Paving Contract Let By City Council for Ten Blocks of Paving

The city council closed a contract Friday afternoon with the Panhandle Construction Company, covering the ten blocks from the depot to the highway at the east end of Houston street. The paving will be done on natural foundation.

Work will start on the new contract just as soon as the paving around the square is completed.

W. D. Howren of Amarillo was given the engineering work on the new paving.

The paving around the square has been very slow on account of the brick arriving so slowly.

The west side of the square was opened to traffic last Thursday morning. The northwest intersection will be thrown open to traffic today, making the entire west side opened, and almost the entire fronts of the Kuehn & Farlow Garage on the north and the Magnolia Filling Station on the south side completed.

The remainder of the square can be completed within a few weeks if the brick are received fast enough.

BUFFALOES WILL OPEN SEASON WITH WAYLAND

TEAM IS WORKING WELL AND PROSPECTS ARE GOOD.

Yearlings Are Showing Up Well and Defeated Amarillo High in Game
Saturday Night.

The Buffaloes will open the football season Saturday afternoon when the Wayland College Jackrabbits will be met. The rabbits come fresh from a 44 to 0 victory over the Vega Outlaws last Saturday, while this will be the curtain raiser for the Buffalo herd. Wayland is reported to have the strongest team in the history of the school, and Coach Burton is telling his athletes that they are likely to have their hands full Saturday in defeating the Jackrabbits.

The Buffaloes are working fine this week. The team work is developing rapidly and everything points to a strong team to handle the heavy schedule which Coach Burton has mapped out for his men this fall.

The Yearlings of the Buffalo herd initiated something new in athletics in the Panhandle when they met the Amarillo high Saturday night at 8:00 o'clock in a night game in the Amarillo stadium. The game was remarkable good, and free from fumbles. The grounds were well lit by electricity. The Yearlings won by the score of 9 to 6.

The results of the Yearlings' game is highly satisfactory to the followers of the Buffaloes. The Amarillo high team made a score of 10 to 13 against the Clarendon College first team a week previously. None but second string men were put into the game with the Amarillo boys, while it was admitted that the high school boys held their own against the first string men from Clarendon. The football fans are elated over the comparative score, especially in view of the fact that Clarendon has been in training two weeks longer than the Buffaloes. The Yearlings will go to Pampa Oct. 2. The Yearlings have invited the Claude high school here for a game Oct. 7.

W. E. Lockhart is coaching the Yearlings, and otherwise assisting Coach Burton on the athletic field with the squad of about fifty men.

MORE STUDENTS ENROLLED TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY THAN IN NORMAL ENTIRE FIRST QUARTER LAST YEAR

The enrollment at the Normal reached 529 yesterday.

The first two days of last year the enrollment was 495.

Secretary Shaw stated last night that the enrollment yesterday was larger than for the entire fall quarter of last year. The enrollment number given yesterday does not include the training school, which opens today.

There was a feeling among the citizens of the town, and among some of the faculty that there might perhaps be a small decline in attendance this year owing to financial and crop conditions, but the reverse proved to be the case, with an increased enrollment the first two days of thirty percent.

All of the faculty members have arrived in the city, ready for the start of class work this morning.

MOVED FROM AMARILLO.

Dr. S. R. Griffin has moved his family from Amarillo to Canyon and is opening an office for the practice of his profession.

Dr. Griffin practiced here before entering the army, and the family has many friends who will welcome them back to Canyon.

Mrs. O. N. Gamble entertained the members of the Merry Maids and Matrons Club Friday afternoon. Forty-two was enjoyed during the afternoon by members of the club. After a number of games, refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Stratton attended the singing convention of Castro county at Arney last Sunday; had a fine sing and a bountiful dinner.

The Chamber of Commerce in Springfield, Massachusetts, wishing to have a picture of unusual excellence to advertise the city's municipal group of buildings, has made a contract with a distinguished painter-etcher by which he agrees to make a large etched plate of the group, from which are to be pulled fifty first-state artist's proofs, each of which he will sign. Of the fifty proofs the Chamber will retain five for exhibition purposes. The other forty-five have been taken by private subscription at $200 each, which pays the whole cost of the undertaking.

Observing the nicety with which a cow licked the cotton out of a boll, an inventor got the idea of what promises to be a really successful cotton picker. His electrical cow has a rough tongue of revolving brushes, the suction of a high powered vacuum cleaner, and a group of long, flexible necks. The machine operated from a tractor, enables four pickers to cover eight rows at once, and to pick clean and about five times as fast as by hand.

How the skyscraper appears to London is evident from its new building regulations. The London County Council authorizes buildings eighty feet high and on favorable sites may permit buildings one hundred or even one hundred and forty feet high. The Woolworth Building in New York is more than seven times as high as Whitehall Court, the nearest approach to a skyscraper in London.

The Indians of the State of New York, of whom there are a few more than five thousand, have a legal status wholly different from that of other American Indians. By virtue of a treaty that the government made years ago with the Iroquois nation, and that is still in force, the New York Indians have, virtually, an independent state within the State of New York.

The noise of a tongue indicates the wisdom of the brain.

CANYON HIGH IS WINNER IN FIRST GAME FOOTBALL

DEFEATED CLAUDE HIGH BY A SCORE OF 14 TO 0.

Claude Moore Got Broken Collar Bone
—All Members of Team Put Up Good Game.

Canyon High School opened her football season with a vengeance last Monday at Claude, defeating the Claude High School 14 to 0. Canyon was unusually strong on the offensive and the line found little to hold them back. The feature of the game was the stellar forward passing of the Canyon eleven. Otis made the first touchdown on a pass. The second was made on a line buck by Key for 15 yards. Claude Moore the sterling little Canyon quarter had the ill luck to have his collar bone broken in the second quarter. He will probably be out the remainder of the season.

The first quarter was a sample of the whole game: Canyon kicked off. Claude received on her twenty yard line and returned the ball to the thirty yard line. Canyon took the ball on downs. Two forward passes, Brown to Moore netted 45 yards. Brown carried the ball ten yards around end on a fake play and a forward pass, Brown to Otis made the first touchdown. Brown kicked goal.

Claude took the ball on the kick off and had the short forward pass going good until Stratton the Canyon center got on the job and ended the flash of brilliancy. Canyon took the ball on downs. Claude intercepted a wild forward pass on the first play, and the first quarter ended with the ball on Canyon's thirty five yard line.

The remainder of the game was just about the same, often intermixed with brilliant rallies from the Claude eleven and occasional stellar plays by both sides. Among these plays was the work of Service, substituting for Moore at quarter. He intercepted a forward pass and ran forty yards through the Claude team until he was finally run out of bounds by the safety. A Key at left proved to be a line backer of real ability. When Canyon wanted to gain through the line Key got the ball and Canyon made the gain. Black playing full back also did some great line plunging.

Claude had extremely bad luck with her men. About eight men were taken out because of injuries and in the last quarter a special concession as to substitutes was necessary for them to continue the game. They have a fast team though and are a bunch of sportsmen. Canyon High enjoys playing their type of men and thank them for their courtesy.

Coach Jim Webb states that he has scheduled a game at Pampa on Oct. 6 and Tulla high will come to Canyon on Oct. 14. He has an offer from the Plainville high school.

BEAVERS PREACHES SUNDAY.

Rev. M. M. Beavers was here from Hereford Tuesday, accompanying two daughters who enrolled in the Normal.

He will preach at the Methodist church next Sunday morning and evening, and will move his family here next Tuesday.

Rev. Beavers was transferred from the Hereford to the Canyon Methodist church last week.

Ku Klux Klan Did Not Write Letters Received in City

The letters received in Canyon last week by about sixteen of our citizens were not written by the Ku Klux Klan.

The Klan has not made an official denial of the letter, but those acquainted with the letters sent out by the Klan deny that the Klan had anything to do with the letters.

It is furthermore stated that no Ku Klux Klan has existed in Canyon for several months, the organization disbanding during the spring.

The men who received the letters have made considerable investigation as to the possible source and reason for the letters, but have announced nothing as to the probable author or motive of the letters.

ANTI-KU KLUX NOMINEE

November will have to tell how important—or unimportant—Mr. Peddy's candidacy for the Senate is on a democratic platform and a Republican ticket. But it presents clearly highly interesting aspects even the less revealing light of a mid-winter morn. That, although the issue of a Democratic assemblage, candidity will owe its presentation to the ballot to the grace of the Republican party's executive committee one of these. Another is that although the motif, or at least one of the motifs of Mr. Peddy's candidacy save the Democracy of the Nation from the embarrassment it will undoubtedly suffer from the Texas Democracy's selection of a member of the Ku-Klux Klan as its candidate for Senate, that effort is dependent on the aid of the Republicans of the State. This would be something of a paradox were it not for the rather unusual circumstance that for what help to that endeavor the Republicans of the State will be handsomely compensated by the confusion which will have been brought within the Democracy of Texas. Such ill-fallies are not uncommon in politics while it is clearly an alliance convenience as to the Republicans, it can be no doubt in the mind that the intent of doing justice, that as to Democrats who have brought Mr. Peddy out as an opponent of Mr. Mayfield they are actuated by the conviction that the election of a member of the Ku-Klux Klan to the Senate of Texas would be hurtful to their State and their country. They may be charged with disloyalty to their party, at least they make a poor proof of loyalty to principles which are basic in its ancient creed. Although Mr. Peddy's political career in Texas has been a short one, it has long enough to make it plain that things an independent, vigorous and unswerving mind. The enterprise he has engaged in is a difficult and formidable one but that he will prosecute it with courage there can be no doubt. Dallas News.

November elections in Texas are always rather perfunctory affairs, with little or no enthusiasm, unless a constitutional amendment is up for the voters to take some interest over. The election this fall promises to be out of the ordinary. Mayfield is worried. His followers of the Klan are worried. It was very easy for the Klan to see to Mayfield's securing a place in the second primary, and no doubt they fervently prayed that his opponent would be Jim Ferguson, as this would certainly secure him the democratic nomination. The Klan candidate won, but everything is not so rosy as it was thought before the second primary. There are thousands of democrats in Texas who have decided that a Klansman cannot be a good democrat, and they are therefore not further obligated to the winner. The principal objectors to Mayfield believe that it would be a harder blow to the democracy of the United States to send to the senate a man who has talked an obligation to support one faction in Texas rather than all the people in Texas, and are going to vote for a man who is unquestionably a 100 percent American, and a good democrat even though his candidacy was endorsed by the republican party of Texas, and given a place on the republican ticket.

TOO MUCH FOR US

How much do you know? How do you know that you know it? How did you gain your knowledge? Most of what we are supposed to know today we learned from others, and they in their turn from still others, and so on down to the dawn of man.

In the beginning some one had to make the discovery, and others have elaborated upon it, and because their research and inventive brains were superior to ours we accept their judgment as final. But how do we know that they were not at fault? How do we know but what many of our supposed facts are mere fallacies? If these few words have raised a doubt in your mind, how are you going to learn the truth? Go to it! Your brain needs exercise, anyway.

PAYING THE PIPER

Some men dabble in politics and are known as politicians. That is no compliment.

Others engage in constructive legislation. They are statesmen, and the term is a credit to them.

We need fewer of the former, of whom there are enormously too many. There is a crying need of the latter, who are lamentably few.

Any novice can lay one brick on top of another, but it requires an experienced mason to construct a wall that will stand.

We are careful in the selection of the men who build the houses in which we live, but indifferent as to the calibre of those who enact the laws under which we are governed.

We pay the political piper, whether we dance or not.

Folks, we are defying the world to compete with us in prices this season. Amarillo's prices are a good one-fourth over ours; they can't pay a 30 per cent over head expense, including a $600 to $1,000.00 per month rent and compete with us. We are selling more clothing in Amarillo, than we are in Canyon and they claim we are saving them from $10.00 to $15.00 on a suit, some up to $20.00. Our all wool suits are down as low as $12.50 and up to $40.00.

Big heavy plaid back all wool over coats from $22.50 to $35.00, others a lot cheaper.

All we ask is an opportunity to show you and give you our prices. We will sell you if you are interested at all. We are at least 20 per cent under Amarillo prices on shoes and we carry the largest stock in the Panhandle.

We are selling more goods this season than any one for the past 18 years. It isn't that conditions are particularly good is it? We know why, its price and quality. People are spending this year where they can make their money count most. Get in the position, people, and come on in and get your requirements for the cold weather ahead, before the stock is broken.

We thank you for the nice business you are giving us, and we will continue to merit your valued patronage, if price, quality and service counts.

A Five-Minute Sermon on Church Advertising

Did you ever think of the church as a business proposition? Why should a church always be considered a subject for charity? How often have you heard men say: "I don't go to church very often, but when I do they are always begging for money. That's the reason I don't go oftener." It's a narrow point of view, of course, for a church needs money to run it, just the same as a business. But why shouldn't a church be run as a business and be independent and not dependent? It can be, but business methods must be adopted.

All successful businesses advertise. The greatest competitor of the church on Sundays—the movies—advertises liberally. You have attractions in your church. You have a story to tell. You have a minister who can preach with a punch. The "regulars" may know it, but it isn't the "regulars" you want to reach—it's the "irregulars" and the "neverwuzers." That's where the church has got to grow. And you have got to go after them the same as the business house goes after business.

You know that every business man keeps track of his sales every week and every month and he compares them with a year ago. And if he isn't running ahead he wants to know why. Do the churches keep track of their attendance? They know what the subscriptions are, for that's vital; yet increased attendance would mean increased subscriptions.

The church should cease to be dependent. It should go after business ministers who have tried it have been well compensated. Supposing this advertisement should appear in this paper this week:

FIRST REFORMED CHURCH
This Sunday Evening at 7:45
THE REV. JOHN KNOX ALLEN, D. D. will preach on "OUR TOWN"

Front Seats Free. Rear Seats, Ten Cents Each.

You'll be surprised. Come out and hear a worth-while sermon. A special invitation to all. We would like to see YOU in church. Special music.

Don't you think it would help? Wouldn't it start some talk about the church? Wouldn't the people say, "Well, I guess the church people are taking up?" The cost of the advertisement would be small, but the results would be big.

Think it over. Why shouldn't our churches stand on their own feet and run in a businesslike way? Why shouldn't the people be educated to the fact that it takes money to run a church, that it is not a charity organization and that people ARE EXPECTED to contribute to it.

What would this town be without churches? You would not live in it, for it wouldn't be a fit place to live in. You need the church. The church needs you and the church needs advertising.

GEOPHONE AID IN MINE DISASTERS

Instrument Developed During World War Has Been Perfected by Engineers.

EXPERIMENTS PROVE VALUE

Detects Subterranean Sounds at Great Distance—Has Many Uses, but Its Advantage in Mine Rescue Work Most Important.

Washington.—As the result of experiments made by the bureau of mines, the geophone, a novel instrument used amid the reek and slaughter of the World war for the detection of earth and rock sounds, made in the construction of military mines and tunnels, promises to become an active factor in the saving of the lives of miners entombed as the result of fires and explosions.

In the course of tests conducted in the bureau's experimental coal mine near Pittsburgh, blows with a sledge on the coal face were heard, by means of the geophone, at a distance of 650 feet, with various rooms and entries intervening. On a suspended pipe line, light hammering with the knuckles was detected at a distance of 1,500 feet. Ordinary talking and singing could be detected through 150 feet of solid coal. By the use of two geophones, one instrument to each ear, it is possible to determine the direction from which a sound is coming, and thus to locate the approximate position of the entombed miner.

Another promising use of the geophone is in the location of leaks in water pipes. By means of the instrument, it is possible to hear water circulating in the pipes of ordinary city mains situated ten to fifteen feet below the surface. Tests conducted at a busy corner in the downtown district of Pittsburgh located a leak in a water main which the water company had sought to detect for two weeks vainly.

Sensitive, but Simple.

The mine geophone is sensitive, yet extremely simple and easily portable. The instrument was invented by the French during the war to detect stapping and underground mining operations. It was developed by the United States engineers, and the instruments now used by the bureau of mines were made according to plans drawn by them, except for the introduction of different diaphragms. The geophone is essentially a small seismograph, as it embodies the same principles as the ponderous apparatus that records earthquake tremors. It really consists of a lead weight suspended between two elastic diaphragms cutting across a small airtight box. If the instrument is placed on the ground and any one is pounding or digging in the vicinity, energy is transmitted as wave motion to the earth, and the earth waves shake the geophone case. The geophone, therefore, transforms the earth wave into an air wave, which is heard by the ear as sound, and at the same time magnifies the wave so that the sound is louder than if the ears were placed in direct contact with the earth.

The observations of the bureau of mines indicate that the geophone should be quite useful in the location of mine fires. Usually a mine fire makes enough noise, either by drawing air or by breaking off slate and coal, to be heard for a considerable distance through the coal, and even through the strata above. The distance that these sounds can be heard depends a great deal on the nature of the strata above the mine, yet the sounds originating at a mine fire should be detected through 100 to 300 feet of coal and through 500 to 800 feet of coal.

Aids Mine Engineering.

Geophones supply a quick and fairly accurate method of mine surveying. If two tunnels are being brought together from any direction, the progress of the tunnels could be observed by means of the geophones, and their relative positions determined.

Another application of the possibilities of the instrument in mine surveying is in the prevention of accidents in blasting through. If two tunnels are approaching each other, or are passing a short distance apart, it is necessary to determine the relative location in order that men may be warned to keep away from the point of danger. As the sounds transmitted through the geophone are so characteristic, frequent observation would enable a trained observer to follow the progress of the work in the opposite tunnel. He would thus be able to tell when blasts were to be fired.

No attempt has been made to adapt the geophone to determine the earth movements that sometimes occur in deep mines and are termed "bumps" by the miners. It is probable, however, that this instrument may be of use in certain parts of the anthracite coal fields, where cave-ins have destroyed mine workings, causing loss of life, surface subsidence and injury and destruction of buildings.

The manifest advantage of the geophone for use in mine rescue work has led the bureau of mines to place the instrument on its mine-rescue cars, which are constantly being called to assist in the rescue of entombed men at mine fires and explosions.

Told to Kill Pet Chicken, Girl Takes Poison Dose

Rather than kill a pet chicken which had broken its leg, Edna Fanshel, of Flint, Mich., drank poison in an attempt to kill herself.

The girl's mother told her the chicken would have to be killed because of its injury, whereupon the girl ran into the house and grabbed a bottle of poison. Her sister knocked the bottle from her lips before she had taken much of the poison. Physicians said she would recover.

CALIFORNIA EGGS TO BRITAIN

Shipped in Dutch Motor Ship Via Panama Canal They Find a Ready Market in London.

London.—Due to disturbances in the regular sources of supply, British traders are finding the American butter and egg market worth increased attention. A London importer recently received a shipment of 500 cases of fresh eggs shipped by a Dutch motor ship from San Francisco by way of the Panama canal, and an order for 1,000,000 pounds of butter was placed with a New York firm.

Trade circles are much interested in the egg shipment, as it was the first time fresh eggs had been landed from America without being damaged en route by taking on the odors of oranges, apples and other commodities in the ship's holds. The eggs were safeguarded in this instance by a newly patented refrigerating compartment which is now claimed to have brought the American market to England's door.

Ireland ordinarily supplies most of England's imported produce, but the recent disturbances there have had the effect of materially curtailing the source of supply. Scandinavian produce is generally in great demand in Western Europe, which occasionally makes prices unfavorable for English buyers.

MRS. MARGARET MORAITIS

Mrs. Margaret Moraitis, a wealthy widow, recently arrived at Ellis Island, where she was detained by the authorities. She had been advised, before sailing from Germany, to say nothing regarding her wealth, and the immigration officials denied her immediate entrance because they feared she might become a public charge. Mrs. Edward Llewellyn, her daughter, came to Ellis Island and secured her mother's release, and then it was learned that Mrs. Moraitis had more than $3,000 hidden in her clothing.

HORSE SAVES FARMER'S LIFE

Faithful Animal Rescues Master Who Was Pinned Under Overturned Plow.

Galena, Ill.—James Funston, a farmer, had contemplated the purchase of a tractor for farm use, but because one of his faithful horses saved his life he will continue to use horses to till his land.

Funston was using a cultivator on a hillside when the plow tipped over pinning him underneath. The horses became tangled in the harness, but did not run away.

After being under the plow for an hour Funston saw one of the horses look back, then the animal walked to the side of the plow, pushed it several times with his nose and rolled it off his master. Funston had suffered a broken leg.

Russian Invents Locomotive.

Berlin.—M. Machonin, a Russian engineer, inventor of a new electric locomotive now in use between Moscow and Petrograd, failing to secure protective patents, has arrived in Berlin to apply to the patent office here. The locomotive is exceptional, he claims, in being able to run twice as long as any other storage battery locomotive without recharging. Also he claims a high speed average for the Moscow-Petrograd trip.

Pigeons Steal Girl's Bracelet.

Woodsocket, S. D.—Two weeks ago little Nina Schuler lost her gold bracelet. It disappeared from a table on the front porch of the Schuler home. Then one day a high wind broke a branch from a nearby tree, revealing a pigeon's nest. Something bright caught the eye of Nina's father, and he found the pigeons had the bracelet as part of the superstructure of their nest.

ASBESTOS

One of the most remarkable products of inorganic nature is that hard, heavy rock which yields a fibre as soft as silk. The Greeks named it asbestos, or the inextinguishable, because from it they made the wicks for their temple lamps.

It seems almost incredible that a rock can be beaten into fibre and the fibre spun into yarn and the yarn woven into fabric, and that pulp made from the rock can be converted into paper, but all those things can be done with asbestos.

The best quality of asbestos rock is a chemical combination of magnesium silicon oxide with either hydrogen, calcium or iron. The fibres formed by that combination have withstood the attack of the elements since the world began, and it is that quality of endurance together with the property of being a nonconductor of both heat and electricity which makes asbestos so useful.

Until comparatively recent years the rock was hardly more than an interesting specimen for the mineralogical collection. It was only when inventive genius, searching for heat-insulating material, began to experiment with the strange mineral that asbestos began to take a position of importance in the industrial world. Now it is used for so many purposes that modern manufacturing would be severely crippled without it.

The builder needs asbestos shingles, felt, millboard, flooring and paper; the automobile manufacturer uses asbestos tape, brake lining and packing; the steam fitter and the mason require asbestos for insulating pipes and boilers and to mix with cement, fireproof compounds and packing that have to withstand both heat and acids. Because of its nonconductivity it is used as a shield for both high and low temperatures and as an insulator in electrical work.

The rock that furnishes the greater part of the commercial asbestos comes from Quebec. The best fibre, that used for spinning and weaving, is separated from the matrix with hand hammers. The poorer rock is broken up by machines, and the short fibres obtained through that process are used to make felt, paper and millboard. Asbestos fibre is not so strong as cotton or flax, but manufacturers have succeeded in producing thread strong enough to meet the various requirements. Having been twisted into thread, the fibre is woven much as cloth is woven.

The full amount of the national debt is approximately $23,000,000,000. The annual fixed charges against the United States Treasury on account of the public debt are $1,300,000,000 and not $41,200,000,000 as has been stated.

Not so very long ago there was inflation of the currency. That meant cheap dollars, high prices. Now there is a change. The dollar buys more.

If the dollar was worth saving when it would buy only half a bushel of wheat or two pounds of butter, think how much more reason there is for saving it now that its purchasing capacity has nearly doubled. Of course the dollar is correspondingly harder to get now, which is an added reason for saving it when secured. Save the high dollars. They are worth twice what they used to be.

THE RANDALL COUNTY NEWS

PROSPERITY IN RANDALL COUNTY

BY EUGENE BUTLER
in Progressive Farmer

Randall County did not suffer severely during the depression that started during the fall of 1920, reaching its peak in 1921, and is gradually clearing itself out as we enter the fall of 1922. Of course, the depression was not there. There is no doubt about that, but the Banks didn't stop lending money, and Randall County farmers did not sink into that despondent frame of mind which was so characteristic of the farmers of many other sections during these times of stress. The reason for this is not hard to find. In addition to growing wheat, Randall county is rapidly developing a dairy industry of considerable size. Cattle are raised and a large number of hogs are raised and fattened each year. This diversity of interests has made for prosperity in normal times, and at least a decent living during hard times.

Randall County has an approximate area of 600,000 acres with 76 per cent of this area in farms and ranches. Of the farm and ranch land, only one-fourth is improved land, so a large part of the county is still in grass. However, these ranches are gradually being away to farms of several hundred acres in size as shown by the following figures, giving the acres of improved land in farms in 1900, 1910, and 1920:—1900, 8,200 acres; 1910, 10,000; 1920, 117,000 acres. Considering the fertility of the land and other advantages of the section, farm lands may be purchased for a reasonable price. In the past farms in the canyon bottoms have sold for $100 to $25 an acre. Other land fairly close to the town of Canyon, ordinarily sells for $60 to $75 an acre.

The average number of cultivated acres per farm in Randall County is 125. There are 383 farmers in the county, of which 344 are native white men. Three-fourths of the farmers of the county are tenants.

Principal Crops Grown

The principal crops grown in Randall County are wheat, oats, sorghum for grain, and Kafir, sweet sorghum, etc., for forage. Cotton is grown to a limited extent in the extreme southern part of the county. The following table gives the acreage, production, and yield per acre of the principal crops in 1919:—

Wheat	40,245	603,042 bu.	15 bu.
Oats	8,028	348,241 bu.	43 bu.
Sorghum	2,000	64,243 bu.	32 bu.
Kafir and Milo, etc., for grain	24,627	448,117 bu.	32 bu.
Kafir, sweet sorghum, etc., for forage	20,563	31,673 tons	1.5 tons

Hogs Make Farmers Prosperous

Hogs have probably played a bigger part in making the farmers of the county prosperous than any other one thing. The county produces considerable grain sorghum which may be converted into hog meat and net in most years from $3 to $8 a ton more than when sold from the farm as grain. The Randall County farmer seems to know that the hog puts on more flesh with a given amount of feed than any other meat animal.

The production of pork is often profitable according to the kind of feed given to the hogs. The majority of Randall County farmers have come to the conclusion that they cannot expect to realize a profit by feeding hogs in a dry lot on milo chops alone, and are using tankage, alfalfa, etc., to balance up the milo, Kafir, etc. They feed hogs as if they had heard about the three pigs named "Tom," "Dick" and "Harry," who at the beginning of the feeding period weighed about alike, were of the same conformation, color, and in fact were brothers from a litter of ten.

"Harry" was placed in a dry lot and given milo chops soaked in water between meals.

"Dick" was placed in a dry lot and given milo chops and skim milk, the chops being soaked in milk between feeds.

"Tom" was fed milo chops soaked in skim milk between feeds and allowed to graze on mixed pasture composed of bur clover, Bermuda, nut, and crab grass.

The milk and milo were fed in the proportions of one pound of milo chops to 2 1/2 pounds of skim milk, and each of the pigs received all the feed he would clean up at all times.

The following tables showing the weights and gains, and a financial statement on the three pigs indicate quite positively that a balanced ration pays:—

Showing Weights and Gains
Pig	Initial Weight	Final Weight	Total Gain	Av. Daily Gain	Cost of Feed
"Tom"	24.5	330	305.5	1.697	10.89
"Dick"	27	277	250	1.38	2.25
"Harry"	30.5	277	246.5	1.32	2.25

Financial Statement
	"Tom"	"Dick"	"Harry"

Fr. Worth mkt value, 9-28	26.23	21.81	8.75

However, to get back to Randall County, the high quality of the hogs of this section has been discovered by the California buyer, and packers from that state have buyers in the Panhandle-Plains section buying direct from the farmers and the livestock shipping association. Practically all the fat hogs shipped from Randall County go to the California market.

The county is fortunate in having a county agent who is an experienced livestock man. C. F. Walker knows the livestock game. He knows livestock type, and has an accurate fund of information on feeding problems.

Several months ago, I visited Randall County and went with Mr. Walker to a number of hog farms not far from Canyon. We visited one of the farms of C. O. Keiser. On this place in the canyon bottoms, Mr. Keiser keeps about 80 Hampshire sows. He likes the Hampshires because they are prolific, make good mothers, and are excellent foragers. The pigs run on alfalfa, which grows very well on the fertile bottom land along the streams in the two canyons that traverse the county. At from 75 to 100 pounds weight, they go into the feed lot and are given all the grain they will clean up. On reaching 175 pounds weight, they are loaded for market, and as fast as one bunch goes to market, another lot is driven from the alfalfa fields into the feed lot.

Mr. Keiser has gone into the hog business on an extensive scale as he uses about 400 sows. In 1921, he made approximately $20,000 on his hog feeding.

There are a number of hog breeding establishments in the county, which have distributed some splendid animals throughout the Panhandle-Plains country. For instance Mr. H. C. Roffey has some especially good Durocs, among which is a splendid boar from a line bred Defender sow. This boar is a litter mate to Pathfinder Paramount the widely advertised herd boar of Hanks and Bishop, of New London, Iowa.

John Vetesk has a herd of excellent Poland. His son is also getting into the hog business. Last May, at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show, young Vetesk won $60 in prize money and a silver medal awarded by the American Institute of Meat Packers to a boy showing the best Poland-China barrow.

Cannon balls, abandoned by General John C. Fremont in his expedition to California in 1844, were uncovered recently by a prospector searching for gold in a small ravine not far from Fales Hot Springs in Mono County, California. Fremont's diary records that on January 28, 1844, he was obliged to leave his howitzer at a point in Deep Creek. This is eight miles north of where the cannon balls were discovered. It is supposed General Fremont abandoned the howitzer ammunition as of no further use.

Chef Tells Secret For New Bran Gems

Rene Anjad

There are ways of making bran gems. Rene Anjad, chef of the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, has a recipe all of his own, which occupies a prominent place in the hotel's diet lists.

The Waldorf-Astoria, by the way, has a whole series of menus on scientific diet lists, and these bran gems can be found in almost every one of them. This is the way Monsieur Anjad makes his bran gems:

One and one-half cups of bran, one teaspoonful of baking soda, one tablespoonful of butter, three-fourths cup of sour cream or buttermilk, one-fourth cup of sugar.

Mix together and bake in a hot oven for twenty minutes. This makes six gems.

THE POWER OF THE PRESS

We have in this country no one who owns so many newspapers as the late Lord Northcliffe owned. In several of the great cities there are groups of daily journals under one management, but only a few of them are owned by one man. Lord Northcliffe was reputed to be the sole owner, as he was certainly the sole responsible general manager, of scores of publications. He controlled not only the London Times but other daily newspapers of various kinds; those that appeal to the people who care for nothing but the results of sports, as well as those that appeal to the intelligent and influential. Moreover, he conducted pictorial weeklies, magazines and children's publications.

The English people will be greatly interested in watching the future of the unprecedented number of periodicals that Lord Northcliffe owned; but it is an even more interesting study to observe how he used his power, and how far he accomplished what he aimed at.

All those who have analyzed the character of Lord Northcliffe have agreed that the desire for power was his dominating passion. Having full control of the most potent and reputable organ of British public opinion, he inspired to guide and instruct the government and, if it did not accept his views and follow his advice, to overthrow it. He certainly did, almost single-handed, expose the mistakes of Lord Kitchener and cause him to be superseded as the military director of the war. The overthrow of Mr. Asquith and the creation of the Lloyd George government were chiefly his work. But in both instances he only anticipated; he succeeded because the facts were on his side and because he was right in believing that the changes he demanded were for the good of the country. The people and the politicians, however little they liked his dominating temper and his methods, were convinced that what he proposed was expedient, and they took his advice.

But it was then that he revealed his weakness. Whatever may have been his provocation, after his quarrel with Mr. Lloyd George he used all the power of the Times to discredit the Lloyd George government, to defeat its measures and to prove that the premier whom he had done than anyone else to place at the head of affairs was incompetent. He deluded himself, through perhaps it was his purpose to delude only the people, into believing that he had succeeded. For two or three years the Times has been almost constantly predicting the downfall of the ministry, yet the ministry still stands. To be sure, it has suffered losses, but not more than any government is likely to suffer after five or six years of controversy—a period at least twice as long as coalition governments usually survive.

In considering the power of the press it is a striking fact that Lord Northcliffe, the journalist, who had more power than any other member of his profession ever had, went to his grave with such a failure on the last chapter of his record. The press is not all-powerful, not powerful at all when moved by spite. Even when the press of a community is united on a public question it does not always succeed in guiding public opinion. More than once in this country when all the supposedly influential newspapers of a state or a city have been unanimous in urging that a certain candidate for office was unworthy the man has nevertheless been elected.

Burke called the Press the Fourth Estate, the others being Lords Spiritual, Lords Temporal, and Commons. In a republic we cannot assign to it so definite a place in the direction of affairs. We know its power, but we know also the limits of that power.

BRAINS AND EMOTIONS

"His heart is better than his head," is the not unkindly comment often made about a person; and a good many people have derived unconsciously the idea that between head and heart there is a certain antithesis—that the nourishing of one is likely to be accompanied by the starving of the other. People who are called overeducated or too sophisticated seem living demonstrations of the truth of this notion; for along with their intellectual cultivation has come a definite impoverishment of sympathy and kindness of heart. Yet with such people the trouble is really not excess of education but rather perversion of education, the adoption of a wrong point of view and the pursuit of aims that are inconsistent with the possession of a right point of view. And the minds of the overeducated and ultrasophisticated persons are usually not, in spite of their showy quality, so good as one who makes their acquaintance for the first time is likely to assume.

Soundness of heart and soundness of head nearly always go together. If your heart is really good, your head probably isn't very bad. Of course some muddle-headed persons are good of heart; but most muddle-headed persons are just as defective in human sympathy and in depth and warmth of feeling as they are deficient in understanding. The tragedy of Russia is the tragedy of the muddleheads; its cruelty of the Bolsheviks illustrates the kind of heart that is usually to be found in conjunction with the muddle-head. It is indeed rare that persons of unsound views of life, unsound attitude toward society, reveal any deep and warm affection or show a normal emotional response to the joys and sufferings of others.

Head and heart must both be sound, but their temperature need not be the same. A cool head and a warm heart make the best combination. Lincoln as much as any man in history exemplifies the perfect adjustment. Hot-headed people are likely to be warm-hearted; but sometimes we see a hot-headed person who is cold hearted, and the spectacle causes in us discomfort or disgust or wrath, according to the exhibition that he gives. Wilhelm Holzenollern is the supreme example of the type.

Brains should be used to govern the expression of emotions, but not to suppress emotions. And emotions are useful to brains, for they stimulate them and give vividness and vigor to ideas.

Aroostook County wants to sever connections with the state of Maine and become the seventh New England state. The county is located in the northeastern part of the state and occupies about one-third of the state's area. The county has grown more than 30 per cent in population since 1900 and 300 per cent in valuation.

BE RID OF THAT ACHE

If you are a sufferer with lame back, backache, dizziness, nervousness and kidney disorders, why don't you try the remedy that your own neighbors recommend? Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. C. R. Correy, Canyon, says: "My back and kidneys had been causing me a lot of trouble for a long while. My back ached steadily and there was lameness and soreness in it which made it hard for me to stoop over to do my housework. I would get dizzy and black spot would float before my eyes. Then again I would have headaches and my kidneys were inflamed, and irregular in action. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and bought some at the McQueen Drug Co. Three boxes fixed up my kidneys and relieved my back."

Every Ounce of Power Needed

So does other work such as heavy hauling or plowing. But you can't get the most work from your mules and horses unless they are fed right.

What is it worth to you to have your horses or mules in the "pink" of condition. Their skins will be glossy, their eyes bright and they'll stand erect and firm. You get the extra power you need for heavy work.

Thousands of teamsters and farmers everywhere have found that Purina O-Molene feed actually puts horses in just such condition described to haul heavier loads, and it costs no more to feed.

Call up today and learn more about this specially prepared feed. Lots of people you know are using O-Molene feed.

Kellogg's

are a taste thrill at meals or any time

That's because Kellogg's Corn Flakes are so deliciously flavored—the Kellogg flavor that is known all over the civilized world! You, as well as the little folks, can eat great bowlfuls of Kellogg's Corn Flakes day after day—and each sunny-brown, crispy, crunchy spoonful thrills the taste as though it was the first!

Put Kellogg's in comparison with imitation corn flakes! Kellogg's Corn Flakes are never tough or leathery or hard to eat! They are all-the-time crisp, all-the-time good! Don't miss such enjoyment!

Insist upon Kellogg's in the RED and GREEN package that bears the signature of W. K. Kellogg, originator of Corn Flakes! NONE ARE GENUINE WITHOUT IT!

LITTLE WANT ADS IN THE NEWS BRING BIG RESULTS.

INDUSTRY AND CIVILIZATION

Industry is civilization in action. It is the answer to the primal law: "In the sweat of his face man shall eat his bread." Industry has three phases—necessity, utility, and luxury—which represent the progress of man and his civilization. The industries of necessity are primary and provide food, shelter, and protection. Those of utility deal with the assembling of raw materials, their transformation into more useful forms, and their economic distribution. The industries of luxury are esthetic, decorating utilities and supplementing necessities. The necessities of man are constant and unchanging, but his wants increase as civilization expands; and increasing wants mean increasing demands, which multiply and vary the industries created to supply them. Industry to thrive must sell its product at a profit, incidentally each it must compete with every other in the process of manufacture and distribution and sale. Compensation works along two lines—cheapness in price and excellence in product. Competition that is merely cheapness in sales prices is unscientific, and hazardous, and in the end slays industry. Competition based on fair prices and superiority of product is not only the life of trade but the spur of the productive activity of industry.

The competition that assassinates industry deserves death and receives it in bankruptcy. The competition that is guided by economic wisdom and productive superiority best serves the community and enables its industry to endure and outdistance its rivals.—The Three Partners.

DO YOU know of anyone who is old enough to read, who has not seen that sign at a railroad crossing?

If everyone has seen it at some time or other, then why doesn't the railroad let the sign rot away? Why does the railroad company continue to keep those signs at every crossing?

Maybe you think, Mr. Merchant, "Most everybody knows my store, I don't have to advertise."

Your store and your goods need more advertising than the railroads need to warn people to "Look Out for the Cars."

Nothing is ever completed in the advertising world.

The Department Stores are a very good example—they are continually advertising—and they are continually doing a good business.

If it pays to run a few ads round about Christmas time, it certainly will pay you to run advertisements about all the time.

It's just business, that's all, to ADVERTISE in THIS PAPER
