

Bobcats Win Second Place in State

Height made the difference Saturday night when the Dimmitt Bobcats saw their hopes for a state crown go up in smoke through their defeat by the Linden-Kildare Tigers.

The score at game's end was 52-44. The big point spread came in the third quarter. Dimmitt was leading 42-40 when the quarter started, but the already fired-up Linden-Kildare team came unbound and pulled ahead. Dimmitt scored only two points in the final quarter while Linden-Kildare sank 12. The Tigers got several good breaks during the last quarter but they were hustling just as hard as Dimmitt and had a seven-inch height advantage which spelled the difference.

It was a torrid and close game throughout with the lead changing hands four times and the game was tied ten times before the Tigers hit their fatal last-quarter pace.

The game was a real eye-wrecker. Paced by the brilliant play of Hal Ratcliff and Junior Coffey, the Bobcats were just worn down by the height advantage of the Tigers.

Linden-Kildare won the state AA title and emerged from their season as the state's only undefeated and untied team.

High point honors of the game went to Hal Ratcliff who poured in 29 points. Second place scoring honors went to Linden-Kildare's ace point-maker and fancy dribbler George Hargett.

The game was tied at the end of the first quarter and at the half. It was 13-13 at the end of the first quarter and 30-30 at intermission time. Dimmitt held its 42-40 lead at the end of the third quarter.

Junior Coffey amazed the fans by consistently out-jumping Linden-Kildare's 6-foot, 6-inch center John Beasley. Young Coffey, an even six-footer, also turned in a tremendous defensive game. Although he scored only 8 points, he is considered one of the main reasons Dimmitt was able to keep Linden-Kildare under control throughout most of the game.

Hargett moved the Tigers into an early 8-5 lead, but Dimmitt applied the pressure during the closing minutes and knotted the score at 13-all.

The lead changed hands and the score rocked back and forth during the second quarter. Linden-Kildare built up a 21-17 margin which Dimmitt managed to overcome when the score was tied 26-26. The score was tied 28-28 when Beasley and Coffey exchanged shots. Larry Hill of Linden-Kildare hit with a jumper from the corner and Hal Ratcliff tied it up again with a field goal just before halftime.

It was about the same story during the third quarter, although Dimmitt appeared in better control of the game. Junior Coffey made a jump shot from the corner to put the Bobcats out ahead at the end of the third, 42-40.

Dimmitt hit 17 of 40 shots from the floor for a 42.5 percent while Linden-Kildare hit 21 of 52 for 40.4 percent. Each team hit ten free throws although Linden-Kildare was the dust such highly-touted teams as Abernathy, Childress, Seminole and Belton.

at the end of the third, 42-40. Dimmitt hit 17 of 40 shots from the floor for a 42.5 percent while Linden-Kildare hit 21 of 52 for 40.4 percent. Each team hit ten free throws although Linden-Kildare was the dust such highly-touted teams as Abernathy, Childress, Seminole and Belton.

Dimmitt wound up the season with a record of losing almost one-third their games (24-10), yet were able to wrest second place in the state. On the way to this goal the left in the dust such highly-touted teams as Abernathy, Childress, Seminole and Belton.

Vegetable Prospects for 1960 To Be Discussed Monday Night

The first business of the 1960 Castro County vegetable growing season will take place beginning at 7:30 p.m. Monday night in the Community Room of the First State Bank.

At this meeting farmers who want to grow vegetables this year are invited to attend and make arrangements for acreage quotas.

The vegetable situation will be discussed by two representatives of Pacific Fruit and Produce Company. They are Wallace Mahony, supervisor of Pacific's Southwest Division and Lloyd Wheelus, field representative.

These two men will discuss the past, present, and future potential vegetable business in Castro County. The firm they represent ordinarily operates about six months in Dimmitt at their building on the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad Tracks in northeast Dimmitt. The coming year will be their fourth season in Dimmitt. Wheelus and Mahony spend the remainder of their time with Pacific Fruit and Produce's plant in La Feria in the Rio Grande Valley.

Mahony will return immediately and Wheelus will stay on for a few days to talk with farmers about vegetable production. Both men will return for the season when it begins.

About 800 acres were planted in the county last year for Pacific Fruit and Produce processing.

Kress Youth Found Dead Near Hart

Felix Ortega, 18, of Kress was found dead about 5:30 p.m. Friday near the scene of a car wreck which occurred Wednesday night on a country road five miles northeast of Hart.

Castro County Sheriff Jack Cartwright said the boy apparently died of exposure.

Cartwright said the boy was riding with two male companions last Wednesday night. They told Cartwright Ortega grabbed the steering wheel and the car went out of control and bogged down in the hardfrost. Ortega stayed with the car while his companions went for help.

The boys returned later that night to get their car, but discovered Ortega was missing. They told Sheriff Cartwright "we figured he caught a ride and went home," and they drove away from the scene.

Ortega was unharmed of until an uncle, Pete Gonzales of Nazareth, returned to the scene of the accident Friday to find the youth's body about 200 yards from where the car went into the ditch. He was frozen and apparently died of exposure.

Windbreaks May Hold Key to Future of High Plains Agriculture

One of the biggest problems to High Plains Agriculture is the wind. The wind erodes, it dries out, it kills plants and it causes snow and sand drifts.

In one way or another the wind has been responsible for many of the farmers' plights in this area.

The winds, like other phases of the weather, are uncontrollable by man. Yet some farmers manage to keep some of their land free of the destructive forces of the winds through a system of windbreaks.

Farmers surrounded by trees for windbreaks are spotted like oases around over the county. Most farmers trying these trees feel they have met with some measure of success.

One of these farmers is J. O. Ayers, Sr., who has farmed for many years one and a half miles west of Dimmitt.

Mr. Ayers has reaped the advantages of his trees as windbreaks and at the same time has made the trees pay off in fruit.

Year before last, for instance, he sold $150 worth of apricots off his windbreak orchard. He has also planted peach trees, plum trees, and pecan trees for cash crops.

"Trees can be grown in this country," Mr. Ayers says. "All you have to do is nurse them along for the first couple of years and then they can take care of themselves. You might need to water them some during a drought, but the sun, wind, bad weather, and freezes won't kill them after they're well established."

It's not an easy matter to grow trees, though. Mr. Ayers figures he has planted some 10,000 trees on his farm since 1933 and less than half of them "took hold."

"The first year or so is the hardest on the trees," he says. "You've got to get them past their first couple of years before you can be assured of a tree."

The Ayers farm is almost completely bordered by trees. The farm is more or less a rectangle, a half section in size. Around the outer edges of the farm is a band of tall cedars growing close together. Next come the fruit and nut trees which take up three rows. Then there is another band of cedars. Mr. Ayers is still working on his wind-break orchard. Most of the farm is bordered only by cedars but he is working to complete the entire band in each plum, apricot and pecan trees also. He adds to it every year.

The cedars serve a two-fold purpose. By letting them grow naturally and not pruning them, these green trees keep the wind cut down on his fields for as far as a quarter of a mile. At the same time they shelter the fruit trees between the two rows of cedars.

The windrows furnish much of their own moisture by catching snow in the winter and storing it up under the shade of its leaves. The trees also catch dew and the rainfall that comes is slow to evaporate from the shaded area under them.

"I have found that apricot trees are more hardy and last longer than any other in this area except elms," Mr. Ayers said.

If Mr. Ayers isn't an expert on trees, he does have plenty of general ideas about them. "There are several reasons why we have no speaking the trees can get along pretty well without being supplied with water after a few years.

Mr. Ayers feels considerable concern over the future of this area. "Some day the irrigation water will either be used up or we'll have to use it sparingly. Windbreaks act as an important water conservation measure and it would definitely benefit everyone if all farmers would start a program of windbreak planting."

While Mr. Ayers has carried out his windbreak program for some fifteen years, he has been interest-

FRUIT FROM WINDBREAKS—Windbreaks of apricot trees on the Ayers farm do double duty by helping to control the harmful effects of wind on land and producing fruit.

"Battle Border"
 Little known facts about Texas boundaries.

Spain, falling heir to the Spanish lands south and west of the United States. This included Texas up until 1836 when Texas won their independence at San Jacinto.

One of the first acts of the new Republic of Texas was to draw up a declaration of its boundaries. The Texas-New Mexico boundary fight came close to going down in history as a shooting war between Texas and the United States.

Texas were so mad they threatened secession and war. Wilson in right now fighting another battle for Texas boundaries—the Edwards suit before the Supreme Court of the United States.

Background for the Texas-New Mexico fight began with the 1821 treaty which settled the western limits of the United States, establishing the eastern boundary of Texas at the Sabine River.

Many people at the time, including Thomas Jefferson, thought it was a bad bargain.

They believed the boundary should be the Rio Grande.

As it turned out the treaty featured built-in headaches brought out later in an Oklahoma-Texas dispute.

In 1821, Mexico revolted from the Edwards suit before the Supreme Court of the United States.

This gave Texas the eastern half of present New Mexico and a large part of southern Colorado.

U.S. Senator Thomas Hart Benton of Missouri voiced a complaint by saying the Texas boundary was an act of unparalleled outrage on Mexico.

"It is a seizure of 2,000 miles of her territory without a word of explanation to her," he raged.

Kingpin of Missouri politics, Benton used his rugged strength to fight Texas to the end—his end as it turned out to be.

In the 1844 Congress Benton successfully opposed a treaty that would have admitted Texas to the Union. Six years later he stood Texas and disrupted Congress by introducing a bill to reduce Texas to 150,000 square miles (about the size of Montana) with the right to divide it into two states of 75,000 square miles each.

"This bitter stand on the Texas question eventually defeated Benton after he had served 30 years in the Senate," Wilson points out. Wilson, who has an extensive

DEATH AND LIFE
 Life is one of the dearest desires of man's heart... created to live. God made man to live. God made man to die. Still, the penalty of sin is death. Death has passed upon all men, Rom. 5:12.

Job said, "Man that is born of a woman is of few days and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower and flourisheth as a grass, and as a shadow, and continueth not; he shall be cut down as a shadow, and shall be no more." Job. 14:1-2.

The Psalmist also speaks of man as grass and the flower which is for awhile and then is gone, Ps. 103:15, 16.

The great themes of the Bible are Life and Death. Death, by way of comparison, is an unimportant such character as Peter, Paul, John, all died, their death is not set forth in the scriptures.

The scriptures encourage faithful unto death. Rev. 12:11. The reward is a crown of life. The faithful Christian is victorious over death. Christ is his leader and he follows to those who have washed their robes in the blood of the Lamb.

Trip To Chicago Like a Dream

When I arrived here from Chicago, it seemed as if my dream had suddenly burst, and I was back down to earth with a giant thud. The most wonderful and exciting week of my life had ended, but I had not left an empty-handed for I still had an immense chain of memories, hundreds of new friends, friends, a shopping bag full of souvenirs, and a deep attitude of appreciation for all of those who made the time of my life possible...

These Women have testified! Peerless Water Systems Are Best!

Read What They Have To Say:

MRS. JUANITA BRUGEL, First Place. The Peerless pump is a wonderful thing. Right where you want it... water will bring. To your lawn, garden or field of corn. From the darkest of night 'till early morn. All through the day, happy you be. If you see your Peerless pump dealer today, it's wonderful! It's grand and how should I know. Because I have one and it's four years old. BE FEARLESS - GET PEERLESS RIGHT AWAY.

MRS. ROY CLUCK, Jr., Second Place. The Peerless water system has given us a new feeling of freedom from water worries. The pumping action starts the moment the pump starts and it furnishes ample water at plenty of pressure noiselessly, efficiently, and dependably for my house and yard, the livestock and two tenant houses. With the Peerless Dynaflo system there are no lubricating worries as there are no parts whatever that require oiling. The Peerless water system is definitely the best water system we ever had.

MRS. MORGAN DENNIS, Fourth Place. When a person is considering their water system, there are so many important things to consider. The expense, something with a minimum of trouble and repair and that sand pumping won't bother. This is why we have chosen a Peerless submersible pump.

MRS. G. L. WILLIS, Third Place. We are very pleased with our Peerless water system. It is a great satisfaction to know we will have water at the house with good pressure, when we want it. My automatic washer works better than ever, and I can water my yard in a third less time than before. We also have plenty of water for the tenant house and the livestock pens where several cattle water every day. Thanks to you for making our water system work so well with the Peerless system.

Take subsidies off of everything and you'll have a collapse. Subsidies are provided by government to industries which might price themselves out of business by making a profit. If airlines had to pay for all terminals, runways, navigation aids, control tower personnel and the like, the charge for a plane ticket might be ten times as much which would automatically doom the airlines. The same applies to an extent to railroads, freight ship lines, farms, and many other industries.

YOUR CHILDREN NEED YOU

By Rev. Richard Madden, O.C.D., Hospital Chaplain
I don't want to sound morbid, but I like hospitals. I like to stir up the children's ward. Which kid is here can yell the loudest? And I like to drop around at the nursery to see what's new in babies. There is always something new in babies. The only thing that they have in common is that they all look like a ball of twine.
YESTERDAY a nurse showed me the prettiest little baby girl that I ever expect to see. Vickie is six months old. She is beautiful. Her parents do not want her. Her parents do not want her. Her existence is the result of a "mistake." So she is up for grabs.
I don't know what her parents are like, and I'm not even interested in finding out. Probably they are like the parents who figure, "The only way to cure little Johnny of biting his nails is to kick out his teeth." There are such parents all over. As for such parents I don't care less. All I care and hope for is that kids like Vickie stop getting such crummy deals at the very beginning of their lives when they have no way to defend themselves.
PARENTS have a serious obligation to their children. It's not just to give them a name and care. This isn't something you

An investment of only $5.60 in Phillips 66 Ammonia returned $34.32 extra cotton profit per acre, after deducting the cost of ammonia, for one prominent Texas farmer. This example is not unusual when this 82% nitrogen fertilizer is used in a good cotton management program. You can expect extra net profit from every acre when you apply Phillips 66 Ammonia. Ask your Phillips 66 Distributor to show you the ways Phillips 66 Ammonia can help you live better through higher profits per acre. He'll be glad to help you work out a complete fertilizer program.

Plainview Firm Offers Contract For Castor Beans

The world market outlook for castor beans shows improvement, according to The Baker Castor Oil Company at Plainview. This stronger outlook has permitted increases in that Company's contract offers regarding 1960 crop.

Growers now contracting for castor beans have 2 choices, at contracting time, of (a) whatever the world market price is at the time of delivery, but not less than 5c per pound, and (b) a fixed and final sale price of 5.25c per pound.

The Company has arranged for land near Plainview to be used for increased facilities, including a processing mill for castor beans once the acreage is adequate.

At the present offer of 5.25c per pound, castor beans should net the grower more than other common crops grown in the area, except probably cotton, according to John Anderson, Baker's Field Representative at Plainview. The Company points out that the castor bean is proving to be a preferred replacement cash crop that is unique in having an established industrial market and in not contributing to present surpluses of feed, fiber, or edible oil.

Marked advances have recently been made in varieties and harvesters. Only "stormproof" dwarfs are now grown, says Dr. D. L. Van Horn, Plainview plant breeder and harvesting is done with stock combines fitted with castor bean attachments, with custom harvest service available in most areas.

You And Crime

by Roger Arneberg, Los Angeles City Attorney

IDLE TIME presents another real problem. We should provide healthy activities to fill the spare time of our youth. This demands parks, playgrounds and other recreational facilities.

Then, too, a child should be expected to handle some daily task which will give him recognition for a job well done. If a child never has any household duties how will he carry out his civic duties when he grows up?

RESPECT for the authority of the parent, the teacher and the policeman is absolutely necessary if we are to get rid of crime. Parents who don't teach their children this lesson do them serious harm.

DELINQUENCY would not be a serious problem if parents would assume their full responsibilities. But they must set a good example by their own lives. Children follow our actions—not our words. What we do speaks so loudly that they can't hear what we say.

We would still need policemen. But if we Christians would do our part as Christians, crime would cease to be the grave national problem that it is today.

In the last few years crime has been increasing 4 times as fast as population. And in 1957 juvenile crime increased 10 times faster than juvenile population.

SOME PEOPLE think that law enforcement is solely the problem of law officers. But the prevention of crime is the problem of each and every one of us.

Before we can make any real progress against crime we must teach our children to believe in God. We must either obey God's laws or else we must eventually pay the price. The Communists deny this. They have no respect for the law because they claim that there is no God.

But with no belief in God there can be no true morality—no fixed standards of right and wrong. One judge, for instance, studied the cases of 8,000 delinquents. He found that only 42 of those 8,000—about 1 out of 200—regularly received religious instruction. And none had a mother or father who regularly went to church!
