

WORD CATTLE ARE WINNERS IN THE KANSAS CITY SHOW

Number of Firsts Give to Cattle from the C. T. Word Ranch in a Very Fine Show.

Judge Word was in Kansas City last week with a bunch of his fine cattle and succeeded in getting away with a bunch of the big premiums.

This years he won with both the Hereford and his Galloway cattle.

Championship prize for range cattle of the Southwest district, open to all breeds, won with a car of Herefords.

The following were the premiums won by his shipment:

Under one year old—Third on the Herefords.

Two years and under three years old—Second on Galloways.

Range cattle—Hereford steers, first, second on Galloways; fourth on Herefords.

Steers and spayed heifers one year and under—Third on Herefords.

Judge Words has one of the finest herds in the Panhandle and never fails in winning wherever he shows.

He had added much fame to the Panhandle country by the production of this high quality cattle.

It is well to note that the winners of the championship in the shows came from the Panhandle.

The load that won at the Panhandle State Fair was this winner in Kansas City, which is indeed an enviable record, showing against the corn fed cattle of the Mississippi Valley.

Frank Haggart Freed.

Frank Haggart of Amarillo, who was tried here in district court for rape, in which case here was a mistrial, was freed by a jury in Carson county last week.

The second trial was attempted in this county, but after examining over one hundred men only eight jurors were obtained, and since so many were used in getting the first jury that it was thought possible to get a second jury, the case was transferred to Carson county. This was the fourth trial of the case.

More than fifty people from this city attended the Buffalo Hunt at Goodnight last Friday given by Col. Charles Goodnight. They reported a monstrous crowd, who had come from far and wide to see the last performance of pioneer days enacted on the Panhandle Plains.

COUNTY SCHOOL HAVE A VERY FINE ATTENDANCE

Judge C. E. Coss Believes That it Will be Twenty Five Per Cent Above Last Year.

Judge C. E. Coss reports that so far he has had but one case reported to him in the way of enforcing the compulsory school attendance law, of which he had charge in the country schools of the county.

The one case reported was easily adjusted and without trouble of any kind.

Judge Coss says that all of the first months reports are not yet in his office but he believes that from the reports that he has the school attendance this year will be easily twenty-five per cent better than that of last year.

Judge Coss is well pleased with the excellent corps of teachers that have been engaged to teach the country schools and prophesies that the year will be one of the best in the history of the county.

Excellent Tax Record.

Tax Assessor J. C. Black is working up some interesting data from the county tax rolls. Among other things he finds that there nearly twice as many cattle in the county as there were four years ago. There is a greater proportion of the land of the county owned by residents that there was at that time. Mr. Black will have a complete record worked up for publication within a few days.

The total amount of taxes to be collected this year is over $51,000, an increase of about $5,000 over last year.

Lot Sales.

L. G. Conner reports the following lot sales:

Miss Tennessee Malone has bought lots 7, 8, 9, and 10, block 11 Conner addition, the sale price being $250 each. The lots are east of Mr. Conner's home. Miss Malone expects to build.

Mr. Conner has sold to W. F. Heller lot 1, block 51, south of the J. W. Reid home for $125. Mr. Heller will move a five room house to the lot soon.

Come to Canyon to Live

FINE RAIN FALLS TUESDAY MORNING OVER THE PLAINS

A three quarter inch rain fell over the Plains Tuesday morning. It came very slowly and will be a great thing for the young wheat crop.

The row crops are developing rapidly and given favorable weather for ten days will make much grain. Many farmers are cutting the crop, fearing frost, but a large part are waiting and taking a chance on some of their good fields developing a good grain crop. Those who have silos are filling them.

The wheat generally was needing a good rain to make it develop properly. The wheat fields in many places are furnishing excellent grazing.

Another Rain Last Night.

Another rain of three-fourths of an inch fell last night in Randall county. John A. Wallace reports this morning that the total fall for the past eighteen days has been four inches.

CALL FOR MEETING

Amarillo, Tex., Oct. 9, 1916

Dear Sir:

Another crisis in freight rate adjustment is upon the people of the Panhandle. A tariff has been issued by the railroads under the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the "Shreveport Case" and without authority of Railroad Commission of Texas, going into effect November 1st, which—if not suspended—will impose immense discriminative burdens upon all who "pay the freight" in this territory.

All rates and charges are heavily advanced and in addition to this the common point limit is moved back to Quanah, thus further increasing rates to Amarillo and all points now taking differentials over Amarillo. A still further burden is imposed by making differentials begin at the differential boundary, without regard to length of haul before reaching that point; and on top of all this differentials are added to all rates locally between points in differential territory.

These increases will bear heavily on the producers of Grain, Livestock, etc. and consumers of Grain Products, Cotton Seed Products, and all provisions and supplies.

The work of ten years in securing equitable rates for the Panhandle is annulled and the prosperity and development of the country seriously threatened.

It is a situation demanding cooperation of every community and all the people, and you are hereby requested to attend a meeting of all interests at Amarillo on FRIDAY, OCTOBER

McAFEE OFF TO THE STATE FAIR WITH THE EXHIBIT

Shipped 2000 pounds of Exhibit Monday by Express to the State Fair at Dallas.

Randall County will be at the State Fair with a fine exhibit. C. R. McAfee, has been spending most of his time for the past two weeks in locating good samples and during the past few days had a number of autos busy gathering the stuff at the court house where it was packed Monday and shipped by express to the fair.

Mr. McAfee was very successful in locating a fine lot of agricultural and garden samples.

Randall county's exhibit will occupy the center of the Panhandle building and will certainly be a unique affair. Under the direction of R. A. Terrill the manual training department of the Normal turned out a miniature Normal building, which will be the center of the county exhibit. The model is built to the very plans of the architect and is certainly an excellent piece of work. It alone will be of great value in showing the workmanship of this department of the school.

Mr. McAfee had not decided to enter the county contest when he left for the fair. There is a prize of $500 for the best county exhibit, but owing to the great distance he did not know whether he county taken enough of a variety of products to pay to enter the contest. But he had entered in the Panhandle contest for which a fine cup will be given.

In all 2278 pounds were shipped by express and 650 pounds by freight.

13th, 2:00 o'clock p. m., in the City Hall, at which time this matter will be fully explained and remedies suggested. See your business associates and bring as many as you can to this meeting.

Enclosed you will find some illustrative examples showing comparison of present rates with those effective November 1st. Look these over carefully.

Yours respectfully,

Traffic Bureau Board of City Development.

By J. E. BRYANT, Director.

Some Handy Scales.

Redfearn & Company has installed a pair of scales, which will do all but tell your age. They weight and tell you your height all at the same time if you so desire. Getting weighed is one of the necessities of life, and the company installed these scales so that their friends may come in whenever they chose and get their correct weight and see how tall they are growing.

County Court Convenes.

HOLDING BOYS BACK

BY THOMAS WILDE

One of the earliest lessons that should be instilled into a boy's mind is self-dependence. As soon as the young of the lower animals are able to forage for themselves, their maternal parents cut them adrift to get their own living and the example of the fowls of the air and the beasts of the field in this instance, as in some others, is wholesomely suggestive. Boys are often kept too long out of the world of action that, as men, they are intended to bustle in. They are "coddled" too much, especially by their mothers.

One can hardly blame a mother for wishing to keep her young hopeful tied to her apron strings as long as possible. Her desire to retain him by her side arises from one of the most admirable traits in the maternal character. It is so beautifully in accord with her tender nature that, because of her dread of the effect of the world's temptation upon the mind of her darling, one cannot help loving her the better for her solicitude.

But boys should not be dry nursed too long. It detracts from their manliness and makes milksops of them. When a mother has done her duty by imbuing the mind of her son with sound religious and moral principles, and when he is old enough to begin the battle of life, she should not object to venture him in the conflict. He is better fitted to begin it then he would be a few years later.

Nip and Tuck

Passing Away.

Medical Officer (to malingering recruit)—Shooting pains, eh? Yes, I know; you get them shooting from the head to the chest?

Recruit—Yes, sir.

M. O.—Then down your body?

Recruit—Yes, sir.

M. O.—Then down your legs?

Recruit—Yes, sir.

M. O.—Well, you can return to duty. They'll soon be out at your feet.

At the Summer Resort.

"I hear they have a family skeleton?"
"Yes; she was in the surf this morning."

No Kick.

"What's the matter with that egg?" demanded the landlady.
"Not a thing," answered the new boarder hastily. "The agricultural department has ruled that eggs must be 95 per cent good. I think this one comes fully up to specifications."

Happy Assurance.

Edith (still blushing)—Am I the first girl you ever kissed?
Jack—No, darling, but you are the last.

Edith—Am I, really? Oh, Jack, it makes me so happy to think that.

Read His Mind.

The Player—What are you fining me for? I never said a word.
The Umpire—That's all right. I'm a telepathist.

The Only Way.

Mistress—Why don't you keep the baby quiet, Kate?
Kate—I can't keep him quiet, ma'am, unless I let him make a noise.

Such is Fame.

"Has your representative done anything in congress?" asked the drummer.
"Well, yes," replied the old farmer. "He has let out a lot of talk that won't go down, and sent out a lot of garden seeds that won't come up."

Wanted It in the Bond.

Auto Agent—Of course you understand that if you fail to meet the first note we will take the car away from you?
Jones—But you cusses will promise anything! Just put that in writing!—Puck.

Paint Flower Pots.

Ordinary red clay flower pots can be turned into decorative pieces for the window sill by the use of ordinary house paint or enamel, with perhaps the aid of a stencil. Black and white is so much in vogue at present that the pots painted in black and white stripes are quite distinctive. A quaint effect can be produced by first painting the pot in black and white stripes and then after the paint is thoroughly dry stenciling a pattern of tiny brown butterflies around the top. Charming results can be secured with stencils and they are not hard to use. After the paint is dry the stencil is held firmly with the hands and the enamel applied in the openings.

Behind the Scenes

The soubrette had broken into song before the stage manager could get the hook.
"Ah, me good man," she chirped to the low comedian, as the curtain was rung down to protect the audience, "did you notice the range in my voice?"
"Yes, Esmeralda," he replied, "and I think it would be advisable to put some love polish on the range."
"Why?" she queried.
"It is getting a little rusty," he added.

Smart Stuff

Many a man is his own Jonah. People who own cut glass shouldn't throw stones.

Beware of a man who is forever harping on his honesty.

A woman with a fiery temper isn't necessarily warmhearted.

But it's as well to forget most of the promises made to you.

If a wise man is too tired to think, his talk is apt to sound foolish.

Occasionally a married man goes around half dressed because it takes too much to dress his wife.

Many a man fails to hear the knock of opportunity because he is busy doing a little "knocking" on his own account.

It's the easiest thing in the world for a timid girl to fool a man into believing that she will let him have his own way after they face the parson.

Eat Plenty of Apples.

The need for well-varied meals ever confronts the housekeeper.

Many women try to solve the problem by ordering a wide range of foods, some highly expensive. While this in a measure accomplishes the purpose, the dishes thus obtained are not always to the liking of those for whom she provides.

A more effective and economical way is to take a staple food and vary the forms of serving it. This is not possible with some foods but for use in such a manner the apple is an ideal fruit. Used raw, cooked, dried, evaporated, canned, preserved, or in any other way, it is an easily digested, wholesome food, appetizing to every member of the family.

Its advantages as a staple diet are many.

It is easily prepared. Its keeping qualities are wonderful. It is food, tonic, condiment and cosmetic all in one.

It is an excellent substitute for higher-priced foods.

No part of it is wasted.

It plants roses in the cheeks.

Its food properties are as great as meat.

The phosphorus contained in it renews the nerve forces.

Activities of Women

Yucatan now has a woman's club. Kansas has 453,143 women of voting age.

Over 4,000,000 women in the United States are eligible to vote at the coming November election if they choose to qualify.

Delia Burke, an immigrant, will have the choice of more than 600 situations if she is permitted to remain in this country.

One hundred and fifty thousand girls are at the present time required in London offices alone to take the places of male workers who have joined the army. In some of the larger establishments scores of seats are waiting for girls to arrive to sit upon them, drawing good salaries in berths where they will be cordially welcomed.

Social women in England have established a school where they are taught to do their own housework.

Women are admitted to the universities of Russia and Sweden on an equal footing with the men.

Smokers Will Suffer

A few weeks ago, when the prices of tobacco in England were increased, many smokers reluctantly relinquished their favorite brands and bought cheaper mixtures. After a week or two some of them gave up the search for a suitable substitute and returned to their old loves. Now the smoker is to have a further trouble, for it is said that there will be a radical alteration in the nature of a large number of tobaccos. The reason for this is that soon the stocks of latakia in England will have been exhausted, and as this tobacco comes from Turkey, there will be no further supplies until the war is ended. Latakia is an integral part of a large number of mixtures, and the flavor of all will be affected by the change. Most of the latakia is grown in the hinterland around the ancient town of Latakia, in Asia Minor, and none, it is said, is grown outside Turkish territory. So smokers will be called on to make another sacrifice—Boston Transcript.

Every One to His Taste

A Chicago editor says he would like to hear a preacher pray in conversational tones, as if the Lord were present in the room and not a long way off. Yes, and then some son of a sea cock would complain because the preacher was not in earnest. People are hard to please. The Methodists used to be too demonstrative, the Presbyterians kept right on attracting the people who liked their style. Most of the preachers these days are dignified in the pulpit and they reach only the people who like that style. When Billy Sunday comes to town and make a great hullabaloo, the quiet people criticize his words and methods, but the demonstrative people hit the trail at the rate of a thousand a day.

You will find a lot of people who drive an automobile as quietly as possible, and who run at a conservative rate. Then you run across a fellow who opens his muffler and hikes down the road 40 miles an hour. Tastes differ.

Whenever You Need a General Tonic Take Grove's

The Old Standard Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic is equally valuable as a General Tonic because it contains the well known tonic properties of QUININE and IRON. It acts on the Liver, Drives out Malaria, Enriches the Blood and Builds up the Whole System. 50 cents.

Revelation

To lie stretched out on a sick bed, too ill to move, to read, or to talk has been the lot of many during these weeks of terrible heat.

It should shame those of us, who in perfect health, complain of sticky clothing and begrudge an hour's tossing upon a hot pillow, before passing into a refreshing slumber.

To helpless sufferers, thus manacled by weakness, about the only solace and comfort is the grace of God revealed through ministering angels who come in shirtwaists or shirt-sleeves as the case may be, bearing neither holy grails or magic rods of healing, but bouquets of summer flowers, and messages of hope and cheer.

It's worth while being sick, perhaps, to see a truckman transformed into a Sandalphon of glory. Convalescents usually talk about the goodness of—not their friends, but everybody. The world has been changed for them. All the meanness has gone out of human nature, altruism generally has replaced selfishness. The self sacrificing devotion of one's associates becomes inexplicable.

Like Tom Pinch the happy sick say: "The kindness of some people is enough to break one's heart."

Myths of History

Among myths that have passed into history are veritable facts is the story that George Washington never was known to utter an oath. It is the truth of history that when Washington met General Charles Lee retreating before the British at the battle of Monmouth, he flew into a violent passion and bestowed on Lee a volley of oaths, that made the atmosphere lurid.

Another myth is that Pocahontas, the daughter of the Indian King Powhatan, married Captain John Smith, whose life she saved. This is not true. She married a man named Rolfe, who took her to England and introduced her at the Court of St. James, and to the nobility of England, as his Indian bride.

Another myth is that the Declaration of Independence was the conception of Thomas Jefferson, the emanation of his mind, and sprang from his brain like Minerva from the brain of Jupiter, according to the ancient fable. The truth is he copied many of the principles of liberty and equality therein set forth from George Mason's "Declaration of Rights."

Another myth is that one of Shakespeare's pallbearers is buried in the graveyard of St. George Episcopal Church, at Fredericksburg, Va. The distinguished writer, the late Moncure D. Conway, who was a native of Fredericksburg, spent many days in this graveyard vainly searching for the grave of Shakespeare's pallbearer. As he would scrape away the moss from the marble tombstone he was the very picture of Walter Scott's Atiquary.

Misunderstood! It is a right fool's word. It is so bad then to be misunderstood? Pythagoras was misunderstood, and Socrates, and Jesus, and Luther, and Copernicus, and Galileo, and Newton, and every pure and wise spirit that ever took flesh. To be great is to be misunderstood. —Emerson.

—yesterday the old man shot quail with a double-barrel shotgun; today sonny shoots the same bird with less effort and in less time.

—double-barrel advertising won't get by today. This is an age of up and doing—the repeat method of advertising gets the birds.

—advertising, to be successful, must be continuous. Small ads, used frequently, will bring greater results than an occasional flash-in-the-pan.
