

PAYNE SELECTED HEAD OF CANYON PUBLIC SCHOOLS

WILL SECURE DEGREE FROM NORMAL THIS SUMMER.

School Trustees Elect A. D. Payne as Superintendent and Start Plans For New Building.

A. D. Payne, a senior in the West Texas State Normal College, was elected superintendent of the Canyon Public School at the meeting of the Board of Trustees Friday night.

Mr. Payne will receive his A. B. degree at the close of the summer session. He is very popular among the student body, and is making a great record in his school work. Last quarter he carried six subjects and made five "A's" and one "B", in addition to teaching one Latin subject and representing the Normal in the debates this year.

Mr. Payne is 31 years old, and is considered one of the best teachers for his age in the state of Texas. He has had nine years' experience in the teaching profession and has made a good success in every school he has been connected with.

A. D. Payne was born in Williamson county, Texas, in 1891. He is the son of Phillip Payne, a farmer, of that county. He spent his early life on a farm, and attended a country school during his spare time.

The parents moved to Callihan county when he was still a young boy. It was there where he started his teaching profession. He taught two years in a school where conditions were very bad when he entered, but changed under his supervision, and at the end of his two years he was offered a much larger salary. He has taught a number of schools in Callihan, Howard, Hale, and King counties.

In 1911 and 1912 Mr. Payne attended Simmons College. He entered West Texas State Normal College in 1913, and received a diploma from the institution in 1915. It was here where he met Miss Exa Johnson, a student in the Normal. They were married in 1915.

Then Mr. Payne started in the teaching profession and pursued this line of work until 1921, when he entered West Texas State Normal College. He attended summer schools and taught during the remainder of the year because he was never satisfied with the education he had and was determined to go higher.

Miss Margaret Whitaker was re-elected as teacher of Expression in the public schools. Miss Esther Rudolph was re-elected to the seventh grade, and Miss Viola Vetsak was elected teacher of the Ward School in District No. 2.

Hud Prichard bought a new hat Monday. Just two sizes larger than he wore out to the golf grounds Sunday afternoon.

Hud is the first man to make par—36 on the local course. As a result of this score, Hud owes the members of the Canyon Golf Club a big feed, which will be put on within a short while.

Hud also holds the record for 18 straight holes, this being 36 and 38—74. The former record was 79.

Wallace R. Clark is Prichard's closest competitor for the par class, having twice scored 37.

The club tournament which was started two weeks ago is progressing fine, and the semi-finals are being played this week, with the finals coming in within a few days.

The club will send quite a delegation to the West Texas tournament to be held in Lubbock April 23-24.

METHODISTS MAY PLACE NEW DORMITORY FOR GIRLS HERE

Mrs. C. W. Warwick was in San Antonio last week attending the annual meeting of the Missionary Council of the Methodist church, and to lay before that organization Canyon's claims for a dormitory for girls which the Methodists are building in towns where state schools are located.

Canyon was given the promise of a dormitory after such a time as San Marcos gets a dormitory. The Council requires that the people of the town raise one-third of the money for the dormitory.

The money being used for dormitory building comes from the Centenary Fund and there should be funds available for a building in Canyon within three years.

LEASE FOR NATIONAL GUARD WILL BE MADE ON CLUB

The National Guard company has not been able to get a building for an armory. The proposition was presented Monday night to a meeting of the members of the American Legion Club, and it was unanimously decided to give the company a lease on the north part of the building for the use of an armory only. The lease will not interfere with the activities of the club in the lease.

It was further decided by the Club Monday night to prohibit the use of the club to members who did not have their dues paid up.

WILL PLAY UNIVERSITY

The Normal Buffaloes will meet the University of New Mexico eleven in a football game on the university grid-iron November 6, according to reports made by S. D. Burton, head coach at the Normal.

The Normal is getting into fast company as is shown by the fact that many of the strong elevens of Texas were met last season, and a brilliant showing was made against these teams. As a result Coach Burton is not satisfied without trying fast teams for other states as well as some good ones in Texas.

Grid games have already been scheduled with the following teams: University of New Mexico, New Mexico Military Institute, Northwestern Teachers' College, Alva, Okla.; Simmons College, Abilene Christian College and Wayland College, Plainview.

HAPPY WINS SATURDAY

The Normal Training School team opened its baseball season at Happy last Saturday. The boys lost their first contest by a score of 4 to 2. A high wind and a few errors were the cause of the defeat.

The Training School lads showed some good stuff. Considering the fact that the Happy club has already played six games and that this was the first game for the Training School nine, they must be complimented for holding the Happy club to a score of 4 to 2.

The boys showed real talent both in hitting and fielding. Lewis, the south-paw hurler for the Training School boys, showed some real class in his flinging. It seemed that the Happy boys were unable to solve his delivery and were able to score only through errors.

The Happy team will return the game some time this week and the Training School boys will make a great effort to revenge the defeat they suffered last Saturday. It is believed by many of the fans who saw the game that the Happy club will have to extend themselves if they carry away the larger end of the score.

REGULAR EASTER WEATHER

The regular Easter storm hit this section Monday, following a high wind Sunday.

The wind was high and cold Monday, with a little snow falling, which melted at once.

Since then the weather has been fine and warm, with the grass getting a good start as a result of the fine rains last week.

The locals won practically all of the races, but in the field events, Amarillo was superior.

The Canyon high school will send an exceptionally strong team into the district meet here next week which ought to get away with most of the races since the boys excelled in these against Lubbock and Plainview in the meet two weeks ago and against Amarillo last Saturday.

LOCUST TREES MAY BE SAVED OPINION OF STATE AGENT

TREES MUST BE SPRAYED TO GET RID OF THE BORES

Number of Items of Business Taken Up at Commercial League Weekly Luncheon Tuesday.

"The locust trees may be saved if your people are willing to pay the price" was the opinion expressed Tuesday at the Commercial League luncheon by R. R. Reppert, representative of the A. & M. College.

President C. H. Jarrett had charge of the meeting Tuesday and called up committees which had been appointed at other meetings and which had not reported.

C. W. Warwick reported on the Palo Duro Park, reading the list of counties which had been assessed. Randall county was assessed $800, Potter $1250, Armstrong $500 and on down, according to population and proximity to the canyon. No definite plan has yet been adopted for raising this money.

Rev. Ted P. Hollifield stated that he had appointed the following troupe committee to work in the interest of the Boy Scouts, the Commercial League having sponsored the Scouts: O. N. Gamble, J. M. Redfearn and G. G. Foster. This committee had decided to use the Boy Scouts in the campaign of cleaning up the town. The boys will clean up a city block, and then turn this block over to one of the patrols to keep it clean.

There are now four patrols, meaning that the boys will have charge of four city blocks in the clean up campaign. Mr. Hollifield stated that in the recent benefit show for the Boy Scouts $40 was cleared. The Baptist Encampment grounds have been procured for the annual camp of the boys during the coming summer. Tents will be provided, and the boys are counting upon a great time.

Mr. Hollifield stated that the Scouts were always open for suggestions from the business men and would welcome any suggestions to better their work. The Tourist Camp committee was called, and only one member present. He stated that no report was ready at that time.

Mr. Jarrett called attention to the fact that it was now time for collection of dues, and he would appoint a committee for that purpose next week.

Mayor J. D. Gamble stated that the city had no control over the sign board out by the Normal which was discussed last week, and the suggestion made that the city officials be requested to have it removed.

Mr. Jarrett then introduced R. R. Reppert, who was here for two days from College Station, for the purpose of studying diseases of the city trees.

Mr. Reppert stated that the locust trees can be saved if the people are willing to pay the price.

By spraying the trees twice in the early spring, the bores will be destroyed. It will be necessary to spray for two or three years in order to get rid of the bores, and then the spraying must be repeated every two or three years after that time. The solution for the spray is printed on another page of this edition.

Mr. Reppert stated that it would be a shame to let the locust trees of this country die. The locust was a pretty tree and adapted to this section. The ash and elm were also especially well adapted to this section. He suggested that stock trees be gotten from the experiment station at Lubbock since the trees from this station were adapted to this section.

Mr. Reppert suggested that the county and city buy a big spraying machine and use it on every tree in the county where the bores are working. It will be of no avail to spray trees in one part of town and allow the trees in another part to remain infested by the bores.

Blough Next Leader.

The luncheon will be held next Tuesday at the Ideal Cafe with A. W. Blough as leader.

FARM BUREAU MEETING APR. 22

Bob Henry is running for the U. S. Senate on the Ku Klux Klan ticket. So far as Bob is concerned, that ticket is as good as any. Bob would have to have some kind of a vehicle to land him in the senate, and this wagon looks good to Bob since the other prominent candidates are opposed to the Klan. Imagine the live-long prohibitionists of the Klan swallowing Bob Henry! Or, are there any prohibitionists in the Klan? Bob is one unconverted anti. He would tear up the constitution because he does not believe in the amendment tacked on prohibiting the sale of liquor. Can you imagine an organization proclaiming to be 100 per cent pure American with Bob Henry as banner carrier? If the Klan is composed of men of the Bob Henry type, this in itself is enough to make any 100 per cent American withdraw and blush for shame for ever having joined the organization.

Local candidates all over the state are being tested out as to their affiliation with the Ku Klux Klan. In Randall county, no steps have been taken along this line, although sentiment is crystallizing to make every county candidate announce himself. Plainview is certainly treating the Klan rough. Every state candidate is being tested out. There never has been elected a man who ran for office upon his merits as a member of a lodge, social organization or church. Will this prove to be true so far as the Klan is concerned?

"The fifth of your town is as much yours as the most beautiful place," stated a public speaker recently. That is a terrific jolt to those of us who like to show the beauty places of Canyon and forget all about the miserable dirty places of the town. Yet it is a true statement of facts.

Yes, that was a pretty fierce wind Sunday and Monday—but did you read about the cyclones down in the state? Whenever there is a bad wind on the plains, you can rest assured that some section of the country is having an even worse storm.

THE RANDALL COUNTY NEWS HAS A BIRTHDAY

The twenty-fifth anniversary edition of the Randall County News with its thirty-two pages, issued March 30, is a real newspaper. It is a compliment to Clyde W. Warwick, its publisher and editor, and worthy of a place in every library in Randall County and the Panhandle.

Special and anniversary editions have become so numerous that they mean comparatively little, generally speaking, but the Randall County News honors itself, honors its home town, and honors the Panhandle and Plains of Texas. The edition is well written, well printed and prettily displayed. It is refreshing to read it.

Clyde Warwick has demonstrated the fact that a good newspaper can be printed by a man who takes his connection with the community seriously. His work has been appreciated by his home people, and then, by those living at greater distances from the point of publication. He has made the Randall County News stand for something. He has been a part of the various activities of his community. The Randall County News is the friend of Canyon, of Randall County, of the Panhandle and Plains Country.

There is little wonder, in view of these facts, that the people of Randall County love the Randall County News. It has won its place in their hearts and it is to them, as it should be, the first newspaper. It is the home newspaper. It is the best advertising medium for that city and county. Its editor and publisher has done and is doing with his corps of assistants, a great work for Randall's capital city and metropolis, and the rich, outlying districts in which it so widely circulates.

Here is hoping that when the next twenty-five years shall have rolled by, Clyde Warwick and his excellent wife, will see the multiplied fruits of their labors in the form of good for Canyon and the Canyon Country. They have predicated such a future on hard, conscientious work, and the bow of promise is bright. The News appreciates the kind of newspaper issued by the Randall County News, and heartily congratulates that excellent publication on its surpassingly good anniversary edition celebrating its first quarter of a century in business.—Amarillo Daily News.

The Randall County News celebrated its 25th anniversary last week with a 32 page edition of the paper. The edition was a credit to Editor Warwick in every sense of the word, and is a fair illustration of the modern newspaper undertaking. Editor Warwick's special edition is confined largely to echoes from the past, a short biographical sketch of newspaper work of Canyon and the development of Randall County. We congratulate C. W. Warwick in his splendid undertaking, which was so successfully carried out. The Randall County News is a jam-up good country weekly, 52 weeks in the year; and its editor represents everything modern in newspaper work. May the News and Editor Warwick live to celebrate many more anniversaries.—Lockney Beacon.

The Randall County News celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary with a historical edition containing thirty-two pages. The paper was one of the classiest of its kind ever reaching this desk. With little of bombast and much of information and news value, the edition was ideal in many respects.—Floyd County Hesperian.

The Randall County News came out last week with a "Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Edition," containing 32 pages. It was brim full of live classy ads, well written and well displayed, showing up the splendid equipment of the News, and the activity of the local business men. The issue was a credit to any town and editor. The city of Canyon should feel proud of its paper and editor, for it is no little job to put out a paper like last week's Randall County News. We say it is a hummer.—Farwell Tribune.

The Randall County News, published at Canyon by C. W. Warwick last week issued a thirty-two page edition celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the paper.

Not only does the News in this issue give the reader a comprehensive story of the growth of Canyon and Randall County, but it does a great deal more by portraying the advantage of that entire section of the Panhandle. It is truly a metropolitan edition and is a credit to the publisher and the city of Canyon.—Slaton Slatonite.

One of the best printed and most completely compiled special editions of a newspaper we have ever had the pleasure of reading was the twenty-fifth anniversary edition of the Randall County News last week. The News is published at Canyon City by C. W. Warwick, who is one of the best newspaper men in the Panhandle. The edition contained thirty-two pages and was first class in every particular.—Pampa News.

The Canyon News issued a great paper last week in honor of the News' twenty-fifth birthday. C. W. Warwick has made a notable success of the News, and is well deserving of congratulations on the anniversary number which featured historical data of Randall County.—Canadian Record.

Undoubtedly the most interesting historical number of a publication ever issued in the Panhandle was that put out by the Randall County News, last week in celebration of its 25th birthday. The edition varied from the usual anniversary numbers by publishing letters from former editors of the News and pioneer townsmen of Canyon, together with pictures of those early days in the town and country. Among the interesting items is one taken from the Canyon City Echo of January 31, 1891, giving a vivid description of an Indian scare experienced by the settlers. In contrast to the earlier homes and business houses, pictures of those of today are given and present an impressive revelation of the rapid development of Canyon and its territory. The entire edition is one which, not alone citizens of Canyon, but the people of the Panhandle in general who are interested in seeing the early history of this section preserved, will be glad to have to file away for future generations and Editor Warwick is to be commended for his excellent work in compiling, editing and printing such a valuable paper.—Southwest Plainsman.

It is not asking too much of every Presbyterian of Canyon to co-operate in realizing this.

PARENT-TEACHERS' CLUB FIGHTS THE CIGARETTE

Dr. Kellogg of the Battle Creek Sanitarium says:
 That tobacco is not so bad all of the time as it is part of the time. It is good to rid green houses of aphids and cattle of ticks.
 That California fruit growers use tobacco to kill the insects on the trees.
 Hens eat the poisoned bugs and eggs production is divided by two.
 That the oldest living inhabitant in a community is nearly always a woman.
 That rats raised in an atmosphere similar to that of the average college smoker in the third generation are only half as large at the end of six weeks as those raised in a smoke free atmosphere.
 That dog-fanciers raise pups in tobacco-impregnated atmosphere to keep them small.
 That in our Civil War only about ten per cent of our soldiers smoked. In the World War only about ten per cent of them did not smoke. The former were two and a half inches taller than the latter.
 That you can kill a frog many times quicker by giving it tobacco than by cutting off its head.
 It is a known fact that one cigarette contains enough poison to kill two frogs, and the boy who smokes twenty cigarettes a day has inhaled enough poison to kill forty of these same frogs. Smoking is just as fatal to a boy as it is to a frog, except that the process is prolonged somewhat. To make sure that it will win out in the end, it attacks the most vital part, the heart, not exactly putting that organ out of business but so weakening it that after a time the boy who smokes will not be able to run so well, will not be able to play so hard. A keen coach would not think of letting a hard smoker on one of his teams.
 Sometimes a smoker becomes so wrapped up in the weed that he does not mind being left out of the games, for about all he does feel at home with is his cigarette. He is certainly not comfortable in the classroom, for his nerves have become all frazzled and his brain is not as clear as it used to be. He is not comfortable around the house, especially if his folks do not know of his habit. The trouble is one can never tell when the family will find a thing like that out. Naturally it makes him uneasy when his mother is around and it certainly makes him squirm when his dad looks at him hard. Why that boy is never happy a moment unless he is smoking! And then is he quite sure he is happy?

LETTER WRITING

How many letters begin, "I have been so busy that I haven't had a chance to write," and how many end, "I haven't time to write more." And nearly every time each of those statements is untrue. It has been mental inertia and indolence rather than pressure of business that has caused the letter writer to postpone his task; and it is mental and manual laziness that causes him to bring it to a premature close.

The good letter is not one that gives a bare recital of events. It is one that is filled with comment as well as with news. To be a mere reporter of happenings is to be dull, whether in talk or in letter writing. It is the opinions you express, your descriptions or interpretations that you draw from your experiences, that give color and interest to your letters. You will not write a good letter if you are mentally churlish and selfish, indisposed to put forth the effort to make your reader see and hear the things that you have been especially interested in seeing and hearing—or at least to convey to him vividly the impressions that they produced upon you. Your letter is interesting according to the degree in which it expresses your thought and feeling.

It may be objected to write a letter of the quality indicated calls for a capacity for expression that few people possess. But if you do not cultivate the power of expression by letter writing, you are unlikely to acquire it in other ways. So to try to write good letters should be not merely an obligation that you owe to your family or friends but also one that you owe to yourself for the sake of the discipline it affords.

Eight widows in the town of Auxerre, France, are to celebrate the 500th anniversary of an act of King Charles VII, decreeing that eight widows in that particular village shall have rent free. A member of Charles' suite, who was wounded at the battle of Cravant, was nursed and cured by eight widows, and he provided for his nurses in his mansion in Auxerre. Later, Charles added the provision that the house should forever be the refuge of eight widows.

THE EXCESS OF I

There is an obtrusive egotism that is always ready to pour out its own interests and concerns to every willing or unwilling listener. Such an egotism is so immensely full of itself that it feels instinctively that the whole world is waiting and eager to hear what it is doing and thinking and feeling. It has no time and no thought for the affairs of others. They may be important to them; no doubt they are. But why inquire into them or be busy with them when our own interests are so vast, so pressing, so ubiquitous? Egotists of that order are likely to be social, likely to be friendly. They are often entertaining to meet; for, if they are witty and clever, they may make their own thoughts and lives a source of amusement and diversion to all about them. And the substance of their conversation is inexhaustible that, unless they are essentially tedious, they may be very useful elements of society. But all they want of their fellows is an opportunity for developing themselves. The world to them is one great ear for the reception of their abundant, expansive, all-fulfilling I.

There is another egotism of quite a contrary kind—timid, retiring, self-included and shut up. Persons of this order rarely speak of themselves, rarely intrude themselves. They even have often the appearance of self-effacement and attention of others. They listen and observe and absorb and devour. Egotists of the first class pour themselves out over the whole world. Those of the second class draw the whole world unto themselves. With them the I is all-engrossing. They like silence and solitude, endless reflection, sometimes tormenting, sometimes exultant, but always unwholesome, the fierce and feverish activity of a spirit abnormally accustomed to prey upon itself. Of these two forms of excessive I, the first is often the more trying and wearing to those in contact with it, but the second is infinitely the more insidious and the more dangerous.

How much better and more profitable to forget self altogether, or, if that is out of the reach of poor human nature, at least to keep self within reasonable bounds by living in our work, by living in a wide usefulness, by living in the lives of others, by making our own vast, insignificant ego play its part richly and contentedly in the great movement of the world!

If more mothers were strappers we'd have fewer flappers.—Kirksville Ex.

In this edition of the News will be found the political announcement of Jesse Hicks as a candidate for the office of Tax Assessor subject to the democratic primary. Mr. Hicks has lived in Randall county for more than twenty years. He was educated in the public schools and later attended the A. & M. College. He has been engaged with his father in the coal and grain business for several years, and also he has done extensive farming. In both lines of business he has been very successful. Mr. Hicks had a very unfortunate accident last fall in which he lost his right hand in a feed grinder. BLUFF

A desire to win through "bluffing" when it seems difficult or impossible for much trouble in the world. Occasionally the bluff does win; a weak case triumphs over a strong one because of the cowardice of the stronger, or a just case establishes itself owing to the prudent withdrawal under threat of the person who has been obstinately wrong. The balance of positive achievement to the credit of successful bluff is probably about even between good and evil. But nearly always the bluff fails, and then the bluffer faces the necessity of getting out of an awkward situation. Though he has not intended to execute the threat that his bluff conveyed, he finds his hand forced; either he must accept the ignominy of backing down or he must take the step that he threatened and that he knows cannot but be disastrous. Pride is often stronger in men than common sense or even self-interest. The bluffer who is cornered is likely to feel that he must carry out his threat for the sake of a principle; he must show people that he means what he says, when as a matter of fact he knows that he did not really mean what he said, but only hoped that others would think that he meant it.

Most of the strikes that take place are the consequence of bluff. Most of the wars that have been fought might have been averted if some one had not rashly chosen to bluff—and then more rashly chosen to maintain the bluff after it was called. Most of the difficulties that men and women get into are owing to bluff—are the result of their committing themselves to a false position from which they have not the courage or the honesty to withdraw with the immediate sacrifice of dignity involved.

The victories of bluff are few and cheap; its defeats are numerous and costly.

EASTER PROGRAM AT M. E. SUNDAY SCHOOL

The Methodist Sunday School has attempted to get away from the ordinary type of Easter program this year, which has so little variety and so little real meaning. The plan adopted includes special songs and dramatization by large groups of little children, symbolizing the glorious resurrection and the awakening of life. All members of the large Cradle Roll department will take part in the program.

The Easter program will be given at the Sunday School hour, 9:45, on Easter morning. You are invited to attend.

The little children of the Primary and Intermediate departments will have an Easter Egg Hunt Saturday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock near Prof. Johnson's residence.

HOLIFIELD WAS MODERATOR

At the meeting of the Amarillo Presbytery in Miami last week, Rev. Ted P. Holfield was elected moderator for the session, and will convene the next meeting of the Presbytery.

Mr. Holfield reports a very fine meeting at Miami. T. C. Thompson was a delegate from the local church.

Up there the sheep and goats will be divided, but down here the sheep are usually the goats—Engene Daily Guard.

PAPER MONEY AND GOLD

Soon after the beginning of the war the British people were forced to discontinue their century-old habit of using gold in their daily transactions and to substitute paper money in buying, selling and making change. Before that time there was no paper money issued in England of less denomination than the five-pound Bank of England note. All purchases that cost less than twenty-five dollars were paid for in gold. But when Great Britain entered the war the government drew in all the gold it could reach, and private holders hoarded what they had. The government therefore made great issues of currency in notes both of large and of small denominations, and all business had to accommodate itself to a paper basis.

Of late monetary conditions in Great Britain have improved greatly. At one time the paper pound sterling was worth less than two thirds of its par value in gold. It is now worth nine tenths of that value. The situation is so much better that the government promises at an early day to remove all the war restrictions on the gold market. In announcing the decision the Chancellor of the Exchequer suggested that the restoration of the old freedom might not be allowed by a general return to the former custom of using only gold in ordinary trading. His idea evidently is that paper money has proved so convenient that the people would continue to use it as the medium of exchange.

Paper money is not in itself an evil, we in America have discovered that, but irredeemable paper money is one of the greatest evils. That, also, we know, to our sorrow. So long as real money can be had for a note, whether of a bank or of a government, it is always merely an evidence of debt, it is better and more convenient than coin for daily purchase and sale. At all events the American people have found it so, and doubtless the English people will come to the same conclusion. They are to be congratulated on having the chance to make a choice. All over Europe the chances of restoring the gold standard are so hopeless that the people are doomed for generations to a system of depreciated paper money.

A popular song writer says it is a mystery to him how he does it. But we can not accept that as an explanation. Ignorance of the law is no excuse.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Backbone won't get you anywhere, however. If the knob at the top of it is made of the same material.—Muskegon Phoenix.

S. S. S. Fills Out Hollow Cheeks, Thin Limbs!

Men and women, whether you will ever build yourself up to your normal, just-right weight depends on the number of blood-cells in your blood. That's all there is to it. It's a scientific fact. If your blood-cell factory isn't working right, you will be run-down, thin, your blood will be in disorder, and perhaps your face will be broken out with pimples, blackheads and eruptions. S. S. S. keeps your blood-cell factory working full time. It helps build new blood-cells. That's why S. S. S. builds up thin, run-down people. It puts firm flesh on your bones, it rounds out your face, arms, neck, limbs, the whole body. It puts the "pink" in your cheeks. It takes the hollowness from the eyes, and it foils Father Time by smoothing out wrinkles in men and women by "plumping" them up. S. S. S. is a remarkable blood-purifier. While you are getting pimples, your skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, acne, rheumatism, rash, tetter, blotches are being removed. The medicinal ingredients of S. S. S. are guaranteed purely vegetable. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

How to Make Child-birth Easier!

DO YOU wish to know how thousands and thousands of women have gone thru motherhood without knowing some of the pains and discomforts incident to childbirth? Listen to this:

Motherhood creates almost a new state of being for a woman.

As a result, new nerves, those heretofore restful and quiescent, spring into activity, they cry out, they tingle, they burn in their unrest.

The network of nerves across the abdomen, the loins, the back and other parts now become super-sensitive. All these nerves are being called on to perform unusual duties.

These nerves must be pacified and comforted; must be put in condition for the crisis that is pending.

If these nerves are not soothed and quieted, they may set up aggravated nerve tension, increasing in severity from month to month, sometimes even culminating in a nervous paralysis of the back and limbs. This leaves the mother-to-be in a condition where she is unable, fully, to meet the test when the climax of maternity arrives.

WARNING: Avoid using plain oils, greases and substitutes—they act only on the skin and may cause harm without doing good.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

Used by Expectant Mothers for Three Generations

Mother's Friend is used externally as a massage; and its purpose, thru daily use, is to gradually, gently and effectively relax the muscles and nerves involved in the function of child-bearing; to make the skin soft, pliable and elastic so that it may expand easily and naturally as the abdominal parts enlarge—thereby relieving the tension and strain on these muscles and nerves of the otherwise severe distention before delivery.

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, 515 Palm St., Scranton, Pa., says: "I am willing and anxious to tell any mother about Mother's Friend. It did me so much good that I wouldn't be without it if it cost $5.00 a bottle. With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I only had a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

Many doctors and nurses recommend Mother's Friend. It contains no narcotics, or habit-forming drugs and is perfectly harmless. All drug stores carry Mother's Friend.

THE LOCUST BORER AND ITS CONTROL

The people of the Texas Plains Country are justly proud of their plantings of black locust. This is a very useful and a very ornamental tree, and appears well adapted to this section. These facts give greater reason for the alarm being experienced in the Panhandle, over the inroads of the locust borer, which is tunneling the live wood and destroying entire plantings. It does not appear to have yet reached the more southern plantings of West Texas.

The adult of this insect is a black long-horned beetle, with yellow zig-zag stripes on its back. It loves the sunlight and lays its eggs especially in unshaded localities, so that thickly set groves and unpruned trees are not susceptible to injury. The adult lays its eggs in crevices of the bark from August to October. The young borers hatch from these in the fall, but bore only far enough, in the fall, to reach the living bark. In spring, by the first of April, they are at work again, boring into the deeper wood, and complete their destructive boring by about July. During this month and the next, they change to the adult beetle, ready for egg laying.

Prevent Infestation

Localities free from this insect should guard against its introduction. If posts or other locust timber are shipped from infested localities, specify that the bark shall be removed, as it is there that the young winter. If obtained later than the early spring, only well seasoned wood should be purchased.

Allowing undergrowth to spring up, and refraining from pruning, will keep the trees shaded, so as to be uninviting for egg laying.

Control

Any trees found badly infested should be cut and burned by May and June, and not later than the falling of the blossoms. All posts and other locust tree products should be secured during the winter, the bark being peeled at once, and this, as well as the branches, should be burned, to destroy the borers in the bark. Each year, locate the badly infested trees. If these are cut by early November, they may be used for commercial purposes. If cut after that time, they must be burned, or the bark peeled from them and burned, as otherwise the borers can complete their growth and emerge as adults to lay eggs on living trees the following summer.

The presence of the borer can be determined, in early spring, by the oozing of sap from a small hole in the bark, accompanied by boring dust. As the season advances and the larva grows, this hole enlarges. In the early season and arsenical spray has been found effective. Applied to all branches of the tree and to the trunk, this permeates the borings at the entrance of the hole, and poisons the bark within, on which the larva feeds. Either of the two spray formula below may be used:

(a) Dissolve 1-4 pound sodium arsenite or arsenate in 5 gallons of water. Add 1 quart of miscible oil and agitate thoroughly.

(b) Dissolve 1-4 pound sodium arsenite or arsenate in 4 gallons of water. Add 1 gallon of stock solution of kerosene emulsion, and agitate thoroughly.

Either of these sprays should be applied just as the new growth begins to open at the tips of the twigs in spring. It will kill any foliage that has opened. The branches and trunk, wherever the borer is recognized as being present, should be thoroughly trenced with the spray.

If spraying has been delayed until the leaves have opened, this remedy should not be used. The borers may then be killed, in a small number of trees, by opening the entrances of the burrows, injecting with a syringe a few drops of carbon bisulphide, and immediately plugging the hole with putty, grafting wax, or wet clay, to confine the fumes. If the insects are not killed, it will become evident in a few days by fresh borings thrown out, and the holes may then be re-treated. As a large amount of carbon bisulphide may prove injurious to the tree, only a limited number of holes should be thus treated at a time, waiting several days or a week to undertake further treatment on any single tree.

NORMAL STUDENTS CURE DISEASES AMONG LIVESTOCK

Actinomycosis, or lumpy jaw, is considered by many farmers to be an incurable disease. This disease is caused by a fungus growing in the tissues, and is common wherever cattle are found. Three cases of big jaw developed in the Normal College dairy herd this spring, and at least one of these threatened the early death of the cow.

The members of the class in Livestock Diseases, of the Department of Agriculture, undertook the treatment of the cases and effected a complete cure in each case. Some of the tumors were removed by surgical operation and some were injected with caustic. Each cow was given a daily dose of potassium iodide. The swellings have now all disappeared, the animals are eating heartily, and have been returned to the milking herd.

This class has also had good experience in castration, treatment of rupture, abscess, caked udder, milk fever, ear marking and tooth cutting of young pigs, and the tuberculin test of dairy cattle. The purpose of this course is not to produce veterinarians, but to teach farmers to prevent and treat disease on their own farm.

It is unfortunate that we can never know Darwin's opinion of Bryanism.

Canyon Realty Fraternity in Amarillo Lunch

A movement which should have the effect of stimulating the growth of the Panhandle was launched by the Amarillo Real Estate Board at its weekly luncheon Friday. This movement consists in developing a closer acquaintance and co-operation among the realtors in this and neighboring towns, and takes its form in the board having as its guests each week, leading real estate dealers from this section.

Canyon provided the guests for the luncheon yesterday and consisted of Mayor J. D. Gamble, S. B. McClure, J. A. Guthrie, J. W. Flesher, A. M. Smith, J. O. Bradenbaugh of Happy represented that progressive community.

The address of welcome was made by John B. Gilvin, president of the board, and response for the Canyon visitors came from Mr. Flesher. Mrs. M. M. Powell presided.—Amarillo News.

Slave-raiding and trading have increased in Abyssinia during recent years. Abyssinia is in Northeastern Africa and is almost as large as Germany and France combined. In its capital, Addis Abeba, it is declared, there are more slaves than free men. It is claimed that gangs of slaves, chained together in rows, with women and children dragging themselves along beside the main body, can be seen by any traveler in Southern Abyssinia today.

Measles are now being cured by a vaccine taken from the blood of measles convalescents. In Germany, experiments in about 2,000 cases have shown that the vaccine, when used in the first few days after infection, prevents exposed children becoming ill from the disease already in their systems in about 97 per cent of the cases.

NEW TRACTOR FOR COLLEGE

The Department of Agriculture of the Normal has recently received from the Minneapolis Thresher Co., of Amarillo, a new 17-30 Minneapolis tractor for use in class instruction. This new machine makes a total of seven tractors of different makes and sizes at the college. The students study the construction, operation, care and repair of these machines so that they may be able to operate them successfully at home. The Panhandle is an ideal territory for tractor farming and prospective farmers need training in handling this type of farm power.

Easter

The world is tired and troubled with cares. We are all suffering from the reactions of war and the trying problems of readjustment. We find new strength in the words, "Come unto Me all ye that are weary and heavy laden."

Church going is a good habit. Worship strengthens faith—faith in God, faith in our fellow men, faith in OURSELVES.

In recognition of the new hope and the new courage which all the world now needs, let's go to church on Easter Sunday.
