Mrs. Knapp was born in Kentucky but moved to Iowa in the early days with her parents. Her husband died fourteen years ago. There remain two daughters, Mrs. Burgess of this city, and Mrs. Laura Wickey of Muscatine, Iowa.

The body was taken to Muscatine this morning for interment by the side of her husband. Mr. and Mrs. Burgess and Mrs. Nellie Starr accompanied the remains.

Mrs. Knapp has been a member of the Methodist church for many years, and was always highly interested and an intensive worker for Christianity.

The many friends of the family in this city extend sympathy to the sorrowing relatives.

The leg is in a very bad condition, but it is hoped that no permanent injury will result from the accident.

BAKER YOUNG FOUND DEAD AT THE WANSLEY PLACE

Baker Young, aged 85, was found dead last evening at the Wansley place 10 miles west of the city.

Mr. Young has been in this section of the country for the past year, living in a wagon house at the Wansley place. He worked for the farmers of the community during most of the time. He talked little of his personal affairs, and so far as anyone knows has no relatives.

Judge A. N. Henson held an inquest and found that Mr. Young came to a natural death. Indications are that he died in his sleep without a struggle. No papers of value were found. He had a small account in one of the local banks. The body was taken to Amarillo where it will be buried.

These are all high priced attractions, and they should be well patronized.

That Get Acquainted Meeting and Watermelon Feast

A week ago last Saturday night, a group of about four hundred members of the student body and faculty gathered in room 105 and the corridors for the purpose of getting acquainted with each other. Slips of paper were given out to all present, who were instructed to ask all strange students and faculty members to sign their names on the slips and vice versa. The point was to get as many names as possible on your list, thus gaining new acquaintances.

After some time spent at this, the crowd was called out in front of the building. Those present were divided into groups according to the month in which their birthdays came. For instance, all those born in January were put in one group, all those born in February in another, and so on through the twelve months of the year. Each group was then told to put on a show of some kind as a representation of the month in which the participants were born. Several very good representations were made. Probably the best were February—George Washington cutting down his father's cherry tree; July—an election scene; December—a Christmas tree and a Santa Claus, who distributed gifts and comic remarks; and May—a May-pole dance with A. D. Parker as the May-pole.

The exhibit was taken in a special car, and Mr. Walker was promised through service by the Santa Fe. Mr. Walker also took some of his Duroc Jersey hogs which had won in two Panhandle fairs.

The Fair will open Saturday morning and closes on the 24th.

GRAYSON BELL HAS LEG SMASHED WITH THRESHER

He was backing the engine to hitch up with the separator, the ground was very rough, and before he realized that he was so close, he was pinned between the engine and the separator. A deep hole was punched in the muscle of the right leg and the left leg was very badly bruised.

Mr. Bell was brought to the city immediately, and while the injury is very painful, it is believed that he will recover with no serious results.

HOSPITAL PETITION TO COURT MONDAY

More Than Enough Names on the Petition to Call Special Election for County Hospital.

The petition asking the Commissioners Court to call a special election for the purpose of erecting a $30,000 county hospital in Randall County has taken well with the people. Those who have made the matter in charge have more than enough names on the petition to authorize the Commissioners Court to call the special election, but the committee will continue to circulate the petition until Monday when it will be presented at the regular monthly meeting of the court.

W. J. Fleisher suggested to the News yesterday that the hospital be dedicated to the men from Randall County who fell in the world war. There has been a great deal of discussion in the county relative to a fitting memorial to be erected to the memory of these men, and no definite action has ever been taken. The hospital would be the ideal memorial and one that the people of Randall county would most heartily endorse.

The doctors of Canyon have been asked by the News to state their opinions regarding the hospital and to point out the needs of the hospital from the physicians standpoint. These communications will be printed in the News beginning next week.

LEGISLATURE PROVIDES FOR DELAYED POLL TAX PAYMENTS

The legislature adjourned Saturday, passing a bill providing for the extension of poll tax paying time to cover the period of October 6 to 22.

The newspaper report of the bill is not clear as to the kind of a receipt shall be issued. None of the Panhandle collectors have heard from Austin as to the method of procedure in collecting taxes. It was set out in the dispatches that the receipts issued would be good in all elections up to February 1, 1921. This would indicate that the law contemplated issuing the same tax receipt as was used by the collectors last year, since the ones being issued by the collectors from October 1, 1920 to February 31, 1921, are to be used in elections from February 1, 1921 to January 31, 1922.

The collectors are awaiting instructions on the question.

It is not likely that many will apply for the receipt in Randall county.

There has been a recent decline in the wholesale lumber market which we are glad to pass on to our customers in the reduction of our retail prices. A New Apple

The Cypress King is the name of a new apple of excellent flavor and a little larger than the average size which has been propagated by John Kidd of Guemes Island, near Anacortes, Washington. It has a reddish tinge and possibly has a commercial future. Its discovery was unusual. Years ago Mr. Kidd took a homestead on Cypress Island and planted a small nursery from which to select his orchard trees. He planted an orchard, but later abandoned the place which in time was overrun by deer. These destroyed a good portion of the orchard and nursery. Some time ago Mr. Kidd visited the old home and was attracted by a small tree, still unharmed and bearing apples which proved to be of fine flavor. He removed the tree to Guemes and named the apple Cypress King. He has attracted considerable attention in the horticultural world.—Field and Farm.

Experienced Mothers know the wisdom of assisting nature before Baby's coming

It is natural to think of the expectant mother's influence upon the unborn babe. Her food, her habits, her hygiene, and even the condition of her mind, all have a part in determining the well-being or ill-being of her infant before birth.

No woman awaiting the joys of coming motherhood should allow the days to pass without giving nature a helping hand—because the conditions of pending motherhood, existing as they do, over a protracted period of months, create almost a new state of being for a woman.

Just as she prepares herself for it, so will most favorable conditions prevail when her child is born.

MOTHER'S FRIEND is a balm for the nerves, an intensely penetrating lubricant that softens the muscles, relaxes tension of the delicate organism involved in maternity, and prepares the way for an easier, quicker and practical delivery.

Randall County News

Class Visited Walker's Farm
 After Mr. Phillips, our Agriculture teacher called the class roll he told us he was going to take us to G. F. Walker's farm west of town. He said we were to notice his Duroc Jersey hogs, and told us that Mr. Walker would show us the main points of a hog and how to take care of show or fair hogs.

First, Mr. Walker took two hogs and showed us the different main parts such as the open eye, the good pastern, the toes being together, the arch of the back, not too thick ear, etc. He showed us that his hogs stood back on their pastern, which made their toes spread. Some of the boys helped him to cut some of the hoof off which makes them stand on their feet. He also told us to feed them on a cement floor would wear off their feet and that their toes would not spread. He said instead of giving them a big feed once a day feed them several times and not much at a time. These hogs were March pigs and weighed about 200 pounds and never had a bite of grain. He had a mixture he fed them which was two parts brand, two parts of ground oats, one part shorts, and about one quart of tankage. Tankage is a cooked food you can get from the packing house. Everything that can not be used any other way is ground up and cooked.

Next he took us to a pen in which were four sows. Only one carried herself well (on her toes). Two of them were about the size of the boars and two weighed about 150 each, all four were the same age. The reason two were smaller was because he fed them grain for twenty-six days after they were weaned and the other two he fed the mixed food. This shows the difference in feeding.

Then he took us to the old sows' pen. They had a nice house with boards all along the sides about six inches from the floor. This was for the little pigs so they would not get mashed. He had two sows. The little sow had nine pigs; the big one had two.

We talked about the hogs in general; we talked about washing a hog and when to do it. Mr. Walker told us to wet the hog and then soap him with tar soap; then rinse it off; he said if we meant to take him to a fair to start washing him about thirty days before showing him. He told us to show a hog in such a position that the judge could not find his faults. He also told us to always stay with our pig at a fair, and to get a pen as close to the entrance as possible so the people would notice them first.—Lennon Bell.

But felt through all this fleshly, dress, bright shoots of everlastingness.—Henry Vaughan.

An Age-Old Swindle

During the last few weeks the news papers have had much to say of a "get-rich-quick" scheme that has just come to grief. The methods that were employed were identical with those of many earlier bubbles, not one of which ever failed to bring ruin to throngs of innocent and credulous victims. They differed only in the pretended basis of the scheme. The "financier" in question professed to have discovered a way of making immense profits by dealing in foreign exchange, and pretended to be willing to share those profits with anyone who would intrust money to him. He promised a definite profit of fifty per cent on the notes he gave in return for the "loans."

The basis was plausible. It is a fact that the funds and currencies of many European governments are very cheap just now. Should those governments and their people recover their financial stability, pounds sterling, francs, marks and lire will ultimately be worth much more in American dollars than they are now. Those who buy now and can wait for years perhaps, will make money. What made the scheme successful until the exposure and collapse were these conditions: a bold, plausible and unscrupulous leader; a pretended plan of speculation that was too intricate for any expert to understand thoroughly; and a large number of men and women ignorant of business, easily deluded and hopeful of getting something for nothing. Whether the leader in the scheme bought any exchange is immaterial. He certainly could not so use more than a fraction of the millions he received. By carrying out his promises to early investors he drew more victims, whose money he used to redeem his early promises.

Exposure does not put a stop to such swindles. When the latest one is forgotten the next will find plenty of victims among the men and women who are greedy to get something for nothing and who are ignorant of the laws of finance. You cannot persuade such persons that they are trusting to promises that cannot possibly be kept. The repeated success in the early stages of the same swindle is due to the constantly replenished crop of men and women predestined by greed and ignorance to be victims.

Be a Good Forgetter
 Life is too short to remember the things that one would prevent one doing one's best.

The successful man forgets. He knows the past is irrevocable. He is running a race. He cannot afford to look behind. His eye is on the winning post.

The magnanimous man forgets. He is too big to let little things disturb him. He forgives quickly and forgets easily. If anyone does him a wrong, he "considers the source" and keeps sweet. It is only your small man or an Indian who cherishes a low revenge. The Indian never forgets, and because he is forever waiting to pay somebody back he never gets on. Be a forgetter.

 From Tiny Pain Germs

First of all, get it firmly fixed in your mind that all the ailments in the world have no effect whatever on Rheumatism.

A very common form of Rheumatism is caused by millions of tiny disease germs which infest the blood. The one and only sensible treatment, therefore, is one which cleanses the blood of these germs, and routs them entirely out of the circulation.

This is why S.S.S., the greatest known blood purifier is so successful in the treatment of Rheumatism. It is a powerful cleanser of the blood, and will remove the disease germs that cause your Rheumatism, affording relief that is genuine.

S.S.S. is sold by all druggists. Free literature and medical advice can be had by writing to Chief Medical Adviser, 154 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

NOVEMBER 2

Senator Borah, a confirmed enemy to the League of Nations, has quit Senator Harding's campaign and will make no more speeches for the republican ticket. However, that does not mean that he will vote the democratic ticket. Senator Johnson, another bitter enemy of the League, is using his best efforts for the Harding ticket, stating it is his belief from Harding's announcements that Harding will scrap the League. At the same time Ex-President W. H. Taft is supporting Harding because he reads from Harding that the Ohio Senator will support the League if elected President.

The truth of the matter is that the League of Nations is of very little weight in this presidential campaign. The people of this country are thinking more of getting local issues settled than they are of world-wide issues. The man who has been facing the increased cost of living until little of his income is left while he sees and hears of the manufacturer and big business man getting extremely wealthy under present conditions can find little enthusiasm for the fanciful dream of the League of Nations doing something for Armenia, Turkey, Russia or Poland. Those countries and troubles are too far from home.

Governor Cox champions the League of Nations. Unfortunately his campaign has been conducted in an undignified manner as the late Texas campaign. His slush fund charge fell flat. The people of this country have been so used to hearing and reading of big sums of money that $15,000,000 sounded about as big as 15 cents. The energy which both he and Roosevelt entered into the race will get the democratic ticket many votes which might otherwise go astray.

Early in this year the News predicted that the republicans would win in November. The democrats are carrying the burden of the war. The burden of government has been heavy. There were mistakes, during the war. Unfortunately for the democratic party, it was in power. The administration is blamed for conditions today. It is blamed for high taxes; for high cost of living; of high priced flour, and low priced wheat; for high priced meat and low priced live stock; for everything that occurs from a fire or drought in the west to the bomb in Wall street. The people of America are restless. They want a change—any kind of a change. The Literary Digest finds that every section of the country except in portions of the south there is absolutely an antagonistic feeling toward the administration. The President is no more to blame for most conditions than any other citizen of this country—but he carries the burden of conditions.

If the democratic party wins November 2, it will be a miracle.

The Randall County News is located at Canyon. C. W. Warwick is its editor. The News takes a fall out of the Amarillo Daily News last week in discussing the A. & M. College for West Texas. The Daily News had intimated that Warwick was opposed to the establishment of the college. Canyon is the home of the West Texas State Normal College. Editor Warwick and the writer, along with many other Panhandle papers, favor the establishment of the West Texas A. & M., provided it is established somewhere on the Plains or in the Panhandle. In the event it is established below the cap rock then we want agriculture and mechanics thoroughly established in the West Texas State Normal College to teach these important branches for this section. The agriculture interest is widely different in the Panhandle-Plains countries from that of West Texas. In fine West Texas and the Panhandle-Plains countries are in need of all the schools it can get, but if we get any of them we will feel lucky. There need be no conflict between Panhandle-Plains people and West Texas people over these matters. Just ask that West Texas State Normal College be thoroughly equipped to teach agriculture and mechanics, domestic Science, etc., and we will help you get a separate A. & M. College for West Texas.—Lockney Beacon.

The trouble with West Texas is that we can never get together. West Texas didn't stay with Thomason in the Governor's race. West Texas didn't stay with Johnson for lieutenant governor. West Texas has never agreed upon the West Texas A. & M. College, as to location. The people of the Abilene district scoff at the idea of putting it in the Panhandle-Plains country. The people of the Panhandle-Plains section know that it would be of little use if it were located in the Abilene section. The Panhandle-Plains country has no political power. West Texas has little political power. As a result of the disagreement among ourselves neither section will get anything at the hands of the legislature. The Panhandle-Plains section needs agricultural development. The only way leading to this development is through an agricultural school. An agricultural school will teach history, English, mathematics, arts, sciences, and other subjects, in addition to the regular agricultural subjects. All of these subjects are taught in the Normal by men and women of recognized ability. Agriculture is given a prominent place in the Normal. The Manual training and home economics departments of the Normal are strong and growing.

The Panhandle-Plains country can get all of the advantages of a first class A. & M. College, the name alone excepted, by developing these three latter departments to the same point as would be established in an A. & M. College, without sacrifice to the ability of the Normal to serve in its present capacity. The way is clear. All that is necessary is for West Texas to realize the importance in concerted action.

"Out of the 7,014 juvenile delinquents brought before the Dallas County Probation Officers, less than seventy were regular attendants upon Sunday School. Not more than thirty-five came from parents who attend Sunday School." Could there be a better argument in favor of Sunday School? Could there be a better reason why parents should take their children to Sunday School, rather than merely "send" them, as is universally the case? The courts furnish unquestionable evidence that the Sunday School is the greatest instrument in our land giving an incentive to clean living. Go to Sunday School next Sunday.

Henry Ford started something within a week from the day he announced a reduction in Ford prices a dozen of the leading automobile manufacturers made a substantial reduction. A number of leading manufacturers have also announced that there will be no reductions made in the price of their cars for several months. Whether these reductions are on a permanent basis remains to be seen. They may be raised, but the chances are against such an increase.

The Lockney Beacon mentions the fact that Hon. Marvin Jones should be a candidate for the United States Senate from Texas. The News would be for Jones should he decide to enter the race. He is as capable a statesman as represents Texas and would be a power in the upper house. The Panhandle could ill afford to lose him as representative unless the land lay favorable for his elevation to the higher office.

AFTER EIGHT YEARS

Canyon Testimony Remains Unshaken

Time is the best test of truth. Here is a Canyon story that has stood the test of time. It is a story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

T. A. Ridgway, farmer, Canyon, gave the following statement Jan. 13, 1912: "I have been using Doan's Kidney Pills for a short time and find they are benefitting me. I suffered from a weak bladder causing too frequent and profuse passages of the kidney secretions. I have noticed since using Doan's that I have much better control over my kidneys. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to relieve weak kidneys."

On April 30, 1919, Mr. Ridgway said: "I haven't had an occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills since I recommended them in 1912. I think the cure they gave me has lasted and I think as much of them today as I did at that time." 60c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

"Rube" Benton is the man who disclosed the baseball scandal and started the cleanup in the big league. The News man had the privilege of seeing "Rube" and being with him a number of times while in France. He was an officer in the 79th Division, and truly a great man among his men.

October 30 is the day the paving bonds will be voted on in Canyon. As yet no one has mentioned the fact that they might vote against the bonds. The election will be almost unanimous, but a big vote should be cast.

A Card of Thanks

To all those who in any way by thoughtful deed, loving words and prayers, helped to make my father's going less hard, these words are lovingly dedicated.

FRIENDSHIP

We have heard since days of childhood. To a friend who's a friend indeed, Is the friend who is a friend When another friend's in need.

When pleasures like the flowers spread Making our pathways fair,

We seldom stop to take account Of what true friends are standing there.

But when the shadows gather, And the way seems dark and deep, And the pathway up life's mountain Is more rugged and more steep.

Then they come, they've just been waiting With a word of hope and cheer, A flower, hand clasp, or a tear drop, And we know who's standing near.

And so may we add a rosebud To the garland on Friendship's brow, A friendship that's akin to Heaven, Making a wee bit of Heaven of the "now."

Living on Tips

The forthcoming census report will show that 7,000,000 persons in the United States now depend upon tips and gratuities for the major part of their income, an increase of 5,000,000 in ten years. Of these, 3,000,000 are women who depend wholly upon tips. Labor unions are becoming alarmed over the tipping business, which tends to keep down wages, and in this, the general public will heartily join them, for tipping is a corrupting influence in our social and commercial life.

Mr. and Mrs. George Frank and family and Miss Laura Barrent spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Brandt. A pleasant evening was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. John Batenhorst, Sr., and son Henry and Mr. and Mrs. John Batenhorst, Jr., and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Evers and family. Everybody enjoyed themselves.

Tony Erdman is helping Ed Evers drill wheat and put in row crops this week. Mr. Evers has a fine stand of row crop.

Quite a few around Umbarger are burning up their straw. Better save them for bedding the cattle this winter.

Alois Erdman helped Mr. Hartman with his row crop the first of the week.

Mr. Neal says if the weather is favorable next week he will start to cut row crop.

A little rain wouldn't hurt this part of the Panhandle, because the ground is getting dry and quite a few have quit sowing wheat.

Wm. Evans of Floydada spent a few days last week with Ed Evers. Mr. Evans intends to go to Colorado for the health of his family. He leaves his place in Mr. Evers' care for the coming year.

The County Fair

By Mrs. Phebe K. Warner in Amarillo Tribune.

We have said it over and over and we mean it and believe it. The County fair is one of the greatest educational institutions in the Nation for the time, work and expense it costs. Now the few who have given most of their time and money to the fair may not agree to this but we still hold it is true. For while only a few may meet the County Fair demands the first few years, thousands and thousands of men, women and children have received a liberal education this very year in just a few days at the County Fair.

What have they learned? In the very first place they have learned where they are living. There are a lot of people in the Panhandle who sleep and eat in the Panhandle but their hearts and minds and spirits are still back in the old home State or County where their fathers and mothers used to do such wonderful things, where the County Fair was a great affair that somebody else got up and paid for and all you had to do was to get up early some morning and go and see "what somebody's done."

That was all the county fair ever meant to us in our childhood. There were so many people in the county that the average farmer and his family never thought of doing anything for the fair. The boys had no place in it. The girls had no place in it. The same quilts hung in the floral hall from the time we could remember until we grew up and left the State. We always wanted to go because it was one big day in the year for country boys and girls. Red lemonade, and green balloons; peanuts and candy; knock the baby down; and music; oh, that music. We can hear a fellow singing yet "Everyday 'I'll be Sunday Bye and Bye" and the horse races, with the band playing while the jockeys rubbed down one class and led another into the ring. It was the only time we ever heard a band. And your country beau that you picked up some where on the grounds after your father had paid your way in, knew all about the race horses. He could tell you which one was pacing and which were trotting and when they made "a break" and which one won, when they all seemed to jump over the line the same second. Oh, boy! It was grand and glorious way up there in the old amphitheater with a big ball of pink pop-corn, a sack of peanuts and a boy that knew all about everything going on down below. That was before ice cream cones were invented.

The county fair of forty years ago was a great fair, a big show, with many of the real circus features. It drew the crowds. It got the money. It made the children very happy and very tired for a day. It made our mothers an extra big washing and ironing for the next week. It did a great deal of good but it lacked the personal touch. It lacked individuality. There was no single one room school exhibits; there was no community exhibit; there was no one farm exhibit; there was no Boys' Pig Club exhibits; there was no Girls' Camping Club exhibits; there were no Baby Beef Clubs. The old county fair was a show. The new county fair is a school. The old county fair was an all round noisy entertainment. The new county fair is an inspiration to every one who goes. And the more exhibits you have the greater the inspiration. If it is nothing but a sweet potato or a big cucumber the man, woman or child who enters it feels that he is a part of the fair, and he has a personal interest in it.

What else do we learn at the county fair? We learn that our part of the State will produce as much food and as fine food as the old home State if we only learn how to use it. We learn that our county is a whole lot better county than we realized. We learn that there are a lot of successful, progressive, happy farmers in our county that we scarcely knew before. We learn that you can raise a hundred different kinds of food on a Panhandle farm if you are willing to do the work. We learn that the hog industry is one of our greatest hopes and possibilities. We discover food and grain and fruit and chickens and a thousand or more things at our own County Fair that we did not know grey in this county. Here are a few things we saw in the single farm exhibit of D. N. Redburn at the Randall County Fair:

Red pepper peas, black eyed peas, eggs, strawberries, barley, maize, kafir, sorghum, parsnips, squash, butterbeans, squash (one yard long,) feterita, yellow squash, cabbage, pumpkins, onions, cucumbers, musk melons, beets, peppers, corn radishes, sweet potatoes, peas, beans, (four kinds,) tomatoes, alfalfa and a lot more things we did not copy. What does such an exhibit as this do for a county? It makes almost everybody mad to think they did not do the same thing. It sets every farmer and his family to counting up what they have on their farm and what they do not have they could have in they would just try. It is the individuality of the county fair that makes it interesting. Let folks get their pop-corn and peanuts some where else. But let the fair show where they were raised, and who raised them. Make the county fair a school with every individual, old and young, rich or poor, big or little, man, woman or child in the county an exhibitor. It is the exhibitors that make a fair. Every exhibitor becomes a teacher in this way and every teacher a pupil of some other exhibitor. This is why we believe the county fair is one of our greatest educational institutions and often it is the most unassuming man or woman or little boy or girl who is doing the really big things in your county, the things that will some day put your county on the world map. But you may never know it. You may never discover these people unless you have a county fair and give them a chance to display the products of their time, labor and brains.

The county fairs that are being held all over the Panhandle this fall are the best things for this country that have ever been done. A good County Fair will be worth more to your better class of citizens of your county. It will help more people. It will mean more food for the world. It will mean better schools and children. Oil might mean millions of dollars for a few, but the county fairs mean a few dollars more for the millions of people. Which is the best? We can live without the oil but we cannot live without our food. Anything that increases the supply of a county's food, anything that will teach our people to produce more and better food is the kind of education we need today worse than any other form of knowledge.

Every citizen of this whole Panhandle and the State owes a vote of thanks and a debt of gratitude to the Panhandle counties who have been brave enough and ambitious enough to hold a 1920 county fair.

Seeing Both Way:

Some of us are content to go through life noting the mistakes of others, blissfully indifferent to the fact that they see us as we see them.

People think of us only as our own conduct and actions deserve that we be thought of.

If we spend our time in petty and obnoxious criticisms of others, we must expect that they at least will be able to detect the beam in our own eyes.

A few may be short sighted and unobserving, but the majority of people are wise and quick to note the idiosyncrasies of human nature.

Why is it that some people are universally admired and respected thru life, although they have their faults, as do the rest of us?

It is not because those faults are hidden from the world—far from it. It is because such people have hearts endowed with more than the average of human compassion—hearts that prompt the mind to recognize the good qualities of others rather than to be continually seeking out the weaker points.

It is because they see the better side of others that the world thinks so well of them.

All people have their faults, but some, unfortunately, are only able to distinguish those which exist in the other fellow.

Advertise

It was Peter Cooper who said: In all towns where a newspaper is published every man should advertise, if even nothing more than a card telling his name and business he is in. It not only pays the advertiser, but lets the people know that the town you reside in is a prosperous one. Don't pull down the sign if you intend to do business, for it often indicates that your grip commercially is broken. The judicious advertiser will receive ten dollars for everyone invested in the columns of a local newspaper.—Exchange.

DO YOU WANT BETTER SCHOOLS IN TEXAS?

On November 2, the people of Texas will vote upon the Better School Amendment to the State Constitution, an amendment to Section 3 of Article VII, which seeks to grant to each school district the power to vote for its schools, such support as it may deem necessary. This privilege is now enjoyed by only about fifty of our larger cities, but is denied to country districts and those of smaller towns. The purpose of this article is to set before you the question of whether your children shall have a better chance at education, and preparation for wider usefulness and power in life, or shall lose a large part of the opportunity for education that they now have. Organized labor has demonstrated many times that it is a staunch friend of the schools.

When our public schools are closed or when they are taught by half-educated, immature boys and girls, then the wealthy can send their children to private schools and equip them for leadership, but the children of the great masses of the people of Texas must depend for an opportunity for education, upon the public schools.

The United States now has an alarming shortage of trained teachers. This is estimated at 100,000 elementary teachers and 20,000 high school teachers. Our children are the most precious asset of the state. The most important question now before the Texas people is this: Shall we retain the trained teachers whom we now have and induce other capable persons to enter the profession, or shall we accept those whom other states will not take?

Last session more than 50,000 Texas children did not attend school, because no teachers for them could be found. Four hundred thousand children were taught by mere boys and girls, whose preparation was not beyond that of the eighth grade, and who were totally inexperienced. Many teachers with no certificate, were employed, in violation of the law.

The four million dollar appropriation to increase teachers' salaries is a temporary stop-gap, made to tide over the present session until this amendment can pass, and can become effective.

If this amendment should fail to pass, it mean disaster to Texas schools. Even were the citizens of a district unanimously wish to tax themselves to support their schools, the tax limit now set by the State Constitution makes such action impossible. The right of local self-government in the matter of supporting their own schools is denied to everyone in Texas except to those living in about fifty of our largest cities. Fifty per cent of the states of the Union have no limit placed upon the power of taxation for school purposes, and no disastrous results have followed this freedom. In other states the tax limit varies from fifty cents to two dollars and fifty cents. In only two states, Texas and Virginia is the tax limit as low as fifty cents.

As patriotic citizens who value your children's rights, you are urged not only to vote for this amendment yourself on November 2, but to work among your neighbors and friends to win support for the measure. Please explain to them that this amendment does not raise taxes; it merely empowers those districts which desire to do so, to support their schools. It is a local option measure. It does not affect most of our large cities, but it extends to the small towns and rural districts an equality with the city as to the power to have good schools.

Our great State of Texas, which ranks first in size, first in agricultural products, third in production of oil and seventh in wealth, is rated as thirty-ninth in education. Shall we remain at a standstill while other states move forward?

Why We Pay

The indictment and prosecution of profiteers and gougers in various sections of the country comes as a ray of hope to the people groaning under the burden of exorbitant prices for everything we eat, wear or use.

It is not the retailer who is feeling the weight of the law, as his prices as a rule are quite within the bounds of reason—at least in the country towns and rural districts.

The gougers who are being hit are generally middlemen or wholesalers, who have been juggling the products back and forth, with a price boost at every juggle.

Normally, the law of supply and demand regulates the price of a commodity. But it has not been so since the beginning of the war, because times have not been normal.

One of the principal reasons for existing high prices is the fact that a commodity passes through too many hands before it reaches the consumer, and most of the hands are experts at the pleasing and lucrative occupation of gouging.

If public officials had taken a firm stand as soon as the gouging commenced—if they had filled the jails when the evil was in its infancy—profiteering would never have reached the gigantic proportions which now stagger the country. But they didn't, and because of their laxity we are paying the penalty today.

Even at this late day, if our public officials can be brought as a body to a realization of their duty—if they can be prodded into an energetic performance of that duty—we may some day expect the law of supply and demand to again regulate the price of the food we eat and the other necessities we require in our daily life.

We begrudge no man a dollar or a million that is made honestly, but that which is accumulated by dishonest or unfair practices should land its possessor in prison.

Where Prayer Was Needed

Pat and Mick of the Dublin Fusilleers, had a little matter to settle, and adjourned to a convenient spot to adjust it. Just as Pat had given Mick his "sleeping draft" the parde happened to come upon the scene.

The parde helped Mick to revive, and when the latter was in a state to understand again the parde said to him: "I shall pray that you forgive Pat for that blow."

Mick shook his head slowly and said, "Save time, yer riverence, just wait until I'm fit again and then pray for Pat."—London Tit-Bits.

Panhandle Exhibit at Wichita

Secretary-Manager Frank R. Jamison left for Wichita the latter part of last week, where he will have charge of the Panhandle exhibit at the International Wheat Show.

A splendid collection of Panhandle products was shipped to Wichita and A. L. Dailey went up to arrange the display and decorate the booth.

In addition to the products, added attraction will be given the Panhandle exhibit by two large star-shaped wheels studded with red, white and blue lights and decorated with the Plains never-failing feed crops, maize and kafir. The wheels are arranged to revolve in opposite directions and will attract special attention to the Panhandle booth.

Within the booth will be displayed a relief map of the Panhandle that is a most cleverly executed piece of work, credit for which is due Miss Ruth Story and Guy A. Carlander.

The map is 9x12 feet and shows all of the counties as far south as Lynn and as far east as Childress. The towns, railroads and highways are all shown and named and the leading crops of the counties are readily seen as the surface of each county is covered with samples of its products.

There are also pictures of Panhandle fields where the various crops are growing and pictures of some of our good Panhandle cattle, also a picture of Palo Duro canyon and over Amarillo is a shrine emblem to show that it is the home of Khiva Temple.

The display of products is most tastefully arranged and with the unique features of the big stars and the map, it is confidently expected that the exhibit will cause every sightseer to stop long enough for Jamison to catch them in the toils of his fluent and inspiring oratory, after which a forty-mule team couldn't keep them from seeing this country for themselves.

Manager of 6666 Ranch in Accident

Sid Williams, manager of the Dixon Creek 6666 ranch came near suffering a serious accident on Thursday of last week when after dark he was returning home from Panhandle, his team turned the hack over, rendering Mr. Williams unconscious for a while and so benumbed and bruised was he from the effects of the fall that he was not able to right his hack and drive in home, but remained on the ground, almost at the edge of a deep ravine filled with water with only his winter overcoat to protect him from the chill night air, until found about sun-up the next morning by W. E. Williams. Mrs. Williams grew uneasy when her husband failed to arrive home on time Thursday night, and started the ranch boys out to search for him. They rode the pasture all night without finding him until Mr. Williams from town found him about four miles from home, considerable bruised, and in a weakened condition on account of his advanced age. He heard the boys when they passed near him in their effort to find him but was too weak to make himself heard.

At this writing he is getting along as well as could be expected. Although still sore and bruised, it is now thought that he will soon regain his usual good health which is good news to his legion of friends throughout the Panhandle.—Panhandle Herald.

Don't Buy Pork—Can It

There's a profit in selling pigs and buying pork—but not for the farmer who follows this practice. The farmer's most profitable course is to kill, cure, and can enough pork for his own use and sell any additional amounts which he can produce and for which there is a demand. The practice of home curing pork has suffered through neglect, but it is now being revived, according to the Bureau of Animal Industry and the States Relations Service. These two bureaus of the United States Department of Agriculture are co-operating to encourage the general adoption of this wholesale usage among farmers. Home-cured pork, scrapple, pork pudding, sausage, canned pork, headcheese, and lard are among the foods which the farmer should get from his own cellar shelves and not from the city market. All transportation costs and commissions remain in his pockets.

A bulletin "Killing Hogs and Curing Pork," now being revised by the Department of Agriculture, will soon be ready for issue. New methods and improvements have been given space in this discussion, and details of the processes for canning fresh pork have been added. Canning preserves pork with fresh pork flavors and lessens the toil and time incident to some of the older ways of curing the product. Besides being rapid and simple, the new process saves pounds of pork for all periods of the year which formerly had to be eaten soon after slaughter or be wasted.

That is for the good of each thing which the universal nature brings to each. And it is for its good at the time nature brings it.—Marcus Aurelius.

Governmental Extravagance

Both of the great political parties condemn the extravagance of the government, and each lays the responsibility upon the other. Inasmuch as Democratic officers estimate and report the needs of their respective departments, a Republican Congress votes the appropriations, and a Democratic administration then spends what has been voted, the blame does not seem to rest exclusively upon either party.

Neither party, indeed, believes that it has spent the money wastefully. No officer of the government and no member of either branch of Congress is wilfully or consciously guilty of supporting extravagant expenditures. Yet the extravagance is a notorious fact, admitted by everyone, and it could result only from concert of action between Congress and the estimating and spending officers.

Public extravagance may be of two kinds: spending too much in doing things that are necessary functions of government, and extravagance in adding new functions or enlarging others not essential to the public well-being. It is chiefly the latter form that is common now. No one can fairly accuse the public men of any party of making excessive appropriations for carrying on the great fundamental operations of the government. It is the setting up and supporting multifarious enterprises not heretofore maintained at public expense that is responsible for our extravagance.

Even here there is need of discrimination and fair play for those who make the decisions. They cannot be condemned on a general charge, for there is a defense for engaging in every one of the branches of service that in the aggregate form the indictment. It is only when all the items are taken together that the accusation of extravagance is plausible.

The evil persists because so many men are inclined to, economy only when economy applies to the projects of others. They are prone to exaggerate the importance of any government function in which they themselves are interested, and of course every bureau chief magnifies the importance of his own office.

There will be no improvement until public men learn that they must submit their own projects to the same tests of expediency that they apply to the projects of others.

Seven Ages of Man

The seven ages of man have recently been tabulated on an acquisitive basis, as follows:

- First Age—Sees the earth.
- Second Age—Wants it.
- Third Age—Starts to get it.
- Fourth Age—Decides to be satisfied with half of it.
- Fifth Age—Becomes still more moderate.
- Sixth Age—Now content to possess a six by two foot strip of it.
- Seventh Age—Gets the strip.

The wisdom of the wise and the experience of ages may be preserved by quotation.—Benjamin Disraeli.
