

$50 GIVEN AWAY MAY TRADES DAY

Business Houses of Canyon Will Give Premiums Away Each Trades Day in Canyon.

The business houses of Canyon are giving tickets with each cash purchase of $1, which entitles the holder to a chance at the premiums to be given away on next Trades Day, Monday, May 19th.

The committee in charge of the premiums, C. F. Walker, O. N. Gamble and C. H. Jarrett, have decided to give away $50 in cash next Trades Day. The first premium will be $40 cash and the second $10 cash.

The tickets given to the customers has a number. A duplicate of the number is being placed in a barrel at the News office. On Trades Day two numbers will be drawn. The first number gets the $40 in cash and the second number gets the $10 in cash.

Twenty four business houses 122 tickets when you make a cash purchase of $1.00 or more.

The business houses want to give some premiums to their customers and believed that the best way was to give a series of $50 premiums rather than one car as has been done before. The twenty-four business firms have signed up to give away twelve premiums of $50 each during the coming year. The premiums will be varied from month to month.

NO SALE MADE OF CLUB GROUNDS

Move to Buy Myers Place is Now Under Way—Encampment is of Very Great Importance

The Attorney General refused to give the officers of the Canyon City Club information as to the legality of the sale of the club to the Baptist Association. The matter was then taken up with the district attorney who was of the opinion that a four-fifths vote was necessary.

Owing to the various opinions expressed on the matter it is likely that no sale of the club grounds will be made.

The great importance of getting the Baptist Encampment located near Canyon is felt by every progressive citizen of the city. To refuse to take any interest in the proposition would be to ignore one of the greatest enterprises that has ever tried to come to the city. There are other towns trying to obtain the Encampment by the gift of a free site. The location near Canyon is more fitted to the use of the association and the Baptists associations are willing to buy land within their means. With this in mind a petition is being circulated to raise $2,000 or more to assist in the purchase of the J. M. Myers land just below the club grounds. H. W. Morelock and E. H. Powell are in charge of the petition and now have more than half of the money raised. The subscription will be presented to Rev. B. F. Fronbarger when the full amount is raised.

Captain Tilson Spoke Monday.

Captain T. J. Tilson of Plainview spoke Monday on the court house lawn in the interest of the administration democrats. For more than an hour he praised the administration of President Wilson and the dangers of following Bailey who seeks to have the democratic party of Texas repudiate Wilson.

Captain Tilson is a member of the legislature from this district and has always been a close student of politics and politicians both in the state and in the nation.

Captain Tilson is confident that Bailey will be overwhelmingly defeated both in his plan to repudiate Wilson and in his race for the governorship of Texas.

Foy Moves Shop.

E. E. Foy has moved his tailor shop to the building on the east side he recently leased. He has the new home fixed up in fine shape, giving plenty of room for serving the public with both his tailoring and the shoe shining department.

Added to all this fixing up he blossomed out Tuesday with a new Ford delivery truck which will enable him to make prompt calls and deliveries of all tailoring work.

Interscholastic League Will Bring a Hundred of More Contestants Here Friday and Saturday

The annual meeting of the district Interscholastic League will be held in Canyon Friday and Saturday of this week.

J. L. Duffot is district chairman and advise from all over the district indicates that there will be more than one hundred contestants in the city for the event. Mr. Duffot is looking for the biggest meeting in the history of the district.

The following counties are in this district in which there are 135 schools with paid up dues: Armstrong, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley, Gray, Hansford, Hartley, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Lipscomb, Moore, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Roberts, Randall, Sherman Swisher, Wheeler.

The program for the two days is found on page two of this edition.

FUTURITY SHOW WILL BE LARGE

Walker Looking for 200 Hogs in the District Show to be Held Here This Fall.

County Agent C. F. Walker stated yesterday that he had seventeen entries for the district futurity show to be held this fall in Canyon. He is very highly pleased with the response to the invitation to the breeders to enter the show.

Under the rules after the entry of the Junior class reaches twenty, then the Senior class may be opened for the show. Walker has enough breeders in mind who are certain to enter to bring up the number to 20 and thus open the Senior class. He expects there will be something like 200 pigs in the show this fall.

Entries have been received by Mr. Walker from Randall, Potter, Deaf Smith and Swisher counties.

DAN K. USERY WILL RETURN TO NEWS FORCE MAY 1st

Dan K. Usery has accepted a position with the News and will begin his work about May 1st.

Mr. Usery will be remembered by most of the business people of Canyon as having been with the News for a number of years, leaving here about six years ago. He is a very fine printer and has many friends who will welcome him back to the city.

As for the News, we have been swamped with work for months, and have needed more help. Dan will more than be welcomed by the gang at the office.

TRADES DAY WAS VERY FINE IN CANYON MONDAY

The April Trades Day was a very great success.

In spite of the disagreeable weather Saturday and the cold of Sunday, the temperature moderated very much by noon Monday and there was a big crowd of shoppers in the city all afternoon. Each of the business houses reports a very fine trade during the day.

Harold Henry Pleases.

Harold Henry played Monday night at the Normal Auditorium to a very large and appreciative audience, many of whom went with hesitancy on account of the program being composed exclusively of piano numbers. The first notes from the beautiful Steinway piano dispelled all doubts as the enjoyable qualities of the program and the masterful hand at the piano.

The program was delightful from every standpoint. Mr. Henry made pleasing explanations of various numbers.

The next number of the Musical Artists Course under the direction of Wallace R. Clark of the music department will be presented in May.

424 Autos Registered.

Sheriff Worth A. Jennings reports that so far 424 autos have been registered in Randall county. This is a considerable larger number than were registered last year.

HILL BRINGS GOOD NEWS FROM AUSTIN--WEST TEXAS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OPPOSES NORMAL EXPANSION

President J. A. Hill returned Monday from Austin where he had been in conference for several days with the heads of the educational interests of the state. Governor Hobby and State Superintendent of Instruction, Annie Webb Blanton, are working for coordination of the educational interests of the state with a view of developing the state school to their maximum capacities.

President Hill laid before the authorities of the state the plans for the expansion of the West Texas State Normal College in order that the school may better meet the needs and demands of the great Panhandle-Plains country in developing the great agricultural resources of this empire section. No official action has been taken upon the matter, but he returns with a feeling of confidence that the plans of expanding the Agricultural, Domestic Science and Manual Training Departments of the Normal will be approved as several of the authorities are committed to the proposition. He was highly encouraged by the spirit of cooperation on the part of the other schools of the state in regard to the necessity of the West Texas State Normal College taking up this new line of work for the benefit of this section.

An educational survey of the state is to be recommended to the Governor. It was agreed that the survey be made by educators from outside the state and no persons will be employed for this important duty if any of the state educational institutions object.

Considerable time was spent in discussing the proposed amendment to the state constitution removing the present 50c tax limit for school purposes, and plans made for an active campaign to carry the amendment, this fall at the November election.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce reports from Stamford that the organization is rapidly gathering statistics to present to the legislature in argument for the establishment of the proposed West Texas A. & M. College. A dispatch in the Star-Telegram of Sunday contained the following regarding the school:

Some slight opposition to the founding of another exclusive A. & M. College has developed in a portion of the West, where disgruntled towns cognizant of their small chance to get the new institution are trying to crystallize sentiment for constructing an A. & M. building in connection with an already established State institution, on the ground that by this undertaking the State will be saved hundreds of thousands of dollars and great economy will follow.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is opposed to such a movement, but will stand flat-footed and resolute for the erection of an entirely new A. & M. College apart from any other institution and for the location in a place where it will best serve all agricultural interests of the West without regard to populosity of region or magnificent grants of land and offers of money. The organization desires the new school to open without strings upon it, without sectional jealousy, and without any political stumbling blocks in its way. It does not care which town may be possessor, but it does wish that such an institution may be erected to serve fully the growing agricultural needs of this mighty domain.

Of course the above statement is aimed at the proposed expansion of the West Texas State Normal College. It clearly shows that the lines are being drawn between the sections represented by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Panhandle-Plains country, and if the fight is carried to the legislature, neither section will get a school. The people of the Panhandle-Plains country are not fighting the West Texas A. & M. College, and are not asking for a new school, but are asking for the expansion of departments now in existence that the needs of the Panhandle-Plains country may be met.

The people of the Panhandle-Plains country are not opposed to building an agricultural college in this region. They would welcome such a school were the population sufficient to justify. But they know the political situation in Texas well enough to understand that the Panhandle-Plains country can never expect to get such a school for many years to come. The people of the thirty-eight counties of the Panhandle-Plains country are opposed to establishing a new school and calling it a servant of the West, when the location under the present plans will take the college far below the Panhandle-Plains country, which has a greater need for the advantage of such a school than the territory proposed for the location by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The above dispatch intimates that the opportunities for the study of agriculture, manual training and domestic science would be hampered if placed in connection with the West Texas State Normal College. Is the law department of the university hampered in its usefulness because it is located at Austin where the students of this school may take with other students their English courses, arts courses, science courses, all of which must be taken to make a lawyer? Would it be better to establish a separate and distinct college for the lawyers where they would not have to mingle and study with students of other professions? The lawyers of the state would hardly sanction such isolation.

There is no reason why the boys of the Panhandle-Plains country cannot take their agricultural courses in connection with a great state school already established, than there is that the lawyers should have a separate law school.

There are not half a dozen people living on the Panhandle-Plains country who have ever had any confidence of receiving an A. & M. College for this section. When the school was proposed a few years ago they worked for the institutional from sectional pride. They boosted West Texas and worked for West Texas. When the school was placed at Abilene, a howl of rage went up from the section which had been deceived. Into thinking they were going to get something that would build up this empire of thirty-eight counties. The school placed so far away and under different conditions as confronting the Panhandle-Plains section would have been of little more benefit than the present school at College Station. The people of the Panhandle-Plains country are now demanding to know that the school will serve them if they work for it.

The item of expense is not to be sneered at in the establishment of State schools. Every session of the legislature is asked for millions more than are available, and the blue pencil is used freely. None of the State schools now get as much money as they need. The West deserves all she can get, but conditions are such that the demands of this section are usually the last satisfied. To ask the legislature for $500,000 for a new school when $100,000 for one already established will meet the requirements of the section is pure folly and the demand will be ignored by the members of the legislature, who believe the present schools should be well cared for before new ones are established.

The thirty-eight counties of the Panhandle-Plains country are united for the idea of the proposed expansion of the Agricultural, Domestic Science and Manual Training Departments of the West Texas State Normal College. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce should line up on the proposition, giving this section the means of proper development and then work for a new school in the Abilene territory when the population of the West demands and the condition of the state's finances will justify the great expenditure necessary for a new school.

Hill Writes Editor Smith

Canyon, Texas, April 5, 1920

Hon. Ben Smith, Editor Lockney Beacon, Lockney, Texas.

My Dear Mr. Smith:

This is to express my gratitude for your very just and wise advocacy of expanding the West Texas State Normal College to the rank of an A-1 College of Liberal Arts and Agricultural and Mechanical College, so as to take care of the entire educational needs of the boys and girls in this section of Texas. You will be interested to know that 75 per cent of our present student body come from within a radius of one hundred miles of Canyon, and that 89 per cent come from within a radius of two hundred miles. It is very true that the State can better afford from an economic point of view to expand this institution than to build additional ones. We already have well equipped departments that a new institution would have to duplicate. Moreover, there is no doubt that the boys and girls of the Panhandle-Plains section of Texas deserve additional educational facilities. A member of the Board of Regents, who was recently here, stated that under proper circumstances the attendance at this school could be easily doubled. When we consider that there is no other state institution of higher learning within four hundred miles of Canyon, one cannot escape the conclusion that there are hundreds of boys and girls in this part of Texas who are getting no higher educational advantages because of their remoteness from an institution that offers what they want. To require such boys and girls to attend a teachers college and take work that fits them for something which they do not wish to do, is to penalize them. To compel them to go four or five hundred miles for such trainings is no less to penalize them.

Moreover, when we consider the amount of taxes paid into the school fund by this section of Texas, as compared with the amount received back from the State Treasury, one cannot escape the conclusion that we are entitled to much more than we are receiving. I am having some statistics worked out along this line that will be of interest a little later. With good wishes to you and yours I am sincerely, J. A. HILL, President.

NORMAL DORMITORY PROGRESSING—ENDRESS HERE

Architect Geo. A. Endress is here from Austin looking after the work on the two new buildings on the Normal campus.

The new $30,000 boiler house is practically completed. Work is progressing rapidly on the new $135,000 dormitory for girls. The brick work is up nearing the top of the windows of the first story at the west end of the building.

The item of expense is not to be sneered at in the establishment of State schools. Every session of the legislature is asked for millions more than are available, and the blue pencil is used freely. None of the State schools now get as much money as they need. The West deserves all she can get, but conditions are such that the demands of this section are usually the last satisfied. To ask the legislature for $500,000 for a new school when $100,000 for one already established will meet the requirements of the section is pure folly and the demand will be ignored by the members of the legislature, who believe the present schools should be well cared for before new ones are established.

Jarrett Heads Education Dept.

President J. A. Hill has announced the selection of Prof. R. P. Jarrett to head the Education Department of the Normal. Since Dr. Garth left last fall the position has not been filled.

Prof. Jarrett is a brother of C. H. Jarrett of this city. He has three degrees from Peabody, L. L. A. B., and A. M. At present he is superintendent of the Temple, Okla., high school. He comes here in May to begin teaching in the summer session.

Hail Saturday Evening.

Saturday the wind was fierce from the southwest. Saturday night there was considerable hail, but very little rain. Sunday the wind was from the north with the thermometer standing uncomfortably low.

The hail did no material damage except in breaking window glasses, and the cold was of no consequence as the heavy freeze of the previous week "got" all of the early fruit.

The wind Saturday night put several electric light and telephone lines out of commission.

Had License But No Girl.

A love sick swain came from Amarillo Monday seeking the necessary papers that would bind him to his lady love. Clerk O. W. Gano was obliging and he hastened back armed with a marriage license.

Yesterday morning the Clerk opened his mail and found the license returned with a sad request to cancel the same. The unfortunate one penned "There is many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip."

ROAD ELECTION IS CALLED ON MAY 22

Commissioners Ask That Tax Limit Be Raised from 15c to 30c in Special Election.

At the meeting of the Commissioners Court Monday an election was ordered in Randall County to be held on May 22 for the purpose of increasing the tax rate from the present 15 cent limit to the 30c limit.

The court must have more money in order to keep the roads in good condition. The law sets the limit at 15c on the $100 valuation. By a vote of the people the limit may be set at 30 cents. In order to raise the necessary funds for road work the court must have a larger tax rate than the 15 cent limit, or raise the valuations of the county, and the court is not inclined to do this as such a step would also raise the amount of state taxes for the tax payers.

The court has not figured what rate will be necessary for the coming year, but likely about 20 cents if the election May 22 is favorable.

The court has decided that the money collected from taxes for road purposes shall be divided according to the amount paid in by each precinct and this money will be spent in the precinct.

The new highway has not yet been accepted. There are a number of places too narrow according to the contract. Judge Flesher has notified the contractor not to ask for another inspection until all of these places are widened.

As soon as the highway is accepted, the sandy place south of town and that one north of town will be fixed. The sand in the roadbed will be removed and clay hauled in to fill the road. With these two exceptions the highway is in fine condition.

The court has received no report on the highway which will be run to the west line of the county.

SONE RE-ELECTED; 10th GRADE ADDED

Superintendent of Public Schools Has Made Notable Success During Past Year.

The School Trustees of the Canyon Independent School District met Friday night and canvassed the returns of the election of last week.

Superintendent C. L. Sone was re-elected by the Board for the coming year. Mr. Sone came to the schools last fall and has made a notable success in his work in the schools.

The Board also voted to place the tenth grade back in the high school. This grade was dropped last year on account of finances. There are more than twenty pupils in the ninth grade this year.

Kuehn Adding New Machinery

W. W. Kuehn has added more than $2,000 worth of new machinery to the repair shop of his garage and is now in position to repair Fords with the same kind of machines that are used to originally make the car.

The Ford Company is improving the Ford service end of the business. The local dealers are putting in the same types of machinery as are to be found in the Ford factory. An authorized schedule of prices for labor is set by the factory for the various kinds of work on a car. The men who do the repair work are to be taken to the Ford factory at Detroit for six weeks' training. Ford has set the world's price on cars, and now is going to set the pace for service.

Mr. Kuehn is putting in every kind of a machine necessary to produce the kind of work set as a standard by the main factory. He has employed the best men available and will give them the benefit of the Detroit training. In fact he is going to keep step with Henry Ford in making his garage in Canyon on an equal with the big factory of Henry's at Detroit when it comes to producing results.

Revival Increasing in Interest.

The Union Revival of the Christian, Presbyterian and Methodist Churches being conducted at the Methodist church is increasing in interest every day. The attendance has been large. There have been a large number of conversions during this week.

Dr. Brooks is an especially strong preacher and his sermons have been greatly helpful to the church interests of Canyon.

HOW TO KILL AND BURY AN ASSOCIATION

The State of Texas has a real live Jersey cattle club. It has not always been so much alive as it has been during the past two years.

Its present status is probably due to the fact that it now has a lady secretary. She believes that in order for the association to live and be worth while every member must do his part.

Among the methods employed in accomplishing this end, Mrs. J. Riley Green has recently formulated the rules for killing and burying an association.

Those who read them will realize that the methods of keeping an association ever organized.

The rules are as follows:

1. DON'T COME.
2. If you do come, COME LATE.
3. Leave in the Middle-of the Program.
4. If it is too wet, too dry, too hot, too cold, STAY AT HOME.
5. When you come be sure to find fault.
6. Don't do anything to Help.
7. Don't Take Part in the Meeting.
8. Try Not to encourage the officers. They Don't need it.
9. Believe Everything You Hear. Never Investigate.
10. If you have a Friend who does not belong, use your Influence to keep him from Joining.
11. Don't Pay your Dues.
12. Consider that the Club is organized for YOUR benefit ONLY.
13. If everything runs smoothly—start something.
14. If you stay away from the Meetings, be sure to criticize all actions taken by those present.
15. If you consign to the Sales, wait until the last minute to send in your entries.
16. Always "knock" your fellow-breeder and his Jerseys.

The Price of Success

The gods sell anything and to everybody at a fair price.—Emerson. You want success in life. Are you willing to pay the price? How much discouragement can you stand?

How much bruising can you take? How long can you hang on in the face of obstacles?

Have you the grit to do what others have failed to do?

Have you the nerve to attempt things the average man would never dream of doing?

Have you the persistence to keep on trying after repeated failures?

Can you cut out luxuries? Can you do without things that others consider necessities?

Can you go up against skepticism, ridicule, friendly advice to quit, without flinching?

Can you keep your mind on the object you are pursuing, resisting all temptations to divide your attention?

Have you the patience to plan all you attempt: the energy to wade through masses of detail; the accuracy to overlook no point, however small, in planning or executing?

Are you strong in the finish as well as quick at the start?

Success is sold in the open market. You can buy it—I can buy it—any man can buy it who is willing to pay the price.—Katharine M. H. Blackford.

Will Inaugurate 48-Weeks School.

At a meeting of the Amarillo School Board, held last week, the members came to the conclusion that the only solution for the school situation here, lies in the adoption of the 48-weeks plan and accordingly made arrangements to open the first session early in the summer.

The new plan is an excellent one and there can be little doubt that ultimately schools will adopt it. It gives teachers employment the year round just the same as persons of any other profession, thereby increasing their income, and it enables those pupils who cannot spend so much time as the full course requires to hasten their graduation by going all the year.

The year will be divided into three terms, the first beginning January 1st and ending April 20th; the second, beginning April 20th and ending August 8th, and the third, beginning August 8th and ending before the holidays. This arrangement will increase the capacity of the present school facilities, making both the buildings and teaching force now employed adequate for the much larger number of children that must be cared for the coming school year.

Home Sector: Army water carts differ from one another the same as, say, one egg differs from another egg—namely, in size. The number of gallons which each cart can contain is, therefore, stencilled on the top of it.

"Wilkins," he called to an idle private who hadn't had the sense to get out of the way, "get me the capacity of this cart."

The Captain ran his pencil down the column of figures for several seconds, keeping one ear open for the result of Wilkins' research.

But no reply came from Wilkins. The Captain glanced up to find all of Wilkins except the head protruding from the hole in top of the water cart. A desperate struggle with some unseen monster seemed to be going on inside the cart. Finally Wilkins' baffled head emerged.

"I felt all round the blamed thing,

Captain," he explained, "and damned if I can locate that capacity anywhere."

WHAT IS A FAIR PRICE FOR A MAN'S SUIT

Comparing them with old-time standards, clothing prices are high—undeniably. A little thought will show why.

The cost of every factor in clothes-making has increased enormously. Not only the woolsens, but the canvas and haircloth of the inner structure—even the thread.

Garment workers receive several times their former wages. They work shorter hours and turn out fewer suits. All these things add to the cost to the retailer.

As for us, we adhere to our practice of many years—that is to mark our stock on the lowest possible margin that will enable us to continue giving our customers efficient service.

The wise course is to pay enough to get good clothes—then take care of them in a way that will bring out every possible day of service.

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM FOR NORMAL ANNOUNCED

The West Texas State Normal College is perfecting plans to make May 30th to June 4th the most notable period in her history. At this time there will be a reunion of all students that have attended this institution since it was founded in 1910. However, it is hoped that visitors will not be confined to those who have been students of the college, it is declared. This occasion should be made the greatest educational revival the Panhandle has ever experienced; it should be a time when the citizens of all this section of the state shall manifest, by their presence, their pride in what the West Texas State Normal College has already achieved for the cultural welfare of the Plains country, and an opportunity for pledging their united support to the contemplated expansions which shall serve every interest of our people.

Dr. Herbert Bigelow, a noted minister, of Cincinnati, Ohio, will deliver the commencement sermon; and Honorable R. B. Cousins, former president of the West Texas Normal College, will deliver the commencement address. Both of these distinguished men will have a message for the people of the Plains country, which they can ill afford to miss, it is said. Another distinguishing feature of this occasion will be the unveiling of the "Soldiers' Memorial Tablet" which the faculty of this institution purchased as their tribute to our boys who gave their lives for our country.

One of the chief benefits to be derived from the home-coming will be the renewing of old friendships and the forming of new ties. Not only will students meet their old classmates; but they will form new acquaintances among the members of other classes. The friendly contests which the class programs contain will stimulate a wholesome feeling of rivalry, and at the same time will be conducive to unity. All classes will understand that they are working for a common end—the glory of their alma mater.

Former students of the institution, patrons, and friends of the W. T. S. N. C. should make every sacrifice to be present on this occasion. It should serve as a means of uniting the people of this section for the common good of us all. Let us get together, become acquainted, take an inventory of what we have, determine what need, and unite our efforts to obtain our just deserts, a member of the faculty said today in discussing the exercises.

Dual Development
Amarillo Tribune: Amarillo's best card is the development of the agricultural resources of the Panhandle Plains country. Land is still comparatively cheap in this section and the sooner the numerous advantages of this country as a stock-farming area can be brought to the attention of the outside world the sooner Amarillo attain her ambition as commercial center. Business follows the plow.

State Press in Dallas News—The best card which any town in Texas can play is the development of the agricultural resources of the contiguous countryside. If the towns are to continue to flourish the farms must flourish with them. When farm decay towns will rot. When weeds grow in the fields grass will grow in the streets. For more than twenty years there have been oil wells around Corsicana. But Corsicana is sustained not by oil, but by agriculture. The liquid gold of the wells is tawdry in comparison with the gorgeous flora of the farm lands thereabout. Towns are dependent upon the county as the babe is dependent upon the mother. The best way to build up Amarillo is to build up the country round-about Amarillo. As a rule two operations proceed simultaneously. That is the way they ought to proceed.

You can knock a lot of ideas out of the chap who thinks there's nothing he can't do—but it's harder to knock them into the fellow who's too timid to do anything.—The Three Partners.

Print Paper

Marshall Messenger: Owing to the high cost of paper and the increased circulation of the Messenger, we are paying ten times as much for print paper as we did four years ago. Then our news print bill was less than $100 a month, whereas it is now very close to $1,000 a month, and paper is still going up. Experts say there is no relief in sight under two years.

Dallas News: It is sinful the way paper has acted. There is said to be a scarcity of raw materials for paper-making, hence the larcenous prices. But there seems to be plenty of paper to waste in a hundred ways. The publishers are saving and stinting and holding down circulation in every way possible short of absolute cessation of business. Yet there are paper napkins and paper cups and paper flowers and paper circulars and paper documents and paper specialties of hundred and one kinds in apparently unlimited quantity. It is a wonder that any daily paper manages to get along at all without raising its subscription price to not less than twenty dollars a year. A medium-sized car of print paper now costs about $4,000 laid down in the publisher's warehouse. That is a great deal of money. It is enough to pay for a sizable black land farm. But a car of paper last even a small daily only about as long as it takes a bachelor to name a baby. Worse still, the paper has to be paid for before it is shipped, and if there is much of an argument or a hint of dissatisfaction in the part of the publisher he is liable to lose his place on the dealer's preferred list. "Why does papa lock himself in the garage every evening and holler so ugly?" asked an editor's little son. "S-h-h!" replied mamma. "Papa is talking about the paper merchants, and they would be so displeased if they heard him he tries to keep it secret."

The Commissioners Court has called a special election in Randall county to raise the road tax limit from 15 to 30 cents on the valuations. The county is just completing one of the finest highways in the Panhandle. The commissioners do not have money enough to maintain the highway as it should be. If the highway is not properly looked after it will be a thing of the past within a very few years, and the money spent will have been wasted. The bond issue should be carried. The county needs good roads and more of them.

Victor Berger states that America got nothing out of the war but the flu and prohibition. If Berger and his kind had their way Germany would have whipped the allies and this country would have been fighting the huns in a few years. And, Joe Bailey says that he was 'agin the war until we got into it, after which time, he kept his mouth shut—like all of the pro-Germans had to do or go to the pen.

Cooke county is the home of the former senator, Bailey. Gainesville is the capital of Cooke county. Gainesville has two ably edited newspapers—the Register and the Hesperian. The verdict of the Hesperian is that the Wilson democrats will carry the precinct convention, Saturday May 1 while the verdict of the Register is that the former senator "who praises only the dead" will not be overthrown in his old home town. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has announced definitely through a report of a sub-committee which held a meeting recently in Eastland that it will endeavor to put over a West Texas A. & M. College during the next Legislature. The Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce, with 38 counties solidly behind it will measure swords with the West Texas crowd on the establishment and location of this institution. We of the Panhandle are not in sympathy with the move to establish a West Texas A. & M. College, but rather a liberal endowment of the West Texas Normal College at Canyon to teach agriculture and manual training for all the West. There is no need of another educational institution of the kind suggested by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce when Canyon Normal can be equipped for far less to do the work than A. & M. College would cost. We propose to ask the Legislature for $100,000 to teach these important additional branches. We do not believe that the rest of the people of Texas will look in favor on the establishment of a new State educational institution at his time. We had better equip those that we have, and enable them to do more and better work. Canyon is an ideal location for an A. & M. College, and as there are already established there the foundation work for this school in matter of the Normal buildings and grounds, and other equipment can be provided for less than it could be built are clearly defined. We are in the fight 38 counties strong for a West Texas A. & M. College located at Canyon in connection with the Normal at that place.—Lockney Beacon.

WHEN WILL PRICES GO DOWN
 So often you hear the question, "when will prices go back to normal" or "when will prices go down." If when you ask the question "when will prices go down" you mean back to the standards before the war, or prior to 1914 then most anyone is safe in replying that that day will possibly never come.

To restore prices to pre-war standards we must first restore the havoc of the war with its devastation and its life toll; we must convert guns and ammunition into ships and railway equipment, and into machinery; we must change the frame of mind of hundreds of thousands of boys who left the farm and entered the army, never to be satisfied with tilling the soil any more; we must replace billions in commodities which produce those materials; and lastly and perhaps the greatest of all obstacles, is the redistribution of the wealth of the world in such a manner that foreign nations may be restored to their pre-war financial ratings and raised from the poverty to which the war has levelled them. Low monetary ratings of Europe and its securities, together with its almost insatiable demands that will exist for decades has forced the American dollar down to the size of the fifty cent piece.

When we have surmounted all these obstacles; when we have rehabilitated resources that seemingly are now exhausted; when our mountain sides have grown new timber; when our coal mines can furnish coal at the old price; when those who are dead over yonder have been brought back to life and the channels of industry; when ALL get to work—then perhaps—but we doubt it.—Clovius Journal.

THE LABOR MENACE

"We boast of our industry," said Governor Lowden in a recent address, "but that very industry is today the most serious of our troubles, and constitutes the greatest danger to our national existence. Were it not for the 7,000,000 farmers of the United States, I would despair."
 Organized labor, as now constituted, contains within it the seeds of its own destruction. It can only exist permanently by changing or abandoning some of its fundamental principles. Wrong never was and never can be perpetuated.

The New York Building Trades Council has decided that all steel framework on new buildings that has been erected by non-union steel workers must be torn down before it will permit its carpenters, plasterers, masons and bricklayers to complete the structures.

At a time when it is clear not only that present wages cannot be increased, but must come down along with other reductions, many unions are adopting higher scales, and enforcing them by threats to strike. Some of them are rigidly limiting the amount of work a man may do in an alleged "day". For instance, the bricklayers' unions are in some cities prohibiting any member from laying more than 900 bricks. He may lay 550 bricks, well, indifferently or poorly, and receive $11 for his work. He may lay 900, and get the same amount. But if he lays 901, he draws a fine from the union.

These methods are wrong, economically and morally. They are likewise dishonest. They are substantially the ways of the tyrant and the pirate. It is only a matter of time until the general public will no longer tolerate them.

Organized labor can maintain itself permanently only by abandoning these tactics. Its contracts must be fulfilled. It must assume responsibility if it continues to exercise authority. It must cease stifling individual initiative. It must abandon its attempts to reduce the working hours below the point required by economic conditions, and recognize that production in the factories is as necessary as on the farms. A union card must be made the badge of efficiency and reliability, as it might well be.

If organized labor will do these fair and honest things, it can win the respect and co-operation of employers and the public generally. If it refuses, it has sorry days ahead.—The Agriculture Review.

THE WAY IT WORKED

The excess profits tax which was designed to help lower the taxes of wage earners by providing a large revenue from the business enterprises best able to pay, has been a signal failure. It has been found that it, like all other taxes, has been passed on to the "ultimate consumer" and, as usual, the big corporations have not been contributing their fair share towards paying our big war debt.

The wage earner who draws more than the prescribed two thousand a year, is compelled to come forward with his pro rata amount for Uncle Sam. He cannot pass it on as the manufacturer or merchant can. The result is that he pays, not only his income tax but a percentage of that of the manufacturer, according to the amount of goods he buys.

More than that, it has been found that one of the greatest causes for the shortage in production is this same excess profits tax. The more the manufacturer produces, the greater will be the amount he will have to give the Government so he purposefully holds production down—thereby holding prices up. There is little incentive to increase the output of the factories so long as such a big percentage of the income must be paid out in taxes and this fact coupled with the attitude of labor, has produced such a scarcity of goods as this country has never before known. Men are constitutionally opposed to paying excessive amounts in taxes and it doesn't appear to make any difference how large a man's income is, he never becomes reconciled to

Since it has been proven that his war-time measure, so pre-eminently excellent in theory, works out so disastrously in practice, it should be promptly repealed.

With this building the store department will have eight buildings in the yards to care for the $250,000 stock carried by this department. In addition to the building facilities, 100,000 square feet of yard space is utilized for the storing of the heavier materials.—Amarillo Tribune.

TRIP FRIDAY GREATLY ENJOYED BY LARGE NUMBER

Friday's Trade Trip was one of the most enjoyable the Randall County Commercial League members has ever taken. The bunch went to Wayside, visiting the homes between Canyon and Wayside, and then stopping at a number of the homes between Wayside and Happy, making this town an extended visit before leaving for home.

Nine cars made the trip. The start was made at 9:45, taking the east road, visiting about twenty homes on the way to Wayside.

The bunch—all but three cars who got astray—had lunch at Uncle Harry Wesley's place. Those who unfortunately strayed from the road ate of the "remains" when the party reached Wayside at 1:30.

The country in that section looks very prosperous. The wheat is in fine condition. Many of the wheat raisers state that the prospects for a good wheat crop are better than any we had had for a long while. The high winds do not seem to have hurt the wheat. With the oats and barley it is different. Many fields of these grains have been cut off by the winds, but with good rains soon, most of the oats and barley fields will come out.

Wayside a number of the citizens discussed a road leading from the section through Randall county to the new highway about four miles north of Happy. Either this road leading northwest direct Canyon would be greatly appreciated by the citizens of the Wayside community. Some of the citizens expressed themselves as anxious to see Wayside added to Randall County, and will assist in the proposed exchange of land with Armstrong county in order that they may be placed near their county seat.

The Commercial League who put new life in the members and next trip promises to be bigger than the one last Friday.

Poultry in Texas

If every Texan were to have one egg for breakfast every day, there would not be an other egg in the State to sell or set or devil or color for Easter or cook with, make cake or anything else. It would take the entire egg crop of Texas to feed the Texas family one egg per member for breakfast. If you were to go to Cuero to see the wonderful turkey "trot" the week before Thanksgiving you might think Texas had turkeys enough to feed the world. The truth is, the people of Texas could eat all the turkeys in the State at two meals and not have enough left for hash for breakfast the next day. They could eat all the geese for dinner and the third day they could eat all the ducks, guineas and pigeons and every ostrich on the El Paso Oserich Farm. Then, if the doctors were to put the entire State on a poultry diet, the chickens would not last a week and Texas would be a turkeyless, duckless, henless, eggless state the other fifty weeks of the year. These facts are gleaned from "The Book of Texas," written by H. Y. Benedict and John A. Lomax of the University of Texas. They are four years old, because "The Book of Texas" was published in 1916.

We doubt these comparisons are slightly out of proportion for 1920, but at any rate there is room for improvement—room for more eggs and poultry in Texas. Think of this great broad, beautiful State and not enough eggs to eat!

Here is one of the greatest opportunities for women and children. Ninety per cent of all the poultry products of this Nation are due to the work of women, and Herbert Quick says: "The poultry products of our Nation are worth as much as the cotton crop, exceed the wheat crop by $400,000,000 and are worth more than the combined value of the oats, barley, rye and potato crops." This great work is done by the rural women and children, who give a few minutes of their time each day to the poultry business on the farm. Usually a poor henhouse, a few boxes, a straw pile and a few coops constitute the equipment for this enormous business. It's too small a business for the average man to look with, especially if he is a small man. Most small men are small men because they have never been big enough to do small things.

But there is a man in West Texas—we have every species of man in West Texas—who is big enough to be in the poultry business. Like the women, it is a side line with him. He spends his business hours in the hardware trade, but as soon as the business day is over he goes home to his chickens, and in the early morning hours and the late evening hours you'll find him out among his registered flocks. This strange but wonderful combination of hardware and poultry man is R. L. Penick of Stamford, who, with J. W. McCloud of the same city, is making a great effort to have more poultry and better poultry in Texas.

Through the medium of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the State Department of Agriculture these men are offering to send free two settings of pure-bred poultry eggs to the woman or child who will set the eggs and care for the chicks according to certain rules and regulations decided upon by the different individuals and institutions interested in the project. Here is a chance for

To The American Farmer
An army is helpless without food. Among our producers, whose labor aided us in the World War, the farmer is of first importance. Anticipating the need of food products, it was his industry and patriotism that enabled the Allies to continue in the war and to bring it so soon to a successful issue. The part that the American farmer played in supplying food to the Allied Armies stands out as one of the great contributions to the Allied cause. Although fully recognized by our allies, the work of our farmers has never been entirely appreciated at home. I would pay this tribute to the American farmer because it is due him.

JOHN J. PERSHING

every home in West Texas to get a good, new start in the poultry business. It will be a lesson to any woman or girl who will sign the contract and try to live up to it and serve as a gateway to one of the most needed industries of the State.—Phoebe K. Warner in Star Telegram.

If you were a West Texas farmer who had gone through two years of crop failures, but stuck because you believed the country would "come back," and if the third year you made a good crop, about good enough to wipe out your two years' losses, would you like it if the Government stepped in and made you pay income tax on what it took three years to make but insisted that only one year's expenses could be deducted in figuring your net income? You bet you wouldn't like it. But that's the law, according to Federal authorities, and it ought to be modified.—Star Telegram.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR IN AMERICA

The Ideal Five-Passenger Car

Whether the Paige Glenbrook is chosen solely because of its beauty or rather because of its mechanical excellence, a full measure of satisfaction is assured to its owner in either case.

For it is well known that, in Paige cars, beauty and efficiency go hand in hand.

The same skill in car building which is responsible for making the Glenbrook a vehicle of exceptional grace is likewise responsible for making it an exceptional car from the mechanical standpoint.

In body, power plant and chassis, it is distinctly a Paige product—setting standards of comfort, economy and dependability such as have never before been present in a car of moderate price.

Although it has been before the public no more than four months, it is destined, we believe, to revolutionize the Light Six field.

Its new six-cylinder motor—designed and built in our own shops—is a feature which, in itself, entitles the new Paige Glenbrook to a place at the head of America's finest five-passenger motor cars.

When you see this latest Paige model and ride in it, you will agree with us, we believe, that, from a mechanical as well as an artistic point of view, there is no finer five-passenger car on the market today.

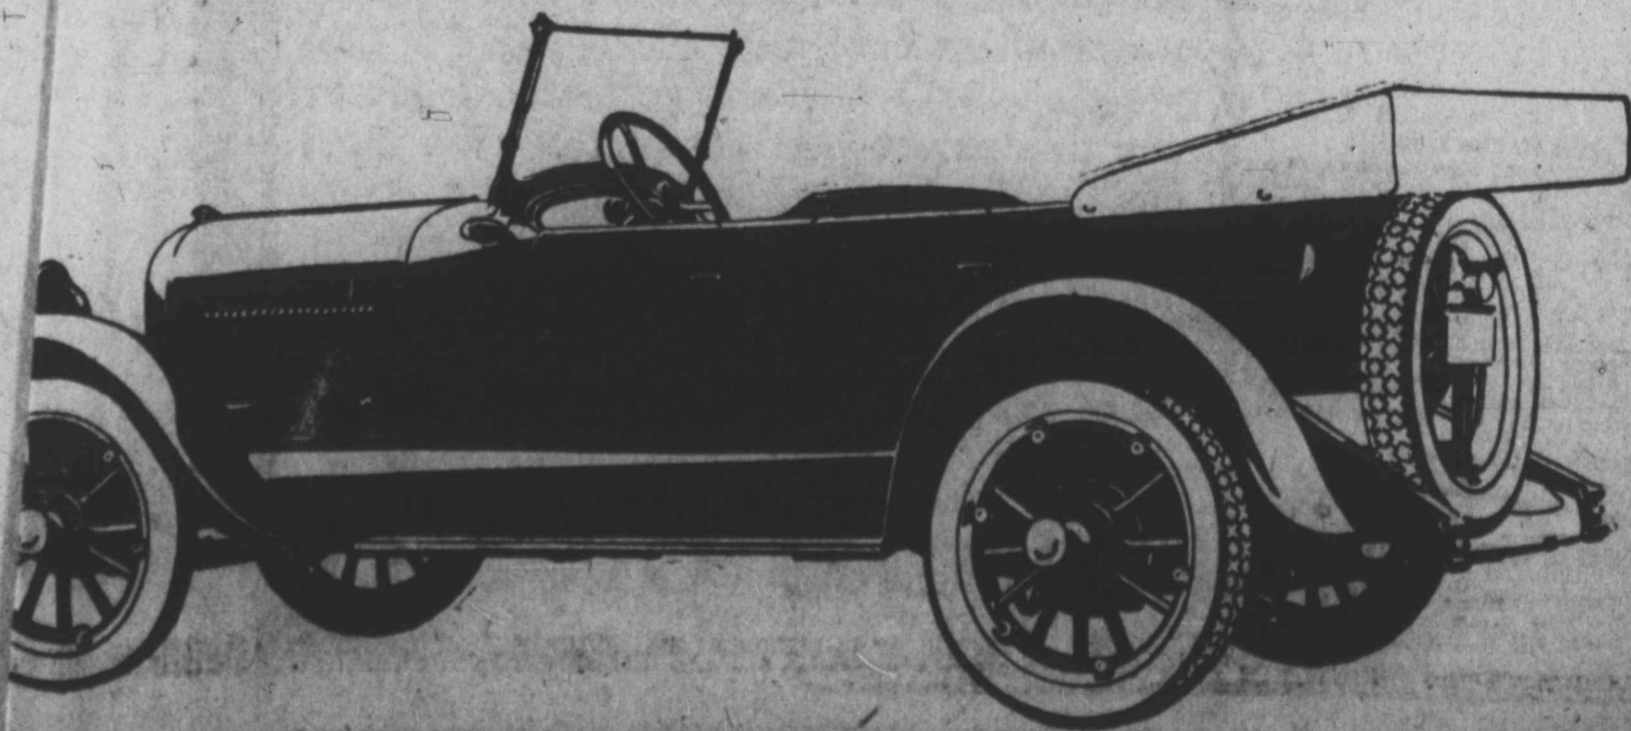

That this is now quite the general opinion among motorists is indicated by the number who have already made arrangements for Spring deliveries.

Let us suggest that you give early consideration to the question of placing your order with our dealer while it is still possible for him to take care of your requirements.

Fire Near Wildorado

Fire on last Saturday afternoon, destroyed a large barn, 6 miles south of Wildorado, belonging to J. C. Womble of Hereford.

L. C. Moore and family are living on the place. Mr. Moore's loss will amount to something near $3,000.00. Consisting of grain, bundle feed, a years supply of meat, 3 hogs, 2 dozen chickens farm machinery, tools, harness and various other things too numerous to mention. The fire is supposed to have started from a lighted cigarette thrown on the grass near the house by some traveling men who were taking orders for enlarged pictures.

Frank Daniel has bought an interest in the Wildorado Garage, and is having a new house erected south of the railroad.

The late freezes, have killed the fruit in this section.

Wheat is still looking well, but rain will be needed soon.

L. Brann Fowler brought his wife home from the St. Anthony Sanitarium, Amarillo, last Saturday.

Pleasant View Items

We had quite a freezing spell last Saturday night and Sunday, but the weather has been fair every since. We also had a pretty heavy hail at that time, but it did very little damage.

Mrs. Jackson visited her daughter, Mrs. L. B. Noble, last week.

Good Whiskey Turns to Water.

What promised to be 10 gallons of "good" whiskey turned out to be ten gallons of pure water; what promised to be a merry, merry party with plenty of liquid refreshments was turned into a sad procession of thistler but wiser men.

And it only cost $630!

A stranger drifted into Amarillo this week—strangers usually pull the stunt. He had a ten gallon keg of the best since the creation of the universe. He would sell it. Cheap at $6.30 per gallon. A ready market.

Purchasers were to test and see if stuff was up to standard. Stranger leads thirsty ones to an old warehouse away down by the railroad tracks, and amid the darkness produces a small rubber tube for a taste.

All take a "suck"—suckers usually do. Real stuff—the old time kick. Purchasers smile with delight over their bargain purchase. Stranger pockets 630 iron men and departs into the darkness of the night and the great unknown. Lucky bayers divide forces, part remaining guard over the precious keg and other going after bottles to divide contents. Happy reunion with return of latter part of the fortunate band. Key is tapped. Great expectations. Contents begins to flow. Queer smelling stuff without an odor. A little surprise.

Instant investigation. More surprise and greater dismay. Nothin' but pure sparkling water in the key. Prohibition is hell.

The members of the stung gang began to wonder, and finally decided that instead of hitching the tube to the key, the stranger had it attached to a bottle in his pocket which contained the real stuff. In the darkness they could not see just what was going on.

Before you buy a key from a good stranger, be sure of the contents. Water usually does not sell at $6.30 per.

How to Get Most Out of College Life.

To get the most out of college life, I think one must first choose the subjects that are best-suited to his talents. Of course there are fundamental subjects that every one must take. It is left with the student, however, to elect his majors. He should give careful consideration to the choice of these. After the subjects have been chosen, the student should endeavor to get the most out of them. If there is a strong determination to make good, then it is quite likely that the student will succeed.

The real work is, indeed, of great importance; yet what is learned from books is not all that is to be had from college life. If a student sits over a book all the time, it causes him to miss a great deal that is his by rights. He does not have the society of his fellow students; he makes few friends, because people see that he cares more for his books than he does for their society.

Since continual study makes one more or less disagreeable, the student should take part in the institutional organizations. Of course it is impossible to belong to all the different organizations, but he should join those which appeal to him most. Too, the athletics are important and each fellow should see to it that he has athletics in some form. Then there are the social functions. Attend and take part in class meetings, hikes, club or class parties. There's always lots of enjoyment to be derived from them, to say nothing of the many other benefits.

In a college town there are often educational plays and recitals given. The student should avail himself of the opportunity of seeing them. Likewise, he should attend lectures of learned people. All these add to his store of knowledge.

Amusements, such as movies and the like, are all right if they do not interfere with the school work. A student must have some recreation and amusement, but he should use discretion in these things. He should try, in all things, to get the best that is to be had. After all, we get out of school life just what we put into it.

What Is True Courage.

When we think of true courage, we are prone to picture a valiant soldier braving the terrors of war, risking his life. Of course, it is right to praise such a man, but too often we forget him whose quiet, everyday life is a beautiful and constant example of nobility of character.

Such a person it was my privilege to know. Her tiny cottage always stood open to the children of the neighborhood. "Aunt Betty", as we called her, was blind. I used to wonder how she could smile so when she could not see. How many times I have seen her face aflame with a light that came only from within. This light she spread wherever she went, making herself a blessing to all who knew her. The patience with which she bore her burden was a lesson to everyone around her. We all loved her and carried our own little burdens of worries with light hearts because "Aunt Betty" showed us how.

Years have passed since I have seen her. Now the little home which we visited is lonely and bare, for "Aunt Betty" is dead. A small white slab of marble marks the place in the cemetery where she is sleeping. But the spirit of this dear little woman, who meant so much to us all, still lives—that spirit of love and service for mankind, which is, indeed, true courage.

Junior Reflections.

When we were Freshies, we did not go to school to learn, for we knew everything already; we went to enjoy ourselves, and "get by." We had but one serious thought, and that was, "How will we get by." If the faculty attempted to make things serious, we simply found them more comical and amusing. The knowledge obtained during our Freshman year consisted of little more than a "corridor course", and a general good time.

As we mounted the second staircase, we started to school to learn, and not merely to "get by." When we plunged into Sophomore Math, English and History, we began to learn how little we knew. Then came those gloomy days when we wrestled with Math 23, and heard Mr. Allen say, "Busted! You'll have to try it again."

We put forth every effort to write flowery paragraphs in English 21, and our only consolations were Miss Ritchie's encouraging remarks, "You can do better English than that. Why, a Freshman could write better paragraphs!" But at last the dark clouds of toil and disappointments were cleared away, and the light shone bright from the third floor.

Now, that we are on the third floor, we feel that we have accomplished something. Although our attainments are small, we have laid the foundation for something higher; and in our Junior Work-shop, you find our most stately constructions are erected with tools with which we familiarized ourselves back in the Sophomore year.

So we reflect back over our former school days with joy and admiration of the things we did. But when we say that we are on the Junior Highway, it does not mean that we have gotten anywhere; but it does mean that we are headed in the right direction; and if we faithfully pursue our course, we will soon gain the top of the stairs, and our feet will rest on the fourth floor, where we hope our lives will sustain the standards of manhood and womanhood set by those who have gone before us. —From The Prairie.

Potter County Roads To Be Built
Good roads building in Potter County will be pushed as rapidly as possible. This decision was made this afternoon by the Commissioners Court of the County following the public hearing given this morning.

As soon as material can be secured and other necessary arrangements made, the work will begin.

Judge Johnson said this afternoon that the work had never in any wise been delayed, and that definite decision had been reached that it would not be.—Daily Tribune.

Advertising Helps Farming.

Not long ago a South Dakota farmer gave a country editor in his vicinity one of the surprises of his life. Stepping into the editor's office he announced briskly: "I want to contract for some space in your paper weekly for the coming year."

The editor gasped but then smiled happily.

"I always have something to sell or trade or else I want to buy something", the farmer continued, "and so I want this space reserved for me. That will save my running to town every time I have an advertisement to insert. Regular advertising is the sort which gets results."

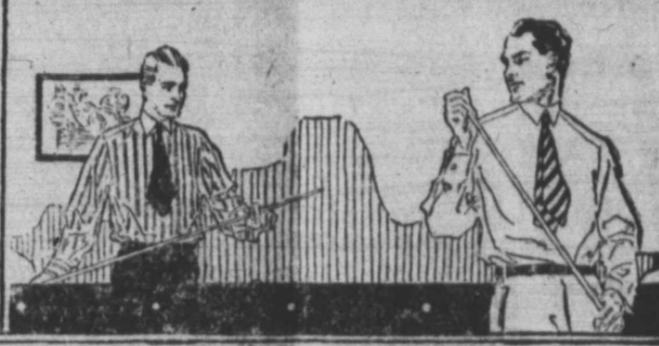

That editor is losing no opportunity to point out that in one very real sense a farmer is a business man and can promote his business by intelligent systematic advertising.

A car load of Fordsons arrived this week and are now at your service. We don't know how many Fordsons we are going to get this year, but we know that we will not be able to get enough to fill the demands. In fact we could have sold many times the number we did this spring had we been able to obtain them from the factory.

You are going to need a Fordson very badly this summer for harvest and plowing. If you wait until you need one, it is very likely there will be none for sale. The only safe way is to buy a Fordson now. It will not cost you anything while it is waiting for the rush of the summer harvest. Let us demonstrate the Fordson to you on Trades Day. On last Monday morning many of the Sophomore class gathered on the campus, laughing and making merry. The crowd gathered from seven to eight. In getting started the cars gave trouble and hindered them some, but they made up for it when they did start. By ten-thirty they had finished going down the trail by which they would return in a few hours in a very different mood. They came to the creek and at lunch. After rambling around for a few hours, they started back on the trail that, to many of them, seemed to have no end. About six, they arrived home safely. Everyone was tired and had not much to say, but their actions spoke louder than words in expressing the enjoyment of the day. The chaperones were Miss Edna Graham and Mr. Baker.

Mr. Haines, the kindergarten teacher of the Normal, left Monday for Topeka, Kansas, to attend the Kindergarten Teachers' Association.

There was a base ball game between the training school team and the normal second team, Saturday. The result was 30 to 6 in favor of the normal.

The training school team also played a five-inning game with the normal eleven o'clock class, Tuesday, which resulted 9 to 2 in favor of the training school.

NORMAL WON AND LOST IN DEBATES LAST FRIDAY

The debate in Canyon Friday was lost to Denton while the team which went to San Marcos won against the team of that school.

In the Inter-Normal debates this year the negative of the question was won in each instance.

Kenneth Burns and Gladys Hazelwood debated for the Normal at San Marcos, with Lem Sone alternate.

Both of the debaters are members of the Cousins Literary Society, and the Cousins and Sesames met them at the train Tuesday, giving them a great reception.

The Denton normal debating team defeated Canyon normal in the inter-normal debate here Friday night. A spirited contest, of one hour and thirty minutes resulted in a decision of two votes for Denton and one for Canyon.

Professor R. L. Marquis, head of the department of biology at the North Texas State Normal College, arrived in Canyon on Friday morning with his two lieutenants, H. N. Atkins and Horace Brass. A number of students and a few members of the faculty met them at the train and gave them a hearty reception.

At six o'clock the "old guard" gave Mr. Marquis an informal dinner at the Canyon Cafe, and many pleas-antries of other days passed round the board. The spirit of auld lang syne beamed in every countenance and marked every change in conversation. Those present were as follows: Superintendent Hall of Slaton, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Warner of Claude, L. G. Allen, F. P. Guenther, R. L. Marquis, R. A. Terrill, Wallace Clark, M. B. Johnson, Misses Martha Bell, Tennessee Malone, Alima Aiken, Margaret Boulware, Jessie Rambo, Emma McClesky, Jennie C. Ritchie, Travis Shaw, W. H. Blaine, Robert Donald, J. W. Reid, H. W. Morelock, B. A. Stafford, D. A. Shirley.

At 8 o'clock a large audience had assembled in the auditorium of the college to hear the following subject discussed: "Resolved: That all industrial and commercial classes should be prohibited from the United States for a period of five years."

Wyatt Hester and A. E. Hunt represented Canyon for the affirmative and H. N. Atkins and Horace Brass stood sponsor for Denton on the negative of this question. And though the "Band" had discoursed martial music to an enthusiastic crowd of students assembled in front of the building since 6:30 o'clock, all was quiet and dignified expectancy after the crowd had gathered in the auditorium. Something like 800 people were in attendance, and they greeted each speaker with the most hearty applause.

The judges for the debate were Mrs. W. A. Warner, Miss Laura Hamner, both of Claude, and Superintendent C. V. Hall of Slaton. Mr. Easton Allen, presiding officer of the debate, requested Mr. Dockery to escort Mrs. Warner to the stage. Mrs. Warner said that the debate was very close, and that she hesitated to cast her vote, that after each speech she wanted to change her mind. And then she read the results: Two for Denton and one for Canyon.
