VOLUME LII

HICO, TEXAS, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1936.

NUMBER 27.

Here In HICO

Not as a duty, but as a pleasure and a privilege, we approach the matter of expressing our thanks at this season for our many blessings.

And indeed we have a great many things for which to be grateful. For one thing we are thankful that the past six years have left us with a newspaper in which to express our feelings. Without doubt a newspaper is one of the hardest institutions to start and to keep. We have seen publishers with the seat out of their pants, a gaunt, lean look upon their faces, their equipment worn out and their bills so plentiful that they could not find their notes among them—in fact apparently ready to go under in every sense of the word—we have seen these heroic souls carry the banner in spite of trials and tribulations when one in almost any other calling would have deserted the ship and given up.

Thankfully we admit that the News Review's existence has hardly approached that stage, as yet. Our career has been marked by rather more auspicious circumstances than outlined above, even though there have been times when we wondered whether we were drifting. Like most local business institutions, the home paper has been favored with enough patronage, even during the depression, to keep it alive to the extent that we have never ceased hoping and trying.

Thankful, indeed, are we now that a ray of hope has appeared on the gray horizon and that signs point to increased business along with better conditions for merchants and other business men with whom we labor.

Material matters to a large extent govern our feelings in every direction. You never saw an underfed man with the proper outlook upon life. You never saw a man weighted down with bills and obligations who could maintain a cheerful disposition and continue a normal existence. And you never saw a preacher who was not dependent to some extent upon the support of his members and neighbors for the means with which to buy food and raiment with which to continue his work.

For that reason, although it seems starting at the wrong end, we mention the cold facts about the matter first.

After that is done, there remain numerous things for which we are indeed grateful, and which really mean more to us than money or means. The really important things of life are enjoyed, the most and are not directly connected with the matter of making a living.

For our health and that of our family we are profoundly grateful. When we look around at the physical suffering, the sickness and tragedies so noticeable at every glance, we are made to recount our good fortune in being able to enjoy living without the ravages of sickness or the touch of the cold hand of tragedy. Life and health are so uncertain in that those enjoying them should not let a day pass without acknowledging their debt to an all-wise Providence for their blessings.

As we have always said, we are more than grateful for the friendships and friendly association allowed us. If given our choice of a lot of money and a few friends, or a little money and a host of friends, we should unhesitatingly choose the latter. And anyone else would, too, if they were normal.

Our happiness to a large degree is dependent upon friendship and neighborliness. When these are lacking, our existence becomes dull and drab, however well we may be getting along in the world.

Yes, again we wish to express our appreciation for our friends, whether the friendships may have been formed in a business or social way. And this included our good advertisers, subscribers, correspondents and associates of every description.

Palace Theatre to Hold Open House Thanksgiving Day

As a Thanksgiving Day treat for theatre-goers, and in order to acquaint those who have not visited the local theatre recently of the many improvements made in the institution, Manager E. H. Elkins states that he will throw open the doors of the theatre on Thursday afternoon, Thanksgiving day, and entertain all comers with a free show.

In doing this, Mr. Elkins believes he is filling the need for entertainment of a complimentary nature, and at the same time showing his appreciation to regular patrons for their patronage in the past which has made possible the improvements which have modernized the Palace.

The invitation is extended the general public this occasion, and since there has been no announcement of other plans for the day, Mr. Elkins states he will be glad to have as his guests as many as care to attend the free showing of a thrilling and entertaining program.

Something out of the ordinary run of film fare opens at the Palace Theatre next Tuesday and will run through Wednesday with the presentation of Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's new romantic adventure drama, "Trouble for Two," co-starring Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell, with Frank Morgan, Reginald Owen and Louis Hayward in the supporting cast.

Let's Talk About Clothes.
Denton, Texas, Nov. 23.—Your newest dinner clothes should be dramatic. There are long slinky gowns teamed with the inevitable jacket that is so much a part of the ensemble that the outfit is called a jacket combine. The jacket and dress are so intimately related that they appear one piece.

Without the jacket the gown is especially adaptable for very formal occasions. It is usually cut low in front and back, with bodice top that fits as smoothly as skin. The skirt flares a little, but fits supersmoothly at the waist and hipline.

The shops have new arrivals that will cause much ado among the clothing shoppers out for new things. Girls at Texas State College for Women (CIA) found a snow white crepe that is causing much comment in fashion circles. The gown fits seductively smooth, flaring but slightly from below the hipline to the floor. Around the hemline are bands of thick old fashioned fluting that remind you of the pictures in Godey's Lady Book. The long sleeved outline and the cuffs of the sleeves is a repetition of the same crinkled glory of fluted crepe.

More swanky, sleekly fashioned and just as new is the satin and velvet dinner dress that is unquestionably a dinner outfit with equal. The flared skirt and bodice top are of dull black satin, starkly simple. The fitted jacket is of black velvet, cut with all the tailored slimness of a man's dinner jacket. The long tuxedo collar is of satin. The jacket buttons primly at the waistline, the peplum is curved slightly with just a suggestion of fullness at the back.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
E. E. Dawson, Pastor
Thanksgiving 1936! Everybody ought to be thankful this time, for we are very definitely headed out of the depression and toward normalcy. Even if the individual is not too well fixed up right now, the world at large is on the mend and we will all feel the upturn. So let's sing a song of thankfulness.

All the regular services next Sunday: Sunday school at 10:00, preaching at 11:00 and 7:15. B. Y. P. U. at 6:30.
Every soul is forever welcome.

been glorified to the extent that it composes a great part of our daily diet. Pineapples have been presented to us through advertising in a manner that has promoted their sales wonderfully, as have tomatoes, flour, little pig sausages, ham, oranges, grapefruit and an endless number of edibles.

What the country needs is an organized effort to acquaint, or reacquaint the people with the goodness of the turkey. Remember the old-fashioned turkey dinners served by the ladies downtown? Maybe that would help.

And as for salesmanship and promotion, we haven't yet this season been approached with an offer to sell us a turkey. Think of that, with turkeys all around us, and the raisers crying for a market.

Thanksgiving Church Services

HICO METHODIST CHURCH

In the absence of regular arrangements for union Thanksgiving services at some Hico church, Rev. J. C. Mann, new pastor of the Hico Methodist Church cordially invites church-goers of all denominations to participate in the Thanksgiving service to be held at that church Wednesday, November 25th, at 7:15 p. m.

Appropriate music will be under the direction of Miss Rosalie Eakins, and the Methodist pastor will deliver a timely Thanksgiving sermon.

Church members are especially urged to attend. The general public has a cordial invitation.

LOYAL TEXAS DEMOCRATS AIDED GREATLY TOWARD PRESIDENT'S BIG VICTORY

Austin, Nov. 21.—Loyal Texas Democrats of modest means, whose money and votes aided so greatly in their president's smashing victory at the polls on Nov. 3, this week were responding to a new party plea in a manner cheering to state Democratic leaders, now in the midst of a post-election campaign to raise $50,000.

The additional funds are needed to help the Democratic National committee remove a party deficit of $500,000, occasioned by unusually heavy expenditures to meet the practically unlimited campaign funds of the opposition.

Hardly had district and county Democratic chairmen of the state been notified of the new campaign than telephone calls, telegrams, and letters pledging support and cooperation began to arrive at the desk of State Campaign Director Roy Miller.

Bosque County, first to reach its quota in the pre-election campaign which resulted in a Texas fund approximating $275,000, was also first to send in its quota in the post-election drive for funds.

Five counties—Jim Hogg, Sutton, Val Verde, Dallam and Terry, early this week exceeded their pre-election quotas by sending in contributions to the $50,000 deficit fund. Sixty-one other Texas counties already had equalled or exceeded their quotas when the first campaign's books were closed Nov. 7.

Although several large donations helped to swell the fund raised by the Texas Democratic organization before the election, small contributions—those under $5—comprised more than half the $2,250 total received at state headquarters.

Luther Lonzo Land was born January 8, 1913 at the family home near Duffau and died Tuesday, November 17, 1936 at 1:30 in the morning, after a long illness. Burial was made in Duffau cemetery Wednesday at 2 p. m. Nov. 18. Rev. Stewart of Stephenville conducted the services at the M. E. Church at Duffau.

The deceased was a native Texan. He was married to Miss Opal Conner in January 1934. He was a consecrated christian and admired by everyone. To know this good boy was to love him.

Besides his wife and father, J. W. Land, he is survived by the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. D. E. Holloway of Arcadia, Mrs. D. L. Smith, McCauley, Mrs. Roy Campbell, Texas City, Mrs. Ike Franks, Arcadia, Mrs. Bill Loden, Hico, Misses Viola, Lovella and Nadine Land, Duffau, Milton Land, Texas City, Henry Land, Sanatorium. His mother died at the Land home four years ago.

Hico Businesses to Be Closed Thursday For Thanksgiving

Following the usual custom, it is taken for granted that there will be no business in Hico Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, further than the usual necessary lines connected with filling stations and cafes.

Both Hico drug stores will be closed for the day, it is announced but emergency service will be available in case the necessity arises for such. Further than that, there will be little or no business transacted over the town, since this is one holiday that is almost universally observed, not alone in Hico, but throughout the United States.

Those who plan to have visitors in their homes would do well to anticipate their needs and have needed items of food etc. on hand, to save the trouble and inconvenience of having to get out and hunt for something when the stores are closed.

As this paper goes to press, Tuesday afternoon, great preparations are in the air for a day of feasting and resting. The merchants have been most cooperative with the News Review in the matter of giving early copy for advertising, and news has come in early also.

So we bespeak for the merchants a little thoughtfulness on the part of the general public in aiding them to observe Thanksgiving without interruption.

PRactical COOKERY

Denton, Nov. 21.—Vegetables play an important part in the diet of young and old. They are rich in vitamins, and should be cooked in such a way that none of the rich minerals are lost.

Put vegetables on to cook in boiling water. Be sure they boil constantly, but not too vigorously. Use a teaspoon of salt to each quart of water, but do not add salt until the vegetables are almost done as salt is believed to harden tissue.

Mild juice vegetables should be cooked tender in a small amount of water with the cover ajar. There should be very little water left when cooking is finished, and as often as possible this should be evaporated so that its food content will be taken up by the vegetable. Tomatoes will cook in their own juice without the addition of water. Spinach will cook in the water that is left on the leaves after it is washed.

ESCALLOPED CABBAGE: 4 c cabbage, 1 c buttered crumbs, 2 T butter, 2 T flour, 1 t salt, 1-8 t pepper, 1 c milk, 1-2 c liquid from cabbage. Cut the cabbage into quarters. Cook in an uncovered kettle in a large amount of boiling salted water for eight to ten minutes or until nearly tender, and then drain. Spread 1-4 c buttered crumbs in the bottom of the baking dish; cut cabbage into small pieces and put one half of it into the baking dish, then add another 1-4 c crumbs and the remaining cabbage. Over this pour a white sauce made from butter, flour, salt, pepper, milk and liquid from the cabbage. Sprinkle the rest of the crumbs over the top. Bake in a slow oven until the cabbage is thoroughly heated through and the crumbs are browned on top. Serve hot.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS: Remove wilted leaves and soak the sprouts in cold, salted water (1 T salt to a quart of water). Cook until tender and dress with melted butter, white sauce or Hollandaise sauce. A quart serves six.

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE: 1-2 c butter, 2 egg yolks, 1 T lemon juice, 12 c boiling water, 1-4 t salt, 1 t sugar. Wash butter. To one-third add egg yolk and lemon juice. Cook in double boiler, beating constantly, until it begins to thicken. Add another third of the butter and as the mixture thickens add the last third. Cook until the consistency of soft custard, beating all the time. It will curdle if overcooked. Add seasonings.

CELERY AU GRATIN: 4 c diced celery, 2 1-2 T butter, 1 t salt, dash pepper, 1 c milk, 1 c water in which celery was cooked, 1 c buttered crumbs, 1-2 c grated cheese. Cook the celery in boiling salted water until tender and then drain. Prepare the cream sauce in the usual way. Butter the crumbs by stirring them into 1 T of melted butter. Put 1-4 c of the crumbs in the bottom of the baking dish and then put half of the celery over them. Place another 1-4 c of the crumbs over the celery and top of this sprinkle 1-4 c cheese. Add the remainder of the celery and pour the sauce over this. Finally add the rest of the grated cheese and cover with the remaining bread crumbs. Place in a moderate oven and bake until crumbs are browned. Serve hot.

Keeping Up With TEXAS

John Vickers, 47, was in a serious condition in a Dallas hospital Monday from stab wounds received early that morning on the steps of the Dallas County court house. Vickers, police reported, was beaten, stabbed and then robbed of $35 by two white men after they had dragged him upon the steps. The courthouse is directly across the street from the sheriff's office.

Cancellation of two bond issues aggregating $15,000 was asked by the city of Eastland in a suit on file there Friday in district court. Attorneys for the city attacked the validity of water and sewer plant revenue bonds issued in 1928 and the petition stated that the commission authorized the issuance without submitting the proposition to the vote of citizens.

A prior engagement will prevent Governor Allred from attending the ceremonies incident to the inauguration of President Roosevelt Jan. 20. The engagement is the Governor's own inauguration, Jan. 19. "I think I had better stay here" he informed the Washington Herald which asked whether he could attend. The Governor said, however, that he hoped Texas would send a big train to Washington. Such a trip, headed by Wyrton Blacklock, State Democratic executive committee chairman, is planned.

Officers prepared driving while intoxicated charges Friday against two married farmers who were arrested after 12-year-old Bernice Elliott collapsed and died soon after being accosted by two men in a car Tuesday night. Dr. J. A. McCarthy, CCC camp physician, told officers her death was caused by a heart attack. He said she collapsed after running several hundred yards when frightened by the men. She was with two companions.

Night Watchman Albert Homyer, a patient man, argued with another about a dog and was told, "Wait here until I get back." Homyer waited. The man returned with a six-shooter and snapped it five times. On the sixth it fired, but the bullet missed. Flinging down the pistol, he said, "Wait here until I get back." Homyer waited. The antagonist came back with a rifle, shot once and missed again. "By that time," Homyer said, "I began to think he might hurt me if he kept on, so I called the police."

Failure of two counties to file returns caused postponement until Tuesday of the official canvass of the vote for President and Vice-President in the general election. The missing counties were Montague and Upshur, and Secretary of State B. P. Mottola of Cameron planned to seek their reports Monday. Montague County is the birthplace of Governor Allred, Shackelford and San Augustine were other counties late in reporting.

Although Lampasas County voted against liquor in a local option election in September and was generally believed to have become "bone dry" again, beer will be sold until Dec. 2 under an injunction granted last week by District Judge J. D. Moore. The county was dry before national repeal but subsequently voted for sale of 3.2 per cent beer. After the dry vote in September, beer vendors and certain citizens contended that the result did not preclude the sale of beer. A court hearing on the issue has been set for Dec. 12.

Fort Worth's downtown district will assume a gala holiday appearance by Thanksgiving Day with cedar topping evergreen festoons and red and green lights adorning some of the main thoroughfares. Ed Shotts, Jr., whose firm has the contract for the decorations, said Monday that the holiday decorations will be in place as workmen are now busy installing them.

The Thanksgiving turkey market—in most years counted upon to put some millions of dollars into the pockets of Texas farmers and ranchmen—this year is estimated to have added scarcely a fifth of the usual sum to the State's buying power. That means something like 75 per cent of the Texas turkeys remain in the farmers' hands to be sold on the Christmas market—unless they are disposed of this week. The problem is, then, to take as many birds as possible off the market at once. "Everybody eat turkey" is a good motto.

GOES 'ROUND AND 'ROUND

And It Comes Out Here—

We heard of another absent-minded person the other day. Mrs. John Goughly and children came to town, accompanied by her father-in-law, G. H. Goughly. While driving along about half way home, it dawned on her that she had left Mr. Goughly in town, so she immediately returned for him, quite embarrassed over the situation.

Mrs. J. W. Shelton of Rule, Tex., will receive the News Review for the next twelve months through the kindness of her two sons, Marvin Shelton of Hico, and Chas. Shelton of Angleton, Texas. The boys were in the News Review office for a chat last Friday morning, and decided their mother should know about their transactions around Hico. Marvin is managing the tin and plumbing shop here for his brother, and Chas. and family were here on a visit last week en route home from Dallas, where they attended a convention for ice men. Both boys have many Hico friends. We hope Mrs. Shelton enjoys reading the News Review.

J. P. Owen has been out of humor for several days since his wife has been in Dallas entertaining a little daughter who arrived at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Freeman, recently. We think he was just a little jealous of his wife's getting to be with the youngster. Mr. Owen said his wife promised to be home in just a few days, but that he imagined they would keep her over there for two or three weeks. He doesn't like this housekeeping alone.

A communication from the WPA office in Waco to Miss Myrtle Melton last week contained the request that she thank the good merchants of Hico for the donations they recently gave the local WPA office when they held open house here for the citizens. The affair was a success in every way, and the WPA people feel that this could not have been accomplished without the help of the merchants. Miss Melton and the local ladies are doing some wonderful work, and their display of articles was shown during the open house affair.

We have lived here for several years and just the other day had the privilege of meeting Mrs. Jas. M. Phillips. We have always heard so many nice things about her, and believe all of them now. We understood from the beginning that her hobby in sports is football. The only regret she has when she goes to a game, when someone is injured, is that she can't run out on the field and render assistance. And we believe she would anyhow if her children didn't prevent it. The other day she had quite an unusual experience. She had ordered some chicken feed from one of the stores, and in a few minutes heard a car coming sounding like a big truck or more like a threshing machine. She ran out to the barn to prepare a place for them to put the feed, and when she looked out again saw a passenger car circling the place two or three times, just like an airplane trying to land. When they finally did stop she learned that it was her son, Goodwyn, and wife who had come to pay her a short visit. The cause for the circling was the fact that they were in the old car belonging to Grady Hooper, which had no brakes, and Goodwyn had to use a few pet names in persuading it to halt.

Howard Rlerson said he was accused of fast driving all the time and wanted the public to know he is not guilty. He said just because he drives a "noisy" car which attracts a lot of attention is no reason he is driving fast.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Leeth will leave within the next few days for Dallas to buy their Christmas toys and useful gifts of all kinds. Mrs. Leeth usually decorates one window unusually pretty for the holidays. She is very artistic in her work, and Hico people look forward to seeing this well-dressed window.

This is to inform Mrs. George Christopher that it would be a wise thing for her to call for her mail. Monday we overheard her husband telling a party that he had a post card in his pocket to Mrs. Christopher that he got out of the post office five days ago. He said if he ever thought of it, he would turn it over to her, and he was sure she would enjoy it when she did get it. George doesn't claim to be absent-minded, but he admits he is a little careless.

Already we have enjoyed some 1936 venison since our good friend, O. E. Meador, presented us with a nice roast upon his return from South Texas Sunday. As usual, O. E. bagged a nice big buck, and he and his family and friends are enjoying the game. Thanks, Mr. Meador.

Will Leeth, local fire chief, decided the fireboys were not getting enough practice since fires are almost a thing of the past at Hico, so the siren blew Saturday morning to call the trucks and fireboys to the Leeth Gin, operated by Will and his father. It really looked like a frame-up, for when the firemen arrived there was no fire. But it was explained by the chief that there had been one, and the gin employees had been fortunate in extinguishing it quickly.

We heard the other day that Buddy Randals had such good luck on his hunting trip to the Randals ranch near Iredell the first of the week that he invited Mrs. Gamble, and Emory and Helen in for a "wild game" dinner Monday. We learned that there were four pieces of the game, but did not find out if it was the "running" or "flying" kind. For particulars, see Buddy.

Salem

By MRS. W. C. ROGERS

Everyone is very glad to see the cool, clear weather. It is fine for butchering hogs, and several are going that way.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell McElroy of Iredell and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Warren and baby Ila Joan of Stephenville spent Saturday at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. McElroy.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Koonsman, Mr. Alex Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koonsman and little daughter, Olla Mae, of Iredell, and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Koonsman and children of Flag Branch spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Koonsman and family.

The following Salemites spent Sunday at the Texas Centennial Celebration: Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Koonsman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Scott and sons, Mr. and Mrs. H. Koonsman and daughter, Martell, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Noland, Misses Marie and Margie Saffell and Messrs. Alman Bailey, Ester and Albert McEntire.

Several ladies met last Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Zelpha Russell and helped her quilt. Mrs. Russell and sons will soon move to their new home about two miles further north in this community, on the Lawrence Stone farm.

Mrs. Barney Cage of Stephenville is visiting her aunt and cousin, Mrs. B. L. Hollis and Mrs. J. C. Laney, a few days.

Dry Fork

By OPAL DRIVER

Mr. and Mrs. Giles Driver and family spent Sunday in the home of Emmett Gordon and family at Olin.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Saunders and family visited awhile in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Needham and family Thursday night.

There will be a Thanksgiving program at the school house Friday night.

Miss Nadine Maye of Tulla, Texas, is visiting awhile with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Gordon of Olin visited awhile in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Giles Driver and family Sunday night.

Irvin Douglas of Hamilton spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Douglas.

Third Installment.

SYNOPSIS: Detective Dan Colwell of the Graber-Vael private detective agency is assigned the job of shadowing lawyer Arthur McDonald whose wife fears gangster enemies are plotting to murder him. McDonald is murdered in spite of Colwell's watchfulness. Dan is hot on their trail and suspects a sinister plot.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

It was not a new idea for a ruse but it was a good one. As Colwell expected, Bradshaw came hastily and closed the corridor door. Already he had some gleaming object in his hand which he had whipped out of the lining of his coat. Already Quillen was on his feet, the heart attack forgotten, his long oval face that ended in a lantern jaw wearing the crafty, sneaky look which proved that they had merely wanted to get rid of that elevator.

Each time an elevator neared, Colwell wandered around the elbow of the corridor. Then he returned, his hawk-like vigilance on that McDonald suite masked as again he shifted weight and paced at the elevator signals or stared impatiently up and down.

He did not care to go into the office. That wasn't his game. He wanted to follow these fellows and their movements. A hard smile wrinkled the crow's feet at the outer corners of his eyes. Dan sensed what they were up to. Something was in McDonald's office that they wanted and they intended to get it before investigators of the murder arrived.

He felt a slight tremor. It slid along the floor and shocked his testing, he would accept a powder and a glass of water, rest awhile, and finally, when McDonald still failed to arrive because of course he was stretched out on a morgue slab, Lefty would tell the girl he could wait no longer. His friend Bradshaw had been unable to wait even as long as Quillen.

Dan stepped to the newsstand. "You don't know a man named Quillen in this building, do you? I am expecting to meet him. Wonder if he's in or out. Thought you might have noticed him pass."

The old fellow peered over thick glasses. "No, mister, I don't know any Quillen. Sorry."

"Well, he was to bring a package here. Some samples. I've—"

"Oh, You Sweeney?"

Colwell smiled and nodded. "Yes. Did he leave the samples with you, by chance?"

The grey haired chap ducked out of sight. He came up with the manila package which he laid atop a pile of magazines. "There you are, mister. Elevator boy told me to hold it for Mr. Sweeney and Quillen—Irish, hey? I'm Irish myself, name of McNamara."

"I'm obliged for your trouble. When he comes along just tell him Sweeney got the package all right. Thanks." Dan seized it and hurried out. Going through the doorway he cast a backward glance that found Bradshaw. The man stepped from an elevator wearing a Chevre cat look of complacency and satisfaction.

He would have a sad awakening when he asked the newsstand chap about that package.

Dan hurried down the street aware that he must quickly get rid of this burden. It was worth thirty thousand, probably, and it was too hot to carry around. Thirty thousand! He was walking on air.

There was a cigar store on the near corner and he turned in there, heading straight for the telephone booth. He dropped his nickel. "Central 9576."

"Hello, Irita, please." He waited a moment. "Irita? Dan again. Say, I've got a test shipment. That's what it must be, and I'll bet a hat McDonald deliberately forgot to mention it. He did!" Colwell grinned and nodded. "Letty caught on somehow. He killed Mac to get it. Tell you later. Anyhow, I got it now. Good snow comes in small packages, eh? Yes. Send someone to the cigar store corner of Alton and Market right away. This thing is burning my fingers. So long!"

He hung up but loitered a moment in the booth pretending to look up a number. Then he stepped out and purchased a pack of cigarettes. He smoked and chatted awhile with the clerk until a Western Union boy entered. Dan took the lad outside, put a few sharp questions, surrendered the package, and walked away.

He felt exultant at the coup. It was a worthwhile capture of narcotics, loss of which would give Lefty Quillen and his pal a severe headache!

Grinning happily, he yielded to the impulse to walk back to the Lawyers and Doctors Building. It would be good sport to see Quillen's face, and Bradshaw's. Probably they would be having plenty of altercations, calling each other liars and double-crossers and dirty sneaks.

Dan waited. This time the McDonald suite door was left ajar as it had been when the men first entered. There was a hum of talk between them, and as Colwell finally walked for a red down-light, he saw Bradshaw (temporary name of course) stopping in the inner office. The safe was closed as if it had not been tampered with. Dan went down in the next elevator.

He reached the street through a haberdashery but walked back into the lobby. This was necessary to effect a proper entrance. He stepped near the newsstand and seemed to scan an persons who came off elevators. He kept an expectant, somewhat irritated expression on his face. As a matter of fact, he was exceedingly apprehensive lest Bradshaw surprise him.

Quillen, of course, must wait up there for the office girl's return. He would be "feeling better." Proankles just a little. Chance was, no one else in the building particularly noticed it. He was not even sure he heard an explosion. It was neatly, beautifully done.

As a red light flashed overhead, Colwell lounged again to the elbow of the corridor. The car delayed its arrival by a long halt at the floor above. The door of McDonald's office opened, and Quillen came out. He carried a square package done in brown manila paper and corded, a package roughly six or eight inches by five by eight. The faint pungency of the explosive they had used to crack the hinges and lock of McDonald's safe wafted to Colwell's keen nostrils, smelling like a disinfectant.

The outside office window was open. The suite would be fresh as ever when the girl returned from the pharmacy.

Quillen's furtive eyes found the corridor vacant. He stood motionless, his back half-turned to Colwell. When the elevator at last reached the floor Dan heard the operator and Quillen talk.

"Say Jack, want to earn a buck? Take this package down to the newsstand fellow in the lobby, see? Ask him to hold it for a Mr. Sweeney. Sweeney—get the name? He'll call for it in a few minutes. He doesn't know just where I am and I got a conference on—haven't time to wait down there for him myself. You got it straight—Sweeney?"

"Sure, boss. I getcha; leave it at the newsstand for Sweeney. Thanks!"

The boy accepted the package by its cord. Colwell pictured the lad's happiness at so easily earning a dollar. The cage door clanged shut and Quillen turned away. The car and the package were gone.

Dan waited. This time the McDonald suite door was left ajar as it had been when the men first entered. There was a hum of talk between them, and as Colwell finally walked for a red down-light, he saw Bradshaw (temporary name of course) stopping in the inner office. The safe was closed as if it had not been tampered with. Dan went down in the next elevator.

He reached the street through a haberdashery but walked back into the lobby. This was necessary to effect a proper entrance. He stepped near the newsstand and seemed to scan an persons who came off elevators. He kept an expectant, somewhat irritated expression on his face. As a matter of fact, he was exceedingly apprehensive lest Bradshaw surprise him.

Quillen, of course, must wait up there for the office girl's return. He would be "feeling better." Pro-

Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Jones of Fort Worth visited relatives here Sunday.

Mrs. Maggie Hamilton will remain in the home of Mr. Cavness and children until the school here is out.

Mrs. D. E. Cavness.

Mary Alma Hughes was born to Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hughes July 5, 1884 and died at her home here November 15, at 5:30 o'clock.

She was married to D. E. Cavness July 9, 1908. To this union 4 children were born, two girls and two boys, Mrs. Dorothy Whitlock of Pottsville, Normansene, Jack and Jim Cavness.

She was converted and joined the Baptist Church at the age of 14 years, and lived a consistent christian to the end. She certainly did her part in her Lord's kingdom. If all church members were as faithful as Mrs. Cavness was, how much better the churches would be. She was a church clerk some. She was a pianist and she could play beautifully. She taught music some.

She did everything that was for the good of all that she could. It can truly be said of her "She hath done what she could." She was loved and respected by everyone. She was of a friendly turn and made friends.

I knew Alma as she was called by all and can say she was a fine woman. Her character was a beautiful one and above reproach. I regarded her as a true friend to me. She was always the same wherever you met her. She would lend her aid in every way she could to help anyone.

She was a member of the home demonstration club here and was a faithful member.

In the summer some time, her health began to fail. She was taken to Gorman sanitarium and was operated on but of no avail. Everything was done for her by her husband, children, loved ones and doctors, but her life's work was done and God called her Home. She was ready to go. She knew all her sufferings would be over in the Home that was prepared for her. She was ill for some time and bore her afflictions with patience.

She was a great lover of home and raised beautiful flowers, some she gave away to her friends. She was always busy when she was well enough. She raised beautiful chickens which was a delight to her. I have visited her several times and was always given a hearty welcome. Mrs. Cavness always treated everyone alike.

Her home was a happy home. She was a devoted wife to her now lonely husband and a fond and loving mother to her children. She certainly did her part in the making of Iredell what it is by not shirking out of her duty in anything that was for the good of the town.

In her younger days she was a school teacher and a good one. She will be missed so much in the home by her lonely husband and little children. In after years the children will rise up and call her blessed.

She gave out a sweet influence from her christian life, like the sweet perfume of a lovely flower. She is missed in the town by her host of friends. The Baptist church has lost a devoted member for she was a faithful one.

The funeral of this fine woman was held Monday afternoon in the Baptist church in the presence of a great host of relatives and friends. The church could not seat all the friends who came to pay their last respects to one whom all loved so much.

Before the casket was brought in, the following ladies who were her special friends marched in: Mrs. Clanton, Mrs. Pike, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. J. L. Tidwell, Mrs. J. L. Davis, Mrs. W. F. Turner and Mrs. C. L. Tidwell. The following men were pallbearers: C. R. Conley, W. F. Turner, Word Main, Mr. Howard, Mr. Clanton and J. W. Parks.

The service was held by her pastors, Rev. Polnac read some beautiful scriptures, Mrs. C. R. Conley sang a beautiful song and Rev. Lester preached the sermon. He paid a beautiful tribute to her memory.

The floral offerings were very large and beautiful which told of the high esteem she was held. She was so pure and good that she deserved all the lovely flowers very much.

With very sad hearts her friends and relatives marched by and took the last sad look. She looked very pretty. The remains were laid to rest in the new cemetery.

Besides her husband and children, she leaves her aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hughes; four brothers, Fred Hughes of Grapevine, Bert Hughes of Fair, and two sisters, Mrs. Maggie Hamilton of Palestine, and Miss Clara Hughes of Iredell; and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

The out-of-town relatives and friends who attended the funeral were: her daughter, Mrs. Bennett Whitlock of Pottsville; Fred Hughes of Grapevine; Bert Hughes and wife and son of Fair; Mrs. Maggie Hamilton of Palestine; Miss Loraine Tidwell of Addicks, and a young man who is her pupil came with her; Mrs. Lottie Hill Conner and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Hill of Eldorado, Texas; Jim Cavness and two sons of Hollis, Okla.; Mrs. Nan Mangold and some other club members of Meridian; Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Rose of Walnut; Mr. Barsh of McGregor; Mrs. Leonard Ferguson; Mrs. Ernest Moore, Mrs. Clabaugh, Mrs. McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Walrip, Miss Grace Pruett, Mr. Jackson, Mr. Love, Miss Hobby, Misses Schrank, Miss Ruth Waldrup and Miss Hallie McPherson all of Pottsville. The lonely husband and children and other relatives have the sympathy of their host of friends for Alma we all loved her so much is gone from us but not forgotten.

Miscellaneous Shower.

Wednesday afternoon, November 18, a beautiful miscellaneous shower was given to Mrs. Nola Freeman, the bride-elect of Mr. Ralph Wingren of Burnet. The shower was at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Tidwell, given by Mrs. Tidwell, Mrs. Scales, Mrs. J. E. Laurence, Mrs. Clem McAden, Mrs. Ralph Echols and Mrs. Ray Tidwell. A pretty miniature bride and groom were in the center of the dining table. A song was sung to the bride-elect as she came in. The refreshments of hot chocolate and cake were served to the large hosts of friends of Nola. Then some ladies brought in the large array of useful and beautiful gifts which were unwrapped and carefully inspected by Nola. She was very proud of her pretty gifts. She didn't know about it until a short time before she was to go down town. Nola is a fine woman and loved by all and deserved the many pretty gifts. All had a fine time.

H. E. II girls have been working on menus for meals which they will prepare after the Thanksgiving holidays.

H. E. III girls have been preparing meals suitable to serve patients who have certain diseases, such as scurvy, rickets, anemia, and beri-beri.

They have also been planning warp to buy curtains for the living room as well as selecting suitable colors and designs.

Senior Party.

The Senior Class had a party in the gymnasium November 13th. Several games were played before ice cream and cake were served. After the refreshments, there was a vigorous basketball game between the boys and the girls. The boys had to keep on their toes in order to defeat the girls by a small margin. Finally, as everyone departed, we reported to Mr. Howard, the class sponsor, that it had been a delightful evening.

The final score was 33 to 9 in favor of the Dragons.

The Iredell Dragons scored a sensational and thrilling victory when they defeated the Meridian Yellow Jackets in Meridian, Friday, Nov. 20.

The Dragons scored 13 points in the first quarter and never scored again. The Jackets scored in the second and fourth quarters.

The final score was 12 to 13 in favor of the Dragons.

The Dragons will play Gustine at Gustine Wednesday, Nov. 25th. This will be the last game of the season for the Dragons.

Girls' Basketball.

The basketball girls journeyed to Kopperl for a game Friday afternoon November 13, and were defeated seven points. However, the team looked forward to the opportunity to redeem itself Friday night, November 27, when they are to play them again here.

This should be a most interesting contest. Come out and cheer the Dragonettes on to victory.

The Basketeers.

The Dragonettes were in Abbott, a small town about seventy miles from here, by 7:45 Wednesday, November 18, battling with the Blum team. The Dragonettes suffered a severe defeat, however they have resolved to win a victory over them when our return game is played in the near future.

Don't everybody agree that the feature game with Kopperl Friday night, November 20, was all that was promised? It was a hard fight from start to finish. At the half, the scores were seven and eleven

DIRIGIBLES

It is good news that the chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics of the United States Navy, Admiral A. B.
Cook, in his annual report, has recommended the inclusion of several large dirigibles as part of an American naval program. There is a better prospect now that Congress will be willing to make appropriations for dirigibles than there was a year or two ago. The disasters to the two largest American-built dirigibles, the "Akron" and the "Macon," gave a setback to the plans for a great American fleet of lighter-than-air craft, and many persons both in and out of Congress leaped to the hasty conclusion that dirigibles were impractical and unsafe.

The demonstrations made during the past Summer and Fall by the German zeppelin "Hindenburg," which made ten round trips between Germany and the United States without the slightest accident or discomfort to any of its passengers, and the realization that for several years another zeppelin, the "Graf Zeppelin," has been flying regular voyages between Germany and South America, has changed public opinion about this type of airship.

There does not seem to be any sound reason why America cannot build dirigibles as well as Germany. It is understood that the Zeppelin Company has again offered to place its plans and specifications and its engineering talent at the disposal of the American Government. It would certainly be the part of wisdom to make another try at building these ships in this country.

America can certainly operate
properly designed and constructed dirigibles more safely than any other country can, for we produce
and the Federal Government controls practically the entire world supply of helium gas, which has a lifting power almost as great as
that of hydrogen, but which, unlike hydrogen, is unflammable and non-explosive.

The time is bound to come when
the commercial airways of the world will be traversed by giant dirigibles of American construction buoyed up in the air by American helium gas.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

An active mind must have exercise in order to last long and
prove the most in efficiency.
Nothing endures long if allowed to rust, smolder, decay. I have seen many men to whom mental idleness was a deadly bore. You found it that way, haven't you?
Wholesome activity is one of the best things, positively beneficial to the intellectual human being.

Even the eye is said to require systematic exercise, if the owner
would preserve good eyesight far into life's arctic regions. Men who are dunned up in big cities rarely employ the eyes to see over a few blocks; they become accustomed to short distances and fine print.
Hence the army of spectacle-
wearers, most of them bi-focals.
The aged resident of the great
open spaces often does not need glasses at three score-and-ten!
Wholesome exercise for the eyes!

The imprisoned muscles of the intellectual is never more than fifty per cent normal—often much lower. We are growing into a race of intellectuals at the price of rugged, vigorous health.

But, be sure to get this: Exercise is not torture. No man gives his eyes exercise, reading diminutive, blurred type, with the overstuffed publication held eight inches from his face, often with a poor light. He inflicts punishment of the most dangerous kind.

It is the same of the mind. To overwork the mental faculties is almost as fatal to them as profound laziness—idleness. I shudder for the fool that races his mind day and night—that gives it
no rest in the mad chase for coin.
Remember the crash is out yonder
in front, not so far as you think.

The muscles—those wonderful hinges, pulleys, levers! Exercise them, but stop short of punishment, if you would keep physically fit.

Strong juiced vegetables such as cabbage, onions, cauliflower, turnips, and Brussels sprouts, should
be cooked in larger amounts of water without cover, to allow the volatile oils to escape in order to reduce the flavor and to retain the color.

MACHINERY AND UNEMPLOYMENT

It was only three or four years ago that the whole country was talking about something called "technocracy." That was a new economic philosophy based upon the theory that the causes of all of our unemployment and other troubles was that machines were replacing man power in industry, and that if that tendency kept on it would not be long before there would be no work for anybody to do.

The technocracy idea was an echo of the outcry which has been raised whenever a new invention has been brought out to do work which was formerly done by hand.
When the first cotton spinning machinery was invented, the first power looms set up, there was a tremendous outcry about the bread being taken out of the mouths of the working class.
That was more than 150 years ago, and it is only necessary to look back into history to realize how foolish the opposition to those early machines was. For, instead of making less work, they made more work. By producing cotton cloth more cheaply and more speedily than it had ever been made by hand, the machine production multiplied the demand and the market for cotton cloth, so that within a few years ten per-cents were employed on the spinning and weaving machines for every one who had been employed at hand labor in the same industry.

To a generation which knows nothing of industrial history the revival of this outcry against the machines seemed convincing. The evidence to the contrary, however, is right in front of the eyes of anybody who will look for it.

The best example is in the automobile industry. More automobiles have been made and sold in the past year than in any one of the previous five years. Very much more of the work of building automobiles is done by machinery than at any time in the past. It is no uncommon thing for an automobile manufacturer to scrap $10-$20,000 worth of heavy machinery to replace it with new and more efficient equipment. But has the machine thrown automobile workers out of their jobs? Quite the opposite is true. In one great factory alone, which formerly employed 60,000 workers to produce a million and a half of automobiles in a year, last year 90,000 workers were employed to produce a smaller number of cars. There was no reduction in wages; on the contrary, wages went up. Yet the price of the car came down.

Precisely the same experience has followed the introduction of modern machinery in every line of industry. There are temporary readjustments and shifts of employment, but in the long run the enlarged market created by offering better goods at lower prices results in the employment of more people than could find jobs before the new machines were put in.

There does not seem to be any
sound reason why America cannot
build dirigibles as well as Germany. It is understood that the Zeppelin Company has again offered to place its plans and specifications and its engineering talent at the disposal of the American Government. It would certainly be
the part of wisdom to make an-
other try at building these ships
in this country.

America can certainly operate
properly designed and constructed
dirigibles more safely than any other country can, for we produce
and the Federal Government controls practically the entire world
supply of helium gas, which has a
lifting power almost as great as
that of hydrogen, but which, un-
like hydrogen, is unflammable and
non-explosive.

The time is bound to come when
the commercial airways of the
world will be traversed by giant
dirigibles of American construction buoyed up in the air by American helium gas.

An active mind must have exercise in order to last long and
prove the most in efficiency.
Nothing endures long if allowed
to rust, smolder, decay. I have seen many men to whom mental idleness was a deadly bore. You found it that way, haven't you?
Wholesome activity is one of the
best things, positively beneficial
to the intellectual human being.

Even the eye is said to require
systematic exercise, if the owner
would preserve good eyesight far
into life's arctic regions. Men who are dunned up in big cities rarely
employ the eyes to see over a few blocks; they become accustomed
to short distances and fine print.
Hence the army of spectacle-
wearers, most of them bi-focals.
The aged resident of the great
open spaces often does not need
glasses at three score-and-ten!
Wholesome exercise for the eyes!

The imprisoned muscles of the
intellectual is never more than
fifty per cent normal—often much
lower. We are growing into a race
of intellectuals at the price of
rugged, vigorous health.

But, be sure to get this: Exercise is not torture. No man gives
his eyes exercise, reading diminutive,
blurred type, with the over-
stuffed publication held eight
inches from his face, often with a poor light. He inflicts punishment of the most dangerous kind.

It is the same of the mind. To overwork the mental faculties is
almost as fatal to them as profound laziness—idleness. I shudder
for the fool that races his
mind day and night—that gives it
no rest in the mad chase for coin.
Remember the crash is out yonder
in front, not so far as you think.

The muscles—those wonderful
hinges, pulleys, levers! Exercise
them, but stop short of punishment, if you would keep physically fit.

Strong juiced vegetables such as
cabbage, onions, cauliflower, turnips, and Brussels sprouts, should
be cooked in larger amounts of
water without cover, to allow the
volatile oils to escape in order to
color.

Hard Work the Test . . .

You run across all sorts of surprises in the course of a business week. For instance, the vice-president of a big chain store organization was telling me a business story. And what do you suppose he based it on? The Bible.

He has charge of the company's personnel. It is a job to sort over a hundred young fellows in order to find the one who will start at small wages, work long hours, and fight his way up to the top.

The prizes are big, but the battle is hard, and only the toughest survive.

The part of the Bible to which the vice-president referred was the Feeding of the Five Thousand.
Five thousand tired and hungry people. The Lord said, "Feed them."

His disciples, who were practical men, were aghast. "We can't do it," they protested. "It would take too much money."

Finally a boy was discovered in the crowd with five small loaves and two fishes. Said my friend:
"All they had to work with was what the boy had."

"So with our company," he continued. "It's one of the leaders.
At yet there isn't a really brilliant man in it. We've all come up from the ranks."

"We can get money to do anything we need; but money alone won't do it."

"But all we really have to work with is what our four thousand boys have. They are going to decide what this business will be in the years to come."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON by Charles E. Dunn

Christian Brotherhood.
Lesson for November 29th. Philemon 4-20.

Golden Text: Galatians 3:28.
Paul's lovely little letter to Philemon is a cheerful, personal note to an intimate friend whom the apostle calls "our dearly beloved."

Who was Philemon? A wealthy resident of Colossae, a slave-owner, he had probably visited Ephesus, had there heard Paul preach, and had become, under the spell of the apostle's gospel, a convert. A charitable soul, an earnest Christian, he was especially noted for his hospitality, his home serving as a meeting place for a group of Colossian Christians.

Who was Onesimus? He was a house slave of Philemon's, and therefore a mere chattel. There is reason to believe that he robbed his master. Paul evidently was suspectious of this (see vs. 18). At any rate Onesimus ran away, and thereby became an outlaw. Landing in Rome he came under the beneficent influence of Paul who sent him back to his master with this charming letter.

The epistle is very precious for several reasons. In the first place it is a reflection of the beauty of Christian hospitality. Note the suggestive phrase, "the church in thy house." Philemon graciously opened his home to his fellow-believers.

Secondly it testifies to the freedom that comes to the soul through Christ. To be sure, Paul does not tell Onesimus to renounce his status as a slave. Paul nowhere attacks the institution of slavery. "Return to your master, and resume the old service" is the apostle's counsel.

Best of all, this exquisite letter is a revelation of the lovable heart of Paul. We here observe his overflowing affection, his boundless capacity for friendship, his delicacy, tact, and tenderness.
Never forget that Paul was intensely human. A very tender friend, he knew how like Cather Barnett, of London's Toybee Hall, to take time and strength for the reclamation.

The House of Hazards By Mac Arthur

Nancy Hart's HOME NEWS

As important as the clothes you choose for your wardrobe, is the colors. Women with pale complexions who never wear rouge should stay from gray. It is a smart shade, but much more flattering to rosy cheeks than to pale one. Red is a good color for some blondes, but greens, blues and certain tones of lavender and orchid are generally more becoming to light hair and fair skin. Black is always an excellent choice for blondes.

Brunettes are sure to look nice in pink, dusty tones, like slate blue and mustard yellow can be worn by almost everyone. But if you choose black, you make up plenty of color in your make-up or you are very apt to look unhealthy.

In choosing hats, it is well to be wary of the eccentric shapes and styles so popular at the moment.
They may be ever so smart, but unless they make you look pretty and charming as well, the smartness is no asset.

If you run short of your favorite face and hand lotion you can make a simply grand one right off half a cup of oatmeal slowly into two cups of boiling water in a double boiler and cook until it is clear looking; strain through a cloth, pressing out the liquid; add two tablespoonfuls of rosewater and an ounce of glycerine.

Women who wear "any old shoes" about the house are storing up future foot ailments, an orthopedic specialist told home-economics students at a southwestern university. In his opinion, the average housewife who covers miles of floor space in the course of a day is most suitably shod in snug-fitting oxfords with low built-up heels.

Pertume in a lady's hair is one of the most important assets to feminine charm and glamour, says a prominent beauty expert. Here's how to get best results: Spray hair with a light scent, then rub well into the scalp. Also, keep perfume sachets of the same scent in your pillow at night.

One of the most important factors in the growth of the candy industry has been the use of chocolate. Chocolate as an ingredient has permitted the making of a great variety of sweets undreamed of a hundred years ago.

To keep them white, wrap white furs, old lace, white satin-blouses, and white kid gloves in tissue paper. Use black tissue paper for wrapping lame dresses, gold and silver slippers. Red tissue paper is best for wrapping brocade pocketbooks. To polish crystal or coral, use white tissue paper.

When the Long Island State Park Commission found that steel playground slides rusted and cracked, it replaced them with monel metal slides. Result: no more torn and stained rompers and no more danger of cuts and scratches from rusty metal.

A new boon to makeup is the creamy, paste rouge known as Rose Concentre, which is equally effective for blonde, brunette, red head or one with gray or white hair because it has a transparent oil base which liquifies at skin temperature and blends in a natural, delicate blush on the cheeks and lips.

Household Hint: Beaten white of egg may be mixed with whipped cream to make it go further. Or white of egg may be beaten up in hot chocolate without whipped cream.

Did you hear about the tattooed man who sued his osteopath? He claimed the treatments had thrown all his pictures out of focus.

BRUCE BARTON Soap

I Admire the Cops . . .
As we drove along beside the Hudson River we noticed a crowd at one of the piers. A discouraged gentleman had attempted to drown himself.

Dripping and dejected, he sat on an empty barrel, while the cop who had pulled him out of the water talked to him like a big brother. Presently the patrol wagon arrived to take them away, the cop still uttering words of friendly encouragement.

At a busy corner stood a baby in her arms and a youngster babbling at her skirt, anxiously viewing the torrent of traffic, afraid to plunge in.

The cop in the middle of the street sighted her, and raised his arm with a knightly gesture. The city stopped while the timid little mother crossed over.

It was late at night. On the steps of a residence, the windows of which were shuttered, a man was slouched in an obvious state of intoxication.

A cop touched him on the shoulder. They held a brief conversation. Presently the cop hailed a taxi, loaded the inebriated citizen in it, gave instructions to the taxi driver, and the taxi drove away.

These incidents, occurring within my own sight and close together, reminded me that I have long intended to write a little something about Cops.

I admire most of all their self-possession and the sound common-sense way in which they go about their work. Adlai E. Stevenson, once vice-president of the United States, used to quote a friend's remark that "the institution of Illinois is an almost perfect document, but it should have one additional paragraph.
It should provide for an appeal from the Supreme Court to any two justices of the peace."

The idea was that when all the high-priced lawyers and judges had finished their legal wrangling then a couple of country chaps should render a final decision on the basis of simple common sense.

MODERN WOMEN

CHARL ORMOND
WILLIAMS
President of National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club, Inc.

No words of praise are too great for the courage and fortitude displayed by Mrs. Beryl Markham, the English woman who spanned the Atlantic Ocean and the first woman to make a solo flight from east to west. Mrs. Markham is returning to her native country after having received great acclaim here. One of her chief delights while in New York was to dash about with an escort of motorcycle police.

Because of her national reputation as a forecaster of crops, Mrs.
E. H. Miller is now associated with the New York Stock Exchange, the Chicago Board of Trade and other exchanges with headquarters in Chicago. For many years she has been issuing grain and cotton reports and has traveled extensively to get first hand information on which she bases her estimates.

Alaska has elected its first woman legislator and it is not at all surprising to hear that the candidate, Mrs. Nell Scott, covered her district by airplane, talking with the voters individually and without making a single campaign speech. Mrs. Scott came from Seattle to Seldovia and soon attained leadership in her own district. She was a delegate to the last territorial Democratic convention at Seward.

Developing personality is the aim of Alice Rice Cook who wants people to see themselves as others see them. She calls it "personal adequacy." She has an office in New York where a client is seated in front of a mirror and asked to take stock of herself. Appearance, dress, voice and general attitude are all considered by the long list of experts in various fields who serve as Miss Cook's consultants. Her experiments are scientific and she contends that anyone, even the successful, can gain happiness by finding out just how she looks to others. Miss Cook has been Dean of Bryn Mawr Junior College and has taught there and at Hunter College,
New York.

We are told by Miss Josephine Schain who has just returned from the peace conference in Brussels, Belgium, that attending the women's commission, over which was one of 14 commissions, were delegates representing 45 million women all over the world. It was the largest representation of women ever brought together and the peace conference was "the most significant meeting in the interests of peace ever held. Of the 5,000 delegates one-third were women. Miss Schain went as the representative of the National Committee on the Cause and Cure of War, of which she is chairman

Edwards, wardrobe demonstrator; Mrs. Nora Dowdy, council delegate to take Mrs. J. G. Goughly's place.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Misses W. F. Johnson, K. C. Kennedy, L. Dowdy, A. L. Thompson, Nora Dowdy, Glynn Lee, J. G. Edwards and Lee Havens; Miss Eunice Lee, and the visitor, Miss Nola Lee.

The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Eunice Lee, Dec. 4. Miss Ellen Steffens, County H. D. Agent, and the high score bedroom demonstrators, Mrs. O. D. Nelson of Bunton and Mrs. A. E. Denman of Clairette, attended the annual Candlewick Bedspread and Wool Comfort Show, held at San Angelo Nov. 29. A few hints to the makers of candlewick bedspreads and woolen comforts were given, as follows:

In making candlewick spreads, be sure your material is the right length and width after shrinking. The selvage is cut off before the 2-inch hem is turned under and whipped in, corners mitered. The simple designs with tufts sheared close is much more practical.

Woolen comforts should be made of practical materials, colors not too gay, not so closely quilted, and never tack with woolen thread as it won't last so well. Use a cord binding, whipped in to prevent the edges of the comfort from wearing.

Tolliver-Thompson Nuptials Last Saturday Afternoon

Last Saturday afternoon, at the home of Elder and Mrs. Giesecke, Mr. Charley Tolliver of Iredell and Miss Ella Faye Thompson of Altman were united in wedlock, Elder Giesecke officiating.

Mr. Tolliver is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tolliver of Iredell, a splendid young man, a very industrious farmer, and who is fortunate in securing this young lady for his helpmeet.

Mrs. Tolliver is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Thompson of Altman, who by her splendid attainments and lovable personality has made many friends among the younger set.

Their many friends wish for the happy couple success and fortune in their wedded life. They will be at home in the Altman community.

Duffau H. D. Club Meets In Home of Mrs. C. S. Trimble

There is always lots for which to be thankful, expressed each club member of the Duffau H. D. Club at a meeting held in the home of Mrs. C. S. Trimble, Thursday, Nov. 19, 1936.

We are thankful for health, food and raiment, for the Son God sent to die for our sins, for the love we have toward our fellow-man in church, school and community.

Inexpensive Christmas gifts were exhibited, such as sewing bonnets, pot holders, hot dish mats, chair cushions, what-nots, and many others.

Misses Grace Arnold and Lorene Studer demonstrated tie-dyeing on luncheon sets. These also make pretty and inexpensive Christmas gifts when made from feed sacks.

Hot chocolate and cake were served to nine members and three visitors.

The next meeting will be an all-day affair at the home of Mrs. B. M. Studer on Dec. 2, with quilting and covered-dish luncheon. All visitors are appreciated.

June Is a Fritter Fiend

Young Hollywood Star Gives Favorite Recipes

By Mabel Love

JUNE TRAVIS, who has been winning new laurels by her performance in "Jailbreak," is one of the most charming members of Hollywood's group of younger screen actresses. She is also what might be called a fritter fiend. When it comes to making fritters she claims that she is a real authority, and to prove it she stands ready to take on all comers who think they can out-do her in the fritter line.

One of the favorite recipes of this young Warner Brothers star is for a pineapple fritter which she says is particularly good when served with chops, ham or veal steak, or a curry dish. Here is her recipe for it.

Royal Fritters

- 1 No. 2 can Hawaiian pineapple sliced in spear-like shapes
- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 egg
- 3/4 to 1 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons powdered sugar

Drain and dry the pineapple slices with absorbent paper or a fresh tea towel. Sift flour, salt and baking powder; stir in well-beaten egg and milk. This batter should be just thick enough to coat the pineapple. Heat fat (about 1 quart in a deep, flat bottom pan) to 360 or 375° F., or until a cube of bread will brown in about 60 seconds. Then dip pineapple in batter and fry in deep fat 2 or 3 minutes until a golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Sprinkle with powdered sugar before serving.

Just for good measure, June also gives a recipe for a sauce which she says is delicious for serving either with fritters or puddings.

Pineapple Sauce

- 2 cups canned Hawaiian pineapple juice
- Lemon rind
- 5 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 cup of 1 lemon
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon water

Boil the pineapple juice with a piece of the lemon rind. In another pan melt the sugar to a golden brown color, then add the pineapple juice and boil for a few minutes. Mix cornstarch with water and stir into sauce to thicken it. Boil for 5 minutes. Add lemon juice, and strain. This sauce may be served hot or cold.

AND THAT'S THAT!

NEWS ITEM: "Maine voters have overwhelmingly approved a referendum measure prohibiting the diversion of gasoline sales tax revenues to purposes other than highway financing. Missouri, Minnesota and Colorado already have adopted constitutional amendments preventing such misuse of highway funds, and Massachusetts taxpayers are petitioning for an anti-diversion amendment referendum."

New Baseball Mogul

ST. LOUIS. . . . Above is Donald Barnes, head of a syndicate which now owns the St. Louis American League baseball club, the Browns. Barnes announces that Rogers Hornsby will be retained as manager of the club for 1937.

"Hi-He Everybody"

NEW YORK. . . . This perky turban of black antelope with rows of stitching to emphasize the slanting lines tops the season's smart hats to be awarded the moniker of "Chimney Top." It is new; it is correct and it has already caught the fancy of clever stylists.

1936 Corn-Husking Champ

LICKING COUNTY, Ohio. . . . It was cold. It had been raining and husking corn was slowed down. But Carl Carlson, 28 (above), of Iowa, put on the pressure and husked 21,039 bushels in 80 minutes to win the 13th National Championship before 100,000 spectators.

Fiesta Queen

SAN RAFAEL, CAL. . . . Miss Ruth Rogers, native daughter of the Golden West, was named queen of the annual Fiesta held here. Her costume dates from the days of the Spanish governors.

Learns He's an Earl

NEW YORK. . . . Raymond M. O'Brien, 31 (above), of New York, has been acknowledged by the British Crown as the rightful Earl of Thomond and will attend the coronation of King Edward in May. O'Brien did not learn until 1932 that the late J. D. O'Brien of Pittsburgh, was his step-father.

Wins Nobel Prize

NEW YORK. . . . Eugene O'Neill (above), 48 year old American dramatist, has been declared the 1936 winner of the Nobel prize for letters, the second American to win the high honor, Sinclair Lewis being the other.

Grimes On Job

BROOKLYN. . . . Burleigh Grimes, former spit-ball pitching ace of the National League, is now on the job here as the new manager of the Dodgers to succeed Casey Stengel. Grimes is in the market for a player deals, hoping to strengthen the team for the 1937

Rare Bird

MISSOURI. . . . C. H. M. Kennon, curator of birds at the St. Louis Zoo, is especially proud of his rare pigmy sulphur-crest cockatoo. It is the only one of its kind in the United States. A pampered pet, it seems to think the curator's pipe makes a perfect perch.

Wins U. S. Golf Title

NEW YORK. . . . This British girl, Pam Barton, 17, of London, has lifted the U. S. women's golf cup and becomes the woman golf ace of the world. She now holds both the British and American titles.

Rare Gem

HOLLYWOOD. . . . Largest Star Sapphire in the world arrives at city of stars. It was found a few months ago in Ceylon, weighs 316 carats, and is valued at $35,000. Gladys Swarthout will wear it in a movie.

Practicing at 100

BETHOL, O. . . . Dr. W. B. Thompson (above), now 100 years old, is the oldest practicing physician in the U. S. He is at his office every day, prescribing for patients. He has attended 1,800 births.

Goes To Congress

PORTLAND, Ore. . . . From this far western state goes another woman to Congress, Mrs. Nancy Hood Honeyman (above), who won a sweeping victory in the November election. She was a candidate on the Democratic ticket.

Ethel du Pont to Wed F. D. R., Jr., President's Son

GREENVILLE, Del. . . . Ethel du Pont and Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. (above), are going to be married next June. Their engagement was announced in late November by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene du Pont, parents of the bride-to-be. The President's son and the du Pont heiress good-humoredly posed for news photographers, striding up and down the sun room and seated side by side before the fireplace. They laughed each time they were told to look at each other . . . but refused to hold hands. "It is to be a small church wedding," says Miss du Pont.

A WOMAN MAY BE YOUNG AS SHE SAYS SHE IS, BUT SHE'LL NEVER GET ANY OTHER WOMAN T BELIEVE HER

ITHACA, N. Y. . . . Dr. Edmund F. Day, (above), Dartmouth graduate of 1905, is to be the next president of Cornell University, to succeed Dr. Livingston Farrand who will retire on June 30th, 1937.

Traffic signals are electrically timed to aid the orderly flow of traffic. They are timed in fairness to all who use the streets—drivers and pedestrians—and it would seem a simple matter to obey them. A review of the accident records, however, would indicate that drivers need to be reinforced as to their meaning.
RED means "stop," not "slow down, make sure no officer is in sight, and then sneak through."
AMBER means "wait," not "step on it and get through before she turns red."
GREEN means "proceed with caution, and with due respect for the rights of others," not "go like blazes."
Nine out of ten accidents that involve drivers' mistakes, according to Travelers Insurance Company records, are caused by undue haste.
Slow down, and live longer.

Fairy

A wedding of much interest to this and adjoining communities was that of Mr. Ony Morrison to Mrs. Lillie Proffitt, the marriage vows being taken at Meridian, on Thursday, Nov. 19. The bride is a woman of beautiful character, amiable disposition, and charming manners. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Jameson of the County Line community. Mr. Morrison is the son of Mrs. J. S. Morrison of Fairy, and is a fine young man with many friends. He is at present engaged in farming, and is making a success of this vocation. The many Fairy friends of Mr. and Mrs. Morrison wish them a long life and happiness together, and also the blessings and material prosperity that come as a reward of righteous living and industry.

The Hamilton County Fifth Sunday Singing Convention will be held at the Fairy High School Auditorium next Sunday, Nov. 29th. There will be a barbecue dinner, and a host of good singers. Come and enjoy the day with us. Mrs. Oran Willeford and Mrs. Wallace Edwards and baby, Betty Lou, visited Mrs. Rice Edwards of Hico last Thursday. Miss Wilna Caraway and Mrs. George Griffiths were Stephenville visitors Saturday afternoon. Rev. Thurman Rucker preached at the Baptist Church here Saturday evening, Sunday and Sunday evening. All are invited to attend these services each second and fourth Sunday.

PRAYER

At least one of the candidates who ran for Congress at this week's election is not ashamed to admit that daily prayer for Divine guidance has a place in politics.

Miss Melinda Alexander, an attractive, blonde young woman, Republican candidate in the 21st New York district, concluded that there was too much mudslinging and not enough Christianity in politics as it is practiced. So she conducted a campaign which was so different from the usual thing that, according to the early returns from a normally Democratic district, she seems to have been elected.

"I spent two hours every day praying, not for my own election but for a fair break for the people of my district," she said. This is the kind of prayer that means something. Most folk, when they pray, ask something for themselves, and then wonder why they don't get it.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cunningham and Mrs. Tommy Pitts and daughter, Eva Nell, left Sunday for Dallas to spend a few days seeing the Centennial, and also to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cunningham and son, Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. Bush and daughter, Mrs. Joe Bush of Altam, Mr. and Mrs. Lambert of Greyville, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Lambert and daughter Dorothy Joy of Agee visited with Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Lambert Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Wright and daughter, La Nelle, visited Mrs. Turley and Grandpa and Grandma Wright of Carlton Sunday.

Little Miss Wilma Grace Goyns is on the sick list. We hope she will soon be well again.

Mr. Robert Parks, Mr. M. E. Parks, and Mr. Tom Betts attended the Centennial at Dallas last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Clayton, and Mr. Henry Davis attended the singing at Iredell Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hersal Richardson visited with relatives at Hico last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Walker and children, Juanita and Tullus, of Anton are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Grisham and other relatives.

Mrs. Cleo English and children, Martha Nell and La Verne, of Hico are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Haysgrove and other relatives.

There will be Thanksgiving services at one of the churches next Thursday night. Everybody is invited to attend.

Friends here of Mrs. Brose Yarbrough of Lamesa were made sad when they learned of her death on Nov. 20th at that place. Mrs. Yarbrough was formerly Miss Mae Mullins, and was once a resident of our community. She leaves to mourn her departure her husband and eight children, besides a host of other relatives and numerous friends. Our community extends sympathy to the bereaved ones in this, their time of sorrow. Mrs. Yarbrough was a niece of Mr. Jim Crow of this community.

There will be a P.-T. A. meeting here Wednesday night. This will include a big auction sale and a Thanksgiving program. Everybody be sure and come and bring your friends and money and help our school students.

Mrs. John Rainwater visited Saturday with her mother, Mrs. Stringer of near Hamilton.

CARD OF THANKS For the many deeds of kindness and sympathy rendered by our friends and neighbors in our bereavement, we wish to express our most sincere appreciation. May each of you be blessed, is our prayer.

DEER

The state of Wisconsin has decided that a hunter who wants to shoot deer with a bow and arrow instead of a rifle may have a license to do so. There has been a great revival in recent years of interest in the primitive weapon of the Indians, but very few modern archers have demonstrated their ability to bring down big game with the bow.

For my part, I think it is a much more sporting proposition to hunt deer with bow and arrow than with a modern high-powered rifle. It gives the game at least a better break, and certainly provides the hunter with just as much exercise and fresh air, or perhaps even more.

I have never been able to sympathize with the desire of men to go out and kill harmless animals like deer. It is quite a different proposition from killing in self defense or for food. It seems to me there is just as much sport and a great deal more humanity in shooting game with a camera than a gun.

COOPERATION I am more interested in reports of people who have done something to help themselves than I am in those who win prizes in the sweepstakes lottery. I got a real kick out of the report of a group of middle-aged men living in the Mills Hotel in New York, a semi-philanthropic institution for the needy, who pooled their capital, amounting to 14 cents, and organized for mutual self-help. One of the 106 who joined this movement the last report is that every one has got a job, 59 of the jobs being permanent.

I saw a report the other day of a group of people living in a suburban community who combined their interests and energies to build homes and provide food for themselves and others of small means, and who by cooperative effort have pulled themselves up by their own bootstraps, as it were, lifting several families out of despondency into comfort and reasonable security.

I think that sort of folk is much more interesting and useful to the world at large than the ones who cry and grumble about their hard luck and hold out their hands for somebody else to feed and clothe them.

GOLD Old Jeff Casserly died last month. He left his sixteen-year-old grand-daughter, Jean Kuster, a box containing a nugget of gold worth $5,900 and a reminder that he had once pointed out to her the spot where he had found it.

Now Jean is organizing a real treasure hunt, in which several prospectors have joined, to search for the mother lode from which grandfather took the big nugget.

With all the gold hunting that is going on, it would not surprise me any day to hear of the discovery of another Rand or another Klondike. I have seen more than one depression, in my time, dispelled by a great gold discovery. So long as gold is the only medium which the whole world accepts at the same value, we need more and more of it as civilization and the interchange of goods continue to develop.

America's history rests on a gold foundation and every great period of prosperity this country has ever known followed on the heels of new gold discoveries. I hope Jean and her friends find that gold deposit of her grandfather's.

CLASS Never before in the history of civilization has there been such a widespread and determined effort to set class against class. The less able and less fortunate, betrayed by the fallacious doctrine of Karl Marx, have been trying to gain control of the governments in the belief that their condition will be better if they control the material wealth and means of production.

It was the belief of the father of modern socialism that there is an instinctive class solidarity which has more power to move men in the mass than any other human emotion. That this is not true has been demonstrated wherever a nation has had to face a crisis in its affairs. Under such conditions class distinctions vanish and national feelings take precedence over class feeling.

Notes From Office Of Hamilton Co. Home Dem. Agent

Is Sure Of Vitamin "C" "I have 32 quarts of grape juice and 10 quarts of tomato juice in my food budget," said Mrs. W. N. Bridges, Hico demonstrator of the Club. Percival Home Demonstration Club.

This food supply of juice along with the four other kinds of fruit on her pantry shelves will supply the needed amount of vitamin "C" for her family this winter. Besides these juices and fruits, Mrs. Bridges has 27 other varieties of canned foods on her pantry shelves. They include the leafy, green, and yellow vegetables "A", "B", and "C", and the "other" vegetables which should also be served daily to provide the minerals and bulk that prevent constipation. Her shelves are also partially lined with the jams, jellies, pickles, preserves, relishes, etc., that add a bit of spice to her meals.

Serves A New Cereal "My children demand pop-corn served with cream for their breakfast cereal," stated Mrs. Emil Stegamoller, food demonstrator of the Hamilton County Home Demonstration Club. In conversation with Mrs. Stegamoller it was found that she had about 500 pounds of popcorn for the winter's use. It was suggested that she serve it as a cereal, alternating it with other cereals. She tried it and found that the children liked it better than the cereals they were so accustomed to. Mrs. Stegamoller closed her conversation by saying, "I am so happy to learn to serve it this way, for it is another way of adding milk to the diet." Pop-corn sprinkled on the top of a dish of soup is another attractive way to serve it.

Served Raw Vegetables. In conversation with Dorothy Hucksabe, food demonstrator of the girl's 4-H Club at Union it was learned that she had met her goals in her food demonstration. "I served either turnip or mustard greens twice each week for about six weeks and English peas about ten times from two short rows until the rain ruined them." From four rows of onions she harvested 2 bushels, besides those she served fresh each day in the early spring. From the two rows of cucumbers planted, she obtained enough to make 5 gallons of pickles. Dorothy planted 5 rows of tomatoes and from these she served tomatoes all summer until about 3 weeks ago. She claims that she found fresh raw vegetables do make a difference in the diet, and she means to add more to the tables next spring and summer.

Enjoys Being Demonstrator. "I have enjoyed being wardrobe demonstrator for my club," said Mrs. Z. A. Kirkland of the Gentry's Mill Club. "I feel that I have received more help than I have been able to give." She added, Mrs. Kirkland had never done her sewing until she was made demonstrator. She attended the foundation pattern school last January and obtained her pattern. From that day until now she has been doing her own sewing. She has constructed five dresses, three blouses, and some shirts to wear while working in her yard and garden. Mrs. Kirkland estimated the value of these garments to be twice their actual cost. In conclusion, Mrs. Kirkland said, "I am so glad I have learned to sew, and my foundation made it possible."

Aids Non-Club Member. It was the goal of every Home Demonstration Club woman to reach in some way, non-club members in her community, in the demonstration that the Club was carrying.

Mrs. H. G. Lemond, food demonstrator of the Honey Grove Club, reached her goal by helping a neighbor can 24 quarts of tomatoes. The tomatoes were from Mrs. Lemond's own garden. She had four rows that more than supplied the needs of her family, so she gave them to the neighbor and assisted her with the canning of them.

Plans Fruit Plot. "We are ready to start our fruit orchard," stated Mrs. Eugene Harris, president of the Eliza Home Demonstration Club. Mr. and Mrs. Harris are planning to put out 60 trees: 20 peach, 20 apple, 10 plum, 10 pear, and perhaps a few pecan. With this number of fruit trees "The Harris' are not going to be falling short in having fruit in their diet. Along with this new orchard they are also getting a new house. Their farm could be termed a model "Demonstration Farm" for Hamilton County.

Uses Sleeve Board. "My husband made me a sleeve board during the rainy weather," said Mrs. Eric Arams of the Eliza Home Demonstration Club, in the office of the home agent this morning. In further conversation Mrs. Adams stated that it made ironing of sleeves much easier besides finishing them so much nicer. She also added that she could now press her husband's coat and get the proper crease in the proper place in the sleeves. The sleeve board was made from scrap lumber and covered with material that Mrs. Adams had on hand, thus being made at no cost. Instructions as how to make a sleeve board are found in bulletin C-103 and can be had for the asking, by calling at the home demonstration agent's office.

Completes Pantry. "I have completed my pantry and added two clothes closets to my house, since August," remarked Mrs. B. F. Coosby of the Jonesboro Home Demonstration Club. "My pantry is now arranged so that I can find the food that I want when I want it," she added. Her pantry was poorly arranged, being built long and narrow with very little light and no ventilation. By rearranging the shelves and changing the door, Mrs. Coosby now has a pantry that is convenient, well lighted and ventilated. It opens into her kitchen, making meal planning an easy matter. Besides completing her pantry, Mrs. Coosby has added 2 clothes closets to her home, thus affording better storage for all three members of the family.

Girls Work Started In Nine Schools. 4-H clubs for girls have been organized or re-organized in nine schools in the county. 125 girls are enrolled in these clubs, and are taking two demonstrations in each club. The garden demonstration is the production of tomatoes, and the other demonstration is on clothing. We are hoping to make this year especially outstanding in girls work as it is through the girls that we hope to have better homes in which to live in the future. The girls can't accomplish this alone, nor can the sponsors or the agent accomplish it alone, but our working together and the folks of Hamilton County giving a helping hand to us we can do good work in 4-H clubs this year.

China Rose Radish Good Variety. "My radishes are 6 inches long and not at all bitter and pithy," stated Mrs. L. A. Little, cooper of the Percival Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Little said that the row that they were planted on was about 20 feet in length, and that there was enough of them to supply her needs and also her neighbors. She also has a volunteer lettuce bed that is very pretty, if a freeze doesn't come, she will have head lettuce in a few weeks.

Grass Sows The Wash. "My clothes line broke, and if it had not been for the grass on the yard I would have had to do the wash over," so said Mrs. S. F. Dickerson, chairman of the Percival Club. The yard was sodded in March, it had no rain until May, but that gave it a good start. The dry weather throughout the summer set it back but the fall rains came in time to save it. The yard is now completely covered and there is almost a perfect sod. When asked by one of her neighbors why she was so determined to get grass on her yard, Mrs. Dickerson told her that she liked grass better than she did weeds and the only thing that would keep her from having it was that it just wouldn't grow. Then the day the grass saved the wash she felt that her efforts had been worth it.

Gets A New Pantry. "I have a pantry in my kitchen for the first time in my life," remarked Mrs. W. N. Bridges, Farm Food Demonstrator of the Percival Home Demonstration Club. Mr. Bridges built the pantry in his spare time at a cost of $2.10. It is spacious enough for all of the canned food needed in the Bridges family, and has a space at the bottom for the pressure cooker and lard. There are five shelves and they are 4 feet and 6 inches long. The cabinet has four doors, two at the top and two at the bottom, making it convenient to find different foods.
