

Swift & Company Publicity

At a recent hearing of the Federal Trade Commission there was introduced correspondence taken from the private files of Swift & Company, which showed that the Company had been considering for some time an educational advertising campaign.

The need for this publicity has been apparent to us for several years. The gross misrepresentation to which we have recently been subjected has convinced us that we should no longer delay in putting before the public the basic facts of our business, relying on the fair-mindedness of the American people.

The feeling against the American packer is based largely on the belief that the income and well-being of the producer and consumer are adversely affected by the packers' operations, resulting in unreasonably large profits.

Swift & Company's net profit is reasonable, and represents an insignificant factor in the cost of living.

For the fiscal year 1917 the total sales and net profit of Swift & Company were as follows:

Sales
$875,000,000.

Profits
$34,650,000.

This is equivalent to a $3,465. profit on a business of $87,500.

If Swift & Company had made no profit at all, the cattle raiser would have received only one-eighth of a cent per pound more for his cattle, or the consumer would have saved only one-quarter of a cent per pound on dressed beef.

"WHY DOESN'T THE GOVERNMENT DO IT?"

(By Wm. Allen White)

Over and over again the Red Cross solicitor in a drive for Red Cross funds meets this question: "Why doesn't the government do it?" or

"Why are we asked to pay for something the government itself should pay for?"

Considering Red Cross work in terms of socks and sweaters and chloroform and sweet-faced nurses tending over wounded young men, or surgical bandages, the question is pertinent. But the medical aid or the surgical dressings or the hospital work, or the sweaters, socks and wristlets of the Red Cross form together but a small part of its activities. And, of course, the government could do that part of the Red Cross work easily enough, merely by adding another expensive bureau to the national administration, and paying men and women by the thousands for the work that they are now doing for nothing. Naturally, it would increase the taxes greatly; and it would put into politics something that is now kept high and beautiful in life—almost in the field of religion; but the government doubtless could do it.

But could the government look after the families of soldiers who need help; look after them quietly, without publicity, giving them the benefit of advice, encouragement, sympathy, and fellowship as well as the financial aid suited to their needs. Could the government spend half a million dollars building canteens at the railroad junctions all over France, where French soldiers coming back from the trenches on furloughs might have lodging, food baths, and a rest place, all but free, and thus return home clean and rested and happy and ready to go back, instead of returning home wet and hungry, and lousy, and sullen—could the American government do that?

Could the American government get from the commander-in-chief of the French Army the names of all the French soldiers whose families are in want, suffering this winter from cold, and hunger, and disease, and look each family up all over France and see that the family is supplied with fuel and food and shelter in plenty, so that the soldier fighting in the trenches will feel that his family is cared for and will stick—stick—stick to the end, full of courage and ginger—could the American government do that work which the American Red Cross is doing, and spending American money—by the millions in doing? Well, hardly.

Before that work was six weeks old some pro-German pacifist would have an injunction in the Federal court to stop it, claiming it is unconstitutional—and with some show of righteousness in his contention.

Less than a week after the Italian break-down the American Red Cross was in Italy with long lines of freight cars loaded with surgical supplies, food, and clothing for civilians, and distributing this aid to the hospitals, and to the hundreds of thousands of refugees, men, women and children, fleeing before the German invaders, and making America felt for brotherhood in northern Italy as no other country ever was able to make itself felt in the world before. Could the government have done that with paid workers and salaried politicians for the job?

Within ten days after the Germans were on Italian soil, three unpaid workers of the American Red Cross were going through Italy with thousands of dollars in cash—not in cheques but in cash—on their persons, distributing emergency aid to the stricken populations of Genoa, Milan, Bologna, Ravenna and a dozen smaller Italian towns.

Again, the Red Cross is helping to build up French and Belgian villages. A corps of skilled engineers is superintending the actual physical work. Hundreds of workers all over Europe of all countries are aiding the American Red Cross, which is the clearing house of European benevolence, to find the former owners of these broken village homes—refugees scattered to the four winds by the German invasion. American Red Cross money is bringing these people back, lending them money to buy furniture, their first stores of food, and their first start in agriculture. Farm machinery is being bought for these people to be paid for on the installment plan, and to be used socially—a great tractor for an entire neighborhood of farmers, and seed wheat for a whole community under a dozen different kinds of credit. A government has to have rules.

The Red Cross makes a different rule for every case if common sense on the spot requires a different rule. How would the government do it? How would a federal law provide for the myriad cases of humanitarian work that must be done for our friends, the allies, if they are restored to industry and agriculture for the long hard war that stretches before us if we defeat Germany?

The American government simply couldn't do it. It could not hire the experts who are needed. For these experts would not work for the salaries that this government could pay. Yet for nothing, for the sheer love of service, for the joy they feel in helping their fellow men, these experts are doing this work for the American Red Cross. These men and women feel that they are not tied up by Federal red tape. They feel that no party is taking credit for their work, to use that credit in winning elections. So, as free, unfettered American citizens they are giving their whole lives and strength to this Red Cross work, working sometimes all day and all night in emergencies; and they know that there are no rewards, no promotions, no glory, no mention in the newspaper—nothing but joyous service and sacrifices and the exaltation that comes from seeing one's work grow under one's hand and bear fruit.

And then there is the work with the children and the tubercular. That work requires technically trained people. It requires wide latitudes in dealing with new conditions rising every day. One day last August the Red Cross started into complete, and now has completed, a half-finished tuberculosis hospital abandoned by the French during the war. The American Red Cross spent tens of thousands of dollars on this hospital and turned it over to its French owners without even reserving the right to send a single patient there. But, of course, that hospital relieves that much tuberculosis from the French villages in which our soldiers are spending their days this winter.

But the American government couldn't do it. If the government went to building hospitals and giving them to private citizens of France, a scandal would arise that would burn up Washington.

Last August the American Red Cross issued an order for an automobile to be given to a French hospital for children at Toul, near Nancy. A lot of chintzes for the bed-rooms were sent down to brighten them up; a lot of toys for the children—French children brought in from the war zone too young to keep on their gas

BRIEF WAR NEWS.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Germans for some time past have advertised largely their intention to lie on their backs at no distant date, nothing beyond intensified bombardments and here and there infantry attacks on various sectors have been forthcoming.

In both these kinds of maneuvers the Teutons have met more than their match in the guns of the men of the allied armies--the Belgians, French, British Americans, Italians, and Portuguese.

All along the battle fronts in the west, from the North sea to the Adriatic, the hostilities continue to be carried out by means of the big guns of the opposing sides and by small units of infantry in raiding operations.

In none of the raids has any material gain been achieved by either side, except possibly by the French troops of General Petain, who in the Rheims region have penetrated German positions to a depth of about three-fifths of a mile, and put down effectively an attempt on another part of this front, made by the German crown prince, to pierce the French line.

The Germans are trying out with relatively heavy attacks positions held by the Belgians. Although they succeeded at several points in their objectives, they later were driven out from the greater portion of the positions gained, leaving prisoners and machine guns.

The situation along the various fronts is unchanged.

"Every Bank Should Sell Stamps; Every Texan Should Save"
--Howell Smith.

President Texas Bankers' Association

In purchasing Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps Texans not only show their loyalty to the Government, but they are feathering their own nests and making the best kind of an investment. Victory is brought nearer. This is the way that Howell Smith of McKinney, President of the Texas Bankers' Association, regards the thrift movement of the National War Savings Committee.

"They are splendid investments--these little dividend-paying stamps which have been placed on sale at bargain counter prices," declares Mr. Smith. "Every banking house in Texas should carry a stock of them for sale to its patrons and every Texan should buy a stamp every time he can."

"It is to the interest of Lone Star bankers to see that the people become thrifty by buying Thrift and War Savings Stamps. It is to their interest to do so. Of course they ought to be for it enthusiastically because of the patriotic significance; but one of the big advantages in getting their patrons and friends to buy the stamps is that they are making these people more prosperous. As a community saves and prospers, the banks and all business houses will prosper. Thrift begets prosperity. This buying of Thrift Stamps is good business anyway you look at it--the Government is helped and all kinds of businesses are helped and the individual prosper."

"If the bankers of Texas have any fear that their savings deposits will be decreased if their people buy Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps, they are mistaken. Just look at what happened in England during the first eighteen months of the thrift campaign over there. Within a year and a half the people of England purchased $650,000,000 worth of Victory Stamps and during the same period the savings deposits in English banks increased over 100 per cent. The little Thrift Stamps and the principles of thrift learned in the campaign did that. Not only did the people buy as many Thrift Stamps as they could purchase, but they saved and deposited with the banks a 100 per cent more money than they had ever deposited."

"The banker who does not sell Thrift and War Savings Stamps and push their sale is standing in his own light and keeping prosperity from his patrons."

VALUE OF KEEPING PROMISES.

It is high praise when one can say of a person that he is a man of his word. One knows what to expect of such a man. He is a valuable citizen, a good neighbor, a true friend, one with whom it is satisfying to deal. He does not make promises without knowing he will keep them. Having made one, he will, if need be, fulfill it at an inconvenience or a personal loss.

We all know those who, on the contrary, promise anything readily. "Oh, yes, I will be there," they say, and fail to appear at the appointed time or place. "Yes, I will give so much," they declare, or "I will do such a piece of work," but fail to give the matter another thought.

Such people have convenient forgetters. When asked to fulfill their promises, they have forgotten them entirely, or "other matters have intervened," or "now it is too late." A few experiences with this kind of promisers make one value above rubies and diamonds the man who keeps his word.

But if failure to keep promises is evil in the business and social world at large, it is calamitous in the home. One cannot be too careful about making promises to children. None should be lightly made; and when made, they should be scrupulously kept, even in seemingly unimportant things. If one would have children truthful, one must oneself first be true. They should early learn the value of faithfulness in promises. One has no right to promise a thing to rid oneself of importunity. When one is not ready to promise, one should say so and stick to it. No matter is unimportant that has a bearing on truthfulness. It does not take long for a child to learn when a parent breaks promises foolishly or lightly. Then such a child ceases to respect a parent's word in anything.

Slow to make a promise, but swift to keep one, should be an ideal for all.—Milwaukee Journal.

Farming on the Plains

By Dr. O. H. Loyd.

To the farmers of this part of the plains, I wish to talk for a while about your plans and expectations for the coming year. You may not realize it, but it is a fact to a very great extent—the winning or losing of the war depends upon the way you do your work during the continuation of this war; and this being a fact, it behooves you to do your work in a way that you will not regret that you did not serve your country better, when opportunity permitted you to be of real worth.

I want to call your attention to what you know to be a fact, that the farming of this country is almost always of a slipshod method, and generally with the thought that if the year is good you will make a big crop, and if the year is bad it will not cost you much to put the crop in anyway, and you have not lost much if you do not make a crop.

I want to call your attention to the fact that under normal conditions you probably have a right to do these things, but when the future of the world to a very great extent depends upon the way you account for your stewardship, then it is, that what you do is of interest to other people beside yourself, and if you have failed to do the very best that you could have done you have sadly failed in your patriotism to your native country and to that extent have become an ally to the kaiser, and will be to that extent to blame for the prolonged continuation of the war.

Now, if you have no higher motive than that of succeeding in a financial way, then the thing to which I am calling your attention, would pay you many fold, and should be practiced. But if this is a patriotic duty, then you should put your shoulder to the wheel and lift every pound possible in the way of production. You should do this even without thought of financial gain and be as loyal in this cause as our boys who go so willingly to their work at the front, to fight for your homes and mine.

They do not consider whether it pays but obey orders without a word.

Now the subject which I wish to talk on is the manner in which you will put in your crops this year. In order to get you specially interested in this I will call your attention to the fact that in the states of Washington and Oregon the early settlers made many failures until they began farming in the way to which I shall call your attention. When they began a proper culture of the soil they began to conserve the moisture and store it up from season to season, there remained in the soil a sufficient amount of moisture and they were able to make a crop years in which there was practically no rainfall.

It is simply a matter of common sense to say that what applied to that country would apply to this country under similar circumstances. But, in addition to what has been done in the great northwest country, there has been an occasional man experimenting in this country who has proven that this method has been successful on the plains of this great Panhandle of Texas.

Speaking of farming in this country, it is hard for us old settlers to realize that even in our sorry method of cropping, that it is a statistical fact that men who have even made a reasonable effort in agricultural pursuits in this country have made more products per capita than has been done in any other part of the United States. This is a broad statement, but it can be substantiated by facts.

The quality of our products has time and again been demonstrated to be of the highest, as you will remember from both Dallas and Peoria last fall. This fact of quality I mention as a further reason why we should make a heroic effort to produce all we can because of the fact that our crops make the best finished products, and naturally are that much better for our boys to fight on.

I want to call your attention to the fact that labor is going to be scarce, and you may feel inclined to shirk responsibility and think you will only plant that which you can easily handle. I want to insist that you plant all you can handle and do it right. If it should become necessary for the women folk to drive a machine in harvest, they should be, and I am sure they will be willing to do so, for in that way they are adding much to the food supply of our country. I am in no sense a pessimist, but I say to you now, that if the war continues for one year longer, which now seems probable, that this country will be up against a food shortage that to us now seems incredible. In fact, what to us will appear to be a famine will exist in these states. Under these circumstances it is essential that every person plant of the crops best adapted to his land, all that he can properly care for, and then devote his time to the most scientific methods of caring for same. Each of you are familiar with the crop that is best suited to your neighborhood and if you have a farmer in your community who is more successful than the rest, it will be but natural that you attempt to ascertain by what method he has been enabled to be thus successful and thereby pattern after him in the work.

As human food is going to be one of the necessities, I would urge that you select a tract of your farm that seems to be in the best shape to make a crop and plant a goodly proportion of your acreage to milo maize, or one of the surest grain sorghums, as these crops are being used very satisfactorily for human food. Then, plant freely of the forage sorghums and especially the seeded ribbon cane, that you may have plenty of good roughness to make beef cattle, that the meat supply may be kept up to the standard.

One crop I want to call your attention to, is the Mexican bean. By all means every farmer should plant at least from one to forty acres of this product, as it is as easily grown as sorghum if you pick clean land to grow them on and it will wait without damage for the harvest, and there is no other crop you can grow that will produce as much returns for the labor of a good year. No matter how dry the year is, you are sure of at least some crop. They will mature a year when it is so dry that nothing else will grain, and while hope will remain in the patriot's breast, yet we must plan as though we thought the year was to be one of severe drought.

Now the plan that brought order out of chaos and made success as mentioned above in the great Northwest, was what is known as the Campbell system of dry farming, and while we believe that the so-called Campbell system does not need to be followed to the letter, yet a system built upon that plan interspersed with common sense to meet conditions that arise, is absolutely necessary in this plains country, to make a reasonable success an average of years. Therefore I want to urge that it be followed this year and continued to the end of the war. If this is done, we will never again go back to the careless ways that we have been practicing for the past several years.

It was generally conceded from about 1900 to 1908 that it was necessary to follow the above suggestions, but some extra good seasons came and the fellow who carelessly put in his crop was as successful as the careful man, and as a result we all began to be careless and have suffered from an average of much lighter crops since we relaxed our methods.

A plan has been followed by a man located about the center of the Panhandle, where the rainfall is about the average, and said farmer under this plan never made a failure of wheat or row crops in a continuous period of sixteen years farming. His plan is practically as follows: In the preparation of the soil for fall wheat the ground is plowed in the winter or early spring to a depth of 5 to 7 inches, and is then packed with a Campbell sub-surface packer, (you can use a disc harrow set straight which answers just as good,) and when spring comes and moisture falls, wait about 5 or 6 days, till the weeds begin to start nicely, then go to the field with a disc harrow and disc harrow and disc about 5 inches deep. The ground is then left alone until it gets sufficient moisture to start the weeds nicely, when again go over it with the disc harrow.

This time the harrow is run very lightly, just enough to kill all the weeds. Then the ground is gone over a few days after each rain with an ordinary smoothing harrow, in order to keep the weeds killed and to keep a good mulch on the ground. Should the ground become so settled during the summer that the weeds are not all killed with the harrow, then the disc harrow is run over it again set just deep enough to kill the weeds, and not deep enough to loosen the ground too much. This ground, by planting time, has stored a large amount of moisture and should be seeded about the first of September with only fifteen pounds of good plump seed per acre. Don't use more than this and I am sure from what I have seen that you will never make a failure on wheat, and that your yield will be sufficient to pay you well for the extra time you have put on this ground. You will grow more wheat on one-half of your ground and do it easier than you have been doing. Each year you will have wheat to supply the needs of our country and I am convinced that you will in this, have done as patriotic a duty as the splendid American boys who have gone to the front. For if we had all our young men in the French trenches and the earth covered six feet deep with $20 gold pieces and no food for the boys, of what avail would our army or money be? A starving army can never win. We must feed ours.

Now, as to the row crops for grain and forage the various forms of the sorghum family. To prepare for these: Plow the ground deep in the fall and pack it as suggested for wheat. Then let it lay in the rough through the winter, in order that it shall not blow, and yet it will be settled so that it will catch the snow and hold the moisture, and when spring opens up, say the latter part of March, go on this ground with a disc harrow and further settle the ground.

Of course it is desirable to have some moisture when this is done, but if no moisture by the last of March do it anyway, unless the spring is very late and there is still much heavy wind, in which case wait till the wind lets up somewhat. Afterward, when you get any moisture, wait a short time and then go on the ground with an ordinary smoothing harrow, keeping a mulch after each season of moisture of any consequence, that is, any moisture that will cause the surface of the ground to crack, as it is these small openings in the ground which permit the moisture to escape by process of evaporation.

Beginning anywhere from the middle of June—depending on whether you are planting milo maize, kafir or sorghum, or similar crops—go in your field with a lister which is in good working order and plant your seed at a regular depth of about two and one-half inches. Be sure seed is good as poor seed is a bad investment, even if they are given to you. If you fail to get a good stand and find it necessary to plant it over—which will be seldom if you follow these instructions—it will be better for you to list out the ridges and plant between where you did before. This gives a clean seed bed and you will find it much easier to keep the crop clean. I would suggest that if your stand is a good half or better, that you do not plant it over, for a good stand is sometimes hard to secure, and a good half stand early will usually stool if the season justifies, and will make a much better crop than a later crop will do, even though the latter comes up a better stand.

I want to insist that everyone of you plan as though expecting to enjoy the freedom of grand old United States for many years, work as though you each thought that the future of this grand country depended upon what you individually do now, and this year, for in reality it is just so to a greater degree than any of us realize. Then, after planning to produce all we can for the boys at the front, we must begin to conserve at home much more than any of us have yet done, using the products that are not best to send them, and in doing this try to grow a plenty of products on the side for home use.

If there is anything that I can do to be of any service to carry out the above plans, don't hesitate to call upon me, and if in my power to help you I will do it.

Watch Your Blood Supply, Don't Let Impurities Creep In Pure Blood Means Perfect Health.

The average druggist has handled hundreds of medicines in his day, some of which have long since been forgotten.

But there is one that has been sold by the druggists throughout this country, for more than fifty years, and that is S. S. S., the reliable blood medicine, that is purely vegetable. Many druggists have seen wonderful results accomplished among their customers by this great old medicine, and they know that S. S. S. is one of the most reliable blood purifiers ever made. Keep your blood free of impurities by the use of this honest old medicine, and if you want medical advice, you can obtain same without cost by writing to Medical Director, Swift Specific Co., 28 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

The government could, of course, hire knitters; it could, of course, issue pensions for soldier's families in America. It could buy ether and bandages and hire nurses. But these things are so small a part of the Red Cross work that with them alone our cause would fail. Every man or woman who out of his own heart here at home gives to support the Red Cross is helping our cause from an angle of attack that is new in modern war. It is the angle of brotherhood. It stiffens the courage of the civilians. It puts heart into our soldier allies by the comforting knowledge that their home affairs are going well. And every dollar put into the Red Cross makes not only for victory in this war, but for everlasting peace between the great nations now fighting together in this war. England and France have been our beneficiaries, not merely with the blood of our soldiers. But England and France and Italy have seen how freely and how well we spend our love of humanity upon their people at home, how truly and how effectively we are friends in need, brothers in democracy. That is the Red Cross job—to make enduring the peace gained by our guns.

DIMES LENT TO TREASURY SOON MAKE DOLLARS

MONEY INVESTED IN WAR SAVINGS STAMPS FATTENS—COMES BACK WITH GOOD INTEREST.

This little bag of money represents the cost of a War Savings Stamp. It is the price of the smallest interest-bearing bond issued by the United States Government. The money in this bag, if lent to the Government, will aid materially in winning the war. Every time a War Savings Stamp is purchased the Government is lent enough money to buy one hundred rifle or machine gun cartridges, a pair of soldier's shoes—hundreds of things American fighters must have if we win the war and for which they look to the Government and the folks at home to supply them. They must have those things or lose.

This big bag of silver and gold represents the money that the postmaster will give for every War Savings Stamp brought to the postoffice on January 1, 1923. War Savings Stamps pay their owner four per cent interest compounded quarterly; they commence bearing interest the very day they are sold. During March a War Savings Stamp can be bought for $4.14. On January 1, 1923, the Government will take it back and give the owner a crisp five-dollar bill or five shiny silver dollars for it. In March 200 War Savings Stamps, the greatest number that the Government will permit one person to own, cost $828.00. On January 1, 1923, the Government will redeem them for $1,000.00.

Every month adds a cent more to the purchase price of a War Savings Stamp. In April they will cost $4.15; in May $4.16 and so on until in December the buyer of a War Savings Stamp will have to pay $4.23 to get one. After December 31, 1918, no more of the War Savings Stamps of this issue can be bought. The little Government bonds are on the bargain counter for one year only.

By purchasing War Savings Stamps, Texans are saving money; they are making money; they are helping materially to win the war; they are doing a necessary patriotic duty; they are laying foundations for their own prosperity—putting away a protecting umbrella which will rob the rainy day of its discomforts. By investing regularly in War Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps, the little twenty-five-cent brothers of the War Savings Stamps, and refraining from the use of non-essentials, so that goods and service needed to win the war may be released, Texans are mastering the basic principles of thrift which will bring to them prosperity and plenty.

Money invested in these little Government bonds is not given to the Government; it is lent to the Government and every stamp buyer is given a mortgage on the United States of America. It is no sacrifice to buy War Savings and Thrift Stamps. The person who buys them shows long-headed financial judgment and has the satisfaction of knowing that he is helping his country to win a war upon which his own safety and happiness depend.

The time to talk patriotism has passed. It should be practiced now. Get a War Savings Stamp.

Some Timely Suggestions.

Now is the time for pruning that orchard. If you are not up on this work just call on your county agents for a demonstration. If a dormant spray is needed it should be looked after at once. Do not overlook the spraying later for codling moth.

How about that dairy cow? During the cold weather have her teats become sore? If so just remember that an ointment composed of 1 dram oxide of zinc mixed with an ounce of vaseline will affect a speedy cure.

Are your poultry troubled with disease or vermin? If they have lice just rub a small pinch of fluride of sodium on the body in several places and every louse that comes in contact with it will leave. If sorehead appears promptly make 1 to 10 solution of any coal tar disinfectant and water and apply with a sprayer, taking care to reach the heads of all the fowls.

Going to plant any Irish potatoes? Suppose you try this way: List your furrows and sow in bottom well pulverized barnyard manure to a depth of three or four inches. Turn your water and wet thoroughly. Plant whole potatoes of medium size and throw back furrows leaving ridge over led. Work down gradually and when plants appear keep ground mulched and you will get results. If insects appear getting rid of them will be easy. Just call on your county agents.

Getting plenty of eggs? If not, suppose you try this plan: Dig a trench 18 inches deep, 30 inches wide and 16 feet long for every 50 fowls. Fill trench with top soil well mixed with rotted and pulverized barnyard manure. Sow alfalfa and cover half inch deep. Irrigate if necessary. Make frame to fit around bed and nail to posts two inches high and placed at intervals of two feet. Nail laths across frame every two feet and tack on one inch mesh poultry netting. When this comes up and the hens begin to nibble on it they will lay in spite of themselves.—Dalhart Texan.

How to Make Oatmeal Bread

Healthful to Eat—Saves the Wheat

1 cup flour
1 1/2 cups corn meal
1 teaspoon salt
5 teaspoons Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder
2 tablespoons sugar

1 cup cooked oatmeal or rolled oats
2 tablespoons shortening
1 1/2 cups milk
No eggs

Sift together flour, corn meal, salt, baking powder and sugar. Add oatmeal, melted shortening and milk. Bake in greased shallow pan in moderate oven 40 to 45 minutes.

This wholesome bread is easily and quickly made with the aid of

Plan For Food and Feed.

An organization of the 45 counties composing the Panhandle of Texas, was effected at a meeting held at Amarillo, last Monday. Plans were adopted to make the committeeman of each county, chairman of the work in his county with sub-committeemen, appointed by himself in each precinct.

M. W. Cunningham was appointed chairman of a labor committee whose members he is to appoint—one for each county. Mr. Cunningham favors the suggestion that the business men give a portion of their time to work on the farms and will enroll volunteers as a means of providing against the labor shortage.

Judge J. D. Hamlin, of Parmer county, was appointed chairman of a committee to secure the cooperation of the banks in loaning farmers the money needed for the purchase of seed and equipment. Judge Hamlin will appoint his own assistants in each of the Panhandle counties.

Allen Early and J. N. Beasley were appointed chairman and assistant of the seed committee and will ascertain the needs of the district in the matter of seed. It is recommended that farmers do not sell their seed until those in their immediate neighborhoods are supplied since those who have to repurchase the seed will have to pay a higher price.

Dr. O. H. Loyd, of Oldham, was directed to prepare a series of articles on farming in the Panhandle for submission to the chairman of the publicity committee, F. R. Jameson, of Canadian, who will give them out to the papers of this section.

The campaign is to be begun at once and the chairmen of the different counties are to see that every farmer is visited with a view to increasing the production of our sure crops.

From Your County Agent.
Your County Agent, accompanied by several other men from this part of the country, attended the Swine Breeders Association meeting at Clarendon last week. I certainly wish that more of the farmers of the country could have attended, for it was well worth the time of any man, and especially if he was at all interested in hogs. There was a number of good talks by representatives from the College and the State Department of Agriculture. Mr. Griswold, of the College showed how it was possible for us to raise hogs at a profit with the present price of hogs and feed. This cannot be done when you follow the methods used by the average farmer raising a few head of hogs. With feed as high as now, and the price of hogs low in proportion, we should eliminate every bit of waste possible, regardless of how small. And when you take a tub of maize or kafir and throw it over the fence in a dirty filthy pen with only the ground for a floor, you are wasting feed and at the same time you are running the risk of disease among your hogs. Plan now for those pasture for the hogs this spring, and make this as early as possible, for it is the cheapest feed you can get for hogs and they will harvest it themselves. If you are feeding some hogs for the market, take some of the old boards from a fence or old building and make a good clean pen for the hogs with some kind of a floor. Then spend a dollar and build them a clean trough for water and slop, and if you have very many hogs, I think you will find that a small self-feeder will be a good investment in view of the scarcity of labor this spring.

Our Boys in France and Home Protection

The men on the firing line represent the pick of our American youth. One in four of our boys at home was sick, rejected because of physical deficiency. Many times the kidneys were to blame. If we wish to prevent old age coming on too soon, or if we want to increase our chances for a long life, Dr. Pierce of the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., says that we should drink plenty of water daily between meals. Then procure at the nearest drug store, Anuric (double strength). The cost is 60 cts. This "Anuric" drives the uric acid out and cures backache and rheumatism.

If we wish to keep our kidneys in the best condition a diet of milk and vegetables, with only little meat once a day, is the most suitable. Drink plenty of pure water, take Anuric three times a day for a month.

Send Dr. Pierce ten cents for trial package.

BINGER, OKLA.—"I had one knee hurt in which rheumatism developed. Afterward I hurt my back very badly loading wood. I sent for four packages of Anuric Tablets and had taken hardly two packages when they completely cured me. I have not had a twinge of rheumatism in my back or in my knee since. I know the Anuric Tablets did me more good than all the other medicines I ever took."

"I let a neighbor have one package of Anuric. He was down with his back, and it did him a world of good. My parents have known of and used Doctor Pierce's medicines for years."—W. B. PHILLIPS, Route 1, Box 72.

If we can make any thing at all raising hogs it certainly is our duty to raise them, for they are needed now and will be needed more in the future if the war keeps on. It will not only help out in the war, but there is nothing you can do that will help your community and county more, than to get into the registered hog business. Some of you may think that the registered hog business is all right for the other fellow but not for you. If you are raising hogs at all, regardless of the number you raise, it will pay you to raise registered hogs. They are as easy raised as a scrub, and will take no more feed, and when you figure the worth of the stuff raised and what it will sell for you will find that you will make more on the money invested than if you raise scrubs. At the sale Saturday, a number of the broodsows sold cheap, and there would have been a good place for a man to have gotten a start in the pure-bred business with a reasonable outlay of money.

The Swine Breeders Association voted to give two registered boars as prizes to the boys' and girls' club of the Panhandle this fall. To compete for this prize the club members must show a registered pig, and I know the boys and girls of my three counties want to see these two hogs brought back here. So if the boy or girl wants to get a registered pig to compete for this prize, help them out a little, and when they have some registered pigs for sale next fall, buy one and start in the registered hog business too.

Don't Kill Pigeons.

Complaints have been made to the pigeon station of the Signal Corps that carrier pigeons of the racing-homer type, being trained throughout the United States for communication service with the American army have been shot by persons on hunting expeditions.

Because of the important part carrier and homer pigeons are playing in the war, and the need for their breeding and development in this country, the War Department has considerably expanded the pigeon section of the Signal Corps. Homing pigeons constitute one of the most effective means of communication in the Army.

Any pigeon in the air may be a carrier pigeon flying from a loft under Government supervision. Its destruction may be a serious loss to the American Army. Any one coming into possession of pigeons labeled "U. S. S. '18," indicating that they are being trained for Army purposes is requested to report the fact at once to the office of the Chief Signal Officer, Land Division, Washington, D. C.

EVER SALIVATED BY CALOMEL? HORRIBLE!

Calomel is quicksilver and acts like dynamite on your liver.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it josses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.

LETTER FROM BUSTER

St. Louis, Mar. 11, 1918
Canyon City Supply Co.,
Canyon, Texas.
Gentlemen:
We have received a letter from Buster Brown giving an account of his Advertising Reception for your benefit, which he claims was an immense success, and we congratulate you on your hearty cooperation in making this Advertising Reception a success.
Thinking that you might be interested in Buster's report, we are sending you a copy of same.
Trusting the results derived from this Advertising Reception will be lasting, we are
Yours very truly,
BROWN SHOE COMPANY
Brown Shoe Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.
Gentlemen:
My reception at Canyon, Texas, for the Canyon City Supply Co., was a grand success. They had my coming well advertised all over town. After arriving we drove around town, visited the schools and announced reception for 4:00 p. m., to which everyone was invited. When the hour came, we had a very large crowd gathered, to which I gave about an hour's talk on Buster Brown Shoes and the Brown Shoe Co.'s 5 shoes in general.

I sure had the kids wild, they all held up their hands and promised that they would never wear any other kind of shoes but the Buster Brown shoes. I also drilled them thoroughly on the line before giving out the souvenirs. Tige entertained them with his tricks, which everyone seemed to enjoy.
The manager said that he intends writing you regarding my work. He and everyone appeared to be well pleased with our entertainment.
With best wishes, I remain
Yours very truly,
BUSTER BROWN

The Money in the Cream.
Many cow owners are selling milk instead of cream because they are getting big prices for it—bigger prices in fact, than for a good many years. They are taking a good immediate profit and they argue, it is much less bother to care for milk than cream. In other words, they believe that selling milk brings better pay and with less work. As a matter of fact, the cow owner who sells milk does not get as much money from his cows as if he separated the milk at home, sold only cream or butter and fed the skim milk to the calves and pigs.
Furthermore, when a man sells his milk he takes fertility from his farm, which, as a general rule is not paid back. When he uses a separator, selling only cream or butter, and raises calves and pigs on the skim milk, with a proper grain ration, he increases the richness of his land. And the cow owner who thinks it is less work to care for milk than cream has not in all probability stopped to compare the labor necessary in each case. Handling cream involves less labor and expense than taking care of milk. A little figuring will show that the cow owner who separates his milk on the farm, selling cream or butter and feeding the skim milk to growing calves and pigs, actually makes more out of his milk than the man who sells it whole.
Take a dairy of twenty cows, with an average butter-fat test of four per cent or four pounds of fat in each 100 pounds of milk. The milk at present is bringing the cow owner about six cents a quart. Butter-fat sells for about fifty cents a pound and better. Now is six cents a quart for milk as profitable for the cow owner as butter-fat at fifty cents a pound? A forty quart can of milk at six cents a quart brings $2.40, from which must be subtracted ten cents, the average cost of hauling the milk to town. This leaves $2.30, which the farmer receives for forty quarts of milk.
The forty quart can of milk weighs eighty-six pounds. If four per cent is fat, the can contains 3.44 pounds of fat, which, at fifty cents a pound, brings $1.72 as cream generally is

Our Earnest Desire

The greater the prosperity of the farmer the greater is the prosperity of the banker. A good banking connection is one of the important business relationships a farmer must have to reach the greatest success in business.

We are greatly interested in cooperating with the farmers in this vicinity to obtain for our community the highest degree of prosperity and unrestricted opportunity for social development toward finer living conditions, that we may make of farm life what it should be—the happiest and most desirable to be found.

Many Joining Clubs.
County Agent Holland reports that pig and baby beef clubs have been organized in every school district in his territory and that an unusual interest is being taken in the work by the boys and girls.
At their recent meeting, the Panhandle Swine Breeders Association offered two prize winning pigs, valued at $200 each, to the boys and girls who raise the best pigs this year. This is a splendid offer and will enable the successful contestant to secure a very valuable animal at the cost only of a comparatively small amount of labor and expense.
There are already more than 200 members enrolled in the Club work in County Agent Holland's territory and it is expected that this number will be increased before the roll is closed.

CLIP THIS AND PIN ON WIFE'S DRESSER
Cincinnati man tells how to shrivel up corns or calluses so they lift off with fingers.
Ouch ! ! ! ! ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called frezone when applied to a tender, aching corn or hardened callus stops soreness at once, and soon the corn or callus dries up and lifts right off without pain.
He says frezone dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. A small bottle of frezone will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels. If your druggist doesn't have frezone tell him to order a small bottle for you.
