with Dimmitt period of years are Cleo part of Big Square, part of side, Flagg, Bethel, part of part of Rance, Mulkey and Arney. In almost every case was some indebtedness at these schools were cons-

Same Allotment Covers Entire Wheat Program

The acreage indicated on the allotment notice sent to producers before the August marketing quota referendum is the 1962 wheat acreage allotment for all purposes. County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminds farmers.

This allotment figure reflects the 10 percent maximum diversion to non-soil-conserving uses as required by law to participate in the 1962 wheat stabilization program, they explained. It is also the figure to be used in determining whether or not there will be a marketing quota "excess" on the farm. If the wheat acreage on the farm exceeds this allotment - or "Permitted acreage" in the case of small farms, the excess 1962 production from the farm will be subject to marketing quota penalties.

A Committee Spokesman said that there has been some confusion among producers about the wheat acreage allotment, but there is only one allotment figure for each farm under the 1962 wheat program. This allotment figure - which represents a 10-percent reduction below what the allotment would have been under previous legislation - applies under all phases of the program - marketing quotas, price support, and stabilization payments.

Producers who do not comply with their 1962 allotments will be subject to marketing quota penalties on their "excess" production. Under recent legislation, marketing quota penalties on the 1962 crop were increased to 65 per cent (instead of the former 45 per cent) of the wheat parity price as of May 1, 1962.
