Two companions were hurt to a greater or less extent, but only one of them went to the sanitarium for treatment, the other returning to the ranch to notify relatives of the tragedy. The body of Dillon was brought to Amarillo.

Indications, including the wrecking of the car, the broken fence and other physical disturbances point, seemingly, to the conclusion that the car was moving rapidly when the crash came.

The dead man and his disabled companions under the near wrecked car were discovered by Messrs. Bruner and Pruitt who were on a pleasure drive to the canyon. The body was brought to the city along with the injured men, one of the latter being taken to the sanitarium.

PRESBYTERIAN REVIVAL BEGINS SUNDAY AT TABERNACLE.

Preaching by Rev. R. E. Joiner, pastor at Hillsboro.

Sunday morning marked the beginning of the Presbyterian revival meeting. The attendance at both the morning and evening services was large, the attention and interest excellent. Both interest and attendance have continued during the week.

Mr. Lauris Mallard, of Tehuacana, Texas, leader of the song services, reached Canyon Saturday evening. Both as a leader of chorus and congregational singing, and as a soloist, Mr. Mallard at once gained the favor of the community, and many expressions have been heard during the week in commendation of his work. The song services are proving not only attractive, but a powerful spiritual force in the meeting.

Rev. R. E. Joiner, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church, of Hillsboro, Texas, arrived in Canyon Monday afternoon, and has been preaching in both morning and evening services since his arrival. His sermons are at once Scriptural and practical, strong and spiritual. His messages are stimulating to Christians, and a persuasive appeal to the unconverted. His methods are conservative, and tend to lay a strong foundation for the accomplishment of permanent good.

Services are held twice daily, at 10:00 in the morning and 8:15 in the evening. The pastor and people of the Presbyterian Church express appreciation of the sympathy and cooperation thus far accorded by the other churches and the community in general.

MARQUIS WOULD BUY PALO DURO CANYON

Section From Six Mile Crossing To Railroad Bridge North of City—Bonds from Randall and Potter

"Randall and Potter counties should issue bonds and buy that portion of the Palo Duro Canyon extending from the Santa Fe Railroad bridge north of this city to the Six Mile Crossing," stated Prof. R. L. Marquis Saturday.

Amarillo and Canyon have for a number of years discussed the possibility and probability of the National Government taking over the wonderful Palo Duro and creating a national park. Bills have been introduced to that effect in congress. Texas congressmen and senators have pledged themselves to work for a national park. Yet nothing definite has been done in congress that would justify the belief that this canyon would be taken over by the government for years to come.

Both Randall and Potter counties are greatly interested in the project. The establishment of a national park would mean much revenue to both Amarillo and Canyon. The citizens of both towns and counties are becoming anxious about the future of the canyons since it is so largely being bought by cattlemen and the people of this section shut out. It is a question of only a few years until there will be no picnic grounds opened for the public. Will the people of these counties sit idly by and see the greatest work of nature confiscated for a cattle pasture? The cattlemen are not blamed. The canyons are an excellent place for winter pasture and for feeding.

"The automobile means thousands of tourists passing through this section every year as we see by the scores of cars passing through every day," stated Mr. Marquis. Let the counties buy this section of the canyons, establish good automobile roads through it, fix up convenient camping places, and then advertise to the world what we have. It will mean a much greater traffic than we can possibly get without the opening of the canyons. But laying aside the financial possibilities for the two counties, the people owe it to themselves to get this section as a public play ground for ourselves and the future generations. By issuing bonds the coming generation will assist in paying for this pleasure park which then will be enjoying.

"But possibly the greatest thing in connection with this movement would be the prestige it would give in the work of the national park. The government would feel more inclined to buy the entire canyon for a park if they saw such an interest among the local people."

The suggestion of Mr. Marquis is indeed practical from every standpoint and the people of Canyon should take the first step toward the ultimate purchase of this section of the canyon.

COMPULSORY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE WILL BE ENFORCED IN CITY

Children of Scholastic Age Must Enter City Schools The First of the School Year.

The last legislature of the State of Texas passed a compulsory school attendance law which becomes operative on the first day of September 1916. One of the provisions of this law is that the board of trustees of any independent district may fix the time of the compulsory attendance period, that period being sixty days for the school years 1916-17. In compliance with its duty under this law the School Board of the Canyon Independent School District has ordered that the attendance period of sixty days required by law shall begin coincident with the opening of the Canyon City Schools, which will be Tuesday, Sept. 12th 1916.

All children who are eight and not over fourteen years old on the first day of September will be required to enter school on the first day of the sixty consecutive school days of the season and continue in school thereafter during the school year 1916-17. This law provides that parents or guardians of children who are of attendance age, failing to place said children in school as required by this act, shall be prosecuted and upon conviction shall be fined for the first offense five dollars, for the second offense ten dollars, and for each offense thereafter twenty-five dollars, each separate day's nonattendance counting a separate offense. If further provisions that any person or firm employing any child subject to the provisions of this act shall be prosecuted in like manner.

The State Department of Education has prepared notice to be sent to parents and guardians and blanks to be filled out and returned to the proper authorities. It is hoped that when a parent or guardian receives one of these blanks with request to fill out same and return to the teacher that it will be done promptly and in good spirit so that the school authorities may keep a correct record of all delinquencies of any nature. This law requires the teacher to keep such a record and that will make necessary the co-operation of all concerned.

In a district such as the Canyon Independent School District, the law makes the superintendent of the school and the peace officers of the precinct the attendance officers, and it is hoped that every patron will lend his hearty co-operation to the enforcement of its provisions. It is a good law, enacted for the betterment of the educational conditions of the children of Texas, and it should be enforced.

It is not thought that there will be any trouble in putting the law into full effect in this district, but the above is published as one of its requirements that the people may understand, at least, its substance.

W. F. Thurman Dead.

Tuesday forenoon W. F. Thurman died at the family home eleven miles north of Canyon following a lingering illness of several months. He was forty-seven years old and was well known in Randall and Potter counties.

Mr. Thurman has lived in this section for the country for a number of years and leaves a widow and eight children.

He was a Christian and a member of the Baptist Church at Amarillo; also a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

The latter had charge of the exercises at the Cemetery. Some of the children have attended the Public School and Normal in Canyon and have a number of friends who sympathize with them in this hour of sadness.

The funeral services were held at the Baptist Church, Rev. B. F. Fronbarger officiating, following interment at Dreamland Cemetery.

Mrs. R. W. O'Keefe Dead.

Mrs. R. W. O'Keefe died at her home at Plainview Monday afternoon after several months bad health. She had undergone several operations previously but had failed to get relief and was ready to be taken to the Sanitarium again when she died.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Keefe formerly lived in this city and he still owns considerable property here. They have many friends who are shocked to hear of the sudden death of Mrs. O'Keefe.

She leaves a daughter and husband to mourn her death. The sympathy of the Canyon people go to the bereaved ones in this hour of sadness.

BEAUTIFUL PALO DURO ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Palo Duro Canyon is universally attractive and remarkably interesting to all who see it. Representatives from the farms in all sections enjoyed this treat under most pleasant surroundings yesterday. Dr. Lowber of Austin said that he had visited every interesting section of all the world and had not looked upon more entrancing mountain scenes. The Hon. George Riddle of Ballas was passing through Amarillo and joined by invitation the picnic crowd. In a speech on the rim of the great gorge at Blue Springs Judge Riddle said that he had visited every country and had never had such a surprise as here. This was his first trip to the Panhandle. He said that either the national government, state government or Amarillo should by all means make it one of the great parks and playgrounds of the Southwest. Col. Louis Wortham, editor of the Forth Worth Star-Telegram, spent yesterday at Chalk Hollow and was enthusiastic in his expressions of surprise. After climbing down and back he was so overcome with the enormity of the canyon that he said that he was going to come again right away in order to see more of this wonder.

In my judgment Amarillo is sleeping on the most valuable asset. Most of this treat of nature is now in private hands. Only a small section adjoining Chalk Hollow is open to sell at all. While this can be purchased now is the time for Amarillo to buy it and open it for everyone. Judge Riddle said that if Dallas had it with this climate they would capitalize it. EARNEST C. MOBLEY.

Ten Commandments for Your Home Town

By Rev. E. Fred Eastman in The American City.

I. Thou shalt love thy home above all other towns. Thou shalt speak no evil of her; thou shalt be loyal to her people, worthy of the great men and women of her past, confident in her present, and full of hope for her future.

II. Thou shalt guard thy home town from the hosts of evil that would invade her and destroy her soul. The saloon, the gambling den and the house of iniquity shalt thou crush under thy heel, for they are enemies of both God and man. Thou shalt keep the good name of the home town clean and without stain or blemish.

III. Thou shalt elect as thy servants in political office, men of strong character, without fear or favor of the boss or the ring, eager to conserve the best interests of thy people. And when thou hast elected and support them and encourage them; for their temptations are many and their burdens are not light.

IV. Thou shalt exalt thy public school and honor it all the days of thy life with the best of teachers, building and equipment, for the school is the cradle of democracy. Thy children are hers, and they shall be the citizens of tomorrow. No training is too good for them and no preparations superfluous.

V. Thou shalt defend the health of thy home town from the death that lurks in marshes, swamps and heaps of filth. Thou shalt exterminate the fly and likewise the mosquito. The tubercle bacillus shalt thou drive before thee with the sun and fresh air as thy allies.

VI. Thou shalt build good roads and keep them good, for by her roads is a village known for good or ill. Thou shalt not be content with sand in thy cup holes, but only with oil and stone and tar. Eternal watchfulness shall be thy motto, that thy roads may not rave nor thy supervisor forget thee.

VII. Thou shalt keep thy home town beautiful. The hills, the trees, the waters, that nature has given her thou shalt preserve in sacred trust. No hovel of man shalt thou permit to disfigure them. Thou shalt keep thy home and thy door yards clean and cheerful. Thou shalt burn the caterpillar in thy tent. Thy waters shalt thou purify, that they may bring thee life and strength. The future of thy town shalt thou plan with care and haphazard, but full of thought and loving care, as the plans of a mother for the growth of her child.

VIII. Thou shalt go to church. Thou shalt not consider thyself too wise nor too busy nor too good to spend an hour or two on Sunday with thy neighbors in the worship of God. Thou shalt not send thy children to church thou shalt bring them there. Thou

Capitol Survey Costs $10,000

Farewell Tribune: R. S. Hunnicut and party of surveyors who are making a resurvey of the Capitol Syndicate lands are camped about three miles east of town. About two years ago a report was had sold and still had in their possession several hundred thousand acres of land more than was originally turned over to them, for the building of the State Capitol at Austin. This rumor grew out of an idle remark made by a former employee of the Capitol Company which started an investigation culminating in the passage of a bill by the State Legislature carrying an appropriation of $10,000 for the purpose of making the survey, which has been in progress the past eighteen months.

The Capitol Company has a company of surveyors following those representing the State, and thus far the discrepancy has proved to be small compared with the expense entailed by both the State and Capitol Company.

What Would We Do Without Sugar?

We are so used to sugar that we are likely to forget to give it its proper important place. Right now if somebody asked you what sugar was good for you'd probably say—"Oh! to put in coffee and tea and for making candies and desserts." That's it—we all think of sugar as a sweetener and overlook its value as a food. The chemists classify sugar as a hydrocarbon—that name may or may not be interesting to us, but what is interesting is their statement that it has, as a hydrocarbon, equal food value with the starchy foods and by digestion largely adds to the fatty tissues of the body.

Why do we eat sugar anyway? Your first answer might be: "Because it is sweet and tastes good." Of itself the answer would be correct, but the more important fact is that the body craves sugar because it needs it. And when the body craves something it gives us an appetite for it. So primarily that's why we like sugar and things made with sugar and not just because they are sweet.

In view of the fact that sugar has gone up so tremendously of late these facts are interesting because we find that instead of the luxury sugar having gone up it is the FOOD sugar that has raised its price. Yet—even though the price is up we have to have our sweet food just the same.

Certainly the makers of that delicious beverage Coca-Cola must have discovered that sugar is up, because one of the principal ingredients in making Coca-Cola syrup is fine cane sugar. Think of it—they use an average of 80 tons of sugar a day—about 4 carloads. But unlike many manufacturers that company has itself borne the raise and so you and I pay just the same today for our bottle or glass of Coca-Cola that we've always paid. Incidentally, this phase of the situation is a good reminder of the benefits one gets from drinking a beverage as pure and good as Coca-Cola. Not only do we please our palates and derive wholesome refreshment from the drink but we also give our systems that bit of sugar sweetness that they crave and which is necessary to health and tissue. Is it any wonder then that Coca-Cola is so popular and so universally drunk that it has been called "The drink the nation drinks"?

Hughes and Bryan

Charles Evans Hughes is the Republican presidential nominee and is making a coast to coast speaking campaign. William Jennings Bryan is a Democratic leader who is conducting a very interesting writing campaign. The former secretary of state is the publisher of the Commoner. This interesting bit of news is reproduced from Mr. Bryan's paper:

Deeds vs. Talk

In the fall of 1915 proposed woman's suffrage amendments to the constitution of New York and New Jersey were submitted to the voters of those states.

President Wilson made a special trip from Washington to Princeton to register and another trip of vote for votes for women.

The record of the board of elections of New York county fail to disclose that Mr. Hughes either registered or voted on this occasion.

Furthermore the records show that since 1914 Mr. Hughes has neglected to exercise at all the right to suffrage—the highest duty of a citizen.

Charles Evans Hughes had an opportunity to vote for woman's suffrage as a citizen of the state of New York. He dodged. Now he is a champion of the Susan B. Anthony plan of national suffrage. Editor Bryan says that Mr. Hughes hasn't cast a ballot since 1910. Woodrow Wilson journeyed all the way from Washington to New Jersey to vote for woman's suffrage. He has refused to accept the Susan B. Anthony plan. Hughes dodged the issue when he had the chance. Wilson faced the issue and voted for woman's suffrage. Really, the Republican party made a great mistake in its choice of a presidential nominee. Theodore Roosevelt should have been named. He never dodges an issue and he is willing to take the time to vote on election day.—Ft. Worth Recrd.

What, we wonder, was the ultimate result of an experiment made in Marylebone, England, in April, 1854? Two Frenchmen affirmed their ability to produce 150 four-pound loaves from a sack of flour, which at that time produced only 90 to 100 loaves. The Marylebone guardians lent their bakery for a trial. The bread was to bear chemical tests, and to contain nothing prejudicial to health, but the process by which it was made was to remain the secret of the two Frenchmen, who offered a demonstration of their skill. The experiment was declared at the time to be perfectly successful. Two sacks of flour, under seal, were issued by the workhouse authorities. One was worked up by English bakers, and produced 90 loaves, weighing 360 pounds; the other was worked up by the French bakers, and yielded 134 loaves, weighing 520 pounds. Several scientific men were present, to "see fair," but not, as may be guessed, to penetrate the mystery of the French bakers.

Great issues are at stake in France today. Foes are being faced without and within her gates. The world has its eyes fixed on the Vosges, but a struggle as dire if not as spectacular is being fought within the walls of the chamber of deputies. The enemy is "alcoholism"; the champion of reform, the veteran M. Ribot. The nation is at his back, but the question is, How far does the chamber of deputies represent the nation?

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good. To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

The victory Saturday of Senator Culberson was one for the administration. The voters of Texas are for Wilson. It is a note worthy fact that right on the border where Wilson is supposed to be very unpopular he carried every county. It was a test of what the voters all over the United States will do in November.

The Dutschland arrived home safely. It was a test of German ingenuity, but such commerce will never be profitable.

News print is going some. A year ago the News bought it at $2.75 per hundred. Now the price is $6.75, and mighty sorry stuff at that, as you may judge by the quality we are using—but it is the best on the market.

Glance over the news section of this issue and note the real estate that is changing hands in Randall county. All of this has been done in the past two weeks. Randall county dirt is a profitable investment. If you don't think so, look at the people who are buying it.

Thanks Friends in Texas

Washington, Aug. 27.—Declaring that his renomination in yesterday's primary was a decisive indorsement of the National Democracy, Senator Charles A. Culberson gave out a signed statement in which he expressed his profound gratitude to his Democratic friends in Texas!

"To My Democratic Friends in Texas: The result of the primary election held yesterday naturally appeals to me from two viewpoints, one in its relation to national affairs and the other personal to myself. It gratifies me, therefore, to know my nomination for the Senate carries with it a decisive indorsement of the National Democracy. As to the personal aspect of this splendid victory, it is beyond my power to express more than that I am intensely proud of your friendship and profoundly grateful for your confidence."

STATE FAIR DIRECTOR TELLS OF THIS YEAR'S BIG PLANS

Among many prominent Texans who have given largely of their time and talents to the task of making the State Fair of Texas the biggest of all annual expositions none is better or more favorably known than E. M. Kahn, who has been connected with the Fair for many years.

In a recent statement concerning the work of this big institution this year, Mr. Kahn had this to say: "I believe firmly that the 1916 State Fair of Texas will entertain more people than have ever before visited any State Fair anywhere. I know—of this there can be no possible doubt—that they will see the greatest Fair ever assembled."

"While it is now nearly two months until opening day, there are plenty of present indications to warrant the above statements, particularly in the sales of privileges and concessions which sale has, at this time, reached the largest figure in the entire history of the Fair."

"The dates selected for this year's Fair, October 14 to 23, will bring Fair visitors to Dallas at a most opportune time—just when the incomparable Texas climate is at its very best—and when they arrive here in Dallas they will find just the finest kind of a welcome and entertainment provided for them."

"I've seen a great many Fairs myself, and have had some small part in preparing them. I have absolutely no hesitation in saying that this one coming will eclipse any other that I ever knew about, and I am urgently inviting all my friends to drop everything on or about the 14th of October, and come to Dallas, for I know there will be pleasure and profit in every one of these sixteen days."

NEW STATE FAIR TURNSTILES TO HANDLE LARGE CROWDS

Hundreds of people have often wondered how the hundreds of thousands of visitors to the State Fair of Texas are so expeditiously passed through the turnstiles and for information on this matter, we have the following, from no less an authority than William Doran, who for years has been director in charge of the gates and turnstiles at the State Fair of Texas.

"It is a little confusing to even a close observer," said Mr. Doran, "to find out how Fair crowds are handled at the gates, and for the information of those who care to know I would say that all possible speed in admitting visitors is secured through the use of the new automatic cash turnstiles with which all entrances to Fair Park are equipped. These turnstiles operate by placing a coin in the proper receptacle, and the number of entrants is automatically registered. There is consequently, no confusion in making change or buying tickets, and we are able to pass crowds through at a rapid speed. I might say, in this connection, that we have made our plans for this year to take care of a million visitors, and I confidently expect the total of visitors to reach that figure."

MACHINERY EXHIBITS LARGEST IN STATE FAIR'S HISTORY

Many thousands of annual visitors to the State Fair of Texas, who go to Dallas particularly to see the newest and most improved specimens of farm implements, vehicles, and machinery will be rewarded this year by a bigger and better display than has ever before been seen at any Fair. J. C. Duke, director in charge of this department, states that there is every reason to believe that there will be more exhibitors in line this year than ever before, and that the exhibits will be more interesting and more valuable than formerly.

Particular attention will be paid this year to tractors, as this is an item of farm machinery in which the farmers of the Southwest is vitally interested. It is stated that practically all of the manufacturers of the popular models have made application to the Fair management for space in which to exhibit their tractors.

A feature of the tractor exhibits which is expected to be of much interest to Fair visitors this year will be the showing of the various belt operations possible on the good modern tractor. Farmers of this section had an opportunity recently at Dallas, to see and compare the draw-bar possibilities of the various machines, but the best operations have never been jointly shown in this section.

The Implements and Vehicles divisions will be complete with a showing of everything that is latest and best in those lines, and it is quite sure that the farmers of the Southwest can find much of profit in the exhibits in this department of the State Fair of Texas this year.

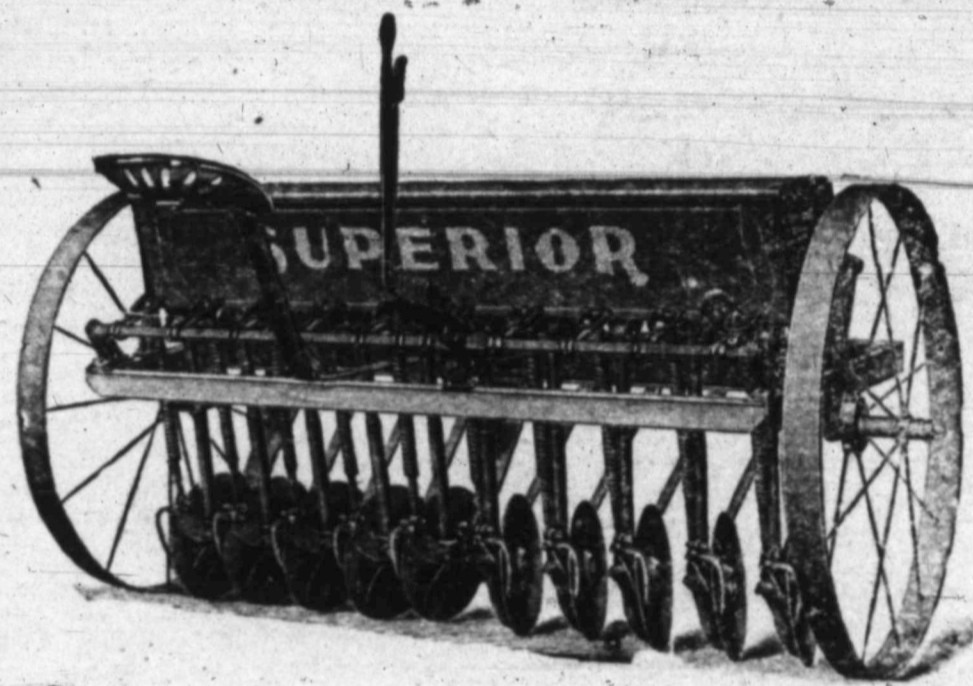

The dates set for the Fair are October 14 to 23, inclusive.

Superior Wheat Drill

The word "SUPERIOR" best-expresses the quality of this important farm implement—it is superior in workmanship, durability and simplicity and above all it is superior in work. More even distribution of the seed than from any other drill made. The control of amount of seed planted is absolutely perfect. We carry in stock the 12 to 16 disc drills with or without grass seeders and press wheels and are selling them to the best farmers in this section because these best farmers know that the Superior is a name that tells a true story.

Now that the ground has been thoroughly wet by several big summer rains every particle of this moisture can be preserved to grow wheat by a liberal use of the P. & O. Disc Harrow. If the ground is allowed to dry without using the disc harrow, cracks will come in the soil and a great portion of the moisture escape, but the disc harrow will form a mulch and preserve all this moisture for the growing of your wheat.

East Texas Opposed

As usual, when the Panhandle and Plains Country of Texas wants anything certain parts of East Texas are lined up in opposition, and in order to land the branch Agricultural and Mechanical College there will be a fight. Despite the fact this section of the state has been paying taxes for years and years and getting little in return, some poor little counties of East Texas find it within their minds to cry out in defense of "our great institutions."

When Texas was young, and the people came flocking in from other states, settlement was along the eastern border before the people became sufficiently bold to advance to the westward and subdue the glorious

PRESIDENTIAL POINTERS

The first presidential election took place January 7, 1789. Only 10 of the original 13 states took part in the election, New York not having passed an election law and North Carolina and Rhode Island not having ratified the Constitution. The first Wednesday of February following, the electors made choice for president and vice president and their votes were counted April 6. Washington received 69, one vote of every elector; Adams, 34; Jay, 9; Harrison, 6; Rutledge, 6; Hancock, 4; Clinton, 3; Huntington, 2; Milton, 2, and three others one each. Washington and Adams thus became president and vice president and were inaugurated in New York, April 30, 1789.

plains. In the earlier days when the eastern and central sections of the state were the center of population and importance, the state eleemosynary institutions were planted convenient to the people. Since that day Texas has become really great and people have settled over all the vast areas included within her borders. The Agricultural and Mechanical College Station is remote from all this section of the state, and more than that, the agricultural conditions and the crops adapted to that section of the state are as different from Northwest, Middle West and Southwest as it is possible for them to be.

The people in this magnificent plains section of the state feel that they are entitled and need an institution more closely in touch with the conditions and possibilities here. They are making a fight for this institution, and despite the opposition from East Texas, should and doubtless will get it.

This section of the state has asked for but little, and this request comes with the backing of all the people west of the 98th meridian. The proposition is a platform demand and should be made a go. Each year finds this section of the state more densely populated and the demand for educational and other facilities growing apace. The branch Agricultural and Mechanical College will serve a real purpose for the entire people of all this territory, and the fight for its establishment will not be abandoned until a successful termination is reached.—Amarillo Daily News.

Siftings

It is now announced that saddle horses are again coming into style and that a really handsome animal may be purchased anywhere from $1500 to $3000. This is strongly confirmatory of a belief prevalent among a very large and important section of the public that just as soon as automobiles began to promise to come within reach something would happen.

Prominent military officers have expressed their approval of a flaring torch, the late development of a Texas inventor, that is primarily designed to enable an aerial scout to make observations behind the enemy lines at night, says a writer in Popular Mechanics magazine. The instrument has a number of ingenious features, and has, as a whole the earmarks of being not only an effective, but also a destructive weapon. It is potentially capable of brilliantly illuminating a considerable area of a battlefield for a period of 10 minutes, finally exploding, destroying whatever may be within 30 or 40 feet.

A new method of fish refrigeration has been invented in Denmark. It consists of freezing the fish by direct submersion in a fluid cooled off to 15 degrees below zero, centigrade, the fish being frozen in two to four hours. The inventor claims that by this quick method the fish tissues are not broken, the fish keep their dried and natural appearance on being thawed, and the slime is not dried up as it is when the freezing is done in air, but forms a protective layer around the fish. A French government expert who studied the new system made a favorable report concerning it.

Orders have been received by local equipment on hand for the handling Horatio, Arkansas, this summer. This movement is due to commence about September 20, and it will continue about six weeks. An average of two straight carloads of green snap beans per day is the estimated amount which will go by freight, and this for the entire period will aggregate about 75 cars. Added to this the express car movement is to be considered, as there will probably be an average of one car per day, thus bringing the total shipment of snap beans out of Horatio during the shipping season to about 115 carloads.

A self-operating eye, which when attached to a typewriter enables that machine to copy any printed matter properly set before it, is the invention of a Brooklyn electrical engineer. The eye consists of a large sphere having a lens on its front side and a field corresponding to a retina on which are situated a large number of selenium cells connected with the carriage of the typewriter and is so focused that the image of but one letter is reflected in it at a time. Popular Mechanics Magazine, in its July number, tells how the machine operates.

The other day a New York suit house received $8 worth of postage stamps with an order for a dress from Western Kansas. When mail order houses receive more than $5 in stamps from any customer it always is reported to the postal authorities. The United States district attorney was notified to go to the little town and investigate the $8 stamp deal. There he found a 16-year-old girl ill with worry. She clerked in the bank and has never been able to have pretty clothes like the rest of the girls. The suit company's catalog had tempted her to steal the stamps to buy a dress. The girl's distress and contrition was so keen that her employers and Uncle Sam will give her another chance.

Many Women Who Say Wrong Thing

By Ellen Adair, Philadelphia, Pa.

It is a curious fact that many well-intentioned people have a wonderful capacity for saying the wrong thing and getting themselves into endless trouble through lack of a little kindly tact. Poor souls, this habit of "putting their foot in it" has become chronic, and after a time they don't know whether they are hurting other people's feelings or not.

The woman who possesses the kindest heart in the world and who would be miserable were she to realize the extent of her blunders is often and quite unwittingly most tactless. "Oh, my dear," she will exclaim effusively and with a very well-meant sincerity when greeting some woman acquaintance, "I am so very, very pleased to see you! But do you know, I would have hardly recognized you? For you have grown so dreadfully thin and haggard! What have you been doing to yourself? You have lost all your pretty color and look years older."

These remarks can scarcely come under the category of tactfulness, and are very far from being conducive to a pleasant atmosphere. No woman likes to be assured of the passing of the years, nor does she like to have it borne upon her that her beauty is a fleeting affair. Yet the tactless woman does all this without in the least realizing the enormity of the crime. Then when her friend shows symptoms of chilliness in manner the tactless woman will become aggrieved and will manifest symptoms of disapproval.

"I can't think how it is that so many of my old friends don't come to see me any more," she will announce in injured tones, probably to her long-suffering husband, who knows the reason only too well, but dares not tell her so. "I don't have nearly so many friends as I used to have!"

The reason of this lies in the growth of the tactless habit. Tactlessness is never static; it must either increase or decrease. Unfortunately, it generally exhibits the former tendency. Hence, after a certain point, the habit has progressed so far that it has become positively unpleasant. Few people will stand that sort of thing for long.

Rudeness and bluntness of manner never did win friends. Without wishing to deprecate the value of candor and sincerity, at the same time these may be combined with tact. The woman without tact never will be popular—that is one thing sure and certain.

I know an attractive girl, whose whole charm lies in the fact that she always manages to say the right thing in the right place and at the right time. She places the feeling of others before her own.

Just because she is sensitive herself, she has learned that others may be equally sensitive, and that kindness is the finest thing to cultivate. Kindness implies tact, and tact means the affection of one's friends and the liking of everyone with whom one comes in contact.

Sir Richard Arkwright, inventor of the cotton spinning frame, was a barber. John Bunyan, author of "The Pilgrim's Progress," was a traveling tinker. Robert Burns, Scotland's lyric poet, was the son of a poor nurseryman, and was himself a small farmer and revenue officer. Christopher Columbus, discover of the New World, was a sailor, the son of a wool comber. Daniel Defoe, author of Robinson Crusoe, was the son of a butcher. A New York woman asked a little girl to hold her baby for her a minute and gave her a dime and the baby. Now the puzzle is was she well paid.

It is estimated by the mayor of Boston that 500,000 little children were emancipated by the recent federal law against child labor. President Wilson has decided not to make an extensive campaign this year.

Armstrong Farmer Cashes His Swine

The following statement from Major W. J. Duffel of Armstrong county, was published recently in the Claude News and indicates that there is money in hogs:

"For twelve years I was employed by the United States government as an expert on agriculture and as such visited all parts of Texas, delivering lectures and advising with farmers. Later on I decided to engage in hog farming exclusively, having become convinced of the great profits to be made in that business, and of all counties in the state, and I was familiar with nearly all of them, I selected Armstrong county. I located here eight years ago, bought 60 acres more, and began the exclusive raising of hogs. I made good from the start and knew I had selected one of the best hog countries in the state. Later events have more than convinced me that I was correct. I have made a direct profit, over expenses, of from $1,800.00 to $2,500.00 per year every year since on hogs. Of course, I raised all my own garden truck, milk, fruits, etc., and only keep sufficient stock for my primary needs. Hog production was my business. I raised only full blooded Poland Chinas and never have less than 60 to 80 head. I have never seen hogs do better. It is the greatest swine country in America.

"I also planted a small orchard, only 110 trees, peaches, apples, pears and plums, and also a small vineyard. From this I have had ample fruit for home consumption and made an additional $120.00 per year profit.

"I raise my own feed, milo, kafir and feterita and pasture on barley. I am well satisfied with what I have done, and can highly recommend this country."

The Awakening of the West

It is proposed to hold a meeting, probably in Fort Worth, of all members of the legislature from counties west of the ninety-eight meridian and of other interested persons from that territory for the purpose of formulating plans for a campaign to obtain from the thirty-fifth legislature an appropriation for a branch Agricultural & Mechanical College to be located in West Texas.

By bringing strong pressure to bear upon the committees on platform and resolutions at the Houston convention of the Democratic party the West Texas people had a plank incorporated in the party platform demanding the creation of such an institution, and it is now proposed to see to it that the legislature carries out the party pledge.

The proposal has more significance than appears upon the surface. It evinces a determination on the part of the people of West Texas to obtain the college, to be sure, but to the observer of the trend of things in recent sessions of the legislature it evinces more than that. It means that West Texas is getting ready to assert her rights in the law-making body of the state.

It has long been evident that this vast section of our state has peculiar needs which are relatively of little importance to other sections which are more populous and which have reached a greater degree of development. It also has been evident that many members of the legislature from other sections have been inclined to pay very little attention to those needs. It will be remembered that the bounty bill met with determined opposition from certain East Texas representatives at the regular session of the thirty-fourth legislature, and the cry of "my people don't want anything like that" was distinctly heard as a valid objection. Of course, the bill passed, but it developed the fact that West Texas might expect opposition to demands for legislation peculiarly adapted to her needs and, moreover, it served to prove also that West Texas can fight if need be.

The particular issue involved in that case, and the particular issue involved is the demand for an A. & M. college, are not of consequence compared with the bigger fact that while abhorring anything that savors of sectionalism, West Texas is getting ready to battle for her needs against the sectionalism of members from other parts of the state.

The whole of Texas, we believe, is approaching an era of development which will transcend anything like it in the past. West Texas and the Panhandle especially will witness marvelous development during the next decade. In many cases it probably will be found that legislation will be needed in connection with this development. It can be reasonably expected that West Texas will need certain legislation which will benefit her citizens to a greater degree than it will those of other sections. A fair recognition of this condition would prompt the representatives of other sections to assist in obtaining this. West Texas always has gladly joined in enacting measures designed to aid in developing Texas, irrespective of the fact that the bulk of the benefit went to other sections. Her representatives never have been deterred by a narrow sectionalism. What sectionalism there has been has come from other parts of the state and has been directed against West Texas.

But West Texas is waking up. She intends to assert her rights henceforward. That, as we see it, is the chief significance of the proposed meeting of the West Texas members of the legislature. The indomitable spirit of the West will be felt at Austin, and a greater development of the entire state will follow.—Star Telegram.

Setting up one's own standard of right and wrong and expecting others to conform to it.

Trying to measure the enjoyment of others by our own.

Expecting uniformity of opinion.

Looking for judgment and experience in youth.

Endeavoring to mould all dispositions alike.

Estimating men and women by their nationality or by any outside quality.

Refusing to yield in unimportant trifles.

Looking for perfection in our own actions.

Worrying ourselves and others about what cannot be remedied.

Not alleviating as much suffering as we can.

Not making allowances for traits in others, apparently unfitting themselves for success in life.

Considering anything impossible that we ourselves cannot perform.

Refusing to believe anything that our finite mind cannot grasp.

Living as if the present moment would last forever.

SECRET OF A LONG LIFE

You sometimes see a woman whose old age is as exquisite as was the perfect bloom of her youth. You wonder how this came about. Here are some of the reasons:

She knew how to forget disagreeable things.

She did not expect too much from her friends.

She mastered the art of saying pleasant things.

She made whatever work that came to her congenial.

She kept her nerves well in hand and inflicted them on no one.

She relieved the miserable and sympathized with the sorrowful.

She retained her illusions and did not believe all the world wicked and unkind.

She never forgot that kind words and a smile cost nothing, but are priceless treasures to the discouraged.

She did unto others as she would be done by, and now that old age has come to her and there is a halo of white hair about her head, she is loved and considered. This is the secret of a long life and a happy one.—Exchange.

Aeroplane as a Life-Saver

Proposed Aerial Coast Patrol Will Be of Great Value in Time of Peace as Well as in War

By ADMIRAL ROBERT E. PEARY
Chairman National Aerial Coast Patrol Commission

ADMIRAL PEARY.

Although it has taken the spectacular exploits of the greatest war in history to focus the minds of the people on the marvels of the aeroplane, the great value of this latest wonder of the world will be as an agency of peace. It will soon prove itself more of a life-saver than a life-waster. The aeroplane's field of usefulness is expanding daily.

It would be a criminal misuse of human genius and the very debauchery of science if the only purpose of the aeroplane was to skulk through God's blue sky in search of prey.

For one day of war there are ten days of peace, and even when one part of the world responds to the clash of arms the other part is a humming hive of industry.

Therefore the stage of efficiency and perfection which the aeroplane has reached in 22 months of war is only a forerunner of what is to come when strong men again at peace have time and thought and energy to fit the aeroplane into its proper place as an instrument for the advancement of civilization.

There are many ways in which the aeroplane will save lives, and is in a position to do so now. There is a way already at hand, for which there is a need almost daily—namely, the aerial burglar-alarm system now being advocated by the commission of which I have the honor to be chairman.

The national aerial coast patrol commission was organized last January in New York, and now has offices in the United States Coast Survey building in Washington. Its purpose is to guard the long and irregular coast lines of the United States with a continuous chain of hydroaeroplanes. Day and night it will watch over 5,000 miles of coast, to save lives in time of peace and to be the wary eyes of our national defense system when war comes.

This plan was suggested last August in a speech I made before the Rotary club of Portland, Me. Although it was put forward at a conference on preparedness, nevertheless from its very inception my idea has been that, after all, its greatest value to the American people will be the good work it is to do along our shores and out at sea in protecting lives, ships and cargoes, while performing the duties of a military patrol.

Such also has been the thought of all the distinguished public officials and citizens who have rallied to my support in the organization of the commission. This list includes two senators, two representatives, two assistant secretaries, a well-known New York banker, and a brilliant young inventor, the worthy son of a worthy sire. The presidents of the various aero clubs, the adjutants general of the states' militia and the commandants of the various state naval militia are also members. We are all working together, and we propose to establish by popular subscriptions a complete chain of hydroaeroplane stations, stretching from Eastport, Me., down the Gulf of Mexico, and around all the way to Cape Flattery, state of Washington, at the head of Puget sound.

The Aero Club of America—the center of aeronautical activity in this country—gave the idea its most hearty indorsement a little later, and it was formally launched at the annual dinner of the club, held in New York on January 12 of this year. Then followed the organization of this commission, to which names have been added from time to time, so that the membership is now as follows:

Central committee, Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, Senator Charles F. Johnson of Maine, Representative Julius Kahn of California, Representative Charles Lieb of Indiana, author of the bill now pending before congress to create an independent department of aeronautics with the secretary in the president's cabinet, which is in line with what Germany, France and Great Britain have done; Byron R. Newton, assistant secretary of the treasury; William M. Ingraham, assistant secretary of war; Dr. E. Lester Jones, superintendent of the United States Coast and Geodetic survey; Dr. H. C. Frankensfield, chief forecaster of the federal weather bureau; Hon. Emerson McMillin, the New York banker, and John Hays Hammond, Jr.

A campaign was begun at once in Portland, Me., under the direction of Mayor Ingraham, now the assistant secretary of war, and the $10,000 necessary to provide one station and machine as a unit in the plan was raised in a month. New York city next fell into line with a machine, Washington has just started a campaign under the auspices of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, and preliminary sums have been raised just as a starter in other coast cities.

The 50 stations will cost $500,000 to install, it is estimated, and it is certain that a single hydroaeroplane, patrolling its beat 50 miles or more at sea, some day will see a great ship in distress, and reporting to the shore through its light radio apparatus, effect the saving of hundreds of lives, and a ship and cargo more valuable than the initial cost of the entire system.

This illustration could be multiplied by 50, for what one unit can do all the others can do. When the system is increased there will be still another line of life-saving and military patrol pickets 50 miles beyond the first line, or at least 100 miles off shore. Add to all this the value of the proposed system in detecting derelicts and submerged menaces to navigation, and for cheapness and efficiency we will have an organization of the kind unexcelled in any other country.

Unable to Learn

"There are well-meaning people, utterly incapable of learning any lesson taught by history, utterly incapable of understanding aright what has gone on before their very eyes during the last year or two, who, nevertheless, wish to turn this country into an occidental China—the kind of China which every intelligent Chinaman of the present day is seeking to abolish."
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

United States Can Be Invaded

Roumania Joins Allies

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Roumania has thrown her lot with the Entente Allies by declaring war on Austria-Hungary and almost simultaneously Germany declared war on Roumania. Already the Roumanian troops are seeking entry into Transylvania province through the Carpathians toward Kronstadt, the chief city of Transylvania and in the direction of Hermannstadt, evidently in an effort to press northward through Transylvania toward the Bukovina and Galician borders, and to take in the read the Austro-Germans that are trying to hold the Russians back from entering the plains of Hungary.

Nothing has come through to indicate what preparations have been made by the Bulgarians to offset a probable attack by the Roumanians along the Danube and through Dobrudja, or by the Black Sea. It is estimated that Roumania will be able to throw a million men in the field.

I Am a Tack Beware

I am a tack. I was made in a great factory for small purposes. Often I simply hold in place the carpet upon which we tread. No attention is given me until I get the chance to go upon the highways of life, when the great monster, the motor car, travels at a speed too great for such as I. Although they are a thousand times greater than I, sometimes I check their speed, and they wonder from whence I come, but I never tell. Often I am called hard luck in disguise but more often I am termed things which are spoken in muffled tones and not in the presence of ladies. I am a tack, look out for me, or I will cause you unthought of delays. My head is broad upon which to stand—my point is sharp with which to stick. I am a tack—Beware!—Motor Age.
