WEST TEXAS STATE NORMAL COLLEGE DISCUSSED BY MRS. WARNER OF CLAUDE

Mrs. Phebe K. Warner of Claude is a special editorial writer for the Star-Telegram and for the Amarillo Tribune. She is the best known writer in this section of the state. In last Sunday's editions of these two papers appeared the following article in regard to the West Texas State Normal College:

So far in our history the people of the Panhandle and Plains have only one State School. The Canyon Normal College, the pride of our country, stand alone. Not another State educational institution for 400 miles. What a field for service! What an opportunity for the people's children! During the past week many of you have been celebrating the tenth birthday of our only State school. Some of you have gone back to enjoy the closing out of the tenth year of work. It has been a glorious ten years. And there is no possible way to measure the value of the Canyon Normal College to our part of the State during these ten years and the influence of these ten years, like the college, is only in its infancy. If all the boys and girls had returned that ever enrolled at the Canyon Normal, there would have been 6,000 students back during Home Coming Week. How many of these young men and young women would have ever entered a school of higher education if the Canyon Normal had been located in some other part of the State? Many of them, hundreds of them, would never have gone several hundred miles to school to begin with. There was something about this new school that led new people to patronize it. Then it was our own. It belonged to the Panhandle and the Plains. It was built expressly to meet the educational needs of the people of West Texas and the Plains and hundreds, yes thousands, have patronized it because they felt at home in their own school in their own country. And so it grew and grew faster and faster every year. And this year, with its manifold drawbacks of high cost of living, instead of the West Texas State Normal standing still or going backwards, its attendance has increased 16 per cent over any other year in its ten years of history.

But it has reached a critical period in its history. Just as it takes rain, enough of it at the right time to make a successful Panhandle crop it takes money, enough of it at the right time to keep any educational institution growing. The Canyon Normal is in excellent condition. It has the same strong teaching force it has ever had. It has a genuine president and a first class body of students. But it is costing every teacher more to live than ever before. It has a new dormitory for girls that must be furnished if our Panhandle girls are to have the college home they should have. To equip and furnish this dormitory will cost almost a hundred per cent more than a few years ago. If the college meets the demands that its own success has brought upon it, there must be more teachers instead of fewer. There must be provision made for the care of sick students. But you know what all this means. The Canyon Normal is our college home for our Panhandle boys and girls, and the very same things that have increased the home expenses have increased the college expenses; the general running expense, up keep, labor, improvements and incidental expenses. Our president, J. A. Hill of Canyon, has listed the needs of the Canyon Normal for the year 1920-1921 and he finds it necessary to ask for an additional appropriation of $70,300 to keep the school open, going and growing; to hold the desirable instructors and employ more to take care of the 15 per cent increase in attendance, and if these fine rains keep up and harvest is over in time that increase the coming year will be greater than ever.

President Hill divides the needs of the school into two lists and names the first under the head of

Absolute Necessities
Increase in present salaries.....$25,650
Salaries for new teachers and other employes due to the 15 per cent growth.....$25,550
Emergency items to be used immediately for repairs, printing and sidewalks.....$2,500
Furniture to complete equipment of girls' dormitory.....$3,000
The second list is headed:

Badly Needed
Departmental equipment for Home Economics, Agriculture, Normal Training, and other departments.....$9,000
Upkeep building and grounds fuel and catalogues for 1920.....$2,500
Equipment for infirmary.....$2,000

Making a total of.....$70,200
In the request President Hill does not ask to have his own salary raised one cent but he does plead for an increase in the salaries of his teachers—sufficient to make them comfortable and contented and hold them in our school. At the present prices this extra appropriation is equal to about 1,000 acres of Panhandle wheat. Last year the small grain crop in the Panhandle and Plains country was estimated at $120,000,000. This did not include any of our Panhandle cattle, hogs, horses, or row crops. At the present time, only four weeks from our harvest, the prospects for our small grain and its prices are even better than last year. Will the people of the Panhandle and the Plains allow our only State college to suffer, dwarf, lose heart, lose its prestige among other schools of its kind, degenerate in the standard of its instructors for the sake of $70,200? And do you all know that there are nine counties in the Panhandle that pay into the State Treasury $250,000 more money than they draw out for school purposes? And while the Panhandle is doing this Harris and Anderson and other adjoining counties draw out of the State Treasury for school purposes $875,000 more than they paid in? Do you realize that the schools of East and South Texas are being supported by the Panhandle while our own and only State Normal is in danger of being closed for lack of funds to hold competent teachers and provide the equipment necessary to carry on a successful school? Do you? If you do, then let us awake to our own opportunities and our duties to our home institutions and let our legislature know we want our own schools supported by our own efforts first. It is our duty to provide as good schools for our own children as for our neighbors'. That is not selfishness. That is self-respect and self protection and patriotism.

Facts Worth Knowing
Texas ranks first in size, third in the production of oil, seventh in wealth and thirty-ninth in education. Facts we should all think about:

Texas is 9.9 per cent illiterate, twenty-five per cent of our children do not advance beyond the fourth grade. The average educational advancement at present is about the sixth grade. This means that the future of Texas will have a sixth grade citizenship. There are in Texas 1,233,792 scholastics. The State appropriation for 1919-1920 was $8.50 per capita or $10,487,232; rural school appropriation $2,000,000; appropriation for vocational education $25,000. This year's total is $12,512,232.

Facts to be Proud Of Texas has 491 consolidated schools. Texas has 453 teachers cottages and 135 school farms.

Texas has 1,283 rural high schools. In special appropriations for rural schools and in the number of teachers Texas ranks among the foremost States in the Union.

Facts We Must Change
During the past year 2000 teaching positions in our schools were not filled. Between 50,000 and 70,000 Texas children did not attend any school last year. In most cities teachers taught two shifts of children per day. Conditions in the country were even worse. There were 1,827 fewer rural teachers this past year than last, which means of the 2,000 missing teachers the rural schools lost 1,827 of them. About fifty per cent of the rural teachers hold only second grade certificates. This means that 400,000 of our Texas rural children were taught this past year by teachers with only an eighth grade preparation. Many were allowed to teach without certificates in violation of the law. Eighty per cent of our rural teachers are mere boys and girls. Reports from 300 towns show the following facts:

Forty per cent kept their schools open by private subscription. Among these were such towns as Palestine, Wichita Falls and Dublin.
Seventy-one percent of these raised

TRADES DAY IN CANYON A SUCCESS

Every Merchant Enjoyed the Best of Trade, Stating Their Business was the Best in Some Time.

The regular monthly Trades Day was pulled off Monday as per schedule. The business men report that business has been better the past month than for some time. A large crowd gathered on the court house lawn Monday afternoon at 4:30 to witness the drawing for the many different prizes. The lucky ones are as follows:

First prize—T. S. Holmes.
Second Prize—Frank Hicks.
Third Prize—W. S. Cobb.
Fourth prize—T. W. Hart.
Fifth prize—T. S. Holmes.
Sixth prize—Jack Ricks.
Seventh prize—R. T. Jarrett.
311 Roosters Found a New Home
The Rooster Campaign met with an over supply, in that proper preparations for the accommodations could not be supplied. Roosters can be seen in all parts of the town and a general round-up will have to be made. C. F. Walker, who had charge of this as well as clerking the sale, was over run with business and was not in a position to satisfy the wants of every one satisfactorily. H. Bethurem and J. L. Prichard split on the greatest number, each having 29 head. For the rooster coming the greatest distance, D. L. Adams of Wayside won, claiming 36 miles.

Not being able to secure the desired amount of pigs, they could not be distributed to the club boys.
In the campaign for the $300.00 for the boy making the best grade to represent Randall County on the Texas Special in August, some $200 was secured. The committee expect to secure the remainder by the last of the week.

their property valuation also.
Sixteen per cent cut their school terms short. A few went into debt illegally.

Increase in property valuations ranged from 50 per cent to 100 per cent.
Seventy-eight per cent report themselves without funds necessary to hold the necessary teaching force. Salaries in Texas were increased 12 per cent over last year. Many states are paying salaries from 50 to 100 per cent higher than Texas.

The United States estimates the teacher shortage for next year will be 80,000 elementary teachers and 20,000 high school teachers. Maryland has increased salaries 150 per cent in the past two years. Iowa taxes $4 on the $100 for school purposes. For the education of each child Montana spends four times as much as Texas, California, Nevada and Arizona spend three times as much as Texas, and twelve other states spend more than twice as much as Texas. New York has just appropriated $20,000,000 to increase their teachers' salaries and the State of Washington $3,500,000 for the same purpose.

These facts come directly from the office of Miss Annie Webb Blanton, our most enthusiastic State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Will Texas sit by another hour hoarding her millions of dollars in wealth at the expense of her children's time, toil and education? Can we expect the sons and daughters of Texas to take their places in the world with the sons and daughters of other states and keep them in the field plodding while other states send their children to well equipped schools? Can we expect our future men and women to have educational ideals for their home and state when we of today furnish the man eighth grade teacher for a few months a year? If the blind lead the blind, where will we all land? How long will Texas permit such a shadow as this to darken her possible glory? Are we a democracy when we are first in size and possibly third in oil, seventh in wealth and thirty-ninth in education? Will not the men and women who read these facts take them to your next club meeting, your next business meeting and try to find a way to solve the educational problems of our own State? If this is not democracy, what is democracy? If this is not patriotism, what is patriotism? If this is not religion, what is religion? If this is not Christianity, what is Christianity?

HARDING AND COOLIDGE REPUBLICAN NOMINEES

Harding Nominated on Tenth Ballot, Coolidge Nominated on First Ballot

Warren G. Harding, United States Senator from Ohio, was nominated for the presidency Saturday by the Republican National convention in Chicago, after a deadlock which lasted for nine ballots and which finally forced out of the running all the original favorites.

As his running mate the convention named Governor Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, upsetting a plan of a combination of the Harding backers to nominate for the place Senator Irvine L. Lenroot of Wisconsin.

The collapse of the forces of Governor Frank O. Lowden and their transfer in large part to Senator Harding put the Ohio candidate over. General Wood lost heavily, however, when the Harding drift began and Senator Johnson, the third of the trio of leaders on the early balloting yesterday, also went steadily downhill.

Entering the convention four days ago as a candidate distinctly of the "dark horse" class, Senator Harding got only sixty-four votes on the first ballot and on the second he dropped to fifty-six. When the convention adjourned last night at the end of the fourth ballot, he had sixty-one.

In all-night conferences among the party chiefs, however, he was mentioned many times as the most likely to break the nomination deadlock should neither Wood, Lowden nor Johnson take a commanding lead. They all failed to do so, Wood and Lowden running a neck and neck race for leadership on four more ballots, while the strength of the California candidate dwindled steadily.

Meantime, Harding pushed his total to 133, individual delegates from many States swinging to him from the columns of the leaders of various favorite sons. The Johnson managers, fearing a landslide was impending, then made a last play to save the fortunes of their candidate. They moved to recess, for a couple of hours in order to take an inventory and seek a new combination.

The Wood and Lowden forces, both virtually at the peak of their strength but disheartened at the long string of ballot without material gains, fell in with the recess plan and the convention adopted it.

CASH PRIZES IN HEALTH ESSAY CONTEST

A health essay contest will be held in the six state normal colleges during the summer sessions of those institutions, under the direction of the Texas Public Health Association, that organization announces. The prize competition will be established in the normals at Canyon, Commerce, Denton, Alpine, San Marcos and Huntsville.

Two prizes will be awarded in each of the normal colleges—a first award of $15 and a second prize of $10—by local judges, while a state prize of $5 will be given for the best essay submitted from the six schools. A state committee of judges will award the state prize.

The subject of the essay is to be: "The Modern Health Crusade—A Factor in Health Education"; and the contest is being held to interest the teachers in health instruction in their schools.

Price of 1920 Wheat, $3.13
The 1920 wheat crop will be disposed of at a basic price of $3.13 per bushel.

After an exciting session, the newly organized Wheat Growers' Association of the United States late yesterday adopted the price committee's recommendation for that price. The association, which includes Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Nebraska and South Dakota, effected its permanent organization outlining the purpose of the organization as being solely to "establish and maintain a fair price for wheat."

Average cost of production of wheat was fixed at $2.75 per bushel.—Amarillo Tribune.

STUDENTS STILL COMING FOR SUMMER SESSION---ENROLLMENT 675 THIS MORNING

HON. MARVIN JONES VISITS FRIENDS IN CANYON

Hon. Marvin Jones, Congressman from this district, in company of E. T. Miller of Amarillo, was in Canyon for a few hours Wednesday shaking hands with his friends, and as he laughingly said to the News man, repairing his political fences. But as he has no opponent for the coming election we do not think they are in a very bad shape. Mr. Jones arrived in Amarillo Tuesday night from Washington, where he has been for several months, and says he will be in the Panhandle country for about three months. He says that prospects in Washington look very good for a Democratic victory this fall, more so than it did five or six weeks ago. The Panhandle people are proud of their Congressman and the work he has done while serving them.

Auto Thief at Work

An auto thief paid Canyon a visit Tuesday morning and from reports coming tried to do wholesale business. Luther Fronabarger says his car was pushed for about a block from his home, but as the car was locked the thief had no success in getting it started. He tried another car near the Palace hotel, but it was also locked and after pushing it down the street a ways gave up that one. He finally found John Cufries car and got away from town with it. Sheriff Jennings was soon on his trail and found the car a few miles from town overturned, but the thief had made his get-away and at present is at large.

In Bad for Pistol Toting

A young man giving his name as Sealy and his home as Amarillo, was picked up Tuesday by Sheriff Jennings. The young fellow was enjoying the grass and shade of the court house lawn, and the Sheriff thought he might connect him in some way with the auto theft of earlier in the morning, and went out to interview him.

As the young man raised up, an automatic dropped from his pocket. So now instead of the grass and shade of the lawn, the young fellow is enjoying the shade of a cell in Randall county's home for all young men who tote guns, provided they are caught.

Devereux Players

The Devereux Players failed to arrive yesterday intime to give a performance last night, owing to bad train connections. The entire program will be advanced one day and last night's performance will be given tonight, which is entitled "Romancers." Friday night they will give Dunsany's "Night at an Inn," "Fame and the Post," and "Tents of the Arabs." Saturday matinee, Shaw's "Arms and the Man." Saturday night Thomas' "Her Husband's Wife." These are a series of high class comedies and the people who attend are sure of getting their money's worth.

City Property Sold

J. M. Vetsak this week sold the new house he recently completed, to J. W. Harris. Mr. Harris has only been here for a short time coming here from New Mexico last September for the benefit of the schools. He purchased Mr. Vetsak's home in the east part of town, which place he sold the past week to a Mr. Cayton of Claude who will move here in September for the school.

McCoy to be Here Saturday

Mr. McCoy of St. Joseph Mo., a representative of the Hoffline Sign Co. will be here Saturday, the 19th, for the purpose of contracting for signs for the the County.

There will be a meeting of all men interested at the Court House at 1:30.

Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Hines of Bridgeport, Texas will spend the summer here at the home of their daughters, Mrs. M. L. Steele, and Mrs. J. M. Anderson and Mrs. D. F. Machin.

Mrs. Joe Gamble, Biedie Lee Burkhalter and Stella Rusk were Amarillo visitors Wednesday.

Miss Thelma Reid returned home Sunday from Lamesa, where she has been visiting.

Students are still coming in daily for attendance at the Summer Session of the West Texas State Normal College, and so far accommodations have been provided for all. Up until this morning there were 675 students enrolled. This does not include the pupils of the training school, but are students who are here for credits in the higher grades. The training school enrollment is 150.

Secretary Shaw states that inquiries regarding accommodations every day from prospective students and expects the enrollment to go over the seven hundred mark during the next week.

There have been a few changes in the faculty, and quite a few of the regular faculty are away on vacations for the summer, and the following list is made up of the regular faculty and the visiting faculty who are here teaching for the summer:

Stewart-Bishir Wedding

Miss Kathleen Stewart and Marion S. Bishir were married Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's father, Dr. D. M. Stewart, Rev. Hawkins of Claude officiating. Only a few close friends and members of the family witnessed the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of the public schools and the Normal and has been a successful teacher in the Canyon public schools during the past year. The groom is the owner of an auto repair shop on the south side of the square and has a very fine business. During the war he spent several months in France. Both of these young people have a large circle of friends in Canyon who extend hearty congratulations and very best wishes.

The Baptist revival which has been in progress for the past week and a half has indeed been a season of blessings. The earnest, gospel messages of Bro. Raborn and the soul stirring songs of Misses Daris and Hazard and the signing of songs by Miss Raborn have been a source of inspiration to the Christian people and many souls have been led to Christ. The meeting will continue for the rest of the week and probably next week. Everyone is cordially invited to attend all of the services.

Social Event

A wedding of great prominence will take place at the Methodist parsonage the last of the week. The contracting parties are members of prominent families of Hereford and Canyon. Particulars will be announced in next week's paper.

Canyon Students at State University
The following students from Canyon who are attending the State University at Austin, have won fellowships and prizes:

- Brown University Mathematical prize, to Newton Samuel Harrell.
- Assistantship in Organic Chemistry in the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University, to Elmer Burrell Brown, a former student of Canyon W. T. S. N. C.

Our Educational Crisis

When the price of food went up the people of Texas met it. The great majority of our citizens have as much to eat today as they ever had. At least none of them are going hungry. When the price of clothing went up the good people met it. They are wearing as good clothes today as they ever did. When the price of lumber went up they kept on building homes and business houses. Every paper you pick up is full of building reports. When the price of gasoline went up, the people of Texas kept on riding. So many people are riding in Texas that it is almost dangerous to be on foot in any of our little towns or cities. There are so many automobiles lined up along our streets you can scarcely get between them. And now the price of education has gone up. Mental food and mental training have gone up in price. It is going to cost us five dollars a year extra to have our children's education continued in the future as it has been in the past. Five dollars a year! for every child in the state. That is all Miss Annie Webb Blanton is asking for public education. But when she puts it in one lump she says, "We need and must have $5,000,000 if our schools are to be kept going for our 1,000,000 Texas children," men and women, too, gasp and almost faint away. But it is not unreasonable. It is not big. It is not unjust. It is common sense. It is justice. It is little enough. It is economy. What father or mother in this State can afford to have their children out of school, or how can they afford to have a poor school for the sake of five dollars a year for each child they have in school? Last year the Panhandle alone spent nearly $6,000,000, keeping up our automobiles. Fifteen gallons of gasoline at present prices will pay the extra expense to furnish a good school for your child one year. One day's work at five dollars a day (and who is receiving less?) would pay the extra expense on a whole school year for one child. Is there a day laborer in Texas that could not afford to help pay this if necessary.

Do not think of the $5,000,000 as your part. Think of it in terms of your child. What has it cost you to educate your children so far? For years Texas spent only $7.00 to $7.50 per capita. Last year it was raised $1.00. Everything else has increased from fifty to one hundred per cent. It is not a question of can we. It is a question of will we meet this new demand for the education of the children of our State. Think of it in terms of each individual child. Are you willing to do your part to add five dollars to the educational fund of every child in Texas? There are about 5,000,000 people in Texas and 1,000,000 of these people are our school children. Nearly another million are our little children who will enter school within the next seven years. Can we afford to allow our schools to go down, for them to enter later on? Texas is far enough down the list in education now. A few years ago, (we do not know the present figures) Texas produced one-eighth of all the agricultural products of the United States and was thirty-eighth in education. That meant that Texas fed and clothed one-eighth of the population of our nation and in return her children were receiving an education that ranked thirty-eighth with the children of other States. In other words, Texas was growing rich by the toil and ignorance of her children. But ignorance and child labor will not hold up the reputation of a State many years. The immediate question now is will we support our schools? Will we stand by our educational leaders? Will we trust the judgment and grant the requests of those we have chosen to lead us? Are you willing for this $5,000,000 appropriation to be allowed? If so, let your representative at Austin know it. The people of the Panhandle believe in progress. They believe in putting things across. They are not stingy. They are not little. We have met the increased cost of food, clothing, shelter and pleasure. Will we meet in the same fine Panhandle spirit the increased cost of our children's education. Of course we will.

But send in your sentiments to Austin. Let the rest of the State know where the Panhandle stands. It may help them to see their duty to their part of the State.—Phebe K. Warner in Amarillo Tribune.

The Farm Labor Problem

If editorials and special articles and cartoons calling attention to the impending national danger growing out of the shortage of farm labor had any effect, the farmers' troubles in this respect would be over by now. But not a single workman has been or will be turned farmward by that method. Tons of paper and barrels of ink are being wasted in an effort to scare laborers back to the fields and feed lots. It cannot be done that way. The simple reason is that these urgings and appeals are directed toward the masses, while each workman considers the matter from his individual standpoint.

Every wail to the effect that the industries are robbing the farms of labor by offering higher wages, shorter hours and better working conditions, merely makes matters worse. It advertises the farm to a disadvantage, and in a large measure untruthfully. It is an admission of something that exists only in part, at most.

Living conditions are better in the country, all things considered, than in the cities. Wages may not be so high, but living expenses are lower, and saving is easier. Nine times out of ten the farm workman has more money in the bank at the end of the year than the one in the city. It is only at certain seasons that the actual hours of labor are longer on the farm than in the factory. The farm workman is on the job more hours, but in the very nature of his varied occupation he does not put in as much time at hard, intensive work in the year as do most skilled and common laborers in the industries. If he works by the month, as is usually the case, he loses no time by being laid off for any reason.

The solution of the farm labor problem will come when farmers generally stop admitting that a working man can do better in the city, and begin "selling" their own proposition. Many of them are knocking their own game, when they should be boosting it.

The labor problem is one for each individual farm to solve, just as it is for each individual factory. The farm is a competitive institution in a world wherein economic conditions and the human equation are controlling factors, and the quicker each farmer realizes this the better off he will be. Patriotism may help some occasionally, but sentiment never. You cannot get farm hands by creating sentiment.

To begin with, each farmer who wants hired help should be sure that the conditions under which such help is required to work and live are acceptable to a self-respecting man. If they are really attractive, so much the better. This is not hard, on the ordinary farm, but it is far too often ignored. The hired man needs a bed as well as a lantern. There is such a thing as too long hours, even on a farm. Eight hours are out of the question, but sixteen are unnecessary, unwise and unprofitable.

A good job on a good farm, with an employer who is reasonable and fair, is the best kind of a job for any worker. Such jobs ought to be at a premium; and they will be if the proper educational effort is substituted for the present "viewing with alarm" and "we're going to starve to death" propaganda.—W. I. Drummond in The Agricultural Review.

HAIL INSURANCE

Why Lose the Time and Money You Have Invested in Your Crops?

Every year hail storms cause enormous losses to growing grain.

Do not forget that the high price for wheat is a very significant fact to every grower of grain.

The farmer who escapes one year may lose the savings of a lifetime the next!

Can you afford to take the risk of losing all you have invested in your crops by a hail storm when you can insure yourself against such a loss for a trifling sum?

I will gladly call and explain to you the policy issued.

Breases From Wayside

A light rain fell Sunday afternoon and some Sunday night, amounting to possibly one-half inch. Would like to see a good rain fall, wheat would be the better as well as other things growing.

Harvest will soon be here. Some wheat is already beginning to turn. Prospects are promising for a fair yield to amount of acreage sown, considerably less than last year.

Eight days ago, Mrs. Lou Gillham sustained a fall which has caused her much suffering. She is confined to her bed from the fracture of a rib.

D. H. Hamblin, wife and Velma, Marshall Butler and Marvin Hamblin attended the program at Dripping Springs Sunday, the 13th. A shower in the afternoon interrupted at the dinner hour.

About fifteen of Wayside's young people enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Key of Vigo Park last Sunday. An elegant dinner was served at the noon hour. Ice cream was served in the afternoon. There were also some guests from Vigo and Milo.

Noble, the 8 year old son of Mrs. Etta Gillham, was thrown from a horse last Tuesday, rendering him unconscious for some time. He made a narrow escape, but is slowly recovering from the severe shock.

W. H. Hamblin, wife and children, and his father and mother returned last Wednesday from their trip to different points in Oklahoma. They report a delightful time visiting relatives and viewing the scenery of different parts of the country, part of their crowd going as far as Pauls Valley, Oklahoma.

J. T. McGehee and wife, Mrs. May Guest and children and Mrs. Ethel Wesley and children returned from their visit to Arkansas last Wednesday. They report a good time but would not exchange their homes on the Plains for one in Arkansas.

Mrs. Jim Poston, who has been in Amarillo for an extended visit with her mother, Mrs. Yarborough, returned home Sunday.

Mrs. Horace Russell Passed Away

The death in this city on last Monday morning, of Mrs. Horace Russell caused a wave of profound grief, severing so suddenly as it did the ties of love and affection in which she was held by all who knew her. Few of her friends knew of her illness and not even her nearest and dearest dreamed that the slight indisposition which began only a few days previous would terminate as it did.

Mrs. Russell was the wife of Horace M. Russell of the firm of Russell & Coakrell, and with her husband was prominent in church and civic work. She was a talented violinist and took an active part in the musical work of the city. Her loss will be keenly felt in the church and social circles and her husband and the two little daughters whom she leaves motherless, have the sincere sympathy of the entire community.

Former Canyon Girl Weds

The following article is clipped from the Canadian Record. The bride was a one-time resident of Canyon and her father still lives here. The family moved to Boulder on account of one of the daughters health. The News joins the many friends here of the approaching marriage of Miss Iva M. Buie, daughter of Judge and Mrs. B. Frank Buie, to Mr. Ed L. Nowels of Canadian, Texas. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's parents, 1059 Fourteenth Street, on the evening of June 16th. "Miss Buie is a Texas girl and is a graduate of Texas Woman's College, Fort Worth. Since her graduation she has lived an active business life and was an able assistant in her father's law office until coming to Boulder two years ago.

"Mr. Nowels is a returned overseas soldier, having served two years with the 315th Ammunition Train, 90th Division. He was also a member of the U. S. Army of Occupation in Germany.

After July 15th, Mr. Nowels and his bride will be at home in Canadian, Texas, where he is engaged in the newspaper business.—Boulder, Colo., News-Herald, May 17th.

BIGGEST COMBINATION YET

The National Wheat Growers' association has just held its annual meeting and voted unanimously to form a national combination for the control of cereal products in this country. The statement is made that this is to be the largest combination ever attempted. Elimination of the middle man is one of the first purposes which seem necessary to increase the producer's emolument to a fair profit and at the same time reduce the high cost of living. The plan provides for local co-operative organizations of cereal growers, centering in co-operative marketing associations with headquarters in the market centers. Stock in the terminal marketing associations will be limited to the farmers joined in the local co-operative associations. District or terminal marketing organizations in turn will be merged into a national marketing body. The district and national organizations are intended as the channels through which all products of the American farms will reach the ultimate consumer. The plans provide also for co-operative flour and cereal milling associations. It looks like a big scheme, which it is, but something of the kind is likely to go through.—Field and Farm.

GOLDEN RULE

A Cincinnati Manufacturer Has Tried it Out in His Plant Employing Over Four Hundred People.

I am going to get a few facts across to the people of this community about Tailored-to-measure Men's Clothing direct from factory to consumer. You know that in the process of transferring any goods from producer to the consumer there are several middlemen who add something for themselves to the cost of the goods to the consumer. There is a mighty wave of resentment in our country against this illogical, irrational, cumbersome selling system of ours. It is the greatest industrial evil in society and makes living expenses greater than the earning power of the wage-earner.

As positive proof that this condition can be overcome by selling direct to the consumer, I have more than one hundred samples of wooleens from a Cincinnati factory to display in the sample room of the Palace Hotel until Saturday night. Prices are $24 and $29 strictly made to your measure. None of which can be duplicated for double the money and more. We practice the Golden Rule—Do unto others as you would be done by.

Our clothes excel in workmanship, quality, fit and style. You are going to buy them. Why not begin now?

A Clever Fly Shoo

Recently a subscriber from Illinois walked into the office of this publication and told of a clever scheme, worked out by his ten-year-old daughter, for keeping flies out of the barn. Said he: "My daughter had seen cattle walk under low-hanging branches in fly time so as to brush the flies from their backs. After watching this performance she came home one afternoon and tacked a gunny sack to the sill above the entrance to the milking stable. When the cows were driven up late that afternoon they refused to enter the barn. You see the youngster had allowed the sack to hang too low at first and the cows were afraid of the object. So I arranged the sack so that it hung about a foot above the height of the cattle and by lowering it three or four inches each day finally got it down to where it hung within a few feet of the floor of the entrance.

"The curtain was allowed to remain unrolled all during the fly season last year and once the cows learned that it would sweep off the flies, they anxiously waited the time each afternoon when they could enjoy the privilege of walking under it. The sack not only swept flies off the cow's back when she entered, but it helped keep the flies outside the barn."

Keep Sows In Good Flesh

Unless a sow is in good flesh when she farrows, before the pigs are old enough to wean she will be so thin that she will stagger from weakness as she walks. This is not only unprofitable, but downright cruelty, and one of the greatest mistakes. The sow should never get too poor, or rather stay poor, until she farrows, and then try to keep her up by stuffing her with food beyond her powers of digestion, thus bringing on disease. A sow, while suckling, especially if she has a large litter and is a good milk-er, will convert so much of her food into milk, that she will have a voracious appetite. If allowed, she will eat more food than she can digest and the result is a case of indigestion. The old notion that a sow must be poor when she farrows is entirely wrong. Do not try to fatten her while she is suckling, but just give her what good, sweet wholesome food she can digest and no more.—Field and Farm.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CAR IN AMERICA

MEN of action refuse to be dependent upon slow-moving, congested trolley cars. They realize that their time is worth money. And quite naturally they find the solution of this time problem in a dependable motor car—the most efficient form of transportation that has ever been developed.

A little reflection should convince you that any man can do a better day's work with a PAIGE.

In the entire field of automobiles there is no car with a more firmly established reputation for dependability. Because the PAIGE performs its work un-failingly, it has been adopted by those men who are best equipped to judge the efficiency of any mechanical product.

"The Buried City"

On the upper reaches of Wolf Creek, about forty-five miles northwest of Higgins, is what has been known to the old timers ever since the settlement of this portion of the Panhandle, as the "Buried City."

It is located on what was the Jim Freyer ranch, now owned by the Handley Bros., on an elevated tableland, about four hundred yards to the south of the creek, and, perhaps about the same distance from the cliffs on the south bank of the creek.

Last week, Warren K. Morehead, curator of the department of archeology of Phillips Academy of Andover, Mass., and a crew of men were digging in the ruins of the city and exploring the country round for what might be of interest to the scientific world.

In all this party of explorers discovered the ruins of twenty-six old dwellings. Old, perhaps when Columbus sailed across the unknown waters of the western sea.

Most of these ruins, which consist only of the lower walls, are located on the Handley place, the rest being scattered along the valley of Wolf Creek at widely separated locations.

Beyond locating the ruins at other points the explorers made no excavations at that point other than on the Handley place.

At this point the lower walls of a number of buildings were located, which show their presence only by the upper portions of the walls showing through the short grass, clearly indicating in most places the outline of the four walls of the buildings.

The largest building which was forty feet by seventy feet was explored and every evidence was found of a very ancient civilization, which may possibly have anti-dated the cliff dwellers.

In this building, in which human skeletons, ancient pottery, bones of animals, and various other things had been previously found, the explorers discovered portions of two human skeletons, some fragments of pottery, flint arrow heads and war points; and several small ornaments made of mother of pearl, beautifully shaped and of excellent workmanship.

In the ruins five "ash-pis" were found and from these places where the aborigines built their fires, to cook their food and warm themselves the bulk of the finds were made.

Professor Morehead says that sufficient of these relics were found to establish the fact that these ancient people were of the same "Culture" as the cliff dwellers, but he could not yet determine whether the dwellers of the cliffs of Wolf Creek were the fore runners of the cliff dwellers, or those that came after that ancient race of people.

From what the writer saw when on the ground some ten days ago, it seems to be quite evident that this tribe of the ancient residents of the Panhandle was destroyed, either by enemies, or some cataclysm of nature. It is likely that enemies did the work. Had it happened from a landslide from the cliffs above the upper walls of the buildings would have been scattered through the ruins and in the same state of preservation as the walls that are now to be found buried beneath the soil.

Assuming that enemies did the murderous work, killing the inhabitants of the village, as is evidenced by the fact that at least six human skeletons have been found; it is more than probable that, in the course of years that the soil from the upper part of the hill, has been washed down filling up the ruins to the present level, which is about three feet, six inches above the foundations. At the same time the bodies of the dead, and whatever else had been left by the marauders, was covered by the soil, and is now being dug up for the interest and edification of the people of today.

It is quite likely that in the years that have elapsed, those portions of the walls that were not covered by soil, have crumbled away beneath the touch of time, and are now mingling with the sands of the creek below.

Whoever these ancient people may have been it is quite evident that they were far advanced in the arts of civilization than any of the Indian tribes known after the arrival of the earliest explorers. The erection of an advance of the plains Indians, or any building such as the largest ruin implies, indicates a civilization far in advance of the plains Indians, or any of his contemporaries. Whom these ancient people may have been we know not. Like many people in the history of the world, they lived their allotted time, fulfilling whatever destiny may have been theirs, and they passed away into the darkness of the oblivion of the ages that have gone.

The News man obtained some few little relics of these people, that are highly prized.—Higgins News.

No Agreement As to Wages

At a meeting of Panhandle farmers held here, last Saturday, the principal discussion centered about the question of wages to be paid to harvest hands. After a lengthy discussion, it became apparent that it would be impossible to agree upon a price and the matter was dropped.

Among other subjects brought to the attention of the delegates was the recommendation of the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce that farmers build granaries in order to protect themselves against loss in case cars are not available for shipping the grain.—Southwest Plainsman.

Will Combine Celebrations

Ranch Enclosed in Wolf-Proof Fence

T. B. Adams of Sonora bought the John D. Shipman ranch, 16 miles south of San Angelo in the Lipan Flat, and will turn it into one of the finest stock ranches in West Texas. The consideration was said to be approximately $100,000. The ranch consists of 5,103 acres and is enclosed by a 9-foot wolf-proof fence. It is said to be the finest piece of fence surrounding any tract of land in the world. Mr. Adams also bought 800 acres of adjoining land from G. B. Estes at $20 an acre. Possession on both deals will be given November 1. Mr. Adams expects to move his flock of 1,500 purebred Rambouillet sheep to this ranch from his ranch in Sutton county.—San Angelo Standard.

There's a Special Ingersoll for Each of These Folks

DID YOU ever "get lost" to a watch? We mean, did you ever figure out exactly your watch needs and then see if you were properly equipped?

There are a dozen or more different Ingersolls—varying in price, varying in purpose—small watches, jeweled watches, radium dial watches for night use, and so on. For instance, if you have an expensive watch, you probably would choose a Radiolite for $3.50. If you haven't a good serviceable watch, you'd be likely to buy a 7-jewel Reliance. The dealer will help you to select just the one for you.

"Ingersoll" has always meant the lowest-priced good timekeeper. Today, with present day costs and the 1920 purchasing value of a dollar, $2.50 is the lowest price at which we can make a watch while keeping up the Ingersoll standard of quality. "Ingersoll" means "money's worth" whether it's for the $2.50 Yankee or one of the Radiolites that tell time in the dark, or for one of the jeweled watches.

Pull Together for an American Merchant Marine

The war resulted in the creation of a great merchant marine—10,000,000 tons of American ships which cost us $3,000,000,000.

Everybody agrees that we must keep this fleet on the seas.

If we fall back to pre-war conditions—when only 2 per cent of our foreign trade was carried in American ships—We shall be in the position of a department store whose goods are delivered in its competitor's wagons. Congress is considering legislation which will perpetuate our war-built merchant marine.

Until this is done the ships we have should not be sold to face conditions which, prior to the war, resulted in the decline of our merchant marine to insignificance.

This Committee calls attention to these facts because a right solution of our shipping problem is vital to the future prosperity of shipbuilding, but equally vital to the safety and prosperity of the nation.
