

KAFIR CONVENTION AMARILLO JULY 28

Plains Country Will Advertise Product Extensively Over South.—Finding Better Market.

The following letter has been sent out by the Amarillo Board of City Development regarding a meeting to be held in Amarillo July 28 to provide means for finding a better a better market for kafir.

"To enhance the price of kafir and maize, to bring development and prosperity in a greater degree to the Panhandle and South Plains country, the Amarillo Board of City Development, the Memphis Commercial Club, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, together with similar organizations at Dalhart, Hereford and other towns, have organized a movement which contemplates a campaign of publicity and education in the lumber and cotton districts of Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, where more than $10,000,000.00 is spent annually for Indian corn from the North, the expectation being that this business can be diverted to the kafir and maize growing section, thereby establishing these on an equality with corn in the markets of the country and a permanent demand for them.

"In the movement now under way for a publicity campaign of the most extensive character for the education of the people in the lumber and cotton districts as to the food and feed values of kafir, maize, feterita, etc., there is, as we confidently believe, the greatest possibilities for direct and immediate benefit to our people and ultimately for the substantial and rapid development of the country.

"Men of influence and commercial and business associations of importance are already committed heartily to the project and a general meeting is to be held in Amarillo on Wednesday, July 28th, where and when every county, every town, every community, every organization will be represented, and all individuals who owe something to or want something for the country should be present.

"To the end that this general meeting may be adequately attended and effective for its purposes, the newspapers are earnestly urged to give the meeting strong and insistent publicity—commercial clubs to organize their constituency, to send large and influential delegations—business associations to attend in a body—and all citizens who can to come and help make the movement a success."

NOTICE TO EVERY READER.

Intelligent Friend: The stately Lusitania is no more. Instead of her streaming banner which gladdened many an heroic heart, long strings of slimy seaweed hang like burial robes from her gloomy masts and the denizens of the deep look in upon the gruesome spectacle of her mortified dead! But the matter does not end here. "Down the pages of time will echo the explosion the torpedo which sent death to her innocents." The echo has already gone unto the uttermost parts of the earth and our sympathy is very great. No class of people are more responsive to the cries of the oppressed than Americans. But the details have been meagre, we want to know more fully of the deeds of bravery of the last sad moments and how the tender mother tried to hush the cries of her darling babe as the lapping water closed over all so that we can appreciate American heroism the more. "These details are fully given in "The Tragedy of the Lusitania" a great book just out which will be read by Americans throughout the coming years." You too may read it and many other things about the great war if you will only drop me a card stating your desire for a copy. You could not possibly regret buying this book, for it is full of valuable information and is in every way worth while. Handsomely bound, profusely illustrated. Mailed C. O. D. Price, $1.00. Here is what an authority says of it: "Every true American wants and should have a copy of this book. They want it because of the great interest in the subject, and they want reliable information regarding the crime. They should have a copy so as to become fully posted about the subject and be correctly informed." L. L. Williamson, Afton, Texas. (Advertisement)

FINAL CONTRACTS LET NEXT MONDAY

Heating, Lighting and Plumbing Contracts for New Normal Building up Next Monday.

Pres. R. B. Cousins will leave Saturday for Austin where he will attend a meeting of the board of regents of Normal schools. Four contracts will be awarded at this time, which are the last to be let on the new Normal structure. A contract for the direct radiation, which includes the house and plant, and a contract for the indirect radiation, which deals with the ventilation system, will provide for the heating of the house. The other two contracts are for the plumbing and lighting of the house. Mr. Cousins states that it is the plan to install an electric light plant for the use of the Normal, but doubts whether there will be sufficient funds to do this at the present time.

The steel for the wings has not been shipped. It was supposed to arrive here by this time, but the factories have been unable to get out the shipments. All of the footings have been laid. Publisher's Notice.

Many Canyon people are in the habit of waiting until Wednesday or even Thursday morning to phone the News office some item of interest which happened early in the week. The News wishes to publish every item of interest that we can find in the county, but there is a limit of capacity for handling news items that come in at the last minute. Please remember to phone your news just as soon as it happens. If you know of something on Thursday afternoon, phone us. While the paper goes to press Thursday morning, we begin to make another paper as soon as one has been printed. Don't get the false idea that printers can put into type all of our reading matter in about fifteen minutes, and that we do not begin to get out a paper until Wednesday or Thursday. As soon as one paper is printed, we begin to work on the next issue. We appreciate the efforts of our friends in sending in news items, but would like to have them more promptly.

Wayside News.

A large and appreciative audience gathered at Beula Sunday to listen to a lecture by Miss Jessie Fisher on India. She spent six years there, and spoke very entertainingly of habits and customs of the people over there. After the lecture she sang a song in the Hindu tongue.

Schaeffer Bros. began threshing Saturday. They have made a fine wheat crop.

Rev. Chas. Cook preached at Fairview Sunday night, Rev. Miller at Beula Sunday morning. Born to Craver and Veda Jackson July 4th a son. Mother not so well as could be desired.

Eggn to Will and Julia Howard July 11th a boy.

Little Irvin Lane is somewhat improved. He does not seem to suffer so much but will not attempt to walk.

A number of plum hunters have been visiting Palo Duro canyon with success.

A number of Waysiders are planning to celebrate with Tullia the 17th.

Friends of Mrs. E. P. Bradford will be glad to hear her health is much improved.

Col. Traylor Here.

Col. Champ Traylor of Plemons was in the city yesterday on his way home from an extended trip to New York, Washington and other eastern points. He visited his son Earl who is a student in the Normal.

Col. Traylor says that he went by the way of Galveston, taking the ocean trip. It was his first trip to the East and he greatly enjoyed it. He was in New York the day Holt shot J. P. Morgan and later visited the room in Washington where Holt fired the bomb.

PUBLIC SCHOOL FACULTY COMPLETE

H. E. Taylor Elected High School Principal—Strong Corps of Teachers Elected.

The following is the list of the names of the teachers who will teach in the Canyon Public Schools during the coming year, also the department to which each is assigned:

HIGH SCHOOL

E. F. King, Superintendent, Mathematics;
H. E. Taylor, M. A. University of North Carolina, principal, History and Science;
Mrs. E. H. Allen, A. B. University of Ohio, English and Latin;
Miss Mary McGill, A. B. University of Texas, Latin and Spanish.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL

Ernest Archambeau, W. T. S. N. C.
Miss Elva Fronabarger, Baylor University.
Miss Corrine Nash.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT

Miss Avis Baird, W. T. S. N. C.
Miss Elsa Guenther, W. T. S. N. C.
Miss Nora McMillan, University of Tenn., and University of Chicago.

As may be seen from the above list, the school board has secured the services of teachers who have been trained in the best universities and normal schools the country affords. With this corps of strong teachers employed for the coming year, the people of Canyon have every reason to expect that the work to be done in our school will compare favorably with that of the very best schools of the state.

It is our purpose to arrange the course of study of the high school so that no pupil will have more than four subjects at any one time, unless he has to make up some work in which he failed the year before. This will enable the student to do more efficient work than has been possible in the past when five or six subjects were carried on at the same time. For the same reason teachers will be able to do more for each pupil, and the work should be more satisfactory for all concerned.

We take this opportunity to thank the people of Canyon for the hearty co-operation they have given the faculty of the public school in the work undertaken in the years of the past, and ask a continuation of that co-operation to the end that Canyon's schools may be second to none.

Sincerely,
E. F. King, Supt.

Good Rains This Week.

A rain of one and one-fourth inches fell over practically all of Randall county Monday night. In Canyon and the north part of the county there was a three-sixteenths fall on Friday night. These rains will keep the row crops in splendid condition.

Wheat cutting is just about complete. Threshers will start in many places this week.

Saturday, Sunday, and Monday were the hottest this country has had for some time, the thermometer registering above 102. With the rain Monday night Panhandle people are again enjoying the pleasant summer weather.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Foster were in Amarillo Saturday.

HEREFORD Thor-O-Bred Trees & Plants

Have created a demand that is surprising, even to us—this years sales will show an increase of 300 per cent over last year.

The fact that we will sell more trees this season than all other Nurseries on the Plains is significant.

For twenty-five years we have been on the alert—striving to give better results—spending a $1000 a year in tests.

Is it not, therefore, worth your while to investigate our products?

The farmers' institute met at the court house Saturday afternoon and organized a grain growers and marketing association. A. B. Haynes, R. A. Campbell, and Henry Schroeder were appointed to draft a constitution and by laws for the association and at the meeting next Saturday afternoon these will be adopted. Thirteen grain growers signified their intention of joining the association. The object of the association has been outlined in the News during the past month, the ultimate aim being to procure a farmers' elevator or a bonded warehouse, which could be established under a recent law of this state.

What is Life to You?

To the preacher life's a sermon.
To the joker it's a jest;
To the miser life is money,
To the loafer life is rest.
To the lawyer life's a trial,
To the poet life's a song;
To the doctor life's a patient
That needs treatment right along.
To the soldier life's a battle,
To the teacher life's a school;
Life's a good thing to the grafter.
It's a failure to the fool.
To the man upon the engine
Life's a long and heavy grade;
It's a gamble to the gambler;
To the merchant life is trade.
Life's a picture to the artist,
To the rascal life's a fraud;
Life perhaps is but a burden
To the man beneath the hod.
Life is lovely to the lover,
To the player life's a play;
Life may be a load of trouble
To the man upon the dray.
Life is but a long vacation
To the man who loves work;
Life's an everlasting effort
To shun duty, to the shirk.
To the earnest Christian worker
Life's a story ever new;
Life is what we try to make it—
Comrade, what is life to you?

WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body. In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutrient gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. It is free from alcohol.

A correspondent of the Glazier Review states that the Texas exhibit at the San Francisco Exposition consists of a little display by the Houston Chamber of Commerce. Will not the Panhandle be represented at this great fair? Why not an exhibit from Randall county. Thousands of visitors could be induced to visit the Panhandle this year through a representative agricultural display.

The announcement that Thos. A. Edison has accepted the chairmanship of a civilian advisory board to assist Secretary Daniels in the solution of naval problems will be gratifying news to those who believe that the best way to prevent war is to be amply prepared for war. It is hoped that the presence of the board will more or less take away the political influence that is always present in dealing with these national questions.

Remember that one week from Saturday there is an election at which time six constitutional amendments will be voted upon. Most voters will make it a straight ticket—either for or against all amendments. The News believes that all of the amendments contain points of strength and that they should be adopted.

been bold enough one year ago to suggest a fund of five billions of dollars for education or good roads, or anything else of general improvement, he would have been laughed to scorn. Yet these Englishmen raised that much within three weeks to waste in the pursuit of war. Every other nation in the war is spending money in like proportion and spending the lives of men as recklessly.

W. E. Prescott of Paducah, who made the race for congress against John Stephens last year announces his intention to make the race again next year. This makes three candidates against Stephens. The right kind of a man might beat Stephens, but not with two others in the field.

The people of Canyon are strong for civic improvements. There has been an unusually large amount of painting done this year. More cement sidewalks are now needed.

Report has it that Villa will resign. Why not? The underdog is usually ready to give up.

The Live Stock Outlook

(A. M. Hove.)

The receipts of live stock at the ten principal markets in the United States for the first six months of 1915 as compared with the same period of 1914 show a decrease in cattle and an increase in hogs. This year 4,274,836 cattle were received as against 4,304,764 last year, a decrease of 29,928 head; sheep received this year 5,312,719 against 6,966,750, a net decrease of 1,554,031; hogs received this year 12,655,818 as against 10,789,212 last year, an increase of 1,872,606 head.

The feeder cattle and sheep movement for June at seven markets shows a marked decrease over June last year in cattle, being 15.41 per cent and an increase in sheep received over last June of 15.7 per cent. Chicago is not included as no stockers have gone out of this market in 1915 on account of quarantine.

During the eleven months ending June 1, 1915 305,000,000 pounds of bacon was exported, an increase of 122,000,000 pounds over last year. Fresh beef exports were 221,487,000 pounds, an increase of nearly 116,000,000 pounds; pickled beef 28,622,000 pounds, an increase of 7,000,000 pounds; hams and shoulders 162,233,000 pounds, worth $23,435,000, an increase of $1,734,000.

These figures indicate there is still a shortage of cattle and sheep with an export demand increasingly greater. The Panhandle being especially adapted to growing and feeding live stock, will benefit by this condition. There is plenty of forage and grain now growing on the farms to make full feeding of cattle, sheep and hogs a lucrative industry this fall and winter.

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Belle Emey, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work."

I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16.

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.

The Maid of the Forest. A Romance of St. Clair's Defeat. By Randall Parrish. Illustrated by D. J. Lewis.

"Never you mind speaking, Master Hayward," he said shortly. "The girl needs no defender; I believe what she says." Now listen, both of you, and see what you make of it. I was within twenty yards of their camp, at the edge of the underbrush, and could see clearly all that occurred about the fire.

STUDIO GRAND Amarillo, Texas

The said man to sound, and they passed so close to where I lay one fellow stepped upon my hand. Yet they passed by, trooping into the camp, and I counted thirty. "Of what tribe, monsieur?" "From the Wabash. I caught words in the language of the Shawnees. They had a white man with them." "A prisoner?" "No, he talked with Girty in English, and then to the savages in their own tongue. I could only catch a word now and then I could understand, but he pointed toward the island, and seemed to urge them this way. I dared not stay there longer, for fear I should be too late, and so crept backward, and got away."

She stepped past Brady to the door, opened it and glanced out into the night. "T is an hour yet until day," she said coming back. "That will give you time. They will be here with the first light of dawn. There will be no attack until then. You must delay no longer." We followed her out into the night, across the narrow clearing into the fringe of woods. There were clouds overhead, and very dark, but there seemed to be a path winding through the dense tangle of underbrush. Only for a moment did the girl hesitate, bending down and listening. Then she led the way around a narrow point of sand, pressed back some bushes, and revealed the sharp prow of a canoe. Brady flung down his pack, and hauled the light craft down to the edge of the water.

"Lay hold there, Schultz," he ordered in low voice, "till we get her afloat." I stood alone back in the shadow, hesitating, uncertain. It was in my heart to refuse to desert her there. She turned toward me. "You must get away at once," she said. "There is little enough time. Head straight out for the opposite shore." "But I have no wish to go without you."

To Drive Out Malaria And Build Up The System Take the Old Standard GROVE'S TASTELESS chill TONIC. You know what you are taking, as the formula is printed on every label, showing it is Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form. The Quinine drives out malaria, the Iron builds up the system. 50 cents

Illustration of a woman and a man. Text: The timid old lady asked the baggage master if her parcel would reach "Frisco intact." Said that official, "Let's see." Thereupon, he threw it on the floor. Once, "That's for Chicago." Twice, "That's for Kansas City." Third, "That's for Denver." The fourth time, he dashed it on the floor with extra violence. The box broke. The contents were scattered about. "You see, mum, it wouldn't reach." Fortunately, you are not in that position. "But he was killed."

"By no Indian hand. Please, monsieur, do not urge me any more. As it is I am balanced between two duties—to go with you, guard you, and see you safe, or remain and condemn my father's murderer."

"You believe then—"

"That he was the Englishman who bears your name. That man alone had knowledge of this hut on the island; he alone possessed opportunity. The scarlet jacket left behind, and his sudden appearance in the Indian camp, all point direct to his guilt. I remain to make sure; that is my duty, Monsieur Brady!"

The scout rose to his feet, a black smudge in the night, and came up the low bank to where we stood.

"You called, mademoiselle!"

"Yes, I was talking with the officer, but perhaps you do not understand all. Captain D'Auvray was known to the Wyandots as Wa-pa-tee-tah. He is dead, and his body will be taken to Sandusky; I shall tell the Wyandots how he died. There is no longer need that monsieur should meet them in council. It is better that you return to Fort Harmar."

She paused, but neither of us spoke, and she held out her hand.

"Good-by, Monsieur Brady."

He accepted the proffered hand awkwardly, dropped it almost instantly, and stepped back.

"I reckon that would be the best way, miss," he stammered, "so maybe we better go. Are you ready, sir?"

"A Hole! Surely it Was No Accident."

"Yes, run out the canoe; I'll be there in a minute, Mademoiselle."

She turned toward me, as he went noiselessly across the sand beach. Her hand was not extended, but I had the courage to reach out and grasp it in my own.

"Do not say good-by to me," I whispered, feeling my voice tremble. "I go because you wish it, because it seems to be the wise thing to do; but I will not believe we are never to meet again."

"Set that is not likely, monsieur."

Lieut. Ralph Cousins arrived yesterday to visit for several weeks at the parental home. Mrs. Cousins and Wayne met him in Amarillo.

John McClesky of Lingville has been visiting this week at the Hicks and Wallace home.

"If I seek you it might be."

"It will require more than peaceful travel to do that," she replied soberly. "There is going to be war."

"War! The Indians of the north-west?"

"Yes; the time has come—is here. The council at Sandusky was for no other purpose. Girty's message was merely an excuse for the Wyandots to join the other tribes. He confessed as much to me. It was because my father realized his helplessness longer to restrain British influence, that he disappeared. It is war, monsieur."

"But not between us," I insisted, shocked at the picture. "Mademoiselle, come with me. There is nothing left to hold you to this life among savages. With your father dead, why should you continue to bury yourself in these woods? You have education, refinement, gentleness; why should you not go now, before war breaks along the border?"

"And desert my people?"

"But they are not your people; you are white, not red. That small drop of Indian blood in your veins does not make you a Wyandot. You have nothing else in common with them. Why not be yourself, choosing life among those of your own race?"

I thought she hesitated, and I grasped her hand more closely, the hot blood leaping in my veins. In the dim light I could see her lowered face, the eyes downcast.

"No, monsieur," she said at last, very low. "It is good of you to think thus of me, but—but I cannot do that. You must not urge. The Wyandots need me—more now than my father is gone than ever before. They are my people; I was born to them, and played as a child in their villages. They love me, trust me, and I help them by teaching them the Christ. To desert them would be to desert him. I cannot do that, monsieur, merely to gratify myself."

"But have I no call upon you?" I insisted in desperation.

"No, monsieur," and she was looking at me now with some amazement. "It is scarce an hour since I believed you a murderer. We do not know each other. Let me trust, and believe in you; do not speak like that."

"I meant nothing wrong, mademoiselle," I broke in hastily, stung by her words of reproach. "You have come to me out of the woods like a new life. I know it is strange, all strange, but there is already something between us that can never be severed."

"Is there, monsieur?"

"Yes; race makes no difference. I thought it did once. When you said back there in the shadow of the stockade that you were a Wyandot it was as if you struck me a blow in the face. I swore then I would think of you no more, yet, even that night, you were in my dreams, and ever since your face has been in my memory."

I felt her handclasp tighten on mine, although her body remained motionless.

"You do not believe me in earnest?"

"How can I, monsieur? I think you jest, you amuse yourself. Let us stop it all now. You go back to your people, I to mine, and we'll both forget. No! Do not say more! I will not listen. Come with me to the boat."

I followed her down the bank, words burning on my lips she gave me no chance to speak, for she moved with quick decision. The two men had the canoe turned over, at the very edge of the water, and the scout was upon his knees in the sand. He looked up hastily at our approach.

"I reckon we stay here, miss," he said soberly. "Somebody has smashed a hole through the bottom with a stone."

She uttered a little cry of alarm, leaning over his shoulder.

"A hole! How could that be? Surely it was no accident!"

He arose to his feet, brushing off his knees.

"That's what I told the Dutchman, though neither of us could find the rock. I reckon the Englisher did that job; he had it all figured out, and meant to keep us here."

I saw her look up at the man's face, and then about in bewilderment.

"You think that—why?"

"Cause it seems ter me nat'ral. I reckon it's 'bout what I would a done if I was in his fix. He had proof against us, if he could get some Indians along as witnesses. Nobody would ever believe what we said, or even wait ter listen. All he had to do was catch us yere, charge us with murder, an' turn them devils loose. That would let him out slick as a whistle."

She stood erect, one hand pressed against her temple.

"Then—then what is to be done?" she questioned blankly, "why—what—quick, look there!" She was bending forward and pointing out at the lake. Some dark, moving object was visible in the water only a few yards from shore.

Brady lunged forward his rifle, yet hesitated, fearing to fire. Whatever it might be—animal or man—the thing was coming directly toward us, swimming with long, stringy locks of wet hair dangling to the shoulders. It was a man beyond doubt, yet for the instant I could not determine whether red or white. As he stood there sunk to his armpits in water, he beheld us for the first time, and there burst from his lips a sudden, guttural exclamation of alarm. With the strange sound Schultz leaped forward, lumbering against me as he passed, and splashed his way out toward the fellow, uttering some exclamation in his native tongue. He reached him, the two voices greeting each other.

"Well!" exclaimed Brady in disgust. "If it ain't another Dutchman. Come in here, you!"

The two waded ashore onto the sand, Schultz's heavy hand grasping his companion's arm, and helping him along. I saw a face white and ghastly in the starlight, lean, smooth-shaven, looking emaciated against the long, dark hair, the eyes bright with fanaticism. He was a tall, spare man, shak-ling so he could hardly stand. The very sight of him aroused my sympathy.

"Don't be afraid," I said soothingly. "We're all white. How did you come here?"

His eyes looked at me as I spoke; then shifted to Schultz's face in silent questioning. The latter was breathing hard, but managed to explain.

"He not talk English ver' good, Mynheer. I tell you wat he say mit me—he vos a Dutch preacher; yaw, mine Gott; yust over py mine own countries; he vos named Adrian Block."

"Did he swim all the way?" asked Brady grinning, but Schultz kept his eyes fastened on me, held by the one thought to which he sought to give utterance.

"He vos Moravian, mynheer; vot you call mis-sionary—so? He vos month in dees country, an' know only to preach."

The girl leaning forward, interrupted with a whisper:

"I recognise the man, monsieur; he was the prisoner I told you of in the Indian camp—the Protestant."

AN IMPORTANT ADDRESS.

SPLENDID REASONS FOR SUPPORTING THE SACKETT RESOLUTION.

Executive Committee for the Advancement of Higher Education in Texas Urge That This Amendment Prevail.

TO THE VOTERS OF TEXAS:

Among the Constitution Amendments to be voted on July 24th, is House Joint Resolution No. 34, better known as the Sackett Resolution. This proposed amendment concerns the State institutions for higher education, and we, the undersigned, desire to commend it without reserve to the people of the State, and to express the unqualified belief that the best interest of the State will be promoted by its adoption.

It is agreed by all who are familiar with the subject, that the existing provisions of the Constitution regarding these institutions are unsatisfactory. At present no money can be appropriated out of the general revenue for the erection of buildings for the University of Texas. This inhibition is the most serious obstacle to the growth of the University. Section 14, of Article 7, of the Constitution, now reads:

"The Legislature shall, also, when deemed practicable, establish and provide for the maintenance of a college or branch university for the instruction of the colored youths of the State, to be located by a vote of the people—provided, that no tax shall be levied, and no money appropriated out of the general revenue, either for this purpose or for the establishment and erection of the buildings of the University of Texas."

It is passing strange that the inhibition against the use of money out of the general revenue should appear as a "rider" in the section which provides for the establishment of a school for negroes. The urgent need of the buildings has been repeatedly stated by the board of regents in the most emphatic terms. The proposed amendment does not give the University any buildings; it merely empowers the Legislature to appropriate money for that purpose. Who would contend that the Legislature ought not to have that power?

The relations of the Agricultural and Mechanical College to the University are not satisfactorily determined by the present provisions of the Constitution. Nobody knows to a certainty what these relations are. Technically, by Section 13, the College is a "Branch" of the University. If it, then, lawful to appropriate money out of the general revenue for buildings for the College? It has generally been held that it is lawful; but at least one governor has held that it is not. There is the ever present danger that after the Legislature has voted money for buildings for the College, the appropriation will be vetoed by the Governor on Constitutional grounds. Surely this uncertainty ought to be removed.

These two are serious objections to the Constitutional provisions as they now stand. The benefits to be secured by the adoption of the proposed amendment are of prime importance.

1. The Legislature will be authorized, in its discretion, to appropriate money for buildings for the University, the Agricultural and Mechanical College, the College of Industrial Arts, and to provide otherwise for their support.

2. The Agricultural and Mechanical College will be separated from the University and made an independent college.

Conditions demand that this be done. In no other way will the College be able to be of the highest service to the people.

The amendment provides for no bonds. It lays no burdens upon the people.

3. In addition to separating the A. & M. College and the University, it also provides that the College of Industrial Arts for white girls shall be permanently located at Denton, with its own governing board. That school has no Constitutional status, and can, therefore, be moved by an act of the Legislature.

4. Under the terms of the proposed amendment a part of the permanent University fund will be transferred to the A. & M. College. The College undoubtedly has an equity in this fund. The College is a branch of the University. Of the lands set aside for the purpose of creating the permanent University fund, one million acres were appropriated specifically for the University and its branches." Again, the fact that the Legislature, in 1879, and in succeeding years, appropriated to the College a part of the revenue from this fund, established the fact that the public men of the time when the Constitution was adopted, believed that the College was entitled to a share in the permanent University fund. The Sackett resolution recognizes this equity and proposes a division which was considered just and fair by the Thirty-fourth Legislature.

The substance of the proposed amendment has been endorsed by the Democratic party, the Republican party, the Farmers' Congress, the State Farmers' Institutes, and by the Texas Bankers' Convention.

The amendment to Article 7, of the Constitution of the State of Texas, providing for the separation of the University of the State of Texas and the Agricultural and Mechanical College, known as the Sackett Resolution, is the response which the Thirty-fourth Legislature makes to these demands.

If the people were just establishing a system of higher institutions, they might well consider the plan of creating one comprehensive institution, whose functions should include all the activities now carried on by the existing institutions. There are strong arguments on both sides of that question. But the time for its consideration has passed. The Agricultural and Mechanical College has been in existence thirty-nine years; the University of Texas thirty-two years. Each has its own history, its own traditions, its own individuality, its own ideals. It is too late to think of consolidating them. They are now, in effect, two independent institutions and have always been so. The technicality under which the College is considered a part of the University, is little more than a legal fiction. It has led to uncertainty and friction, and has stood in the way of the full development of the Agricultural and Mechanical College. The ideal for the College is a school of technology of the first rank. It can never become such while it remains a "branch" of another institution, with vexatious questions continually arising, which affect its very existence.

5. Those who have for years urged the complete separation of the A. & M. College and the University, have done so on the broad ground that separation would be best for both schools. They believe that since these two schools have different spheres in which to work, their usefulness and efficiency will be enhanced by removing any feeling of dependency on the one hand, or responsibility on the other. They should be free from any alliance whatever, each left to its own management, to work out its own destiny, in its own way.

Their work leads along lines that naturally diverge, and so long as one is a branch of the other, friction and discord cannot be avoided.

"A University of the first class," and an A. & M. College, such as Texas ought to have, can be more easily attained by giving to each the same status in law.

We cannot imagine a condition fraught with more contention than would exist if both schools were forced under one yoke, each pulling in opposite directions, a condition liable to occur, unless this amendment is adopted.

Texas is so large and her agricultural interest so extensive and varied, and the need for mechanical arts so great, that the A. & M. College will never have cause to encroach upon the domain of the University.

The field for a university of the first class, in Texas, is so gigantic that the mind cannot grasp its boundaries. A school equipped as the University should be to furnish the most thorough training in all the professions, arts and sciences, will challenge the highest admiration of all the people of Texas, who love knowledge and progress, and the work of both (the University and the Agricultural and Mechanical College) together with the normal schools and the College of Industrial Arts, will meet every demand of the State for higher education.

The adoption of this resolution, on the 24th of July, we believe will wisely and permanently settle all differences between the A. & M. College and the University, and establish them on a sound and equitable basis, and forever remove any just cause for friction.

Cloves Are Dried Buds

The buds of an East Indian tree are picked, dried and then graded according to the percentage of oil they contain—this oil is the source of the clove flavor.

But unless care is taken in grinding, even oily cloves lose much of their flavor. After grinding, the cloves must be protected from evaporation by most careful packing.

You see then that it is not only sure cloves you must insist on, but selected cloves which have been handled throughout the best way to keep them full of the oil which flavors.

That's why we suggest that you insist on White Swan Cloves. Selected from the best grade, ground by our "cool" process to retain flavor and strength and packed in air-tight tins. Your grocer sells White Swan Cloves—the cost is a little more, but the economy is greater because a tin lasts longer.
