

Further proof that Texas is represented in Washington by able and foresighted statesmen...

But what impressed the News Review editor was the theme of defense and preparedness that ran through each talk...

"God grant that we shall never have to fight," Connally said; "but God grant that if and when we do have to fight, we may be able to keep enemies off American soil..."

The army took over "Vignettes" in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram last Sunday, when Otto Bordenkircher patriotically donated his space to National Defense by reprinting a letter from a soldier in camp...

Telephone rang late the other night, and a feminine voice inquired of the whereabouts of the carnival company that played Hico's Reunion...

"No soap. Where did you say?" she patiently inquired again. "D like in devil, E like in Earth, V like in Victory..."

HICOQUETRY: Next time you see a salesman for memory courses, send him to Avinelle Ogle—she's a prospect, according to Bernard Perce Bolton...

Old friendships are lasting, as proved by the pleasant call upon the editor's family paid through the meanderings of the carnival, as we knew them, by exhausting our vocabulary...

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ Q I would like to provide a regular income for myself when I retire. Can this be done by buying Defense Savings Bonds?

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ Q Yes. If you purchase a Bond for $37.50 each month, each Bond will mature in exactly 10 years. Thus at the end of 10 years you will have $50 payable each month as each of your Bonds reaches maturity.

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ Q But I will need more than $50 a month. A Then you should invest a larger amount each month. Every $75 you put in Defense Bonds will pay you $100 ten years from now...

NOTE:—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps go to the nearest post office, bank or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C., for mail-order form.

Texas Farmers Urged to Plant Cover Crops For Defense

College Station, Sept. 2.—Texas farmers are being urged in the name of national defense to plant more winter cover crops as a means of increasing production of needed foods for America and the embattled democracies.

Meeting in College Station on the request of Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, Texas USDA Defense Board studied a threatened shortage of winter legume seed and recommended increased plantings of both winter legumes and non-leguminous cover crops.

"Protection of our soil is more important than ever during the defense emergency," B. F. Vance, chairman of the board, told board members representing all USDA agencies in the state.

Texas farmers this year ordered nearly a million pounds of winter legume seed through the AAA's conservation materials program. Vance told the board, and already have received 60 per cent of their orders.

Hico P.T. A Secures Only Lunch Room In Hamilton Co. Schools

What the gasoline shortage in the eastern United States really means was brought to the attention of Washington, D. C., citizens when this first "out of gas" appeared on a station in the nation's capital...

Long Way to Go On U. S. O. Quota; Today Ends Drive

If Hico is to make its quota set at $182 in the campaign for funds for United Service Organizations, a lot of people are going to have to kick in in a hurry.

Miss Hester Jordan, who is accepting donations at the office of the Texas Southwest Gas Company, said that unless Mr. Marcum was having extraordinarily good luck, it looked like the Hico end of the fund was going to come up short.

L. Brann, county chairman, has named committees in all parts of the county, and has issued a special plea that quotas be not only met, but exceeded.

Every little bit will help. While it is hoped that a great many sizeable contributions may be forthcoming on this, the last day of the campaign, anything that may be offered will be appreciated and will help to meet the quota.

GAMBLE AND JOHNSON FAMILIES HOLD REUNION

Eighty-two descendants of Sam Gamble and William M. Johnson held their annual reunion at the City Park at Hico, Sunday August 24th. Many of the out-of-town visitors arrived Saturday and visited among relatives here and at Stephenville until Sunday morning.

Basket lunches were spread at noon and fully enjoyed by the eighty-two members of the families and two guests.

The afternoon was spent pitching horse shoes, singing, talking, and making pictures.

Charlie Gamble had not seen Hico for thirty-eight years, and the town and surrounding country had changed a lot since he last saw it. I believe, however, that the biggest surprise of his visit was finding that he had so many relatives.

Besides two guests, Miss Lucille Krauseman of Waco and Dave Jones of Hamilton, the following relatives were present:

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnson, Hico.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Bolton and daughters, Jane and Betty Jo, Hico.

DALE CARNEGIE

HAPPINESS IN SIMPLE THINGS

Henry Thoreau of New England was considered a queer man. Why? Because he believed that happiness came from simplifying one's life instead of making it more complex.

He loved long walks, with a notebook in one pocket and a one-lunged spyglass in another. Sometimes he steadied the spyglass against a tree and gazed for half an hour spell-bound at some display of nature.

He built a log cabin in the wildwood. Cost: $23. He found his food in his garden, forest and fields, spending for food only 25 cents a week!

One day he went to the village to have his shoes repaired. The marshal came up, and to Thoreau's astonishment, told him he was under arrest.

Thoreau was arrested and clapped into jail—this friend of the wild creatures of the woods. Outraged by this act, he pondered the question of how much authority a government, or a nation, should have over its people.

Thoreau found happiness in his little 10 by 15 room, and so have millions of people in the books he wrote during this time. He claimed that the very secret of happiness lies in simple things.

Think this over for yourself. Practice his theories as best you can in modern living. I'd like to know your conclusions.

TO THE LADIES . . .

Dr. Louis Bisch gives in "Your Life" magazine six rules for inducing a marriage proposal. But first, he gives one warning:

"The girl who relies entirely on sex appeal is riding for a fall. She is grand fun for an occasional date, but men are practical creatures with a living to earn, and get cold feet at the thought of a permanent tie-up with Flaming Youth.

"Now let us suppose that you have failed to make your own propose. What can you do then?

(1) You can quit. That is, you can take your courage in your hands and, no matter how much it hurts, you can refuse to see him and let him guess why.

"But let me warn you! Once you have taken that step, never falter. You must stick to your resolve. It's the hard way of making him say 'yes'; and not every girl can 'get away with it.'

(2) You can go with other men. But if you do, tell your friend about it and why. If you have been going 'steady' for a year, you should not be hesitant about being frank. Remember that nowadays women are supposed to be emancipated. At any rate, most men consider them so and will not stand aghast when a girl speaks her mind fearlessly.

(3) Bring up the question of marriage for discussion. Say exactly what you think and feel. Have no fear about being misjudged. If the man is puzzled by your attitude, or possibly shocked, he will put it down to the general mystery regarding your sex. At any rate, you will probably get a reason out of him for not proposing to you. Then you may be able to adjust what's wrong.

(4) Look for neurotic traits in yourself. Maybe you are suffering from an inferiority complex, or some emotional fixation, or fear of defeat, or self-consciousness. Overcome that handicap. Conquering the neurotic trait will change your whole personality.

(5) Make yourself a different personality. This can be done through clothes, deportment, change of hairdress, increase of charm. Often just a little 'extra something' does the trick. Showing your ears instead of covering them may make of you a different woman.

(6) If you have the nerve, propose yourself. It has been done and successfully. In another quarter century, it will be the vogue."

If you would gather roses next June you should start your bed now in August. The August beginnings are not arduous but they are essential.

August is the best month for Hybrid Tea roses and no rose garden is complete without these as well as Hardy Perpetuals. Many of the old hybrid tea varieties have been improved so that they are very hardy even in northern climates.

The ideal hybrid tea rose is one whose foliage is fine in August with buds opening into perfect bloom. So the varieties boasting this condition are the best choice an amateur can make when looking around for roses that will do well for him.

We'll soon be shopping for fall clothes and advance news tells us that neck and shoulder lines are of supreme importance this winter.

Hip lines are sleek and well fitted with a tendency toward a straight silhouette. Be very particular about your neck line. A good neck is one of the loveliest features a woman can have and it should be made the most of.

Remember the rule of serving one hot dish or drink at every meal, no matter how hot the day. A main course of cold cuts and vegetable salad might be preceded by a hot clear soup. With a chilled first course add a hot main dish such as a creamed vegetable or a combination meat and vegetable dish.

Melt chocolate coated peppermint wafers over hot water to make a quick and easy sauce for ice cream.

F. S. A. Supervisor Gives Notes on How to Build Frame Garden

Do you have an adequate supply of canned and stored foods for your family for a year? This year is passing swiftly and if you cannot answer yes to this important question it is time to consider how you can supplement your canning and storage budget.

A frame garden is the best means of supplementing a regular garden. It offers the best insurance for a constant supply of green leafy vegetables which are so vital to the health of each individual. Frame gardens can be used when bad weather or pests upset our regular garden plans.

LOCATION: Choose a spot near a water supply. It is better to have the garden in the open because when it is located close to a building the swirl of the wind around the corners will tear the cover or blow it off.

PREPARING THE BED: The bed should be four or five feet wide and of any desired length, running east and west. If soil is rich it will only be necessary to spade it ten to twelve inches deep, mixing it with well rotted barnyard manure.

THE SUB-IRRIGATION SYSTEM: The success or failure of your frame garden depends on keeping it well watered. The sub-irrigation system is best. Most frame gardens are sub-irrigated by using quart oil cans or beer cans with the tops and bottoms cut out.

Remember the rule of serving one hot dish or drink at every meal, no matter how hot the day. A main course of cold cuts and vegetable salad might be preceded by a hot clear soup. With a chilled first course add a hot main dish such as a creamed vegetable or a combination meat and vegetable dish.

ered or plant the next crop in the middle so it will be coming up as the other vegetables are used.

These vegetables are recommended for planting in your frame gardens: beets, onions, yellow turnips, carrots, radishes, parsley, spinach, mustard, lettuce, and swiss chard.

A frame garden will furnish the green leafy vegetables that are essential to the health of your family. Try to get yours built September.

Married In Pretty Garden Ceremony

Mary Helen Hall Married to Junius Morrill Sunday

Miss Mary Helen Hall and Junius Hughes Morrill were married in a garden ceremony at 6:30 p. m. Sunday, August 31, with the Rev. W. P. Cunningham of Lorena officiating.

Miss Hall was given in marriage by her father, Dr. C. M. Hall. Mr. Morrill is the son of Mrs. E. P. Morrill of Mobile, Ala. The bride wore a gown of white marquisette, designed with a fitted bodice and a full skirt which formed a train. The deep yoke, short sleeves, and hem were banded with rows of Chantilly lace. She wore matching marquisette mitts and pearls. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a halo of lilies of the valley. She carried a white prayer-book, upon which lay a white orchid and a spray of stephanotis.

The bride's attendants were her sister, Mrs. H. V. Hedges, matron of honor; Mrs. John Files, Austin, maid of honor; Miss Martha Bess Cayton, Groesbeck, and Mrs. Grover Jackson, Stephenville, bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of white marquisette with fitted bodices, full skirts, and deep yokes outlined with lace. They carried Colonial bouquets of white asters and pink gladioli, and they wore single-strand pearls which were gifts of the bride.

The groom's attendants were her brother as best man. Other groomsmen were George Morrill of Beeville, Cullen Thomas and Julian La Roche of Dallas. The rites were read before a Grecian setting, with a background of evergreens. Baskets of white summer flowers and pink gladioli decorated the altar. Mrs. J. B. Ogle gave the wedding music. What Japan Has—and Would Like

This map of the troubled Far East shows the location of many cities and localities such in the news of the day. Successful in her first demands for bases in Indo-China, Japan has made the usual followup of the totalitarian formula—a demand for still more bases. It is reported that these demands have also met with success, giving Japan eight more bases, notably Saigon and the Bay of Camranh (arrows). These new bases might be used as a springboard for the launching of the long-expected Japanese attack on Singapore and the Dutch East Indies.

Regular Sleeping Accommodations for Eight Persons

FOR the vacation cottage, the fishing or hunting shack, or just for everyday use under varying conditions, this little cottage will prove adequate and capable. Although quite simple of construction, and therefore, easy to build, this cottage ought not to suffer in quality of material or workmanship. Some people may have the idea that just because a structure is to serve only during part of the year, and then in a sort of rough and tumble manner, that it can rightly be thrown together without careful attention. Such is not true. When a house stands idle for much of its life deterioration is hastened and increased thereby. If, for example, a small leak occurred in the roof while the house was occupied, the leak would be given attention. On the other hand, supposing a leak showed up in the fall after the cottage had been closed for the season. Considerable damage could easily result before the next visit of the owner, probably in the spring. It pays to use good materials and to insist upon good workmanship for the vacation house. For permanent protection a copper roof is recommended. A new type of roof made from this age old metal is very economical. If, however, any other type roofing is specified copper should be used for flashing the chimney and for gutters and downspouts. Termites cause a loss to property owners of more than $50,000,000 annually, according to government statistics, and for that reason this cottage should be protected against these insects with copper shields. Either 35-15 (red brass) pipe or copper tube is recommended for water lines because neither will rust and will effectively withstand corrosion. Plans and specifications for this cottage are available for one dollar.

MODERN GREASE PUMP
 Jack Gray, operator of Jack's Good Gulf Service, calls attention to his display advertisement in this week's issue of the News Review announcing his new grease pump.

"Grease pumps are much more efficient than the hand-operated grease gun," Jack said this week, "and the pump we now have is the most modern of all."

The Alemtic Master Air Operated High Pressure Pump with Dun-A-Matic Primer does a thorough lubricating job, according to Mr. Gray, and he claims it is the best in this territory.

"No rise in price," Jack added, referring to the fifty-cent price he set soon after opening business here, "because we want to do a better job for the same amount of money. We believe that the increase in number of grease jobs will justify our holding down our present low price."

McEvers Return From Business Trip Through Wisconsin

Mr. and Mrs. Webb McEver returned to their home in Hico last Friday from a trip during which business had been combined with a visit with Mrs. McEver's relatives at Wausau, Wisconsin, and at Chicago, Ill. Mr. McEver has again taken over the management of the McEver & Sanders Hatchery, which has been in charge of R. C. Marshall during the summer months.

Mr. McEver's main work for the summer was concentrated around Wausau, Green Bay, and Appleton, Wisconsin. At the latter place he did considerable culling work sponsored through the Badger State Chick Hatchery. Through the Eamesway System, in which he has had considerable experience, he continued the work he started last summer in and around Appleton, where results were so successful that the big hatchery recalled him this year to further develop its breeding flocks. He held a demonstration at the Badger State Hatchery on July 11. Mr. McEver is one of around 100 Eamesway technicians in the United States, and took a course in this system of culling at East St. Louis, Ill. before coming to Hico.

Mr. and Mrs. McEver spent part of one day on their return trip from Chicago at Gray Summit, Mo. going through the Purina experimental farm.

Mr. and Mrs. McEver state that they had a very pleasant and profitable summer's work, but that they are glad to be back among their friends at Hico, where they have lived since buying the hatchery from Mrs. G. C. Keeney last year.

An Announcement . . .

Contrary to idle gossip being circulated in our trade territory in the past few days, we did not conclude our recent trip because of new competition.

We spent a great deal of time on the trip furthering our education and learning the latest developments in our line of business.

We took what time was necessary to thoroughly learn the experiments and results that were being carried on, in order that we might better serve you. Upon returning, we find that false stories were circulated that said we were not coming back. Contrary to such idle talk, our return was made when we finished our business.

As always in the past, your business is appreciated and we are looking forward to helping you with your poultry problems.
