Trip of the Texas Farm Boys' Special
By Robert H. Hester.

Our departure from A. & M. was 12:00 a. m., Saturday, August 7th. We arrived at Fort Worth at 7:00 p. m. and left at 8:00 p. m. We were to arrive in Wichita, Kansas, at 7:30 a. m., but on account of being delayed we arrived there about three hours late. In spite of such misfortune, we arrived in time to eat breakfast and dinner at the same time, 11:00 a. m. August 8th. The good people of Wichita took us out for a fifteen minutes ride over the parks and then we boarded the train for Manhattan, Kansas, where we spent the remainder of the afternoon visiting the A. & M. College of Kansas. Here we received a hearty welcome, a fine supper, and a good swim in the pool.

We departed from Manhattan, Kansas at 11:00 p. m. and arrived at Lincoln, Nebraska, August 9th, in time for breakfast. We visited the State Agricultural College and the rest of the day was devoted to an automobile tour through the country around Lincoln. We left Lincoln late that night and arrived at Des Moines, Iowa, in time for breakfast, August 10th. We ate breakfast down town and were the guests of the Des Moines Chamber of Commerce for luncheon. The afternoon was spent in taking an automobile trip of approximately fifty miles adjacent to Des Moines. We visited some of the most important stock farms of that section. After our sight seeing trip we were served supper by the Successful Farming Publishing Company and received a nice entertainment after supper.

We left Des Moines about 11:00 p. m. and reached Chicago in time for breakfast at the Y. M. C. A. We spent the entire forenoon visiting Armour & Company and the Union Stock Yards. Then we were the guests of Armour & Company, for luncheon. Armour & Co. were kind enough to arrange for us a visit to Marshall Field's, the Art Gallery and Lincoln Park. While at the park we visited the zoo. We ate supper at park furnished by Armour & Co., and departed to take a boat ride on Lake Michigan back to the Loop District.

We arrived at Oliver Chilled Plow Works, August 12th, South Bend, Indiana, in time for breakfast. The entire forenoon was devoted to a sight seeing trip through the factory. A good dinner was served and in a few minutes ride over the city by Oliver Chilled Plow Works.

We left South Bend at 1:00 p. m. and reached Lansing, Michigan about 6:00 p. m. We spent the remainder of the evening at the Michigan State Agricultural College. We reached Detroit in time for breakfast, August 13th. The forenoon was spent going through Henry Ford's Tractor Factory and a ride to his private farm where we saw a large Fordson Tractor demonstration. The afternoon until 4:00 p. m. was spent in a ride back to the city and in going through the Ford Car Factory, watching them make them, one every twenty four seconds, or thirty-eight hundred every day.

Left Detroit at 4:00 p. m., where we were looking forward to our foreign neighbors: Canada. We arrived at St. Thomas, Canada, about 7:00 p. m. We were met at the station in automobiles and taken to the park, where we ate supper and enjoyed a nice entertainment.

At 12:00 p. m., we departed from St. Thomas and arrived at Niagara in time for breakfast. We got a good view of the falls from both the Canadian and American side of the river. We took the trip around the gorge by way of Interurban. We departed from the Suspension Bridge at 11:00 a. m. for Ithica, N. Y., and spent the remainder of the afternoon at the Cornell University Campus. We were taken a ride through the College Farms and around the city.

We left Ithica and arrived at Pennsylvania Station, New York at 6:00 a. m., August 15th. We went on a sight seeing tour of Coney Island, Manhattan Island, and other places of interest. We were met by several of the business men of New York, two of which promised to pay the expenses of one boy each next year. Late in the evening we took a boat ride up the Hudson River and saw the largest ships in the world and rode by the Statue of Liberty.

August 16th was spent in Washington, D. C., visiting Washington's old home and tomb at Mt. Vernon. The forenoon of August 17th was spent in Washington visiting the Treasury Building, Washington's Monument, Department of Agriculture, and the National Museum. The afternoon was spent in an automobile tour of the National Zoo, Arlington, where Robert E. Lee's old home and the National Cemetery.

August 18th was spent in visiting Wegers Cave, Natural Bridge and an automobile tour through the Valley of the Blue Ridge Mountains, around Roanoke Va. The people of Roanoke took us out to the Country Club Grounds for a good swim and then back to Dancing Mt. Park for supper.

August 19th was spent in taking a trip by way of interurban and on foot to McGee Bros. Hog Farm, E. H. Taylor's Hereford Farm, and F. M. Comden's Race Horse and Hereford Farm around Lexington. We then returned to the city of Lexington, viewing the Blue Grass section and the tobacco fields.

August 20th, we stopped one hour for breakfast at Nashville, Tenn., and arrived at Birmingham, Ala., at 3:00 p. m. and departed at 11:00 p. m. The afternoon was spent in viewing the steel mills and smelting plants. Supper was served by the Progressive Farmer.

We arrived in Montgomery, Ala., in time for breakfast, August 21st, and the day was spent in visiting the First Capitol of the Confederacy and many other places of historical interest. We took an automobile ride over the country adjacent to Montgomery and saw some of the consolidated school buildings. We were guests of the Montgomery Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club and the Kiwanas Club. For the noon lunch we went to a barbecue.

We arrived at New Orleans in time for breakfast August 22nd. The forenoon was spent in taking an auto ride through the docks of New Orleans.

The afternoon was spent enroute from New Orleans to Houston. Along the way we saw large fields of sugar cane, which many of us had never seen. We arrived at College Station August 23rd and three hours late, and stopped one hour to eat breakfast and dinner both together.

Left College at 11:00 a. m. and arrived at our final scattering place Waco, at 2 p. m.

Letter From Florida

The following is a letter from a former Randall County citizen: Dowling Park, Florida.

Dear Sir: Having once lived in your town and having many friends there prompts me to write you this letter. I feel sure it will interest many of those I knew.

I came here in November, 1917, and began at once improving a small farm. I first piled up wood enough to run me five years at least; I care nothing for coal strikes. I have twenty acres fenced hog-proof and growing crops. In March 1919 I planted pecan trees, peach trees, plum trees, fig trees and grapes. I have not lost one of them and my peach trees have made a remarkable growth and are full of peaches. I planted a few citrus trees but because of my late planting they were not well matured and part were killed by our late freeze.

I have a well of fine water, a two room cheap house, a stable, two small chicken houses and fourteen bee hives. I have never been troubled with flies or mosquitoes, although some neighbors have many flies.

I am three-fourths of a mile from the "Swanee Ribber." Our land is poor sandy land but we have abundant rain fall. Last year my neighbors complained about a "three weeks" drouth and failed on corn.

I had no trouble with that baby drouth and made the best corn in the country, so my neighbors agreed. A large number of farmers are making the poor land poorer by careless, indifferent or ignorant management; while a few are making the land better each year, and are making money. Average land can be bought for from $10 to $50 per acre, much of it on exceptionally easy terms.

I have spent three winters here and have not seen snow. In 1917-18 I saw ice three times; each time it was less than one-eighth inch thick. 1918-19 was about the same except we had ice five or six times. In 1919-20 we had ice ten or twelve times ranging from 5-16 to 7-16 inch thick.

The people?—just like every other state; good, good for nothing, bad and worse.

Health? Well, I see as many white haired men and women here as I have seen elsewhere, and the country is full of robust children and fat women.

Yes, I am satisfied: when I look at my poor land, I think of the 1910 to 1917 on the plains and say; "give me a poor farm and a shower to go with it."

We have fleas, bed bugs, snakes and gophers, but I haven't seen a chigoe and haven't had a tick on me.

The League of Nations is primarily correct may be deducted from the plan as derived by Senator Harding were he to be president. No one has ever claimed that the present plan was perfect. No one has ever insisted that the present plan would not be subject to change as its weaknesses and faults became evident. The trouble with Senator Harding is that he would throw the entire civilized world into turmoil in order to devise a plan that suits his idea rather than accept the proposed plan as all of the nations of the world excepting Germany, Turkey, Russia, Mexico and the United States have agreed should be a starting point in the work toward world wide unity and harmony.

The republicans claim to have a chance to win in Texas politics this year. A half million voters did not enter the democratic primaries this year. Bailey's manager intimates that an effort will be made to keep the Bailey followers out of the general election this fall in order to beat Pat Neff. The American party claims to have a strong following in South Texas. It would be a good thing for Texas politics if another party did have a strong following in the state. But the republican party is chasing fleeting fancies when it imagines Texas going republican.

The public schools open Tuesday; the Normal opens a week from Tuesday; Canyon is the educational center of the Panhandle-Plains country; it has the best school system in Texas; Texas has the compulsory school attendance law; there is no reason for any child within scholastic age being out of school; there is no reason why any young man or woman in his teens, or over for that matter, should not be in school. Go to school this coming year.

It is reported that there is a shortage of 30,000 teachers in Texas this year. There is one and only one solution to this great problem. An increase in salaries in proportion to that paid by skilled and unskilled trades will bring the best young men and women into the teaching profession. The amendment to be voted upon in the November election seeks to solve the problem—vote for it.

The Panhandle and West Texas demands re-districting more than any one thing. The citizens of this section should center their fire on this one question. Until we get a voice in the legislature there is no need of going to Austin and asking for things which we all know we shall not get. Re-districting should be the first demand of the legislature when it meets next January.

The people of Canyon are becoming worried over the coal situation. A small per cent of the people who ordered coal early have been able to get their orders filled. There should be a concerted action to see whether it is possible to get cars for coal shipments into the city before cold weather.

Canyon must have more houses. A dozen or more people are contemplating building. A safe and sane investment is a good house in Canyon. Good property will always be in great demand.

Of course starving to death may be a heroic way for the lord mayor of Cork to die, but when we commit suicide we'll try a quicker and less painful route.

The Randall County Fair is on. Tomorrow is the last day. If you have not visited the grounds, don't overlook going tomorrow.

sition is good news to the people of Canyon. Pulling Canyon out of the mud-hole may be a big undertaking, but it is sure to be accomplished. The natural gas was turned into the Amarillo mains Monday. The town is to be heated this winter with gas. A little more rain means too much rest when rest is not desirable.

 work should have been done by the schools years ago. It improves the quality of citizenship to be patriotic. People are oftentimes too much accentuated by ambition for personal gain to be good citizens. During the last gubernatorial campaign there was too much mud-slinging and personal feeling.

S. M. U. Mars, of the State Department of Education, briefly pointed out the educational progress in Texas. The institute program will end Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Ed Harris and daughter of Melrose, New Mexico, are visiting at the Schramm home this week.

On account of threatening weather our meeting closed Sunday evening. The meeting had been going on all week, but was rained out several times. Rev. B. F. Fronabarger preached some very interesting and helpful sermons, and we were very sorry to have to close it.

Miss Olive Schramm returned from Melrose, New Mexico, last Saturday, where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Ed Harris for several months.

Mrs. Bill Davis is on the sick list this week.

Jefferson Had a Platform
 Cleveland Press: Speaking of platforms, Thomas Jefferson, first of the Democrats, wrote as good a platform as any. It contained ten planks and ninety-eight words. Jefferson called it "A Decalog of Canons for Practical Life," and here it is:

1. Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today.
2. Never trouble another for what you can do yourself.
3. Never spend your money before you have it.
4. Never buy what you do not want, because it is cheap; it will be dear to you.
5. Pride costs us more than hunger, thirst and cold.
6. We never repent of having eaten too little.
7. Nothing is troublesome that we do willingly.
8. How much pain have cost us the evils that have never happened.
9. Take things always by the smooth handle.

Reminders for Mothers

Tit-Bits: Why should babies be weighed? Because it is one of the best ways by which the steady thriving of an infant can be ascertained.

How often should children be weighed? Every week regularly until the end of the first year. Once a month until the end of the second year. Once every three months until the twelfth year, or thereabouts. Twice a year after that.

If a baby loses weight it shows there is something wrong, probably with its diet. If it loses weight during three successive weeks, a doctor should be consulted. Loss of weight at any period of childhood is always a serious matter, and should never be allowed to continue without ascertaining the cause.

The times already given for weighing apply to children in health. Delicate babies or children may need to be weighed more often.

Always weigh at the same hour each week or month. Always weigh before a meal, and the same weight of clothing as worn at previous weighing, or if this can not be done, then weigh the extra clothing separately, otherwise accuracy of increase in weight can not be arrived at. Remember that accuracy as to even half an ounce is important where babies are concerned. Bear in mind, too, that there should always be an increase in weight every week during the first year. Even standing still in weight, though not losing weight, is a matter that needs looking into at once, especially during the first year.

If you have no scales at home large enough for weighing the children, you will almost always find them in a chemist's shop. There the children can be weighed accurately for the small charge of one penny each.

Do not trust to memory at these weighing times. Always keep a little book, and in this write down each child's age, with the date and result of each weighing.

The American Legion Weekly: In one of the smaller cities in central France used by a division headquarters during the winter of 1918-1919, Alphonse the barber endeavored to learn to speak English. To this end he was diligently coached by numerous Yank dispatch bearers, sergeants, major and clerical workers, and Alphonse learned fast.

No less a personage than the Commanding General of the division strode into the barber shop one day and demanded a shave in a hurry. Alphonse, who was tending a lowly enlisted customer, knew rank when he saw it and rose to the occasion. "Sartainlee, mon general," he replied, bowing with true French politeness. "Seet down mon general, an' you be nex', you beeg steef."

The General waited.

Zion City Smokers Need Guns
 Chicago Tribune: Ferris Brown, lacemaker at Zion City, has petitioned the State Attorney of Lake county for a permit to carry a revolver so he can smoke unannoyed. A loaded gun is a necessary adjunct of the smoker's kit in Zion City, he stated. Overseer Voliva has retained slugs to enforce his anti-tobacco decree and two of them attacked him the other night while he was smoking a cigarette, he alleges.

RACE WITH SANTA FE TO ADVERTISE ROUTE

Beating the time of the California Limited from the Kansas City to Belen over the new Abo Pass Route is the latest road race planned by automobile dealers along the route according to D. L. McDonald of Hereford, president of the Abo Highway Association.

According to present plans, the entire distance of the Abo Pass Route will be separated into divisions to correspond to the divisions of the Santa Fe railway and fresh cars will be started at each division point along the way.

"The dealers are enthusiastic about the race," said Mr. McDonald, "and since the route parallels the Santa Fe almost entirely they have no doubt that they can beat the fastest train over this splendid new highway."—Clovis (N. M.) News.

Didn't Recognize Him

Tit-Bits: Gordon married a widow with eight children, who, in course of time, presented him with ten children. One evening he found in the street where he lived a little boy sweeping bitterly.

"What's the matter, little man?" inquired Gordon, carressing him.

"I've lost m yway," sobbed the youngster.

"Then come home with me. I'll give you something to eat and take care of you."

Accordingly our kind-hearted friend took the little fellow home and said to his wife:

"See, dear, I have brought you this child. I found him all alone in the street. One more or less won't make much difference; we will treat him as if he were our own."

"Why, you stupid! Don't you know him? He's our Percy."

He Drew Fifteen!

Argonaut: Two Mississippi girls, who are attending a young ladies' seminary in Washington, paying their first visit to the capital, called upon Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi before going to the Senate gallery to see that august body at work. Later Senator Harrison, seeing the girls from the Senate floor, decided that it would be very pleasant to have the two pretty girls at luncheon with him. He went to the gallery and said:

"I would be very much honored if you young ladies would take luncheon with me."

"We would be charmed," chorused fifteen sweet voices, and thereupon fifteen pretty girls, the entire party from the seminary, rose up and joined him.

Touching Up Rhode Island Argonaut: A regiment of Rhode Island National Guardsmen were holding rifle target practice within the confines of their native State early in the recent war. When the range was hiked to 1,000 an inaccurate Doughboy shot high and killed a cow that was placidly grazing in the neighboring State of Massachusetts. The owner of the cow was very decent when he filed his bill of complaint, that eventually came to the official notice of the Rhode Island Adjutant General. He wrote:

"I am glad to see that you boys in Rhode Island are indulging in the patriotic practice of rifle shooting. But for the sake of the rest of my live stock I would request that hereafter you please shoot lengthwise in your state."

No Chance

The American Legion Weekly: A labor union leader was the hope of his team in a closely fought bowling match. Breathlessly they watched him as he uncurved himself and let go the ball. Disgusted they turned away as it tricked down the gutter and not a pin fell.

"Gosh, Bill," commented one of his supporters. "Seems as if you could have pulled off a strike there when we needed it so bad."

"Strike?" shouted the bowler. "Swell chance for a strike. The things ain't organized."

I would get dizzy and black specks would float before my eyes. Then again I would have headaches and my kidneys were inflamed and irregular in action. I was advised to try Doan's and bought some at the Holland Drug Co. Three boxes fixed up my kidneys and relieved my back."

KANRED GOOD WHEAT FOR THE PANHANDLE

Surpass Other Varieties in Earliness, Rust Resistance and Yield.

Many Panhandle farmers are anxious to change their seed wheat; largely because their seed (Turkey Red) has become mixed with other varieties.

The writer is convinced that no variety of winter wheat other than hard red should be grown on the Plains above the cap rock.

The two varieties mostly planted at present are Turkey Red and Karkof. Pure seed of either variety is difficult to obtain.

Within the past few years a new variety of hard red winter wheat has been developed by the Kansas Experiment Station. The new variety has been named Kanred; a contraction of Kansas Red. This variety is scarcely distinguishable from Turkey Red or Karkof. It is a product of a single head selected in 1906 from a hard winter wheat that had been introduced by the United States Department of Agriculture from Russia. It surpasses either Turkey Red or Karkof in earliness, resistance to rust and yield. Kanred has been grown in field plots on the Experiment Station at Manhattan for eight years. The average yield of Kanred for the eight years was 28.1 bushels per acre; while that of Turkey Red was 23.6, and Karkof 23.4 for the same time; an average annual increase of 4.5 bushels per acre more than Turkey Red, and 4.7 more than Karkof for the eight years.

Farmers from all parts of Kansas report results with Kanred similar to those obtained at Manhattan. Our local Experiment Station and a few Panhandle farmers have had results which compare favorably with those in Kansas.

The above is taken from authentic reports. It therefore seems that every farmer who desires to increase his yield and improve the quality of his wheat could do no better than secure Kanred for planting purposes.—Harmon Benton, County Agent, Potter County.

Mrs. Nellie Bruce Died Saturday

Mrs. Nellie Bruce, 42, wife of R. W. Bruce, of Amarillo, died Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock at a sanitarium, following a surgical operation. Funeral services were held at the family residence Tuesday afternoon at 3. Rev. H. W. Virgin, pastor of the First Baptist Church conducted the services. Burial in Llano cemetery.

She is survived by her husband R. W. Bruce and five children, Loraine, aged 17; Lenore, aged 10; Marion, aged 8; Ellen and Helen aged 2.

Besides the immediate family she leaves her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Osgood of Perry, Mo., and one sister and five brothers, Mrs. Asa Lupton of Woodward, Okla, Bert and Ernest Osgood of Perry, Mo., Arthur, Ed and Chester Osgood of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce have resided in Randall county until more than a year ago when they moved to Amarillo for public school advantages. Mr. Bruce has been traveling in the interest of the Osgood Monument Company of that city.

The Bruce family have many friends in Canyon who are filled with sorrow over the news of Mrs. Bruce's death.

Lunch in Thousands of Schools

More than a thousand public schools in Iowa served hot lunches at noon to their pupils in the school year 1919-1920. That number was exceeded in the 83 counties of Iowa's 99 from which reports were secured and represents about ten per cent of the total number of schools. The movement seems to be gaining wide favor and a much larger number are expected to serve meals this year.

Among rural consolidated schools the practice of serving lunches at noon was followed in 30 per cent of the schools, an annual showing. It is likely that this year the percentage will exceed 50 per cent, for the noon lunch has proved itself a very desirable feature for consolidated schools.

Last year many of the consolidated schools not only served lunches at moderate prices which were self-sustaining, but made a slight profit to protect the enterprise. For instance, at Ventura, in Cerro Gordo county, warm lunches were served for 18 cents and less, a very moderate cost, and at the end of the year something like $75 was put into the treasury even after a few additional pieces of equipment had been purchased.

Callan's Essay on Man

Man is the queerest of all the animals. He is born barefooted and dies bareheaded. The more you know about him the less you understand why the Creator did not make the horse first and then quit.

An average he thing will shave a note or clip a coupon, but insists on having a barber to mow his whiskers or crop his locks.

Man is of many ways and full of prunes, when he can't find any moon shine liquor. It takes him a year or so to learn how to talk, but he never learns when to talk. He will lie all night and dream; he will lie all day and scheme. He is a complex assembly of egotism, stomach and stubbornness, believing that a dog which belongs to him is better than a dude that belongs to his neighbor.

Man is an unfinished piece of common furniture. He spends all his spare change trying to keep his teeth and all he can borrow to get rid of his appendix. He imagines himself the king of beasts, and yet it takes him longer to learn how to walk than a jungle monkey and longer to grow whiskers than a Mexican billy goat.

Dependable Economical Performance

In power farming you want dependability. There is the element of time in farming that makes the tractor peculiarly suitable to the Plains country. If, at any time your crop is ready to harvest, or at the time you are ready to plow and conditions are right for you to do your seed bed preparation, you are laid up for repairs, the damage done extends over the whole year's operation.

Our Fordson tractor service and large stock of parts assures fifty farmers in Randall County, who have purchased Fordson tractors of the nearest possible approach to three-hundred-sixty-five-days-in-the-year operation.

Every person in our organization is at the disposal of every Fordson operator who has trouble and the service is furnished right in the field. WE COME TO YOU WHEN YOU NEED US.

Our stock of parts is complete. In addition to the small parts which are subject to the greatest wear, we have the large, heavy parts. You don't have to wait for repairs in case of accident or worn parts. We have more than enough parts to erect five complete Fordsons.

Our whole business organization is only one of the units making up the Ford selling and service organization. If you buy a Fordson for use in Randall County and move with it to Portland, Oregon, you will find the same dependable service. It is a product of universal use.

THE "FORDSON" TRACTOR is the result of extensive trials and experiments conducted by Mr. Henry Ford, covering a period of many years. Before placing the tractor on the market, every detail has been thoroughly tried out under actual farming conditions in various parts of this country and abroad.

Experience has pointed to the small, light tractor as being the one machine which will fill all varying conditions satisfactorily.

In developing the "FORDSON" Tractor, the aim has been to produce a small tractor which will be low in first cost, reliable, and above all—efficient.

Being small, light and economical, the "FORDSON" Tractor is adapted for use on small farms, as well as on the largest. It will pull all farm implements and do the work generally done by horses on the farm. In addition, by its belt pulley the tractor will drive farm machinery such as a thresher, ensilage cutter, sawmill, etc., making the "FORDSON" a truly universal tractor.

In design and construction the "FORDSON" takes a long step in approaching the ideal tractor. The simplicity of its operation and construction will at once appeal to the farmer.

Special devices were perfected to keep out dust and dirt. All moving parts are enclosed and thoroughly lubricated. The number of lubricating points requiring attention are very few and easily gotten at.

When ignorance unites with poverty, credulity is born. There are men and women like candles, who must serve others, even to their own hurt; who light the way for all, but are themselves consumed in the service.

One of the industries for which those opposed to prohibition manifested great solicitude before the new law went into effect was grape growing; the owners of vineyards, they said, would be ruined if wine were forbidden. What sort of prophets they were appears in the new quotation for grapes in Ohio. The old price was $75 a ton, the new is $125.

Librarians are expected to answer the most extraordinary questions. These, for example, were asked at the information desk in the public library at Washington: "What sort of hat would you wear in Java?" "Who was vice president during the Presidency of Benjamin Franklin?" "How far is New York from Timbuktu?" "What do these highbrow writers mean by verse liver?"

The Company recently commented on the regulation ordering the London police to give up the antiquated dark lanterns that they had carried for so many years. Now word force is to give up sabres and carry American magazine pistols instead. Without doubt the change will make the force more efficient; but those who cling to old traditions and delight in the picturesque call ruefully to mind that the police of Paris have worn side arms for more than nine hundred years.

Though it is dangerous to joke at the expense of kings, more than one story of such a jest has come down to us. When Charles II, proud of his reputed skill as a naval architect, asked a gentleman of his court if he did not think that the king would have made a good shipwright, he got the unexpected answer, "I have always thought that Your Majesty would do better at any trade than your own." William IV, when Prince of Wales, remarked in fun to the Secretary of the Admiralty, "When I am King, you shall not be Secretary. What do you say to that?" "God save the King," was the prompt reply.

Eagles are not numerous anywhere in the world, but there have been more of them in Alaska than in any other region. Two years ago the Territorial legislature, influenced by stories of the depredations that eagles were making on the salmon beds, passed a law that set a bounty of fifty cents a head upon them. Since then, up to the beginning of this year, the bounty has been claimed and paid on 5060 eagles. Now the societies interested in protecting wild life are taking up the matter. What damage the eagles do to the fisheries amounts to little, for the salmon die anyway, after spawning, and it is chiefly the dead fish that the birds eat. We need not worship the American eagle as ancient nations worshiped their symbolic animals, but at least we need not exterminate his kind.

If a stowaway from a foreign port to America escapes from the ship in a United States port, it is a serious matter for the captain, as the master of a ship that recently reached Boston from Naples realized when two liable to a fine of five hundred dollars for each of them. But the men below decks, having no such responsibility, are delighted to find a stowaway, for the watch that discovers him "owns" him, and the men in that watch are entitled by custom to force him to do the dirtiest and hardest work that falls to their lot. Between an angry captain and an eager crew the stowaway is likely to have excellent reasons for regretting that he tried to steal his way across the sea.

To Plant Kanred Wheat

The superwheat known as Kanred, developed by the Kansas Agricultural College, through fourteen years of head brough from Russia, will be in high favor this fall. About 10,000,000 bushels of the 1920 yield was Kanred. The College authorities estimate that a fourth of the acreage for 1921 will be of that variety. Judging by the best returns available, Kansas will plant nine or ten million acres of wheat this fall.—The Earth, published by the Santa Fe Ry. Co.

Waste Not—Want Not

The greatest obstacle in the path of advancement and success of the average worker today is waste; and the most valuable quantity wasted is time.

Everybody is aware that for the wage earner the element of time is divided into three divisions—work, recreation, rest. But only a few are alive to the realization that from each of these divisions flows a little stream made up of wasted moments. And these little streams flowing on through life, merge into one swiftly moving current of lost golden hours—hours that can never be reclaimed. The place to dam a river of wasted hours is at the source. You cannot hope to check its onward rush at the middle, much less at its end, where it broadens out into a whirlpool that gently sucks you into a vortex of mediocrity.

If you are a waster, you must cut out the waste. When at work give of the best that is in you. Continually strive, setting up goal after goal. The ladder is high and the rungs are many—and slippery. If you are giving only six hours of effort—and that half hearted—out of eight you are being paid for, you are wasting two hours of constructive endeavor every working day. How can you hope for advancement?

When at leisure make the most of it. If your work keeps you away from the sunshine and fresh air the greater part of the day, all the more reason why your spare time should be spent out in the open as much as possible. And if out of your leisure you cannot find time for at least one hour of upbuilding study a day, thus fitting yourself for a more responsible position, how can you hope to succeed?

The harder a man works, the more he should value his hours of rest. Hours that are spent in dissipation, instead of laying up a store of energy for the morrow's tasks, are wasted hours. They are hours that leave the workman heavy-eyed, dull, lethargic. How can such a one hope to get on?

Harbor your resources. Be like the athletic who wins a long distance race.—Coal Age.

The Glory of Life

"The crowning glory of life is character." It is the noblest possession in reach of man. It is more powerful than wealth; it dignifies every station and exalts every position in society. "Character is human nature in its best form." In every well-governed state men of character are its best motive power; for the moral powers of man which rule the world. Even in war Napoleon said: "The moral is to the physical as ten is to one." The strength, the industry and the civilization of this nation all depend upon the individual character of its citizens and the foundations of civil liberty rest upon it.

Self-help, self-respect, self-confidence, fortified by application, industry and integrity, are attributes well worth seeking. Young men should strive to cultivate principles that form character as well as good crops. Society, the state and the nation need men with strong moral characters.—Farm and Ranch.

As the People See It

Hardly a week passes but what some good citizen has a suggestion to make for the betterment of this town.

No sooner is the suggestion made than some other good citizen objects—principally because he does not like the first citizen.

It is human nature, and we are just as human here as elsewhere. But there is a better way—a way that is quite as human and more humanizing.

Forget your antipathy toward the man and think only of his suggestion—of what it will do for the town—of what it will mean to you as a citizen of the town.

Very few good citizens think exactly alike. Many are diametrically opposite in their convictions, in their tastes, in their likes and dislikes.

But there is a common ground upon which we may all meet and bury our animosities.

That is the common good of all—the betterment of our community—the fostering of the welfare of our collective citizenry for the benefit of each individual citizen, and for the benefit of ourselves.

It is the starting point of prosperity—the grave of adversity.

It is the point we all should seek, and find.

Farmers Find Cow Testing Pays

Coos county, N. H., has a very successful cow testing association. A report from that district regarding the dollars and cents value of the association says: "Many times the tester's salary is saved each month."

One farmer in the Coos county association reports a yearly saving of $525 in the feed bills alone. Another with eight cows claims a net gain of $250 a year from the work of the association, and a local dealer says that the tests add $40 per head to the value of good cows.

A farmer near Lancaster offered to sell one of his cows before testing her. After the test, however, she was not for sale, because during the 10 months she made $19 more profit than his 12 lowest-producing cows combined. Coos county association show that cow testing may be made to pay big returns. Its educational value is also great.

Cow-testing work is growing rapidly, but it still has room for growth. Less than 1 per cent of all the dairy cows in the United States have been tested for production. Progressive dairymen say that there should now be at least many times that many cows on test.

Famous Children in Fiction
 Tit-Bits: If the question, "Which is the most famous child in fiction?" had been asked eighty years ago the answer would have been: "Little Nell."

At that moment everybody who could read was following the pathetic wanderings of that queer little figure almost breathless, and when Dickens "killed" her in the last chapter all England wept, solemn stock brokers stopping each other and gasping, "Little Nell's dead."

But although Little Nell has somewhat lost her hold on the British public, other children of Dickens' fancy still have a warm place in the British heart. It would be hard to decide which of these takes first place: David Copperfield, Paul Dombey, Little Dorrit, Pip or the Artful Dodger.

Twelve years later another child took the English-speaking world by storm. This was Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," although interest in the slave owner's child was almost equally shared by the slave child, Topsy, who when asked where she came from, said, "I 'spect I growed."

About forty years ago another child appeared in literature as the young hero of a pathetic story called "Little Lord Fauntleroy." He was of a new pattern, evidently belonging to the same school as Millais' "Bubbles," an aristocrat who wore blue velvet and Medici collars and owned a full-sized dog.

Then Kipling's Mowgli came on the scene and took everybody by surprise. Here was a wolf-boy, a boy who ran about mostly on all-fours, talked familiarly to monkeys and black panthers.

If Peter Pan and dear little motherly Wendy may be admitted into this gallery, then they will make a strong bid for the most popular children in fiction, although they will be run very close by "Alice," who had such wonderful adventures in Lewis Carroll's "Wonderland."

In America the voting might go in favor of Buster Brown, the hero of many adventures, or Mark Twain's twin heroes, Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, whose only garments were a pair of men's trousers and a very doubtful shirt.

Newspapers Eat Trees

Pierson's Weekly: A thin gray fluid comes bubbling out of the vat on the straining table, and spreads upon the smooth surface of the wire cloth. This fluid is 98 per cent water and 2 per cent cellulose from wood pulp.

The main operation is to extract that 98 parts of water and roll and dry and press the "web" into the material on which is printed this little article, and into a modern paper manufactory, the whole operation takes but three minutes. At the far end a sheet as much as twelve feet wide is rolled out at a steady rate of 500 feet a minute.

A roll of paper one hundred miles long without a single break was once made at a paper mill at Sittingbourne in Kent, and there is one factory which turns out thirty thousand tons of writing paper yearly and every day one hundred and fifty miles of wall paper.

Nearly all our common and printing paper is made out of wood pulp, and so tremendous is the demand that the supply is running short, and paper is constantly rising in price in consequence.

An average spruce tree makes five hundred pounds weight of pulp. A big newspaper will use as much as 150,000 pounds weight of paper in a single day, so that to produce one day's edition no fewer than three hundred trees are required. This means the stripping of two acres of forest. In the course of a year such a paper uses up nearly a square mile of trees which have taken fifty or sixty years to grow.

The French do not regard aeroplanes as profitable for use in commerce over the Sahara Desert; it costs too much to move the mineral wealth of the territory by aeroplane when pack mules and camels can be used instead. The Arab tribes have deep respect for them and take to their heels whenever an aeroplane appears.

As a result of experiments in making optical glass, which the United States began early in the war, we have progressed step by step from making small lenses to making larger ones, until now we are successfully making large disks for telescopes. A special electric furnace that will make it possible to lower the temperature of immense plates of optical glass as slowly as a few degrees a week is being made, and men of science believe that we soon shall manufacture in this country the largest and finest disks in the world.

The financial returns from land in England are so small and the taxes are so exceedingly heavy that the great landowning families are selling hundreds of thousands of acres, and the last traces of feudalism are vanishing. In one respect the results are a surprise to theorists; the tenant farmers who buy their farms are often dissatisfied with their changed condition. Having borrowed money at a high rate of interest and having become liable to a whole set of taxes that the landlord formerly paid, they are sometimes eager to sell their newly acquired property and to get out to their predicament as best they can.

An officer of the British army, Maj. Frederick de T. Craven, would not only increase the kinds and quantity of game animals in the United States but would add humor to sport. He suggests that the yak be transplanted from the Himalayas to the Rocky Mountains, and that river buck, wart hogs and swamp hogs be brought from Africa and released in the swamps of Mississippi and Louisiana. The water buffalo of the Orient he thinks would also thrive there. He would stock regions that are now useless with game animals of considerable value. But think of the fun the newspapers would have with the yak and the wart hog.

Twenty-four Feet Rainfall Per Year
(Amarillo Tribune.)

Down in Tampico the annual rainfall is twenty-four feet, not inches. In Amarillo the average is about twenty-four inches. Charles Thomas, brother of Mrs. J. R. Gault, is visiting here from Tampico and told the other day of the conditions there, among them that in the summer season it rains, really rains and then rains some more.

"But I like Tampico," said Mr. Thomas. "I am in good health and have been well ever since I have been there. We have a fine American colony of about 4,000 people, mostly engaged in the oil business, and the remainder of the town is made up of Mexicans, about 70,000 of them. So you see we have quite a city, but it is badly behind in enterprise. You will be surprised when I tell you that there is not a telephone system in the city. All the big oil companies have their own private systems, some running down through the oil fields for seventy-five miles, down close to Tuxpam. This lack of a telephone system is largely due to the revolutions that have infested the country and discouraged enterprise. Carranza would not grant the necessary permit and nobody else could, and foreign capital was not much inclined to risk itself in a venture of that sort with conditions as they were. But Mexico now has the finest president the people have ever had, perhaps, and he is disposed to do the square thing for the concerned. The oil business is a source of big revenue to the nation, as the Government gets twenty-five cents, gold on every barrel produced, but under previous presidents foreign concerns were hampered and discouraged. De La Huerta has announced his intention of encouraging capital in the oil business there.

"Tampico is pretty much an American town. We have our American school supported by the oil companies and an American church, and all business is done on the basis of American money. American paper money circulates there as it does in the United States, and gold and silver of both nations are, of course, to be had. "Agriculturally, things just grow wild. I took a ride into the jungle a few days before I left and as I rode I picked oranges and other fruit from the trees overhanging the path. Living ought to be cheap there, but in the hotels and restaurants, at least, it is not. The oil companies, which maintain camps far out from the city, employ only Chinamen as cooks and helpers. A head Chinese cook gets as high as $125 a month, with board and laundry. Domestic help is almost exclusively Mexican."

Mr. Thomas is back in the States on business and expects to return to Tampico shortly.

Toward the preservation of your Government, it is requisite not only that you discountenance irregular opposition to its authority, but also that you resist with care the spirit of innovation upon its principles, however specious the pretexts.—George Washington.

Nothing is more intolerable than to apply the law differently to the same cases.—Latin Law Maxim.

The Tree Problem

Plainview seems to be in about the same situation as Canyon, i. e., all of her locust trees will soon be dead from bore infection. The Plainview Herald points out the danger and adds some valuable suggestions as follows:

Just as in every other section where locust trees are grown Plainview shade trees are menaced by the locust borers. If we are to believe the prediction of horticultural experts of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College of the United States Department of Agriculture, within two years the locust borers will have made inroads on our shade trees.

Plainview has a vast intangible wealth, not easily estimated in dollars and cents, and of incalculable civic value, in her shade trees. Every preventative measure should be taken to protect these trees.

Experts advise that the best way for Plainview to hedge against the locust borer is to plant other variety of shade trees. The ash, elm, box elder, black walnut and hackberry are suggested. Wouldn't it be a wise thing for us to plant some of these trees between our locusts as soon as practicable so when the locusts are damaged (if, indeed, they are) we will have other good shade trees in their place?

Presbyterian Church

On next Sunday morning at eleven o'clock the pastor will begin a series of sermons on "The Whole Armor of God." These sermons will be delivered at the morning services each Sunday and will be concluded in this current month, leading up to the Communion Service which will be held on the last Sunday-morning of this month. Let every Presbyterian in the city begin this series of interesting studies of "The Whole Armor of God."

At 7:30 in the evening we will have our service. The pastor wishes to commend his people for the way they have attended the services of the summer months. Some fell by the way side but all in all the attendance has been good.

Our prayer meetings have been going fine. The attendance has more than doubled. We are studying the Book of Mathew and are now on the third chapter, the fourth being our study for next Wednesday night at 7:30. We want you to come. You will always receive a cordial welcome at the Presbyterian church.

Too Much Rain

It is seldom a kick is registered in the Panhandle on account of too much rain. However, that point has just about been reached in Randall county. Two inches of rain fell Saturday night; four inches fell Sunday night; and half an inch fell Monday night.

Both the north and south creeks are higher than they have been for years. The farmers who haven't had a chance to thresh report that much wheat has been lost by the continued rains during the past month. More than a thousand acres of wheat is still in the shock, little of which will be worth anything after this continual rain. A good many stacks of wheat have been spoiled owing to poor stacking during the rush of harvest.

The row crop is the greatest in the history of the country. Cane fields with the stalks standing eight feet high are very common in every direction from Canyon. The continued wet weather will cause them to keep on growing whereas the farmer would like to see some dry weather so that they might mature before the danger of frost.

There promises to be the biggest wheat acreage in the history of Randall county if the farmers have half a chance to get the ground in shape and the grain planted early.

All in all, it is easy to say that there is too much rain right now to please the farmer, and he is hoping for a little letup in the fall of moisture in order to get his rush work completed.

All Saints' Episcopal Church
Services Sunday night at 7:30. Sermon by Archdeacon Garner. Every one welcome.
