Seniors Plan Social Event For Friday Night.

Some seniors wait until the last week of school to give parties and other entertainments, but it is not so with this class. Friday night the Seniors will go in a group to the home of Mrs. Segrest, class sponsor, and indulge themselves in the roasting of wieners and marshmallows and in the playing of games which are appropriate for seniors.

Of course, this is a private senior occasion.

Assembly Program Presented by Senior Class.

For the second time this year, the seniors had charge of the assembly program. The program which they presented was:

Whistling solo, J. W. Dohoney.
Vocal Solo, Mattie Lee Goad.
"Ah Ah", a play by Elizabeth Boustead, Durward Lane, Bill Rusk, Carroll Smith, and Ohio Horton.
Piano solos, Charles Jones.

Next week the Juniors will have charge of the program.

Senior News.

Seniors are busy closing out their civics notebooks this week. From observing, we feel that if they had struggled as hard all the year long as they have been for the past two weeks, there would have been very few low grades.

Many of the students in high school have been grumbling about the noise from the auditorium this week. Well, it was only the seniors practicing for their assembly program, and not any one working on the building as some have suspected.

Some of the seniors feel that bookkeeping is one of the impossible things to learn, and maybe it is, anyway. Finals are coming next week and then the seniors will know more about bookkeeping than they do now.

Junior News.

The Juniors and in fact the whole school extends its regrets to a very popular student, Milton Gleason, who checked in his books on Tuesday morning to return to Tucuman, New Mexico. Milton says he is sorry to go but perhaps he will come again in the summer. We all hope so, especially one lonely little "Freshie."

The Sophomores Contribution

A man minus a luxuriant head of hair inquired of his favorite barber: "Do you guarantee this hair restorer, and are you absolutely sure that it will grow hair?"

Barber, anxious to make a sale: "Better than that, sir: We give an excellent comb with every bottle."

Freshman News.

The freshmen are glad to welcome a new student this week. He is O. D. Belcher and he came from Morgan. O. D. is taking a straight Freshman course of English, Algebra, General Science, and History.

One final exam will begin on Wednesday of next week and each member of the class is hoping for the best. We do think since we are so "fresh and young like" that the teachers should handle us with utmost care, and not burden us with difficult questions when giving the exams. We realize this isn't to the teachers' in rather broad, but hope they will see it, and have pity upon us.

Although Mr. Tiner says he did not choose the teaching of Ancient History as his profession in 1917, he still contends that "historians" should look after their personal appearance, and is carrying out his idea with the freshman boys. Each boy is told to wash his ears, hands and teeth, clean his finger nails, and wear a necktie. It seems that he has more trouble carrying out the latter than any other thing. So he decided that each boy who came to history class without his necktie should be punished by being "licked" with a ruler. This worked wonderfully. But one morning recently when Mr. Tiner was preparing for the lesson, he saw a broad smile on each boy's face, and when asked why they were in such fine spirits, one of them said, "Oh, Mr. Tiner, you forgot your necktie and will have to be punished." Being a good sport, the instructor chose one of the smaller boys to give the punishment. The class thought they should decide this matter since he had "disobeyed such a strict rule, so two of the huskiest lads, Jack Smith and Walton Gandy, did the lashing, and all were pleased with the results. Mr. Tiner has done some good work along this line, for the boys appear much neater and all of them praise him for his untiring efforts. They all say he can teach history too.

This year the teachers say that we, Freshies, are making good grades in conduct, which is unusual for beginners in High School. We want to make a record this year if possible, and make the school proud of us. Our material is of the very best, and most of the students realize that if you make good as a Freshman, your foundation is laid for the remainder of your High School days.

Painters Working On High School Building.

We've mentioned this about four times, but it has finally happened. The high school building is being painted. The color, which was gray has been changed to ivory and this helps the appearance of the building quite a lot. The top of the building is being treated to a coat of weather preserver paint. Work is being done by Spaulding and Son.

Final Exams Schedule.

Here is the schedule for final exams posted Tuesday. All exams will begin promptly at 9:00 in the morning and at 12:45 in the evening.

Bookkeeping Wednesday P. M. January 16.
All English Classes, Thursday P. M. Jan. 17.
All Math Classes, Thursday P. M. Jan. 17.
History and Civics, Friday, A. M. Jan. 18.
Science and Language Friday, P. M. Jan. 18.
Science and Language, Friday P. M. Jan. 18.

Now is the time for all poor students to get to work.

Social Sandbag.

Martha Masterson entertained Friday night for the bunch. After a few hands of bridge, the bunch went into the kitchen where they stirred up some fudge.

Mary Jan. Clark gave a farewell party for Milton Gleason Monday night. Dancing seemed to be the event of the evening. Those who were present were Ann Persons, Helen Louise Gamble, Guy Eakins, Laskie Randals, Otho Horton, Milton Gleason, Leighton Guyton and Mary Jane Clark.

Campus Hawk.

We wonder why Mary Jane looks so "down in the dumps" since Milton left.

Doris Johnson has been receiving letters from Haskell, Okla. Some of the Juniors sit up until 1:00 to write notes to boys.

A Duffau boy has been rushing Lorline.

Green sweaters and green finger nail polish go together real well.

We wonder why Mildred got called to the office.

Mary Hellon sure does enjoy getting notes from a certain Junior.

Glendene sure does miss Hobart. She must think the 6th period is a telegraph office or a concert hall instead of a study hall.

Madam X Column.

Dear Madam X: What is a lovers' knot?—Puzzled.

My Dear Puzzled: A lovers' knot is a negative to a proposal.—With love, Madam X.

Cranfill's Gap

By JAS. H. KNIGHT

The Ford building is nearing completion and we understand it has been leased and that Frazier Gaston will run a filling station there and that there will be a restaurant, barber shop, and a cleaning and pressing arrangement in the other departments.

Mr. and Mrs. Shorty Gaston are now occupying rooms at the Prather residence in old town.

Lots of moving lately. Ernest Rohne has moved to the farm he recently purchased from his mother. Mrs. Oscar Rohne in the Live Oak community. B. A. Purcell and family have moved to the farm vacated by Martin Mickle and family. Oh, shucks, there are too many to talk about. We hope they all did better by moving.

Conley Cox of near Stanton, Martin county, was here a few days ago visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cox, of the Boggy community. He took back some stock he had here.

Irvin Christenson leaves in a few days for Bryan where he has a very responsible position in the Allen Military school.

Mrs. Elsie Dodd, who is attending a medical school at Galveston, spent a part of the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Grimland and other relatives and friends. She was joined here by her husband, Dr. Dodd of Aspermont.

Miss Carice Christenson visited in the home of her father, P. L. Christenson and family during the holidays. She is taking a special course in nursing at the Mayo Bros. Sanitarium at Rochester, Minn., and is holding down a real good job also.

A building bee is buzzing around these parts. We hear of another business house and a residence—maybe so.

Twelfth Installment.

SYNOPSIS—Ellen Church, 17 years old, finds herself alone in the world with her artist mother's warning ringing in her ears, "love lightly." Of the world she knew little. All her life she had lived alone with her mother in an old brown house in a small rural community. Ellen, alone, turned to the only contact she knew, an art agent in New York, and, years of posing, was her talent so she was introduced to two leading artists, Alven and Sandy Macintosh. Both used her as a model and both fell in love with her, but Ellen, trying to follow the warp philosophy of her mother to "love lightly," resists the thought of love. Her circle of friends is all artists and two or three models. Ellen attends a ball with Sandy. While dancing a tall gangster claimed her and romance is born. A ride in the city, a proposal, the next day marriage to Tony, and wealth. But "Love Lightly," Ellen told herself. She would never let him know how desperately she loved him, even though she were his wife. Ellen insists upon living her life, maintaining her home in a small room, even though she is wealthy. Jane, of Tony's party set, is disappointed in Tony's sudden marriage to Ellen.

GO ON WITH THE STORY "We're modernists, Sandy," she said. "Every night is a night out for us either of us in concern. We're not playing the marriage game according to the old sentimental standards, not Tony I."

Sandy's eyebrows came down, his eyes narrowed. In that case," he said, "we might have dinner together, tonight—I'd enjoy feeling like a husband-robbing Lothario for a change. I'm sort of beginning to lose confidence in myself." Ellen felt just a little icy, inside. It was the first time since her wedding that she'd actually made a break—that she'd put herself in a position of accepting social favors from another man. "I'll meet you anywhere you want," Sandy said. "at any time you say."

Let's make it a real party," he said. "We'll dress, and I'll stop for a moment at your place in about an hour. I don't suppose, by any chance, that you'd have a cocktail sitting for me?" "Marriage," she said, "hasn't changed my ideas about that, Sandy."

she was all ready when he came for her in an hour (she met him at the door, he mustn't come in her so obviously unchanged apartment). "You did it all very well! It was if that evening he were going to outdo himself—to make a party memorable. They rode in to one of the larger hotels and boasted a dance orchestra and a garden. They were shot, in the hotel elevator, to the roof garden. They were shown to a table close beside the dance floor. "It's a nice roof," she told him. "I've tried valiantly not to tell myself that it would have been perfect if Tony had been the one to hold back her chair, to seat himself opposite her!" "I suppose," said Sandy, as he looked at the menu, "that the boy is working or something, isn't he?" "More power to him!" Ellen echoed.

More power to him," as she held her hands tight beneath the black table cloth, and let her fingers wander across the room. As a glance wandered from table to table, she felt her body stiffen there, directly across the floor, immaculate in dinner dress, and with his blue eyes more than ever, sat Tony. Tony wasn't alone, either for Jane in a pair of devastatingly cut flame-colored chiffon, sat opposite him. Why, Ellen whispered, and her breath came in startled little gasps, "why, there's Tony, now!"

"So it is," said Sandy. He smiled nervously. "Just what does one do in a situation like this?" he asked. "It's out of order!" Ellen was laughing. She tried to make her laughter sound casual. "One says, 'Hello,' she says, 'and 'goodby.'"

"Just what does one do in a situation like this?" asked Sandy. To the place where the girl in flame chiffon was sitting. The waiter brought forward two extra chairs, laid two extra places on the table at which Tony and his guest had already started their dinner. Then the music began. And Tony said, "Dance?" looking at Ellen. But Ellen wasn't dancing with Tony, not tonight. Dancing with Tony always had a ruinous effect upon her.

"Sandy brought me," she said. "I'll have this one with him." It wasn't a jolly evening. But it managed to be adequately conversational and very polite. No reference was made to the last evening that the four spent together. And then, after the dinner had been drawn out as long as possible, it was time to go home! There wasn't anything else to do. It was Sandy, not Tony, who decided the situation. "I think, Jane," he said (they'd never gotten past the first name stage), "that it's up to me to take you home, even though I started the party with another gal! After all, you know, we're on the outside, looking in."

Jane bit her lip sharply. "I've got my car downstairs," she said. "I can take you all home you know." And at last, after detailed directions had been given to the chauffeur, the car came to a stop in front of Ellen's house. The moment had arrived—and Tony rose to it nobly. "Thanks, Jane," he said, as he helped Ellen out of the car. "You were nice to come to dinner with me—and nice to bring us home."

HELP KIDNEYS If your kidneys function badly and you have a lame, aching back, with attacks of dizziness, burning, scanty or too frequent urination, getting up at night, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains... use Doan's Pills. Doan's are especially for poorly functioning kidneys. Millions of boxes are used every year. They are recommended the country over. Ask your neighbor!

sounded to Ellen like "I'll remember." And then he was starting to slam shut the door of the car. But his movement was arrested by Sandy's gay, tactless voice. "Throwing a party," Sandy asked, "and not inviting me! How come Ellen should have somebody along who talks her language. She'd be lost with all of you folks—who are Philistines."

Sandy, you see, was assuming—the other three, Jane and Ellen and Tony, realized it at the same horrible second—that Ellen was to be a member of the party! The birthday house party to which Jane had invited Tony—Tony evidently, to her mind, was still playing the role of a bachelor! "Of course, you can come Sandy," she said sweetly, "if you want to. It might be much more charming for Ellen to have one of her own—sort. Maybe you 'have the right idea, at that."

"And now," she said, "what are we going to do?" Tony laughed boisterously. "I guess," he said, "that it's all set! It begins to look as if you're coming with me to a house party. Sandy certainly put Jane in an awkward position, didn't he? But, as usual, she came through one hundred per cent."

"Yes," said Ellen, "yes, sure did. Jane did come through. As usual," she spoke so softly that for all Tony knew she was sighing. He didn't know that all at once there was a seething anger in her heart. "You're rather a peach, you know," she told Tony, and her tone was not at all casual. "You've made everything very easy for me, tonight. But even though you're so regular, even though you've been truly wonderful, I couldn't possibly accept Jane's invitation—I can't possibly accept and go to her party. She was forced into asking me, you realize that. She doesn't want me—why should she want me? It's you she wants!"

Tony answered. "I'd like, Ellen," he said, answering the first part of her remark, "to make all of life very easy for you, if I could. That happens—your voice also had lost its casual note, "that happens to be the way I care about you." He paused. And then he was answering the last part of what she had said to him. "But," he added, "I do wish awfully you'd come to Jane's party. She may have been forced into asking you—I'm honest enough to admit that she was—but the important thing is that she did ask you. Under the circumstances, if you don't go, I couldn't go either, now. And if I don't appear on Jane's birthday, my crowd will think it's strange. And so—" even through the dark Ellen was aware of his smile, "and so it would seem that we're in a box. Fortunately we're in the same box. Not—the same man grown into his carefree young laughter, "not that it isn't very nice to be in a box with you!"

Ellen was turning again; they were getting nowhere. She started to move wearily toward the steps of the house in which she lived. Tony followed her. They climbed the steps together, slowly. "I don't know what to do, Tony," she said, and her voice was vague. "Don't you think we'd better let it ride—all of this business about Jane's party? Let's not worry about it tonight. Let's just wait and see what happens."

Tony was speaking. "Whether you go to Jane's or not," he said, and his tone was wistful. "I wish you might have a few evenings together. This has been sort of grand, hasn't it? To me it's been kind of crazy not seeing you since—" his voice lowered, "our wedding day."

For just one second—one second out of all life—Ellen dared to be eager. She did not draw her hand away, even though it was held so loosely. "Sometimes," she said, "during the last two weeks, I too, felt that we were silly. I'd be glad to see you just as often as you want to see me, you know." She said the last with a rush. She tried not to emphasize the word, "just as often as you want to see me."

Tony answered very seriously. "That would be quite a lot," he said. "I guess we won't go into that. I guess you understand." He hesitated slightly. "Well, I guess it's goodnight."

Ellen was faltering, there in the doorway. She took a step forward—Tony was very close. It was a short step. But despite his closeness, he couldn't know that she was near to yielding—to making crazy, sweet admissions. "Won't you come up," she asked, "for just a minute?" But Tony was moving away from her, down the steps. It seemed as if the distance was automatically widening between them. "I'd like to," he said, "but I don't trust myself to come up with you. Unless—your invitation means more than I think it does. You must realize why I can't." Ellen was fumbling with her latch key. She knew in her soul that she must open the door quickly, before she told Tony how much she wanted him to come in, how much she wanted him not to trust himself. She couldn't make that move—she wouldn't. He wouldn't be given a chance to hurt her pride, or to break her heart. She must open the door, now—and go inside, alone.

In the morning, Jane's letter came, as Ellen had known that it would. "My party," read the pseudo-original letter, "is going to be very informal. Just a few of my oldest and most intimate friends have been asked down. Of course, I do hope you can come and that you won't find it too dull—being among your crowd."

As Ellen read the edged words, she was suddenly more bitterly annoyed than she had ever been in her life. "I won't go," she was storming. "I won't! I won't! I won't!" That resolution carried her through the first half of the day. Carried her along until Sandy's note arrived. "I'm wondering," Sandy wrote, "if I can go up to Jane's party with you and Tony, on Saturday? Drive up with you, I mean. I've decided to accept the gal's invitation—it ought to be fun."

Mrs. R. L. Young, Sr., of Abilene spent several days here this week visiting her sister, Mrs. M. A. Cole and husband. Mrs. H. F. Sellers, Mrs. C. L. Woodward, Mrs. H. N. Wolfe, Mrs. H. E. McCullough and Mrs. R. L. Halford were in Hamilton Friday afternoon attending a bridge party at the home of Mrs. Edgar Moore. Mrs. Guy Aycock received a message Sunday night that her brother, Bill Salver, had passed away at the home of another brother in Amarillo, after a long illness. Mrs. Aycock was confined to her bed and unable to attend the funeral services, which were held in Amarillo. Hico friends deeply sympathize with Mrs. Aycock in her sorrow. Mrs. Mable Bailey received word recently telling of the marriage of her brother, Carl Cunningham of Port Lavaca, to Miss Bernice Fellers of the same city which occurred on Christmas Eve. Carl is well known in Hico, and his many friends here wish for him and his bride much happiness. They will make their home at Port Lavaca. Mrs. F. H. Wilson and little sons, Floyd, Jr. and John Earnest, with Mrs. Wilson's father, C. E. Moffitt, spent the week end with Mrs. Wilson's sister, Mrs. Iva Davis, of Gordon. They were accompanied as far as Stephenville by another sister of Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Edna Foust, who spent the week end with her sister and Mrs. Flora Johnson of Stephenville. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Miller returned home last Thursday from Rio Frio, Texas, where they spent the past two weeks visiting their son, J. P. Miller and family, and enjoying a deer hunt. Mr. Miller brought back one of the largest bucks killed in that section this year. They make annual trips to their ranch in South Texas and Mr. Miller always comes back with two or three ranches in the Iredell community, moved to Hico recently to spend the winter. They have rooms at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lane. The editor and family enjoyed some of the venison, thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Miller. In a recent letter to her grandmother, Mrs. W. F. Culbreath, Miss Annette Culbreath says that she and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Culbreath, are now located at Canutillo, Texas, where they own a suburban grocery store. Canutillo is about 14 miles up the Rio Grande River Valley from El Paso. Mr. Culbreath has been ill with a cold for several days, but is now able to be up and to take care of his duties, and the whole family seems to like the new location very well. The only statement made in the letter that sounds fishy is that Claude is working from sun up until late at night. Their new home must be a long way from a golf course. W. M. Cheney and his daughter, Mrs. R. B. Armstrong of Stephenville, were in Waco last week to attend the funeral services of his brother-in-law, J. Costler, who passed away at the home of Mrs. Costler's sister in that city. He was buried at Waco. Mr. and Mrs. Costler spent sometime here last summer in the Cheney home, Mrs. Costler being a sister of Mrs. Cheney. Mr. Costler suffered a stroke of paralysis sometime ago when they resided in California, and they thought the trip to Texas might benefit him, but the second stroke which he suffered week before last caused his death. Mrs. Cheney was unable to attend the funeral on account of illness. Miss Irene Frank Entertained Contract Bridge Club Tuesday. Miss Irene was hostess to members and guests of the Contract Bridge Club at her home Tuesday afternoon of this week. At the conclusion of the games, refreshments were served in two courses, consisting of turkey salad, potato chips, olives, hot tea biscuits, coffee, fruit cake, heavenly hash, and fruit punch. The personnel included Mesdames F. M. Mings, H. F. Sellers, R. L. Halford, H. N. Wolfe, H. E. McCullough, C. L. Woodward, Miss Saralee Hudson, Mrs. Charles Shelton of Hamilton, and Mrs. Betty Winn of Waco. Industrial Club of Fairy Met Friday With Mrs. Ovie Clark. The Industrial Club met Friday, Jan. 4 with Mrs. Ovie Clark. The afternoon was spent in making blocks for a Dutch Doll quilt. When the blocks were finished, a delicious course of hot chocolate and cake was served to the following: Mesdames Zella Anderson, H. M. Allison, Bill Porter Clark, Henry Wilson, Kate Slater, Dorothy Abels, Leslie Arrant, Annie Clark, Nel Abels, Guy Ellis, Jessie Dennis, Thomas, Misses Sikes, Annie and Doris Allison, Pauline Anderson, Nora Abels, Mrs. Bill Mackey and Maggie Brummett.

Shower Given for Mrs. Dorsey Patterson. Honoring Mrs. Dorsey Patterson, who until last week was Miss Nell Petty, her Sunday School class and her club combined in giving her a miscellaneous shower at the home of Miss Rhuely Bingham Tuesday evening. Eighteen guests helped to make it a happy occasion and after a "cart" load of gifts were presented to the honoree a plate of refreshments consisting of sandwiches, potatoes chips, fancy cakes and hot chocolate were served to Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Patterson, Hazel Shelton, Charlyne and Rubilee Malone, Dorothy Meador, Mattie Lee Goad, Mildred Thomas, Jane Adams, Mary Smith, Elizabeth Boustead, Sue Petty, Lucille and Nell Patterson, Mrs. T. U. Little and Mrs. L. N. Lane. Rhuely was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Little and Mrs. Lane. W. M. S. Appoint Committees. For Coming Year. The following committees were appointed for the year, 1935, in the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church at their first meeting of this year, Monday afternoon, January 7th: Program Committee—Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. E. H. Persons, Mrs. S. E. Blair. Parsonage Committee: Miss Wilena Purcell, Mrs. Lusk Randalls. Finance Committee: Mrs. Lusk Randalls, Mrs. Eakins, Mrs. Angell. Flower Committee—Mrs. M. A. Cole, Miss Wilena Purcell, Mrs. Persons. Tacky Party Given in Waco For Two Visitors. Following is an article taken from the Waco News-Tribune, one of the honorees being a Hico boy: William Wyatt and his houseguests, Emory Gamble of Hico and George Roach of Mineral Wells, students of John Tarleton college at Stephenville, were given a tacky party Thursday night by Misses Mary Wyatt and Letha Griffith at the Waits home in Orchard Lane. Old-fashioned games were played, Luther Harrow and James Sparks won first and second prizes for the tackiest costumes. A Weiner roast was held at the conclusion of the evening. About twenty-six guests were present. Review Club Elected Officers For Coming Two Years. The Review Club met Saturday, Jan. 5th. It was the regular meeting for election of officers for the next two years. The following were elected: President, Mrs. L. N. Lane. Vice President, Mrs. Louise Angell. Recording Secretary, Mrs. E. H. Randalls. Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Frank Mings. Treasurer, Mrs. J. D. Currie. Parliamentarian, Mrs. T. U. Little. The incoming president will appoint other officers and committees. The next meeting will be Jan. 19th with Mrs. E. S. Jackson, hostess, and Miss Oleta Hughes, leader. The lesson will be a continuation of our study of Texas History. Helping Hand Class Met With Mrs. W. L. Malone Tuesday. The Helping Hand Class of the M. E. Sunday School met in the home of Mrs. W. L. Malone on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs. Malone, Mrs. R. R. Alexander and Mrs. Angell as hostesses. Twenty members were present. Mrs. J. D. Wright, the president of the class, presided over the business session. After repeating the Lord's prayer in unison, quite a lengthy discussion was held as to ways and means of raising funds to repair the church. Different plans were discussed and the class decided to piece a quilt. Other plans will be taken up later on and with the help and cooperation of the entire membership of the church, we hope to do quite a bit of needed repairs which might include painting and repapering the inside of the church. After the business session, a social hour was enjoyed, including songs by the class and music by Mrs. Cunningham on the piano. Refreshments of two kinds of cake, whipped cream and coffee were served to the following members of the class: Mesdames Gray Barrow, Jim D. Wright, J. H. Goad, W. E. Ford, Annie Waggoner, John Haines, A. T. McFadden, Marvin Marshall, Birdie Boone, Tyrus King, J. P. Owen, and Misses Wilena Purcell, Salie Cunningham, and the hostesses Mesdames Malone, Alexander and Angell. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hooper, daughter, Betty June, and son, Horace, Jr., of Sweetwater, were here over the week end visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Huch Hooper and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gamble.

Rodgers, local insurance man, received a letter under date of January 4th, 1935, relative to business relations mutually enjoyed in the past. Some very flattering remarks are contained therein on the manner in which Mr. Rodgers takes care of his obligations. The letter follows: Mr. J. C. Rodgers, Hico, Texas. Dear Mr. Rodgers: If everyone were as conscientious as you are about paying bills, promptly this would be a happier and less difficult world in which to live. Too often, it seems when people handle their accounts as you have yours, with us, it is accepted as a matter of course, without much thought for the spirit behind it. That should not be so, and we want you to know how much we appreciate having an agent of your fine business habits. With best wishes for a prosperous 1935, we are, Very truly yours, CRAVENS, DARGAN & CO. J. L. Alexander, Jr., Ass't. Mgr.

SKIN TRYING UP?

Melt Dead, Rough Face Skin with Special Skin Softener
Dermatologists say that, due to the drying-up process in skin, there is a coating of dead cells on the surface. This makes skin rough. They explain that the keratolytic property in vanishing cream melts this dead surface layer, leaving the skin soft, smooth. That is why so many women use Pond's Vanishing Cream after their nightly cleansing—leave it on all night—in the morning see their skin looking soft, fresh. Because it instantly makes skin smooth, make-up goes on evenly, stays fresh for hours. Begin today to have your skin look young, alluring. See how the keratolytic property in Pond's Vanishing Cream smooths roughnesses in one application.

GREAT MOUNTAIN RANGES

The South American Andes, which have an extreme length, without allowance for deviations, of 4,500 miles is the biggest mountain range in the world. But to mark the scale on which nature has molded the New World, the Andes may be regarded as merely a part of the sufficiently continuous chain of about 9,000 miles, which loses itself near the mouth of the river Mackenzie toward the shores of the Arctic Ocean. The Old World has nothing to bring into comparison with this as regards bulk, though in height the Himalayas stand unequalled, with an average altitude of from 16,000 to 20,000 feet, culminating in a stupendous peak that soars nearly 30,000 feet into the air. The length of the Himalayas is, however, only a third of that of the Andes considered separately, or a sixth of the grand American chain taken as a whole.

COMMERCE HAS HELD 18 SUCCESSIVE CHRISTMAS CAROL SERVICES

Commerce, Texas, has made Christmas caroling an 18-year-old tradition. For the 18th successive Christmas carols have been sung on Commerce streets by a group under the auspices of the East Texas State Teachers' College. The first of the series was sung on December 20, 1917, when the college contained 300 students. This year the student body numbered more than 1,000.

RAYMONDVILLE GIRL IS CITRUS FRUIT QUEEN

The Citrus Fiesta at Mission was presided over by Dorothy Dodge of Raymondville. The selection was made from 15 local duchesses of the communities within the citrus area by Paramount news camera-man, H. V. Meson. Poise, beauty, character and costume were the leading points. The latest queen of the Citrus Court is Dorothy Dodge, the youngest Queen to reign over the ceremonies of a Fiesta.

TEXAS CENTENNIAL 50-CENT PIECES

While the Texas Centennial will be a dream, there is a demand for the 50-cent Centennial coins which are to be issued by the United States Government in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of Texas Independence. H. R. Green, son of the late H. R. Green, who lives in Dartmouth, Massachusetts, has sent in order for $1,000 of the coins. Other Texans, now living in distant States, are ordering the 50-cent pieces in considerable numbers.

A LITTLE FUN Jokes to Make You Laugh

Doubtful
At the marriage of an Alabama widow, one of the servants was asked if his master would take a bridal tour. "Dunno, sah; when old massa's first wife was alive, he took a paddle to her; dunno if he'll take a bridle to de new one or not!"

The Difference
What is the difference between a king's son, a monkey's mother, a bald head, and an orphan? A king's son is the heir apparent, a monkey's mother is a hairy parent, a bald head has no hair apparent, and an orphan has nary a parent.

Lem Frisby says things will be getting better when you hear of a man mortgaging his automobile to buy a home.

His Affiliation
"You can't see Mr. White," said the sharp-faced wife to the political canvasser. "But I want to find out what party he belongs to," said the canvasser. "I can tell you that," said the wife. "Take a good look at me; I'm the party he belongs to."

Arithmetic Bugs
Captain: "What are you scratching your head for, Rufus?" Colored private: "I've got arithmetic bugs in my head." Captain: "What are arithmetic bugs?" Colored private: "Dat's cooties." Captain: "Why do you call them arithmetic bugs?" Colored private: "Because dey add to my misery, dey subtract from my pleasure, dey divide my attenshun, and dey multiply by de milluns."

Fifty-Fifty
Murphy was taking his first flight in an airplane and when they were about 3000 feet up, the plane suddenly went into a nose-dive. "Ha, ha," laughed the pilot, as he righted the plane. "Half of the people down there thought we were falling." "Sure," said Murphy; "and 50 per cent of the people up here thought so, too."

Quick Delivery
Two insurance salesmen were discussing the policies of their respective companies. The first salesman said: "My company makes a practice of quick delivery to the beneficiary upon the death of the party insured. Why, only last week a man died and within twenty-four hours after his death we handed his wife a check for five thousand dollars." "Why, that's nothing," replied the other, "you see that twelve-story building over there? Well, our offices are on the fourth floor, and yesterday one of our policyholders fell off the roof, and we handed him his check as he went by the window."

The Acid Test
Mike: "So you believe in socialism, now, Pat?" Pat: "Sure I do, it's the only way; divide up everything equal." Mike: "You mean that if you had two horses you would give me one?" Pat: "Sure I would." Mike: "And if you had two cows, would you give me one?" Pat: "Of course I would." Mike: "And if you had two pigs, would you give me one?" Pat: "Wait a minute. Let me think. You know I got two pigs."

Glad He Didn't Know Grandpap
Two close-fisted Missouri brothers sued a neighbor for $375 owing on a land deal. They engaged the best lawyer in their county seat. The lawyer won the case. The brothers called to see about the fee. One stayed outside, and the other went in. "How much is it?" he asked. "Well," said the lawyer, "I won't be hard on you. I have known both you boys since you were children, and I knew your pap. I guess $300 will be about right." The inquiring brother went out dazed. "Lordy, George," he said to the brother outside, "I'm durn glad he didn't know grandpap, too!"

No Need Going Abroad
First New York Landlord: "Going abroad this year?" Second New York Landlord: "No, I get all the foreign atmosphere I want right here at home. In my apartment house there is a soldier with a French bride; a sailor with an English one; an Italian musician; a Hungarian artist; a German runs the delicatessen; a Belgian brings the ice; the ashman is a Bulgarian; there's a Roumanian tailor in the basement, and the janitor has Bolshevik leanings."

Moose Believes in Clubs

War Is Not a Necessary Evil
Too many of us look upon war as an unavoidable plague. Yet we formerly had the same attitude toward smallpox and yellow fever. There is a serum for war, too, if we wish to use it. It is an enlightened and aroused public opinion. Every articulate member of the human race should enlist his tongue and pen in the campaign to abolish all wars.

Auto License Fees Compared with Other States
Passenger cars in Texas average $8.23 for license fees. Twenty-one States have higher fees. Twelve are the same or lower. The average of the 21 States is $12.65. That of the 12 is $5.11. Vermont has the highest fees, $23. Massachusetts, with a charge of $2.97 is lowest. The average of the 48 States is $9.37. Texas, with the by-far-largest number of miles of surfaced highways, ranks thirty-ninth in proportionate State highway development. It is possible to cross the continent nine times on the Texas State highway system—in number of miles traversed. But the disparity of areas among the States carries Texas far towards the bottom of the highway construction list.

State Enters 455 Oil Suits in One Batch
The Attorney General's office has filed 455 suits against East Texas oil operators for violation of the Railroad Commission's orders on the handling, transporting and receiving of by-products of crude petroleum. The lengthy list of defendants includes truck drivers, filling station operators and numerous other participants in gasoline sales and transportation—railroads excluded. The penalty for each violation is a fine ranging between $1 and $1,000. If convictions are secured in the wholesale charges there will be an "important" volume of money involved.

Five-Pointed Star Dates Back to 1835
The five-pointed star, as the emblem of Texas, dates back to 1835 when the overcoat buttons of Henry Smith, Provisional Governor of the State, bore the familiar five points. When Smith was named Governor, at a meeting held at San Felipe, a seal was needed for some official documents, so he cut a button from his coat. The main issue before the people of Texas at that time was whether the Mexican constitution of 1834 would be observed or disregarded by the Texans.

Sales Day Crowd Breaks Record
The biggest crowd and the heaviest business volume in all the history of Brady is reported to have greeted the November Trades Day. More than 200 Texas towns have featured "trades days" the past year. Special entertainments, free picture shows, rodeos, gifts and the like have been the main attractions. In some cases the expense of having trade days has been great, but most merchants agree that increased sales has made trade days a good proposition.

WAR IS NOT A NECESSARY EVIL

War has earned universal condemnation. A wholesome preference for peace is by no means confined today to those labelled "pacifists." The idiotic futility of the Great War has converted many who were hasty in 1917 with the epithets "cowardly" and "yellow."

RECORDING MUSIC STILL POPULAR

The popularity of the radio as an instrument of musical reproduction has led many persons to believe that it has taken the place of, or supplanted the phonographic record, but facts do not bear out this opinion. That sales of phonographic records still continue high is proven by the statement of Mr. D. F. Law, manager of the Brunswick Record Corporation, with headquarters at Dallas, Texas, for the entire South and Southwest. The total sales for Mr. Law's district in 1934 were in excess of 5,000,000 records.

RED BLUFF IRRIGATION DAM EMPLOYEES 200 MEN

The Red Bluff irrigation project, which will reclaim 50,000 acres of semi-arid land in West Texas, has a force of 200 men working regularly. The dam will cost $2,000,000 when completed. It was approved as a reclamation and work-relief project a year ago.

CENTER OF TEXAS TO BE MARKED

The geographical center of Texas, located about 20 miles north and about 14 degrees east of Brady, is to be appropriately marked if plans of the Brady Chamber of Commerce prove successful. Some years ago it was proposed to purchase a tract of land at that point and make it into a State park. At that time there were no provisions for upkeep of State parks and the plan was abandoned.

Poultry Facts

By F. W. KAZMEIER, Poultry Breeder, Bryan, Texas

The Poultry Breeder's Job
The poultry breeder's job becomes greater each year. His responsibility to poultry raisers and commercial egg-producers is increasing and is having a marked influence on the poultry business.

He can make it profitable or unprofitable. He has been pretty well established that egg-production is a hereditary factor. The poultry breeder breeds the capacity to lay in pullets, the commercial egg-producers feeds them out. Always remember, however, if the breeder breeds first without the ability to lay the feeder is up against a hopeless task.

Another ghost for the hatcherymen is stalking about—chick sexing is being talked, advertised and to a very small extent practiced. In Texas, for some time to come, it will have no great practical value. The procedure requires examining the vent of day-old chicks for the rudimentary copulatory organ present in the male or absent in the female. This method by experience can be developed to about 95% accuracy. I have seen some of this work, but cannot believe it has any great practical value in the Southwest at the present time. Later developments and improvements may change the outlook and this statement. Most inexperienced chick-sexers will certainly not improve the chicks, but are more apt to slightly injure the chicks. Poultry meat prices are certainly encouraging enough to make the cockerels a profitable investment. At this time cockerels, at 10 weeks old, should bring enough on the market to pay for cost of chicks and feeding, and brooding of both pullets and cockerels. I am not going to practice chick sexing this year.

Music Makes Hens Lay
Some one has said, "there is nothing new under the sun." Maybe that is true. From Holland comes the statement that music will stimulate hens to lay more eggs. I will let you think this over and draw your own conclusion. If true, what kind of music?

This time, our own Prof. Dakon of Ohio, opens up a new field. He says: "Smoke from large cities interferes with egg-production through the loss of ultra-violet rays from the sun. Hope this is true; it may help our farm land in the Southwest to show some upward movement in prices. We certainly have the sunshine and no smoke screen to hamper it."

Breeding for Constitutional Vigor
Coming back to the breeders job, as stated before numbers of eggs is just one factor, breeding for constitutional vigor, health and vitality is another factor and a much bigger job; also it is more important. Then comes standard requirements of the breed, size of eggs, color and texture of egg shells, non-broodiness, winter layers, good feathering, fertility, hatchability, quick growth and even more. Of late, another job has been added. It appears now that poor quality eggs, to a

A NOVEL PLAN FOR OUT-WITTING CROWS

A farmer near Holland, Texas—name not disclosed—proffers a sure plan for riding neighborhoods of crows. Take a quantity of corn kernels and pierce them with a large needle threaded with a horse hair. Place them where the crows are made to believe they are stealing them. When the crows swallow the kernels they are unable to swallow the length of hair attached, which remain in their beaks. Irritation of the throat ensues and the birds become frantic with pain. Finally, they are so occupied by the unexpected result of their theft of the corn that they either die of exhaustion or become easy prey to the farmers' shot guns. The Holland inventor counted 54 dead crows in his field after the first experiment. Crows have uncanny wisdom but the new trick appears to have baffled them.

JAPAN LARGEST PURCHASER AMERICAN COTTON

Imports of American cotton by Japan for the last season, ended with July, 1934, exceeded 1,850,000 bales, or 500,000 more than were taken by Great Britain.

This heavy flow of American cotton to Japanese mills may be expected to continue, leaders of the industry declare, provided the price of the American product remains within reasonable limits when compared with the price of cotton from other countries.

LONG LINES FOR SLIMNESS, BUTTONS FOR CHIC

Pattern 2013

By Anne Adams

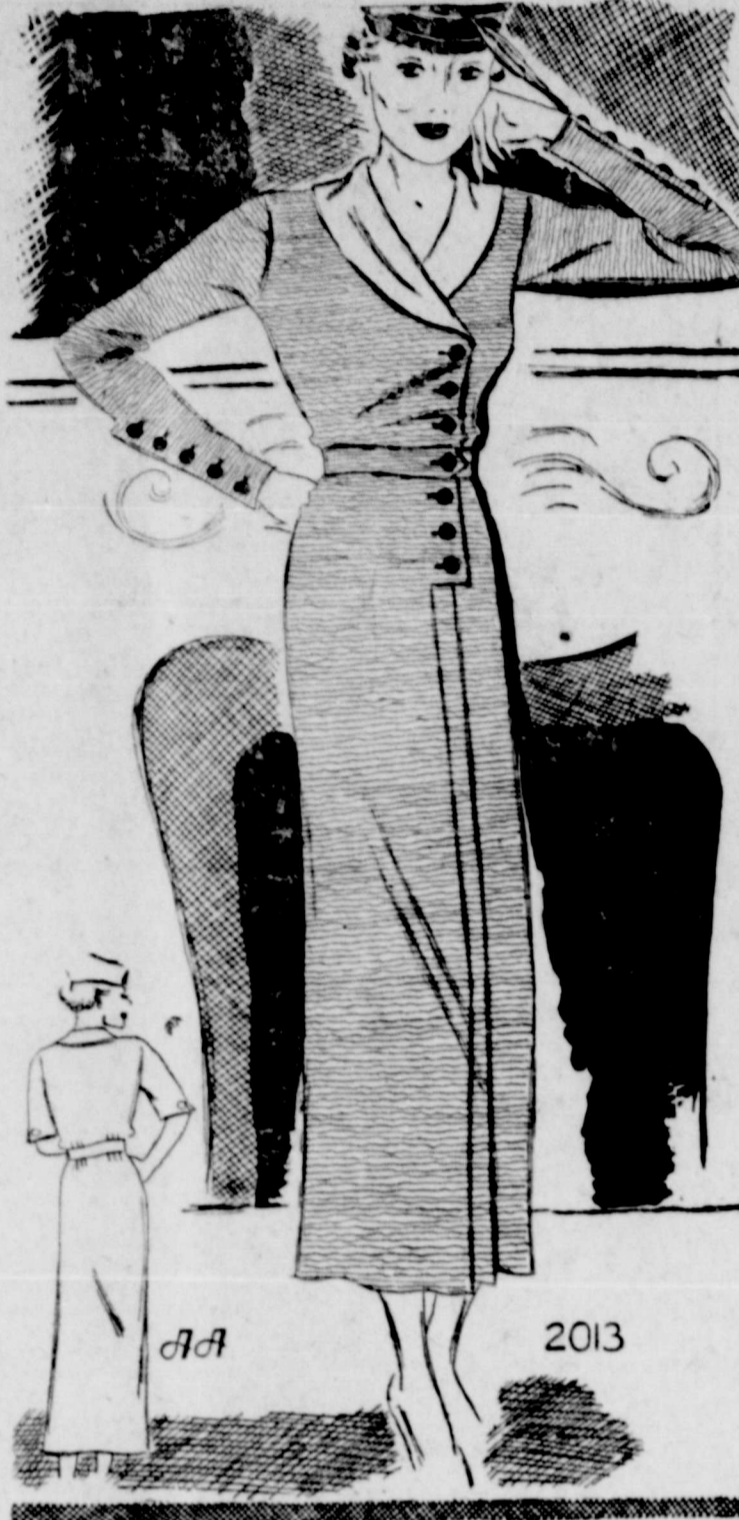

This slenderizing dress, although it really opens just to the waist, takes its inspiration from the vogue for coat frocks which is sweeping the fashion world today, and looks for all the world as though it opened all the way down the front. Buttons emphasize its smart closing and its neezy-cut sleeves. A smoothly flattering collar tops its trim bodice—two well-tailored pleats front its slim skirt. This dress would be lovely made in a roughish crepe with metal buttons and satin collar. Or if you use a rugged wool fabric, velvet for the collar and covered buttons would be a smart choice.

Pattern 2013 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 36 takes 2 5/8 yards 54-inch fabric and 1/4 yard 39-inch contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

YOUR HEALTH

During the winter months when we have very little sunshine and our bodily resistance is low there are many things we should do to help "keep" ourselves well.

It is so much easier to "keep" well than to "get" well. The simple rules of life are best and usually easiest to follow in seeking to maintain good health.

We have discussed on our Woman's Page the past two months many phases of healthful living. We find that it is necessary to breathe correctly and always have plenty of fresh, pure air; that we should get all of the sunshine possible; that we should drink only pure water in reasonable quantities—8 to 12 glasses per day—abstaining from strong, stimulating drinks. Eat foods that are wholesome, nourishing and moderate in quantities. Also it would be wise to study the "ten commandments" for a healthful life.

Now, we shall turn our attention to clothing, exercise and rest.

To have healthy, vigorous skin we should wear enough clothing to insure warmth, but at the same time clothing that will permit the skin to breathe. Much of the waste materials in the body are eliminated through the pores of the skin. Therefore, underwear should be porous but of weight that will assist in keeping the body warm in cold weather. For sake of cleanliness, underwear should be changed frequently.

Better to dress according to temperature and not so much according to fashion. The body must be warm and comfortable. In climates where temperatures do not go very low, bare legs and arms on children may be alright, but where there's freezing weather limbs should be covered to prevent chilling. Clothing that hangs from shoulders is much to be preferred to that which hangs from the waist. We should give the lower part of the abdomen plenty of freedom from restricting or binding garments.

Exercise

There is such a close relation between good health and exercise that we can scarcely think of one without the other. Flabby arm and leg muscles generally mean weak and flabby heart muscles. A relaxed or protruding abdomen usually "spell" prolapsed digestive organs, malnutrition, toxemia, dyspepsia, headache, bad breath and bad health. Normal persons should take some form of exercise out of doors every day. Stand erect, sit erect, exercise regularly in the open air each day if you would enjoy a full measure of health. Persons with a tendency to weak heart should consult a reliable physician as to exercise.

Rest

While we have saved REST to the last, it is certainly not the least. Proper food comes first, exercise secondly and rest third for a well-balanced health program.

In modern life, rest has been sadly neglected. When the Creator of the universe made man he realized his great need for rest. So He removed the great light from the sky for a part of each day, so man could have a more perfect rest period. However, with modern connections, man is now able to turn night into day and burn the candle at both ends. God also set aside one day of each week for man's rest. When we read statistics on the increase of disease we realize that something must be "very wrong" with our social system, since, at our command, we have the best medical and surgical advice the world has ever known. We also have the most sanitary world any generation has known, yet death from certain diseases continue to increase. This is especially true of "heart disease." Newspapers report deaths from heart disease of young as well as persons in middle life. Eminent doctors all agree that the "modern pace" of life that lacks sufficient rest is largely responsible for "heart failure," which now leads all other causes of death. It is a well-established fact that persons not taking sufficient rest are more susceptible to disease than those that do rest. During sleep nature repairs the wear and tear of daily life—throws off more easily the body poisons accumulated daily.

Worry, remorse, guilt, grief, envy and distrust all have a tendency to weaken the vital forces of our body. Avoid these as much as possible. In every day affairs we can well take counsel in the wise words of the prophet, Isaiah, who said: "In returning and rest shall ye be saved; in quietness and in confidence shall be your strength." Today, more than any other time, we need rest and quiet that we may have the strength and confidence to go forth and fight a winning battle. False stimulants may make it seem that we shall run a winning race; but in the end we fall far behind the man or woman whose energy is built up on wholesome, clean living. What greater treasure can there be than—GOOD HEALTH?

Skin Ten Years Younger than her Age

—Dermatologist finds

Learn How to Avoid Embarrassing Skin Faults with this One Cream

Dermatologists warn us that when we leave the teens behind, little lines set in, which, if neglected, crease into wrinkles. Roughnesses, large pores develop.

You can ward off these marks of time—keep your skin looking years younger than your age—by living up the circulation, giving to your skin the oils it craves.

Pond's Cold Cream is perfect for this. Its specially processed, deep-penetrating oils sink into your skin, purge it of all impurities. And more—as you pat it in, you can feel your

DO YOU KNOW?

All around us every day so many interesting things are going on that we are apt to overlook some of the most interesting. So, we have decided to set aside a small space each month of 1935 to tell you about things you often see but know little about.

Now, for instance, there is cellophane, the transparent paper wrapped around so many packages you purchase in the stores, and which has added to the cleanliness and sanitation of the world. Do you know how it came to be invented?

The inventor is J. E. Brandenberger, a 61-year-old Swiss doctor, of the University of Berne, Switzerland.

At first he tried to apply cellulose solution to cotton fabrics so as to be able to create brilliant designs. This experiment was a failure.

Dr. Brandenberger then began experimenting in order to create a "film" instead of a solution. By using evergreen-spruce wood pulp, or cotton linters, (thread-like fibres that adhere to cotton seed after ginning) together with a strong caustic solution he reduced the pulp or linters to a semi-liquid. This amber-colored fluid was then forced into a chemical bath where it instantly solidified to a thick film; was then purged and bleached into thin transparent sheets ready for the market.

GOOD RECIPES

School lunches often become a drag to both mother and child. It is very hard to think of something "new" to put in the lunch, so here are giving you some recipes here that are not hard to make and yet, at the same time, adds variety.

Cocoa Bread

3 cups flour
3 1/2 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
6 tablespoons baking powder
4 tablespoons honey
3/4 to 1 cup milk.
Sift together, flour, cocoa, salt, cinnamon and baking powder. Mix honey and milk together; all to dry ingredients to make a soft dough. Place in greased pan; smooth tops and brush with melted butter. Bake in a moderate oven for 35 minutes. Delicious with jam or jelly.

Macaroni and Tomato Souffle

Where teachers "warm dishes" for children at school as they do in many rural schools today this dish never fails to please.
2 slices of cheese
1/2 cup cooked macaroni
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup tomato soup
1 cup milk
3 eggs
1/2 teaspoon salt.
Melt butter, add flour, stir until bubbling; add tomato soup and stir and cook until boiling begins; add milk, grated cheese, macaroni and beaten whites of eggs. Pile into individual buttered baking dishes, set these in a pan of hot water; bake in a moderate oven until firm in center. By placing these individual baking dishes in hot water at the school a warm "meal" is provided. Macaroni is to be used as a vegetable in place of potatoes, etc.

Oatmeal Hermits

These cookies are very healthful and delicious for the school lunch.
2 cups rolled oats
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup seedless raisins
1/2 cup milk
1 1/2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon.
Work the shortening to a soft cream and gradually add the sugar. Then beat in the eggs, add the milk oats and the raisins. Mix and sift the flour, salt, cinnamon and baking powder add to the oatmeal mixture. Drop from a teaspoon onto a well greased baking pan and bake in a hot oven until a golden brown.

Use of Salt

Eggs may be kept a long time by packing them in salt.

AUTOS KILL 28,400 IN TEN MONTHS

About 28,400 persons were killed and 740,000 injured as a result of nearly 600,000 automobile accidents in this country in the first ten months of 1934, according to statistics compiled by the Travelers Insurance Company from State reports. The 16 per cent increase in fatalities from last year indicates that the annual toll of fatalities from street and highway accidents in 1934 will exceed 36,000.

This would be an all-time high mark in deaths from automobile accidents. The previous record was in 1931, when more than 33,000 persons were killed.

The record indicates that 48 per cent of all persons killed in street and highway accidents were pedestrians, as against fewer than 45 per cent for the whole of last year.

More persons were killed in 1934 as a result of the collision of automobiles with street cars, fixed objects and with bicycles. The fatalities resulting from collisions between automobiles comprise almost 23 per cent of last year's total, and deaths because of collisions of automobiles with fixed objects total almost 12 per cent.

MILLIONS UNCOLLECTED

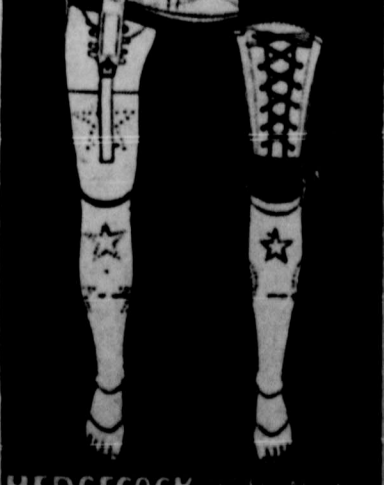

Among the oddities in figures appearing on the books of the United States Treasury is a $20,000,000 government debt which creditors have neglected to collect. The debt has arisen through bonds which have matured but which have never been redeemed. Both the desire to pay and the money with which to pay are present in the Treasury, but since that department does not know who are holders of the matured securities the payment cannot be made.

JUST ONE DUDE RANCH IN TEXAS

Texas, the biggest ranching State in the Union, has just one dude ranch, near San Antonio. Arizona has 115 dude ranches, which attract vacationists from the big cities of the North and East.

It is fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God. Heb. 10:31.
