STATE HEALTH NEWS

Austin, Texas, Nov. 14 1934.—"He Who Treats Himself Has A Fool For A Doctor." This motto might well be displayed in every home in the State as many people indisposed jump at conclusions as to what's wrong with them, go to a drug store for a bottle of advertised medicine. For a time they feel exceedingly clever but later they may discover that instead of getting better, they have become worse. Eventually the physician is bound to be called, in some instances too late.

There is no desire on the part of the Texas State Department of Health to insinuate that all, or the majority who use patent medicine to cure their ills, will suffer greatly by so doing. The point is that there is a sufficient number of self doctors who pay a big penalty for their practice to place every one on guard against it.

The body is the most wonderful piece of mechanism in existence. To tamper with it in any particular without due professional knowledge is running a great risk. When one's car is not working properly, you do not take it to any one but a mechanic who knows how to repair cars. It is remarkable that a person thinks less of the service his body needs in comparison to his car. If one is sufficiently ill to feel the need of treatment, it should be sought in its professional form. Avoid self doctoring.

SUNNY SIDE CLUB

The Sunny Side home demonstration club met Nov. 7 with Mrs. T. J. Bridges with twenty members present.

Miss Clark spoke on Simple Table Service. "Water glasses filled with one inch of the top should be on the table each meal regardless of what beverage is served," Miss Clark said.

A family style luncheon was served to Mrs. Jess Lilley, Mrs. Harvey McClanahan, Mrs. John Mc Lain and Mrs. Hugh Rice, illustrating the meat carving and serving of beverages, and other points of serving meals.

Those present were mesdames: Duke, Drake, Ebling, Gilmer, Royce, Coventry, Winkle, Chism, Sadler, Bridges, Abbott, Rice, McLain, Gilbreath, Sampler, Bearden, Lilley, McClanahan, S. W. Lilley and the hostess.

The next meeting will be Nov. 21 at the home of Mrs. Harvey McClanahan. (Reporter.)

BETHEL CLUB

Correct table service was the subject of the discussion and demonstration given by Miss Izora Clark before the Bethel Community Club on Nov. 9. Stressing the importance of training in table etiquette Miss Clark said, "It is just as important that a mother teach her children correct table manners as that she provide the proper food for them."

Six club members were chosen to act as host, hostess, members of the family and guests, and with Miss Clark as instructor, they demonstrated to the others just how a meal should be served.

It was a special occasion with the club as it was their first opportunity to meet in the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Kay Roberts. Those present were: Mesdames Kay Roberts, Ivor Bagwell, Leland Smith, Earl Webb, A. J. Baker, W. C. Cope, Homer Terrell, Jim Givan, George Bagwell, Bryan Sinclair, J. G. Davis, J. C. Williams, Harry Rothwell, Earl Lust, Jim Bagwell and Mesdames Christine and Grace Marie Bagwell and Izora Clark. (Reporter.)

Mrs. W. J. Dempsey and daughter Mrs. Raymond Chism and grand-daughter Mrs. Mallie Mayo jr. all of Rogers, Arkansas were week end guests in the homes of Mrs. Dempsey's daughters, Mrs. Jack Hawkins and Mrs. George Behrends, Mrs. Chism was formerly Oleta Dempsey and Mrs. Mayo formerly Thelma Hawkins, both of this city. They returned home Monday.

Census Reports '34 Cotton Crop Shorter Than '33

The census report, issued by W. H. Rutledge, special agent for this section of Texas, shows that there were only 405 bales of cotton ginned in Castro County from the 1934 crop prior to Nov. 1, as compared with 1477 bales ginned up to that time last year.

Due to the fact that the Government has reduced the acreage and weather conditions not being what they were last year is the reason for such decrease of production in the county.

W M S REPORT

The Hannah Sallee Circle met in the church with ten members present. Mrs. Youths brought the devotion from the sixth chapter of Galatians. Bro. Best taught the lesson on Old Testament Studies. We will meet in the church next Monday, Nov. 19.

WTSTC Will Be Open to New Students Nov. 19th

Canyon, Texas, Nov. 8.—The West Texas State Teachers College will open its doors to new students on November 19 in keeping with the plan inaugurated last year of dividing the long school session into four nine-week periods. Each department of the College on that date will offer beginning courses, allowing the new students to pursue in logical order the succeeding courses during the following nine-week terms.

The success of the plan, as evidenced last year in its experimental stage, lies largely in the fact that students are better able to meet the smaller tuition payments at nine-week intervals than the lump sum payments on the old term plan. Enrollment figures also attest to the success of the new plan. At its beginning in the fall of 1933 the enrollment swelled to an all time record. A similar record for summer enrollment followed the end of last year's long session. This year the even greater enrollment of 1164 students has been made for the fall term. West Texas State Teachers College takes pride in acknowledging the fact that she is a pioneer in the inauguration of the new system, which has spread to many educational institutions this year.

A new department, that of Archaeology and Paleontology, has been added to the curriculum of the West Texas State Teachers College this

Emergency Feed Loans for Stock Still Available

Stockmen in drouth areas who cannot obtain credit from other sources will continue to be eligible for emergency feed loans for their foundation herds this winter provided they keep their credit in good standing and show their intention of repaying the loan.

"The Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Offices," according to Governor Myres, have made loans in the primary drouth areas without requiring chattel mortgages in order to make funds available quickly to save hundreds of thousands of cattle and other stock; but they have done so with every expectation that the money will be repaid.

The Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Division of the Farm Credit Administration has dealt leniently with such borrowers; but each loan case has been carefully inspected. Farmers have shown their good faith by cooperating and not attempting to get loans where they were not needed, but of course we cannot expect credit will continue to be available unless borrowers keep the loans in good standing and show their intention of paying the debts.

The Emergency Crop and Feed Loan Offices are the only source of these unsecured emergency feed loans. They are disbursed from a part of the drought appropriation approved June 19, 1934 and are not made through any of the permanent credit institutions under the Farm Credit Administration.

Up to November 1, over 191,000 farmers and stockmen obtained these initial emergency loans to feed their stock and about 134,000 supplemental advances have been made, for a total of $21,500,000, out of the allocation of $96,785,000 for such purposes. On an average about $1,250,000 a week is being loaned to feed cattle and other stock; and during the winter additional credit will be available as needed if the borrowers keep their credit good and show their intention of paying their debts.

All of the emergency feed loans are being advanced in monthly allowances based on the amount required for each head of stock to be fed. The allowances may not exceed $3.00 per head for farm cattle, $1.50 for range cattle, $4.00 for farm workstock, $2 for saddle and pack horses, 50 cents for sheep and 35 cents for goats.

CATTLE BUYING RESUMED

The cattle buying program, which was curtailed several weeks ago here was resumed again this week.

Through an order from the government received here 1,000 more head of cattle will be bought. This time the buying is divided into the four precincts with an equal number to be bought in each precinct.

BANKING RETURNS TOWARD NORMAL

Reconstruction Finance Corporation Loan Repayments Show Banks Lead Procession in Recovery Movement

Indicating a rapid return on the part of the banks to a normal self-sustaining basis, 54 per cent of the loans which they made from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to tide them over the difficulties of the past two years have been repaid by them, it is shown in a recent official report.

The R. F. C. report, issued on March 6, says that the Corporation since it began operations in February, 1932, had made aggregate cash advances to railroads, agricultural and home loan agencies, insurance companies and various other institutions in the amount of $4,786,410,000. Of this sum banks and trust companies, to the number of 6,753, received actual cash advances of $1,529,540,000, but have already paid back $829,260,000, or 54 per cent. These figures are exclusive of $376,390,660 in loans authorized but withdrawn or not availed of by the banks.

Non-banking borrowers received R. F. C. advances in the amount of $3,256,870,000, and made repayments of $377,830,000, or less than 12 per cent. Among other classes of financial institutions reported as making high ratios of repayments are building and loan associations which had received $114,020,000 and have repaid $53,850,000, or over 47 per cent, and insurance companies, whose borrowings totalled $88,590,000 and repayments $34,310,000, or nearly 39 per cent. None of the major non-governmental financial groups showed so high a ratio of repayments as the banks and trust companies as a group.

BANK LOANS AND BUSINESS RECOVERY

Official Describes Efforts of Reserve Banks to Bring Out Deserving Borrowers—Present Situation Typical

Apropos of the part that an expansion of business loans by banks occupies in the early stages of the business recovery which is now gaining headway, a Federal Reserve Bank official recently gave an interesting review of the experiences of his institution in this connection. In 1932 the Federal Reserve Banks were empowered by law to make direct loans to individuals in unusual circumstances when they had been unable to obtain loans from a commercial bank, he pointed out.

From the middle of 1932 to the end of 1933 there were 1,286 applicants for loans at the New York Federal Reserve Bank under this law. The great majority of these applications proved on examination to be for funds for capital purposes, which are properly supplied as an investment in the business, or else were mortgage loans or others unclassifiable as commercial.

Only Fourteen Qualify Only 250, or less than 20 per cent, were of the type which merited detailed investigation. The amount involved was $9,525,000. After further study of these, the Federal Reserve Bank was forced to turn down the applications of 236, finally offering credit in the sum of $1,417,000 to 14 prospective borrowers. Of this amount, only $806,000 was actually loaned, more than one-half of which was still outstanding many months later. Two of the borrowers went into receivership.

"Since it was the special endeavor of the Federal Reserve Bank to make every possible loan under the emergency provisions of the amendment, and since their best efforts resulted in the extension of so small a sum as to have no effect on the total volume of commercial loans, it is a reasonable assumption that eligible borrowers entitled to bank credit are being provided for by the commercial banks," says the American Bankers Association Journal in commenting on this episode.

It is characteristic, as shown by studies of past business cycles, for changes in the volume of commercial bank credit to follow behind either contraction or expansion of business activity, says a financial writer in the New York Times. This was manifest recently in England's recent recovery where there was a lag between increased business and increased commercial loans.

County Key Bankers

Describing the activities of the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association, the Director, D. H. Otis, says: "With 2,500 agriculturally minded bankers, designated as county key bankers, there is enlisted a tremendous force for the improvement of agriculture. These key bankers bring organized assistance to progressive bankers, who are led to see the possibility of agricultural work in their communities. Banker-farmer tours are emphasized as a means of acquainting bankers, farmers and other business men with first-hand knowledge of how agricultural improvement methods are working out in practice. These give an opportunity for the key bankers to contact county bankers and work out new ideas."

BANKERS SUPPORT SOUND EXPANSION

By R. S. HECHT Vice President, American Bankers Association

R. S. HECHT

BANKERS universally recognize that the prime economic need of the nation is the stimulation of sound industrial and commercial activities and recent travels over a wide stretch of the country have shown me that they everywhere are making all effort possible to lend constructive financial support within the scope of their proper banking functions to promoting the expansion of business activity. Frequently in times past when our country suffered from an economic depression and consequent unemployment on a large scale, the rise of some broad new industrial development, such for instance as a new industry like the automobile industry, has been a powerful factor in stimulating a return or an accelerated growth of national prosperity. Such a movement means the creation of new wealth, the employment of large groups of people on useful lines and as a consequence the production and distribution of sound, effective purchasing power, which is a form of wholesome economic stimulant that has none of the evils of monetary inflation.

A New Force for Business Improvement

Perhaps we have at hand, if not the rising of a wholly new industry, a measurable equivalent in the potentialities of a widespread rebuilding and modernizing movement such as home renovating, plant remodeling, the putting of our railroads on a high speed air conditioned basis and other valuable developments in the construction field. The effects of such activities on employment and many lines of business would be most beneficial and I can repeat without reservation that we bankers are willing and eager to play our full economic part in any such constructive developments. It has been made to appear that money has not gone to work because of the timidity of bankers rather than what is a true explanation, because business men have not had enough confidence in the business outlook to borrow the dollar from the banker and put it to work.

The basic requisite to the expansion of commercial bank loans is sound, normal business conditions on which to conduct sound, normal banking operations. The best business a bank can wish for is the opportunity to loan money to successful business men and manufacturers imbued with confidence to enter upon aggressive business enterprises and endowed with the ability to bring them to successful conclusions. Such loans mean business activity for the community, growing pay rolls and prosperity, and the banker wants to make them because to be identified with such activities not only means profits to him but, additionally, brings him the reward of good will in his community. There is no better proof of the great desire of banks to take care of the short term requirements of the business world than to point out the abnormally low rates at which this demand is being supplied at the present time.

BANK DEPOSITS WERE SAFEST INVESTMENTS

High Government Official Says No Investments Except U. S. Bonds Suffered as Little Loss as Deposits in Closed Banks

WASHINGTON, D. C.—No form of investments except Government bonds suffered as little loss as deposits in closed banks during the years 1931-32, says Jesse H. Jones, Chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, declared in a recent address.

"A point generally overlooked in connection with bank failures in this period, is that upon the whole, depositors in closed banks will get a somewhat larger percentage than has been true in bank failures over a period of say twenty-five years," Mr. Jones said. "Heretofore they have gotten about 58%, but in these wholesale bank closings, my estimate is that they will, upon the average, get about 65% of their deposits."

"Another point worthy of mention is that a depositor in a closed bank loses only a part of his deposit, while the bank stockholder loses all, plus a stock assessment."

"No form of investment, except Government bonds, has suffered as little loss as deposits in closed banks, and while I appreciate that there is little consolation in this fact, those who had their savings invested in stocks, bonds, mortgages, real estate, industrial investments, or in businesses of any kind, have had losses very much greater, and in a much larger percentage, than have depositors in closed banks."

"It is for these reasons, and others not necessary here to enumerate, that it is not possible to justify paying depositors in closed banks with the taxpayers' money."
