

POSTMASTER WILL BE CHOSEN SOON

Examinations Will be Held in Amarillo—Number of Citizens to Take Examination.

A notice was posted Saturday in the postoffice stating that an examination would be held January 14 in Amarillo for a postmaster in Canyon. Cyril Eakman's term of office expires within a short time.

The regulation provides that applicants must file an application with the Civil Service authorities in order to take the examination. The Civil Service department will then send the applicant a card admitting him to the examinations.

The applicant must be more than 21 years of age, and not over 65 years, which prohibits Mr. Eakman from being an applicant.

The examination to be held will be under civil service.

A large number of applicants are seeking the office. Only a few have been fortunate enough to get blanks in order to make the proper application for the examinations.

Examination Postponed.

A telegram was received yesterday from Washington postponing the examination. Blanks are now available at the postoffice, and all interested in the postoffice will now have time to file their application to take the examination.

GUY CONNER APPOINTED TO TAKE CITY CENSUS

Guy Conner received the appointment Monday to take the census of Canyon and precinct No. 1 in Randall County. So far he has received no blanks for the work.

Mr. Conner stated that it was his understanding that the enumerator is to have two weeks to complete the work in the city after the blanks are received. He states that he can do the work in that time.

The members of the Randall County Commercial League are interested in seeing that all citizens of Randall county are included in the count and are offering enumerators all of the assistance possible.

Clyde Baird will make the count in precinct No. 2, and so far no one has been secured for the other two precincts. E. H. Powell has charge of the matter and is conferring with the district supervisor trying to get an appointment made.

Mr. Powell stated this morning that he phoned the director of the census yesterday, who stated he had no applications from any one in Randall County except Mr. Conner and Mr. Baird. He is very anxious to get enumerators for the other precincts and any who will volunteer are certain of appointment. The pay is $5.00 per day and $2.00 extra for expenses.

The first will be the Northwest Texas Swine Breeders Association on January 21-22.

During March the Panhandle Teachers Association will meet in this city. Supt. Ferch of Hereford, president of the Association will come to Canyon Saturday to see about making the program.

All of these events promises to tax the capacity of Canyon, and in order to accommodate all of the visitors for these events, it will be necessary for the people to open their homes and give up all extra rooms for the visitors.

At the meeting of the Randall County Commercial League Monday night at the News office, a committee was appointed consisting of W. J. Flesher, H. W. Gouldy and H. C. Roffey to look after rooms for the men who attend the Swine Breeders Association. In order to make one canvas of the town do for all of the events, this committee will confer and work with the Normal committee headed by J. W. Reid in making a plat of the town showing every home which has a spare room in order that people may be sent to these homes during the conventions and meetings.

The people of Canyon must open their homes during these occasions if the visitors are properly cared for. President Hill laid this matter before the League Monday night, and the members of the League instructed Mr. Hill to invite any convention to Canyon and the people of the city would see that all were properly cared for during their stay.

OUR FINE SUNNY DAYS VANISH WITH A VENGEANCE—BIG SNOW

Canyon has been enjoying ideal spring days since the fateful Dec. 17. The sun shown bright and warm a majority of the time, with hardly an indication that it was winter.

But what a difference yesterday.

The wind changed to the north Tuesday night. Before morning a light snow was falling, which increased as the day advanced. Snow continued to fall during last night, and this morning was falling at a great rate. During the morning the sun has tried several times to break through, and the indications are that the snow will stop during the day.

The temperature has not been low and no loss is expected among the cattle as they are in very fine condition with the fine winter weather that has preceded, and with an abundance of feed in the country.

CONDITIONS GOOD IN THE CHURCHES

(By R. Kenieth Evans)

An attractive feature of living in Canyon and a feature which is having a wide influence in the attraction of students to the schools of Canyon from other sections is the maintenance of a high standard of morality in the community. There are no slums of any description in Canyon nor any slum districts to serve as a blot upon the face of the city. In fact everything is done to maintain this as one of the cleanest little cities of the great Southwest.

The people living in Canyon are a home loving class. Imbued with the true western spirit of progression they believe in maintaining the sanctity of their city the same as their home. Good clean amusements are provided in athletics, college lectures, school parties and a clean picture show serve as an attraction where nothing but elevating pictures are shown. Church workers provide good clean amusement and in fact everything is done possible to encourage the maintenance of this high standard which is naturally a characteristic of the people who live here.

The city is peopled with a God fearing class. More than three-fourths of the population of Canyon are church workers or profess and practice some form of religion. The balance are influenced by this church work and take an active part in the maintenance of the city as a clean, law-abiding place. Efficient city and county officers maintain law and order although it is very seldom that they are ever called upon to evoke their authority and then in extreme cases. The jail doors under ordinary conditions could be thrown wide open. Although the administration are both very efficient lawlessness in Canyon is conspicuous by its absence.

There are five substantial church organizations in Canyon. They are the Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist, Christian and Episcopal. All have separate church buildings and substantial structures, well kept and well supported. The increasing attendance however, at these churches will necessitate additional buildings. The Sunday schools are increasing rapidly and there is hardly sufficient room in any of these structures to house the congregations that attend each and every meeting. Additional rooms will be necessary to carry out Sunday school work and plans are now being perfected to the building of these additions.

The Baptist church is now conducting a campaign to raise a fund of $60,000 for the purpose of erecting a new and modern building in Canyon. The campaign will soon be closed with the desired amount of money and the work of constructing (Continued on last page.)

COMMITTEE WILL PROCURE FUNDS FOR DORMITORY LOT

At the meeting of the Randall County Commercial League Monday night Archdeacon Wm Garner of the Episcopal Church explained to the members the dormitory which his church is going to put in Canyon at a cost of $36,000. Mr. Garner stated that one-third of the funds were available at this time, and work would start just as soon as a location was provided.

After laying the proposition before the League, it was voted that the League heartily approve the plan of the citizens of Canyon giving to the church a suitable location for the dormitory, and that a committee be appointed to confer with Mr. Garner and Bishop Temple in the selection of the location and to make a canvass of the town to raise money to buy the lot. President T. C. Thompson has the appointment of the committee and hopes to name it this week so that the location may be bought, the funds raised, and construction of the building started.

The church is asking for no other funds for the $36,000 dormitory, and money necessary to buy a suitable location for the building will be a very small gift from the people of Canyon for such a worthy enterprise, which will be run without profit and will be open for girls of all denominations.

COMMERCIAL LEAGUE WILL STAGE A FEED FEBRUARY 3

The fellows who never come to the meetings of the Randall County Commercial League except on nights of a big feed will have another chance to help save the town by their presence on the night of February 3.

The night will be set aside for the business meeting getting ready for the February Trades Day and for such other business as may come up. S. B. McClure and C. F. Walker are the general steering committee to see that the affair is pulled off according to Hoyle. The ticket sellers for the feed will be Henry Gamble, Jack Jones, Zeb Mitchell and J. L. Duflot.

The election of officers for the coming year will be held that night. E. H. Powell, J. A. Hill and O. N. Gamble will be the nominating committee to nominate the directors and officers for the coming year. All those desiring an office in the League should see them at once.

FRED W. DAVIS TO SPEAK HERE JAN. 22

State Commissioner of Agriculture to Address Swine Breeders Association in Canyon.

Fred W. Davis, State Commissioner of Agriculture, has accepted an invitation to speak in Canyon on the morning of January 22 at the meeting of the Northwest Texas Swine Breeders Association.

Mr. Davis is one of the prominent men of Texas who is doing a great deal to make Texas the leading state in the union in agricultural lines. He will have a message for the farmers of this section.

Every farmer in Randall county should plan to hear this lecture on the morning of Jan. 22 if no other program of the Swine Breeders Association meeting can be attended.

PROGRAM FOR SWINE BREEDERS MEETING NOT COMPLETE

The News received the following letter yesterday from R. E. Prewitt, President of the Northwest Texas Swine Breeders Association, which is self-explanatory.

I fully intended to meet with the Randall County Commercial League last night but the sudden death in our family made it impossible for me to attend. I thought that we would have all the acceptances in this week so we could have the program of our meeting printed this week, but there are some to hear from yet.

However you may state that the following have given notice that they will accept our invitation to address us:

Hon. Fred Davis, State Commissioner of Agriculture.

T. O. Waltern, Extension Service from the A. & M. College.

A. L. Ward, Secretary State Swine Breeders and Extension Work.

Joe Haaga from the National Duroc Record Association, who will also bring the movies of the last National Show to put on the screen.

There are several of the others that have not been heard from as yet.

The meeting will be called to order the evening of the first day, the morning being spent in getting acquainted. The evening will be taken up with lectures and the banquet and moving pictures will be the first night. The morning of the second day will have more addresses and the election of officers and selection of the next annual meeting place. The sale will commence promptly at one o'clock the afternoon of the second day.

I will meet the committee this week and go into detail with them. Everything points to the biggest swine meeting in the state. Will have the catalogues of the sale for you to print next week.

ALL SET FOR THE BIG POULTRY SHOW MONDAY

All of the details have been arranged for the Randall County Poultry Show in Canyon next Monday, January 12.

The show will be held at the court house and every provision possible made to take the best of care of the poultry for the day.

E. B. Miller of Plainview will be the judge of the show. He is eminently qualified for the place.

Farmers are urged to bring in their poultry and put them on exhibition next Monday. Cash premiums will be offered on the various classes of poultry which is raised in Randall County.

Every person interested in good poultry should see the show by all means.

A number of breeders from a distance have indicated a desire to have chickens on exhibit for advertising purposes.

NEW FIRE SIREN WILL BE TESTED—MOTOR DRIVEN

The fire boys have a new fire siren which will be tested today or tomorrow. It was bought by T. C. Thompson from one of the cantonments where it was in use only a short while. It weighs several hundred pounds and has enough noise to awaken the soundest sleeper when turned loose on a fire alarm.

If the siren is what the department desires, the siren will be established in the most convenient location.

After all, we don't think capital ever worked labor as effectively as the radical labor leaders are working it. —Columbia Record.

EDITOR ALONE CANNOT MAKE A GOOD PAPER

We frequently hear the remark that no town can amount to anything without a "good paper", and it takes a good editor to make a good paper.

Yes, that's all 100 percent true, but the rippling, flowing, calmly going, well-informed spokesman stops his oral declaration too soon; there is more talk necessary to complete that exclamation which "talk" should sound something like this: "And that editor should have the co-operation of every business man in the town in which the paper is published; the editor should have the co-operation of every resident in the town and country to the extent they subscribe and pay for the paper said "good editor" edits.

Everybody should boost the paper that's trying to boost the town, advertise the advantages of the surrounding country, develop the resources by inducing families to move into our county, establish homes and build up a greater wealth.

But do they do it?
Do you do it?

When an editor has to stand single handed and alone and battle against a seeming relentless condition of non-progression on the part of may, few if any find time to read "the foolishness" which is written and printed.

Every town has just as good newspapers as they are entitled to, just as good as their patronage warrants, and if most of the editors, owners and publishers of country newspapers were not financial wizards in the management of their business affairs few towns could lay claim to a local newspaper, even though it be a "poor excuse," or "better than no paper at all" sheet.

C. L. Tanner, editor of the Alice News, just about covers the salient points on the subject in this paragraph:

"A newspaper without messages from the merchants of its town even though it abounds in news items, does not appeal to the eye nor yet to the tastes of men and women. Fact is the successful newspaper or magazine for that matter, is composed of three essential elements, to-wit:

"Readable reading matter.

"Readable advertisements.

"Pleasing appearance."

The newspaper which does not measure up to this triple standard is a detriment to any town and has no real excuse for existence.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Jordon-Hale Marriage.

Sunday afternoon at one-fifteen o'clock at the home of the bride's parents Miss Ina Ora Jordan was united in marriage to Willis Morgan Hale of Lipscomb, Texas. Dr. E. E. Robinson performed the ceremony. Miss Mary Harrison and Ben Jordan were the only attendants. The bride wore a beautiful brown broadcloth suit with black fur trimmings and a black satin hat. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Jordan and has made Plainview her home for fourteen years. She graduated from Plainview High School in 1915. Later she was a graduate of the West Texas State Normal College at Canyon. Up to the time of her marriage she was a popular teacher of Hale County. Her bright sunny disposition and winning ways have brought many friends into her possession.

The groom is a popular young man of Lipscomb having been in the drug business there for a number of years. He is a graduate of the West Texas State Normal College. He served for two years in the army as captain.

Mr. and Mrs. Hale left on the afternoon train for Lipscomb and Electric. They will make their home at Electric.—Plainview News.

Bailey Spreads Falsehoods.

Joseph Weldon Bailey, discredited, grouch, and working for the liquor interests, is going up and down Texas spreading falsehoods against the democratic administration as to its conduct of the war. He seems to be carrying on a propaganda of anti-American, anti-Wilson and anti-everything says Tom Love.

He declares President Wilson has bought five automobiles since becoming president. The facts are the five cars were authorized by congress and were bought during the Taft administration—when Bailey was a member of the senate.

He declares 30,000 horses and 500,000 saddles were bought by the war department during the far. The facts are 475,060 horses and 411,868 saddles were bought.

He declares $35,000,000 worth of new auto tires were piled up outdoors in France and allowed to rot.

The facts are all the auto tires shipped to France during the war did not amount to this sum; they were kept under cover and after the war sold to the French government.

These are only samples of the baseless charges Bailey is making. Of course there were errors made in the conduct of the war—but possibly fewer than were made in other wars. The fact is, Mr. Bailey is not infallible himself, for he has made many errors, one of his greatest being the selling of his political fortunes to one H. Clay Pierce for a mess of oily pottage. — Plainview News.

UNCLE SAM WILL TAKE CENSUS IN JANUARY

People are Urged to Cooperate in Securing Reliable Data.

The census is required every ten years by the constitution of the United States and by act of congress.

In cities the population enumeration will be completed within two weeks.

The enumeration of farms will be completed within thirty days.

The census of manufactures, mines and quarries, oil and gas wells, and forestry and forest products will, as a rule, be taken by special agents and by correspondence, and not by enumerators.

The census is the means by which the government ascertains the increase in the population, the statistics concerning agriculture, and the vital of the nation.

The census is for statistical purposes only and inquiries are defined by act of congress.

The information gathered is strictly confidential, made so by law.

Census information can not under any circumstances be used as a basis for taxation, nor can it be used to harm any person of his property.

It has nothing whatever to do with detection, arrest, prosecution, or punishment of any person for any violation of any law.

Some important questions asked of all persons:

1. Age at last birthday.
2. Each person ten years of age and over will be asked whether he is able to read or write.
3. Each person will be asked his birthplace as well as the birthplace of his father and mother.
4. If foreign born the date of coming to the United States will be asked, and, if naturalized the date of becoming a citizen; also mother tongue or native language.
5. Each head of a family will be asked whether his home, is owned by him or rented. If owned, whether the home is mortgaged or free of debt.
6. Each person will be asked his occupation and whether he is an employer or an employee or is working on his own account.

The answers to the above questions give valuable and vital information to the government concerning the health, welfare, and progress of the persons under its protection.

Some important questions asked of farmers:

2. Whether he (a) owns, or (b) rents, or (c) partly owns and partly rents his farm, or whether (d) he operates the farm for others as a manager or superintendent.
3. How many acres in his farm? Number of improved acres? Number of unimproved acres and number of acres of wood land?
4. Total value of farm? Total value of buildings? Value of implements and machinery on farm?
5. Whether farm is mortgaged? If so, the amount of mortgage?
6. Expenses for feed, fertilizer, and labor in the year 1919?
7. Several questions concerning artificial drainage of his farm.
8. Number of cows, horses, sheep, chickens, and other domestic animals on the farm January 1, 1920.
9. Quantity of acreage of all crops grown on the farm in 1919, including fruits and vegetables?
10. Quantity of milk and butter sold off the farm during the year 1919?
11. Acreage of timber land on the farm and value of forest products?

Correct answers to the above questions are of the utmost importance. The United States Department of Agriculture assisted the Census Bureau in preparing the questions on the agricultural schedule and appeals to farmers everywhere to keep farm records for census purposes.

Copies of the Agriculture schedule can be had in advance by any farmer by writing to the Director of the Census, Washington, D. C.

Census questions must be answered. The act of congress providing for the census makes it the duty of all persons to furnish the information asked for by the enumerators to fill out the census schedules. No persons should hesitate, neglect or refuse to answer fully and accurately all the enumerator's questions. He only asks the questions necessary to fill the schedule as required by the act of congress.

ules as required by the act of congress.

Keepers of hotels, apartment houses, boarding or lodging houses, or tenements, must assist the enumerators in getting the information concerning the persons living in such hotels and houses.

Resolutions of Respect.

To the officers and members of Canyon Council No. 2989, K. & L. O. S.

Down through the dark valley of death the spirit of our sister, Wilda Foster made its way, Jan. 1, 1920; quickly the summons came and the response was, "Master, I am ready."

Therefore, we extend to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy and we commend them to Him alone who can comfort in this hour of sorrow.

Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be placed upon the pages of our records; a copy be published in the county paper; and a copy be sent to the sorrowing family.

The world may sound no trumpets, ring no bells; the book of life the shining record tells.

Entered at postoffice at Canyon, Texas, as second class matter. Office of publication, West Houston St.
SUBSCRIPTION, $1.50 PER YEAR

There has been a great deal of discussion in all newspapers regarding the salaries paid to teachers in our public schools. The teachers of Canyon were raised in salary this year, but not so much as many other towns are now paying. The board may have to make a substantial raise next year to get good teachers. Word comes from the board that this raise in salaries will cause a substantial increase in the valuations of property in the school district for the coming year. It is now tax paying time, and the assessor will soon be around to take renditions for the coming year. It is therefore timely to state to the people of the Canyon Independent School District that the board will not have sufficient funds to meet the expenses of this year. In order to provide for the kind of a school that the people of the district demands, there must be a raise in valuations for the coming year. The board is doing the very best it can, but it takes a lot of money to run good schools, and there is no reason why Canyon shouldn't have the best.

It seems as if there is no spot quite so fascinating for loafers as the entrance to the postoffice. Most any time of day some loafers will be found standing in the door of the postoffice, around whom every person entering and leaving must crowd. The other day a young fellow was noted manfully trying to hold his sacred loafing place right in the door while there was a rush on. Time and again he was pushed from his anchoring place, but each time, he eased back into position, seemingly unconscious that he was disturbing other people, and standing in other people's rights. If you have nothing to do, please don't do it in the door of the postoffice. Other people may be busy and have a little scruples about running over you.

A wealthy farmer from Hale county was swindled out of $45,000 by a smooth band in Ft. Worth who were "played the markets" with his money. Its the same old story of the country man going to the city to get some of the "easy money". No doubt there is some of the so-called easy money in some cities if the operator has brains enough to put it over, but the man who is comfortably fixed after a lifetime of hard work will do better to invest his money in a sure government 5 per cent bond.

Final returns in the November election shows that all proposed amendments to the state constitution were lost. The voters of Texas even refused to allow Galveston to build a seawall to protect their city against storms. Why any person in Texas should vote against this proposition is hard to see. The Texas voters have been voting against every amendment that comes up. It would seem that the case of life and death and destruction of property by nature did not enter into consideration.

Senator Harding of Ohio, republican candidate, is the first candidate with nerve enough to throw down the gauntlet to the radical element which is in control of organized labor and is responsible to the strikes. It will make or break him as a candidate. If he wins the nomination, he will draw largely from the democratic party on such a platform among those who are tired of the unreasonable demands being made by brotherhoods and other disturbing labor leaders.

Harry Koch of the Quanah Tribune-Chief was dumfounded the other day when a man walked into his office and laid down the hard cash for one hundred yearly subscriptions to his paper. Who in Randall County will be the first to send this great religious weekly to one hundred friends? Or is there any one who has that many friends.

Instead of legislating against drinking wood alcohol, America would get rid of a bunch of brainless fools if it would pass out the drink free to those willing to take it.

Be sure to get yourself counted in the census enumeration. If no one calls to take the census, call up the Randall County Commercial League and let the fact be known.

The evil day of making out income tax reports has been put off a little while in Texas because there are no blanks in the state as yet.

If General Pershing was half as anxious to run for president as General Wood, the republicans might soon have their candidate.

Not Losing Power.
Whenever you hear anybody claiming that the church is losing power of people, just point to the tremendous and unprecedented sums of money that have recently been raised by prominent church organizations for carrying on the work of the church. In each and every one of these great drives the sums asked for

have been oversubscribed.

The Methodists have raised $150,000,000 in their Centenary drive.

The Southern Baptists have raised more than $75,000,000.

The Presbyterians, Christians and Episcopalians have each raised millions.

These tremendous sums have been contributed for the support and enlargement of missions, educational and benevolences—to make the world better and happier, and bring it closer to God and the Christ.

No other organization in these days could raise a fraction of what these churches have raised—even the Red Cross cannot do so in times of peace.

When men and women give of their substance as they are doing to their churches you can depend upon it that they have the interest of the church and its work in their hearts.

No, the church is not losing its power. It is growing in power.

The church is by far the greatest institution on God's footstool, and it will continue to grow greater as the days and years pass. — Plainview News.

If Mr. Wilson has not broken the record of late years in respect to the number of Cabinet appointments made by him, he has, or pretty certainly will, break a record of fifty years' standing by his own tenure of the presidency. For he is the only President since Grant who will have lived eight years continuously in the White House. The statement is apt to be incredible to those who have not cast their minds back over the history of the presidency since the Civil War. But on doing so one will see that the statement is correct. Grant served two terms consecutively, but Hayes, who succeeded him, only one. Garfield served only five and a half months, having died as a consequence of Guitau's bullet Sept. 19 of the year he was inaugurated. Arthur, who, as Vice President, was made President by Garfield's death, served out the term, but was not even nominated for election to that office. Cleveland, who was next, was defeated at the end of four years by Harrison, who in turn gave way to Cleveland at the end of another quadrennium. McKinley served from March 4, 1897, to the day of his death, which was Sept. 14, 1901, at which time Roosevelt became President. Roosevelt's continuous service was seven years and a little more than five months, which is the nearest approach to the record Mr. Wilson will have made when he shall end his term in March, 1921, if it is necessary to remind any one that Mr. Taft's tenure in the White House was for only four years. — Dallas News.

This is a farmers' show. We have made an effort to offer a premium for every breed that is extensively raised in this county.

Owners should show birds in regular exhibition pens if possible. A neat box, large enough, slatted in front, with a moveable slat so that the judge may remove chickens for examination, may be used. No entry fee will be charged. Premiums for this show are being offered by the Randall County League of Canyon business men. Make your entry with County Agent, C. F. Walker. All exhibits must be placed in the show room, main hall of the County Court House, before 10:00 a. m. on Jan. 12th. All birds must be exhibited by their owner. No diseased birds will be accepted. All birds will be judged by score card by a competent and impartial judge.

We urge every one who has good good chickens and turkeys to exhibit them at this show. The premiums are small, but the winners of "First cock" and "First hen" will take home $8.00 in cash. People will want to buy setting eggs and breeding stock in a few weeks from now. This show will give you enough free advertising to make it worth your trouble. Bring in your chickens and show the county what you have. Members of Boys' and Girls' Agricultural Clubs are urged to exhibit their chickens.

We want more and better poultry in this county. Everybody help make this show a success.

Thrift and Wealth.

New York Times: One of the most interesting disclosures regarding the largest benefaction ever made by one man at one time is its close connection with the same man's gifts made in his youth in the smallest American coin. When Mr. Rockefeller's wages were at the rate of $50 for three months he kept a ledger, and entered his expenses and charities with equal care. This 60-year-old ledger shows the way the twig is bent the tree is inclined, and the gift of $100,000,000 recently is no more characteristic than the gift of single cents when they were harder to spare than the millions from the billion accredited to him in common report. In his own words, his obligations have grown with his riches, until he now feels less independent than when his wages were raised to $25 a month; but he never was so independent that he failed to save something, or felt free from the duty of having something to give. In his belief, the poorest man in the world is he who has nothing but money, and that the only way to get or use money wisely is to keep accounts. The same maxim out of a copybook is less convincing than this ledger of a boy who now has his books kept by a corps of lawyers and accountants. It is safe to say that he survived when others succumbed in one of the most adventurous of businesses because he kept better accounts than they.

Mr. Rockefeller's boyhood ledger testifies to his philosophy of money-getting, keeping and spending. "I believe it is a religious duty to get all the money you can, fairly and honestly; to keep all you can, and to give away all you can." The keeping and giving necessarily are conditioned upon the getting, and getting depends much upon the account keeping. The proof is not the individual ledger, but the testimony of the insolvency courts and the efficiency teachers. The professor of business research at Harvard bears witness that merchants often tell him that they do not know what their expenses are, nor their operating costs. Retailers and whole-salers alike do not know how often they turn their stocks over, nor how often they should do so, nor what rate of profit they make or ought to make. These merchants are a danger to others as well as to themselves. They often sell at a loss when they think they are making money, and are surprised when they find themselves insolvent. They have sold too cheaply—below cost.

Mr. Rockefeller's career is but an incident of our times, in which it has been thought that the remedy for poverty is the punishment of wealth. Ingenuity has been exhausted in providing laws as the remedy for a trouble that calls rather for knowledge. Men who do not know the causes of their own failure attribute the success of others to evil arts, instead of to thrift and precision.

When Mr. Hurley was head of the Federal Trade Commission he threw its influence toward correcting errors rather than toward punishing crimes; in fact, the earliest cases brought to the Federal Trade Commission were rejected as unworthy of punishment, whereas in later years the commission has exhausted ingenuity in finding cases to prosecute on facts not submitted to either Judge or jury. The commission in its earliest years found that 90 per cent of the concerns reporting did not keep adequate accounts. Out of 60,000 corporations reporting incomes of $5,000 or over, half do not charge depreciation. Such concerns would now pay taxes on inflated valuations; but, if the income tax does nothing else, it compels better accounting.

Bradstreet's has reported that three-quarters of insolvencies are due to faults of the insolvents, and not to causes beyond their control. Under such conditions it is not surprising that of 250,000 corporations 100,000 had no net income, and that a quarter in that year exceeded such a modest profit as $5,000. Naturally, those conditions were those of times more nearly normal; but conditions will return when business must be done on narrower margins, and the essentials of solvency will be the same as in the past.

Public Building At Plainview.

It now seems assured that Plainview is to get her long cherished Federal post office and public building. Col. R. P. Smyth, acting secretary of the Board of City Development has received a letter from Marvin Jones, Representative from this district, saying that the Plainview building is assured.—Plainview Herald.

President Carranza, one writer asserts, figures on cementing the contending Mexican factions by a foreign war. He might recall that such was Austria's ostensible effort in forcing war with Serbia back in 1914.—Nashville Southern Lumberman.

A reliable contemporary announces that "there are 300 active volcanoes in the world, most of them, however, being quite small." The same thing might be said of Presidential booms.—Washington Post.

TEXAS INCOME TAX CAMPAIGN DELAYED BY LACK OF BLANKS

The Government working force in Texas will be slow in starting operations on the income tax for 1920. Originally slated to begin Jan. 1, the income tax campaign will not open until the middle of the month, or possibly later.

Failure of the income tax blanks to arrive is given as the cause of the delay by R. C. Cain, deputy internal revenue collector at Fort Worth. None of the blanks have been received in the State, he said. He will announce the date later when they will be available. Income tax assessments will be smaller in some instances for 1920. Salary assessments, for instance, will be a third less. This is in accordance with the graduated scale adopted in 1918.—Star-Telegram.

Mangled Finger Results in Death.

James Beville, a ten year old Lubbock boy, died from tetanus poison Friday. The small boy's brother was digging post holes and the deceased was playing near. He accidentally placed his finger under the falling knife of the digger and his hand was chopped off. Tetanus soon developed and the boy died a few hours later.—Plainview Herald.

The Whole Secret of A Better Tire

Simply a Matter of the Maker's Policies

This you will realize—once you try a Brunswick—that a super-tire is possible only when the name certifies that the maker is following the highest standards.

For tire making is chiefly a matter of standards and policies—cost plus care. Any maker can build a good tire if he cares to pay perfection's price.

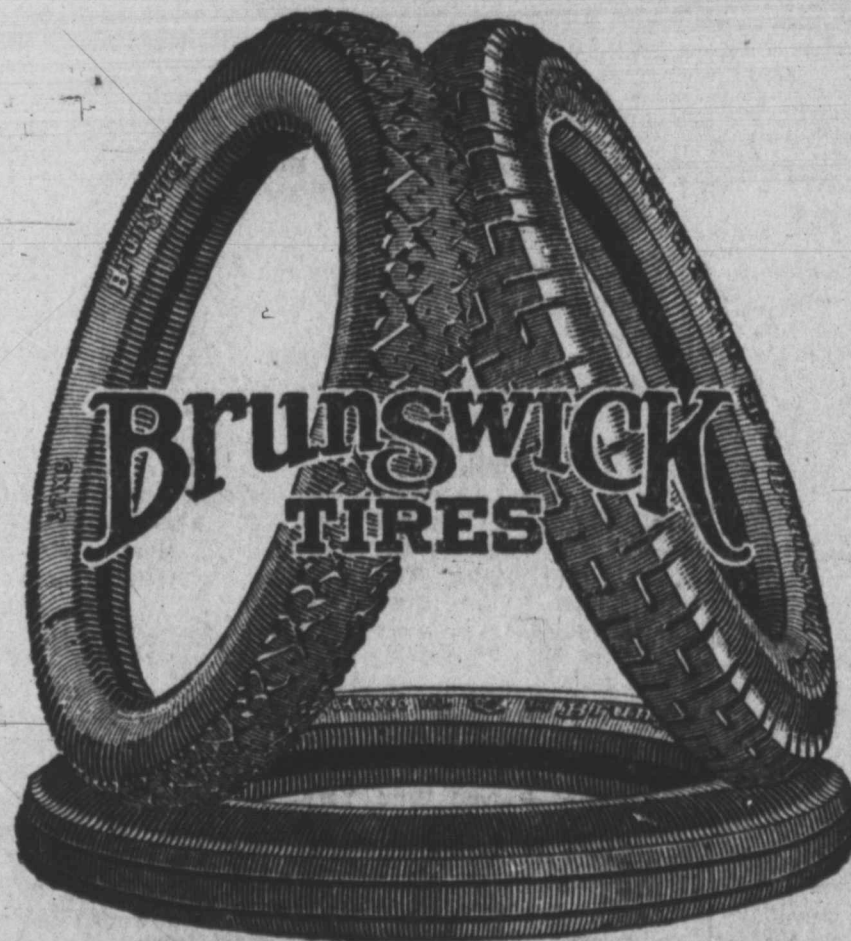

All men know Brunswick standards, for Brunswick products have been famous for 74 years.

Formulas, fabrics and standards vary vastly in cost. Reinforcements, plies and thickness are a matter of expense. And these variations affect endurance. It rests with the maker how far he wishes to go—how much he can afford to give.

For there are no secrets nor patents to hold one back.

RELIEF SHIP IS STOPPED BY ICE

Attempt to Reach Mission in Northernmost Alaska Again Fails.

REACH WITHIN 69 MILES

Dr. Marquis Brings Back Pitiful Tales of the Havoc Wrought by Influenza—Whole Villages Are Wiped Out.

Newport.—Turned back by an impenetrable ice-field within 69 miles of his goal, Dr. John A. Marquis, general secretary of the board of home missions of the Presbyterian church of the United States, was forced to return to New York without reaching his destination at Point Barrow, Alaska, the northernmost mission in the world operated by the Presbyterian church.

Dr. Marquis left New York June 23 and sailed from Seattle July 7 to Nome, where he boarded the United States coast guard service steamer Bear, to reach Point Barrow, but for the second time within two years this doughty little craft with its hardy crew was unable to buck the terrific ice jam of the arctic. For eight days the sturdy boat battled, but finally on August 15 it was forced to turn back. The supplies for Point Barrow were unloaded at Point Hope, 350 miles south of that town. From here it is expected that sledges will be able to carry some of them to the needy people at Point Barrow.

"Last year," says Dr. Marquis, "the Bear was able to get within 25 miles of Point Barrow, but the steady wind this year had forced the ice masses down farther south than they had been for years."

Ice at Latitude 70 1/2. "Massive fields of ice were reached when we were at latitude 70 1/2 degrees. Captain P. H. Oberroth, U. S. N., in charge of the Bear, declared the ice was the worst known since 1820."

Dr. Marquis went to Alaska to see about the appeal from the people there for the erection of a hospital at Point Barrow and also to study the opportunities for Presbyterian mission and school work generally in Alaska, particularly since the influenza epidemic last year wrought such havoc. He returns with interesting stories of the work and with pitiful tales of the terrible havoc wrought by the "flu," which in some sections wiped out whole villages.

On leaving Seattle July 7, Dr. Marquis took passage to the Aleutian islands and thence to Nome. At Nome passage was taken on the Bear and for six weeks Dr. Marquis was on this government vessel. From Nome Dr. Marquis went to St. Lawrence islands and thence to Siberia. Leaving Siberia, the next stop was at the Diomed islands, and then to Cape Prince of Wales, the westernmost point of the American continent, about four hours west of Seattle.

Upon this trip the vessel's coal supply ran low and the Bear had to put back from Cape Prince of Wales to Nome for reloading. Leaving Nome the vessel began its journey to Point Barrow. Kotzebue sound was entered and stop was made at the village, where the Society of Friends had excellent missions, and then the Bear went north to Khatanga, where no mission fields are established, but which a few missionaries visit at intervals. From this point Dr. Marquis went to Point Barrow, which until recently was one of the most famous whaling stations in the arctic regions. From there the great but futile attempt northward was made toward Point Barrow.

Dr. Marquis on his return trip gave special study to the conditions as left by the influenza epidemic. As a result he brings back with him pitiful stories of the terrible ravages wrought by this epidemic among the Eskimos.

Whole Villages Wiped Out.

In Nome alone, says Dr. Marquis, over 50 per cent of the Eskimo population was wiped out almost overnight, and in other sections of the country whole villages of igloos were swept away. In one town of 200 only thirteen adults were left alive, and small villages of twenty igloos or so with all inhabitants frozen stiff. In one case one little girl and a baby were found alive in a village. This child had kept herself from freezing to death by remaining wrapped up in bed with the baby beside her. The condensed milk which sustained her life she also took to bed with her. There had been no fire in the villages for days and the temperature was 50 degrees below zero.

According to Dr. Marquis, the Eskimos showed practically no resistance to influenza and went down almost without a fight. Among the foreigners the mortality was about the same as in similar communities in the United States.

Fish in Steamer Wheel.

Toledo, O.—Steamer men along the Maumee river say they are having trouble running their boats because of great schools of goldfish. Toledo people are stacking up aquaria and fountains. Paddle wheels of side-wheel steamers, river men say, show up bushes of the little fish at every revolution. Sun striking on the red gold sides of the fish made persons ashore think one boat was on fire and an alarm was turned in to the fire department.

GERMANS SEEK TRADE

Workmen Labor 14 Hours a Day to Be Ready.

London Merchant Finds Empire Is Recuperating Fastest of All Nations.

London.—"Germany is out again to beat the world," said the senior member of a city firm.

"I have just returned from a visit to our commercial connections in Switzerland. I met there the chairman of an important firm of machine manufacturers. He was obviously a German, with his square head and bad French, and for once I pretended to be pro-German, and spoke with him in his own language."

"He let the cat out of the bag. All the labor in the Schwarzwald and in South Germany, where the allies have no representatives, he told me, has refused to recognize the eight-hour day. 'The men are working furiously, without pressure of any sort, up to fourteen hours a day to be ready to enter the world's markets again at the first opportunity.'

"This German chairman of a Swiss concern simply chuckled with glee when he said: 'Our good German workmen know their hands. They do not want this easy day of eight hours; they want wealth, and they will have it.'

"Germany is recuperating after the war faster than any other nation, simply because, instead of giving way to the reaction of peace and demanding the impossible by means of strikes, she is working as hard as human strength and brain allow to regain her old commercial pinnacle and again be the pre-war Germany."

"In France, and among the allies generally, there are traders who have already forgotten the war and care only to buy in the cheapest market."

"Germany is out, I repeat, to provide that market, and our eight-hour industrial day will spell disaster for us if we do not wake up."

Wife's Love Is Lost; Asks Two Millions

New York.—George E. Lothrop, Sr., a Boston theatrical manager and producer, has been sued for $2,000,000 damages by Raymond C. Keller, a New York artist, who alleges Lothrop alienated the affections of Jane Keller, to whom the plaintiff was married on April 5, 1918. Keller alleges in his affidavit that the defendant, well knowing Jane Keller to be his wife, by gifts of money, jewelry and other presents, estranged her affection from the plaintiff and gained it for himself.

DIES IN HOUSE WHERE BORN

Centenarian of Long-Lived Family Succumbs to Cold at Southfield, Mass.

Winsted, Conn.—William Benedict Gibson, who was ten years old when the first steamship crossed the Atlantic, died in the room in which he was born at Southfield, Mass., near here, aged 100 years seven months and thirteen days.

Death resulted from a cold contracted ten days ago. During his life he missed but one opportunity to cast his ballot for the Democratic candidate for president.

He came from a long-lived family. His father died at the age of ninety, his mother at eighty-eight, his sisters at ninety-four and eighty-five and his brother at seventy-nine years. He had a cousin who lived to be 101 years old.

RUSS DRESSES OF LEAVES

Scanty Attire in Southern Russia Sewn Together by Bamboo Fiber and Grasses.

Paris.—People in some of the villages of southern Russia are wearing dresses made of leaves or grass sewn together with bamboo fiber, owing to the difficulty in obtaining cloth, says Maj. G. M. Towse, who is in charge of the Red Cross activities along the shores of the Black sea.

"It is an ideal costume for the summer when southern Russia has a temperature like that of the Garden of Eden," said Major Towse, "but I shiver when I think of what will happen to those little girls when the snow begins to fly."

The Red Cross is expected to distribute a shipment of clothing in southern Russia before cold weather.

Lizard Proved Wild Yarn.

Hood River, Ore.—J. H. Fredrick, local agent of a railway company, and vice president of the Hood River Game Protective association, stands vindicated.

Mr. Fredrick, after a fishing trip up Hood river recently, reported seeing a lizard with a blue tail and a red and white striped body. Many and varied stories were written about the "victory saurian," and Mr. Fredrick received many letters inquiring as to his brand of beverage and how it might be obtained.

Now Mr. Fredrick is happy, for recently George Chamberlain, an East side orchardist, brought a real red, white and blue lizard to the city. It is being displayed in a milk bottle as "Fredrick's lizard."

JAVA "LAND OF VOLCANOES"

Country Has From Earliest Times Been Devastated by Turbulent Forces of Nature.

Java, with a territory about equal to New York state, has more volcanoes than any area of like size, and yet has more inhabitants than the states of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Texas combined. A bulletin of the National Geographic society finds that estimates of the active and extinct craters range from 100 to 150. "Everywhere in Java, in the huge crater lakes, in fissures that now are river beds, even in ancient temples, half-finished when interrupted by some fiery convulsion, are evidences of cataclysmic forces—such turbulent forces as now are in continuous hysteria in the valley of the Ten Thousand Smokes in Alaska and break their crusted surface cage intermittently in Java." The late eruption of the Klot (or Kalut) volcano cost the lives of 40,000 natives, destroyed 20,000 acres of crops by the flow of hot mud, and did millions of dollars' damage outside by the falling ashes. This devastation, however, was mild compared with the violent upheaval of 1883, when Mother Nature planted a Gargantuan infernal machine on the Java doorstep at Krakao. The terrific detonation was heard in Australia, as far away as El Paso is from New York, much of the island was blown into the air four times as high as the highest mountain, and the hole left under water where most of the island had been is so deep that a plumb line to touch bottom must be twice the length of the Washington monument. The isolation lessened the toll of lives, many of the 35,000 deaths having been due to the tidal waves that flooded distant shores.

FLAMINGO LONG A MYSTERY

To American Naturalist Belongs Honor of Learning Habits of Really Remarkable Bird.

Until comparatively few years ago the habits of the flamingo, without doubt the most remarkable of all living birds, were a tantalizing mystery to naturalists. In 1904 the first photographs of nesting flamingoes were secured by Dr. Frank M. Chapman of the scientific staff of the American museum. The group was constructed from photographs and notes made during his investigations, and from specimens secured by him. Flamingoes occur in the warmer parts of both hemispheres. The American flamingo—the most brightly colored of the genus—ranges from the Bahamas and southern Florida to Brazil and the Galapagos.

For nests flamingoes erect curious mounds of mud, from 8 to 13 inches high, and measuring about 22 inches in diameter at the base and 14 inches across the top. A depression, about one inch deep, in the top of the nest, holds the single egg, laid in May. Both male and female incubate. When the young are hatched they are covered with a down like that of young ducks. They develop their brilliant plumage in their second year. For their first three or four days they remain in the nest, and are fed by the parents on predigested food. At about three weeks of age they enter upon their adult diet of crustaceans.

What Became of Her?

Theodosia, the only daughter of Aaron Burr, was a woman of superior mental accomplishments and strong affections. In her eighteenth year she was married to Joseph Alston, afterward governor of South Carolina. She was a devoted and adored wife. The trial of her father for treason and his virtual banishment not only depressed her spirits but fearfully wrecked her already feeble constitution, yet his disgrace in no way lessened her affection. When he returned from Europe she resolved to visit him in New York. Embarking from South Carolina on the Patriot, or the thirtieth day of January, 1813, she was never heard of afterward. The schooner may have fallen into the hands of pirates; but as a heavy gale was experienced for several days soon after leaving Georgetown, the probability is that the craft sunk.

Peculiar Animals.

The rabbit, or hyrax, which is found in Africa and Syria, is an interesting and comparatively little-known animal. Although it has hoofs, the sole of each foot is cup-shaped, so that when it presses the edges of a hoof against a smooth surface it can form a vacuum under the hoof by raising the center. Thus, using its feet as suckers, it climbs trees with surprising facility. The large-eyed, lemur-like creature called tarsier, a native of the Malay islands and of the Philippines, is equally interesting. Its toes end in suckers with which it can climb even the smooth stems of bamboo.—Youth's Companion.

Would Be Worth Hearing.

Few dog stories would be so well worth hearing, if the dog could tell it, as that of Shep, a collie that belonged, and that we hope still belongs, to a family that lives on the upper Scioto river, in Ohio. The family moved to the headwaters of Smoky Hill river, in Kansas. They went by train to Kansas City and the rest of the way by wagon. After a year they moved back again to their old home in Ohio, but left Shep with a neighbor in Kansas. Eight weeks later the dog, "as thin as a rail" and somewhat footsore, walked into the house on the Scioto. He had traveled 800 miles.—Youth's Companion.

WHY THEY CEASED TO BE SOCIALISTS

For many years the hotbed of Socialism in Texas was in Eastland county, with Hog Town now called Desdemona, as the storm center of agitators who preached the doctrine of equal distribution of wealth among all the people. Now these very same men, who cast their votes for Eugene Debs for President, and prior to becoming Socialists, were pioneer members of the Populist party, are simply reeking with wealth—not imaginary prosperity, but real coin—oodles of it. Incidentally it may be mentioned that not one of them is saying a word about dividing up his fortune with the downtrodden poor.

Oil caused the transformation. Strange to say, the owners of virtually all the farms that now comprise the heart of the Desdemona oil field were Socialists. Many of them belonged to the more rabid faction. One of the most radical was the editor and publisher of the Rebel, which was the recognized organ of the party in Texas.

Postmaster-General Albert Burleson found it necessary to suppress the Rebel early in the war because of its alleged unpatriotic utterances. Hickory was not only a Socialist in his writings, but he acted and looked the part. He became the owner of a piece of land near Desdemona. It was worth little as a farm. Then came the oil boom. Hickory has risen from almost poverty to be millionaire in the last eight months. No one hears him talking Socialism any more.

In former years one of the great delights of the Socialists of the Hog Town community and other parts of Eastland county was to gather in annual encampment at Ellison Springs. They made it the occasion of solving all problems of the country and digging hard into the ribs of the "capitalistic class." At these encampments Hickory was wont to orate long and loudly on economic questions from the standpoint of the radicals. From the encampment the Socialist farmers and business men with their wives and children would travel back to their homes in canvas-covered wagons to take up the dull routine of work that promised them no remuneration beyond a bare living.

More than 100 of these men, who only a year ago were preaching Socialism and struggling to make both ends meet, are now millionaires; several of them are worth in actual cash $10,000,000 to $25,000,000 each, all made out of oil leases and petroleum production. Another 500 Socialists of Eastland and Stephens counties are already well along toward the million mark.

As a result of this wealth, or perhaps because they are too busy piling up more, there will be no Socialist encampment at Ellison Springs this year. If by any chance these men should get together, it would be a convention of more millionaires than ever before assembled at one time in Texas.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

John Rowan moved last week from the place he recently sold to the property of his son, T. H. Rowan on West Houston street. It took Mr. Rowan and his two boys a long while to haul all of the furniture over, but while they were at supper a cheap boy in the guise of S. B. McClure came along and set all of the furniture in the house for them, some pieces which had taken all three to load. S. B. always did have the reputation of being a weakling.

New Parcel Post Regulation. Information from the local post office now is to the effect that mail matter of the second, third and fourth classes can now be forwarded or returned to the sender without prepayment of postage, provided certain condition and regulations are complied with. Heretofore where a person mailed a parcel of the fourth class, or matter of the second and third class to a party at a distant point, and the addressee had moved without the knowledge of the sender, the parcel could not be forwarded until the addressee had been notified to send the proper amount of postage to the office of address. Now if a sender will guarantee return postage by so writing a clause to that effect on the package, the parcel can either be forwarded to addressee or returned to sender as directed and postage for return or forwarding will be collected on delivery. In this way matter that is perishable will not stay in the post office for several days while the sender is being notified to send postage. Provided always that the sender places the GUARANTEED POSTAGE CLAUSE ON THE PARCEL, and in no other instance will the matter be forwarded.

Post Office Department gives the following clause to be placed directly under the sender's return address. Postmaster—If addressee has moved and left his forward address, please forward. If address is unknown please return to sender. In either case Postage is Guaranteed by sender. Signed, JNO. DOUGH.

This will greatly expedite the handling of mails that ordinarily would have been delayed, and if instructions are complied with will benefit the public.

In The Farmer's Interest. When we are talking about good roads, we are talking of something of supreme importance to the farmer as well as the town business man. If anything a good road is more vital to the farmer than it is to the town man. The wagon road and the automobile road is for the farmer what the railroad is to the city man. A drizzle turns the best dirt road in the world into a slippery, dangerous mess; a rain into an impassable sea of mud. The farmer is quarantined on the farm at a time when he is perforce kept out of the fields. His family is blocked away from the church, the school, the entertainment, the city, his mail, his neighbors, his selling place, his buying place—even his doctor. During the influenza epidemic people died on farms in Wapello county because doctors couldn't get to them. Undertakers had to resort to the crudest means.

The point is that no farmers should talk for or against better roads on the ground that the city man is for or against them. The only real questions in issue are: what does the new legislation provide, how much will better roads cost in Wapello county and can the Wapello county farmer afford to have or not to have better roads?—Ottumwa (Ia.) Commercial club and Wapello County Farm Bureau.

The Farmer's Products. "Civilization begins and ends with the plow," declared the old Alcalde of Texas. The federal government, in a report just issued, placed the total farm value of crops produced in the United States during 1919 at $14,- Phylis' Adventure.

Once upon a time there was a little girl whose name was Phylis. Now, Phylis was not a pretty little girl; as her name might make you think. When she was a wee baby, her aunts decided that Phylis should be her name. But now that she was almost six, they were quite sure that Phylis would never be pretty.

One hot summer day Phylis was playing "Princess"—oh, so quietly—on the side porch, when grandmother's voice came out to her from the adjoining room: "Poor, dear, little Phylis! She is a good child, but, oh, so homely!"

Yes," said aunt Kate, "I'm afraid that Phylis can never be anything but ugly with that bright red hair and those dull green eyes."

"It doesn't seem to do any good," said aunt Lucy, "for the child to wear her bonnet. Those horrid little freckles will come all over her face."

Phylis tiptoed to the end of the porch.

"Good-bye, Kind Courtiers and Ladies Fair," she said in a little whisper. "I shall never be a Princess again. I am going to the pasture brook, and pull my red hair, and gouge my freckles with a sharp little stick. Then I shall cry my green eyes out."

So Phylis crept out into the sunlight, without any sun-bonnet. She ran harder and harder, faster and faster, until at last she came to lovely Mrs. Cherry-Tree growing right up from the brook.

"Lovely Mrs. Cherry-Tree," panted Phylis, "I believe, I shall rest in your shade a minute. Then I am going to pull and jerk my red hair and gouge my freckles with a sharp stick. Then I shall cry my green eyes out!"

But Mrs. Cherry-Tree was helping Miss Gentle Breeze hum a new tune, and did not hear Phylis. So she sat down and leaned her head on a big mossy rock to watch Mr. Happy Brook play hop-scotch over the rocks until lovely Mrs. Cherry-Tree had finished. Phylis noticed that Miss Gentle Breeze was humming softer and softer, and that Mr. Happy Brook was hopping slower and slower. All at once she saw a fat, jolly Scissor-tail sitting just above her head and looking at her intently. He was tipping his head from side to side, just as aunt Lucy did when she was seeing if her hair were right for the party.

"Dear Miss Human Child," chirped the Scissor-tail, "would you mind if I snipped a little lock of your sunshine hair? I will cut it just behind your ear, and your Grandmother will never notice even when she combs your hair. I need it very badly to put in my nest, so that I can sing on cloudy days."

"Why, Mr. Scissor-tail," said Phylis, "you are very welcome to all if you want it. Shall I put it out by the roots?"

"No, indeed!" said Mr. Scissor-tail. "That would get it all tangled so I never could use it. I will cut it myself."

So Mr. Scissor-tail snipped, till he had a neat little lock from behind her left ear.

"Thank you, Miss Human-Child," chirped Mr. Scissor-tail. "Here is a pretty wavy feather, the prettiest one I have. Your Dolly may have it for her hat. I think it will be very stylish on her new corn-shuck frame."

With that Mr. Scissor-tail perched on lovely Mrs. Cherry-Tree's bough again, and began to tie the lock of hair with a spider web. Just then Phylis heard a soft, tinkling little voice. She looked into the brook, and there she saw the prettiest little silver fish! He was saying: "Dear Miss Human-Child, would you miss one of those cunning little brown spots on your nose? I have a new scale that won't grow any freckle. Now, mine are not quite the same color as yours, but I rather like to be odd."

"Why, Mr. Silver Perch," said Phylis, "you are welcome to as many as you like. Shall I gouge out several with a sharp little stick?"

"No, indeed!" said Mr. Silver Perch. "You might not get them out evenly. Then I could not use them at all. Just rub your finger hard on that funny little gay one on the tip of your nose, and then press your finger on this shiny scale behind my left eye."

So Phylis did as Mr. Silver Perch requested, and Mr. Silver Perch seemed very happy.

"Thank you," said Mr. Silver Perch; "here is a large pink shell for your pink paper doll's couch."

Before Phylis could thank Mr. Silver Perch, she heard a pinched, wheezy voice on the other side of a mossy rock. She peeped around the other side of the rock, and there she saw a little brown weasel.

He was saying: "Dear Miss Human-Child, please give me a tiny bit of that kindly light in your eyes. I need it so that the other wood-creatures will not hate me."

"Why, Mr. Weasel," said Phylis, "you are very welcome to all of it you can find. How shall we get to it? Shall I cry it out?"

"No, indeed!" said Mr. Weasel. "That would drown every bit of the kindly light. I will tell you! I shall stand here and wink my eyes. You wink yours at the same time. We will do this three times."

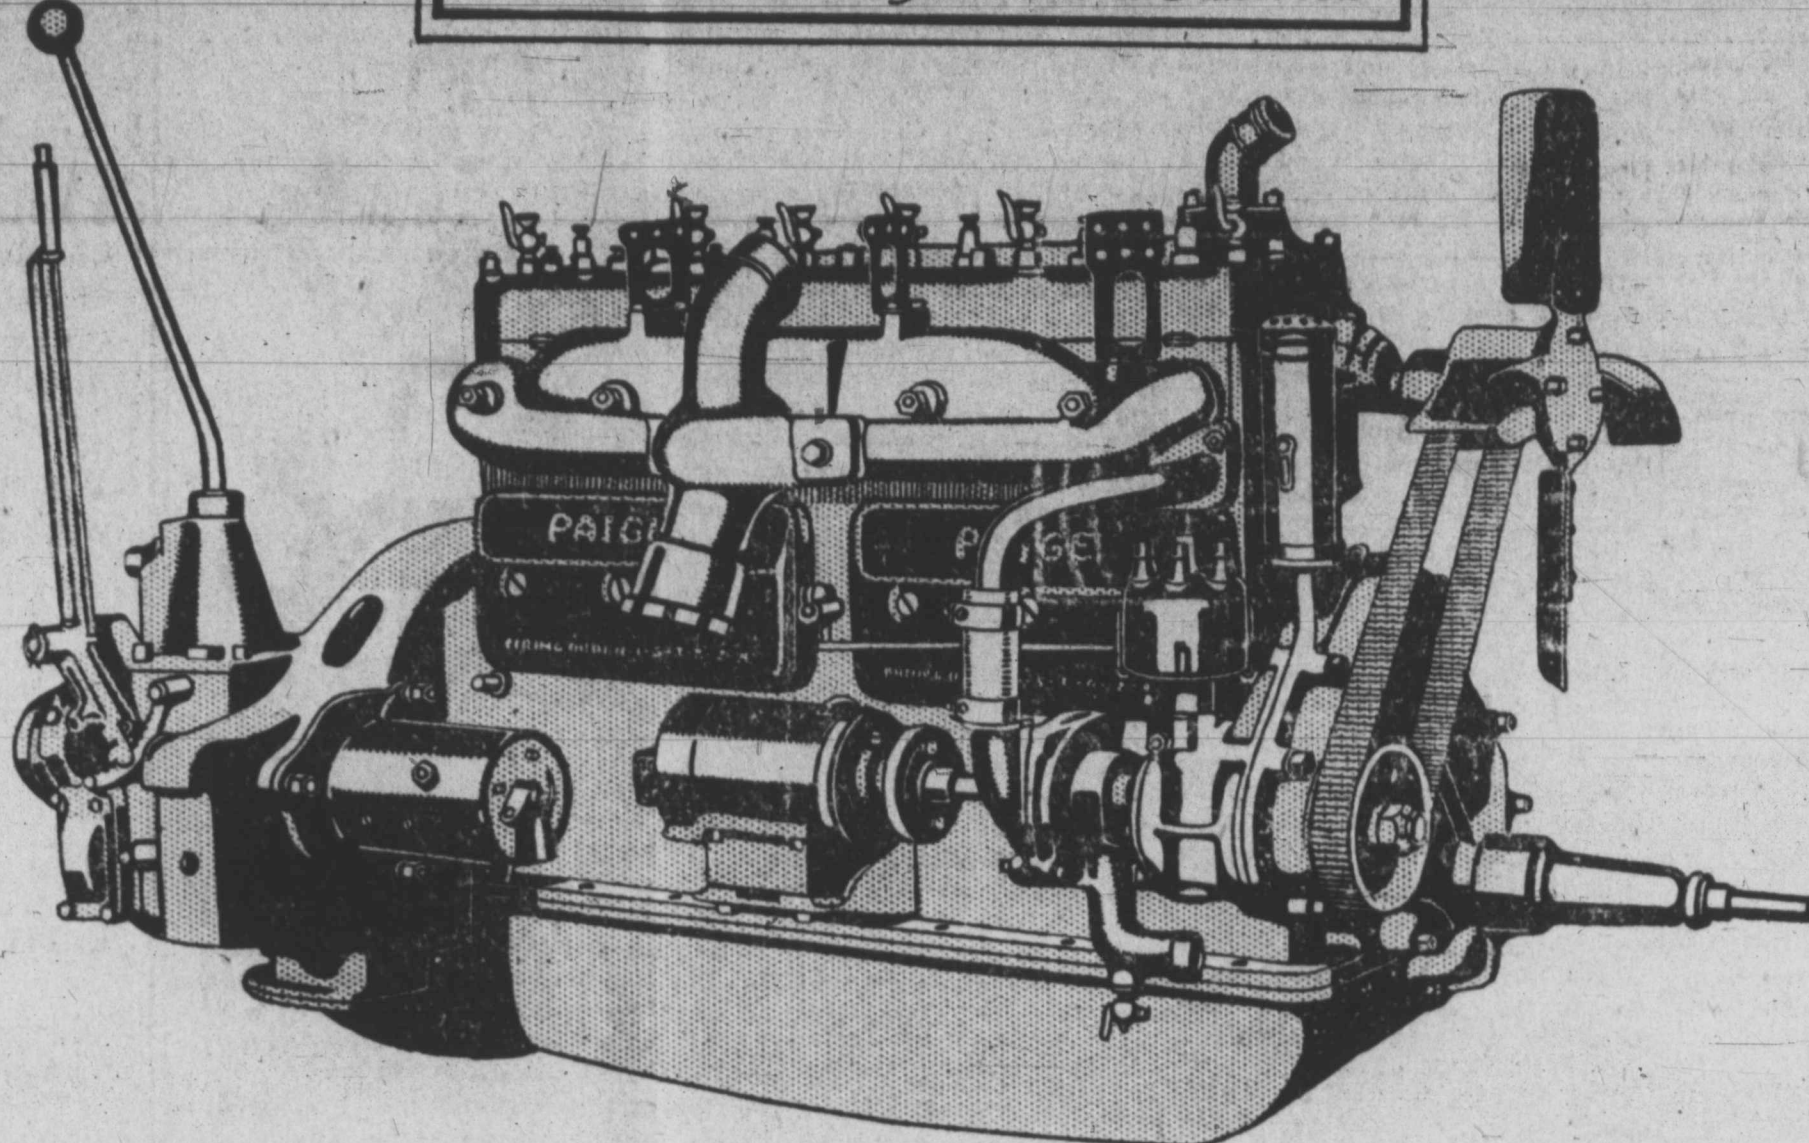

So they winked three times, and Mr. Weasel seemed very happy. Phylis really thought Mr. Weasel's eyes were a little less hard and shiny.

"Thank you, Miss Human-Child," said Mr. Weasel. "Here is a little patch of fur to make your Grandmother's mittens warmer next winter."

Phylis had just started to thank

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

Announcing a New Paige Motor

For three years the Paige engineers have been devoting their efforts to the development of a New Six-cylinder motor. With every facility for research and experiment, these men have worked with one definite object in mind—the production of the most efficient power plant in the world.

That motor is now an accomplished fact. It has passed from the laboratory to the road and there it has been tested mercilessly and continuously. It has been subjected to every stress and strain that brutal driving might suggest, but in each instance it has emerged with a flawless record.

These long, exhaustive tests have convinced us that the new Paige Motor is indeed the most efficient of all light sixes. In economy of operation, hill climbing ability, acceleration and flexibility it has far surpassed any power plant developed by this organization.

Best of all it is an original Paige product—conceived by Paige engineers and built by Paige mechanics in the Paige shops. In it we have incorporated every approved feature that is known to automotive engineering.

In brief, it represents the sum-total of current engineering knowledge. It expresses accurately and completely the tremendous strides of scientific development during the entire war period. It is a strictly modern achievement—a product of the combined genius of two continents.

A New Paige Car

The war has taught American manufacturers many valuable lessons. In the past three years, for instance, we have developed an entirely new conception of precise manufacturing in large scale production.

You will find a striking example of this practice in the New Paige "Glenbrook" model.

The scrupulously accurate methods that were applied to delicate Government mechanisms are now producing every unit of our car.

With the closest inspection, vastly increased equipment and much broader experience, there could be only one result—a highly refined, highly standardized product.

One ride in the "Glenbrook" tells an eloquent story of finely-balanced construction. The smooth, even power of the motor sweeps you along without a suggestion of vibration or mechanical noise. There is merely a gentle purr from the exhaust as the car glides on its way with the buoyancy of an aeroplane.

All road shocks and jars are immediately absorbed in the velvety spring suspension.

There is no danger of sway or "side slip" no matter what the speed may be, for every ounce of weight in the chassis is distributed with scientific precision.

Inside the car there is body room, leg room and elbow room for five adult passengers to travel in luxurious comfort.

The upholstery is soft and inviting—the equipment and general appointments throughout are the best that money can buy.

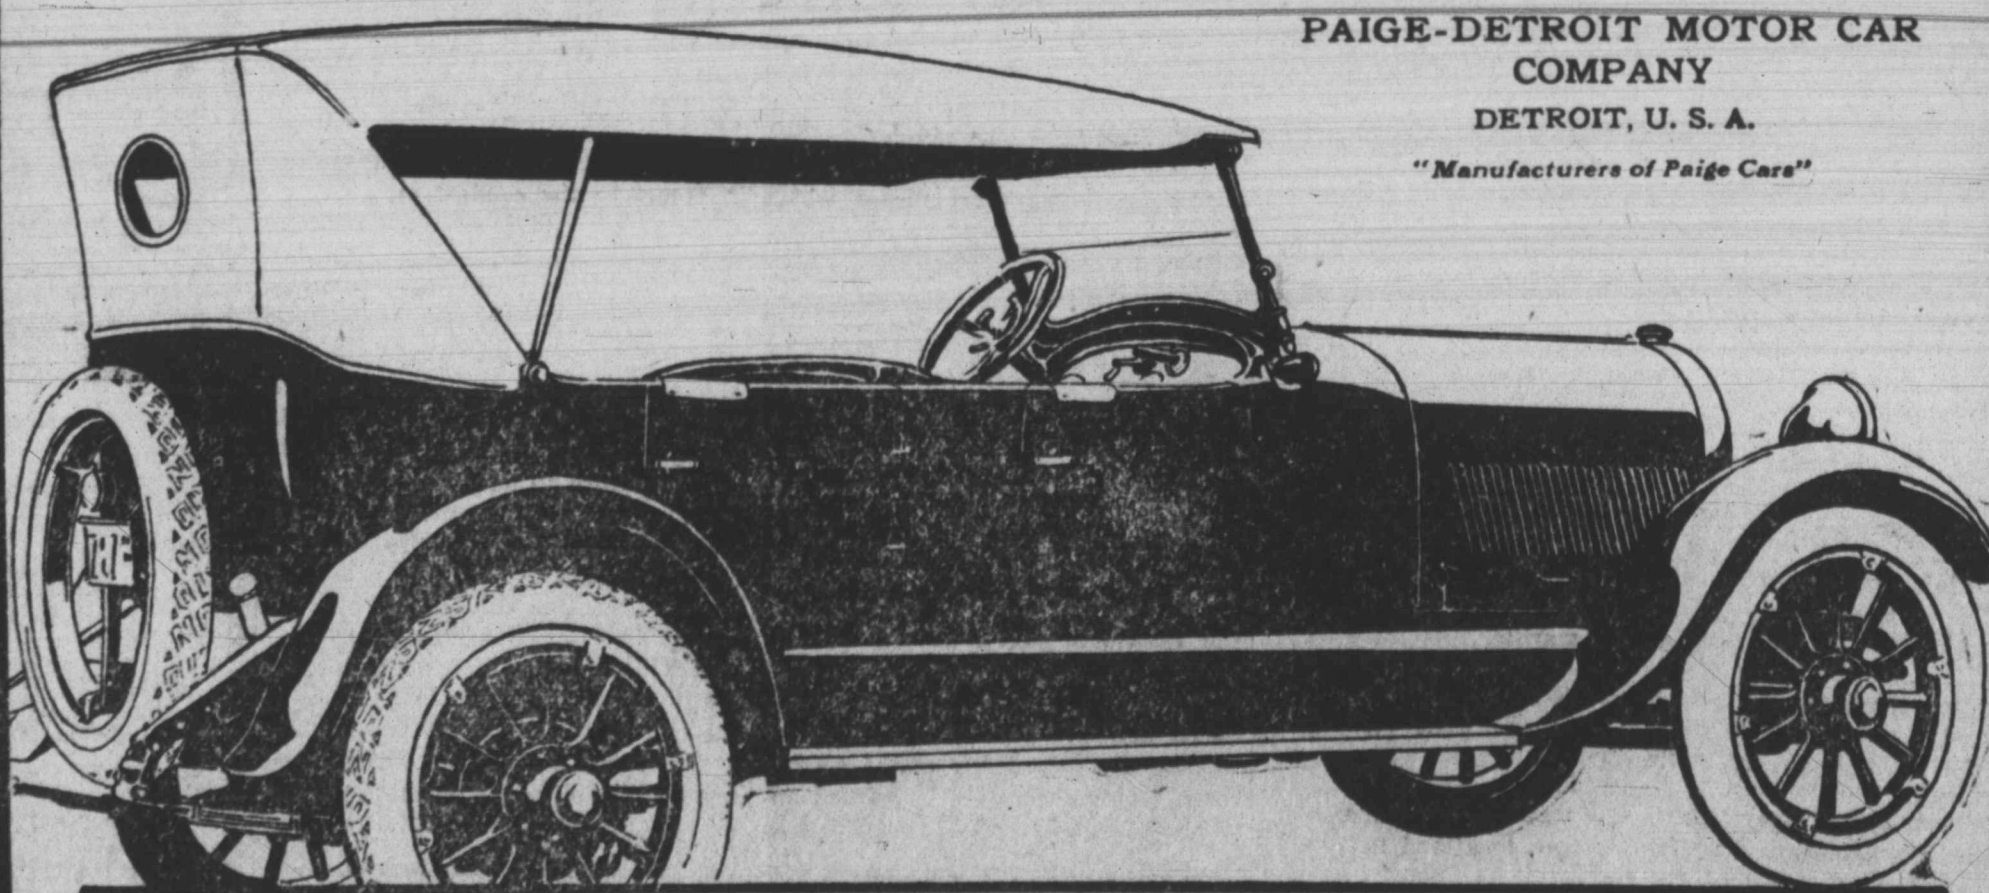

So far as the design is concerned, you of course know what to expect, for this is "The Most Beautiful Car in America."

The "Glenbrook" model is our latest achievement. We merely ask you to see it—ride in it—drive it—and form your own opinion. We shall be quite content to abide by the result.

CANYON CITY SUPPLY CO.

(By R. Kenneth Evans)

The Canyon City Supply Company's store in Canyon on the North East corner of the square can truly be classed as the trading center of Randall county with its mammoth stock of merchandise including everything that its name implies—a supply company. In Uncle Sam's army, which recently gained such fame, the supply company of any organization was always recognized as the place where all soldiers could get the necessities of life and in choosing this name, for the largest department store in Randall county and among the largest in the Panhandle country the same condition will hold true.

An example of what can be accomplished in Randall county and Canyon in the way of success in business is shown by the growth and development of this institution. It was originally organized in 1902 and located on the Southeast corner of the square. At that time the help consisted of two clerks and one delivery man. The present manager, O. N. Gamble, was at that time associated with the business. Persistent effort, handling a line of dependable merchandise and careful attention to all business transactions giving service and satisfaction to every patron has built the business to a place where it takes ten clerks to handle it in addition to the manager and the office force and three delivery trucks. The stock of merchandise is in excess of $50,000.

The store occupies a floor space of 30x190 feet with a stock room 40x50 feet. It is by far the largest institution in Canyon and does an extensive business all over Canyon's trade territory.

The Canyon City Supply Company's store is divided into departments, each department a complete store in itself. The grocery department is equipped with a complete line of pure fresh groceries and the extensive buying connections and the fact that the stock is turned frequently assures patrons in this department of always securing fresh and the very best lines of groceries on the market.

The dry goods and ladies ready-to-wear departments are as complete as one could desire. Every thing in piece goods and ladies notions are carried in stock and the lines of ready-to-wear consist of a class of merchandise which would appeal to the most fastidious dresser.

In the men's department all the standard lines are carried which makes it possible for those patronizing this store to always appear well dressed. A few of the lines handled are the Hart, Schaffner and Marx clothing, Eagle shirts, Howard and Foster and Drew and Buster Brown shoes, the Bischof line of ladies ready to wear is handled. This line is recognized over the entire United States as one of the most standard and satisfactory tailored lines. Munsing underwear, Woolly Boy suits, Stetson and No Name hats Rosenthal and Sloan millinery line and Gold Medal hats. These are a few of the lines carried and will convince the most fastidious dresser that he can always secure at the Canyon City Supply Company everything that he could possibly want.

Under the management of Mr. Gamble the store has constantly been growing and developing. He is one of the younger class of business men active in civic development and constantly giving his support to every undertaking which promises for the development of the resources of this section. He has been active manager of the concern for the last twelve years and is known by almost every man, woman and child in the Canyon trade territory.

Some of the most successful and influential business men of this section are interested in the Canyon City Supply company, which is a corporation with a capital and surplus of $45,000

It Should Not Be.

There appeared in a Hereford advertisement in The Hereford Journal recently a statement to the effect that "sons and daughters of famous sires command higher prices than do their grandsons and granddaughters, and the farther away you get from them the lower are the prices." A reader of The Hereford Journal challenges this statement but says that if it be true it ought not to be true. Because of advertising, varying sale methods and perhaps other reasons, the advertiser probably was correct, but we agree with the challenger that as a matter of fact and as a matter of value the reverse ought to be the condition—else there is no virtue in the efforts of our constructive Hereford breeders. Is it true that there are only one or two animals—a small number at most—in each generation of sufficient quality to work further breed improvement? We cannot believe that the number is so small; on the contrary we believe that in each generation there are hundreds and hundreds of sires or dams capable not only of transmitting their own good qualities but also through selection and the proper mating of begetting produce of a higher type and quality than their own—or of their ancestors.

In his time Dale was rated as a great individual and a great sire, and his sons and daughters commanded good prices. To go back a little, we find that old Columbus had a following attracted by his own merit and not necessarily because of his sire, Earl of Shadeland 41st, though he, too, and his sire, Garfield, were recognized as genuine breed improvers. Coming down to a later day again, we find that Perfection was regarded as even greater than Dale, while Perfection Fairfax has his hosts of admirers to claim him even greater than Perfection. Then what of the growing numbers of sons of Perfection Fairfax? Shall the improvement worked through Dale and Perfection and Perfection Fairfax continue through his sons, even to the fourth and fifth generations and longer, or shall the improvement end with the death of Perfection Fairfax?

Anxiety 4th occupies a place in Hereford history higher than all others. Don Carlos was said by many to be a more potent and greater breed-improving sire than was Anxiety 4th. His son Beau Brummel had all the value as a breed improver that had been credited to Don Carlos and even more. To carry this pedigree study along only one of the many popular lines into which it has been subdivided, may Beau President be compared with Beau Brummel, and shall not Beau Mischief be rated even higher than was Beau President? Then if this be true, should not sons of Beau Mischief be capable of working even greater breed improvement than has Beau Mischief himself?

Through another Anxiety 4th line came the lineage of the grand champion Repeater, descending through Beau Donald, Beau Donald 3rd, Distributor and Distributor. Surely it is not too much to expect that the Hereford breed shall be still further benefited through the descendants of the Repeater family that are yet to come. And will not this theory hold true in all the different great families of the breed?

None of these remarks should be taken to mean that all grandsons and granddaughters of Repeaters, Perfection Fairfax or Beau Mischief should command higher prices than do the sons and daughters of these great bulls, or that all of them are worth higher prices. But we do sometimes decline to recognize true individual merit and ability as a sire in an animal largely because he is a grandson instead of a son of some noted animal.—American Hereford Journal.

A Case In Point.

A farmer living in a nearby state lost 17 hogs in a drove of 45.

A sick pig was taken to the laboratory of the experiment station for examination and it was found to have generalized tuberculosis, that is, it showed tubercular lesions throughout the entire body.

A survey of the farm showed that the pigs after weaning had been fed skim-milk separated on the farm, ground feed and corn, and had been allowed to follow the dairy cattle during the winter. Fourteen animals were slaughtered; lesions of tuberculosis were found in 12. The lesions were so extensive in four animals that they were condemned as being unfit for food.

The cows on the farm were tested; eight out of 17 reacted, four of them being so badly diseased that they, too, were condemned as being unfit for food.

The owner of this farm evidently did not believe in the tuberculin test. He had never asked himself if his cattle were healthy and clean. He had maintained a herd of cattle that were badly diseased, and allowed them to pass the disease on to the hogs and in all probability the poultry. It is safe to assume too that his family used the milk from the herd, but it is not the function of the experiment station to safeguard the health of the children as it does the health of animals, hence the public does not know what amount of infection got into the man's family.

It is nothing short of a crime to maintain tubercular cattle, and not prevent the spread of the disease. We allow men's ignorance and prejudice to wield too great an influence else we would have effective legislation that would clean up tuberculosis and get rid of it once and for all.—The Dairy Farmer.

Livestock Neglected.

The tendency in agriculture in too many states is toward large crops and less livestock. It does not speak well for any state if there is not enough livestock to consume the feed grown in normal years. It is a deplorable practice for men to continue the plan of growing feed crops to sell. And yet several of our best agricultural states are still following that system.

In Kansas, for example, during the past 10 years, the acreage in crops has increased more than 4,000,000 while the number of cattle and hogs, according to J. C. Mohler, has fallen off about 25 per cent each. Kansas is a wheat producing state. In 1918, 6,800,059 acres were devoted to wheat growing, upon which was produced 186,332,974 bushels of wheat with an average of 13.7 bushels to the acre.

No one would argue that Kansas ought to produce less wheat, and no one will deny that she ought to grow more wheat on less acreage.

Livestock will add to the producing power of Kansas' acres and to the acres of every other state, for they only a diversity of crops, they point the way to the building of a silo, they maintain the producing power of the soil, by replacing that which has been taken up by the growing crops. Livestock adds to the producing power of any farm, and the sooner the agriculture of this country is put on a livestock basis the sooner will we be able to place our full dependency upon the farmer, knowing that he will not fail us, no matter what our demands may be.—The Dairy Farmer.

What the industrial situation needs most is a little more prod in production.—Boston Herald.

CHURCH CONDITIONS.

the building will be pushed through as rapidly as possible.

The Presbyterian congregation in Canyon is now contemplating the erection of a modern brick building which will be sufficiently large to accommodate the present congregation and be sufficient for the needs in case the city should grow to two or three times its present size.

After interviewing the ministers of Canyon, the summarized viewpoint of all the churches in the city is to encourage first the enforcement of all statutes relative to lawlessness. There is a rising spirit among all church people upon the progress of the civic, social and legal improvements in the county and city and to work generally for the uplift and maintenance of all things that are for the betterment of conditions generally. They take an active interest in all things which tend toward development and the maintenance of high standard of educational facilities and for general good fellowship which promotes closer affiliation both in a business way and socially of everyone in the community. The ministers of all the congregations are broadminded men who preach logical things from their pulpits and take conditions as they are today for their thesis for the ultimate maintenance of the high standard of conditions which are prevalent in Canyon today.

The Episcopal church has appropriated a fund of $36,000 for the erection of a dormitory in connection with their Canyon church to offer quarters for young ladies from other sections who come here to attend the Normal School. This work is progressing rapidly and a complete success of this campaign is soon to be realized.

The one leading feature that the Baptist congregation has in building such a large and commodious building, according to the pastor of that church, is that they may supply the growing demand for social community life for the young people such as receptions, parlors and dining rooms for social entertainments. All the churches of Canyon are discussing the needs of the people and conscientiously striving to meet the needs and demands.

"The moral conditions of Canyon are excellent, clean, wholesome and inviting to all who wish to make their home or send their children here for the school advantages obtainable. The church people of the city and county are doing their very best toward making conditions better in every way—social and moral—to assist the Normal school to do its work in an atmosphere congenial not only to intellectual but to the moral and spiritual growth of their student body," is the expression of one of Canyon's leading ministers.

Farm Women Should Strike.

We are not in sympathy with strikes, yet we recognize the justice in many instances, of the men who have used the strike method of securing justice from the institutions that employed them.

Of all classes of people, however, who would be justified in refusing to work under the conditions imposed upon them, the farm women would head the list.

A survey was made by home demonstration agents in four counties in South Dakota. This is what they found:

On 61 per cent of the farms water was carried to the kitchens an average distance of 72 feet. On one farm one-half mile.

Outdoor toilets prevailed on 87 per cent of the farms and on only seven per cent of them were chemical toilets reported.

On only nine farms were bath tubs reported.

The sewing machine and kitchen cabinet are the most common labor saving devices. Washing machines were much in evidence but only 50 per cent of them were operated by power.

The ironing was done with the old fashioned iron in nearly all cases for only 15 per cent of the farmers' wives used the modern iron.

The old fashioned oil lamp lighted 83 per cent of the homes; electric lights were found in seven per cent of them; 80 per cent of the houses were heated by stoves and only a limited few used the gas stove for cooking.

When we get down to automobiles we find a different story, for 88 per cent of the families rode in the modern gas driven vehicle. The reason for this is not far to seek, for the man's comfort and well being, his personal pride, pleasure, and convenience entered into the decision to purchase modern equipment for the family.

The farmer's wife is too much neglected. We live in a day when the farm home can be equipped with the modern water systems, the modern lighting plant, the bath tub and other sanitary and inexpensive equipment, that would lighten the labor and increase the joy of living. Farm women are as much entitled to modern conveniences as are the city women; the trouble lies in the fact that farm men do not appreciate the comforts of home. They have failed to discover the big idea of surrounding their sons and daughters with the comforts that make farm homes attractive and inviting and which serve as a tie to hold them on the farm.

The survey was made in South Dakota, but had it been made in many other states, similar conditions would have been found. Unfortunately, the same condition can be found in many states and on many farms because the farmers have not given to their occupation the dignity, the pride, the modern improvements which it deserves.—The Dairy Farmer.
