

WHEAT SEEDING TIME HAS COME

We know that early deep preparation of land for wheat is advisable. Ground that has been well plowed or listed in July or early August, and properly cared for after that time, will show a better yield than land prepared later than the dates mentioned.

Time for Seeding: The time for seeding wheat must necessarily vary according to the season and location.

For Kansas and Oklahoma conditions, the best wheat crops usually come from sowing from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15, provided that the seasons are favorable.

For Northwestern Texas conditions, later sowing has proven more successful, the time being from Oct. 1 to Nov. 1, depending on the season. Sowing as late as Dec. 1, often produces good results.

Good Seed: Too much cannot be said in favor of good pure seed. Much of the wheat used for seed this fall will doubtless be badly mixed and of an inferior quality.

Quantity of seed to sow: Wheat raisers continue to make the mistake of sowing too much seed. For Kansas and Oklahoma conditions 45 pounds of seed per acre is usually sufficient, provided that the wheat is sown in season in well prepared ground.

Treatment for Smut: It is a good plan to treat all seed wheat for smut, whether the seed appears to be free from it or not. The "Formalin Treatment," as set out in the following, is considered most reliable.

Secure a 40 per cent solution of formalin at a reliable drug store. One pound of this 40 per cent formalin solution, carefully mixed with 40 gallons of water, is sufficient to treat from 2,000 to 2,500 pounds of wheat.

The seed may be treated by dipping or sprinkling. To dip, the seed may be placed in a gunny sack and submerged or covered in the solution, the liquid being in a barrel or tank. The bag or sack of wheat should be allowed to remain immersed in this solution for at least ten minutes.

SENDING EXHIBIT TO PANHANDLE FAIR

The Randall county exhibit for the Panhandle State Fair will be taken to Amarillo today where it will be installed in the booth selected last week by Manager Joe Garrison of the exhibit committee. Mr. Garrison has gotten together a very fine display of Randall county products.

The exhibit last year was gotten together on three days' notice but attracted much favorable attention at the fair and won some of the best prizes. The exhibit was given more attention this year, but not nearly as much as those to be sent from a majority of the Panhandle counties.

CHILD BURNED NEAR TODRICH ON MONDAY

The fifteen months old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Blue of Burkburnett was very badly burned Monday afternoon at the Guthrie Garage when it overturned a small bucket of gasoline into a burning gasoline vulcanizer. The family together with J. R. Bruce and O. A. McWhorter were returning from Tucumcari in their car and had stopped to do some repair work.

The mother was sitting on the end of the bench where the vulcanizer was fastened and had lifted the child up beside her. Unnoticed the child got hold of the can of gasoline and had upset it so as the liquid ran over the bench, flowing around its feet and up to the mother. There was a flash of fire before any of the party realized what had happened. Mr. Blue rushed to his wife and put out the fire with his hands before seeing the child was on fire. One of the men succeeded in getting most of the child's clothes torn off when Mr. Blue frantically tore the child away and tried to smother the flames.

The child was badly burned on the back, stomach and legs. It was first thought there was little chance of recovery, but this morning it is resting nicely. Mrs. Blue was burned on the arms and face, while Mr. Blue has badly burned hands. They will remain here for a few days.

AMARILLO PROMISES GAMES AFTER FAIR

D. A. Park, treasurer of the Canyon ball team, went to Amarillo Monday to attempt a settlement with the leaguers over the disputed Labor Day game—but to no avail. The leaguers say the pinch hitter was out, in spite of the rulings of the National and American league umpires—and that settles it so far as Amarillo is concerned.

Mr. Park tried to get a series of games arranged for the future, just to show the neighbors Canyon had not forgotten how to toss the ball. Secretary Mayer was appointed to take up the matter with Manager Luke after the fair. The board of management stated that they would pay Canyon any Sunday, but Mr. Park informed them that Canyon does not believe in Sunday baseball.

So far as the money involved in the Labor Day game is concerned, it looks as if Amarillo intended to keep all of it.

Store Building Burned.

The new store building in the east end which was put up this summer by the Davis boys was burned Sunday morning about 4:30. It was vacant, and all of the windows nailed up. There are no clues as to how the fire started. There was $600 insurance on the building.

KEISER BUYS FINE IOWA HEREFORD HERD

C. O. Keiser has closed a deal with Fred Woods of Muscatine, Iowa, whereby Mr. Keiser becomes owner of one of the finest herds of Herefords in that section of the country. Mr. Woods is retiring from business or he would not have thought of parting with these fine cattle. He has spent a life time in getting together the best stock from the various leading herds in the United States. His herd was considered to be one of the leading in Iowa and Mr. Keiser is indeed very fortunate in being able to buy it.

The herd will be shipped to Randall county within sixty days. There are 175 cows, calves and bulls. Mr. Keiser will continue to breed up the herd as Mr. Woods has done in the past. He has won some notable distinction with his present herd during the past two years, first breaking the world's record with a bunch of heifers for range cattle, and later selling a bunch of silo fed calves on the Kansas City market which brought the highest price ever paid for Texas cattle.

COME TO THE PANHANDLE THIS YEAR

MAN has acquired a hunger for land which he can call his own. The supply is limited—the demand unlimited! Land values have risen to prohibitive prices in older settled states!

The Panhandle is Ready for the Farmer

Here is a deep, rich soil, ready for the plow. An ample rainfall and a most healthful and splendid climate. Adequate railroad facilities by which to reach the markets of the world.

A return to normal climatic conditions, a greatly increased acreage of winter wheat, spring wheat, oats and barley, an unqualifiedly successful demonstration that Kaffir corn and Milo maize cannot be excelled as material for ensilage, the "better farming" spirit and the results of studying and developing this land assures a prosperous year.

Farms can be bought here now cheaper than they can later on, at prices which are certain of a steady advance as the summer and fall emigration stimulates the demand.

My farms are all favorably located, as regards towns and railroads and give the buyer a wide range in selection. All the improved farms are rented to good farmers and will produce a substantial revenue this year.

I am in a position to give terms to suit the purchaser.

Card of Thanks.

Through the "News", I wish to thank the friends and relatives who have shown such interest in and for me during my illness this summer.

To say the least, I certainly do appreciate the same. New friendships formed and old ones cemented. Not only to those in Canyon, who have remembered me so richly, in visiting and the abundance of fruit and flowers brought and sent and many other kindnesses shown, do I want to thank, but also to those who have written so many letters of cheer and inquiry especially to my teachers of former years. A hearty laugh, a word of cheer, a good joke, a letter, a bouquet of flowers are equal to a sunshine bath to the sick—pass it on. All these kindnesses dear friends, shall be treasured in my memory like a happy dream.

We leave soon to spend the winter in Arizona. Mama and papa join me, in thanking you.

utes, after which it is taken up, allowing the liquid to drain back into the tank or barrel for a short time. The wheat should then be emptied onto a clean place and covered with sacks or blankets for two hours after which it should be thoroughly dried before sowing.

To sprinkle, prepare a clean place on a canvas or smooth floor, and thoroughly sprinkle the space to be occupied by the wheat, with the solution, before the seed is emptied upon it. Now spread the wheat upon the space thus prepared for it, and sprinkle the solution over it, shoveling the grain in such way over and over, so as to insure that all of the seed will be uniformly moistened with the liquid. Having thoroughly dampened the wheat with the solution, shovel the grain into a pile and cover with sacks or blankets for two hours, after which it should be thoroughly dried before sowing. Do not allow the wheat to remain wet too long after treating, as the germinating qualities may be injured.

Place the dried wheat into sacks that have been dipped in the solution, and it will be found a good plan to sprinkle the grain drill with the liquid before putting the seed into it. Exercise every precaution not to bring the treated seed into contact with grain that has not been treated, avoiding the use of bins that have contained smut infested wheat. The wheat should be treated but a short time before sowing.

Sowing: Sow all wheat with some reliable grain drill and cover with a press wheel attachment if possible. This press wheel attachment "firms" the ground above and immediately around the seed, and insures a Big Beef Contract.

 France has let a contract with American packers calling for 1,000,000 pounds of beef for 365 days. This looks as if the war was thought in France to be of long duration. Local cattlemen believe that this big contract will keep the market steady during the next year, with a tendency to slightly increase prevailing prices.

AEROPLANE STABILIZER INVENTED AT LAST

STABILIZER SHOWN IN LOWER FOREGROUND

EXPERIMENTING WITH ANOTHER FORM OF STABILIZER

LAWRENCE SPERRY, SON OF THE INVENTOR

LAWRENCE E. SPERRY of New York city has given aviation a new start, inasmuch as he has provided a way to rob it of some of its most insidious perils. His apparatus is an automatic stabilizer, which maintains the equilibrium of the flying machine no matter how fickle may be the condition of the air aloft. Don't let this term stabilizer puzzle you a bit; you can just as well substitute the more familiar word "balancer."

If you happen to have access to a list of aeronautical accidents during the last two years, especially where the heavier-than-air flying machine is concerned, you will find that the majority of the catastrophes have been attributed to "loss of control." Loss of control is merely another way of saying that the air pilot was caught napping or taken suddenly unawares, and before he could apply the usual facilities to right his machine the air craft was dashing earthward and utterly beyond human arrest. Perhaps it was a sudden gust of wind, the sweep of a cross current, or even an "air hole" that started the upsetting or tipping movement, but the result was disaster. The outcome is not difficult to explain if one half realizes the airman's problem.

The aviator, when once aloft aloft, has a task pretty much akin to that of the slack-rope performer. His machine can reel from side to side or tip lengthwise with the utmost ease, especially if the aeroplane be of comparatively light weight and of the racing type. From the moment the pilot takes his seat, if the wind currents be variable, he has to juggle continually with his wing-tips or ailerons to prevent too much lateral rolling, and, too, to a lesser degree, he has to manipulate the tail-planes to check any pitching or tossing on the part of the head of the aeroplane. The lateral control he exercises by showing his body sidewise against an enveloping yoke, and the longitudinal correction he applies by means of a lever, which he either pushes away from him or draws toward him, as the case requires. In time, the skilled airman does this more or less involuntarily, responding to the motions of his craft. Unhappily, however, his corrective efforts are relatively sluggish, and they are applied only after the aeroplane has obtained a considerable angle of heel or pitch.

It is perfectly plain that the aviator, at best, when depending upon his own initiative, but poorly imitates the efforts of a soaring bird, which can maintain its poise steadily even though the wind be fitful and the change of force extreme. Apparently, the bird does this without rocking violently in its endeavor to hold itself balanced; but simply because the eye cannot trace the sweep of its wing-tips, we do not see how it keeps itself poised. Mr. Sperry, by his stabilizer, has made this secret of nature flight clear to us. The bird is sensitive to the first, oncoming disturbing current and instinctively acts to offset it. By catching the upsetting force in its very beginning, only the slightest flexing of the wing-tips is necessary to meet the contingency. In other words, the bird never permits the wind to get the upper hand of it—it meets the approaching menace, so to speak, promptly and neutralizes it at once. If the bird were as relatively insensitive as the aviator, the changeable wind or gusty air currents would mean the same danger to it that they do to the pilot.

Mr. Sperry has substantially changed all this by his gyroscopic stabilizing apparatus, and how successfully he has achieved this end was proved by his winning the $10,000 prize offered by the French aviation commission. There were 57 competitors entered in that contest of aeroplane safety devices, and the American victory is one in which we should take a good deal of pride. By that success aviation broadly acquires a new element of practicability, and the flying machine will have far wider fields of daily usefulness open to it. We are now within reach of that state of the art where flying will be as safe as watching; the air pilot will have little more to do than simply to steer his machine to right or to left, or up and down, as he may desire—the stabilizer will keep him from upsetting and will even check him should he deliberately trespass toward the hazardous in some-wilful movement.

Now a gyroscope will ordinarily react against the external disturbing force, no matter in what direction that upsetting effort is applied. How then does Mr. Sperry make use of the gyroscope in stabilizing the aeroplane, and, especially, how does he produce harmony of action when he utilizes four of these remarkable little spinning fly-wheels?

The four gyroscopes are combined in pairs—one pair to regulate the flexing of the wing tips and the other pair to prompt the shifting of the tail planes. Now, each pair must be "dead" to the force which calls for action in the other, and, again, there must be an even measure of conflict between the two gyroscopes constituting a pair. That is to say, the gyroscopes for lateral stabilizing are opposed to each other like two persons facing and alternately pushing and pulling each other to obtain the right of way. Suddenly some one tries to clear the patch by showing them from one side, and, instinctively, to maintain their own balance, they unite against the intruder. It is just in this fashion that Mr. Sperry unites by seeming opposition each pair of gyroscopes so that they will be absorbed in their mutual struggle until aroused to service in the designed plane of mutual action.

Each gyroscope is not any bigger, including its casing, than a fair-sized fist, and don't suppose that the persistent tendency to hold to their chosen planes is in itself capable of exerting the force that directly pulls the controlling wires that work the several stabilizing surfaces. Their mission is to "feel" the need of action and to call into service mechanism of sufficient vigor to do what the pilot would otherwise accomplish by swinging his body or working a lever. In the latest form of his stabilizer Mr. Sperry has recourse to a power apparatus which he calls a servomotor. This servomotor is driven by electricity, and is a sturdy apparatus, instantly responsive to the call of the gyroscopes. To it are led the control wires, and these are operated immediately upon the first arrival of a tilting or tipping gust of wind. Without a stabilizer the aeroplane may be unbalanced a goodly number of degrees before the pilot is alive to the situation, and the movement acquires even a greater amplitude before he can check it. With the Sperry stabilizer, on the other hand, the flying machine is held to its equilibrium well inside of a zone of one degree.

Have you ever lost your way in a fog? Well, if you have, then you may appreciate the variety of ways in which an aviator may go astray when aloft. Once above the clouds the horizon disappears, and, within some limits, he may not know whether he is going up or down or whether his machine is heading. His poise, when advancing, is always an angular one, and he may think himself going straight ahead, while, in fact, he is actually descending.

But the risks in climbing skyward, without knowing the angle of that ascent, may be equally perilous. A small wind disk is associated with the mechanism of the stabilizer. This little plate is so swung that it always "feels" the full force of the arriving air current as the aeroplane sweeps on. It is associated with a pressure measuring mechanism, and this pressure corresponds to speed in miles per hour. This velocity is indicated by a little dial in front of the aviator, so that he can know, if watchful, how fast his craft is going and whether or not there is lifting force enough against the aeroplane's wings to keep the machine safely aloft.

When, ascending, the pilot turns the nose of his machine upward he offers a broader surface of his wings to the oncoming air, and what he thus loses in movement forward he gains in rise; just like the motion of a kite, when you pull the string and square its face more nearly with the wind. Now, the aeroplane must move onward at a prescribed minimum speed; this velocity differs with different machines, and below this speed the air current has not force enough to sustain the craft. Should an aeronaut, seeking to climb too fast, halt the speed forward in order to increase the rapidity of rise, he is sure to start plunging backward if that velocity drop ever so little below the prescribed minimum required for support. Here is where the little wind gauge plays its vital part.

Automatically, should the aviator be heedless or unaware of his peril when within a certain limit of the nonsustaining speed, the wind gauge, through associate mechanism, turns the tail planes so that that end rises, while the head of the machine dips, and, instead of soaring, starts upon an earthward volplane. In that earthward sweep the craft acquires increased speed, gains renewed supporting pressure, and is once more under safe control.

This control, however, is taken out of the hands of the pilot pro tem, until the required safety speed has been thus obtained. This same provision provides against that much feared contingency, the stopping of the propulsive motors during flight. It was an accident of this sort that almost cost the lives of an aviator and his wife here a little over a week ago. By desperate efforts that pilot managed to keep the zigzag volplaning of his craft within some bounds, and by great good luck the machine landed in the water.

In sweeping around upon a circular flight, especially if the turn be at all short, the ordinary aviator has a multiplicity of things to do: He must regulate his wing tips or ailerons, function the tail plane and, at the same time, manipulate the rudder. The trouble is that the rudder and the tail plane become somewhat interchangeable in their actions because of the heeling angle assumed by the craft. This is ticklish work and has caused many accidents and cost a number of lives. With the Sperry stabilizer this hazard is removed. The pilot will have nothing to concern himself about except the path he wishes to follow—the little gyroscopes will look out for the rest, as has been amply proved during the exacting tests in France when the shifting of the pilot and his mechanic set up disturbing forces that would have meant certain destruction in an unstabilized aeroplane.

Now you know just what Mr. Sperry has done for aviation. He has mastered a very hard problem, and he has made his mastery complete.

PANHANDLE STATE FAIR--Past, Present and Future Reviewed

By J. L. POPE

Amarillo, the proud young metropolis of the Great Plains Country, has again donned her royal robes and opened her heart and homes, in welcome to the expected thousands in attendance at the second annual exposition and fair of the Panhandle State Fair Association, September 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30 and October 1, inclusive.

WELCOME TO ALL.

In extending this welcome to citizens from all over Texas, as well as those from other states, Amarillo appreciates the fact that she is fortunate in being permitted to share the honor as hostess to such a royal course of people. She extends her hospitality with a full realization that the enterprise drawing its thousands together, is not more hers, than it is the property of every city, town, village, hamlet and rural community within the Great Plains area. She knows that whatever makes for the good and development of even the remotest community, needs must render her growth and prosperity more secure. With this broad and all-inclusive fraternal regard, every man, woman and child in Amarillo delights in an opportunity to do homage to the visitors, regardless of the locality from which they come, or the character of offerings brought to place on competitive display. The same hearty reception assured exhibitors will be extended to all visitors.

ONLY ONE YEAR OLD.

The Panhandle State Fair, whose initial exposition last year, has elicited commendations from the most exclusive authorities on such enterprises, has made many changes and improvements for the work of the present season. So much in fact has been accomplished for the better handling of the vast offerings of the present season, that a full recounting of them would require greater space than is available for such purposes. It may be stated briefly that where departmental exhibits were congested last year from lack of space, extensions have been made to such extent, that a more perfect and comprehensive display is guaranteed this season. These expansive measures have been applied to every department, and there is no doubting that every available inch of the enlarged quarters will have been comfortably filled even in advance of the opening date.

SURPRISINGLY GOOD RESULTS.

Hampered by a newness, limited crop production, and hedged in by certain doubtful suggestions as to the demand for the enterprise, and its reception by the people as a whole, the initial exposition and fair by the association in 1913, was much in the form of a venture—a leap in the dark, as it were. But, in the light of last year's developments, including the hearty co-operative spirit of every section of the country, the Attendance, the exhibits, the interest, all surpassing even the wildest dreams of the most optimistic, the management this year has launched freely into expenditures, making for enlarged possibilities and a growth whose ultimate limit none can at this time fully forecast.

TIME WAS SOLE LIMIT.

With a desire to meet every need and contingency arising, the management of the association has been busily engaged during the past several months. While it may be that other accommodations could be desired, it can scarcely be laid as a charge against the officials having the matters in hand, that they have been remiss in attention. The only limit of restriction hampering the movements of this active set of men has been the short time in which to prepare for that which was to come. If, as has been indicated, details of perfection are wanting, it is attributable to inability to "reach all the way 'round" within the time allotted for preparations. With this brief explanation, it is deemed simple justice to say that judged by the standard of even the most successful exposition enterprises within the United States, the Panhandle State Fair has been proclaimed by experts to have had the most auspicious beginning of any of them. This is not in the form of idle boast, but based upon the actual utterances of men who know whereof they speak. This being true, the association has no apologies to offer for its showing during the present season. It comes to the people of all this great country saying: "We have done all that was possible, under existing conditions. We bid you welcome. Come, use that which we have provided. When you shall have done this, we believe that great and general good will be the one inescapable result."

GREAT PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN.

Beginning early with the present year, publicity was given to the impending exposition and fair, and the press throughout the entire section included in the territorial confines of associational jurisdiction, has opened its columns to matter descriptive of the endeavors being put forth. With the press of the country as the greatest, most powerful and potential advertising medium for this big enterprise, placed graciously at its disposal, there is little wonder that all barriers to an almost unlimited success were swept away. Hundreds of letters from every point poured in upon the officials of the association, asking many questions pertaining to the exposition for the present year. These were answered in a personal way, until the facilities at hand for such replies were overrun. Then came the issuance of thousands upon thousands of the handsome little catalogue and premium list. This trim booklet was made to include as nearly as possible answers to the hundreds of questions coming up daily—nay, every minute in the day. Mails, telegrams, telephones, verbally propounded inquiries all added to the mass of matter keeping the officials in charge constantly on the alert. Inasmuch as possible, the catalogue and premium list, passed into the hands of these inquirers, but they could not be made to cover everything, and so a goodly force of well informed men has been required to meet the demands for information, the "more so as the day approaches."

RAILROADS AID ENTERPRISE.

Not stopping with the heralding of the fair through the various publications, as indicated, the association has had access to other mediums in carrying its message to the widely separated communities. The railroads have found numerous ways of rendering assistance to the enterprise, thus lightening the burdens of publicity evangelists and greatly facilitating the spread of desirable information about the present exposition. Nor have the railroads stopped with granting favors to the promoters of publicity and the gatherers of exhibit materials, but have gone to their fullest extent to insure a record attendance, by making attractive rates over a wide area of the country.

MUCH PRINTED MATTER.

Brilliantly colored and prettily outlined posters have carried the story of the coming events, smiling a welcome from practically every railing and window throughout all of the Plains Country, and even extending into territory more remote. To these have been added announcements of special attractions and features from the beginning to the close of the fair. These announcements found wings in the form of dodgers, fliers, handbills and delicately written news-stories. In each and all of this matter there was the fullest inclusion of consideration for every section solicited. Fairness has specialized every portion of the work by various committees, and assurances of equal consideration to all exhibitors and visitors regardless of locality, have found place in each written, printed and verbal utterance. On this broad platform, the entire country has been invited to "throw its hat into the ring," and share with all the results accruing.

NOTHING IS OMITTED.

Desiring to omit no department or division in which an interest might exist or be awakened, the management has extended its subdivisions, so as to vouchsafe a general inclusion. In the event that any items shall have been overlooked, those in charge will bestir themselves upon information, and make every possible effort to give to exhibitors an opportunity to show goods, wares or products, even though no former provision may have been made for such display. Nothing but utter impossibility will limit activities of the officials, in their efforts to make this showing all-inclusive.

RACING EVENTS RICH.

Entertainment and edification of the visitors being dominant in the minds of the management, it may be said of a truth that features of exceptional richness characterize the coming exposition. Beginning with the racing events, attention is called to these as a general index of the character of entertainment offered. A glance at the following outline of program will carry with it assurances as to character of events provided:

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 26.

Green race for pacers.....$150.00
Free-for-all pace.....400.00
One-fourth mile dash, Shet-land ponies.....25.00
Five-mile cowboy relay race.....150.00

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 28.

Green race for trotters.....$150.00

Two-year-old or under race, pace or trot.....150.00
2:35 pace.....400.00
One-half mile dash.....100.00

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 29.

2:35 trot.....$400.00
Free-for-all trot.....300.00
One-mile dash.....100.00
Team race, trot or pace, only green classes eligible.....200.00

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 30.

Consolation race, trot or pace, for green classes.....$100.00
2:20 pace.....300.00
Five-eighths-mile dash.....100.00
Slow mule race, one-half mile Cowgirl, two and one-half miles relay race.....150.00

While the foregoing conveys a vague impression as to the classification of competitions on the race course, it cannot of course portray the excellent individuals entered. It is already known, however, that no similar series has carried with it a greater number of good animals, in all this Southwestern country. Owners of exceptionally fine animals are hungry to exhibit the qualities of their stock, contrasted with the best possessed by their competitors. The racing committee, it is said, is to be congratulated upon its activities and results of the same.

HORSES AND MULES.

It would not be justice to end remarks relative to live stock offerings, with the racing events scheduled. While there is a certain thrill connected with track events, unknown in connection with any other division of this offering, be it known that life, in its truest sense, is not made up entirely of sensational and therefore quickly passing attractions. The more edifying and enduring numbers have been provided, and these in connection with live stock will include:

Heavy draft horses, in stallions, mares, fillies, mare and foal.

All purpose horses, stallions, mares and geldings; also pair of mares, and pair of geldings, or mixed pair of mare and gelding.

Saddle horses: Stallions, mares, fillies, mare and foal.
Roadsters: Stallions, mares, pair mares, pair of geldings or pair mare and gelding.

Shetland ponies: Stallions, mare, pony in harness, pony ridden by boy or girl under fifteen years of age.
Jacks, jennets and mules: Jacks, jennets, mules as individuals, and pair of mules.

In each of these divisions and individual classes, as well as several sub-classes, there will be handsome cash awards.

BEEF PRODUCING ANIMALS.

After passing from the horse, man's noblest and most valuable friend among the dumb animals, giving an inclusion of the mule, lovers of live stock will find continued delight in the inspection of cattle. No similar array of aristocrats in the cattle line has ever been shown in this portion of the country, and experts from every market center of the United States will be present to make inspection. The showings will include:

Herefords: Bulls in the various ages and classifications from the fully matured animal down to the calf, and cows and heifers will show the same range, as to individuals. There will also be an inclusion of champions: Bull, female, and grand champion bull. Herds will also enjoy special classification, as will likewise groups.

Short Horns: Bulls, cows, heifers and calves will be seen in the general class. Special classifications for this breed will include: Champions, herds, groups and fat stock.

Polled Herefords: Bulls, cows, heifers and calves, find general inclusive classification as individuals, while the special classes show: Champions in both sexes, herds, groups and fat stock.

Aberdeen-Angus: Bulls, cows, heifers and calves are in the general individual classes. Special classes will show: Champions in both sexes, herds, groups and fat stock.

Polled Durham: Bulls, cows, heifers and calves as individuals marks one division, and then comes: Champions in both sexes, herds, groups and fat stock.

Galloways: Bulls, cows, heifers and calves will claim attention as individuals, and also in the following: Champions (both sexes), herds, groups and fat stock.

Baby beef: Best calf, one year old and under eighteen months (fed and cared for exclusively by boy or girl 20 years old or under), four handsome cash prizes are offered.

SPECIAL DAIRY BREEDS.

In the dairy breeds, upon which much interest and attention have been centered, the following will be included:

Jerseys: Bulls, cows, heifers and calves will be viewed as individuals, and the special classifications will include: Champions, herds, groups.

Guernseys: Bulls, cows, heifers and calves, as individuals. Special classifications: Champions, herds, groups.

Holsteins: Bulls, cows, heifers and calves will claim attention as individuals, while the special classifications will show: Champions, herds and groups.

It will be interesting to note that special premiums have been provided for excellence of butter display, so that a spirited competition may be expected in this division of the exhibition.

PORK PRODUCERS STAR.

Record Crop for Randall County This Year

1914 is the banner crop year for the Panhandle, this year being the end of the six years' drought period that has prevailed uniformly over the entire western section of the United States and even spread into central west corn states. 1914 will mark the beginning of a long period of prosperity, the people of the Panhandle confidently believe. The rainfall, while only 80 per cent of normal, has fallen just at the right times during the spring and summer to make the great crop that is now being gathered. People of the north are turning their attention to the Panhandle country. Within the past few months many prospectors have visited this section and are well pleased with conditions. Many Texas people from the central and southern parts of the state are turning this way for a more healthful climate and cheaper land. There are many inquiring for improved lands to rent, and it is expected that within a few months Randall county will have more farmers than ever before in its history. The excellent crops of this year were made possible by a more uniform rainfall during the growing season and by better scientific farming. The farm demonstrators sent out over the county by the Santa Fe Railway and the government agent employed by the Commissioners' Court have been of great assistance in putting farming on a more scientific basis. Proper seed bed preparation and the selection of only the best seeds have been thoroughly instilled into the minds of the farmers until all are following the suggestions and have greatly profited therefrom. The question of proper cultivation has been solved to a great extent during the dry years. It is noticeable that the farmers have decreased the acreage to considerable extent and are cultivating more often. Taken as a whole there is no doubt but that Randall county has the best bunch of farmers living in the Panhandle or any place else.

ALFALFA.

This has been a great year for alfalfa. This crop is raised extensively along the valleys of the Palo Duro and the Tierra Blanca creeks, and the alfalfa from Randall county was awarded first premium last year at the Panhandle State Fair at Amarillo over all other counties entered. Alfalfa is a great money-making crop, yielding five cuttings per season excepting when a seed crop is saved. The cuttings this year have made from one ton to one and one-fourth tons.

FETERITA.

Feterita is the coming row crop of the Plains country. The experimental stage has passed with this crop and it takes first place over maize and kafir. It has a sturdy plant, taller than either maize or kafir, has slightly more foliage and this year the heads are two or three inches longer than these older crops, while its fine white seeds are much plumper. It withstands dry weather, making a fairly good crop last year—the driest year the Panhandle country has ever seen.

KAFIR AND MAIZE.

These crops have long been the standby of the Panhandle country. They always make a good feed crop, even in the driest years, although during the past six years they have failed to produce very good seed. This year the early crops are fine. These early crops are now being cut or put into the silos. The late crops promise to do well if given a late fall, as the rains of last week have put them in fine condition.

It is well to note that Randall county has more silos than any of the neighboring counties. A majority of them are of the pit variety. These pit silos can be built at a very little expense, a majority of the work being done by the farmer during the winter months while there is little else to do.

Kafir and maize make the very best of ensilage. The state agricultural department of Kansas recently made experimental tests with kafir, maize and Indian corn ensilage. These experiments showed conclusively that the former crops were of greater feed value than Indian corn when put in the silo.

SORGHUM.

Sorghum is another profitable crop in Randall county. The acreage is large every year for this crop. It is of quick growth, is a hearty plant and makes the best hay obtainable on the market. It produces about three tons to the acre and generally sells at $10 per ton. When the first cutting has been cut the plants sprout out again and with favorable fall weather will make good feed.

WHEAT AND OATS.

This was a good year for wheat and oats. The threshers are still in these fields. The yield has been from 16 to 34 bushels per acre for wheat and 25 to 65 for oats. The average yield for Randall county for wheat has been about 20 bushels per acre.

The farmers are now getting ready to plant another large crop of wheat.

MILLET.

This has also been a splendid year for millet. The rains have come at the right time to make the crop

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

More fine gardens were seen in Randall county this year than ever before. The late frosts killed much of the fruit, but there was an abundance of grapes, apples and cherries. Watermelons and cantaloupes have an excellent flavor this year. A doctor from Dallas visiting in the city last week stated that he never tasted such fine melons as were raised in Randall county this year.

CATTLE AND GRASS.

Grass has been fine this year and the cattle on the ranches are in fine condition. Randall county cattle broke the world's record two years ago; last year Randall county cattle broke all Texas records on the Kansas City market; also Randall county cattle won the grand premium in the Hereford class at the Kansas City show last fall. The Randall county cattle going on the market this fall are making enviable records.

The coming of the silo has meant much to the cattle industry in the Panhandle. The man with a small farm can raise row crops for his silo and keep quite a number of cattle to sell at a profitable price, whereas during the day of large ranches it was necessary to have large bodies of land for a comparatively small herd of cattle.

FARMERS WELL PLEASED.

The farmers of Randall county are well pleased with the crops of 1914. They feel that this is the beginning of a long period of prosperity, but that the dry years have taught them many lessons in scientific agriculture which will be profitably applied to their farming during the years of normal rainfall.

The Silo in the Panhandle.

By P. E. Boesen, Amarillo.

Three years ago there were three silos in use in the Panhandle. Today there are approximately 1,500, three-fourths of which were constructed during the past year. All the various styles and makes of silos are represented. Owing to the fact that Panhandle soil is well packed and not endangered by presence of water at shallow depths, the pit silo is peculiarly adapted to this country and many of them are planned by our farmers for the future.

A government feeding test conducted near Amarillo last winter proved beyond all question, the superiority of silage over dry forage as a fat-producing feed. The grain sorghums--kaffir, milo maize, feterita and sorghum--which are native to the plains country and annually yield millions of bushels of grain, have been thoroughly tested out in the silo, with the result that nearly every farmer in the future intends to feed at least some of these crops in the form of silage. Our farmers look upon the silo as the salvation of the Panhandle country.

Best Diarrhoea Remedy.

If you have ever used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy you know that it is a success. Sam F. Guin, Whatley, Ala., writes, "I had the measles and got caught out in the rain, and it settled in my stomach and bowels. I had an awful time, and had it not been for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy I could not possibly have lived but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy, I am now well and strong." the hogs. The following breeds, covering the two sexes, different ages and stages of development will be shown:

Duroc-Jerseys, Poland Chinas, Improved Texas Guineas, Berkshires, high class or mixed breeds.

Baby Pork: Special prizes to boys and girls for the showing of best pig within certain age limits are offered.

SHEEP HAVE PLACE

That sheep is to be given a prominent place in the exhibits is shown by an inclusion under individual classifications: Fine and medium wool bucks and ewes of the different ages.

POULTRY DIVISION STRONG

Poultry displays will include the following well-known families:

Buff Leghorns, Partridge Wyandottes, Rhode Island Whites, Rhode Island Reds, Barred Plymouth Rocks, White Plymouth Rocks, Single Comb White Minorcas, Buff Wyandottes, Columbian Wyandottes, Light Brahmas, Anconas, Golden Wyandottes, Single Comb White Leghorns, Texas Rhode Island Reds, Black Orpingtons, Black Langshans, White Wyandottes.

It is probable that still other breeds will have showing in the list of chickens.

Turkeys, geese, ducks and other fowls will find a welcome in the poultry division of the display, and assurances are given in advance that the ensemble will present a picture of completeness seldom equaled, and never excelled.

In this manner the classifications continue to the inclusion of the smallest detail. Every product of the farm, the orchard and the garden, finds itself within the proper division at whose final extremity there is a fitting prize for excellence.

JUVENILES AND ADULTS

Not alone have prizes been provided for the products shown by adults, but the boys and girls have not been overlooked, and from present indications it is stated that the juveniles will set a pace which their elders will find difficulty in equaling. In view of the fact that agricultural experts assert that the hope for revolutionizing farm methods must come through the younger people, it may be inferred that the competitive showing at the present exposition will have good results. If as a matter of fact the younger people on the farms make their first inning at the oncoming exposition future work for them will doubtless

DON'T TAKE WRONG MEDICINE

If your liver gets lazy you need a liver tonic, not merely a laxative for the bowels. Many people take a similar laxative when the liver gets sluggish, rather than take calomel which they know to be dangerous. But a mere laxative will not start a sluggish liver. What is needed is a tonic that will liven up the liver without forcing you to stay at home and lose a day from your work.

You have such a tonic in Dodson's Liver Tonic. Dodson's Liver Tonic is all that is claimed for it, because the druggists who sell it agree to hand back the money with a smile, to any person not satisfied with the relief Dodson's gives.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is a vegetable liquid with a very pleasant taste and is a prompt and reliable remedy for constipation, biliousness, sour stomach and a torpid liver.

Holland Drug Co. gives it their personal guarantee. Large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic is only 50c. For children or grown people it is the ideal medicine. Try it on the guarantee.

assume added proportions and importance.

WOMAN'S DEPARTMENT GREAT

As always, the Woman's Department will be one of great importance. What matter it, if the sterner sex is not possessed of ability to distinguish the difference between Baby Irish and Battenberg laces, or between an oil painting and a charcoal sketch, there is a certain "something" about these strictly feminine exhibits that attracts the male members of the population. It may be asserted, and be it said to the credit of the exhibit, that few if any men ever pass without looking with interest upon the displays in this department. So vast is the array of work offered in the various divisions, that it would be difficult to enumerate the articles. It is noted that there is a subdivision for "Old Ladies' Work," Lace Work, Knitting and Crochet Work, Plain Sewing, Fancy Sewing, Embroidery, etc.

FINE ARTS DIVISION

The Decorative and Fine Arts Division of the Woman's Department is another around which centers a delighted interest, and it is learned that the offerings this year will far surpass any heretofore exhibited, both as to number and variety. Paintings from life will be shown in various treatments of oil, water colors, pastel, charcoal, crayon, pen-and-ink. Still-life and landscapes will also occupy places of prominence, treated in oil and other materials carrying colors.

HAND PAINTED CHINA

In this division will be displayed a rare list of chinas. It is stated in advance that this collection represents some of the strongest attestations of talent and skill. Floral, conventional and semi-conventional designs will dominate this array of chinas, but there will be representations of a still greater range, overstepping these definitions.

KITCHEN QUEEN'S REALM

The Culinary Division of the Woman's Department, showing an application of domestic science to the common things of life, will doubtless hold attention of many, including the housewives and many of their husbands as well. Breads, cakes, pies, tarts, doughnuts and many other articles, generally allied, will have a first classification under the work of this division. Then will come the jellies, preserves, pickles, etc., in pleasing array. Fancy prepared fruits and vegetables will be prettily displayed in this division. There will also be a subdivision for the work of girls under twenty years of age in connection with the culinary division, and special prizes have been awarded for excellence, covering the preparation of a number of items.

WHERE FLOWERS LEAD

Plants and Flowers' Division is another phase of the Woman's Department that will prove a center of attraction. In this division prizes have been offered on roses, asters, dahlias, sweet peas, nasturtiums, pansies, petunias, verbenas, phlox, hollyhocks, daisies, etc. In the class for plants offer of awards is made on palms, ferns, cacti, geraniums, hanging baskets, individual decorative plant (not mentioned in list) best individual collection of plants.

MERCHANTS OFFER PREMIUMS

In addition to the regular list of cash prizes, special prizes have been offered by Amarillo's merchants and manufacturers. This array of pretty and useful premiums assures a rather general distribution of awards, a fact doubtless responsible in liberal measure for the numerous entries in the various classes.

EDUCATIONAL EXHIBITS

That the Educational Department is destined to be one of greatest importance is a foregone conclusion. This department will be provided with ample space, and it is expected that practically every school in all of the Plains Country will have representation. This is as it should be, for it is asserted unhesitatingly that there is no subdivision of this or any other State in the Union showing higher percentages, or better standards of excellence, than do the student bodies of all of Northwest Texas. This being true, the application extends to every class of educational institution, from the highest to the lowest. The department is instituted in behalf of the educational enterprises of all this territory, and belongs no more to one school or community than it does to another. Every school is placed upon an equal footing, and will share in all of the opportunities presenting themselves to its particular class.

The exhibits have been so classified as to include every phase of educational endeavor. All of the grades will have an opportunity to show their work. From the closely graded and systematized city school, to the rural school with its one teacher, there has been provision made for a demonstration of excellence, with all of the gradations intervening between the two extremes.

MERELY AN OUTLINE.

The foregoing are merely some of the prominent features and divisions, and must under no condition be taken as complete or unabridged showing of the offerings as will be seen by the visitor this and next week in Amarillo.

SPECIAL MERCANTILE DISPLAYS.

Mercantile and manufacturing enterprises have taken space and will make elaborate displays in their various lines. These will include a wide range, in which the latest and best will be suggested to the visitors. Souvenirs and reminders will be bountifully provided, so that those who attend the attraction will have a busy and interesting round within the grounds, whether the stay be for one or seven days.

AMUSEMENTS FOR ALL.

To this point, nothing has been said relative to amusements in the special class. The committee on amusements has not allowed any other to lead it and, as a result, nothing, sort of the best is offered. Two bands, one of more than thirty pieces, are included in this list of attractions, and will render a repertoire second to none ever brought to this portion of the country. Morning, noon and night this musical aggregation will deluge the visitors and exhibitors with strains of leading compositions, representing the work of ancient as well as modern composers. It will perhaps be no breach of truth to say that classics will find but thin partitions of time intervening between themselves and boisterous rag-time selections, and that both as individuals will give way in turn to bursts of medleys to which each contributes a liberal share.

Then, of course, there will be a "Midway," whatever that may mean, with all the allurements attendant upon such attractions. It is possible that the range will be quite as varied as that extending from the living-statue of the Greek Slave on the one side down to the Snake-eater on the other. Monstrosities of every hue will doubtless be proclaimed, along with things more pleasing. The array will surely be amply billed, posted and hawked, so that the would-be patron may spend his money for that which more strongly appeals to his particular taste.

FAIR MANAGEMENT GUARANTEES.

In short, it is announced by those who have provided the amusements within the grounds that no pains and money have been spared in procuring the best and most appealing in the several divisions. This amusement aggregation engaged to furnish entertainment throughout the fair comes in the form of an immense carnival—presenting a variety so great that little is left to be desired. The management of the association stands back of its amusement offering. Another way of saying that it will be well "worth the money," and satisfactory in every respect.

PRICES REMAIN UNCHANGED.

Announcement has gone forth that prices for entertainment in the form of meals, beds and other items needful for the comfort of the throngs in

WHY WEAK LUNGS?

The toll of tuberculosis is claiming more than 350 victims every day in the United States, yet few realize their grave condition until the critical period arrives. Overwork, worry, weakness after sickness, catarrh, bronchitis, tender throats—all exert the weakening influence that invites consumption. To guard against consumption, thousands of people take Scott's Emulsion after meals because its rich medicinal nourishment strengthens the lungs, puts vigor in the blood, and upbuilds strength to resist tuberculosis. Scott's Emulsion is nature's strength-builder. Refuse substitutes.

attendance upon the fair will not be advanced, but remain entirely normal. Special arrangements have been made for this entertainment, both on and off the grounds, and there is every assurance that ample facilities are at hand. From the best hotel accommodations, including all of the "accessories," to the less pretentious boarding houses, all will be placed at the disposal of the men, women and children attending the fair.

MORE OFFICERS TO HELP.

Special officers have been engaged to assist in facilitating the traffic during the eight days of the exposition. These men will constitute themselves committees of one, wherever they may be, on the streets or about the grounds, to give correct information, and assist those needing their help in reaching or returning from the fair. The most perfect order prevailed throughout the fair last year, and it is expected that the same condition will be recorded at the close of the present exposition. These officers have been added purely as a facility for insuring the comfort and safety of those who attend.

NEW STREET CARS.

The Amarillo Street Railway Company has added rolling stock during the past few weeks, and will thus be enabled with the greater dispatch to handle the traffic from downtown districts to the fair grounds. Nor has this company stopped by putting on some of the prettiest and most modern cars, but extended its operations to its roadbed. Its tracks are being placed in the best of condition, so that the transportation will be a matter of comfort as well as convenience.

MAY NEED SPECIAL TRAINS.

While no announcement has been definitely made as to the operation of special trains for the fair, it is unquestionably true that some of these may be found necessary to accommodate several communities. It is already definitely known that a number of city and county delegations will come for special days of the fair. These delegations will come as special representatives of their communities, and arrangements are under way to make these events most pleasant, maximizing attentions to be paid them. In some instances there will be uniforms, bands, and programs specially prepared, well calculated to center attention on the particular communities represented.

These delegations will come from the irrigated as well as from the dry-farming districts. It is understood that headquarters will be established by each on the fair grounds, and all matters handled in a way well-pleasing to these special parties.

SEPARATE PROGRAMS.

Separate attractions are announced for the day time and evening. The grounds during the evening will be a perfect blaze of light, and nothing has been left undone that could in any way add to the comfort of those in attendance. Comfort as an initial basis for the observation of the offerings, and after that a selection from the vast arrays in the exposition halls or amusement places, just as may suit the individual.

CHURCHES OPEN TO VISITORS.

It is stated that for the convenience and entertainment of the fair crowds here on Sunday, September 27, the churches will announce special services. Musical programs of more than usual merit are being arranged, and every church will extend to the visitor a welcome of the real order. The range of denomination is sufficiently great that every individual may find that which he desires by way of communion with which to worship.

DOWNTOWN ATTRACTIONS.

While there will be a concentration of interest at the fair grounds, the downtown theaters and other places of amusement and entertainment will be in line with offerings of exceptional worth, so that whether at one place or the other, none will be left without an opportunity for enjoyment.

STORES GIVE BARGAINS.

Amarillo's stores will feature bargain events throughout the entire time of the fair, placing the latest and best in every line easily within reach of all. This event is fortunate for the buyers, in that it comes just when all that is fresh and new has been received from the mercantile centers the North and East. From a yard of lace to a threshing machine and traction engine, the visitor is brought in touch with that which his necessity demands. All of the goods and wares will be shown in the most attractive manner, and special hours will be observed during fair week, so that shoppers may have the greater time at their disposal in which to inspect and, if it suits them, purchase from the stocks displayed.

ALL INVITE INSPECTION.

Schools, churches, banks, stores and shops will be opened to the visitation of the fair throngs; for Amarillo has no desire other than to lay herself open to the eyes of the visitors. The citizenship will lose no opportunity to impress upon the minds of all that this occasion affords Amarillo quite as much pleasure to entertain as to be entertained at the hands of others.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer a great deal with pain in the back, bearing-down feelings and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes anyone so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

A good kidney medicine, possessing real healing and curative value, should be a blessing to thousands of nervous, over-worked women.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy will do for them. Every reader of this paper, who has not already tried it, by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at all drug stores.
