Thousands of Soldiers Passing Through Here

Over 10,000 Men Will Return Saturday In Single Column.

All is quiet on the local front Thursday morning. But it was far from quiet last night, when troops composing a proposed new division, en route to Mineral Wells from San Antonio, passed through Hico, forming a steady procession taking hours to pass a given point.

The overland march began early this week, and reached its zenith here early Thursday morning, between midnight and 4 o'clock. A column of the soldiers, preceded through the day Wednesday by artillery and reconnaissance units, came up Highway 66 from Hamilton, turned here through Iredell and proceeded to Walnut Springs to camp for the night. Another column simultaneously marched on Stephenville through Comanche and Dublin, not coming through here.

After subduing the mythical "Red" enemy invader in the vicinity of Mineral Wells Friday, the entire division will return to San Antonio, coming via Hico.

The division's troops were to spend Friday afternoon and night in bivouac areas in the vicinity of Gran and Graford, Texas, and at 6:00 A. M. Saturday will start the homeward march.

The tentative route is from Graford to Highway 66, then south to Mineral Wells; on U. S. 80 to Strawn, thence over U. S. 281 to Stephenville, then to Hico and due south on U. S. 281 to San Antonio, passing through Ewart, Lampasas, Burnet, Johnson City and Blanco.

Excessive rains may make it necessary to go by way of U. S. 80 from Mineral Wells to Fort Worth, then southwest on U. S. 377 to Stephenville, on U. S. 65 to Hico and then south on U. S. 281 to San Antonio. In either case the entire division will come through Hico, according to announced plans.

All 10,000 troops and 1100 motor vehicles will return in a single column.

PROGRESS for leisure

I was not sure of my welcome when I stuck my head in the kitchen door the other day, for my wife was putting up grape jelly, and "putting-up time" is not always the best time to interrupt domestic activities. Everything was calm, however. The big preserve kettle was simmering on the electric range, and there were utensils and gadgets around of which I didn't know the uses, but there was none of the heat, steam and air of tenness which used to pervade the kitchen in preserving time when I was a boy. I said as much to my wife.

That started us both to talking about the progress of the world since we were young, and we agreed that for us, and for most of our neighbors it's a better world to live in than it was fifty years ago.

TIME is shorter

Hearing an airplane overhead I looked up and with the some thrill I always get when the Chicago-New York mail plane flies over our house, Time, I reflected, is one of the things the world has gained in my life. The telephone rang. It was the station agent with a telegram. The day before I had posted an airmail letter to West Florida, and here was the answer by telegraph, in less than 24 hours! My letter had been carried from our local post-office by motor to the railroad, then by rail 50 miles to the Newark airport, then on the night plane to Jacksonville, Florida, 900 miles. There it had caught a west-bound train to Madison, another 250 miles and here, in less than a day, came the answer. It cost six cents for the air-mail letter; the telegram, 35 cents.

That is the marvelous thing about modern inventions, they can render such effective service so cheaply that almost anybody can use them. At first they cost a good deal. Only very well-to-do people could buy electric refrigerators when they were first put on the market in 1920. Soon great numbers of people began to want the new thing, the market becomes large enough to make mass-production practical. Prices go down.

PRICES are lower

My electric light bill was pretty heavy last month. We used the range and the vacuum cleaner and a dozen other gadgets more than usual, so it cost us nearly $8 for current. But when my father first put in electric lights, in 1890, the rate was $1 a month for each bulb!

As costs go down, quality goes up. My first automobile, in 1906, cost $1,000, top, windshield, horn and lights extra. It could do 25 miles an hour on a smooth road if I could find one. I drive a car of the same make now. An immensely better car, its cost, complete, is under $750. Forty years ago I paid $150 for a bicycle. Better bicycles now cost around $30, because so many more are made and sold.

The things which cost more than they used to are those in whose production the labor item is the largest factor. Wages are still going up. That is all right. Higher wages means that more things will be made by machines, with workers' wages spread over more units of product.

WAGES in movies

The highest wages in any line are paid to men and women who make motion pictures. For a star actor to get $100,000 for his or her work on one picture is not uncommon. The picture companies can pay high wages because they have such a big market for their product. Twelve million Americans go to the movies every day. That means that more than two million dollars a day rolls in, and a very small percentage of that, earned by any one picture, is enough to pay high wages and leave a nice profit.

Next to the movies, the highest average wages in any manufacturing industry are to be found in the automobile business. This industry employs many times more people than the movies do. If we leave out the theatre employees, wages of $100,000 a year are not uncommon in the automobile business, and there is as great competition among the motor companies for the services of men who are worth that, as there is between the movie studios for star actors.

Turkey Marketing Stimulating Trade As Birds Move Fast

Opening last week with a posted price of 14 cents per pound for No. 1 hens, and hovering around that level with reported increases of fractions of a cent upon certain occasions when circumstances such as delivery at the local houses occasioned such, turkey marketing Thursday was in full swing, with receipts reported large by all local buyers.

Only one local plant was operating a dressing station, and Wednesday night had dressed out four cars of the birds. This did not include a large supply on hand Thursday morning, and expected heavy receipts for the rest of the week, which is expected to wind up sale of the birds on the Thanksgiving market.

Quality of the birds is unusually good this year, although not so many large flocks are in evidence as in some past years.

Money derived from sale of turkeys is finding its way into the channels of business, and trade is brisk at all stores where inquiry has been made.

Supervisor's Report Shows Lots of Work In Sewing Project

Submitting her report for the period beginning October 1, 1936, and ending Sept. 30, 1937, Miss Quata Richbourg, County Supervisor of Sewing Room Projects, feels that considerable good has been accomplished.

Her report shows the following: Eight thousand, five hundred and eight garments made in Hamilton County sewing rooms.

Twenty thousand, one hundred and sixteen and one-half yards of materials used during same period.

Nineteen women now assigned to project in Hico.

Eleven women assigned to Hamilton project.

HARRY KOONSMAN BURIED AT DUFFAU WEDNESDAY

Harry Koonsman, who lived northeast of Hico, passed away at the family home Tuesday after a long illness. Funeral services were held at the Duffau Baptist Church Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 by Rev. Collins of Glen Rose, assisted by Judge Oxford of Stephenville. Interment was made in Duffau Cemetery.

Mr. Koonsman, who had lived in that community for many years, was 64 years of age. He is survived by his wife, several children and a number of other relatives.

Barrow Undertakers had charge of the burial.

To the memory of the brave sons of Hico and community who made the supreme sacrifice in the World War, loyal citizens again bow in humble gratitude. To the families of these brave sons they extend renewed sympathies... and glory with them in honor justly awarded.

We record this tribute so that fellowmen may not forget and that we may never be charged with lacking in loyalty. This Armistice day in 1937 has brought forth its own problems. Once again the world faces the grim problems of threatening war. We pause to honor the brave sons who fell in 1918... to pledge again that the cause they died for has not been in vain. The courage so essential upon the battlefield lies within the breast of every loyal American. We are prepared, through their example, to face the future humble and unafraid. To do less would be to fail them.

"Forced to Raise Cash" Say Carltons In Starting Sale

In announcing a "Drastic Emergency Sale" starting Friday, November 12, J. W. Richbourg, manager of the Hico store of G. M. Carlton Bros. & Co., wishes to impress the buying public with the unusual and startling bargains in timely merchandise offered in the event.

"We are forced to raise cash," emphatically stated Mr. Richbourg in conversation with a N-R representative, "and are sacrificing profits so that we may pay our creditors who are demanding their money now. It's a sale of necessity, a sale by compulsion," he added.

In explaining this drastic method of raising cash at this time, Mr. Richbourg called attention to long continued warm weather, short cotton crop with low price, and other causes beyond control of the owners of the store, which have found them with a big stock that must be sold at once to meet necessary demands. Therefore prices have been slashed. It is claimed, with no regard to former selling price.

Thrifty buyers of this trade territory, knowing Carltons' reputation for truth in advertising and integrity in all their dealings, are expected to throng the store during the run of the sale.

Mr. Richbourg has announced no definite closing date, warning buyers that the sale is truly being held for the purposes expressed, and advises the public to hurry and take advantage of the excellent opportunity to effect savings on timely purchases. Another announcement will be made in the advertising columns of this paper next week, it is promised.

Jobless Census Starts Tuesday At Local P. O.

Seeking cooperation of all who come under the provisions of the unemployment census, which will start next Tuesday morning, Nov. 16, Jimmie L. Holford, Hico postmaster, has made preparations for rapid, convenient and courteous accommodation of patrons who will receive blank cards in the mail that day.

A sub-office will be opened in the lobby of the post office quarters, over which some postal employee will have charge during the five days allotted by the department for finishing the work. Those who need assistance in filling out the cards will be aided through this extra service.

The cards will be placed in all lock boxes and distributed at the general delivery window. In addition, an employee will deliver them to every dwelling in town, to make certain that no one will be missed in the survey, which is being made at the direction of the President of the United States, under orders from Congress.

The local office will remain open Saturday afternoons until further notice, according to Mrs. Holford, who feels that during the next few weeks especially it will be advantageous to all concerned to discontinue the Saturday afternoon closing of windows which has been the custom for several months.

Total payrolls of employers now reporting to the Unemployment Commission approximate 75 to 80 million dollars per month.

Tigers Meet Comyn Here Friday In 1st Of 4 Home Games

With four games in as many weeks scheduled for the local field, Coach J. I. Grimland expects added enthusiasm on the part of Hico fans during the closing weeks of the 1937 season, which has not been so calamitous as some of the scores might indicate.

Mr. Grimland states that his main objective this year have been to build a foundation upon which to build a winning team, at the same time discharging some of the old obligations of the athletic association.

In both instances he feels that success has been apparent. The funds are in better shape than for some time, and with a continuation of the same brand of cooperation from the public, there shouldn't be anything to worry about from that score. He realizes also that the boys have had a tough grind in their new Class B set-up, but in view of the circumstances feels that the move was a wise one.

Today (Friday), Nov. 12, Comyn comes to Hico for the first of the four home games. The following Friday, Nov. 19 the Tigers encounter Walnut Springs in their own lair, and on Nov. 24, the day before Thanksgiving, they battle here with a tough aggregation from Gorman.

A post-season game has been arranged with Granbury, probably the following week, which will attract much enthusiasm through the fact that C. G. Masterson, erstwhile Hico superintendent but now of Granbury, has made dire threats as to what his outfit can do to the home boys.

Tax Collector to Be Here Saturday For Public Convenience

Hamilton County Tax Assessor-Collector R. J. Riley has announced that he will be in Hico Saturday, Nov. 13, for the purpose of collecting 1937 taxes. He and his force were in Fairly Wednesday, Nov. 10, and will be in Carlton today (Friday), Nov. 12.

In a display advertisement run two weeks in the News Review, Mr. Riley imparted much valuable information to taxpayers, as follows:

"We have completed the mailing of a tax statement to every taxpayer in the county. If you have not received yours, or if there is anything you don't understand about it, come by the office and we will be glad to give you one or explain anything that is not clear."

"If you have participated in the Government Soil Conservation Program and are expecting check, it might be well for you to try to make arrangements to pay first half of your tax before Dec. 1st, then the last 1-2 will not be due until June 1938 and maybe your check will be here by then."

BURIED AT DUFFAU

Funeral services were held at the Church of Christ at Duffau Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock for Joe Craig of that community, who passed away at his home Sunday night. Elder O. O. Newton of Pottsville conducted the funeral, and Barrow Undertakers of Hico had charge of the burial.

Mr. Craig, who was 70 years of age at the time of his death, had never married. He had lived in that community for numbers of years.

One brother, Allen Craig, survives him, besides a number of other relatives.

Interment was made in Duffau Cemetery.

MYTHICAL ENEMY FORCE IS DEFINITELY ON THE RUN, THURSDAY DISPATCH SAYS

FORT SAM HOUSTON, TEXAS, Nov. 11, 1937.—The Army's proposed new "streamlined" infantry division 10,000 strong this morning (Thursday) went into bivouac for the day in the vicinity of Stephenville, Dublin and Walnut Springs, Texas, after an all-night march from Rochelle, San Saba and Lometa.

The "tide of battle" now has changed and the mythical "Red" enemy force attempting to drive southward toward the Gulf of Mexico through San Antonio, is definitely on the run, and is falling back on Wichita Falls.

This became apparent Wednesday night.

All day Wednesday the proposed new infantry division on a 300-mile march from Fort Sam Houston to Mineral Wells, Texas, remained in bivouac areas at Rochelle-Lometa, while the "Blue" First Division battled the "Reds" at Brownwood. The proposed division actually is in the field with full force. The "Blue" First Division operating in conjunction with the proposed division is an assumed force.

The "Blue" First Division Wednesday was halted on the west bank of Pecan Bayou (a stream emptying in the Colorado River) at Brownwood. The "Blue" First was opposed by a "Red" division which secretly moved Tuesday night from Stephenville, Texas, to Brownwood.

All day Wednesday the "Blue" First division had tough sledding and was unable to dislodge "Red" and get across the Pecan Bayou in an eastward move.

Consequently at 3:30 P. M. Wednesday afternoon the "Blue" Corps commander decided that he would side-track the proposed infantry division from its northward march to Fort Worth, Texas. Instead of moving on to Fort Worth to meet the "Red" Corps concentrated in the vicinity of Wichita Falls, the Corps commander decided to have the proposed Division envelope the south flank of the "Red" division opposing the "Blue" division at Brownwood. This move, it was decided, will cut the "Red" division from its Railroad of supplies at Stephenville and will catch "Red" between the fires of both the "Blue" First Division, facing east, and the Proposed Division, which would hit "Red" in the rear, in a westward movement.

When this order was received Major General James K. Parsons, commanding the proposed division, issued his march order at San Saba, directing the division to (Turn to ARMY—Page 8)

Following is an item taken from the Hamilton County News, written by W. M. Billingsby, editor of that newspaper, who is seriously worrying about the poor mail service in Hamilton: "We had to drive up to Hico Sunday afternoon to mail a letter as we wanted it to reach its destination a day earlier than it would, had it been mailed in Hamilton. Our mail service now is about the same as it was when Roy Santy used to drive the mail back between Hamilton and Hico, we have been told."

There seems to be very little reason for any Hico man or woman worrying about growing old when everyone around them are doing the same thing. One local person said: "The turning point in life is when you quit saying you feel young when you are not and begin saying you feel young when you are not."

O. F. Anderson, a progressive farmer who resides on Route 6 out of Hico, was in the office Saturday to subscribe for the Hico News Review. He came because his wife sent him a good newspaper. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson moved to Olin eighteen years ago, and on to within a mile of Carlton four years ago, but still get their mail out of Hico. They have a nice place with electric lights and other modern conveniences, and Mr. Anderson said they lived exactly like "town folks" except they are not as crowded.

Aubry Duzan says another question that has never been answered is whether a woman's shape changes to fit the styles or the styles change to fit her shape.

We saw Tom Powers, mechanic and all-around garage man loitering around a neighbor's place of business Tuesday morning while it was raining, so we said to him: "You do not have to work on rainy days, do you?" He replied: "No, nor many other days." In spite of his pessimistic feeling, Mr. Powers is a good business man and one of the best mechanics in the country. He is conservative and at the same time progressive.

Go to friends for advice; to women for pity; to strangers for charity; to relatives for nothing.—Spanish Proverb.

You have heard of the meanest man. Well we believe he was the one who visited Iredell a few days ago and stole a number of church benches and the preacher's stand from the Holiness tabernacle in that city. And the "best man" was through Hico on Monday of this week, a fellow who was still in his "twenties" hitch-hiking to El Paso to attend the Baptist Convention. The young man, whose desire is to be a missionary to China, had the courage to make the trip without even a coat to wear in spite of the inclement weather he was facing. He especially wanted to reach the convention by Wednesday in order to hear the sermons delivered by Dr. Head from Houston, and Dr. Geo. W. Truett of Dallas. The boy hailed from Waco, and was so interested in church work that he built altarpieces of his life's work as he talked.

Did you see this one? The other day we read where City Detective E. W. Corn of Dallas put in a call for a fellow officer in Fort Worth. "Mr. Corn is ready," said the Fort Worth operator. "Mr. Corn is ready," said the Dallas operator. The Fort Worth operator uttered: "They ought to get together sometime."

All in smiles the first of this week were T. A. and Lusk Rands and S. E. Blair who were making preparations for their annual deer hunt in Mason County next week. They will be accompanied by Dr. Vance Terrell of Stephenville, and Jeff Moreland and Jim Hill of Fort Worth. They will take along two colored boys from Fort Worth to do the cooking and chores about the camp. They plan to leave Hico Saturday night and take Monday to roam over the pasture, in order to begin the actual hunting when the season opens Tuesday morning.

A big Drastic Emergency Sale starts Friday at the G. M. Carlton Bros. & Co. Store immediately after the doors open for business. Mr. Riechbourg, the manager, says there are bargains galore for everybody. Some of the articles have been marked below cost in order to raise cash. Mr. Riechbourg predicts a good sale this year.

H. E. McCullough was glad it rained Monday. He has been making such good golf scores for the past week and wanted to keep that record, so after eating so much turkey Sunday when a birthday dinner was given in his honor, he felt unable to make the usual score of from 35 to 39. He thinks this rain was badly needed anyway, and could not have come at a more opportune time, both for the crops and for his golfing.

Rands Brothers welcomed a large crowd of customers as soon as the doors were open Saturday morning until closing time Saturday night. In last week's issue of the News Review they carried a large ad quoting prices which brought results, according to the owners. Naturally we believe in the slogan "It pays to advertise."

On Tuesday of this week Mr. and Mrs. Joe Abel celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary. Nothing out of the ordinary occurred that day, with the exception of a good rain, which was enough blessing according to Mr. Abel. Mr. Abel came from Alabama and Mrs. Abel is a native of Texas. They married out from Hico, and have lived here ever since where Mr. Abel has been a farmer-stockman. Mr. Abel says 40 years is a long time to live with the same woman, but he has never found another that he would trade his present one for. May they have 100 more such happy years.

The Barrow Furniture Company has an ad in this week's paper that contains prices that are cheaper than you can find in any of the neighboring towns, mail order catalogues or anywhere else, according to Grady Barrow, owner. They have both new and used furniture at these bargain prices. Be sure to read the ad.

Hico is noted for its fine breed of chickens, or at least the Keeney Hatchery in Hico has that reputation. Last week Messrs. Daniel, Miller and Griffin from Santa Anna, and a Mr. Smith from Gouldbusk came to Hico and purchased a number of the large type English Leghorns from Keeney's and have been phoning back for more. They stated that they had searched all over various portions of the State and found these to be the finest.

The editor said the reason his wife let a car run into hers and smash one of the fenders was because she tried out a new DEX model car last Sunday and liked it. He was surprised that their car was not a complete wreck.

One of our young friends, L. A. Powledge brought the office force some nice turnips and greens on Wednesday of this week. We appreciate the thoughtfulness of Mr. Powledge and his good wife, for we do like to eat.

Approximately 25 girls employed on National Youth Administration work projects in Brown county recently organized an NYA Community Center in Brownwood. Ben Jackson, district supervisor, has reported to J. C. Kellam, State Youth Director. Youths employed in the NYA sewing room will design and make furnishings for the Center, at which Brown County youths may participate in a supervised work and recreation program.

LOCAL MERCHANTS DONATE 200 BOOKS

Two hundred song books arrived the early part of this week for assemblies which are held each Monday morning.

We wish to thank the merchants for these books, because they will afford us means of arousing more school pep and we can discontinue using the song sheets that we have been forced to use.

The merchants are listed below: Wiseman Studio, Lane's Service Station and Cafe, Randalls Brothers, J. R. Bobo, Lewis Chaney Garage & Station, Higginbotham Bros. & Co., H. N. Wolfe, G. M. Carlton Bros. & Co., Carment's Beauty Shop, Farm Implement Supply Co., Barrow Furniture Co., Jones Motor Co., The First National Bank, and Hico Poultry & Egg Co.

Thirty were picked from the original 64 girls of the Choral Club last week because the teachers, Miss Harris and Miss Milholland, could train only a small group. Three try-outs were given and 39 were selected. They are:

Carroll Anderson, Golden Ross, Jane Wolfe, Roberta McMillan, Nell Patterson, Marie Linch, Jean Wolfe, Mildred Bobo, Louise Blair, Ruth Lowe, June Malone, Ruby Lee Ellington, Dorothy Perry, Juanita Jones, Marguerite Vickrey, Priscilla Rodgers, Bonnie Thompson, Leona Jones, Rachel Marcum, Mary Brown, Mary Ella McCullough, Charley Faye Simmons, Rubye Lowe, Letha Mae Beaman, Erma Dee Homer, Helen Hearn, Nadine Perry, Addie Lee Connally, Wynell Stanford, and Mamye Jones.

3rd Grade Entertained In Assembly

Assembly Monday morning was given by the third grade, under the direction of Miss Spivey.

Paul Kenneth Wolfe, master of ceremonies, opened the program with a short prayer, which was followed by a group of songs by the entire class.

Duets were sung by Mary Helen Hollis and J. D. Diltz, Paul Kenneth Wolfe and Dale Randalls, Paul Kenneth Wolfe sang two solos—"My Little Buckaroo" and "Little Old Lady."

The program was concluded with a playlet entitled "Little Red Riding Hood."

Several guests were present. The Seniors will be in charge of the program next Monday, and everyone is invited. Program begins at 8:30.

BAND ORGANIZED WITH FORTY FIVE PUPILS; INSTRUMENTS ARE SELECTED

Why Not Club Entertained

The "Why Not" Club was entertained last Saturday by Katherine Massingill with an outdoor lunch.

They met at Katherine's at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning and Mr. Massingill took them to a branch about two miles in the country.

After having a hard time cooking, their appetites were finally appeased. The rest of the afternoon was spent laughing and talking. They walked home.

Those present were: Jean Wolfe, Daisy French, Eileen Christopher, Mary Jane Clark and Katherine Massingill.

Bursday Thurpers all went home Thursday with Roberta McMillan for another enjoyable evening.

brought in the refreshments which were served buffet style. These consisted of tuna fish sandwiches, sour pickles, cake, bananas and tea.

We have decided upon a plan of interviewing each of the club members on the day the club meets at her house, so the reader can know what each is like. We are beginning by interviewing Roberta first. She is the tall, blonde Sophomore who answers to the name of "Doodle." She has a certain friend by that name, too. She has curly, blonde hair and most of her friends remember her several years ago she wore in curls. Her eyes are blue-grey, and her complexion is light. She is 5 feet, 6 inches, and weighs 120 pounds. Her favorite radio program is "One Man's Family" and her best-liked song hit is "It's Nice Work If You Can Get It."

Her favorite subject is Biology, while she chooses Fairy as her favorite neighboring town. Her best-liked foods are apples and pickles. She is the reporter of the ninth grade and also the pep leader. Her worst fault is always complaining of something when it's pure-dee laziness. But altogether she's a handy person to have around.

Our club will follow Sarah Frances Meador home next Thursday to have some more gossip and let her interview herself.

Forty-five pupils and teachers joined the band on or before Tuesday. The band will be led by Mr. Fagan, who now has a band at Evant.

Those who have not yet decided on an instrument are: Dale Randalls, Mr. Gilmore, Billy Mobley, and Joseph Rodgers.

Following is the list of band members and instruments they will probably play:

Cornets and Trumpets—Mary Brown, Othar Carlton, Rollie Forgy, Peggy Pirtle, Pansy McMillan, George Stringer, Mary Nell Ellington, Ralph Horton, Priscilla Rodgers, and Maynard Marshall.

Saxophones—Roberta McMillan, Bill Hall, Mrs. Grimland, Bobby Jones, Erlene Elkins, Jackie Weisenhant, Mary Ella McCullough.

Trombones—Glen Marshall, Bill Pontremoli, Mr. Brown, Sarah Frances Meador.

Clarinets—Letha Mae Beaman, Meredith Woods, Kathrine Massingill, Helen Hearn, Louise Blair, Carolyn Holford, Raymond Hefner, Ruby Lee Ellington, Mildred Bobo, H. C. Connally.

Bass Horn—Albert Brown, Richard Little.

Snare Drum—Jane Wolfe, Kenneth Brown.

Alto—Mary Nell Hancock, Mary Iona Whitson, Elva Jo Rainwater.

Baritone—Mr. Grimland.

There is a certain epidemic going around in this school called colds, says Ninth Grade reporter.

Continuing, the reporter says: Now my Biology book tells me that colds are only gotten through direct contact. (I ought to remember that one—I missed it on six-weeks.) Through careful consideration I have deduced a very important question: Why should certain people have colds at the same time? Males and females, I mean. We'll let the readers think about it for a while (if there are any readers).

Metinks the people in town ought to help Mr. Brown and Mr. Grimland boost the idea of a good school. The war is on down at my house. It seems that the two McMillan brats have boosted too much. Who will win? Will your truly get put down a notch or two, or will Mother come out the winner?

The same situation is going on in every ninth grader's home. Read next week's ninth grade column to find out who wins. Vote for our side by boosting the idea.

ing in the seventh grade. We are all glad to have him. Tuesday we expect good talks in Geography. Please, Everyone, do not talk on "Buried Sunshine."

3rd and 4th.

The third and fourth grades are glad to have Richard Hutton enter school again. Richard has been in West Texas.

The fourth grade English club met Friday, November 6. They voted to name the club the "Good Manners Club." The program for the day was as follows: Bob Massingill, "Remembering Day," J. E. Bullard a poem, "Flags," Betty Hutton, a poem, "Whispers," Bobby Joe Simpson, a song, "Margery," Neal Garner, a story, "The Little Match Girl," Nelda Cunningham, a poem, "In Flander's Field," Eugene Jaggers, a poem, "Too Many Names."

Girl's Sport News.

Due to the fact that Liberty called the game off last Friday night at Carlton, we were unable to get a game for Friday.

We are going to Carlton Friday (tonight) and play Pottsville. Everyone come and yell! We plan to be there in full force.

Nonsense.

Miss White: Buster, are you the oldest in your family? Buster: No, mam. Pa and Ma are both older than me.

Kind-hearted lady: Aren't you the same man I gave a mince pie to Thanksgiving Day? Tramp: Oh, no, Lady. He's dead.

The freshman wandered over farm and stopped with wonder dumb. "Where did all these cows and calves get all their chewing gum?"

Whit: There's Mildred, I understand she bought that dress on the installment plan.

Gene: I suppose that's the first installment she's wearing now.

Things that have to stop: These kids riding the bus to school then going somewhere else. Such low grades being made. These "durn wants" aggravating Mr. Horsley (Everyone).

So much talking during tests. John eating pecans during class.

Blondy taking tests with books open.

"Seniors" skipping the study hall.

Youths working on an NYA Project in the Marshall High School cafeteria prepare and serve under the direction of the school dietitian an average of 200 lunches daily. The girls are given spare-time instruction in personal hygiene and domestic science practices.

Education of the Blind.

Sad as the condition of the blind is today, it is happiness itself when compared with that prevailing a century and a half ago. Up to that time, almost no attempt had been made to educate the blind. It was assumed that they must go through life dependent, unoccupied, and restless; while they may have resented the fact of their blindness, there appeared to be no way to fight against it.

But all people could not be content to take for granted the misfortune of blindness. In 1648 an Italian writer published a book which argued the question of doing something for them. This book led to nothing immediately practical, and to no really systematic attempt to give instruction, but in 1748 a Frenchman, Valentin Hovy, opened in Paris the first school for the blind. He invented books with raised letters, which could be read by the sense of touch. The school movement spread rapidly over Europe during the early years of the nineteenth century; now practically every country has its schools for the blind. Many blind people can do more and make a better attempt to accomplish something than a person who has his eyesight.

Ex-Seniors Visit School.

Friday we enjoyed having Donnie Wolfe visiting our classes. Donnie graduated last year. She has been missed very much from ball players to school teachers. When asked why she did not start to school again, she answered, "I might if you all didn't act so silly."

We were also glad to have Ray Miller "Lefty" visit our school. Ray did not stay long enough to visit classes, because he says "I can't work and visit school at the same time." Ray, let the work be, and visit school more.

Senior News.

The Senior Class is very proud to have Robert Hutton, Jr. back with us. He has been in West

Juniors.

The Juniors were very disappointed when it rained because it stopped the construction of the gym. We miss watching them during history class.

Fresh out: Pecans to eat in English class. News. Lipstick for Juanita. Short dresses for Wilma. Wise cracks from Blondie.

Sophomore News.

We are studying hard so we can make better grades on the next six weeks' test. Wonder why—some of the 9th grade had to go to the detention hall.

Eighth Grade News.

Most all of the students are back in school this week. We are glad to have them back.

Wonder why—Nellie gets made so quick? Quata is he happy? Nip's glad to get back to school? Jack thinks he is a wonderful batter? Oletha has a bad cold?

7th Grade News.

It will soon be time for us to hand in our note books again in Geography and Language. We hope Mr. Ford will not have to correct so many mistakes this time, and also Miss White. Clarence Little started Monday morn-

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
By Charles E. Dunn

The Christian Minister. Lesson for November 14th. I Tim. 4:6-16. Golden Text: I Tim. 4:14.
There is a widespread feeling that the Christian minister has fallen upon evil days. It is the fashion to pity the parson as one grappling with an impossible task in the face of apathy and hostility.

That this is no new attitude is proved by the arresting little painting, "The Sermon," by Lucius van Leyden, an early Dutch artist. We see a large church with pillars and arches, its somber tone in strong contrast to the bright, sunny world without. There is a service in progress with a languid congregation of 20 or 30 who seem to be paying no attention to the thin, otherworldly preacher. He is talking very earnestly from a high pulpit which appears to separate him from his hearers who are all facing every direction except toward the pulpit. An old lady is deep in sleep, and another woman is dozing. The preacher appears to be a real man of God, but no one is either looking at or listening to him.

It is never safe however to generalize. Over against this scene of futility one thinks of the amazing ministry of Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick in the Riverside Church, New York. Packed every Sunday with thousands of attentive worshippers, and carrying on a varied program of splendid usefulness to a multitude of folk in all classes of society, this great church testifies to the perennial appeal of the Christian preacher, and the resourcefulness of the Christian Church in adapting itself to new conditions.

The fact is that no one has a happier task than the minister serving a congenial parish. He is anointed above his fellows with the oil of gladness. St. Paul knew this. His advice to Timothy is warm with the glow of a valiant preacher in love with his noble profession. Our Golden Text, "Neglect not the gift that is in thee," reflects this high-souled pride in the beauty of the gospel ministry.

Courtesy. Courtesy is an admirable trait that each of us should give more attention. Everyone notices a courteous person even if nothing is said about it. You may be sure that someone who is discourteous is always noticed. None of us want to be remembered by some discourteous act. We had rather be remembered by our well-behaved manner.

We probably are to blame for a part of this behavior. If the older people are courteous before the children and to them, the children themselves will be better behaved. Children imitate older people. We should all be more careful of our actions and words because we never know when some child is watching us and repeating our actions and words. None of us wish to be responsible for the misbehavior of a child; so let's all of us watch ourselves so that we may be a better influence on the lives of the children.

Ireddell Local Chapter Future Farmers

On Tuesday morning, October 26, the first period of Agriculture laid off terraces for Mr. W. A. Miller. They intend to go back in two or three days to check the terraces.

On Tuesday morning, November 2, the second period of Agriculture boys laid off terraces for A. F. Poinac. They also will go back in a few days to check up on the terraces.

On Wednesday morning, Nov. 3, the first period class of Agriculture boys went to Mr. Bob Davis' farm and culled about 170 hens. Mr. Davis had the hens in the chicken house, so they were not hard to catch.

The first period class and the second period class of Agriculture boys are landscaping the grounds around the H. E. cottage. They are digging up the ground and building flower beds around the building.

On Thursday the Agriculture boys took their first six weeks examination.

The second period class of the Agriculture boys are building a soil erosion demonstration. They are also building a heavy rope machine. That one we have will make smaller ones, but they want one that will make them larger.

Some of the boys have made market charts, and different ones are keeping up with the prices.

The Future Farmer membership cards came in Wednesday, Nov. 3. They are just the right size to go in a modern sized wallet.

Palace Theatre Has Good Shows Booked For Coming Week

Continuing his policy of giving local patrons the best possible to offer, Harold Stroud, owner of the Palace Theatre in Hico, calls especial attention to three of this popular showhouse's offerings for the coming week. Other features scheduled may be noticed in the regular program, which appears in an advertisement.

Big Talent Crop Reaps Hit Harvest.
Featuring a spectacular parade of film personalities, Twentieth Century-Fox tops all of its previous musical smash hits with "You Can't Have Everything," now playing at the Palace Theatre.

Gordon and Revel wrote the hit tunes for this singsational new musical comedy, which features Alice Faye, the Ritz Brothers, Don Ameche, Charles Winninger, Louise Hovick, Rubloff and his violin, and Tony Martin.

$50,000 Movie Coat Has Stand-In, Double.
No kidding, the $50,000 sable coat that Jean Arthur wears in "Easy Living," opening at the Palace in Hico Sunday for a two-day run, had a combination stand-in and stunt-double.

And it's not so silly as it may sound. Miss Arthur's stand-in, Kay Smith, wore a kolinsky as a "stand-in coat" under the hot arc lights, and in one scene it was substituted for the more expensive garment by being thrown from the roof of a tall building into the street, which makes it a double in any stunt man's language.

A studio policeman was assigned to guard the $50,000 item on the set at all times.

Dvorak, Trent Teamed In "She's No Lady."
A new romantic team from which big things are expected makes its first appearance in "She's No Lady," a gay comedy with a mystery twist, which opens at the Palace in Hico next Tuesday and will be shown again on Wednesday.

Its members are beautiful Ann Dvorak and handsome John Trent, the latter a former TWA pilot who was "discovered" during a recent air trip by B. P. Schulberg, Hollywood producer.

The cast also includes Harry Beresford, Guinn Williams and Aileen Pringle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Brown and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Welborn and children spent Sunday in Clifton with Mr. Welborn's parents.

Class No. 3 of the Methodist Sunday School gave a shower on Tuesday afternoon of last week for Mrs. Ray Duckworth, who was Miss Lucille Garth until her marriage a few weeks ago to Mr. Duckworth. Mrs. Grady Barrow and Miss Wilena Purcell were hostesses, and the affair was held at the home of the former.

FOR THE GREATEST

Rexall 1c Sale

IN PORTER'S HISTORY

A Great Increase, But That Is Not What We're Proud of . . .

We are proud of the fact that during the four days of our Rexall 1c Sale 500 people made purchases in our store. That many people received their money's worth and more—that they received as prompt and efficient service as could be expected—that none of that number were disappointed—because stocks were ample and merchandise was "as advertised."

People of Hico have found that for 33 years that values are honestly represented at Porter's. There are no exaggerated claims. This Home-Owned institution has grown because it serves its customers "Better" and we are extremely proud that this great response to our Rexall 1c Sale was accorded Porter's.

We feel, with all modesty, that your response was a compliment to Porter's 33 years of fair business dealings. We thank you.

"In the Center of Hico's Business Activities"

Up in the Clouds

By Baulah Earle

Eighth installment.

Monty Wallace has just arrived in California, having broken the East-West cross country airplane record. Natalie Wade, mistaken for him for a newspaper reporter, writes the exclusive account of Monty's arrival, and succeeds in securing a trial job with a paper in exchange for the story. Natalie becomes attached to Monty.

Although she discovers Monty's love for her is not sincere, Natalie admits that she loves him. She is assigned by her paper to report Monty's activities for publication. Jimmy Hale, the newspaper's photographer, becomes Natalie's co-worker.

Natalie interviews Jabe Marion, wealthy airplane builder, who decides to build a record-breaking round the world plane for Monty. Marion's daughter, Sunny, exquisitely beautiful, is attracted to Monty. She invites Natalie to dine with her, when they meet the aviator unexpectedly.

Natalie discovers that Sunny is jealous of her friendship with Monty, and that she is trying to prevent them from being alone. After driving to a mountain resort with Sunny and Jimmy, Monty again declares his love for Natalie. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Then she waked him and laughed at his consternation.

"Great Scott, Nat," he cried in his husky voice. "I didn't know I was as bad as that. Let me get out of here before I wreck your whole rep."

She gave him coffee and insisted that he get into a cold bath, promising him breakfast when he had swept some of the cobwebs out of his brain.

Over the dainty slices of toast and the crisp bacon he was presently a complete picture of chagrin. His chin was rough and his clothes were rumpled. He protested that he was not fit to associate with her.

"Weren't you trying to forget something last night, Jimmy? Isn't that why you drank so much?"

He grinned sheepishly. "Yeah," he said, "and it took a lot."

"It's not a nice way to do, Jimmy. But I sometimes think it's better than remembering too much. Let's let it go at that."

"But how am I going to get out of here without making it look bad for you?" he pleaded.

The girl laughed. "Can you run, Jimmy?" she asked.

"Sure, why?"

Well, I'm going out after a while and when I come back, I'm going to find a prowler in my room. I'm going to make a terrible fuss and you'll have to beat it fast."

"Kid," he chuckled. "You're a genius. But you'd better wash up these dishes before you let anybody in here."

They laughed together and began clearing away the breakfast things.

Jimmy was very busy after that with mysterious affairs that seemed to involve his being much with Sunny Marion. He said nothing about all this to Natalie even when they were working together on some angle of the story of the great flight.

Natalie herself was busy. She had access to the company files and each day there was some difficulty that had to be fussed out and that usually proved the basis for her story of that day.

The refueling stations were already set up. Each had a plane at hand and an auxiliary plane available. Each had a pilot in charge and an assistant pilot ready in case of emergency.

It had not proved necessary to forward pilots or planes. American pilots in each of the countries designated for refueling stations proved available for the work at hand. It was vital only that they have experience in the type of work attempted and that they have uniform equipment.

It was not intended that all the stations would be used but that they should be ready if needed.

Each of the auxiliary pilots was a radio operator and the short-wave chain was in operation. It was from the log of conversations that Natalie culled most of the information she used for publication.

Monty Wallace, in active charge of most of these arrangements as well as the readying of the plane, had grown less and less preoccupied as the plans took shape. He was now thoroughly convinced that they would go through and that nothing but bad luck could stop the flight.

"In a thing like this," he told Natalie when she visited the hangar office a week before the flight, "you've got to count on luck. You do everything you can to keep luck out, but it creeps in spite of all. It's only the bad luck I'll have to fight. Everything else has been accounted for."

"You'll have to fight sleep, won't you, Monty?" she questioned. "That will be easy. I wouldn't be able to sleep a dime's worth if I were staying home and somebody else were making the flight after all this preparation. It will be easier to stay awake when I know I've got the whole thing on my hands. Besides, it won't matter if I doze off now and then, for the automatic controls will take care of the ship and there is an alarm system if anything goes wrong."

The thought of Monty Wallace sleeping at the controls of the valiant little ship as it hurtled and then he jerked a thumb toward the night office.

"Old Jabe Marion wants to see you," he told her.

He did not follow after as she crossed to the opposite side of the hangar and sought out the gray-haired MAC president.

"Hello, Natalie," he said, smiling up at her from his desk. "Do you know why I sent for you?"

"I haven't an idea in the world," the girl replied honestly.

"I've just arranged," he said proudly, "to have you make the New York trip with Wallace. It's all fixed with the paper. There's nothing for you to do but pack a bag and go."

Natalie seized Jabe Marion's hand and wrung it excitedly.

They rushed back to the field then. Monty Wallace was waiting for her. Sunny stood beside him, pouting a little. But Monty's eyes were for the plane, for the final preparations.

In a little while the trim little ship was surrounded. The whole field staff came to cheer and wish success to the flight.

Then Sunny and Jimmy Hale ran for their own plane.

Monty lifted Natalie almost bodily into her place in the small cabin. The motor revved up and roared. They taxied across the field and then there was a rush into the teeth of the wind. They were off for Denver, Cleveland and New York.

Once more Natalie Wade settled her shoulder against Monty's arm, and happiness flew with them as they swept toward the mountains.

That day seemed like a dream to Natalie, but it ended in nightmare when they refueled at Denver. In terror the girl watched while Monty shifted a cabin hatch and climbed to foot-rests above with his body whipped by the angry slipstream.

What if the ship should veer suddenly and throw him from his place? But she remembered then that there were auxiliary controls on the cabin roof by which he could handle everything but the lateral rudder.

She saw the fueling ship mount above them. She knew that it must hold steady for the proper contact, that Monty must catch the swinging fuel line and whip it into the tank vent.

She could see little of the operation, but she knew presently that it was a success. She saw the other plane swing off to the South and head back to its field. Monty slid back into his seat and closed the hatch.

He grinned at her, and in an instant she was in his arms, clinging down her cheeks. He kissed her hungrily, but he laughed at her tears.

They flew on then into the darkness. There was nothing to guide them but Monty's instinct and the star-glow of the night sky. There was a beacon now and then, but they seemed so few and far apart.

Natalie fought her terror through the night. It was not possible, it seemed to her, that this boy could circle the monstrous earth below in this frail plane. He would crash. He would die somewhere along that route that had been a thin, red line on the globe in the flight office!

Monty knew the Long Island flying field and the towns that lay about as he knew the back of his hand. Everywhere he was hailed by friendly voices. He turned his ship over to the starting control station while Natalie telephoned the Eastern newspaper connections for which she was to do her story.

She had scribbled a diary of the flight as they flew East. Now she must find a quiet spot to turn out her lead. So overwrought was she by her fears that she told Monty she didn't believe she could do her work.

He hailed a cab and hurried her off to a tiny hotel where he was known. Presently he sat beside her in a pleasant room overlooking a quiet street.

"Now take your time," he said. "Nobody knows where you are and nobody can bother you until you are ready for them. Do your stuff and then we'll tell them where to come for it."

When he suggested that he leave her alone so that there wouldn't be any distraction, she cried out. "Oh, please Monty. Please stay here. I'd die if you left me here alone." And so he sat beside her as she wrote.

Surprisingly, the story was finished in a short time. Messengers came rushing at Monty's call and bore it away.

She must get some sleep now, he told her. And when he had kissed her she threw herself on the wide, white bed. But fear struck then at her heart. Sleep would not come.

A man lay there, sprawled on the hall carpet.

through space sent a creepy thrill of fear into the girl's heart but she had a note of the plan and used it for her lead that night.

Two days later Natalie Wade drove to the airport with sinking heart. This was the day that Monty was to take off for the East. He was to refuel at Denver on the cross-continent flight in order to see that everything had been remembered. The last leg of the Eastern flight was to be under cover of darkness.

"I'll be meeting the days pretty fast on this trip and I've got to get used to it," he told her when she asked about that feature of the preliminary start. That gave her another lead. "Days to be short for Wallace," the public would read that night.

In the midst of their conversation, Jimmy Hale drove up. He drew her aside and slipped something into her hand.

"Pretend this is your birthday, kid," he said. "I fixed this up for you so you can shoot pictures yourself when you get in a spot."

She saw then that he had given her a small and very fast camera of a type he had often described to her. She thanked him earnestly

"I—I've been dying to suggest it, she concluded her thanks, "but I didn't have the nerve."

Jimmy Hale had known about it. He had brought her the little camera because he knew. Monty Wallace grinned when he saw her coming toward him. Then he knew about it, too, she realized, and he was happy. Sunny Marion was nowhere to be seen. Perhaps she knew about the plan, and was not happy.

Jimmy carried her off to fetch her belongings.

He was as gleeful as though he had been going alone on that first leg of the flight himself. "It's a great chance for you, kid," he said. "And when you take pix, see that they mean something; don't just stand 'em up and shoot 'em."

He showed her how to operate the simple shutter of the camera. "Take a lot of shots," he advised her. "Some of them are bound to be no good but there's a hundred pictures in one load of that thing and some of them will turn out all right."

Natalie threw things into her bag. Jimmy watched.

"You didn't ever find that prowler that was in here, did you?" he grinned.

Natalie laughed.

"Listen, kid," Jimmy said. "I've got more news for you."

She looked up, snapping the lock of her grip.

"Sunny is sore as a goat. She wanted to make that trip herself. Now she's going by another plane and I'm going with her. We'll be there a little after you land."

"Jimmy!" the girl cried. "That's grand."

"It's a tri-motor and you're coming back with us after the big ship-off."

They rushed back to the field then. Monty Wallace was waiting for her. Sunny stood beside him, pouting a little. But Monty's eyes were for the plane, for the final preparations.

In a little while the trim little ship was surrounded. The whole field staff came to cheer and wish success to the flight.

It Looked Like This 19 Years Ago

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE... The first Armistice Day was greeted something like this. Today we face East and send in homage to those whose names mark white crosses in Flanders Fields. 19 years ago these Doughboys were glad the War To End War was over. Today new war scares make millions wonder, "can all this happen again?"

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD AT HICO BAPTIST CHURCH FOR S. CLINTON RODGERS

Funeral rites were held at the Hico Baptist Church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock for Samuel Clinton Rodgers, whose body was brought here from Louisville, Ky., where he passed away last Friday after a long illness. Rev. E. E. Dawson, local pastor, conducted the services and interment was made in the Hico Cemetery.

Pallbearers were C. L. Woodward, H. N. Wolfe, H. E. McCullough, L. N. Lane, John Simonton and M. A. Johnson. Mr. Rodgers' last residence was in Pine Bluff, Arkansas, but he passed away at the home of a brother-in-law, Dr. Joe Armstrong in Louisville, Ky., where he had been for the past eighteen months undergoing treatment.

Clinton was born July 21, 1894, in Hico, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Rodgers, Sr. He was converted and joined the Missionary Baptist Church at the age of 13 years. He started working for the Pierce Oil Corporation in Hico when just a boy and was transferred to Vernon, Texas, where in October 1924, he met and married Miss Oleta Youngblood. No children were born to this union. They then moved to Childers, Texas, and later resided at various points in Arkansas. The Sinclair Refining Company took over the interests of the Pierce Oil Corporation, and at the time of

Mr. Rodgers' death, he was with the Sinclair Refining Company in the auditing division. Besides his wife, Mr. Rodgers is survived by five sisters and one brother, namely: Mrs. A. S. Cupp and Mrs. T. J. Christopher, Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. J. T. Skipper, Dallas; Mrs. H. A. Dieter, Waco; Miss Thoma and J. P. Rodgers, Jr., Hico. His parents and two brothers, Ennie and Elmer preceded him in death.

Those from out-of-town who attended the funeral services, besides his four sisters, included: Mrs. T. J. Youngblood, Louisville, Ky.; E. O. and O. T. Youngblood and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Story, Vernon; Mrs. T. J. Griffith and Mrs. Mary Helen Black, Abilene; George Bowers, Dallas; and Mrs. E. C. Carrier, Kansas City, Mo., who is a niece of Mr. Rodgers.

Gas Manager in Hospital. W. M. Marcum, local manager of the Southern Union Gas Company, was taken to Stephenville Hospital Monday night, for examination and treatment. He returned to Hico the latter part of the week.

During his absence from the office, W. H. Werner of Bellville took care of the office here. H. C. Frizzell, district manager, stated that he considered Mr. Marcum's disability only temporary, and that he hoped to have affairs of the office back again on regular routine.

ARMY---

march on Brownwood at 6:30 P. M. Wednesday, by way of Texas Highway 74-A.

But the "Red" commander was not asleep. As the proposed division started its march, under cover of darkness, "Red" airplanes (observation) flew over the column, dropped flares and discovered "Blues" intentions.

The "Red" division commander who has the mission of covering a "Red" concentration at Wichita Falls, farther to the north, decides that discretion is the better part of valor. Learning of the change in march direction of the proposed division the "Red" commander orders an immediate withdrawal from Brownwood, moving back to the north, delaying the "Blues" as much as possible.

Throughout last night (Wednesday) the "Reds" were observed by observation airplanes operating with the proposed infantry division, moving hastily to the north in two columns, one of the columns on the road, Brownwood—Cisco—Breckenridge, Texas, and the second on the road, Comanche—Eastland—Breckenridge.

Taking advantage of the turn in the situation, the commander of the "Blue" First Division at Brownwood ordered an immediate pursuit and throughout the night kept on the heels of the hard-pressed "Reds" on the retreat.

Having been informed of "Reds" hasty withdrawal the "Blue" Corps commander orders the proposed infantry division to give up the plan of marching to Brownwood and to resume the march in two columns on Fort Worth due north. All during the night the proposed division moved north.

Moving on U. S. 81 to Comanche and thence northeast on U. S. 67 to Stephenville was the 23rd and Sixth Infantry regiments, service echelon and attached troops. The Ninth Infantry and attached troops moved east over U. S. 84 from Goldthwaite to Evant and then north to Hico on U. S. 281, thence eastward to Iredell and Walnut Springs. The march was protected by the cavalry reconnaissance squadron.

As the two columns reached Stephenville and Walnut Springs the division was ordered to bivouac and await developments in the engagement between the "Blue" First Division and the "Red" division now on the run.

Two agencies administer the Unemployment Compensation Act in Texas. The Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission is set up in Austin to receive contributions and reports of employers and to keep records of the employees.

The Texas State Employment Service will establish offices by January, 1938, in key cities to aid out-of-work employees in finding employment and to distribute unemployment benefits. Field men will aid in communities and small towns.

The combined flow of New Braunfels and San Marcos springs amounts to 295,000,000 gallons per day, or enough to supply nearly one third of the water consumption of New York City, according to Texas Planning Board engineers.

Construction of World's Fair Palaces and Towers is speeding ahead on Treasure Island, San Francisco Bay site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

The tide at Treasure Island, site of San Francisco's 1939 Exposition on San Francisco Bay, sometimes rises as high as six feet.

THIS YEAR'S COTTON CROP

A little figuring by The Progressive Farmer gives a somewhat surprising result. Even though the price of cotton is considerably below the 12.7-cent average for last year, the current crop is likely to bring as much or more money than last year's. If our 15,593,000 bales sell for an average of 9.75, as they seem likely to do, in view of the government's lending 9 cents, this year's crop will bring just about as much as last year's 12,400,000 bales at 12.7 cents.

SILVERROD

Not all that glitters is gold, as we have all heard. Now it turns out that not all goldenrod is golden. We learn by way of a nature column in The Progressive Farmer: "A correspondent, who signs himself Jim, asks if all goldenrods are yellow. There is a white goldenrod, the silverrod, which flourishes in dry soils. Its oblong leaves are frequently hairy; its creamy white florets grow in clusters about the leaf stem. October is rich in floral beauty."
