

H I C O
To GROW we must serve; to SERVE we must grow.

Last week the News Review had a birthday. The affair went off without any undue ceremony. There was no party, and nothing out of the ordinary to suggest that another milestone had been passed in the newspaper's career. In fact we venture that guess that not a single person out of the office took note of the fact that last week's issue was Number 52 of Volume XLVI, which is a newspaper's way of saying that the end of the year has been reached, and that the next week will begin a new year.

In plain language, this means that the fifty-second issue of the forty-sixth year was off the press. Forty-six years is a long time, and although we do not have the records at hand, we are of the opinion that the News Review is the oldest business institution in Hico today. The First National Bank with its record of 41 years of service (under the same management, by the way) runs a close second. Lynch Hardware Company has been in business 40 years, and Carlton Brothers 37. There are other firms that have been in Hico for a long period of years, but from the most accurate information we could obtain the above are the pioneers.

Which reminds us that we ought to appreciate all our business institutions, civic and church organizations. If there were no newspaper here the people would go to no end of trouble and expense to secure one. It would be no trick at all, we opine, to raise a considerable bonus in order to get a medium here in which to record the news, broadcast merchants' offerings, and furnish a mouthpiece for the people. The same is true of any other business house, church or organization. If there were no place to buy hardware, groceries, dry goods or what-nots, people could conveniently attend church services—no lodge where members could meet and work together—no city government to control and manage the affairs of the people—if these were absent very little time would be lost before a public mass meeting would be called for the purpose of remedying the situation.

Since we are well provided with all of these, should we appreciate them to the extent that we support them to the last ditch? If we were derived of the services offered us by reason of these business houses and institutions being close at hand, would we still be luke-warm in our devotion to them should they spring up overnight and be at our command? Certainly not. We would thank our stars that we were so fortunate as to boast of them again. We know that would be the case if the process were so sudden that deterioration is a slow matter, and while it comes on us gradually, the effects are nevertheless the same.

So much for that. We started out to tell about our birthday. But the success or failure of a newspaper is so infinitely intermingled with that of its associates, the above thoughts come to mind when engaging in retrospection. The Hico newspaper has not grown big as measured by the number of pages, or by financial position of its sponsors. But it has grown in prestige, in respect, and in appreciation with the passing of the years. The high regard in which it is evidently held by the majority of citizens of this community is a matter of pride to its present owner and employees. We can't boast of having greatly improved it during the short period of our man- agership, but we do believe that we can say without boasting that we have done nothing to turn it in the other direction. And the people still seem to appreciate the value of their home newspaper, setting aside personalities and taking into consideration the fact that they are responsible for its condition. It is their paper, and whether it grows or shrinks in prestige and quality will depend largely upon them, provided of course that there is no dereliction from the course of proper management.

It is with a heart full of appreciation, enthusiasm and optimism that we face the future. Although handicapped to some extent by conditions beyond control, the progress made in the past eighteen months has been encouraging. We realize the fact that other business men have had their worries, their disappointments, along with their successes. We are laboring under the sincere belief that when others prosper we will prosper in direct ratio to the service we render. And while there have been some

Old-Time Resident Recalls Pioneering On Visit to Hico

Many changes have come about in this country since that July 4th in 1884 when L. J. Anderson and his folks passed through Hico on their way to a new location, having journeyed in a covered wagon from Nacogdoches, where they had previously made their home.

Mr. Anderson, who arrived here Monday from Costa Mesa, California, for a visit with his sister, Mrs. J. F. Chomault, and other relatives, remembers when very little of this country had been cleared off, and Hico was in its "swaddling clothes."

HAMILTON COUNTY BAPTISTS TO MEET AT INDIAN GAP

Lindsey of Hamilton, vice-president; and Miss Christine Fewell of Hico, Secretary. The business meeting adjourned and the president, Mr. Hendrick, took charge.

ATTENTION MEMBERS OF HICO LODGE, A. F. & A. M.

At our next regular meeting on Saturday, June 6, 1931, at 8 o'clock P. M., three important items will come before the lodge for its decision.

Our heartfelt wish for ourselves upon the occasion of our birthday is that in the next forty-six years the News Review may be able to truthfully record progress of an extent not now thought possible. That the tragedies of life as portrayed in the volumes of a home newspaper may be at a minimum, and the joys and achievements of a happy, prosperous, progressive people at a maximum. May there be a continuance of that spirit of cooperation and friendship which is so evident today, and which contributes so immeasurably to the conditions which make Hico an ideal place in which to make one's home.

Jack Hennessey, Jr. Becomes Traffic Manager of M-K-T

St. Louis, Mo.—Promotion of Jack Hennessey, Jr., executive general agent for the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Lines at Houston, Tex., to passenger traffic manager with headquarters at Dallas, Tex., and St. Louis, Mo., was announced here recently by George C. Smith, general traffic manager. Hennessey succeeds J. W. White, who has just been made assistant to the executive vice president of the Katy Lines. In making announcement of the appointment of White, M. H. Cahill, president, said White had been assigned no special duties, pending his complete recovery from an illness that has incapacitated him for several months. His headquarters will remain at Dallas.

Although he has spent 21 years in the service of the M-K-T, Hennessey, by his promotion, becomes one of the youngest passenger traffic managers in the country. He commenced his railroad career in St. Louis as a messenger boy while in his early teens and has never been employed by any other company.

"With passenger revenues steadily declining as a result of the increased use of automobiles, buses and airplanes, the position of passenger traffic manager of a railroad is daily becoming of more vital importance," Smith declared in announcing Hennessey's appointment. "The management of the Katy Lines determined to keep its service fully abreast of the times and, Hennessey was selected as passenger traffic manager because it was felt that he is especially well qualified to make a careful study and survey of travel conditions with a view of offering plans for restoring as much passenger traffic to the rails as possible."

Money Given For Highway, Glen Rose To Walnut Springs

An appropriation of $30,000 has been made by the State Highway commission for improvement of the highway from Walnut Springs to Glen Rose and work began Tuesday on the construction, Vernon Lemens of Rainbow florist representative in the legislature from Johnson, Somervell and Bosque counties, stated while in Cleburne Wednesday.

Mr. Lemens was here recently with Gibb Gilchrist, State highway engineer, and other engineers of the State department to go over the route and consider the improvement. Mr. Lemens states that the highway has now been designated by the State and that the $30,000 will be used in building drainage structures and road bed.

Painting, Papering And Repair Work Continue Locally

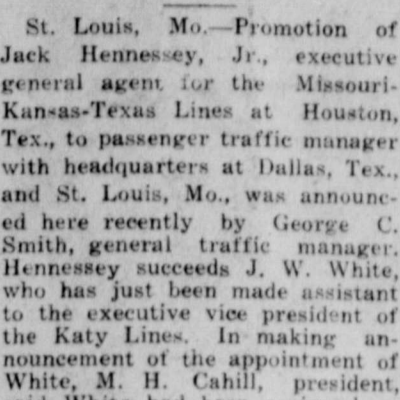

It looks like all homes, business houses, churches and in fact property of every description in Hico will soon be put in first-class condition. Many improvements have been given notice in these columns from week to week, demonstrating the fact that local property owners are determined to keep their premises modern and sightly.

Keeping Up With TEXAS

A. Weatherall, who lives 10 miles southwest of Crowell, entered his auto and started to Crowell Tuesday to insure his wheat crop against fire. But he was too late. Before he could leave his home he saw flames rapidly approaching his wheat field from another field. Before the fire, spread by a heavy wind, could be stopped by 150 volunteer fighters, about 250 acres of Weatherall's crop and about 40 adjoining acres were destroyed. The fire started in some undetermined manner during the cutting of wheat on Lewis Sloan's farm. It was estimated that each field would produce 25 to 30 bushels an acre. Neither field was insured.

A return to the courthouse to thank those he felt responsible for his release upon being tried in district court last week following indictment for burglary landed a man back in Hardeman County jail. A faulty indictment upon the charge of burglary was quashed by Judge W. N. Stokes and the defendant released. The man was a transient and was on his way out of Quanah when he decided to return and thank the judge for what he thought was a favor. When he returned to the courthouse he was rearrested by a deputy sheriff on the same charge, and will have to remain in jail pending the action of the next grand jury which convenes in September.

A. H. Barsh Will Head School System At Iredell Next Year

Mr. A. H. Barsh of Gatesville who has been head of the Mosheim school for the past two years will be Superintendent at Iredell, (Bosque County) next school term.

Plans have been completed to celebrate the opening of the new Trinity River bridge on Highway No. 31 west of Athens, between Athens and Corsicana, and near Trinidad. The bridge will be completed June 15 and the celebration has been set for June 17. The new concrete bridge is said to be the second longest on the highway system of Texas, and cost $250,000. The river bridge proper is 1,940 feet long. Governor Sterling and members of the Texas Highway Commission will be invited to attend the celebration incident to the opening of the bridge to traffic.

HONEY GROVE

The farmers are busy harvesting their grain.

A young member of the Girl Builders was killed Wednesday at Houston and two girls were injured when a bus in which 20 girls were being taken on a tour brushed by a gate of the Standard Rice mills in Houston. The girl, Lydia Bell Moulds, 12, struck her head out of the window as the bus passed through the gate on an inspection tour of the city's industrial plants. Her head was crushed by a gate post and two other girls who were looking out the window were injured.

Governor Ross Sterling will dodge action on none of the bills passed at the recent session of the Texas legislature. "I will sign or veto all bills," he said Wednesday. A bill that is neither signed nor vetoed within 20 days after adjournment takes effect without signature. Appropriation bills and ones regulating a motor truck operation are among the important ones now in his desk awaiting action.

FAIRY LOSES 11TH GAME OF SEASON TO ALEXANDER

At the risk of invoking the wrath of certain Fairy baseball fans, who have lately accused us of printing all of Fairy's defeats and keeping mum on their winnings, we are reprinting below an account of last Sunday's game at Alexander, and box score thereof as submitted by Elmore Everett of Fairy. We believe the Fairyites were joshing us when they made the charges about our partiality, although we admit it looks fishy. They have had several good wins lately, which we have been unable to print because of first one thing and then another, and here we are managing to get in another account of a defeat. The editor has arranged with Elmore Everett to do his explaining, and with Pickle Goyné to do his fighting, having previously compromised with Cliff Tinkle for our discourteous conduct in the matter of reporting games, and at present is just "trying to get along."

In the 11th game of the season and the third rubber game with Alexander, Fairy went down in defeat in the play-off Sunday, May 31st. Fairy has won five and lost six games this season and the boys play Hamilton at Fairy Sunday, June 7th, at which time the regulars of Fairy expect to tie the games up. The sluggers from Fairy are holding the team batting average well over the three hundred mark and indications are that they will collect the customary hits in next Sunday's game. Everyone is invited to the game Sunday which will be called about 3:00 o'clock.

Following is the box score of the game Sunday:

for ANY BABY

WE can never be sure just what makes an infant restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as Baby has a fretful spell, is feverish, or cries and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked without delay. Just keep Castoria handy, and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly; if it doesn't, you should call a physician.

if the first-choice tire costs no more, there's not much point in buying the second-choice tire, is there? Well, Goodyear Tires cost no more! And as for being first-choice, they're that by millions more sold every year. "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than any other kind." You owe it to yourself to know the reasons* why Goodyear Tires lead all others so greatly. They are the very reasons that should prompt you also to decide: "I will buy only the leading make of tire!" We will demonstrate! TWO REASONS WHY GOODYEAR IS THE LEADING MAKE OF TIRE 1 The famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread is superior in traction. Note how the deep-cut, tight-gripping blocks are placed in the center of the tread, where they belong. Press the palm of your hand upon this tread and feel how the blocks grip and pinch the flesh. This illustrates the All-Weather Tread's holdfast action on pavement or road. 2 The patented Goodyear Superwrist Cord carcass is superior in vitality and long life. Under continued flexing or sudden road shock, where ordinary cords fatigue or snap, the extra-elastic Superwrist Cords stretch and recover, like rubber bands. THE HORSE COMES BACK

The day of the horses as motive power on the farm is far from being over. Some recent figures, compiled by the Minnesota agricultural authorities, show that for a great many kinds of farm work, which used to be done by horses but lately have been done by motors, the horse is again the cheaper motive power. Oats and hay are selling for the lowest prices in years. Even though gasoline is down, there are a great many farmers who are finding it now more economical to use horses. On the other hand, race horses and riding horses are more expensive than ever before. The United States Army is finding it difficult to get enough high-grade horses, part thoroughbred, for cavalry remounts. Numerous sales of saddle horses, or so-called steeplechase or hunter-type, have been made in the East at prices ranging above $3,000 apiece. Horses of a similar type and quality were easily purchasable for $500 or $600 until a few years ago. There is still money in the horse. There is money for the breeder of thoroughbreds and saddle stock, and there is profit for the farmer who can utilize horses instead of motors. Probably there never will be a time when the small farmer will not use horses, especially in rough or hilly country. A farm without horses may look all right to the youngsters, but older people feel that it is not a real farm. There is nothing about a tractor to get sentimental about. A horse has individuality and character, and often becomes one of the family.

SUMMER EATING

Summer is here and we are changing our eating habits for the warm weather. The canners and the preservers do wonderful things, but somehow or other even the best canned goods don't taste like fresh vegetables right out of the garden. It is not to be wondered at that city folks all try to spend their summers in the country. People that never go outside the big cities don't know what really fresh peas and sweet corn and lima beans and the rest of the garden products taste like. And as for fresh eggs—well, we are just sorry for city folks. With all the talk about depression and unemployment, we notice that people are eating just about as much as they ever did. That is one great thing about these United States, we can make an awful lot of fuss about hard times, but it is only in a very few parts of the United States that anybody has really suffered for lack of food through all of our recent difficulties. There has been a great deal of very genuine suffering in the regions affected by last year's drought, but that has not primarily been due to hard times, and the people of the rest of the United States have been generous in their response to the need. So it seems a fair statement that there are no conditions approaching starvation anywhere in the United States. And as for the great majority of our people, they not only have plenty to eat, but more than they need, and now for the next few months they will have what we think is the finest food in the world. That is, the fresh stuff out of the gardens. In the South the watermelon season has begun. It will work its way north until New England's melons are ripe, just a few days ahead of the first September frost. It was nothing else to look forward to in the summer, the watermelon alone would almost be a sufficient excuse for living. That is something we have that they don't have in most other parts of the world. It is hard to believe it, but there are, literally hundreds of millions of people in Europe who never had a chance to taste a watermelon. And cantaloupes! Some old-fashioned folks still prefer to call them muskmelons. They taste just about as good under one name as under the other. And sweet corn? We don't know who invented Golden Bantam, but he ought to have a medal and his statue in the Hall of Fame. They have been picking strawberries in Florida since January, but it will not be long now before all the rest of the country will be eating fresh berries out of our own straw berry beds. Another week or two of sun— the meadows and pastures of the northern states will be covered with wild strawberries. They are a lot harder to pick, but they are a lot sweeter and juicier than the best red biggest berries ever grown in the garden patch.

Letters From Readers

Hamilton, Tex., June 2, 1931. Editor News Review, Hico, Tex. My Dear Sir:

Am just in receipt of one of your numerous notices of account with your paper, for publishing notices in your paper to jurors that they are excused from service at different dates, and in answer beg leave to say:

I have been Clerk of the District Court in this county for some dozen years and have had occasion during that time to notify jurors on many occasions that their services would not be needed and this is the first and only time that there has ever been a charge. This is neither a benefit or accommodation to me or the Court, but an accommodation to the jurors drawn for that particular term of court, the public in general, and a saving of money to the entire county. It saves your neighbor's and your subscribers a trip to the County site and the loss of a day that might be, and often is, very valuable to them. Aside from that they are paid a fee of $3.00 which you, as a taxpayer, help to pay.

If you are not willing to do that much for your county and your neighbors and will kindly notify me I will present this bill to the Commissioners' Court next Monday and insist that they pay same.

Awaiting your valued reply I beg to remain, Yours very truly, L. A. MORRIS.

With the very kindest personal feelings toward Mr. Morris as our efficient District Clerk, and with no desire whatever to embarrass him or air a personal matter out in the columns of this newspaper, nevertheless the editor believes that a few words might be added to the above right here, for the information of the general public. From time to time such matters come up, where we feel justified in making a charge for articles appearing in the paper, and certain individuals see the matter some other way. It is for this reason that we are reprinting the above and adding our views in the case.

The writer has been actively engaged in newspaper work for some dozen years, and has been hanging around print shops for about twice that period. During that time he has never had occasion to try to collect an unjust debt, and does not intend to begin now. Neither has he ever been guilty of leaving out bona-fide, constructive news of any description. He has observed in that period of time, however, that many newspaper owners delight in giving away that which is their only means of sustenance, their space. On the other hand he has been associated with a few good business men at the helms of various papers, who believe that there is no dishonesty or abuse of trust in charging for service rendered. And comparing the two types of individuals, he finds that the latter is as a rule held in more respect, enjoys better patronage, and is more of a community builder than the former— with all due respect to both.

In the above case we are caused to wonder if it is right for the county officials to expect their newspapers to save the taxpayers' money without remuneration for that saving. It is admitted that the taxpayers are saved considerable expense, and at the $3.00 per head quoted, the cost per capita for notifying them that their services would not be needed would be so slight as to be practically nothing. We could easily bear the burden of giving this service free, in this one case, but when we are repeatedly expected to do this on all occasions, the sum total of these "news" articles would be a considerable item.

At the same time we are led to wonder if the stationery house or printing firm who sold the stationery Mr. Morris wrote on gave it to the county free gratis. We wonder if he made no charge for the time consumed in writing the letter. Did Uncle Sam's employees at the postoffice furnish the stamp necessary to carry the letter and collect nothing for same. If an electric light, a fan, a gas stove or a telephone is used in our worthy contemporary's office, do the utility companies out of the greatness of their hearts donate their services? All these conjectures and more assail the mind of a hard-working newspaper man who is just trying to get along, but expects pay for all chargeable items, when said charge is not a breach of newspaper ethics or, an unjust one.

Sure, we love our county and our neighbors. And if our county were in dire straits, if it had not the funds with which to pay for services rendered it and goods sold it, we would gladly donate our space, provided we had not run our business on the same basis in all our negotiations, and passed out of the picture on account of lack of finances. At the same time we should expect the county officials to serve without pay, and other business institutions to furnish their stock in trade without charge. But so long as our county is able to take care of her obligations, and so long as we are convinced that we are rendering a bona-fide service for which a charge should be made just as county officials and other business men collect their salaries and bills for services rendered, or goods sold—just so long will we continue to expect payment in coin of the realm for those services—all precedent to the contrary notwithstanding.

We hope the day never dawns when we can justify being accused of being "chinchy" with our space, or overbearing in our attitude concerning news. But we also hope to live to see the day when newspaper owners will cease to be "chumps"—nourishing conscientious scruples against entering charges on their books against financially responsible parties for chargeable items, and being bulldozed out of collecting for same.

We rest the case with the honorable Commissioners' Court and with Mr. Morris. They are fair-minded citizens, and if after due consideration of our stand they decide we are wrong in the small matter referred to above, we will humbly accept their verdict and call the matter closed.

This week in WASHINGTON BY RADFORD MOBLEY AUTOCASTER WASHINGTON BUREAU

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Hoover, the Quaker, sounded a note of warning to all governments, including our own, when he addressed the delegates to the sixth congress of the International Chamber of Commerce. He told them definitely that "international confidence cannot be built upon fear—it must be built upon good will," and then declared that a reduction in armaments in all countries is imperatively demanded.

Usually such declarations are allowed to stand for their good effect. In the two years the President has been an occupant of the White House he has learned his way about more than most people realize. In this case, having uttered what he firmly believes to be truth, he backed it up a few days later by having Secretary of War Pat Hurley and General Douglas MasArthur out to his fishing camp on the Rapidan. A reduction becomes a powerful gesture.

Corned Beef Hash

Mix equal quantities of coarsely chopped cold corned beef and cold boiled potatoes. Season with onion juice, salt and pepper, and put in a pan containing melted butter and hot water enough to moisten the hash. Handle carefully, always, in order to keep the potatoes unbroken. Cover and simmer until a crust has formed and then turn out, crust up. Garnish with crisp sprays of parsley.

Banana Brown Betty

3 cups bread, diced; 3 tablespoons butter; 2 apples; 3 bananas; 3/4 cup sugar; 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon. Cut bread into dice and saute with butter until bread cubes are brown. Peel apples and bananas and cut very thin and dredge same with sugar mixed with cinnamon. Cover bottom of baking dish with the bread, add fruit and remaining bread in alternate layers, saving a few of the crumbs to put on top. Bake one-half hour covered and last fifteen minutes uncovered in a modern oven 375 degrees F.

Black Bean Soup

1 pint black beans; 2 quarts cold water; 1 small onion; 2 stalks celery; or 1-4 teaspoon celery salt; 1-2 tablespoon salt; 1-8 teaspoon pepper; 1-4 teaspoon mustard; few grains cayenne; 3 tablespoons butter; 1 1/2 tablespoons flour; 2 hard boiled eggs; 1 lemon, or 3 tablespoons vinegar. Soak beans over night. Add onion and celery stalks, broken in pieces. Simmer several hours until beans are soft; add more water as water boils away, and add the seasonings. Melt butter and stir in flour. Strain the beans and add Cook until smooth. If too thick add more water. Add vinegar or slice the lemon and pour the soup over it either in a tureen or in the soup dishes. Lentils may be used instead of beans.

There has never been a time when more care was needed in making up livestock rations. When prices are high, errors in judgment may only shrink profits, but right now anything short of skillful feeding turns slight profits in to losses.

By feeding it to five pigs, Fred Wolter, DeWitt county demonstrator, made a market of 96 cents a bushel for 20 bushels of corn that was worth only 50 cents on the local market.

Cocarde is the French term for cockades, a trimming device that is in favor right now with milliners. Cockades were first worn by military men in Europe, who enjoyed a monopoly of them for centuries.

I am reminded of this by the celebration on May 1st in Kansas of the fiftieth anniversary of prohibition in that state.

Banana Mousse

3 tablespoons sugar; 1 whole egg; 1 tablespoon flour; 1 cup milk; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 2 well-ripened bananas, crushed; 1 cup cream, whipped, or 1 cup evaporated milk.
Beat egg well. Add sugar, stir in flour, add milk and cook until thick over hot water. Cool. Add vanilla, crushed banana, whipped cream or evaporated milk and blend well. Place in automatic refrigerator tray or pack in salt and ice and freeze about three hours or until set.

Creamed Cabbage

One cabbage, 1 ounce of butter, one gill cream, pepper and salt to taste. Boil the cabbage, drain it, cut it up small and put into a saucepan with the butter and cream. Add seasoning of pepper and salt. Stir it all together over the fire until thoroughly hot, then turn out on to a hot dish, and serve with croutons.

Chocolate Eclairs

Here's the way to make delicious chocolate eclairs. Melt one-third cup butter in saucepan, add two tablespoons granulated sugar and one cup milk and bring to boil. Then add one cup flour. Stir vigorously with a wooden spoon, and as soon as the mixture sticks to the spoon remove from fire. Cool and add four eggs, one at a time, beating two minutes after each addition, and five minutes after all the eggs are added. Shape the mixture on a sheet of waxed paper through a pastry tube into strips half an inch wide and four inches long. Bake for twenty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Cool and slit each in the side. Fill with whipped cream sweetened and flavored with vanilla and a pinch of salt. Put thick chocolate icing on top of each.

Poached Egg Nest

Butter the inside of a cup and pour in the stiffly beaten white of a fresh egg. Make a little nest in the center and carefully drop in the yolk. Squeeze a drop or two of lemon juice on top, and set the cup in a bowl of boiling water. In cooking, the froth will rise to the top of the cup. As soon as the white is set, invert a plate over the cup and turn the egg out. Sprinkle with the tiniest bit of minced parsley, and serve quickly.

Cabbage Stuffed with Rice

One cabbage (with rather open leaves), one large onion, one cupful of bread-crumbs, a little chopped parsley, pepper and salt, one cupful of rice cooked. Trim the outside of the cabbage and wash well without breaking the leaves. Cook the cabbage whole in a saucepan of boiling water for about fifteen minutes, drain in a colander. Slice and fry the onion, and mix with it the bread crumbs, cooked rice, parsley, salt and pepper. Place some of this mixture between each leaf of the cabbage, tie the leaves together and put it into a casserole with a very little water and fat. Cook slowly until quite tender.

Bacon Biscuit

Make a good biscuit dough. Broil or fry bacon until it is just crisp and chop it in small pieces. Add it to the biscuit dough and form the biscuit. Bake them brown and serve hot. The bacon takes the place of butter and thereby proves its worth.

DON'T SPEND IT
Some years ago I met a man who spoke as follows:
"The boss issued a memorandum today with a lot of new instructions. Some of them were all wet, and I didn't hesitate to tell him so. I shot a memo right back at him, and, believe me, it was a hot one."
Said another man: "I received my first business training under a wise old bank official. One day a letter came in from a customer who made unreasonable complaints and asked for an unwarranted favor. 'I sat up almost all night drafting an answer to that letter. It was a beauty, and I took it to the old man next morning with pride. His head nodded approvingly as he read it."
"You've put the case just right," he said. "The position you have taken is based on sound banking principles; it states our attitude with dignity and force. All in all, it's a very fine letter, and I congratulate you on it. Only, for Heaven's sake, don't send it."
Afterwards, I learned that the man I first quoted was paid $4,000 a year; the other is paid $40,000.
Like every other man in business, I receive a certain number of communications which are both unkind and unfair. Having red hair and a naturally quick temper, I used to let such letters hoist my temperature considerably. Sometimes I carried them around in my mind for several days, forming red hot phrases in reply.

Now I play a much meaner trick on the writings. I do not answer them at all. I can imagine one of my critics going down to the front gate every morning to meet the postman, looking eagerly for my answer, thinking up what he will say in his next outburst. Day after day goes by, and no answer comes. The fire that was to burn me up, burns him up instead, spectacular and maybe it is unmanly. If so, I can reply only that as I grow older the glory of being spectacular appeals to me less and less in comparison with the comfortable joys of peace.
Life seems somehow too short for controversy, and much of my income in these days is received not so much for what I do as for what I have learned not to do. Patience, I have learned, is almost as important as work; while judgment uniformly commands a much higher rate than well-intentioned activity.
What is judgment? you ask, whispers: "That would be brilliant, but don't do it." Or, "That's a smart one; very smart indeed. But, for Heaven's sake, don't send it."

THE FAMILY DOCTOR JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

"ROUGHAGE"
We hear it, read it, sense it in the very air, "roughage." It's the slogan of the swivel-chair patriot, whose colon has been on a strike for the last twenty rubber-tired years. Treat 'em rough, these tired, lazy-stuffed colons; just got to have roughage!
Well, the prodigal son ate the hucks when the swine didn't take—and repented of his sins right away,—the first victory for roughage, so to speak. Then he lost no time getting back to the fattened calf—the smooth diet.
Let's talk about bran—shorts, "tailings," husks off wheat, or what have you? The sort recommended by solemn physicians, smug dietitians and artful manufacturers; and, let's talk sense. I have not found one in twenty-five routine investigations, upon whom bran had the least effect in obstinate constipation. I have tested carefully in my own case; I might as well have taken that much Portland cement, so far as laxative effect was noticeable.
Sometimes I wonder how many pecks of bran one would have to eat, to acquire a single grain of iron? And what form of iron? Possibly a trace of ferrous oxide—rust! There is as much iron in a single Blaud pill as there is in a bushel of wheat bran,—so there.
One of the latest and best books I have found, condemns "roughage" as a routine procedure. It says: "Colons—a practice that may actually do serious harm, and I agree most emphatically. The "smooth diet" is far more rational to coax the weary organ back to normal function; I do ~~not~~ believe in whipping the tired horse to restore his vigor.
