Delphin Club Meets

The regular meeting of the Delphin Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Joe Gamble Friday afternoon. The subject will be "Hawthorne."

Will Sell Stamps For Chinese Benefit

China "Life Saving" stamps are now on sale in this city, according to an announcement made by the local committee in charge of the sale.

The sale of these Life Saving stamps on a nation-wide scale, it is stated, is part of a concerted effort by all agencies concerned, co-operating through the American Committee for China Famine Fund, to raise contributions throughout America for the relief of the 15,000,000 people in North China who are facing death by starvation. The price of the stamp is three cents, that being the sum that will buy a day's ration for a Chinese.

The committee in charge of local distribution is headed by Mrs. Harvey Cash as chairman and includes the following organization: The Woman's Home Mission Society of the local Presbyterian Church.

LAW NOW IN FORCE TO INCREASE TAX LEVY.

As a result of the constitutional amendment voted in the November election, the legislature passed the enabling act which allows districts to increase the amount of local tax levy from 50c to $1.00 on the one hundred dollars valuation. The new law also provides that the bond issues may be made at the rate of 6 per cent, rather than at the old constitutional limit of 5 per cent.

All superintendents and school trustees have been notified that the law is now in effect.

So far no school district of Randall county has signified an intention of calling an election to increase the taxing limit of the district.

The trustees of the Canyon Independent School District, in meeting Friday night decided to make no change in the tax rate, as it was believed that the school could be maintained next year under the present 50 cent rate if the same property valuations were maintained.

Child Has Twelve Living Grandparents

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram is trying to ascertain which child in West Texas has the largest number of living grandparents. Several children with five, six, seven or eight grandparents have submitted their claims. A Canyon child submitted his claim Tuesday, which may be equalled but not exceeded.

J. C. Bellah, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bellah has all of his grandparents, twelve in number, living and in good health. It is not likely that very many children will be found with such a record.

The grandparents are—Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Bellah, parents of his father, and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Craig, parents of his mother. Both families live in Canyon.

The great grandparents are as follows: On his father's side, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bellah of Decatur and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hill of Hamlin; on his mother's side, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Craig of Fort Worth and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Ross of Kingston.

It would be very interesting were it possible to have a group picture made of Master J. C. Bellah and his twelve grandparents.

Small Fire Friday

The fire alarm sounded just before noon Friday when a shed at the J. M. Flite place in the south part of town was found to be on fire. Boys playing in the barn had caused the fire.

Before the fire department could reach the scene, the building had been destroyed.

Walker Gets Trees

C. E. Walker has received the large shipment of trees which was recently made to him through the experiment station at Lubbock. These trees are being distributed to the churches, schools and individuals of the county.

Sid Sheffy Married

Sid Sheffy and Miss Myrtle Knox, both of Dimmitt were married in Amarillo on Tuesday of last week. Mr. Sheffy is a brother of Prof. L. F. Sheffy of the Normal faculty and was in the Normal last year.

Moves From Amarillo

D. P. Rawlings and wife moved this week from Amarillo where they have been living for several months and will make their home at the Jameson place for the present.

Sold Land to Hicks

John A. Wilson has closed a deal, selling his old home place west of Canyon, which belonged to J. M. Johnson to W. H. Hicks for $26,000.

Had Operation Wednesday

Dr. M. A. Biggers was operated upon in Amarillo on Wednesday of last week. He is recovering very nicely.

Stork Special

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wes Meyers Monday.

C. F. Walker returned Sunday from Fort Worth where he took a car load of fat barrows for the stock show. Mr. Walker got away with some of the big money as was reported in last week's paper, and contributors to the fund and people of the county feel very grateful to him for his services.

J. A. Currie was in the city Tuesday on business. Mr. Currie recently returned from spending the winter in Arkansas and visiting in Mineral Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wooten were callers in Amarillo Tuesday.

LARGE PART OF BUILDING FUND TAKEN

LEGION CLUB STARTED APRIL FIRST

Campaign is on This Week—Will Build Across From Canyon Lumber Yard—$5,000 Building.

The Palo Duro Post of the American Legion endorsed the plans as outlined by the officers of the club last week, and will start work on the new $5,000 club house about the first of April.

Four committees are at work this week making a canvass of the town and county, selling memberships in the new club house. The membership price is $50 and from the way the boys are selling the shares, it is anticipated that all of the shares will have been sold by the end of this week. The limit on shares is placed at one hundred members.

Lots have been procured from C. R. Burrow, just west of the lumber company. A permit has been procured from the city to erect the building, and actual construction will start on April first. The building will be very convenient to town for all of the members.

The selling campaign is under the direction of C. N. Harrison, Wesley Kleinschmidt, E. E. Foy and E. C. Perkinson.

Plans for the building are being drawn by C. R. Burrow, Bob Donald, and R. A. Terrill.

WILL PLAN FOR BIG COUNTY FAIR IN FALL

MEETING OF BUSINESS MEN AND FARMERS

Duroc Breeders Called to Arrange for Futurity Show to be Held During the Fair.

If you are interested in a big County Fair in the fall, come to the Court House Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

It is time right now to get ready for the Randall County Fair which will be held in the fall.

To that end a meeting of every progressive citizen of Randall county has been called for Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at the court house in order that plans may be laid leading to the establishment of a real county fair this fall.

The business men of Canyon and the farmers and stockmen of Randall county are urged to attend this meeting. Every man will be asked to give his experience with fairs, and tell of the features that to him will make a great fair. Every possible feature and plan is desired that the fair this fall be the very best possible for Randall county.

The Futurity Show will be held during the Randall County Fair, and the Duroc breeders are wanted to attend the meeting Saturday in order that arrangements may be completed for this Futurity Show. The plans for the show have to be completed and sent to the Record Association by the first of April.

Come to the Court House Saturday afternoon at two o'clock and assist in planning for the Fair.

Amarillo Sluggers are Coming for More

The Amarillo boxers and wrestlers who were badly manhandled by the Normal team are not satisfied and are coming back for more Monday night. Four out of five events were taken by the Normal boys in the last meet and this was too much for the Amarillo boys.

Carl Robinson, manager of the Amarillo team, believes he is getting a bunch together that will show the Normal boys a thing or two next Monday night at the auditorium.

The boxing and wrestling exhibition between the Normal and Amarillo teams is preparatory to the meet of the Normal with the University of Texas team which will be staged in Amarillo on April 21st and with the Oklahoma State University team here on April 29th.

TRACTOR SCHOOL HELD AT NORMAL ON MARCH 22-24

TEN TYPES OF TRACTORS ON DISPLAY

Experts From Factories Will Explain Operation of Machines—Cordial Invitation Extended.

The Free Tractor Operators' School will be held at the Normal next week, March 22, 23, 24. The following announcement is made by Fred H. Ives, head of the Agricultural Department of the Normal:

The Department of Agriculture of this institution will hold its annual Tractor Operators' School here on next March 22, 23, 24.

The work of this school will consist of chart lectures, demonstrations, lantern slides and moving pictures on every practical question of tractor construction, operation, care and repair, of every make, size and type of farm tractor now distributed in this territory. The speakers on these subjects will be the expert service men who have charge of this kind of work with each company.

We have here an auditorium that will seat one thousand, our own moving picture machine and slide machines, a large implement shed, and plenty of land for demonstration if desired. We shall advertise this school widely and will insure a large attendance of tractor owners, operators and prospective buyers from all parts of the Panhandle territory.

There will be no competitive field demonstration. There will be no advertised tractor show. A large number of tractors which have been placed here for the use of this department in class teaching will be open to the inspection of all visitors. Our purpose in holding this school is to promote better care for, and secure more satisfactory results from all tractors now in service, and to bring the dealers in touch with possible prospective buyers.

This school has the entire approval of the Tractor Show Committee of the National Implement and Vehicle Association. Last year this school was attended by six hundred people during the three days. The school was judged to be a success by all tractor men taking part, in spite of the unfavorable season. This year our date will precede the rush of spring row crop work and we should have a much larger attendance.

We cordially invite every man interested in Tractor Farming to meet with us on this date.

Yours for Tractor Farming,
FRED H. IVES.

Will Enforce Tax Collections

The trustees of the Canyon Independent School District voted Friday night to enforce the tax collection law, and all delinquent taxes will be advertised and the property sold on all taxes not paid before the legal steps are taken.

J. B. Hensley was re-elected assessor and tax collector for the district for the coming year.

Henson Plants Trees

Manager A. N. Henson of the Palace Hotel is to be complimented for the improvement he is making along the south side of the Hotel. The curb is extended in keeping with the new ordinance governing the width of streets and trees planted in the park between the curb and the sidewalk.

This will do much toward increasing the beauty of Evelyn Street.

Would Place Woman Worker in County

Miss Bessie Edwards of College Station was in the city yesterday seeking to interest the county officials in employing a home demonstration worker in Randall county. She will return at a little later date to take the matter up with the Commissioners' Court.

Randall county employed an agent for this work a few years ago in conjunction with Potter county, Miss Leah Harris being assigned to the county. Miss Edwards was highly pleased with the words of praise she heard regarding the work of Miss Harris and is anxious that the county take the full time services of a demonstrator for the coming year. She interviewed the county officials, members of women's clubs and the Commercial League of officers.

WILL OFFER SEVERAL NAMES FOR TRUSTEES

The annual election of school trustees for the Canyon Independent School District will be held on Saturday, April 2. At the meeting of the school board Friday night it was decided to submit six or more names to the voters for the selection of the three trustees who are to be elected at this time. The term of office of Joe Foster, John Guthrie and C. W. Warwick will expire.

The following names have been suggested to the board for a place on the ticket: John Guthrie, John Fry, Jim Vetesk, Ed Gerald, Bob Foster, C. W. Warwick. Others will be added if the voters desire additional names.

Want Big Road Meeting

Good Road enthusiasts and automobile and accessory dealers in Clovis, Texline, Farwell, Friona, Hereford, Canyon, Amarillo and Dumas are called to meet in Stratford on April 8th, in order that a joint effort may be made to divert the transcontinental traffic over this line, rather than having it go to Tucumcari.

Baseball Team Will Start Trip March 29

The Normal baseball team is getting into shape and will take the first trip of the season, starting March 29th.

Coach Wayne McCorkle stated yesterday that the team was getting in very good shape. The weakest point is in the lack of catchers. The pitching staff has not developed anything sensational, but it is a little early to judge just what the pitchers can do. The first trip will take the team into the camps of Simmons and Abilene Christian College, both at Abilene; John Tariton College at Stephenville; Howard Payne; T. C. U. and the Denton Normal.

Coach McCorkle is going to take on the biggest schools of the state in athletic contests, as witnessed by this baseball schedule, and the fact that the boxers and wrestlers will take on the State Universities of both Oklahoma and Texas. The basketball team won fame for the school by winning the championship of Northwest Texas, and being the only team that has defeated Simmons College at Abilene on their own floor. The football schedule next fall will bring one or more big state teams to the Panhandle for games.

Commissioners' Court Session

The regular monthly meeting of the Commissioners' Court was held Monday. The bond of the First National Bank as depository for the county and school funds was approved.

In the matter of a road petition of O. E. Sherrill et al, the following jury of review was appointed: R. C. Venable, J. D. Turpin, Earl Jewett, Amos Molyneux and W. A. Watkins.

In the matter of a road petition of Andy Costley et al, the following jury of review was appointed: T. F. Reid, J. C. Pipkin, R. G. Oldham, John Knight and J. T. Campbell.

In the matter of the road petition of John Bedink et al, the following jury of review was appointed: T. F. Reid, J. C. Pipkin, R. G. Oldham, John Knight and W. H. Lewis.

The court ordered that one-half of the membership dues to the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce be paid at this time, and the remaining half in six months. The total amount is $816.00.

Myrna Sharlow Highly Pleased

The recital of Miss Myrna Sharlow at the Normal auditorium Saturday night was one of the most pleasing musical events ever held in Canyon. Miss Sharlow was fortunate in the selection of her program, her stage mannerism was delightful, her voice pleasing, and her response to the hearty applause of the large audience brought forth the very highest praise.

Her accompanist, Mr. English, highly pleased in the numbers he presented, and his perfect accompaniments added much to the success of the singer.

Listed 100 Rooms

S. B. McClure and Frank R. Phillips have been working on rooms to accommodate the students in the Summer Normal, and this morning reported 100 rooms having been obtained in the residence district. The regular rooming houses were not listed.

Large Crowd Monday

There was a good crowd in town Monday for the regular monthly Trades Day.

The trades excursion was not run Friday as had been planned.

ROBBERS GET $900 IN GOODS FROM THOMPSON

HARDWARE STORE VIC- TIM THURSDAY NIGHT

Enter Through Skylight and Escape Through Window—Knives, Guns, Fishing Tackle Taken.

The Thompson Hardware Company's store was burglarized Thursday night, when thieves effected an entrance and got away with about $900 worth of goods. Up to this time no clues have been found as to the parties making the haul.

It is quite evident that the thieves knew pretty well the lay of the land, and the best method of evading the night watchman. Entrance was effected through the skylight, and one of the back windows was opened to make the escape. A small rope was used to come down into the building.

From all indications the parties must have had a suit case, and filled it with goods that were compact and at the same time very valuable. Every knife of any value in the pocket knife show case was taken, together with all fishing tackle, some razors, scissors, and one or more guns. All of the guns were taken from the case and show that the parties had attempted to take them apart, thus leading to the belief that they must have carried a suit case. No clues were left in the store.

The cash register was cleaned of the $4.80 change left from the day before. The theft must have taken place between one and two o'clock. Two different parties report to have heard a noise about that time of the night, but this was not unusual in the business section and no alarm was raised.

Several hardware stores in the Panhandle have been the victims of robbers during the past few months, and it is quite evident that the parties who did the job here were connected with the gang which are disposing of the goods. About the same class of goods have been taken in each case.

This is the only robbery of any consequence that has been successful in Canyon for a number of years.

Intercollege Meet in April

Coach Wayne McCorkle is sending out invitations to every college in West Texas and Oklahoma for the Intercollege Track and Field Meet to be held in Canyon April 29-30.

The Normal team will participate in the Intercollegiate Meet on April 15, 16, for practice only, in order to get shaped up for the college meet.

Taking School Census

The school trustees have elected Mrs. M. C. DeGraffenreid to take the annual scholastic census of this district. All children of scholastic age living in the district will be enrolled.

Camp Fire Meeting

The girls of the Skahandowa Camp Fire met Monday afternoon with Miss O'Connell. Honor beads were ordered, and a ceremonial meeting was planned two weeks following this date.

District Court to Close Session Today

Judge W. E. Gee will come from Amarillo today to adjourn the spring term of the district court.

The grand jury was dismissed after making a report to the Judge. The jury examined thirty-two witnesses and returned one indictment last week.

Mrs. Dixie Service was given a divorce from Ross Service last Thursday, and awarded the custody of her child.

A motion for a new trial in the case of J. M. Conner vs. C. R. McAfee was argued Monday, the members of the jury which found for the plaintiff being recalled to tell of their deliberations in the jury room. The Judge will give his decision as to the case today, which is likely to call for a new trial.

R. E. Baird, J. M. Redfean and J. A. Guthrie served as the jury commission Monday and selected jurors for the next term of court.

West Texas A. & M. Bill Passed

The bill creating the West Texas A. & M. College passed the legislature during the closing hours of the regular session which ended Saturday. The bill provides that the school shall be located and under the supervision of the Board of Regents of the A. & M. College.

The money spent by the Randall County Commercial League for the Randall County Fair, the Poultry Show and the sending of boys to College Station, the different shows in the Panhandle and the Ft. Worth Stock Show is a construction investment which will bring immense returns to Randall county during the coming years. There can be no permanent prosperity unless based upon the farmer and stockman and the products of the farmer and stockman. Randall county will increase in prosperity in proportion to the prosperity of the individual farmer. The individual farmer will prosper in proportion to his ability to produce more and better products for the market. Being primarily a stock country, the foundation of the stock raising business must be firm and secure, and the choice of the best breeds of cattle, hogs and poultry will make this firm and secure foundation. The boys who compose these judging teams will become the stock raisers who will make Randall county famous and increase the prosperity of this section. If you will believe in this program of improving Randall County, join the Commercial League and help forward the program it has adopted.

Many country merchants and banks send their printing to Dallas while Dallas business houses have much of their printing done in the small towns surrounding their city. These Dallas business men know that it does not necessarily take a big shop to do work cheaply and well. Quannah Chief Tribune.

The mail order printing concerns of the big cities are maintained by banks and business houses located in towns like Canyon and Quannah which have up-to-date printing plants capable of handling 90 per cent of the printing any town may need. Too many so-called business men prefer handling out their printing to smooth-tongued mail order printers than patronize home industry.

One year's time makes a great difference in the life of a man. It was only one short year ago last month that Editor L. G. Waggoner of the Miami Chief and certain dignitaries from Oklahoma were given a free ride down the streets of Amarillo in the private car of the Amarillo Police force on the charge of indulging in the pleasant pastime of African Golf. Now comes Editor L. P. Loomis with the story that Waggoner has become an expert checker player. Waggoner has become tame, quite tame, within the past year.

Complaints have come to the News regarding chickens running at large in Canyon. The complainants do not want to hurt the feelings of their neighbors by asking them to shut up the stray chickens. Canyon has a chicken ordinance, but neither can the News or the marshal compel people to keep their fowls at home. The surest way to enforce the written or unwritten law regarding stray chickens is to have a chicken for dinner every time one appears on your premises.

The Red Cross of Lubbock made an investigation last week and discovered that begging was more profitable in Lubbock than honest labor. This is probably the case in every town when one has the nerve to throw his self-respect to the winds and live like a leech. And this class of undesirables will thrive just as long as the public will tolerate. Fully ninety per cent of the street begging is a fake.

The legislature failed to enact into law the several reforms and consolidations Governor Neff promised the people of Texas. It is a hard matter to get through such reform measures in a moment, and the Governor should realize that he is fighting a well-organized army when he attempts to cut off the salaries of any department or departments. The Governor threatens to appeal his case to the voters of Texas while the legislators are at home.

Fly swatting time will soon be here. Kill the rats and sparrows before that time rolls around.

GOOD TIMES JUST AHEAD

Prosperity is within our reach in America. All we need to have and to hold it is a sane, sure grasp on its simple elements. They are Industry, Integrity, and Faith.

These are the cardinal virtues of human relations. They are the underpinnings of healthy, natural business life and the foundation of a wholesome social system.

They are the fountainhead from which Progress springs. A well-known business economist has called them the "Fundamentals of Prosperity."

Your purchases are an expression of Faith. They are evidence of your Industry. Make them confidently from business institutions of Integrity.

Buying is the backbone of prosperity. An active market means more employment, steadier earnings; benefits are passed around.

Wise spending gives stability to earning and for that reason is far-sighted thrift and sound economy.

The call of today is for cheerful thinking, willing working and constructive action by you—everybody—NOW.

Tomorrow's change for the better will come about through the combined efforts of each and every one of us.

By sheer force of numbers and co-operation, by the high power of heart and mind, we can put Business on a firm, stable basis.

We can do this because all of the material factors making for better business are right.

Let us link our faith with industry, our vision with courage, and forge ahead.

Let's make an uncommon effort toward a common end—Good Times.

Randall county people are proud of the record our boys made at the Fort Worth show last week. These fellows displayed the fact that they know good stock when they see it, and will be of great help to the farmers and stockmen of this county in securing better stock for the farms and ranches. Give the boys a chance and they will promote the prosperity of Randall county very fast.

It is said that nick names are going out of style. Ask any man above thirty-five years of age what his nick name was when a kid, and he will spill it quite naturally. A few young fellows in every community naturally have a nick name tied to him, but the general use is said to be fast diminishing.

Our enterprising neighbor, The Randall Co. News, appears to grow bigger and better with each issue. The front page the last week reflected a regular "up-town" makeup. Editor Warwick is giving Canyon a real newspaper, with punch and individuality all through it.—Hereford Brand.

Thanks, friends. Flowers help a lot these days.

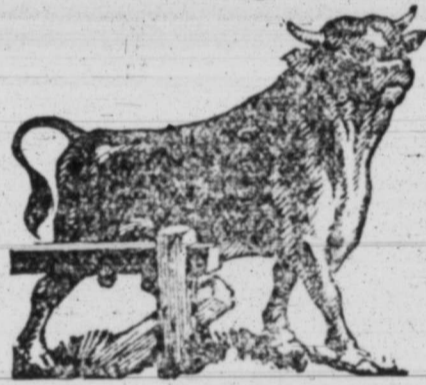

The wheat fields are very pretty now, and it is a great inspiration to make a drive into the country and view the prosperity that is abounding upon every hand. There is about as much grass right now as there is in May of last year. The fine fall and winter moisture is making the Panhandle section a most delightful place to live.

J. C. PENNEY COMPANY—A NATION-WIDE INSTITUTION

An Unfortunate State Policy

In adjourning without having passed the general appropriation bill, the Legislature of Texas is but repeating a practice which has been followed so often as to warrant calling it a policy. Unfortunately, our present political system is so organized as almost to compel this kind of procedure. There is not space here to discuss the various factors that make this true. What we are immediately concerned with here is the effect of such a policy upon the development of our state institutions.

Two years ago the general appropriation bill was deferred to the special session, with the result that the West Texas State Normal College could not employ its faculty until August. Of course, many members of the faculty remain from year to year, many of them never inquiring as to salary because they are in love with their work, have faith in the State's sense of justice, and are financially able to live even on a ridiculously low salary. Many others, however, are compelled by circumstance to accept the position that pays the highest salary. These can ill afford to wait until August to make their contracts for the next year. The result is that they are under the necessity of looking elsewhere for a position, or accepting whatever the state decides to pay after the time has passed for them to exercise any option in the matter. In this way, more frequent changes in faculty take place than is wholesome for the institution, to say nothing of the injustice done to members of the faculty.

Again, there are always a few vacancies in the faculty as the result of natural causes. Deaths, marriages, promotions, and other causes make necessary every year the bringing in of entirely new teachers. It is estimated that at the West Texas State Normal College there are four to six such vacancies annually. Now, the selection of teachers for an institution of this kind is the most important responsibility the President carries; it is more important to the institution than equipment, books, and all other material things. But the selection cannot be made, even to fill vacancies, until the appropriation bill is passed.

The result is very disorganizing. Teachers have made contracts in the previous spring and the institution is tremendously handicapped. If it could be done at all, some arrangement should hereafter be made by which state institutions may know, at least a few months in advance, the resources at their command. No business concern can project its policies two years in advance without some information as to the resources at its disposal.

The Department of Music

The Department of Music has shown a steady growth during the past year and a half. It is now located on the first floor of the main building, in the southwestern corner. It occupies six class rooms and two practice rooms; also the pianos in the auditorium are used for practice and recital work.

A full six-year course leading to the recognized bachelor degrees is given with music as the major. The subject of public school music naturally forms the nucleus for the class work. There are also courses in harmony and the history of music. This course is unique in institutions of academic training. The musical organizations in the college deserve special mention. The band this year under the direction of R. N. Brothers, our new wind instrument instructor, is working principally in connection with players in the town for a really capable organization, representing the entire community. This band will play some enjoyable concerts during the coming summer months.

The Chorus and Orchestra are at present busy on Haydn's Creation, one of the great oratorios. The Chorus numbers some seventy-five members, varying some from one quarter to the next. There are twenty-two in the orchestra, making the best orchestra the college has ever had. The publishers have had trouble in getting the orchestra score for the Creation; consequently the performance is delayed, but the date will likely be the latter part of March.

The Department of Music has a very satisfactory equipment of pianos—eight in number, also band and orchestra instruments; a new set of tympani has just been added to the orchestra equipment. Our newest feature, so far as instruction is concerned, is that of the wind instruments, added this present school year. This feature is meeting a growing demand and bids fair to be one of our strongest departments.

—From the Prairie.

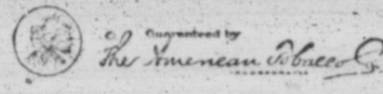

Brazil, which is almost wholly in the tropics, has the opportunity to upset the belief that no people can reach the very highest civilization in a tropical climate. The census just completed credits Brazil with 30,500,000 people, which makes it the second American country in point of population. Some modern men of science, most of them British, maintain that when means have been found to utilize the heat of the sun as mechanical energy the tropics will become centres of production and therefore of civilization. If that should be true, what country could match Brazil, with its great resources of minerals, timber and land, and its great navigable rivers?

The Christian nations are those in which there is safe for astart post-roads while a large part of the world is starving.—Mollie Dispatch.

Fordson

TRADE MARK

More and more every day the demand for the Fordson Tractor increases because the Fordson has demonstrated so much usefulness, so much economy, so much labor saving, so much money saving, along so many lines of activity. The farmer has discovered that not only for plowing, harrowing, discing, seeding, mowing, reaping and threshing, but a multitude of other uses; cutting wood, feed, grinding feed, churning, washing, furnishing water in the house, making electric light possible in the house and around the barns, so that as a matter of fact, there is hardly an hour in the day when the Tractor cannot be made a profitable servant. There is the ditching to do; there are roads to fix; and so on down the line of the numerous calls that constantly face the farmer the Fordson steps in and does the work, shoulders the complete burden of the toil and the hard work, one might almost say "drudgery."

This is the Age of Machinery, the day when man plans the day's work, or the year's work, and then turns it over to the Tractor to execute. Get the book, "The Fordson at Work," because it is free. If you cannot call for it, write and we will mail it to you. The Tractor is not only a necessity to every farmer but is an established utility along a great many commercial lines. Our allotment is limited to so many each month. Let's have your order now.

Watch for the announcement of the date of the Fordson Demonstration at our garage. A free school on the operation of Tractors will be conducted.

J. C. PENNEY COMPANY—A NATION-WIDE INSTITUTION

History of Y. M. C. A.

In the fall of 1913, a state Y. M. C. A. Secretary came to the West Texas State Normal College for the purpose of organizing a Young Men's Christian Association. President Cousins appointed Mr. Hill to take charge of the young men and perfect an organization.

The following officers were elected: A. J. Tarlton, President; Charles Smith, Vice-President; and Cleveland Baker, Secretary. Under the leadership of Mr. Hill and Mr. Marquis the young men entered very enthusiastically into their new work. Nearly all of the young men of the college joined the organization.

In December, 1913, the following delegates were elected to represent the College at the Students' Volunteer Council meeting in Kansas City: Miss Mary E. Hindspeth, A. L. Tarlton, and Charles Smith. From time to time delegates have been elected to represent the College at the various state meetings. It has been the purpose of the College and the local Y. M. C. A. to keep in touch with what leaders are doing in this work.

When war was declared in 1917, most of the young men of the College joined the army. As a result there was no student body organization during the war.

In December, 1919, Mr. Duflot, Miss Myrtle McGinley, Miss Isaacson, and Mr. Clyde Goodwine were sent as delegates to the Students' Volunteer Convention which met at Des Moines, Iowa.

In May, 1920, the young men of the College agreed to forget the mistakes that the Y. M. C. A. made during the war, and reorganized. Dan Sanders was elected President and Mr. Ives faculty advisor. In June, Mr. Ives, Dan Sanders, Gary Simms, Wesley Allen and Harper Allen were elected delegates to the Conference at Hillister, Missouri.

The Y. M. C. A. has changed its program somewhat this year. Instead of having religious programs and regular meetings, we have a cabinet of twelve members who are subject to call of the president at any time. The purpose of the Y. M. C. A. is to help the fellow who is "down and out." The cabinet is acquainted with every boy in school and is doing much good in a quiet but friendly way.

History of the Y. W. C. A.

The Young Women's Christian Association of the West Texas State Normal College was organized by Miss Helen Knox, State Secretary of the Y. W. C. A. of Texas, November 22, 1910. Miss Lola Word of Canyon was the first president of the organization. The first meeting after its organization was a Thanksgiving meeting, conducted by President Cousins.

The work of the Y. W. C. A. was carried on under the supervision of the faculty until the beginning of the winter quarter, 1918, when Miss Abbie Graham began her work as Y. W. C. A. Secretary. Miss Graham continued in the work for a year and a half. During this time the Y. W. C. A. sent delegates to the Students' Volunteer Convention at Des Moines, Iowa, and to the Summer Conference at Estes Park, Colorado.

Miss Harriet Graham became Y. W. C. A. Secretary of the College, September, 1920. The work of the association has been put upon a sound basis under the direction of Miss Graham. The Y. W. C. A. this year is contributing to the support of Miss Edith Wells, Y. W. C. A. Secretary at Tsientsin, China. The opening of Cozy Cottage Lunch Room is also one of the commendable things undertaken by the association this year.

Public Speaking

The Department of Public Speaking was introduced into the West Texas State Normal College, in the fall of 1915. Its expansion in the five and a half years of its history may be indicated by the fact that there are now two teachers and two student-assistants required in the department.

The courses offered are Sub-Freshman Reading, Freshman Reading, and three sequential courses in Elementary Interpretation, in the Normal School; and in the College Elementary Interpretation, Visible Speech, Story-Telling, Advanced Interpretation, Extemporaneous Speaking, Pantomime, a course in Methods for teachers of the Intermediate Grades, Dramatics and private instruction. As indicated by this list, the main purpose of the work is the teaching of Reading; and this purpose is merely enlarged and elaborated in the public entertainment idea, functioning in the arrangement and presentation of patriotic and other recital programs and in plays. Since the session of 1916-17, students of this department have visited many rural and small town schools, giving programs for them.

Miss Mary Morgan Brown has had charge of the department since the beginning. Miss Frieda Michel, who came into the work in the summer of 1918, was given charge of Physical Education for Women in the fall of 1919, and Miss Sadie O'Connell was added to the Public Speaking Faculty in January 1920. Misses Joye Mills and Lizzie Kate Smith are now student-assistants.

A number of recital programs have been given by teachers and students, and approximately twenty plays, five pantomimes, and three pageants have been produced, of which two pageants and all of the pantomimes were written or arranged by representatives of the department.

English Club

The desire to amplify their knowledge of certain phases of English of special interest to them and the general wish to broaden their cultural opportunities led a group of students to organize the English Club. Members of this club who expect to teach the subject of English will give some attention to the professional phases of the subject. The club now numbers more than thirty members, divided into three groups determined by the major interests of the individuals.

The club meets twice each month for purposes of special work, and occasionally the club will give a public program of general interest. A brief outline of the work for the current year follows: 1. "Modern Literature—Poetry, the Novel, the Drama"; 2. "Journalism"—the business side of this profession, the writing of articles for publication in a local paper, and the preparation of speeches to be given by the teacher before community gatherings; 3. "Professional English"—problems involved in the teaching of English, author-birthday programs, afternoon programs, bibliographies of useful books, uses to be made of lantern slides, etc. Later it is expected that the club will revive the "Llano Estacado," the college magazine.

The condition of membership in this club are a special interest in the subject of English, regular attendance upon its meetings, and a certain standard of work done in the class room.

Our Foreign Credits, Again

The British Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Chamberlain, recently a startling remark about the international debts to which we referred in an article a few weeks ago. Great Britain, he said, had made a proposal to settle the international debts among the Allied and associated powers by "total remission or partial remission," but had found that the proposal was not acceptable of the government of the United States.

The assertion created great astonishment both in England and in this country, for there had been no intimation that such a plan for settling the debts had been discussed. And the statement seems not to have been quite accurate. No formal proposal of the sort has been made, but the suggestion has certainly been discussed informally between British and American representatives both in Paris and in Washington. Since it was not formally presented, it could not be formally rejected. In fact no officer of the government, not even the President, has authority to accept such a proposal. Congress alone could do it. Consequently, it is inaccurate to say that it was not acceptable to our government, since it was never presented officially to anyone connected with the government, or unofficially to Congress. Mr. Chamberlain's statement implied that we are paying the part of Shylock—an undesired slur, since we had never before considered the plan that he said we had rejected.

The situation is this: The United States lent some nine and a half billion dollars to its associates in the war, of which between four and five billions went to Great Britain. That country has lent to its allies and to its own dominions for war purposes all that it borrowed from the United States, and four and a half billions more. Consequently, if all the war debts were wiped out, our loss would be the whole amount of nine and a half billions; and Great Britain's would be the difference between what it borrowed from us and what it lent to its allies.

The arrangement would be so one-sided as to be justified only on the ground that our suffering from the war was much less than that of our associates; but it is quite possible that one provision of the "partial remission" suggested by Mr. Chamberlain—indeed he intimated as much—was that Great Britain should pay a part of the whole of its debt to us.

Everyone knows that all the countries that were engaged in the war are in financial difficulties so serious that it is unlikely that any one of them except Great Britain will be unable to pay its debts, even if disposed to pay them. Great Britain not only can pay but undoubtedly wants to pay. As for the others, it may yet become a question whether it would not be good policy to remit some part or the whole of our loans to them. While the war was in progress we might have done it in a burst of generous enthusiasm; but the wrangling among the associated nations during the last two years has cooled our ardor. Nevertheless, we Americans are still inclined to be lenient, partly from sympathy, partly to avoid friction with our debtors and partly from a feeling that insisting on our rights would avail us little.

The revival at the Methodist church closed Sunday night. We had a great meeting. The Christian people were lifted higher. The Church was strengthened and the unsaved were brought into the kingdom. There were more than fifty conversions and reclamations and thirty-five have united with the Methodist church with more to follow and several to unite with the Baptist church. The Sunday School was strengthened, having 147 at Sunday School Sunday. At the close of the Sunday School hour a subscription was taken to rebuild our church as it would not near hold the crowds during the meeting, and in a few minutes $3,000 was raised. Work will begin as soon as possible, so as to get it ready for the Sunday School Institute that meets here in May.

Educational Home of Plains People

The people of the Panhandle and Plains country have come to regard the West Texas State Normal College as their educational home. Thousands of boys and girls all over this section have attended school here, and they have carried back to their homes and to the communities where they have taught the ideals for which this institution stands. Go into any town you may in this part of the state, and a group of boys and girls will gather about you and inquire after their Alma Mater. And it is a source of great pride to the institution that most of the boys and girls who have been with us every year are making their influence felt in the communities to which they have gone.

This just pride which the people of the Plains country are taking in the great institution the State of Texas has placed in their midst to serve their interests encourages those who direct its policies to live faithful to every trust. Perhaps the greatest stimulant to unselfish effort is the realization that this effort is appreciated by those for whom it is made.

Two great gatherings of the people of the Panhandle assemble at the West Texas State Normal College every year, the Inter-scholastic League Meet and the Consolidated Teachers' Institute. A program of the league meet may be found in this issue of "The Prairie." A tentative program for the next institute follows. Superintendent

P. W. Horn of Houston will deliver lectures to the general assembly and will have charge of the intermediate grade work; Dr. Shelton Phelps of Peabody Normal College for Teachers will lecture to the general assembly and will conduct the high school section; Miss Mabel Carney of Columbia University will conduct a rural school section; Mrs. Otho Hanscom of the West Texas State Normal College will conduct the primary section. Other lecturers are yet to be engaged.

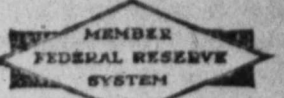

Twenty-one counties of the Panhandle have already indicated their intention to be present at the next institute and still others are expected to join the movement for a greater institute. More than 600 teachers were present at the last institute, and fully that number are expected for the coming institute, September 5 to 9 inclusive.

These great gatherings of the people of the Panhandle are of incalculable value to the educational interests of this section. Those interested in a common cause meet, get acquainted, absorb enthusiasm, and return to their schools with a determination to make them better than ever before. The individual who lives to himself has no standards for comparison, and as a result he usually gets into a rut and becomes satisfied with mediocre attainments. The man who is afraid to match his efforts with the efforts of those engaged in the same work does not deserve the salary he is receiving.

Three Soldiers

Three soldiers went marching away to the camp—
Away to the camp as the sun went down;
Each thought of home, and his eyes were damp
As the people stood watching them out of town.
But the men must fight and the women must sew,
For 'tis little they hear and less they know.
The furtious Huns were pressing forward—
The women sat up in the evening light
And they knitted the sock with fingers sore.
They looked for the news, but dreaded the sight
Of the wounds that they feared their young men bore.
But the men must fight and the women must sew,
The baffling Huns were pressing forward.
Three crosses stood in Flanders Field,
In the morning gleam of the peaceful day;
These crosses are marking our country's shields,
And the women must know where their heroes lay;
For the men have fought and the women have sewed,
They fought the fight and now it is won;
So good-bye to the War and its sorrow.

School Notes

Three matters to be mentioned in our notes this week:

(1) Home study is absolutely necessary if our high school pupils are to make their promotions. If the pupils have reported that they have time to prepare lessons at school and do not have to study at home they have misrepresented the standards and will fail to make the credits offered toward graduation.

(2) We need more library equipment. The board has spent about $400 of the money donated by the state for books as required and yet it is not enough. We are counting on our friends entering into our plan for an enlargement campaign. This will secure donations of books and loans of sets, which will place in the hands of our pupils much needed help and necessary information.

A personal letter will be sent out next week explaining more in detail our plans.

(3) Every family with children in school needs a telephone. No business would attempt to run without a telephone. The greatest business in the world is the raising of a family.

It is our observation that the greatest number of cases of truancy and failures in school work occur where there is no telephone. The best progress is made where there is a chance for immediate communication between home and school. A telephone is installed at the school house for the convenience of teachers and parents in their co-operative work in the interest of the child.

Let our patrons get in touch with teachers. Of course we prefer personal interviews but when this is impossible and matters are not going right use telephone.

A Swiss bottling company is using Austrian one-crown bills as labels. As an Austrian paper crown is worth only about a quarter of a cent, and as printed labels would cost more, the company finds the system to be good business. Moreover, the people eagerly collect the bank-note labels in the hope that the crown will rise in value.

AFTER EIGHT YEARS,

Canyon Testimony Remains Unshaken
Time is the best test of truth. Here is a Canyon story that has stood the test of time. It is the story with a point which will come straight home to many of us.

T. A. Ridgeway, farmer, Canyon, gave the following statement Jan. 13, 1912: "I have been using Doan's Kidney Pills for a short time and find they are benefiting me. I suffered from a weak bladder causing too frequent and profuse passages of the kidney secretions. I have noticed since using Doan's that I have much better control over my kidneys. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to relieve weak kidneys."

On April 30, 1919, Mr. Ridgeway said: "I haven't had an occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills since I recommended them in 1912. I think the cure they gave me has lasted and I think as much of them today as I did at that time."

CLEAN-UP SUGGESTIONS MADE BY DR. CARRICK

Dr. Manton M. Carrick, State Health Officer makes the following clean-up suggestions:

See that all rubbish is removed from backyard and surroundings.

Clean all windows and keep them open to fresh air and sunlight.

Don't forget what plenty of soap and hot water and sunshine will do.

Dry sweeping and dusting are dangerous practices.

Dispose of waste paper and other household rubbish regularly.

Do not forget the attic and remote places.

Do not tolerate dirty, broken walls and ceilings.

See that leaky roofs and defective plumbing are repaired.

Outside toilets should be screened from flies and vermin. Vaults must be cleaned.

Top covering of shallow wells should be water tight.

Drain moisture from garbage before placing in can.

Provide a proper garbage can and keep the can covered.

Burn or bury garbage where no garbage collection exists.

Don't let milk bottles stand unwashed after use.

Keep loose manure in fly-tight boxes and remove at regular intervals.

Fight the flies by eliminating their breeding places. No filth, no flies.

Inspect your roof gutter, eavestrim and fountains for mosquito breeding.

Drain, oil and screen against malarial carriers.

Cease keeping company with the rat; build him out of your home by placing metal lath between double walls.

The impressionist, the cubist, the free versifier, the "jazz" minstrel, even when the glamour of novelty was on them, suggested more vanity than knowledge. Such persons gave expression to the manifestations of a world fever, substituted vague, meaningless fancies and barbarous tom-tomming for the ordinary difficulties and sanity of art, poetry and music. The world is sick of the sickness and at last observes with relief the tendency to return to form and beauty and the appeal to the nicer understandings. The "independent" artists of Paris found almost no buyers at their recent exhibition.

The chief weakness of our system is that the man who has sense enough to handle government business usually has a business of his own that he can't afford to quit.—Bridgeport Star.

Tractor Operators' School

Have you a tractor on your farm?
Has it been a good investment for you?
Does it run to suit you?
If you have no tractor, do you think that you may ever buy one?

There are thousands of tractors now in use in the Texas Panhandle. Many of these tractors have given years of faithful service, others are a continual course of expense and worry, and some are junk. Nearly every tractor now on the market is well designed and constructed. Each tractor owner is largely responsible for the condition of his own tractor today.

If there is anything that you don't know about tractor magnetos, fuel, carburetors, lubrication, belt work, governors, valve grinding, road work, spark timing, machine hitches, valve timing, etc., you cannot afford to miss a single meeting of the

There will be illustrated lectures and demonstrations every morning and afternoon. The chief expert service men of the following tractor companies will be here to address some of the meetings: Case, Avery, Cleveland, Standard, Moline, Wallis, ToRoholt, Allis-Chalmers, International, and a number of others.

These men come from the central offices in Chicago, Kansas City and Dallas, and they know tractors from A. to Z.

These tractors will be here on exhibition in our machine shed and can be demonstrated for you in the field if desired.

It is all free. The purpose of this Tractor School is to help owners to secure better service from all tractors now in use. You may learn a trick in this school that will save you a lot of time and money next summer.

"Out Where the West Begins"

Out where the handclasp's a little stronger,
 Out where the smile dwells a little longer,
 That's where the West begins.
 Out where the sun is a little brighter,
 Where the snows that fall are a trifle whiter,
 Where the bonds of home are a wee bit tighter,
 That's where the West begins.

Out where the skies are a trifle bluer,
 Out where friendship's a little truer,
 That's where the West begins.
 Out where a fresher breeze is blowing,
 Where there's laughter in every streamlet flowing,
 Where there's more of reaping and less of sowing,
 That's where the West begins.

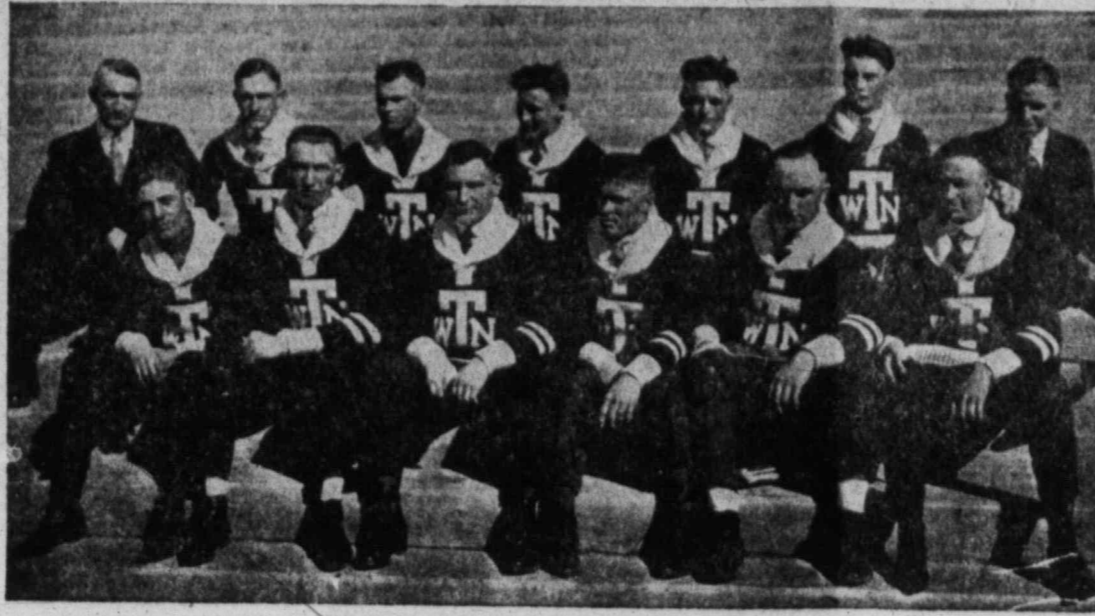

Out where the world is in the making,
 Where fewer hearts in despair are aching,
 That's where the West begins.
 Where there's more of singing and less of sighing,
 Where there is more of giving and less of lying,
 And a man makes friends without half trying—
 That's where the West begins.

Appropriations for W. T. S. N. C.

The first appropriation by the state for the establishment of the West Texas State Normal College was $50,000.00. The people of Canyon gave a $100,000.00 bonus to secure the Normal. The total appropriations for each fiscal year are as follows:

1910-11	$ 58,400.00
1911-12	59,945.00
1912-13	43,150.00
1913-14	62,100.00
1914-15	50,600.00
1915-16	251,534.00
1916-17	53,100.00
1917-18	111,445.50

FOOTBALL LETTER MEN, 1920

1918-19 98,843.00
 1919-20 311,048.74
 1920-21 201,610.00
 The total appropriation made by the state amounts to $1,193,276.24. Plus the $100,000.00 given by the city of Canyon it amounts to $1,293,376.24.

The Library

The Library has grown with the demands of a growing institution. Something like 8,000 volumes were on hand at the time of the fire in 1914. The few books saved from the flames at that time were almost completely ruined by being thrown from the windows, so that students were for a time greatly handicapped for the lack of reference books.

At a mass meeting of the students it was unanimously voted to apply the students' book refund to the purchase of new books. From that time on the number of volumes has constantly increased, until now the Library contains more than 25,000 volumes.

In quality this collection would be hard to match in the South. The books were selected primarily for the purpose of supplementing the work of the class room, but they also furnish adequate equipment for students desiring to do higher work. The Library is unusually well supplied with reference books, and has on its subscription list more than 100 standard magazines. One special feature is the children's section, which contains more than 1000 well-selected books—adapted to the needs of the first six grades. The Departments of English and History give special courses in literature for children. The Librarian also gives special courses in library economy. The Librarian and her staff make a persistent and systematic effort to secure maximum good from the library equipment.

In the Chamber of the House of Representatives in Washington is a reminder of the parliamentary customs of the Middle Ages: the mace that is borne into the Chamber before each sitting and must stand upright on its pedestal at the right of the Speaker whenever the House is in session. When any serious disorder occurs in the House, the Speaker directs the Sergeant at Arms to quell it. That officer then takes the mace from its pedestal and, bearing it before him, advances with it toward the offending legislators. Physically the mace is a bundle of ebony rods bound with silver bands and surmounted by a large silver globe on which rests an eagle with wings outstretched; but morally it is the emblem of the authority of the whole people; the linal descendant of the Roman fasces.

QUALITY PRINTING AT THE RANDALL COUNTY NEWS

To the User of Good Printing,
 Anywhere in the U. S.

Dear Sir:

Every business has a keynote. The keynote of the banking business, for example, is dignity and stability—accentuated in everything pertaining to a bank, from its architecture to its Printing.

Your business also has a keynote. It may be strength, delicacy, progressiveness, dignity or service; but whatever it is, a good Printer can so plan your Printing that the keynote will be unmistakably conveyed to everyone by the form of your Printed matter.

Of course, a man may console himself by saying that everybody knows he doesn't do his own Printing; but after all, they know he doesn't make his own clothes yet that's no reason why he shouldn't look presentable.

An interesting fact about good Printing is that it costs no more than the other kind. Really in the long run, it's less expensive. Call us in to a little talk about the next piece of printed matter you want to get out. It will be worth your while.

Yours very truly,

RANDALL COUNTY NEWS.

PRIZE CONTEST IN NORMAL SCHOOL

H. A. Wroe of Austin, Texas, Offers Prize Health Essay to the Normal Colleges of Texas.

H. W. Morelock has just received the following letter from the Texas Public Health Association:

Austin, Texas, March 7, 1921.
Prof. H. W. Morelock,
West Texas State Normal College,
Canyon, Texas.

Dear Mr. Morelock:
In view of the fact that so much interest was shown in the Wroe Health Essay Contests that were conducted by this association last spring and summer in the State Normal Colleges, it has been decided to hold one again this spring. We are especially anxious that each Normal participate.

We are taking the matter up with you by correspondence hoping to eliminate the expense of a personal visit of a Field Worker, since the contest will be conducted on exactly the same lines as previously.

We sincerely trust that we may count on you to again foster this work. As soon as we have heard from the six Normals we will announce the subject, dates, etc.

Trusting that we may have an early and a favorable reply from you, and assuring you of the Association's keen appreciation of your personal interest and cooperation in furthering health educational work in Texas, I am

Very cordially yours,
WINNIE BRACY,
Assistant Secretary.

It is hoped that many students will enter this contest. No more important work is being done to-day than the better health movement. Teachers of all people should be well acquainted with the best methods conducive to health in childhood. The information you will get from a study of this movement will be well worth the time you spend in the work, even though you receive no prize for your efforts. You can use the program for health worked out by the Texas Public Health Association to great advantage in your own school this fall.

As an evidence of our interest in this work and the value which we place upon it, the English Department will evaluate the work which students give to this essay contest and will allow credit for this work in the department.

Contestants

Papers are to be written by students of the six State Normal Schools.

Prizes

First prize of $15.00 and second prize of $10.00 will be awarded in each of the six Normal Schools entering the contest.

Grand Prize

A grand prize of $25.00 will be awarded to the author of the best paper from those which were awarded prizes.

Judges

A local committee on awards, appointed by the Texas Public Health Association, shall be composed of a physician, a teacher, and a third interested person.

Conditions of Contest

Essay is not to exceed 2,000 words in length. In addition to an outline brief submitted on first page.

The name of the contestant is not to appear on any paper submitted. A number will be assigned when paper is handed to the committee. This number is to be placed at the head of page one and on the outside of the sealed envelope, which is to be given to the committee, containing a separate paper with the following information:
1. Number _____ 2. Name _____
3. School address _____ 4. Home address _____

The World War taught America one very valuable lesson: The youth of our country have been violating many of the fundamental laws of health. The "Modern Health Crusade" movement, if put into effective practice, will go far towards remedying this weakness. "It is essentially a system of teaching and of acquiring good health habits and interest in public health. Through elements of play and romance, and various appeals suited to child psychology, it gives children the motive needed for the practice of hygiene."

This organization hopes to fix in children the habit of observing the laws of health by prescribing a definite number of health chores. Upon the completion of a stated number of chores, the contestant is awarded a badge. Upon enrolling, he becomes a "Page." When he has completed well a certain number of health chores, he is awarded a "Squire's Pin." For the next stage in his development, he is awarded a "Knight's Pin." He graduates with a Knight's Banner-Pin, which is a gold plated metal pin.

The following are some of the health chores, which must be done faithfully and well:

1. I washed my hands before each meal today.
2. I washed not only my face but my ears and neck and I cleaned my finger-nails today.

3. I kept fingers, pencils and everything likely to be unclean or injurious out of my mouth and nose today.

4. I brushed my teeth thoroughly after breakfast and after the evening meal today.

5. I took ten or more slow, deep breaths of fresh air today. I was careful to protect others if I spit, coughed or sneezed.

6. I played outdoors or with windows open more than thirty minutes today.

7. I was in bed ten hours or more last night and kept windows open.

8. I drank four glasses of water, including a drink before each meal, and drank no tea, coffee, nor other injurious drinks today.

9. I tried to eat only wholesome food and to eat slowly. I went to toilet at my regular time.

10. I tried hard today to sit up cheerful and clean-minded; and to be helpful to others.

11. I took a full bath on each of the days of the week that are checked (X).

Home Economics Department

The Home Economics Department occupies one domestic art laboratory, a fitting room, two domestic science laboratories, one lecture room, a dining room, one store room, two pantries and an office.

Courses in food and clothing are offered for Normal students. A four year course preparatory to teaching is offered in the college curriculum. A general course in foods and a general course in clothing, planned for college electives, is given for those desiring one year of each. The 8th and 9th grades of the Training School receive instruction in cooking and sewing. There are three professors in the department.

The department is well equipped with modern furnishings. The laboratories are up-to-date in every particular. Especial mention should be made of the large collection of illustrative material in foods and clothing and household furnishings, such as charts, pictures, the splendid collection of wax models of 100 calorie portions of foods, and miniature museums of foods in the various steps of manufacture; the splendid samples of Aulbusson, Savonnerie, Chenille, hand made rugs, and English hand tuft rugs used by the classes in household furnishings; china of different makes; paper showing color schemes; the Danish hand looms, rag rug looms, and old weaving equipment as winding blade and clock reels; hand and machine made embroideries and laces, such as Cluny, Venice Torchon, Point de Paris, Limerick, Alconon, Carrick Macross, Irish, Rose Point, Dutchess, Valenciennes, Point Applique, and Fillet; a large collection of fabrics of all fibers used in sewing and household furnishing classes; pictures appropriate for home decoration.

This department trains the girl how to live, and help others to live, to fit into the group socially and assist in community organizations. Practical experience in planning and serving breakfast, luncheons, dinners, and teas makes direct and immediate application of the knowledge learned. The training for teachers prepares them for positions in the elementary and high schools, and junior colleges.

The Department of Art

The Art Department offers courses which lead to intellectual and cultural development. The word art, with many only conveys the ideas of pictures, which is indeed an exceedingly narrow conception. It is true some pictures are art and all should be unless they are pictures for narrative only; then they should be classed as literature.

"What will I learn to appreciate?" might be asked by art students. You will appreciate small, unpretentious things—a cup, a flower, a we bit of lace, a string of beads, a dress, a light fixture; and sublime, majestic things—a temple, a cathedral, a Giottoesque fresco, a Gothic altar, a mountain, a waterfall, the sky, and the sea.

The following courses are offered: "Art Structure," which is strictly creative work in design and teaches the fundamental principals of art; "Representation," which deals with sketches from nature, such as landscapes in charcoal, watercolors and pastels; "Still Life" as pottery and flower compositions and sketching of the human figure for training students in class observation of preparation, form, color, and composition; "Art Appreciation," which is a study of the principles and history of art illustrated by lantern slides and research; "Art Methods," which trains art teachers for public school work; "Interior Decoration," which affords students great pleasure—a study of art in the home and how to make the home artistic with little expense; "Costume Design," which deals with the principles of harmony applied to dress, suitability of costume for various occasions and purposes, suitability of costumes and accessories, various figures and types, textures, and colors; "Linoleum Printing," which is a fascinating and useful craft—a number of linoleum print posters have been made for the school, and some are now under construction for the Department of Education. In the Clay Modeling and Pottery courses, Randall County clay is used. We have a large new kiln almost ready for use. Clay work gives one more self-confidence than most other courses in art. It is excellent for teaching good shape, proportion, and technique. "China Painting" will be offered soon.

The Art Department is equipped with about fifty good artists, three cabinets, three display tables, three wall display cases, eighty individual lockers, several thousand small prints of masterpieces in architecture, sculpture, and painting, illustrating the art of the cave men twenty thousand years before the birth of Christ to the present time. There are also one hundred and fifty photographs of valuable articles of furniture, rugs, lace, paintings, and sculpture found in the Metropolitan Museum of New York; two hundred beautiful Japanese prints, a large number of Parrish Taylor and Guerin prints, art photos, textiles, fifty pieces of Van Briggie pottery, several pieces each of Newcomb, Rookwood, and St. Lucas, imported pottery, all used for demonstration purposes; a new model travelers bolopticon and a number of slides used in the art appreciation course.

The greatest sources of inspiration to the art students are the exquisite expanse of blue sky, fleecy clouds and the grain fields seen from the windows of the art department.

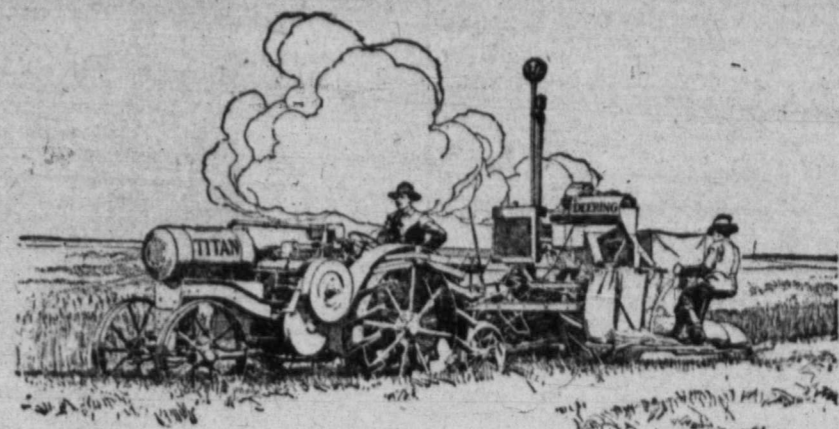

The Art Department of W. T. S. N. C. is eager to help you in making your home a truly artistic one, to make suggestions as to civic improvement. It will be glad to show art lantern slides and tell you about them and to send you an exhibit of student work. It has exhibited its work in some towns of the Panhandle and in other towns out of the state.

New Salem, Illinois, where Abraham Lincoln worked as a grocery clerk, "practiced polemics," fell in love with Ann Rutledge, was village postmaster and county surveyor, and from which he was elected to the State Assembly, was one of the many little towns that in pioneer days sprang up along the Sangamon River near Springfield. Its whole existence covered not more than a dozen years, and except for Lincoln's having lived there would long since have been forgotten. Now the site of the village is a state park, the log cabins of Lincoln's day have been rebuilt and as much as possible of the atmosphere of the starting place of the great American has been restored. The park will be opened this spring.

Rheumatism Comes

From Tiny Pain Germs

First of all, get it firmly fixed in your mind that all the limiments in the world have no effect whatever on Rheumatism.

A very common form of Rheumatism is caused by millions of tiny disease germs which infest the blood. The one and only sensible treatment, therefore, is one which cleanses the blood of these germs, and routs them entirely out of the circulation.

This is why S.S.S., the greatest known blood purifier is so successful in the treatment of Rheumatism. It is a powerful cleanser of the blood, and will remove the disease germs that cause your Rheumatism, affording relief that is genuine.

S.S.S. is sold by all druggists. Free literature and medical advice can be had by writing to Chief Medical Adviser, 154 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

STORIES BY THE SCRIBBLERS CLUB

The following are stories written by members of the Scribblers Club of the Canyon High School:

The Ship of Horror
Then it is settled Uncle Jim, that we sail on the Monitor for Europe a week from to-day."

"Yes, Ray. We leave at three P. M. Wednesday the twenty-first. I shall return on Tuesday and expect you to be ready."

"Very well. Here's hoping you have a pleasant trip. Good-bye!"

Then as the train disappeared around the curve Ray sighed and mumbled to himself, "One long week, gee! I can't hardly wait!"

Ray Martin was a tall, slender lad of sixteen years. He had black hair, eyebrows and lashes. Indeed, Ray was a handsome healthy fellow.

Since the death of his parents, three years before, Ray had lived with his rich bachelor uncle in New York.

Uncle Jim had promised him a tour of Europe for his graduation gift from high school. Naturally Ray was immensely elated over such a handsome gift. That night as he started to bed he said again, "Oh gee! I just can't hardly wait!"

The days passed swiftly and on Wednesday Mr. Martin and his nephew were the first passengers to board the steamer.

The first two days at sea were very dull and to make matters worse Ray was very sea sick.

But the third day things "livened up" in several ways. Friday morning Ray was in his stateroom reading when his attention was attracted by a knock at his door; then an envelope was pushed under. Ray dashed to the door, but too late, for no one was in sight. He opened the mysterious letter and read these four alarming words, "I'll get you yet!" Of course, he was extremely puzzled, and after reading the strange words for the third time, he ejaculated, "here's a chance for some nifty brain work. I won't bother Uncle Jim about it until I've figured it out!"

The following afternoon Ray made a dummy, and put it in a chair across the room but opposite the door. Then he took a large magazine and hid it down in a steamer chair three doors away and waited. It was an hour before his patience was awarded, but at last, a tiny man with a black mask on, crept around the corner, glanced hurriedly up and down the deck. Evidently Ray escaped his notice for he then peeped through the key hole, slowly turning the knob with his left hand while he drew a dagger from his pocket with his right. Then, with a quick movement he jerked open the door slammed it behind him hurriedly.

Ray expected to see the dagger imbedded to the hilt in the dummy but he was greatly shocked and disappointed, for instead of the dummy being the victim it was—Uncle Jim! Why had he come to Ray's room? Was it by pure chance that he moved the dummy and sat in that fateful chair? Oh, if he had only told Uncle Jim, so he would have been more careful. Indeed, Ray spent a miserable night.

Saturday morning he ordered his breakfast in his room. But at luncheon he was the first to appear. Oh, how he wished he knew which man of the forty was the murderer. At his right sat a "London Dude" and at his left sat the renowned Mrs. Gordon-Smythe, a wealthy New Yorker. Mrs. Gordon-Smythe weighed about two hundred pounds, she was dressed elaborately in black. She fussed continually during the meal at either the captain, or the steward, or the steward, or even the weather. But when the steward brought the bouillon she "exploded" for spite, he served every one at the table before he brought hers. She proceeded to give the poor man a very harsh and un ladylike rebuff.

"I'm sure," she said, "that this is the only place in wide creation that employs the custom of serving gentlemen before ladies." Ray desiring to be polite and also stop the "racket" offered "the lady" his bouillon, which she took with a grunt. But with one taste, the spoon clattered to the floor, her face turned ashen gray and she fell from her chair apparently lifeless. The ship's surgeon announced that it was some powerful poison which caused immediate death. So—the poison had been intended for him! Who, except the cook or steward, could have been guilty? Ray questioned the steward and he lied, but to no avail. They declared that they knew nothing, and were positive that no one had been in the kitchen.

After some investigation Ray and the captain discovered that the poison had been poured through the port hole. It could have been easily accomplished for the table was directly under the port hole and the bouillon had remained on the table until served.

Well, his enemy had failed again, but he certainly was making things hot for Ray.

Ray retired early that night, but was too restless to sleep. About two in the morning he dressed and tried to read but could not. It seemed that some one was peeping through the port hole! Positively that door knob did move! Pshaw! what foolishness. Of course he did not smell bouillon! What was that noise at the door? Surely it was someone knocking. But the climax came when Uncle Jim's ghost appeared. Ray was trembling from head to toe. Who would not be?

"This is foolishness," he mumbled. After some hesitation he went on deck to get a breath of fresh air.

"Gee," he exclaimed, "a new moon!" And what moon there was, was hidden by heavy clouds; and the wind was blowing a gale.

Nonsense, that was not a footstep he heard! But alas it was. Some one hit him from behind and dropped him into the sea.

Down, down, down, would he never stop? Oh yes! he stopped and with a thud. He hit the floor with a bang! Uncle Jim came in to see what had happened. So it was all a dream! But, horrors, such a dream!

Black Jack's Revenge
Black Jack was just three months old mule colt when this story was enacted. We were working on a place that we had just bought and it wasn't improved much. There was only an old ramshackle house without many doors and windows. But it was better than sleeping with the rattle snakes.

Black Jack was our pet mascot. He belonged to me, so I guess I took up for him more than the rest of them. One day when I was rubbing him I pulled his hair and he nipped me on the leg. Then I slapped him for it and he lunged out with the intent to kill so I fell over backwards just in time.

Another time when I was playing with him I pulled his tail and started off. The first thing I knew he had bitten me in the back. He did not bite hard so I did not do anything for it.

That day at dinner when Cecil, one of the boys, was washing Black Jack came up and looked over his shoulder and accidentally stepped on his toe. Cecil is naturally grouchy anyway and this didn't relieve him of any of his grouch, so he threw the bucket of cold, dirty water in Black Jack's face. Black Jack staggered back on his haunches and shaking his head. Then he opened one eye cautiously and peered out at me pleadingly. I couldn't do a thing but set there and keep my sides from bursting.

Finally Black Jack opened his other eye and looked at me reprovingly and ambled off with a bad look in his eye. That night Cecil moved his cot over by our one window, which by the way, had the water bucket setting in it, which none of us saw—until later. About midnight that night I was awakened by a queer thumpety, thumpety noise that sounded like a horse walking on pavement. Then as my eyes got more accustomed to the darkness I saw what looked like a little short man, dark on all fours with long, mouse-like ears. As it got closer I recognized my good friend, Black Jack. I started to yell at him but decided to wait developments. I knew if I yelled at him he would fall over himself getting out, and for some reason I wasn't ready to scare him out.

He walked to Cecil's bed, got the cover in his teeth and backed away with it. Then he went to the window as if he were going to go through, but changed his mind and stuck his head in the water bucket. I came very near yelling at him, then I saw the stage was all set for the climax and I didn't want to disturb the scenery. Black Jack tipped the bucket and the contents fell on sweetly sleeping Cecil, who blubbered around for the rest of the night. (He had a nightmare after things quieted down). I tried not to let Cecil know that I was awake but I had too much hilarity inside, and so I had to explode to equalize the pressure. When Cecil finally got over his blubbering, he looked up and grunted: "Black Jack's Revenge."

The Mystery of a Dream
All dreams are not meaningless. Many years ago in France an inexplicable incident occurred that marked in the minds of the people of a certain French community the value of dreams. In a community of happy farmers there was a family by the name of Gerault, one of their daughters, La Rue, started at seven o'clock on Saturday night to visit her sister. She thought there would be no danger for the road was straight and she would get the benefit of the cool, fresh air.

At the end of the next week she was to return home but did not arrive, her parents only thought that her sister had persuaded her to remain a while longer. Another week went by and still the girl did not return, so the father sent after her. The sister at once became alarmed because La Rue had not been there at all. The country was searched but in vain—she could not be found.

On the same night that La Rue left for her sister's, a woman living in a distant town, dreamed a terrible dream. She awoke in an awful fright and told her husband this story:

"Oh, I saw a beautiful girl walking in the forest carrying a bundle in one hand and a pair of shoes in the other. She was barefooted and had a pretty pink apron on. In a few minutes I saw a man come from behind a tree and stop the girl, then he led her to a log near by and they sat down. They seemed to have known each other because they were very familiar. After talking a few minutes the man got up and walked behind the girl and hit her twice on the head with a hatchet. And, oh! the girl fell over dead. Then another man appeared and they took the girl's bundle and shoes to an old mill near by and then disappeared into the forest with her body."

A week after the following Sunday, was the day for church which was to be held about twenty miles from the dreamer's home. She and her husband went but she could not listen to the sermon because the dreadful dream was forever placed before her mind. She stayed after church to eat with some friends who had brought their dinner.

She told her dream over and over again because each time she told it she felt impressed to tell it again. It was so strange and unreal for the time and the community that it was printed deeply on the minds of the people until it finally reached the Gerault family.

The description of the dream girl fitted La Rue exactly so her father became more alarmed.

The officers of the parish assembled and decided to entice the dreamer to that town on the pretense of selling her some property. They did so; when passing through the forest which they supposed La Rue had passed the woman jumped up and exclaimed, "Stop, stop, I saw this place in my dream."

Then she had them to get out of the carriage in which they were riding, and led them to a log on which she had seen the girl and the young man sitting, then she led them to a mill and there they found the bundle and shoes just as the dreamer had described.

Well, this was a mystery indeed to every one. The country was searched for the girl's body and in less than a week they found the body in a tear-by stream. But the murderer had never been found.
