VOLUME LII

HICO, TEXAS, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1936.

NUMBER 26.

Here In HICO

"I used to tell my troubles to everyone I knew; but the more I told my troubles, the more my troubles grew. In the above quotation, heard over the ether recently in the homely philosophy of Uncle Ezra or some other dispenser of truth, fun and foolishness, will be found a summation of most people's feelings.

Previously intending to air a few of our troubles, we have decided to withhold our wassal and instead see if we can't find something of a different nature to talk about. Nobody cares about our troubles, anyhow—they have plenty of their own to study about.

A new comeback for the periodical peddler was overheard in our office the other day, and deserves repetition on account of its effectiveness in dismissing one of the troublesome gentry usually so persistent in their efforts to convince an unwilling audience of the merits of some magazine they propose to almost give away.

The magazine peddler breezed in from the door of the N. R., assuming a very businesslike manner and stopping the editor from one of his altogether too scarce efforts at work.

"Would you like to have a new dictionary for only the few cents necessary to send along these two magazines also?" he inquired.

Assembling all our sales resistance, we bluntly told the peddler no in a not-too-pleased manner.

Turning to an office visitor, one Urban Brown, who by the way also is project supervisor on the street paving program, the salesman asked him if he would like to have a copy of the new dictionary.

"No, I guess not," Urban urbanely answered. "You know, I started that darned book once but didn't like the plot, so I'm not interested."

Drastic Emergency Sale Going On At Carlton Bros. Store

Referred to as the greatest sale in the history of Hico, the firm of G. M. Carlton Bros. & Co. opened its doors Thursday morning to a throng of cash-paying customers that was the envy of the merchandise field in this territory. With many extra salespeople employed to augment the regular force at the store it was almost impossible to find a waiting clerk from time the doors opened until late in the afternoon when office forces were tabulating totals for sales of the day.

J. W. Riechbour, local manager of the firm, was free to express himself as being highly pleased with the success of the first day of the event.

At a great deal of expense, the sale had been advertised throughout this territory with a four-page circular, which was turned in the home newspaper of Hico. With the copy especially prepared by a representative of a nationally known sales adjuster, the circulars were delivered as promised and proved effective in drawing attention to the sales event.

Stating that creditors demand their money now, the editorial introduction in the circulars called attention to the huge stock of dry goods, ladies' ready-to-wear, shoes, men's clothing, hardware and groceries which will be sacrificed to meet their demands for cash.

"We have slashed prices unmercifully on everything and in many instances have paid no attention to cost or former selling price," the message says. "The basis used is what it will bring at quick sale, and this sale is going to be the biggest Hico ever saw. Our misfortune is your opportunity."

The firm, always a liberal user of newspaper advertising, has a half-page advertisement in this issue of the News Review calling attention to the sale, and has made arrangements to follow this up from week to week with other messages as the sale progresses.

Methodist Pastor and Family Greeted Here With Pounding

Arriving in Hico last week-end from Cross Plains, where the reverend Mr. J. C. Mann had been stationed as pastor of the Methodist Church for the previous two years, the family of the pastor assigned to the local charge for the ensuing year have been receiving a royal welcome.

SOCIAL SECURITY BOARD ASKS PROMPT RETURN OF BLANKS SENT THIS WEEK

Blank forms were distributed this week to all firms in Hico employing help in their business or professional capacities. Instructions from the Postmaster General at Washington were sent to Postmaster Jimmie L. Holford calling for this action, and impressing upon her the importance of having the public fill in the forms and return them immediately.

In a bulletin the following paragraph explains the responsibility of the local post office: "So far as the postal service is concerned, work incident to the preparation of Form SS-4 will be completed on November 21, 1936. Individuals or firms desiring to return completed forms after that date should be advised to send them direct to the Social Security Board, Baltimore, Maryland."

While it is not the duty of the postal service to clarify the provisions and operation of the Social Security Act, Mrs. Holford states that anyone at the local office will be glad to give the public the benefit of any information they have. She especially urges the importance of returning the blanks by the 21st, Saturday of this week.

Nimble Thimble Club Met With Mrs. Louis Chaney

The Nimble Thimble Club had an enjoyable meeting in the home of Mrs. Louis Chaney on Tuesday of this week.

After a few hours of profitable work, the members were served with refreshments.

Mrs. E. P. Herrick of Fort Worth was a guest of the club. Last week the members had the pleasure of meeting with Mrs. Charlie Meador.

Mrs. Robert Hancock is president of the organization, and Mrs. R. B. Jackson is the reporter.

Grafrod Man and Hico Girl Wed in Fort Worth Saturday

The marriage of Miss Marguerite McMillan of Hico and Mr. Ira Scudder of Grafrod took place in Fort Worth at 6 p. m. Saturday in the parsonage of the Church of Christ, with Elder Fred McClung reading the double ring ceremony.

Miss Rose Ellen Williams, the bride's only attendant, wore a gray wool frock with black accessories and a corsage of tinted blue pom-pom chrysanthemums. Mr. Ben L. McCloud of Dallas was best man.

The bride wore a Centennial blue wool suit with gray caracul sleeves, gray accessories and a corsage of rosebuds and lilies of the valley.

PAPER WILL PRINT EARLY NEXT WEEK

Due to the fact that next Thursday is Thanksgiving Day, the News Review will be printed Tuesday instead of on the regular publication day.

There are two reasons for this decision. One, of course, is to allow the force to take the Thanksgiving holiday. The other, and most important, is that we believe we may better serve our advertisers and our readers in this way.

Advertisers desiring to get last-minute messages before the public for Thanksgiving will find this an ideal medium for doing so. Then the readers will have their papers to look over at their leisure, and will get the news while it is hot.

Cooperation in the way of early advertising copy and news items will be appreciated, of course. It is not too early now, but after Monday of next week it might be too late. Correspondents will take notice, please, and have their letters in by Monday.

Advertisers are asked to call upon us for any cut or copy suggestions, and it is expected that they will avail themselves of this opportunity to get out after some added business.

F. F. A. Boys Give Radio Program. The Hico F. F. A. thanks Mr. Baxter, manager of KPFL station for letting them have fifteen minutes of the time for a program Saturday morning.

In this program Johnnie Elkins gave the introduction. C. A. Giescke and O. D. Belcher gave a dialogue and Winifred Houston played two numbers on his french harp.

Chapter Conducting Team Chosen. Monday the Hico chapter had the eliminations for the chapter conducting team. The results were as follows: Dan Holliday was elected as president; Johnnie Elkins, vice president; C. A. Giescke, reporter, and A. D. Land was elected as secretary.

Miss Wagstaff, Miss Spivy and Miss Harris were judges for this contest.

WINNERS IN CONTEST BY RESIDENTS OF CITY PUT ON BY HICO REVIEW CLUB

The contest, sponsored by the Hico Review Club, for most attractive yards of residents of the city, closed last Saturday and Mrs. T. U. Little, chairman of civic committee, presented the cash prizes which were offered early in the Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Porter who own their home won first prize for the most attractive yard, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rainwater won second.

For the rented home, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Christopher were presented with first prize, and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ogilvie second.

For the most attractive surroundings of any filling station, Grady Hooper won first prize, and Norman McAnelly second.

This is an annual affair sponsored by the club and each year it creates a lot of interest and at the same time encourages the beautification of the premises about the homes.

HICO MISSIONARY LADIES MEET WITH CARLTON BODY

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Mann and two small children, Mrs. G. C. Keeney, Mrs. Marvin Marshall, Mrs. L. E. Angell and daughter Frances, Mrs. C. G. Masterson, Mrs. H. N. Wolfe, Mrs. M. A. Cole, Mrs. Lusk Randalls and Miss Rosalie Eakins were in Carlton Monday for an all-day meeting of the Methodist Missionary Society.

The Hico ladies had charge of the program in the morning and the Carlton ladies in the afternoon.

Lunch was served at noon by the ladies of Carlton.

Overabundance Of Turkeys Cause Of Depressed Prices

While somewhat disappointing in the matter of price, the Thanksgiving marketing of turkeys nevertheless has progressed at a rapid rate during the past few days and many birds have moved on the first buying period.

A round of produce houses and the local cold storage plant this week resulted in the information that about eight cars of turkeys had been shipped on this market.

A high price of 12 cents per pound was paid, with the price fluctuating downward during the buying period, and then going back up.

Many birds were not ready to move at this time, being light in weight and needing some feeding before being taken to market. Buyers estimate that about one-third of the crop has moved, leaving a large number of birds to be sold on the Christmas market.

They give slight encouragement of higher prices at that time, stating however that any prediction now is guess-work. The local houses insist that they will stay in the market and pay all they can for the birds produced in this section.

The following dispatch appearing in daily papers gives an insight into the conditions over the country:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(AP)—An all-time record crop of turkeys—an estimated 20,000,000 of them—was said today by agriculture department experts to be the basic cause for turkey marketing disputes in Texas and Oklahoma.

Gobbler growers there have protested to state and federal officials that low prices being offered for the birds will force them to keep the turkeys on the farms, instead of letting them grace Thanksgiving and Christmas dinner tables.

Keeping Up With TEXAS

Highway Engineer Gibb Gilchrist Wednesday had been notified of his appointment by the President as the United States representative on the permanent international commission of the Permanent International Association of Road Congresses.

Deer and turkey proved too elusive in Vice President John N. Garner's native haunts and he returned home Tuesday from his first hunting trip of the season empty handed. It was more successful however, for his hunting and fishing companion, Ross Brumfield, who bagged a 10-point buck weighing 125 pounds. The vice president, tanned from his recent outdoor life, was not greatly disappointed, saying "the season is young yet."

State officials prepared Wednesday to canvass officially returns of the Nov. 3 general election. Governor Allred, Attorney General William McCraw and Secretary of State B. P. Matocha compose the board which will canvass returns for all statewide offices except presidential electors, Governor and Lieutenant Governor. The Legislature will canvass results of the Governor's and Lieutenant Governor's races and those for places in either branch of the Legislature. All but 10 counties certified returns to the Secretary of State's office and they were urged to submit them before the canvass at 2 p. m.

Another box of cigars has arrived at the Mineral Wells fire department. Three times a year, on Thanksgiving, Christmas and the Fourth of July—cigars come from Johnnie Stanley of Fort Worth. His father, the late Miles Stanley, for many years a resident of Mineral Wells, always sent a box of cigars to the members of the local fire department on these three holidays. In his will it was specified that his estate was to continue the custom.

Fourteen persons, including the owners of Dallas' three swankiest downtown night clubs, were named in more than 20 complaints on file there Wednesday as the state liquor control board began its two-week-old threat to take a hand in the illicit saloon situation.

Sewer rats in the Federal Building, Dallas, are due to get a cocktail of the finest and the foulest whiskeys made Thursday of this week when Federal investigators of the alcohol tax unit will pour out 213 gallons of illegal liquor worth about $1,426. "This whiskey was seized in raids in the Dallas district and used for evidence," David G. Coffman, investigator in charge, explained.

After the first of next month, betters at Texas horse race tracks in the aggregate will begin losing another cent on each dollar they wager. The track's "take" of each pool will become 11 instead of 10 per cent. Bettors who shove $1000 into the windows, for example, will get only $890 back. The track's share will be only $70 instead of the present $75 but the state's will be $40 instead of the present $25. Mrs. Elizabeth Thwait secretary of the racing commission said the Texas "take" then would be higher than in any other state except California.

Former State Senator Ed Westbrook, Sherman, was dead Wednesday, his neck broken when the car he was driving on the Dallas highway one mile north of Hillsboro, struck a guard rail and plunged head-on into a ditch. Westbrook, driving alone, was rounding a curve at an underpass when the accident occurred. He died en route to Hillsboro sanitarium. He is survived by his widow and two daughters.

Greyville By GLADYS HICKS

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hicks and daughter, Mrs. M. H. Johnson and children, and Miss Era Johnson visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hendricks of near Hico.

Those who spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Patterson and daughter, Imogene, were: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Herrin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Knudson of near Fairy and Mr. and Mrs. James Hicks of this community.

Cash Nock of this community and Mr. Saim of near Hico spent Sunday in the J. L. Mullins home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Alexander and family spent a while Sunday near Alexander.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ratacke and Elton and Charlie Samford of Buchanan Dam spent awhile Monday in the J. H. Hicks home.

Flag Branch By HAZEL COOPER

Mrs. Babe Christopher and two daughters, Misses Nadene and Christine spent Sunday in the S. O. Mings home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Dotson spent Sunday in the F. D. Craig home.

Jess McCoy spent Monday and Tuesday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McCoy of Shoat's Gap. Mrs. Sylvester Mings spent last Friday with Mrs. Nina Mings of Ireddell.

By O. D. BELCHER

Rueben Bryant Lively. Rueben Bryant Lively was born in Arkansas April 1, 1854, and came to Texas with his family in 1865. He resided in Milam County until 1892 when he moved to Navarro County, coming to Erath County in 1903 where he resided most of the time until his death November 1, 1926.

He is survived by his wife and eight children, all present. Six children have preceded him in death.

He was twice married, his first wife died in 1898, while he lived in Navarro County.

There are 22 grandchildren and 22 great grandchildren.

Several from this community attended the funeral of Mrs. Derris Cavanaugh Monday at Ireddell.

First Baptist Church

E. E. Dawson, Pastor. Can a man pay his debt to the grocer by merely getting mad? Or, by tossing the statement the grocer sends him into the waste basket? Well, not and be honest, you reply. Right? Well, then can a man pay his debt to God and the church by merely getting mad? Or, by ignoring all the Christian calls? What's your answer?

At 10:00 o'clock Sunday morning there will be a place for you in the Sunday school. Trust you will be there—and on time! Set the alarm clock that morning, too.

There will be preaching at 11:00 and 7:15, to which you are cordially invited.

W. M. S. Met at Church With Ten Ladies Present

The W. M. S. met at the church at 3 p. m. Monday with ten ladies present. They had as a guest, Mrs. Wilson Fielder, one of our foreign missionaries, and another guest, Bro. Carroll, pastor at Carlton. We invited Bro. Fielder to tell us about what they were doing in the foreign field. His talk was very interesting and inspiring: "What the Lottie Moon Xmas is doing for our Missionaries and Host Peoples."

Song: Rescue the Perishing. Prayer, Bro. Carroll. We will meet next Monday with Mrs. John Clark in a social meeting. The ladies are asked to bring or send cookies so we can pack our Thanksgiving box for Buckner Orphans' Home. Come, enjoy the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Sellers, Mrs. C. W. Bates, Mrs. Roland L. Holford and daughter, Carolyn, Mrs. Emma Barnes, Mrs. May Petty, Miss Irene Frank and Sonny, Jean and Frances Mings were in Hamilton Monday morning where they attended the wedding of Miss Katherine Maxwell to Mr. Hogue Williams at the First Baptist Church in that city. The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Maxwell, is well known in Hico as the Maxwell family resident here several years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Williams will reside in Shreveport, La., where Mr. Williams has employment.

GOES 'ROUND AND 'ROUND
And It Comes Out Here—

The local postmaster was sporting a new cellophane effect raincoat during the last rain which created quite a lot of interest in the town since most of the citizens had never seen one.

One man said he had heard of almost everything being packed in cellophane, but this was the first time he had ever seen a woman wrapped in it.

Buster Harris and Herman Munnerly are wearing smiles the first of the week and we learned the reason was an eight-pound son born to Mr. and Mrs. Buster Harris on Sunday.

The birth of the child made Buster "papa" and Herman "grand-papa." Mrs. Harris formerly was Miss Maxine Munnerly. Both of the men say the youngster is the prettiest and best baby in the country. It has been named Kenneth Allen.

Later—Since being up with the baby most of Tuesday night, Mr. Munnerly said it wasn't so pretty as he first thought, and that he felt like he should be on the pension list for aged people.

We don't know whether animals read or not, nor if they can understand the English language. But R. J. Adams says he knows it to be true.

Last week we printed in this column about R. J. mixing half water to the whole milk he was feeding a calf recently purchased, saying the little devil wouldn't know the difference anyhow. The next day after the paper came out, the owner went out to feed the animal and found it dead. Now R. J. blames us, saying the calf found out it was underfed, and died from the shock of mistreatment.

Sid H. Carlton, who is the new manager of the Hico Poultry & Egg Co., comes here from Hamilton. He is no new man in the poultry business, for he has been with Swift & Co. for the past six years, besides being connected with other large companies.

Although the turkey marketing was a little slow during the Thanksgiving season, the Christmas turkeys will far exceed the past one in number, he says.

Some Friday the Thirteenth are lucky and some are not, according to H. N. Wolfe, but last Friday started out as an unlucky day for him and continued over the week-end.

Ask him about his troubles. He thinks he has the toughest time of anyone, at times.

A bale of cotton was brought 42 miles the other day to Hico to be ginned. It was brought by truck to town by a Mr. Palmer of the Glen Rose community, and was ginned free by the J. J. Loeth Gin.

The Leeth ginners are offering to gin a bale free for the person bringing it from the greatest distance each Saturday and Trades Day.

Recently the Nachitgall boys who reside in the Hockabay community above Stephenville brought cotton to two different times a distance of 35 miles. Two bales also came from the vicinity of Meridian and Cranfill's Gap.

Besides the splendid free offer the Hico buyers usually pay a little more for the cotton than buyers from other towns.

Mrs. Birds Boone is the new Rawleigh agent in Hico and has the famous line of products right here in her home, the first house west of the Hico Service Station.

According to Mrs. Boone, many families in this section have used this line for years, but recently have been unable to obtain them. But in the future they will be on sale right here near their door.

Durward Lane who operates the Texaco Station on the corner of the block west of the post office, is this week offering a special to tire users.

To the person purchasing two new Brunswick tires and one tube, will be presented a new tube free of charge. This is quite a saving to those who are in need of tires or who might need some soon.

Durward is running a display ad in this week's issue of the paper, and is a firm believer in advertising.

J. E. Cooper, who resides on Route 4 out of Hico, is back on our subscription list after being off the list for a long time.

While in the office Tuesday, Mr. Cooper was talking about how times, customs and conditions had changed. He said when there were no beauty parlors, his wife always curled her own hair, and now got permanents regularly.

He modestly admitted that Mrs. Cooper, although good-looking in his estimation, grows prettier each day.

We enjoyed the chat with Mr. Cooper very much and hope they enjoy the News Review again.

E. H. Persons was strutting around the streets the first of the week, seeming in a happier mood than usual.

We learned that he has earned the title of "Grandpa" since our last edition of the News Review. A little son was born last Friday night in Wichita Falls to his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clark. The child has been given the name of Joe.

Mr. Persons is still wondering why they didn't name him Edgar, thinking that is a prettier name anyhow.

In a telegram sent Tuesday to his daughter, Dale, Tullis Randal who is with others in Mason County on a deer hunt said their party bagged three deer the first day.

Mr. Randal got an 8-point buck, Jake Blair got a 9-point, and Jeff Moreland of Fort Worth killed one.

Everyone was so well pleased with the special train going out of Hico last Saturday to the Centennial that the Katy has decided to run another one on the 28th of this month, according to H. Smith, local agent.

It will leave here at 5:32 on Saturday and get to Dallas at 10:45. Returning that night at 11:15, it is due to arrive back in Hico at 4:22 Sunday morning.

Anyone can go at the special rate.

The largest bale of cotton ever turned out here by Kight Ginners was turned out last week.

It was made up of remnant cotton and weighed 883 pounds.

The two local gins have ginned about 2400 bales of cotton this season, a number which is far ahead of last year's crop, and exceeds expectations for this year.

Second Installment

Whatever they talked about, McDonald was not pleased. He kept hunching his coat collar, growling, answering in short, sharp syllables. The pug's bushy brows wrinkled until they met across his bent and twisted nose. The other newcomer talked on suavely but Dan knew he was laying down the law.

Unable to linger at the cashier's desk any longer, Colwell stepped out of the Waverly Club bar. As he emerged on the sunlit street well filled with business people hurrying to or from luncheon, three he watched made for the curb. McDonald signalled a taxi. They climbed in, McDonald in the middle, and the hack rolled away.

Dan gestured another cab. "I'm going where that green hack goes. But leave a little space between."

He gave the driver a keen look. "No sir, mister, I need money but . . ."

The driver left off and accepted the bill Colwell poked at him. "Okay," he grinned. "Hop in!"

The ride was down Reed Street to the corner of Prospect Boulevard, one of the principal shopping streets of the city. There the taxicab in front turned north, Colwell's driver following. Dan guessed his quarry headed for the Lawyers and Doctor's Building where Arthur McDonald maintained his law office. He could see the man's head and shoulders through the rear window of his cab and catch occasional glimpses of his companions, one on either side. Colwell settled back to smoke a cigarette.

At the intersection with Broadway half the pavement was torn away for repairs and the resultant bottle neck caused a sweet traffic tieup. Colwell's cab halted immediately behind that of McDonald. On Dan's left was the gaping hole of the street foundation with picks and shovels lying about and the tar cooker boiling over a wood fire. Workmen squatted on the distant curb munching sandwiches.

On Dan's right was a big double deck bus. He smoked, peacefully oblivious to the honking as impatient drivers began to prod the traffic cop who already must be perspiring through his uniform. The tieup grew worse and the honking grew louder, more insistent. Somebody's big limousine up there had lost a wheel, that was the trouble now.

Colwell bestirred himself when he saw two men pile out of McDonald's cab. He could not help his pulse picking up speed. It was the striped suit gent and his smoother partner who got out. Dan blinked thoughtfully—then shrugged.

McDonald still was visible as to head and shoulders through the rear window of the taxi. There was nothing Colwell needed to telephone, Mac's beautiful wife yet. His thoughts swung to her, and he grinned. McDonald was lucky, if he only knew it.

The meter ticked busily. Colwell saw the two men who alighted from the taxi ahead separate and start carelessly for the sidewalk. He squinted after them, then at McDonald. Dan muttered a curse, climbed to the street, and thrust a half dollar at his driver.

"I can walk faster'n this," he growled.

He was not the only disgusted citizen in the traffic knot at Broadway and Prospect. Eight or nine others, indignant and abusive, had forsaken cars in which they had been riding, or the big yellow double-deck bus. Dan waited until no one afoot was near; then he sauntered alongside McDonald's cab and shot a straight, quick look in.

His Adam's apple jerked. But for the raucous, impatient honking on all sides the ejaculation that burst from his lips would have attracted instant notice. Experienced as he was, this thing jarred him, made his chest feel clammy. His blue-grey eyes riveted with horror on the slight, dandyish form of Arthur McDonald in that taxi.

His stare attracted the driver's attention. It all happened in two or three seconds, five at most. Automatically the taxi man glanced into his rear view mirror. He squirmed around. His gaunt countenance lost what little color too many cigarettes had left, and went blank. He bathed McDonald with a terrified look, wrenched the wheel, and returned to McDonald.

Another policeman probed with drawn revolver.

them to his passenger as if drawn by a magnet.

The eyes of the slyster lawyer almost popped from their sockets. They were glazed. A long knife was buried to the hilt in his chest, stabbed through his expensive brown silk tie. His right hand actually hung on the haft of the weapon, as though in his agonizing he had tried to draw the thing out. Stiff in death, McDonald sat in the shabby green taxicab waiting for traffic to move!

There is an arresting horror in the sight of a murdered man. It gripped the hack driver, held him taut until comprehension seeped to his brain of the awful meaning of it. Colwell was in the clutch of amazement, but years of experience at meeting such sights made him recover first. His movement to leave the spot prompted the taxi man's yell.

"Police! Murder!" He howled it above the din of horns, and the throb of impatient motors. "A guy's dead! There goes the fella! Help, police!"

Dan saw a strip of white paper on the running board of the car which evidently had fallen unseen when those two men stepped out. He leaned and snatched it up, then plunged for the back of the cab. His impulse was to race for the sidewalk after the killer pair but his anxious eyes failed to find them. And the red barricade set up at the gap of torn pavement changed his mind. He turned around the rear of the bus just as a gaseous cloud poured from its exhaust. In the nick of time as it picked up speed he flipped on the back platform where the conductor stood.

They stared at each other. If the fellow had made a move to seize him Dan would have broken his jaw. But the conductor merely seemed startled to pick up a passenger at this spot. He offered his pistol-grip arts box. Colwell fumbled in his vest and produced a dime which he stuffed in the slot to the tinkle of a little bell. He shouldered past the conductor up to a rear seat where he twisted to look back, at the same time reaching for a handkerchief with which to mop his perspiration-beaded countenance.

Set to shadow McDonald, he had allowed those two men to murder him!

He cursed himself roundly. Colwell's square jaw set. This must have been planned with considerable suddenness, or the slaying may have been impulsive. McDonald may have grown fractious there in the green cab. The killers had silenced him and then hastily turned his pockets inside out, evidently knowing well what they wanted.

In the wake of his bus Dan saw the harassed traffic cop run for the hack which impeded a long line of cars. People swarmed from all directions toward the gesticulating taxi driver, even some of the street repair men running across the raw wound in the pavement. The chauffeur, in the street now, yelled louder, howled more oaths, and wrenched the handle of the tonneau door. He stepped back with another howl. Meanwhile, other traffic rolled coldly away with the same alacrity it had knotted.

The lumbering double-decker progressed half a block. Dan relaxed somewhat with a sense of tremendous relief. The cab driver

Donald. That was a bestial way to murder! The knife wielder must know something of anatomy; he had plunged his cold blade to the precise spot which would paralyze the victim's power of shouting out and giving the alarm.

In the crowd that was now being roughly posted by four policemen he searched face after face to locate the two riders with Arthur McDonald. After a moment of fruitless effort Colwell worked himself into the clear. He was in the nick of time to glimpse two backs as the very men he sought strode west toward Alton Street. They must have lingered to make certain their victim was dead. One back wore that striped suit, the other, the dark suit.

Colwell followed them.

They passed into the Illinois Building lobby, exited through a candystore, and went into the arcade of the Miller a few doors north. That was to shake pursuit—although Dan guessed the pair felt secure as it was just a precaution. His lips thinned in a grim smile. They hadn't shaken him and they wouldn't!

As he rather anticipated, the men finally entered the tall, dark stone office building known as the Lawyers and Doctors. Colwell let them enter an elevator while he paused before the wall directory. He took the next car to the eleventh floor. Sure enough, as he glimpsed the two just disappearing within the opaque glassed suite that bore the lettering, "Arthur H. McDonald, Attorney At Law."

The corridor door remained swung wide. Colwell lounged nearer to hear, if possible, what was said. It must be the dark suited man who rumbled something to the office girl.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Quillen, but Mr. McDonald hasn't returned yet from lunch."

"I see, Miss Jennings, meet my friend Mr. Bradshaw. Well Jim, we might as well stick around, eh? You expect him back soon, Miss Jennings?"

"Oh yes, any minute. Just make yourselves comfortable, please. Why?" she exclaimed. "Mr. Quillen!"

Colwell heard a chair smash into another against the wall. "It's all right, I—I'm all right," came Quillen's voice, and again the worried, fearful gasp of the girl.

Dan strolled past the anteroom. He glimpsed Miss Jennings and the fellow named Bradshaw, one at either side of Quillen, half carrying him to an inner office. Quillen sank limply into a broad leather chair. His partner fanned him with his hat. He turned to the girl, spoke urgently to her.

Quickly she brought a glass of water, which Bradshaw held to his friend's lips. While he did so he made some request of the secretary. She started from the office but waited when he called to her. The girl stepped back for a bit of paper he took from Quillen's vest pocket.

"That's the formula. Have him make 'em up quick—but take time to be right! They're dangerous if they ain't made up right. See? Don't worry, sister, but kind of step on it. Pharmacy two floors up, you say? I'll take care of him."

Colwell was intent on the building directory when the sweet and intelligent looking brunette sped from McDonald's office on tiny heels that clicked sharply across the white marble floor. She sighed her worried disappointment that no elevator was high. She scarcely glanced at Dan Colwell, but clutching the prescription or Quillen's heart medicine, turned and scurried for the stairway.

RECOVERY IS HERE

If there were any doubt left in anybody's mind that economic recovery is well under way in America, the action of the United States Steel Corporation in raising the wages of its employees ought to be convincing evidence. It will cost the Steel Corporation somewhere above $75,000,000 a year to grant these pay increases.

Other and smaller industries have been gradually restoring wages to the pre-depression level, but steel is the key industry of them all. When the steel companies are prosperous, all the other industries are prosperous.

Another evidence that we are back on the main highway leading to prosperity is the enormous increase in automobile production and sales and the promising outlook for that industry for the coming year.

A THOUGHT FOR THANKSGIVING

Of all the nondays which we customarily observe, there are two of distinctly American origin which are celebrated all over the United States.

Thanksgiving Day and Independence Day. Both of these have peculiar significance to all Americans.

Let us in the midst of our Thanksgiving feasting and merry-making not forget that we are possessors of a great spiritual heritage, and make the day an occasion for pledging ourselves anew to the upholding and perpetuation of that spiritual liberty.

Let us who believe everything we hear believe nothing.

MODERN WOMEN

CHARL ORMOND WILLIAMS President of National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

Some day our women astronomers will cease to hide their brilliance from the world and we will begin to know more about them. Now and then a little information does find its way into print, and this is how I have learned that for fifty years women have been studying astronomy, collaborating, teaching and observing at the Harvard Observatory.

Chile's only woman mayor visited New York recently, enjoying a much needed vacation. Senora Alicia Canas de Errazuriz, said to be the only woman holding this high office in the South American country, is extremely feminine and did not campaign for the head of the government of the city of Providencia, which is the most important residential suburb of Santiago, the capital of Chile.

Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Charles E. Duman

An Ambassador in Chains. Lesson for November 22nd. Acts 28:16-24. Golden Text: Phil. 4:13.

The account, in Acts, of Paul's journey from Caesarea to Rome was written by a sympathetic eyewitness. After being placed with other prisoners, on board a vessel that left Caesarea in the summer or early fall, the apostle saw the coastal plain of the Holy Land for the last time.

After the delay in Crete a fresh start was made. But the season in which navigation was dangerous had arrived, and the hapless band on the ill-fated bark found themselves caught in the teeth of a severe northeast storm.

anchors, waited hopefully for the day. In the morning, after raising the anchors, they attempted to run the boat ashore, but it was quickly battered into bits by the fierce surf.

In this crisis Paul revealed himself as a forceful leader of remarkable poise. His courage and good cheer were contagious. How calm and confident he was in the midst of his panic-stricken fellow-travelers!

At the opening of navigation in the spring the voyage was continued in another vessel, and Paul reached Rome where he was allowed to have his own lodging, though constantly chained to a soldier. The friendliness and sympathy of the Roman Christians warmed his heart, and he "thanked God and took courage."

BRUCE BARTON Soap. Includes a small portrait of a man.

It Makes the World Go Round... A young man burst violently into my office.

His face was somewhat haggard, and his clothes disheveled, as though he had been up all night, which, in fact, he had.

But there was electricity in his walk, and sunshine in his eyes. "Have you heard the wonderful news?" he cried.

I told him I had not heard any wonderful news since 1929.

"Well, you're going to hear some now," he exclaimed. "I have a boy, yes, sir, seven and a half pounds, born at five-thirty this morning. Think of it... me... a son."

Whereupon he became almost inarticulate, waving his arms and emitting sounds that were half laughter and half tears.

At length he gained sufficient self-control to impart the information that the baby had blue eyes. (I hadn't the heart to say that all babies have blue eyes. He wouldn't have heard me anyway.)

"When I looked down at him the first time, the little rascal looked up and smiled. And he reached out and grabbed my finger, and say... I don't know how to express it, but when I felt him grip my finger, so trusting and everything... say, if I were worth five thousand dollars to my boss yesterday, I'm worth ten thousand today."

Did I treat his enthusiasm seriously? You bet I did. Any man who himself has passed through that experience and does not feel a reverent sympathy for a younger brother in the same situation has some serious lack in his soul.

The Obituary Page. Once I was talking about Kent Cooper about what interests people in the newspapers.

He said: "When a man gets to be about forty-five years old he discovers the obituary page."

I certainly am not a gloomy minded person, but I have always thought more or less about death. The attitude of a large portion of the human race toward it seems to be infantile and silly.

It isn't pleasant subject but certainly it is an inevitable one. Why dodge and pretend and act like children? Said Caesar: "Of all the wonders that I have heard, it seems to me the most strange that men should fear; Seeing that death, a necessity will come when it will come."

All of which leads me to remark that there is a certain advantage in discovering the obituary page comparatively early in life. The tragedy that some men never discover it.

I have seen a doddering old millionaire who was well over sixty and notoriously tight. He told all the reasons why he couldn't give up a cent, and as he warmed up to the subject he began to act as if my call were an insult.

Finally I said: "Why are you so mean? Why do you deny your self pleasures and squeeze every nickel? It isn't your money, it's your children's money, or will be in a few years. Why let them live all the pleasures? Why not have the fun of giving some of it away?"

This rude remark shocked him. I think it started a line of thought that made quite a change in his life.

The Family DOCTOR by JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D. Includes a small portrait of a man.

MORE EVIDENCE. A very old adage has it, "Fools make feasts; wise men eat them." But we are living in a different age; I don't call anybody a fool because he spreads a feast—if he can afford it; the very much bigger fool is the fellow that gorges himself at the feast!

Last evening, much against my better judgment, I accepted an invitation to dine at 6 o'clock with a professional brother—our wives were in attendance. The cares of the day were past and gone; it was time for recreation that is so essential to the brain worker. Everyone in the happy group, except myself, adored the six o'clock dinner, and indulged in it at every opportunity.

To say that this was a fine, sumptuous meal, does not half describe the setting. It was a triumph of culinary skill—the quantity was limited to capacity only.

Incidentally, one of the physicians present said he was a little ticklish about coffee—he had a blood-pressure of something over 200—and was a bit apprehensive about it; he was only sixty and looked forty-five. Yet he was being seriously threatened.

My wife and I went to the party in a neighbor physician's car. As we came home at 10:30 P. M., the doctor said to me, "I've had to be a little guarded here lately; Mrs. C—and I are both developing high blood pressures."

Just one thing, dear reader: THE SIX O'CLOCK DINNER. Protein poisoning from the absorption of excessive amounts of undigested food. A heavy meal, partaken of when the mind and body were tired and needed rest. REST. Stomachs compelled to work when relaxed and weakened from mental and physical fatigue.

This Week in Texas History. 1827—The third of Austin's contracts, dated Nov. 20, permitted him to establish within six years 100 families on the north side of the Colorado River above the old San Antonio Road.

1835—The Provisional Government Council enacted legislation on Nov. 19 to purchase food, clothing, and other supplies for the army.

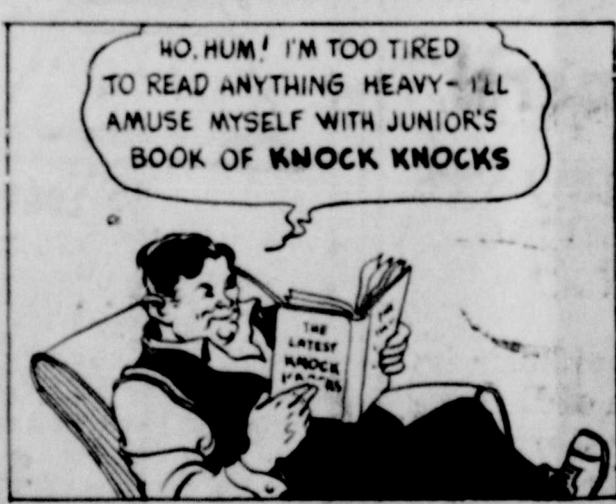

1835—On Nov. 21 the first troops from the United States to join the Texas revolutionary forces arrived near San Antonio.

1836—An act was passed by the First Congress of the Texas Republic on Nov. 16 to enable President Houston to appoint a minister to the United States. He appointed William H. Wharton.

1864—On Nov. 15 an act was passed making it a penal offense for any officer to prevent a prisoner from consulting a lawyer. This indicated the extremity to which arbitrary military power had been stretched.

The Committee for Industrial Organization

His Grocery Bill Is $225,000

Olives? Yes, sir! Just enough for an all college picnic at Texas State College for Women (CIA). Mr. Claude Castleberry, purchasing agent, estimates that more than 1000 gallons are needed each year. The girls will eat $225,000 worth of food before commencement rolls around.

Jobs—Not Pensions

NEW YORK . . . Col. Bernard W. Kearney (above), newly elected Commander-in-Chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, announces that the policy of his administration will be an effort to secure steady jobs for World War veterans rather than lobbying for a pension system. Commander Kearney resides at Gloversville, N. Y.

She Wins!

Miss Mary Frances Woods of San Benito smiles triumphantly as she looks over the "spoils" from the recent freshman presidential election held at Texas State College for Women (CIA). After a vigorous campaign, approximately 1000 freshmen chose this diminutive brunette to guide their class activities.

WHICH DID BILLY ROSE SELECT?

He's keeping it a secret! But next May his choice will be revealed, and one of the smiling girls will be proclaimed the most beautiful senior at Texas State College for Women (CIA). From a bevy of 16 girls, Rose picked the most beautiful from each of the four classes

217 MPR. Wins

DETROIT . . . Lieut. John M. Sterling (above), set a new air speed record, averaging 217.3 miles per hour, to win the 1936 Mitchell Trophy Race. The late Brig.-Gen. William E. Mitchell, U. S. Army, established the annual event.

OUTSTANDING LEADERS ACTIVELY ENGAGED IN THE CONSTRUCTIVE DEVELOPMENT AND BUILDING OF "THE LONE STAR STATE"

Born McKinney, March 4, 1902; son of the late J. Perry Burrus and grandson of W. C. Burrus, who started one of America's greatest flour milling empires in 1876.

JACK P. BURRUS

After high school and college Mr. Burrus entered textile industry in 1922; later built and operated first cotton textile mill at Juarez, Mexico. Robbins Transportation facilities whether by highway, rail, waterways, or airways.

Entered grain and flour industry, Dallas, 1931, associated with father, becoming President Tex-O-Kan Flour Mills in 1933, building with associated mills to one of largest in United States, pay Texas farmers yearly, twelve millions of dollars.

Complete flour mill unit at Centennial, replicas of original at McKinney, timbers from which were used in its construction, also houses first flour testing laboratory kitchen ever built affording public observation of actual processes for testing and proving of fine flours.

New Burrus Mill at Fort Worth, dedicated February, 1936, largest flour mill in Texas, culminating more than half century of milling by 3 generations of Burrus family with daily capacity of 4,000 bbls. Other plants in the Burrus group are: Burrus Mill & Elevator Co., of Ringebu, Ohio; Morton Milling Co., Dallas; Fani Milling Co., Sherman; Texas Star Flour Mills, Galveston; Collins Co. Mill & Elevator Co., McKinney; Liberty Mills, San Antonio; Burrus Feed Mills, Dallas; Perry Burrus Elevators, Dallas and Lubbock; Lone Star Elevators, Ft. ## 1-MINUTE SAFETY TALKS

By Don Herold

"I'm doing my home work for our motor trip to Boston next week"

STUDY THE DANGER BRACKETS

One way to keep from being one of this year's 36,000 killed and 895,000 injured in automobile accidents is to learn where and how and when last year's accidents occurred and avoid such "WHEREAS" and "HOWS" and "WHENS."
More than 85,000 accidents occurred last year on the wrong side of the road. All right, then, I, for one, am going to stay on the right side of the road and keep out of that group. More than 35,000 cars drove off the roadway to some sort of doom. All right; I'm going to drive slowly enough to stay on the road—and stay out of that group.
When I'm driving on a nice straight road, (I drive by speedometer not by "ear") I tell Mrs. Herold not to let me get a mile over 50, because I know that NINE out of TEN automobile accidents involving driving errors are caused by excessive speed. I'm told my car will do over 80, but 50 is my top on the best of roads. If it starts to rain or snow, I lower my maximum to 35 or 40.
If there are other cars on the road, I creep, if necessary, to play safe. I have no ego or pride or inclination to cheat, fudge or bluff.
I, personally, never drive at night if I can help it because the ratio of fatal accidents to total accidents during dusk and darkness is 64 per cent worse than for daytime accidents.
If I do drive at night, 35 miles an hour is my top on a good road, because I know that at 40 it will take me 115 feet to stop and that my headlights show clearly for only 100 feet, and I do not want to be driving 15 feet in the dark all the time.
As a pedestrian, I cross only at intersections and WITH the lights, because I know that the rate of death is 74 per cent worse against the signals than WITH them.
I get the above figures from The Travelers Insurance Company. There are several places to get similar statistics, and I suggest that you do get them and make a study and something of a science of staying alive in 1936.

FOOD FROM THE SKY—in its relief work for the disaster stricken, the Red Cross uses every method of transportation. Army planes are shown here loaded with food and medicine for the flood-isolated villages of Pennsylvania last Spring.

ball player. This is his first year out, but he has really made us wish we had had him for the years before. Hosea Warren doesn't have any favorite song hit. He said he didn't have time to think, because he really had no idea of what I was up to. Just like A. C. Hosea will pay his tribute to George Raft as his favorite actor because he is so slick and smart. For his favorite movie actress he will take Jeannette McDonald. Hosea thinks she is clever. Wayne King impresses Hosea with his slow, smooth, and soothing rhythm. As for food, Hosea Warren likes everything, even "limburger" cheese. Tennis is his favorite sport. Hosea has one of the biggest ambitions of any person in the Senior class. ### Saturday's Trip to Centennial.

Four teachers and seventy-five pupils went to the Centennial on the special train that came through here Saturday morning at 6:03 o'clock. It was reported that 157 tickets were sold to people at Hico and vicinity.

The teachers were: Frances Vickrey, Mrs. Segrest, Miss Halton and Miss Anglin.

The pupils were: Roberta McMillan, Elizabeth Ross, Marguerite Vickrey, Bernice Wren, Bennie Chennault, Marie Leeth, Katherine Massingill, Hosea Warren, O. W. Hefner, Jeannette French, Ann Persons, Roline Forgy, Bill Hall, Mamie Jo McKeage, A. C. Hays, Loraine Logan, Bernice Seay, Mildred Boustead, Jack Smith, Mamie Wright, Florence Harelik, Kenneth Brown, Lavenia Hodnett, Babe Horton, Joe Powers, Carroll Anderson, A. C. Odell, A. D. Land Melven Hunter, Letha Mae Beaman, Muriel Phillips, Lauelia Odell, A. T. Seay, Russell Howerton; Helen Gamble; Robert Anderson; Don Patterson; Rachel Marcum; Marguerite Lewis; Daisy French; James Roy Bobo; Marie Cude; Odell Wellborn; Bobby Jones; Dorothy Ross; Junita Jones; Nadine Seay; Annabell Hodnett; Ina Rogstad; Betty Jo Anderson; Charles French; Owen Wellborn; Pansy McMillan; Bill D. Smith; Mildred Bobo; Nell Patterson; Golden Ross; Louise Blair; Steve Lewis; Harold Leeth; Donald Lewis; Margie Wellborn; Maucie McClarty; Dorothy Jane Golden; Ina May Howerton; Dorothy Lewis; Leroy Bobo; Lavern Golden.

Rambblings.

We heard that the conductor surely was glad to see the Hico bunch get off the train. We wonder why?

Monday everyone in school looked as if they were about to die for want of sleep.

Babe got lost Saturday at the Centennial and when we asked him where he had been, he replied, "I was just wandering around looking at all of them there tall buildings with the purty lights on 'em."

Daisy, Rachel, Peggy and Margaret seem to have some kind of interests in Carlton. What?

Ann is still waiting for a letter from California. Have patience, Ann.

It seems that Leighton now has a new flame who lives in town. We all have our hopes.

Ann, Helen, and O. M. aren't very particular where they sit on a train. The floor is alright with them.

Mary Brown is much happier now that her lover (Bill Pontremell) has returned.

Hosea almost got in trouble by flirting with another boy's girl friend on the train.

Happy Happenings

Friday night every one stayed at home and retired early so that they could get up early enough to catch the 6 o'clock train to the Centennial.

Saturday everyone was in Dallas at the Centennial having a grand time.

Sunday night Ann let some of us come up to her house for an oyster supper. The rest of them went to Meridian and went to bed.

Mildred Boustead became violently ill at the Centennial. Could it have been the Dr. Pepper she drank?

A. C. would let any-one talk him into anything—especially a pretty red-head.

Jeanette French got so tired at the Centennial that everytime she stopped, she pulled her shoes off.

Wonder who the four girls were that Miss Wagstaff sent out of class for no more than talking?

Wonder who rode back from Dallas with Marie and why?

What did Bill Pontremell want to do Saturday night after work?

If football practice doesn't end earlier, the town will have the same tragic ending as Chicago in the year 1871, when the old cow kicked over the lantern and burned the city. Hosea's cow left last night and he has not as yet found her.

Who had a fight at the Baptist Church Sunday night.

Way Out West in Coleman

(Author Unknown)
Now, a way out west in Coleman, where the red-heads grow like wild and the winds are strong and mild boys, there's no trouble to get a smile.

A way out west in Coleman Where the red-heads grow like wild.

Now, a way out West in Coleman, where the red-heads grow like wild. With streets paved of gold and stages of tile.

And the city is the length of a mile.

Away out west in Coleman where the red-heads grow like wild.

Several Go To The Centennial

Ten teachers and seventy-four pupils went to the Centennial Tuesday morning at six o'clock to return at fifteen after three Wednesday morning. All the pupils brought back wonderful tales of shows such as the Cavalcade which they saw at half price. The teachers who went were: Miss Hughes; Miss McAnally; Miss Wagstaff; Miss Berekman; Mr. Jackson; Mr. Lockhart; Mr. Rogstad; Mr. Masterson; Miss Spivey; and Miss Harris.

The pupils were: Darye Pickett; Darl E. Coala; Wanda Hendrix; Tommie Abel; J. W. Blue; Betty McKenzie; / Helen Childress;

Freshman News.

It seems that our last class reporter wasn't living up to her standards, so they said, and in the middle of our History class the editor walked in and I with another group, walked out. You know one of those procedures of an election. When I walked back in, I, Carroll Anderson had been elected class reporter. During the time I am class reporter, I'll try to live up to the standards a reporter should and also do my class duty. There is only one thing I want promised, and that is, what I will or won't write—so don't ask me. Starting next week I'll write letters to my kinsfolk and tell what's on in the eighth grade class.

Sometimes.

(One of the Sophomores version of Miss Johnson).

Sometimes I think Miss Johnson is teased in the hair.

Sometimes I think she is not.

Sometimes I love her truly.

Sometimes she is very pretty.

Sometimes she is not.

Sometimes she gets mad at me.

Sometimes she does not.

Sometimes she is like a Daisy.

Beautiful, Young and lazy.

Sometimes she is not.

Sometimes she is like Rachel.

Tall, dark, and graceful.

Sometimes she is not.

Sometimes she is like Wilma.

Ah forget it.

Sometimes she is not.

But put add, and subtractigate, she is the apple of the ninth grade's eye.

Sports.

Hico did not play a game last Friday. A game was scheduled with Cranfill's Gap but was called off by them.

We will play Comyn next Friday. This game will be played away ### from home and all the support

given will be needed. Everyone come if possible ! ! !

This is one of our hardest games to be played and we will have to fight to win. Do your part ! ! ! !

"THE FAIRIES"

Editor Norma Lee Sellers
Asst. Editor Betty Jaggars
Sport News Etheridge Williamson and Billie O. Bridges
Sponsor Mrs. Rainwater

The Seniors.
We received our play books last week and we are planning to put it on Friday night, Nov. 27, if everything is agreeable. The name is "Where's Grandma?" Admission 10c and 15c. Everyone come.

Juniors.
The Juniors that went to the Centennial last Tuesday and Wednesday had a very enjoyable time, but we wish all of our class could have been with us.

Sophomores.
Those who went to the Centennial at Dallas in this class were: Lola Mae Edlington and Joe Betts.

Wonder Why—
Margie Lee Hutton lost her red-headed boy friend, Creighton. John's so worried? Anything serious, John?

If you're asking the Sophomore class about Biology, it's a good way to lose your appetite, especially when you're studying frogs.

Seventh Grade.
Those who went to the Centennial are: Elton Messingale, Jean Hutton, Quata Burden, Nellie B. Brummett, Norma Ruth Burden, and Wynne Arrant. We all had a nice time.

The grammar school girls organized our indoor ball team last week. The ones on the main team are Bertie Mae Gossett, Ruth Trantham, Wynne Arrant, Wanda Lea Carson, Jean Hutton, Orlia Blakley, Nellie B. Brummett, Joyce Abel, and Quata Burden.

We hope we will have the best grammar school team in the entire county.

Girls' 4-H Club News.
The Fairy 4-H Club met on November 16 for the first time since their organization. The house was called to order by the President, Norma Lee Sellers, and the minutes of the last meeting were read by Etheridge Williamson.

Our demonstrators and our sponsor we had elected resigned. So new demonstrators and a new sponsor were elected. They are as follows: Clothing demonstrator, Wynell Blacklock and the sponsor we have not elected yet for sure.

We have twenty-seven members now from thirty-six that joined. We are sure the ones who resigned will make a great benefit.

We studied the club motto, club pledge and club prayer. We are proud of our club and will do our very best to make it worth while.

Centennial Trip.
Mr. Hershey, Mr. Ford and Mrs. Rainwater accompanied a large number of the high school boys and girls to the Centennial last week. The school bus left here at about 7:30 Tuesday morning and returned Wednesday night. Every one who went on this trip reported "the best time" anyone could imagine. Everyone saw "Cavalcade" Tuesday night. This was the main attraction for the school children.

This should make us appreciate our peace-loving country. Everyone who went on this trip expressed his appreciation to our county superintendent and our trustees and Mr. Hershey for making the trip possible. It certainly showed us the interest they have for our school children.

Girls Sport News.
The Fairy girls tried out their new basketball suits Wednesday, Nov. 4. They are made of royal blue all-wool flannel with a white stripe down each side and a zipper down the left side.

We played the Pottsville girls at Pottsville Nov. 4. We won with the score of 10-12. Both sides played a nice game. Lucille Herricks was high point man.

On Nov. 5 the Iredell girls came to Fairy. Because of a foul at Fairy, which was unknown when the game was matched, we had to make it a short game. Fairy girls won to the point of 15 and 16. It was indeed a hard game. We will admit Iredell has a very good team with good sportsmanship, but the Fairy girls did some very good playing and were very proud they won.

Wednesday, Nov. 11, the Fairy girls returned their game with Iredell. It was a night of our outstanding forwards and our captain, who is Norma Lee Sellers, were unable to make the ripple. We missed her very much. Although we were beaten 29 to 19, the girls played a swell game. Herricks was high point man.

Friday, Nov. 13, we went to Union, winning 28 to 18. Sellers was high point man. Lucille Herricks, our forward, was absent and we missed her very much. This was a very nice game and we invite Union to Fairy.

We have won four games out of six this year. This is the best record we have had in several years, and we hope to maintain it.

"Those Tigers."
The Fairy Tigers went to Union Friday and defeated them by the score of 25 to 16.

This was a nice game—good sports on both sides. Pitts was high point man for the Tigers.
