HICO, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JUNE 19, 1931.

H I C O
"The world is so full of a number of things, I am sure we should all be as happy as kings."

We're Glad To Be Living. Just about the time everything seems to go haywire around this office, something happens to break the monotony and make us glad we're living. For example, the weather and other things were about to get this scribble down a few days ago, and Friend Rufus Higgs from Stephenville calls down with a big-hearted invitation to join him and his charming wife on a trip to San Angelo, to the meeting of the T. P. A. No urging needed. This editor and his family rushed up, jumped in, and found that all necessary to have a good time in such hospitable surroundings was to be present with tooth brush and extra shirt.

Another Million Dollar Rain. Having read in the esteemed and revered Brady Standard, published by another prince of Texas journalism, Harry Schwenker, of several Million dollar rains having visited those parts, it took a trip out there to convince. Now we know. The valuation placed on rainfall is garage owners' estimates. Having been pulled out of a ditch near the Runnels-Coleman County line, to the tune of $7.50, our party found that the term million might not be an exaggeration. However we won't cast any reflections on the roads in the honorable H. H. Jackson's habitats, for the fact that most of the bad stretch was beyond the Coleman County line, and the condition was caused by new construction work, aimed to remedy conditions. And the excellent concrete road from Ballinger to San Angelo served to pour oil on troubled waters, as it were, or leave a good taste in our mouth, if that is not mixing metaphors.

On to the San Angelo Cattle Country. in the heart of the Old West, and a trip out there revives the tradition of true hospitality. Why, we even found a hotel, the St. Angelus, where the advertised rate of $2.00 for a nice room and bath was adhered to—think of that, and during a convention. The same spirit seemed to emanate from all of that fair city's institutions and citizens. They made you glad you came. A very interesting business program and entertaining social features made the meeting profitable for the press men and women, whose numbers were slightly less than the ordinary attendance, but none the less enthusiastic. A very delightful trip, a charming city, and a profitable convention.

A Change of Scenery. Back toward home Saturday afternoon over a different route, by way of Abilene, Breckenridge, and Mineral Wells, where a most pleasant week-end as the guests of the Crazy Water Hotel added the finishing touches to a perfect trip. That thriving resort city, not so far from this section as one might at first think, is growing in importance and has a constantly lengthening list of guests there for their health and recreation. The country between Mineral Wells and Hico is a panorama of ecstatic beauty at this time of the year, and well worth a trip for its inspection.

No Place Like Home. Back home on Monday to find that the business had been left in good hands, and that everything had rocked along pretty well without the editor. A few office visitors to fraternize with, and enough work to keep us out of trouble. Indeed it is just as we told one of these visitors—Hico has been good to the editor of its newspaper, just as her reputation for such in the past would lead one to believe. While there are minor worries from time to time, and more work sometimes than we like—at other times less business than we believe we should expect—still a pretty good old place in which to live when everything is considered. And again we say, we ought to be glad we're living, for there are so many things to be thankful for when they are counted up.

Another's Viewpoint. Along comes a promising young band salesman from the old home town, who makes a struggling country newspaper man feel better by voicing his position that our position is enviable, living in such a nice town and surrounded by such delightful people. He can't see behind the curtain of course, and know that all is not play with no work—but nevertheless his opinions have a way of making one think about his good fortune in picking such a location. Eighteen holes of golf on the Blue Bonnet course, in company with two other valued citizens, in which said young b. s. from the o. h. t. displayed extraordinary skill but couldn't get his clubs to working in the style that it was evident that they usually work. But he is

Members of Hico Masonic Lodge Pay Visit to Stephenville

Quite a number of the members of the Hico Masonic Lodge were in Stephenville last Saturday night to attend the 70th anniversary celebration of the founding of Stephenville lodge. Those who attended from Hico were: Earle Harrison, Barto Gamble, Dr. J. D. Currie, W. I. Chenault, R. R. Alexander, Will Horsley, H. F. Sellers, A. C. Haynes, J. J. Leeth, J. W. Jordan, R. O. Moffatt, John Farmer, Jack Leeth, Marvin Marshall, M. A. Cole, E. S. Jackson, S. J. Check, and probably many others from this community whose names were not included in the above list.

The Hico visitors report a fine time, having enjoyed an address by Grand Master James W. McLendon of Austin, a free barbecue dinner, and plenty of entertainment.

The Stephenville lodge was organized June 12, 1861, and has functioned continuously since that time. Although the country was sparsely settled and but comparatively few people lived in this section of Texas, the lodge has had good interest and the concern of its members since the day it was organized. The Civil War, under way at the time of organization, apparently brought out a need for communion and close fellowship during those turbulent days.

During the past fifteen years the Stephenville lodge has shown marked progress. The Masonic temple being one of the most substantial buildings in the city and equipped with the finest furniture and equipment. Improvements have been steady and in line with the consistent growth of the lodge. Approximately 200 men in this city and surrounding territory hold membership here, this lodge is likely one of the largest fraternal organizations in point of membership in this section of Texas. The building and equipment of the lodge could very easily be appraised at a value of $15,000 according to many who have been questioned in this regard.

STATE FAIR TICKETS AVAILABLE LOCALLY AT OFFICE OF M-K-T
Mr. H. Smith, ticket agent for the M-K-T Railroad, announces that he has been named distributor in this city for the "five-for-one" admission tickets to the 1931 State Fair of Texas at Dallas, for a limited time only. Mr. Smith said, "people of this city and surrounding territory can buy five admission tickets to the State Fair for one dollar. This is less than half the regular admission price, which for five tickets would be two dollars and fifty cents."

"This is the first time in the history of the State Fair that the price of admission tickets has been reduced," Mr. Smith explained. He is authorized for a short time by the State Fair directors at Dallas, because during the last few years so many new features and exhibits have been added that it is difficult for a person to see everything he is interested in in one day or evening. People from out of Dallas have had to go away before they had seen all of the many wonderful things to be seen, because there was too much to be crowded into one day.

"The special price of five tickets for one dollar gives everyone a chance to go five different times, or take other people along for less than half price."

Mr. Smith said that the tickets were now on sale at the ticket office. He urges everyone who wanted to save money on State Fair tickets to get them at once so as not to be disappointed, as the special price was for a limited time only.

TOO BIG... An Editorial from the Southwestern Ambassador

Much has been written in the past few years of our American desire for great size. The biggest this, that or the other thing is the basis for our boasting. Further, there is the fallacy, often repeated that we have come to believe it, "that failure to grow is to regress." This is without support in fact when applied to size. Nature has put on growth a wise limit. When man or beast, tree or flower, reach maturity they cease to expand in size, otherwise Mother Earth would certainly have to hang out a "standing room only" sign. Nor does the youth, come to manhood, immediately start a shrinking process, nor a tree arrived at its ultimately growth enter at once into a state of gradual decay. To each is given years of mature usefulness before decline begins.

In many things we long and strive for unwise bigness, size that often obscures the finer grain of quality or renders the thing unwieldy. Of this there is no better example than our big cities where our democratic type of government has largely failed by reason of the fact that the people as a whole can know little of those they elect to office; while in the myriad activities of municipal affairs the dishonest office holder can hide with ease his grafting or the abuse of his office for personal gain.

We believe that the day of the smaller city and of the town is at hand if they will but direct to improvement that same endeavor which in the past they have directed to numerical, commercial or industrial growth. Size is not a measure of comfort, of happiness or contentment. In a city it is assuredly not a factor in good or economical government. The crowded city with its milling masses, its rush of business, its whirlwind of amusements, provides far from ideal environment for the development of children into the clear-thinking, virile, cultured citizens which the nation needs.

HICO WAR VETERAN TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Fort Worth, June 17.—Mr. Chas. Gross, formerly of Hico, Texas and a member of the Harwood Davis Chapter of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, was recently elected at the annual meeting of the chapter, a delegate to the Convention to be held the last week in June in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Mr. Gross will leave for that place the early part of the week.

PASTOR WHO STOLE CAR TO DO LORD'S WORK, SENTENCED

NEWCASTLE, Ind.—Rev. Gean Poer, 25, pastor of a small church at Mooreland, Ind., near here; Saturday was sentenced to serve 10 to 10 years in the State Reformatory for stealing an automobile for use in visiting his rural parishioners.

Sentence was imposed on the young parson by Circuit Judge John H. Morris after Rev. Mr. Poer entered a plea of guilty to an affidavit charging him with vehicle taking. The affidavit filed by Prosecutor E. H. Yergin charged Poer with taking the machine of R. V. McGuire of Newcastle and using it for three months. It was in his possession when the pastor was arrested.

The preacher confessed stealing two other cars in Indianapolis which he also used "to carry on the Lord's work," according to Prosecutor Yergin.

In sentencing the pastor Judge Morris asked him whether he had anything to say. The young parson shook his head.

"I will recommend a parole for you at the end of a year," Judge Morris told the minister. While in jail here Rev. Mr. Poer explained to newspaper men that he was unable to buy a car on his salary of $20 a week and that he took the cars because "church work had to go on."

Glen Rose Paper Purchased By Cleburne Man

(Cleburne Times-Review)
James E. Prendergast, prominent Cleburne resident, announces his purchase of the plant and equipment of the Glen Rose Reporter, weekly newspaper.

Mr. Prendergast takes charge immediately and will issue his first paper June 19. The purchase was made from J. L. Collins, who for more than 20 years has been publishing the paper at Glen Rose.

With an experience of eleven years in the business and advertising departments of the Cleburne Morning Review and Times-Review, Mr. Prendergast plans to extend the territory of the Glen Rose paper materially, building his circulation primarily. He says that he will conduct the publication on a conservative basis and will work to cover the field in a comprehensive and complete manner.

Mr. Prendergast will reside in Cleburne for the time being but will move to Glen Rose when he has the paper well under way. Carey Wylie will remain in charge of the mechanical department.

TWO RADIO SETS, AND LIFEBOAT TO BE ON LINDBERGH'S PLANE

NEW YORK.—Two radio sets, a lifeboat and plenty of food and water are part of the emergency kit the Lindberghs have had installed in the plane they will fly to the Orient this summer.

Colonel Lindbergh disclosed this week the preparations for the safety of his wife and himself in case of a crash at sea. The boat, food and wireless outfits will be stored in a tail compartment of the machine. They will bob out automatically if the heavy plane submerges.

The lifeboat is a collapsible contraption, to be inflated from a bottle of compressed air. It is just a bundle now, but when blown up will hold them safely excepting in turbulent seas, and is has a mast and sail.

The radio that goes with it has a day radius of 500 miles and a night reach of up to 3,000. The flier and his pilot-wife have been studying the continental code and will be able to operate the radio easily. They also have a larger set in the plane, with a range of from 3,000 to 7,000 miles.

Brownwood Royal Arch Masons Here To Confer Degree

TO DRUGGIST MEET

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Porter and daughter, Martha, left early Wednesday morning for Dallas to be in attendance at the 52nd annual convention of the State Pharmaceutical Association.

The convention lasts four days, but the Porters expected to come home about Friday.

FOOLISH FLIGHT

Most of us no doubt agree with the wether bureau officials in deprecating transatlantic flights by women, especially solo flights. The spectacle of two young women preparing to make this hazardous attempt is rather depressing. They have just as much right to try that stunt as men, it is conceded, but it is naturally felt that the odds are heavier against them—and they are heavy enough against men. Besides, the game is not worth the candle. Success would not be worth the risk. The Atlantic has been conquered time and again, by both women and men. It is true that the women have not yet produced a Lindbergh, but they ought to be willing to let the men have one little record to themselves. There is no question about the women having the "nerve."

AMERICANA

The United States Chamber of Commerce, in recent session, is deciding that something is wrong with business—really!

Al Capone denying in a magazine article that he is dead. Renting of the lawn of the court house at Beardstown, Ill., as a miniature golf course.

Keeping Up With TEXAS

Hordes of grasshoppers invaded the business section of El Paso Monday night and in some places piled up more than a foot deep. Police scooped up box loads and gave them to fishes in public parks. E. C. Martin, county farm agent, communicated with his state headquarters about methods of combating the pests.

Members of the Texas Pharmaceutical association, meeting in Dallas Monday in their 52nd annual convention, were expected to be asked to join in a protest against the state cigarette tax recently passed by the legislature.

Foard County experienced its third disastrous wheat fire within two weeks Monday afternoon when about 220 acres of wheat in the 265-acre field on the S. W. Knox farm, six miles south of Crowell, were wiped out before the fire was brought under control by scores of people, using every available method, including the Crowell chemical truck, to combat it. The blaze started when a tractor pulling a combine in the field back-fired.

Governor Ross Sterling will drive a three-ox team in the parade that will take place during Temple's celebration of its 50th anniversary, June 29th. Invitations have been sent to all former residents of Temple to return for the birthday party, which begins with the parade.

Six additional United States highway routes were given Texas by the executive committee of the United States Association of State Highway Officials, W. C. Markham, executive secretary of the association, Monday notified Gibb Gilchrist, Texas highway engineer. United States Route 377 was extended from its present Southern terminus at Fort Worth to Stephenville in Erath County. It follows Texas Highway No. 10, which is paved to Stephenville.

A Mexican was injured and three houses on the S. A. J. Willingham farm, twelve miles west of Rotan, were blown away Monday night in a wind, rain and hailstorm that swept a strip of territory two miles wide and several miles long. The Mexican was hurt when the house in which he was living was blown away.

A noiseless burglar Sunday night robbed several homes at Pampa, but his most indignant victim Monday was C. S. Boston, grocer, whose alarm clock the burglar turned off, causing Boston to miss a 3 a. m. train. Not only did Boston miss the train, but the burglar stole his watch.

Walter Hoffman and his wife flying an autogyro, New York to California, were being held under technical arrest in Ojinaga, Mexico, Monday after landing there Sunday while on a hop from San Antonio to Marfa. Hoffman became confused when he reached a railroad not shown on his map and followed it under the impression it was the Southern Pacific one leading into Marfa. It was the new Santa Fe road to Ojinaga.

Explosion of what is believed to have been a dynamite cap tore the left hand of E. G. Clark to shreds early Tuesday morning in Waco. The explosion occurred in the rear of a restaurant on South Third Street. The hand was blown off at the wrist. Mr. Clark is an elderly man living a few miles north of Waco. A charge of violating the prohibition law against Mr. Clark, set for Tuesday morning in the Federal Court, was continued by Judge Charles A. Boynton when informed of the injury sustained by him.

Klesel, a poor tenant farmer on the edge of Schulenburg, working on his farm last week, found $6,500 in currency rolled up in $100 bundles. He refused to reveal the spot where he found it. "It's my money," he said, "and I don't have to tell where I found it. There may be more there." The money was all in bills, most of them on the old Lumberman's National Bank of Houston. Klesel said each bundle was tied with a piece of string. Some of the bills were musty, indicating they had been in the ground while others smelled strongly of camphor balls, indicating they had been hidden in a trunk.

Herbert Scales, socially prominent young Dallas sportsman and clubman, and two other men, Ralph Arnold and John Cherris, held in Dallas for Memphis authorities in connection with the $29,100 robbery, May 4, of the Union Planters National Bank and Trust company of Memphis, Wednesday agreed to waive extradition and return to Memphis.

Mrs. Jack Shannon, 31, was killed by lightning Wednesday as she opened a wire gate on a farm near Hawley. Her body was found a few minutes later by her husband who had been forced in doors by the rain. He had been plowing.

WHEN TO ADVERTISE

The question most frequently asked of advertising men is: "When should I advertise?"

There are two kinds of advertising—constructive and destructive. The question can be answered by the simple expedient of destructive. The question can be answered by the simple expedient of determining which kind of advertising you prefer to have associated with your business.

Constructive advertising is consistent advertising; it builds business in much the same way that compound interest builds bank accounts. It pays dividends on dividends, gathers momentum with successive months and years of consistent effort, and finally attains such strength and vigor that it crashes through periods of depression with the irresistible force of a Coca-Cola or the contagious enthusiasm of a Frigidaire.

The question therefore answers itself. If you want to advertise constructively, the time to advertise is now—today, tomorrow, next week and next month.

Of course there is the other alternative. A commercial history of the country would reveal the interesting fact that almost every business advertiser, and if you prefer to advertise in the destructive way, that is your privilege. But did you ever stop to think what a destructive advertisement really is? An advertised bankruptcy sale is a destructive ad; a closing-out sale employs enormous space for destructive purposes.

Constructive advertising is cheaper, more pleasant, more profitable. Regardless of the amount of space used, fresh and interesting copy, constantly displayed in the columns of the newspaper leads the way to bigger, better business.

A little more constructive advertising would mean a little less depression. There is no question about it: the time to advertise is now.

AFTER THE DEPRESSION—WHAT?

We are indebted to Rockwell Smith, a real estate man of Van Nuys, California, for the collection of certain facts about financial depressions in the past, which should be valuable in predicting the future. Mr. Smith went through a file of newspapers back to the 1850's and find these facts:

- There was a business depression in 1857 lasting twelve months.
- There was a business depression in 1869 lasting eight months.
- There was a business depression in 1873 lasting thirty months.
- There was a business depression in 1884 lasting twenty-two months.
- There was a business depression in 1887 lasting ten months.
- There was a business depression in 1893 lasting twenty-five months.
- There was a business depression in 1903 lasting twenty-five months.
- There was a business depression in 1907 lasting nearly twelve months.
- There was a business depression in 1914 lasting eight months.
- There was a business depression in 1921 lasting fourteen months.

The important thing about these past panics, however, is that every one of them has been followed by flush times, and the longer the depression lasted, the longer and more active the "boom." The present depression has now lasted nearly twenty months. We can hardly say that the "boom" which will surely follow it has begun, but it is clearly on its way. And when it comes—oh, boy!

HIGHWAYS AND MOTOR VEHICLES

Slowly but surely we are making progress in the effort to find the best answer to all the questions which the automobile and the paved road have created. Just a few items from the week's news:

West Virginia has a new traffic law, effective the last of May, which makes it unlawful for anybody to drive so slowly as to impede or block the normal movement of traffic. The top speed limit, where conditions make it reasonable and prudent, is increased to 45 miles an hour. Slowly legislators are learning that it is carelessness, not speed, which is dangerous.

Two of the big oil companies have notified the French authorities that they will discontinue roadside posters. Here's hoping they follow the same practice in America.

The American Road Builders' Association reports that the value of highways and motor vehicles in the United States is now around thirty billion dollars. We spend, as a people, eight billion dollars a year for the operation and upkeep of cars, an average of $300 a year for each of the 27,000,000 autos. We buy 14,000,000,000 gallons of "gas" and pay in gasoline taxes and registration fees about eight hundred million dollars. Outside of that, the cost of maintaining improved highways is about $200,000,000 to the taxpayers at large. But everybody benefits by good roads and motor transportation, whether he runs a car or not.

This Week in WASHINGTON BY RADFORD MOBLEY AUTOCASTER WASHINGTON BUREAU

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Hoover's frank appeal to all citizens of the country to aid him in his efforts to restore normalcy is considered by political observers here to be one of his greatest speeches. It was delivered at Valley Forge, and the President used General Washington's troubles in Revolutionary days as a background against which to picture present difficulties.

Mr. Hoover's greatest drawback has been the way the general public has pictured him as a cold, calculating machine, undemocratic in the extreme. At Valley Forge he touched everyone's heart by the short expression, "I have my troubles also." That phrase, following his assertion that there could be no hope for a change in the financial or employment situation through governmental agencies alone, formed a plea for help that will do more to win him support than anything else he could have said or done, it is thought here.

Mr. Hoover's words carried conviction, both from what he said and the way he said it. Radio listeners, who must have numbered millions, heard a warm, logical, sympathetic voice speaking to them, a voice vastly different from that heard in the few campaign workers at that time asserted were of little benefit in winning votes because of their mechanical delivery and precise phrasing.

The President unquestionably won many warm supporters by his Valley Forge speech and it will probably be translated into much helpful activity on the part of those who had felt that Hoover's voice was more the voice of big business than a fellow-citizen, sorely tried by the mishaps of drought and financial unsteadiness that overcame the country in the first two years of his administration.

Wheat corners have intrigued the imagination of growers for three generations, in which time Jim Patten, J. Ogden Armour and others have headed purchases of wheat that staggered the country. The Federal Government has just successfully managed the greatest corner of wheat in history, not even being able to make the front pages of newspapers with it because the element of uncertainty was lacking.

Carrying 250,000,000 (million) bushels, as it did, at a price varying from around 84 to 81 cents, there has never been a question that the bottom of the nation's pocketbook would ever be reached, forcing the "pool" to dump its holdings with a consequent terrific drop in price. The pool was engineered by the Grain Stabilization Corporation, the Farmers' National Board and the Federal Farm Board, all government institutions. While the pool has cost the country money, yet the loss to individual farmers would have been enormous had the corner not been run and the country would ultimately have been carried through. Due to the government's trading, all operations have been accomplished in an orderly manner and deliveries have been prompt at all times.

Retirement of Charles C. Teague California vice-chairman of the Farm Board, which became effective on the first of the month, served to focus attention on the many cooperatives fostered by the government during his tenure of office. The institution of the revolving fund during Teague's work with the board, enabled producers to weather many storms of lowered prices, due to the adoption of systems far more orderly marketing of farm products.

Teague declared in his letter made public by the President, that government aid alone had saved many of the co-operatives from perishing in their early operations and that as the benefits of the Agricultural Marketing Act become better known, the growers will hail it as one of the most constructive measures of the present administration. He says he is firmly convinced that more progress has been made in marketing food products in the past two years than in any previous ten-year period in the country's history.

A curious finding was uncovered by the Department of Agriculture this month. It is that wheat ranks sixth in importance in all crops and not first, as many believe. It is exceeded by cotton, milk, hogs, cattle and calves, and eggs and chickens. Cotton accounts for 14.59 per cent of the average farmer's income, milk being a fraction less. Wheat averaged only 7.89 of the total income from farm products.

Alone At Last By Ted Brown

GOLD New gold discoveries are reported from Mexico and South Australia. How rich they are has not yet been determined. The Australian "reef" has long been a tradition under the name of "Aladdin's Cave," so rich it is supposed to be in the precious metal. The Mexican bonanza is said to be also rich in silver, lead and petroleum. Both regions are in territory occupied by hostile natives. If either report proves true there will be another great slaughter of aborigines who stand in the way of the white man's greed, and there will be such an addition to the world's gold supply as to still further complicate the money problem. Gold will be cheaper, which means that prices will be higher. It is doubtful whether society as a whole will be any better off.

VACATION The health officer of Newark, N. J., recently required everybody living in a certain section of the city, some 1,400 persons, to be vaccinated. There was, of course, the usual protest on the part of ignorant and wrong-headed persons who "don't believe in" vaccination. The world is full of people who "don't believe in" the facts of modern science. Not long ago the same sort of people "didn't believe in" flying machines.

The fact is that vaccination has resulted, in 132 years, in making smallpox a minor and controllable infection in every civilized country. Vaccination is not pleasant, and there are people who are unhappy when deprived of the privilege of shooting off revolvers at random. Society has to protect the many against the undisciplined few, whether the menace be pistols or smallpox.

TRICKERY The more I see of the motion picture business the less respect I have for the methods and morals of the movie magnates.

The latest scheme to lure the public to the pockets of the talkies. Some of the films which are being shown are honest enough. They are distinctly labelled as advertising, and anybody who doesn't want his evening's entertainment commercialized can get up and go out. But there are others in which the advertising—of which the movie producers take money—is cleverly introduced in so-called feature pictures. Yet the local exhibitors are asked to pay just as much for these films as for any others.

CHAINS There is nothing illegal about chain stores, but the Supreme Court of the United States has decided that any state has the right to tax them at a different rate from other businesses.

There is nothing unreasonable about this, so long as the tax is not high enough to drive them out of business. The chain store fills a place in our present social-economic system, as is proved by the amazing development of numerous organizations operating hundreds or thousands of retail outlets. The independent local merchant, however, fills a much more important place in his community, and is entitled to protection. Local merchandising methods, especially in the smaller communities, have been greatly improved by reason of chain-store competition and example, and it would be a loss to most towns if chain stores should be suppressed and the old, slipshod, inefficient retailing methods which once prevailed almost everywhere, were to return.

PENSIONS I take off my hat to John Hawkes of Beacon, N. Y. Mr. Hawkes is 72 years old. He heard that the State of New York had adopted an old age pension law, so he went to the town hall and applied for his allowance. As he was out of work, the application was granted and he collected $90 in the course of a few weeks.

Then he learned that the old-age pension was only for persons who were dependent upon others, or unable to earn a living. That put another light on it in the eyes of old John Hawkes. He went out and got himself a job and before long walked into the town hall again. He laid $90 on the clerk's desk and told him to give it to some body that couldn't earn anything. He was willing to take an old-age pension, but not when it carried the stigma of pauperism with it!

John Hawkes is the sort of American that one can be proud of. He puts self-respect above money. There are too many men younger than he who are content to live on charity; too few who refuse to accept anything they have not earned.

HICO LADY AND HER DAUGHTER ATTENDING SUMMER INSTITUTE

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

International Sunday School Lesson for June 21 CAUSING OTHERS TO STUMBLE

Romans 14:13-23 Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

The Minneapolis Times said on March 2, "Prohibition has come to the forefront as the leading national issue." This was the opinion after a poll had been taken. Administration of Justice was second on the list. Thus in giving attention to the quarterly temperance lesson you are but in harmony with the popular study of the day.

Paul was writing to the Romans from Corinth and took his illustration from things that were taking place in that city. Animals were killed and certain parts only offered to idols in worship. The rest was meat absolutely good for food. Many Christians objected to eating meat which had first been offered to idols. The Apostle says that respect should be paid to personal opinion and a thing omitted for the sake of the good in another which might not be any harm in itself. He gave as a good reason for such conduct: "For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink, but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Spirit." The question about how much we will give up for the sake of another centers around the consideration of how much we really love our fellow man and desire his greatest good.

Carle Conway, head of the Continental Can Company, has a customer in Massachusetts who makes cranberry sauce.

One day when Wall Street was thinking that the world was going to this Yankee manufacturer and found him very serene. They dined together, and after dinner the talk turned to world business conditions which, says Carle, "seem to have eliminated prohibition from conversation, so that there is that much to be said in favor of depression at least."

The cranberry man said: "During the war I was making cranberry sauce and we were not able to get sugar except at an exorbitant price. Every one in the industry said we had better go out of business because we had to have sugar to make cranberry sauce, and sugar at thirty cents a pound would stop sales."

"I went into a huddle with myself that night and came to the conclusion that I would let the customers decide whether they would buy cranberry sauce made with thirty-cent sugar; that I had just one job in the world and that was to run my business, and I was going to let the world take care of itself, and every one else take care of himself, and I was going to figure how I could take care of my business and solve the problems each day as they came along."

"I did not think I was big enough to help or harm the world's progress, but I did think I could help or harm my own business."

"SIMPLE" LARYNGITIS By this term, I mean the sort of "hoarseness" that has no chronic tubercular, or other complicated nature. Its cause is, sudden exposure to extremes of temperature, or over-use of the vocal organs in an improper manner. Clergymen get it frequently—and amateur vocalists; children with adenoids, large tonsils—and those who breathe through the mouth, from nasal or other respiratory infection is usually sudden; its duration depends upon the treatment employed. When, in the case of singers, hoarseness and husky voice appears, REST is the treatment; perfect silence, if it can be enforced, may be maintained for 24 or 48 hours and will produce wonderful results. Simple gargling with warm water containing a mild antiseptic such as boric acid, is good home treatment.

"Croup," now seldom heard of, is laryngitis in the simple form. For a long time diphtheria was called "membranous croup," singularly fatal before the discovery of anti-toxin; the improved treatment is little less than a God-send which has almost banished terror of this, one of childhood's most fatal maladies. The simple laryngitis of childhood may or may not disable the youngster. The hoarseness precedes the loud, barking cough. The attack may be cured in two, or three days, by attention to the bowels and hygiene of the child; minute doses of any good cough remedy helps to disperse the annoying cough; I employ one with a little syrup of ipecac, to secure relaxation of the skin and to favor sweating; of course the little patient is kept in an even temperature until he is well; and his play outdoors should be undertaken gradually, until he is well used to the pure out-door air. Lobelia is very useful in "spasmodic croup," but it should be given under the supervision of your doctor.

POLICE SEIZE 320 GALLONS IN RAID ON DISTILLERY AT HOME IN DALLAS

A complete whisky distillery of large capacity and 320 gallons of 110 proof whisky was seized by Dallas officers Friday night in a raid on a handsome two-story brick residence on Swiss avenue, in Munger Place, East Dallas.

A baby's half-filled nursing bottle, scattered garments for a baby and for grown-ups and other disorder in the place indicated that occupants had made a hasty exit just ahead of the police. In the pockets of a coat and on other papers in the house the officers found the name of a man who apparently had been in the place shortly before their arrival.

One of the officers said that appearances indicated that an affair might have occurred there shortly before the police reached there. The lights were out and investigators found that a fuse had blown out prior to their arrival.

The distillery boiler was of 300 gallons capacity, was large in diameter and fairly shallow in depth. Large gas burners of special construction were used to heat the boiler, which, police said, was prepared so it could be brought to a boil in an exceedingly short time.

The entire upper floor, with the exception of one bedroom, was occupied by the distillery. In two rooms were seven large galvanized iron tanks, in which officers said, was at least 5,000 gallons of mash. The mash was made by use of malt syrup, sugar and yeast, a concoction that ferments speedily and yields a high alcohol percentage.

The plant was provided with a power pump for transferring mash and waste. Utility men on investigation reported connections had been run around their meters to prevent suspicion from being aroused on that score. The still boiler was connected to a flue with an airtight copper paint so that fumes would all be carried high above the building.

The whisky was in ten-gallon barrels and half-gallon fruit jars. Electric machines for artificial aging of whisky were attached to several of the barrels.

A record book showed liquor productions for one week to be slightly more than 900 gallons, with 185 gallons being the highest run for a single day. The plant was shut down on one day that week, the record showed.—Dallas News.

72-YEAR OLD WOMAN BEGINS 2800-MILE TRIP IN NEW CHEVROLET COACH

Grandma Stewart, who recently celebrated her 73rd birthday, is piloting her new Chevrolet coach on the long road between Detroit and San Pedro, California. She left the Motor City a few days ago and expects to cover the 2,800 mile journey in about thirteen days.

And Mrs. Stewart, although she speaks of herself, and is known to a host of friends and relatives as Grandma Stewart—will drive every foot of the way. She has made the trip five times, usually alone, and although she has two friends with her on this journey neither of them can drive.

Mrs. Stewart, whose home is in California, has been visiting her son in Detroit. With her visit drawing to a close, she decided to "shop around for a new car" to make the long trip back home.

In shopping around, Mrs. Stewart was so favorably impressed with the performance of the new six cylinder Chevrolet coach and its reputation for economy that she decided on its purchase after a thorough demonstration by a Detroit dealer.

Although a native daughter of Illinois, Mrs. Stewart has lived in California, where she operates a chicken farm, since 1916.

Hints for the Home by Nancy Hart

Strawberry Cup

Strawberry cup is an easily prepared dessert which makes use of sweet berries in a delicious way. Line a glass dish or individual dishes with split lady fingers, and fill in the centers with the sweet berries and whipped cream. Serve very cold.

With Mutton

Soak a tablespoonful of haricot beans overnight. Cut the mutton into small pieces, and fry them just brown in a little dripping. Peel and cut up a carrot, turnip, and onion, and fry them for five minutes in the fat the meat was fried in.

Put the meat in a casserole or stewpan, with a seasoning of salt and pepper, the vegetables, and haricot beans. Just cover with water. Bring to the boil, remove any scum, then simmer for two hours. Two cutlets or four if small, may be cut off from the neck of mutton and grilled or fried in egg and breadcrumbs and served with mashed potatoes, or surrounded with boiled macaroni and tomato sauce.

A Good Vegetable Salad

One of the tea rooms in a big city makes a specialty of this vegetable salad: Lettuce as a foundation. In one lettuce cup a big spoonful of potato salad mixed with mayonnaise; in another a pile of diced pickled beets. Then a slice of tomato, a spoonful of string beans, and two stalks of asparagus. The whole is dressed with French dressing.

Currant Biscuits

Sift together two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder and one teaspoon salt. Cut in with a silver knife one tablespoon butter. Gradually add three-quarters of a cup of milk or enough to make a soft dough. Place it on a floured board and pat it to half an inch thickness. Sprinkle it with cinnamon, sugar and dried currants. Roll and cut in half-inch slices and bake in a quick oven.

Left-Over Pork

Cut the pork into small dice. For a pound of it you will need two medium sized onions finely chopped, two apples coarsely chopped, four level tablespoons of butter, a scant tablespoon of flour, a teaspoon of lemon juice, a cup of stock—which may be made from gravy or a beef cube—a little dry mustard and salt and pepper. Melt the butter in a stewpan and add the onions and fry until tender and slightly browned. Add the apple and fry until tender but not broken. Sprinkle in the flour and a small pinch of mustard, stir and let cook very gently for a few minutes and then add the stock and stir while it cooks for four or five minutes. Add the meat, lemon juice and salt, mustard and pepper to taste. Let it heat thoroughly and serve with mashed potatoes or rice.

NINE SAVED FROM DEATH IN SAN ANTONIO FIRE

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 17.—Nine persons, including a 72-year-old woman and a 2-month-old baby, were rescued from flames when the building in which they were living burned almost to the ground Wednesday.

S. E. Cross, operator of a recreation hall on the second floor of the building, was awakened by the heat and smoke and jumped to the ground from a window when he found that he was cut off from the stairway by the flames. He obtained a ladder, which he placed below a window of the apartment occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Day and their infant daughter, and they were able to descend in safety.

F. A. Eicholtz, who operates a cafe on the ground floor, was awakened by the cries of his neighbors and led his wife and son, Billy, out of the building. Mrs. Helen Aaron, proprietor of a fruit stand in the building, also made her way out through the smoke with her son, Mark.

A. I. Pirtle underwent an operation in Providence Hospital at Waco last Thursday, and reports coming from the hospital are that he is doing nicely. Mrs. Pirtle has been at his bedside constantly, and his parents and other relatives and friends have made frequent visits there to see him.

Master Guy Melton Crews of Alford, is here visiting his aunt, Mrs. R. F. Duckworth and family. His grandfather, C. C. Crews, was at one time editor of the Hico paper, when it was the Hico Courier. He and Guy Melton's father are editors and owners of the Alford News.

Miss Oran Jo Pool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pool of Hico, is now taking piano under the famous concert pianist, Carlos Buhler, of Paris France, who is now at Baylor University, Waco, for the summer. There are only two places in America that the musician is stopping, and one is Waco and the other is Denver, Colorado.

Miss Minnie Jackson, of Dallas who has been visiting relatives in Gatesville for the past few days, returned to Hico Sunday. Her brother, Holland, went over after her. Miss Minnie is planning on leaving soon for Mexico City, to enter the Mexico University to attend summer school.

Mrs. E. S. Jackson and her brother, Ray Ridenhower, went to Brownwood Tuesday where Mr. Ridenhower had his tonsils removed. Olin Ridenhower of Junction, met them there, and was also with Ray when the minor operation was performed.

When naked black savages were bought and sold on the African Coast, a missing tooth meant fifty dollars docked from the price, and if their teeth were bad, they were not considered of enough value to take at any price. And yet in this land of ours, people of intelligence seem to place absolutely no value on their teeth. Children can live to old age without losing their teeth, with very little trouble and expense. See your dentist and keep yourself and family physically fit.—C. C. BAKER, Dentist. (3-4tc)

Misses Elizabeth Huchingson and Mavis Warren left last week for New York City, where they will be the guests of Miss Huchingson's aunt. Both young ladies expect to do some school work this summer. Miss Warren will study speech art, and Miss Huchingson will take voice. They made the trip to New York by auto, being guests of Mr. and Mrs. Scaggs of Winters.—Dublin Progress.

Miss Huchingson is quite well known in Hico, having made frequent visits here with her aunt, Miss Jonnie Huchingson. Hico friends wish her a summer of joy and happiness during her stay in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Joiner were called to Covington Sunday to attend the funeral services of her nephew, Floyd Pollard, who was killed by lightning near their home five miles east of Hillsboro Saturday afternoon, while chopping cotton in their field. A cloud was approaching, and he with his father, were preparing to go to the house, and as Floyd stooped down to pick up the water jug, was struck in the head by a bolt and killed instantly. His shoes and clothing were stripped from his body. His father who was several feet away from him was knocked down. Floyd liked only seven days being twenty-one years of age. Funeral services were held at Covington Sunday afternoon and the body laid to rest in the Covington cemetery.

TARLETON AGRICULTURAL DIRECTOR WARNS OF DANGER FROM WEEVILS

STEPHENVILLE.—In an interview the first of the week, Neal Gearreald, director of the School of Agriculture in John Tarleton College, said that records of entomologists show that there is a larger emergence of cotton boll weevils this year than any previous record shows; and since the control of weevils for the present crop cannot be accomplished by indirect means, the control problem reduces itself to the one primary thing of poisoning. According to Farmers Bulletin 1329, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, it will pay to poison boll weevils: "If the weevils are really injuring the crop seriously, and if the land is sufficiently fertile to yield at least one third bale per acre with weevil injury eliminated, and if the farmer organization is such that the farmer feels assured that the poison application will be made at the right time and in the right manner, and if they are willing to spend the full amount necessary to provide an adequate supply of dusting machinery and poison. One should not poison if the cost of calcium arsenate, the cost of labor to apply it, and the depreciation on the dusting machine will total more per acre than the current value of 100 pounds of seed cotton."

There are so many over-wintered weevils this year that likely a pre-square dusting is desirable, which should be applied when the squares begin to form. The other dustings should be applied three or more times at four or five day intervals, beginning when ten per cent of the squares show weevil punctures.

Rather complete directions for poisoning are given in leaflet number 37, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, and Farmers Bulletin number 1329, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. Briefly summarized, they are as follows: Use only pure calcium arsenate in the form of a dry powder with not less than forty percent to tal arsenic pentoxide, not more than 75-100 per cent water soluble arsenic pentoxide, density, not less than eighty nor more than 100 cubic inches per pound. Use four to six pounds per acre for each application except in the pre-square dusting. Use only dusting machinery constructed for cotton dusting; poison only when the air is calm and the plants are moist. In most sections, this means making only night applications. Keep cotton thoroughly dusted until the weevils are under control. When the infestation has been reduced to less than ten percent, discontinue the poisoning until the weevils again become injurious. If heavy rains fall within twenty four hours after the dusting, repeat the application immediately. Do not expect to eradicate weevils; poisoning merely controls them sufficiently to permit a crop, and weevils can always be found even in a successfully poisoned field. It is well to leave an occasional plot of your field untreated for comparison with the poisoned area.

The hand gun type of duster will generally take care of about eight acres of cotton; the saddle gun type will care for about forty to fifty acres; the one mule machine will generally care for about sixty acres and the two mule cart type will care for about 100 acres. A power cart duster will care for about 200 to 300 acres. Detailed information concerning boll weevil control may be secured from the State Experiment Station.

The important thing to remember, Mr. Gearreald said is "do it right or not at all."

Very little revenue from wheat will be realized by farmers, and all possible efforts should be expended in making the cotton crop help Texas farmers gain a new hold. Mr. Gearreald has used the above method very successfully on the 500 acre Tarleton farm.

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. Darrow, Extension Service Editor.

Two acres of beets, planted in October by A. M. Stone of Petronia community, Nueces county, completely fed 110 hogs, and furnished succulent feed for 40 dairy cows and calves, 15 sheep and four mules during April. A total of 3000 pounds of beets were fed and Mr. Stone said he had enough left for another 30 days.

Thirty-five acres of alfalfa started in February 1928, have made $1350 from November to April for E. Clay Williams, Bastrop county demonstrator. He grazed 150 head of hogs from November to March, which was worth 50 cents per head per month to him, he says, and then took them off to cut a 1-2 ton-per-acre hay crop in April worth $30 per acre after counting out baline costs. More hay crops are coming.

By feeding a good ration and having good pastures, four Coryell county dairy herd demonstrators have found that they can produce butterfat for 12 cents per pound feed cost. Their ration, including grinding, costs $1.10 per hundred and is made up of 200 pounds ground corn cob and shuck, 100 pounds ground oats, 100 pounds cottonseed meal, and six pounds each of lime and salt.

Thirty-seven Lynn county home demonstration club women have made 494 pounds of American cheese worth 40 cents per pound on the local market. It cost them about 15 1/2 cents per pound with milk valued at 12 cents per gallon and labor at 25 cents per hour.

The ribbon wreath is used here on a little girl's dress but would be as appropriate on an older girl's dress of the demure sort. The ribbon wreath may be bought at the needlework department in your favorite store. If you cannot get ribbon wreath you may use a very narrow soft ribbon instead. The work is not difficult. It is applied by means of a large daisy stitch that is as simple to do as its name suggests.

On a white dress the flowers may be done in pink with green for the leaves and yellow for the French knots. Violet may be used for the flowers alone or with pink. On a pink dress the flowers may be of light blue or of white and pink; white or yellow flowers are attractive on blue.

Small bouquets of this sort may be used effectively on negligees or to decorate sachets, lingerie cases and other dainty dressing room accessories.

Flowers are used in a wide variety of ways on the summer dresses. A lawn collar used on a black flat crepe dress is edged with white lace flowers which also edge the short sleeves of black flat crepe. A white chiffon dress is trimmed along the lower edge of the skirt with a row of black lace roses applied to the chiffon.

In spite of the fact that more naturalistic flowers of silk, velvet, etc., have returned to favor for evening and afternoon wear, the conventionalized rather formal flowers are still favored for street wear and in Paris those of white pique, black patent leather and lizard skin are decidedly smart.

TARLETON PROFESSOR ENTERS STATE CONTEST FOR POET LAUREATE

STEPHENVILLE.—Professor J. O. Garrett, head of the modern language department at John Tarleton College and a world traveler, has entered the contest for Poet Laureate of Texas. Garrett has been writing poetry since he was 17 and has had four volumes of his work accepted for publication by a well known Boston publisher. He is a man about forty, a native Texan. He was educated in Texas schools, working his way through several private schools and small colleges and finally taking both his B. A. and M. A. degrees from Texas Christian University in Fort Worth. The poet laureate will be selected by five judges on Texas Legislature Day at the State Fair in Dallas in October.

(By Observer)

Wonderful Shops No other city in the world, unless it may be Paris and London, can compare with New York for its shops. One can find tricky little clocks right from the Swiss Alps, dried olives from Greece, which natives of that country swear are infinitely better than the best California queen olives, Armenian pastries and confections shawls from Persia, and in fact almost everything in the world has to offer in the way of novelties and luxuries.

Turning the old proverb around, a woman and her money are soon parted—if she goes shopping in New York.

New York Bargains

A half-page advertisement in the New York Sun the other night offered for sale a necklace at half price. The advertiser, a famous jewelry house, said they were willing to take $46,000 for it. They also offered a few diamond trifles around $10,000 or so.

There are lots of real bargains here if one can afford them.

Theatre Bargains

One good tip for visitors is about Joe Leblang's theatre ticket office, back of Gray's drug store at Forty-third Street and Broadway. If you get there half an hour before the theaters open and you can always pick up cheap theater tickets, usually at half price. Maybe they will not be for the show you have set your heart on seeing that night, but they will be for some show just about as good. Recently we acquired for $1.50 a pair of tickets for a first-class attraction that had been running here for months. It just happened to be one night that the house had failed to sell out and rather than let $100 worth of seats go unsold, the theatre rushed over a block of seats to Leblang's and they were sold over the counter. Joe Leblang, who founded this business, died the other day, leaving a million.

Novel Ticket Selling

Whenever a pair of tickets comes in that way to Gray's store, a man on a stool back of the counter calls out what he has and the waiting crowd surges forward and the first one to get to him buys the tickets and darts out for the show.

As far as we have ever seen, this town is the only one in the world that has an establishment like Gray's.

Where Chorines Buy

Dresses that sold at the height of the winter season for $300 and even more, can be bought for less than $50 very often. And they have wonderful material in them. Hats are also something that can be bought for little money, provided one knows where to hunt.

One of the favorite districts for bargains is in mid-town, right off the theatrical part of town. Chorus girls and actresses with thrifty dispositions do all their buying in little shops where marvelous deals can be made and where bargaining in the good old French way still exists as part of the business. Loaded with $25 or $30 in currency, with luck, a well-dressed woman can return home even better dressed and with bargains that she will brag about for months.

Furs

One of the lines in which the greatest apparent bargains can be obtained is in furs. For $50 one can buy a Hudson seal coat that looks wonderful—in the window. Fur scarfs for $15 are plentiful and other furs are accordingly priced.

Nearly every shop girl in New York has her furs, all bought and paid for on infinitely small wages. That they have to skimp on their food to pay for the finery goes without saying, but they get them, and look really smart in them, unless they happen to brush close to a woman who is expensive and govt. Then the contrast may be noted.

In the deals it is a case of caveat emptor. Let the buyer beware—that she knows what materials and styles really are.

Horses Expensive

If someone led a Percheron weighing 3,000 pounds down Broadway he would probably cause more excitement than if he towed a live dinosaur down the car tracks. The only horses seen in the city are the chunky truck horses and the fine saddlers one sees along the numerous bridle paths in city parks.

A good saddle horse can cost anything up to $1,500 without being a blue ribbon winner or the possessor of a long pedigree. The same horse would have cost General Grant about $150 while President Roosevelt could have mounted his Rough Riders, and probably did, for about $100 each.

In the last few years something has happened, either money is freer or the few who want horses are wealthier than the buyers of other days. To get a well-matched team that can do a mile in five minutes costs nearly as much as a Rolls-Royce—and they cost considerably more to keep and the depreciation is much heavier. Good horses are a profitable thing for any farmer to breed and raise.

rests on the fight the time they shot Babe, that was her husband. The one Babe got the bounty on."

both of you being Poole killers," she confessed, with a kind of shy defiance. "But it seems to me I had some excuse, with father killed just the day before. And I hadn't any sleep, remember, trying to get to Cold Spring and warn you the neighbors were sending men over to kill you and Babe. And getting trapped that way—and then when Babe said you shot my own brother for five hundred dollars, why—I just simply blew up for a minute."

Shoah would be funny if he was to run right onto her bunch of cattle. Be better if he'd let her come along, he reckoned. And somehow his spirits rose a little at the perfectly logical reason he had just discovered for wanting her with him.

The kid lifted his hat and swept the reddish waves of hair back off his forehead, settled his bullet-scarred hat at a careless tilt, pulled his holstered gun into position on his thigh and rode forward with an eager gleam in his eyes.

"Shucks! I nevah did think a word moab about it," the kid declared earnestly looking her straight in the eyes.

"A man on guard outside unhooked the chain and swung open the gate to let out a rider dragging a husky bull calf over toward the branding fire, where two calf wrestlers grabbed and threw him on his side with a thump.

"Line up with yoah backs this way," said the kid softly to Joe and the two calf wrestlers.

"You're not alone, you know very well I'm the meanest thing on earth! After all you've done, to—to do what I did and—and talk the way I've talked to you it makes me so ashamed."

"Well, I'm damned!" jarred from the slacked mouth of the man with the branding iron, Joe Hale, range foreman for the Poole.

"The kid didn't know or care what they thought about him. The kid was living in a world of his own, where a girl with yellow hair loved him enough to marry him and settle down. Gone into Badger now after help and the sheriff, to come and take this bunch with the evidence of the cattle right there behind them in the corral. Gone to bring a doctor out to fix up Babe's hands. But she'd be back, all right. And when she got here, the kid would take her over to the ranch and they'd tell her mother there was going to be a man in the family that shoah would be right on the job."

"Hate!" cried Nellie Murray, as one who stands aghast before so harsh a word. "Why, if you only knew—! And then she stopped and began to blush furiously, so that the crimson flood rushed up to the band of yellow hair on her temples.

"Rain washed me down the canyon, Babe."

"Well, they're all here, I guess," she remarked to the kid who, ten feet away, was kneeling beside the calf wrestler and was yanking the last knot tight. "You made quite a haul, didn't you, Bob?"

PITCHER'S BATTLE RESULTS IN WIN BY FAIRY OVER STEPHENVILLIANS

Handy Park of Stephenville went down in defeat before the masterful pitching of Patterson in Sunday's game played at Fairy, June 14th, 1931 at 3 P. M. Although outthrew five to four, the Fairyites took advantage of the breaks and piled up all their runs in their half of the first inning. No extra bases were poled and the game was a pitcher's battle from start to finish.

Fairy fans believe it was the most interesting game of the season and the Handy Park aggregation takes on the Fairyites at Stephenville Sunday, June 28th, at the return game.

Fairy goes to Pottsville Sunday, June 21st, for a return game with the Pottsville boys.

Mrs. E. W. Alexander was helping her husband rob a stand of bees Wednesday, and they didn't seem to appreciate her service any too well, for eighteen stung her in the back, but she has recovered now. Honey is good, but like everything else, it has its disadvantages, too.

THE TOYS

By Coventry Patmore
My little son, who looked from thoughtful eyes
And moved and spoke in quiet grown-up wise,
Having my law the seventh time disobeyed,
I struck him, and dismissed
With hard words and unkindness,
—His Mother, who was patient,
being dead.
Then, fearing lest his grief should hinder sleep,
I visited his bed,
But found him slumbering deep,
With darkened eyelids, and their lashes yet
From his late sobbing wet.
And I, with moan,
Kissing away his tears, left others of my own:
For, on a table drawn beside his head,
He had put, within his reach,
A box of counters and a red-veined stone,
A piece of glass abraded by the beach,
And six or seven shells,
A bottle with bluebells,
And two French copped coins,
ranged there with careful art,
To comfort his sad heart.
So when that night I prayed
To God, I wept, and said:
Ah, when at last we lie with tranquil breath,
Not vexing Thee in death,
And thou rememberest of what toys
We made our joys,
How weakly understood
Thy great commandment good,
Then, fatherly not less
Than I whom Thou has moulded from the clay,
Thou'll leave Thy wrath, and say,
"I will be sorry for their childishness."

Two New International Harvester Trucks

An engine with improved high-compression cylinder head makes possible the development of more power on less fuel in the operation of two new International Harvester 1 1-2 ton motor trucks. This and other features that facilitate maintenance and hold upkeep costs down help very much to place these new Internationals in a special class as low-cost hauling vehicles. With the exception of the rear axles and transmissions, the two units which are designated as Model A-2 and Model B-2 are similar in design.

The Model A-2 is equipped with a rear axle of the single-speed, spiral-bevel type and a transmission of the sliding gear, selective type, which is mounted as a unit with the engine and operates at four speeds forward and one reverse. Chassis of the A-2 is shown in the accompanying illustration. The Model B-2 is a new Six-Speed Special, and of course is equipped with a two-speed axle and three-speed transmission, which thus enable the truck to operate at six forward speeds and two reverse. Developed first as a 1-ton unit three years ago, the International Six-Speed Special with its low-speed range for the hard places such as sandy or muddy lanes or soft fields has won much renown as a sturdy hauling unit. Farmers, especially, by the thousands have speeded their work and lowered their operating costs by hauling with Six-Speed Specials.

The engine of the two new 1 1-2 ton trucks is of the four-cylinder L-head type with 3 5-8 inch bore and 4 1-2 inch stroke. The A-2 is being made with wheelbases of 136 inches and 160 inches and the B-2 with wheelbase of 136 inches. Four-wheel brakes and easily-operated, irreversible cam-and-lever steering gear are safety features also worthy of mention.

Tourists Spend $1,000,000,000 In U. S. Outdoors

H. F. Sellers has received a letter from D. E. Colp, chairman of the State Parks Board, enclosing an article from the American Game Association, which stimulates the argument that 150 dams between Fort Worth and San Antonio on the streams crossed by Highway No. 108 will return the greatest revenues of any investment that can be made.

The article follows: Washington, June 17.—What is the Great Outdoors from an economical standpoint, worth to each state in the Union? Several states have tried to answer this question, producing huge figures which, they admit, are conservative. The Great Outdoors is worth more than a billion dollars a year to the United States, according to estimates of the American Game Association.

Classing hunters and fishermen, tourists and vacationists under one head, their expenditures for nature outings would be staggering. For example, W. C. Henderson, associate chief of the United States Bureau of Biological Survey, has estimated that game and fish alone are worth $80,000,000 a year to the state of Maine. This sum is directly traceable to expenditures for hunting and fishing alone. The recreational and health values are incalculable.

The "Tourist Crop," including hunters and fishermen, is estimated by W. C. Cribbs, extension agent of Michigan State College, to be worth $200,000,000 annually to Michigan. This states Outdoors is the great lure. The "Tourist Crop" exceeds the combined return from Michigan's four great industries—fruit crop, $20,000,000; potato crop, $25,000,000; dairy industry, $80,000,000; and poultry industry, $60,000,000.

An editor, Mr. A. E. Andrews, of the Indiana Farmer's Guide, in estimating the value of the Tourist to Indiana, worked out a sound basis that every state may apply and arrive at an approximate of the tourist crop expenditure value within its borders.

After careful checking and re-checking, Mr. Andrews found that the average tourist spends nearly $1.00 with private enterprises to every cent spent with the state. Monies derived from the parks, hunting and fishing licenses, are not more than 1 per cent of the monies spent by the tourist, he said. Some tourists do not spend a cent with the state through these channels. By multiplying state monies received, $461,000 by 100 he figured that the tourist crop is worth $46,000,000 to his state annually.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Thomason of Port Lavaca were here over the week end, guests of his uncle, M. A. Smith.

Mrs. James Phillips, Goodwyn, May, Ruth and Marcelle Phillips, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Leeth and children of Hamilton, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Sanders and children of Iredell, spent Sunday in Corsicana with relatives.
