HOW WE CAN TALK BACK

German and Japanese threats to maltreat war prisoners unless we do this or that should be taken with a large grain of salt, even by the mothers and fathers of boys in the service who feel cold shivers run up their backs when they hear such stories.

During the first period of the war Hitler had the strength, when he threatened reprisals for bombings of the German cities, to make us realize that his threats might be carried out. Now, it is apparent that his threats of all kinds grow out of fear. He knows that if he harms prisoners, or violates international rules of humanity in other ways, the Allies can punish him a thousand fold by increased bombings of Germany.

As for the Japs, they have made so much of one small raid on Tokyo because they realize that Tokyo would be one of the easiest cities in the world to destroy by bombing. If we answer their threat to harm war prisoners by promising to give Tokyo a real taste of bombing if those threats are carried out, even Hirohito would agree that it would be foolish for Japan to perform any such foolhardy act.

WHAT'S BEHIND THE RATIONING?

There is one thing about this gas-tire rationing lots of folks would like to know about: Does the government want us to conserve our tires so they can be confiscated for war workers later on, or are the ration directors merely trying to force us to conserve tires so the life of our cars will be prolonged for our own personal use?

If the purpose is only to save our tires for our own use, rationing could well be based on our present tire mileage. If a new tire is good for 30,000 miles, at an A card rate of 2,000 miles a year, that tire would last for 15 years. That is considerably longer than even the most pessimistic prophets of war consider necessary.

Christian Nurture in the Family. Lesson for November 8: Deuteronomy 6:4-9; 20:25; II Timothy 3:14, 15. Golden Text: Proverbs 22:6. TODAY and TOMORROW By DON ROBINSON

MARINES . . . spinach

Ever since I was a boy I have thought of the U. S. marines as being something super-duper among fighting men. I don't recall any special stories which first gave me that impression—but I believe that most of my generation thought of a marine in somewhat the same way that the coming generation thinks of Superman—and that it would take plenty of spinach eating to ever become like

Expressions like "Call out the marines" and "Tell it to the marines" were commonly used—and although we didn't know just where those expressions came from or just what they stood for, they helped build up the feeling that nothing very disastrous could happen to this country as long as the marines were taking care of things.

Later, when I read about the various exploits of the marines and the heroic and important part they have played in so many of our wars, I was impressed by the fact that their history actually is a fact-part story.

JAPS . . . guts

Probably the expression which has done the most to convince us that the marines of today are performing in the same heroic manner as their predecessors is the now famous reply of the commanding officer on Wake Island, who, when asked what he needed most, cabled back, "Send us more Japs."

In this war the marines have certainly had the toughest end of the fighting so far. But from the Philippines, from Wake, from the Solomon Islands and from other Pacific outposts have come one heroic tale after another telling how, with tropical diseases, a splinter and smart fighting, the marines have beaten enemy forces which were vastly superior in number, in equipment and in everything else but guts.

So the old saying, "The marines have landed and have the situation well in hand," seems to apply in this war as much as ever before, and the people of this country already feel that things can't go too badly for us as long as there is a handful of marines waiting for action at each of the dangerous crossroads of the world.

SPIRIT . . . tradition

Actually, I don't suppose a marine is any braver or any smarter or any stronger than the men serving in the army or navy. All, so far, are equal in spirit and in the way they are "rough" and tough in their own way, in any fighting which they have encountered.

But there is a spirit which seems to stand out among the marines—a spirit which has become a tradition and which is inculcated into every new recruit, which makes him look forward to opportunities to tackle the impossible.

As a consequence, some people get the impression that marines are a hard-bitten, weatherbeaten, rascally bunch of veterans and the term "Leathernecks," which is applied to them, emphasizes that impression. But actually the term "Leatherneck" came from a leather collar which used to be part of the marine uniform, and the impression that they are "rough" characters is not substantiated by the facts, except when they are in contact with the enemy.

BIRTHDAY . . . 167th

On November 10 the marines are celebrating the 167th anniversary of their founding—the creation of the first corps of marines by a resolution of the Continental Congress passed in 1775.

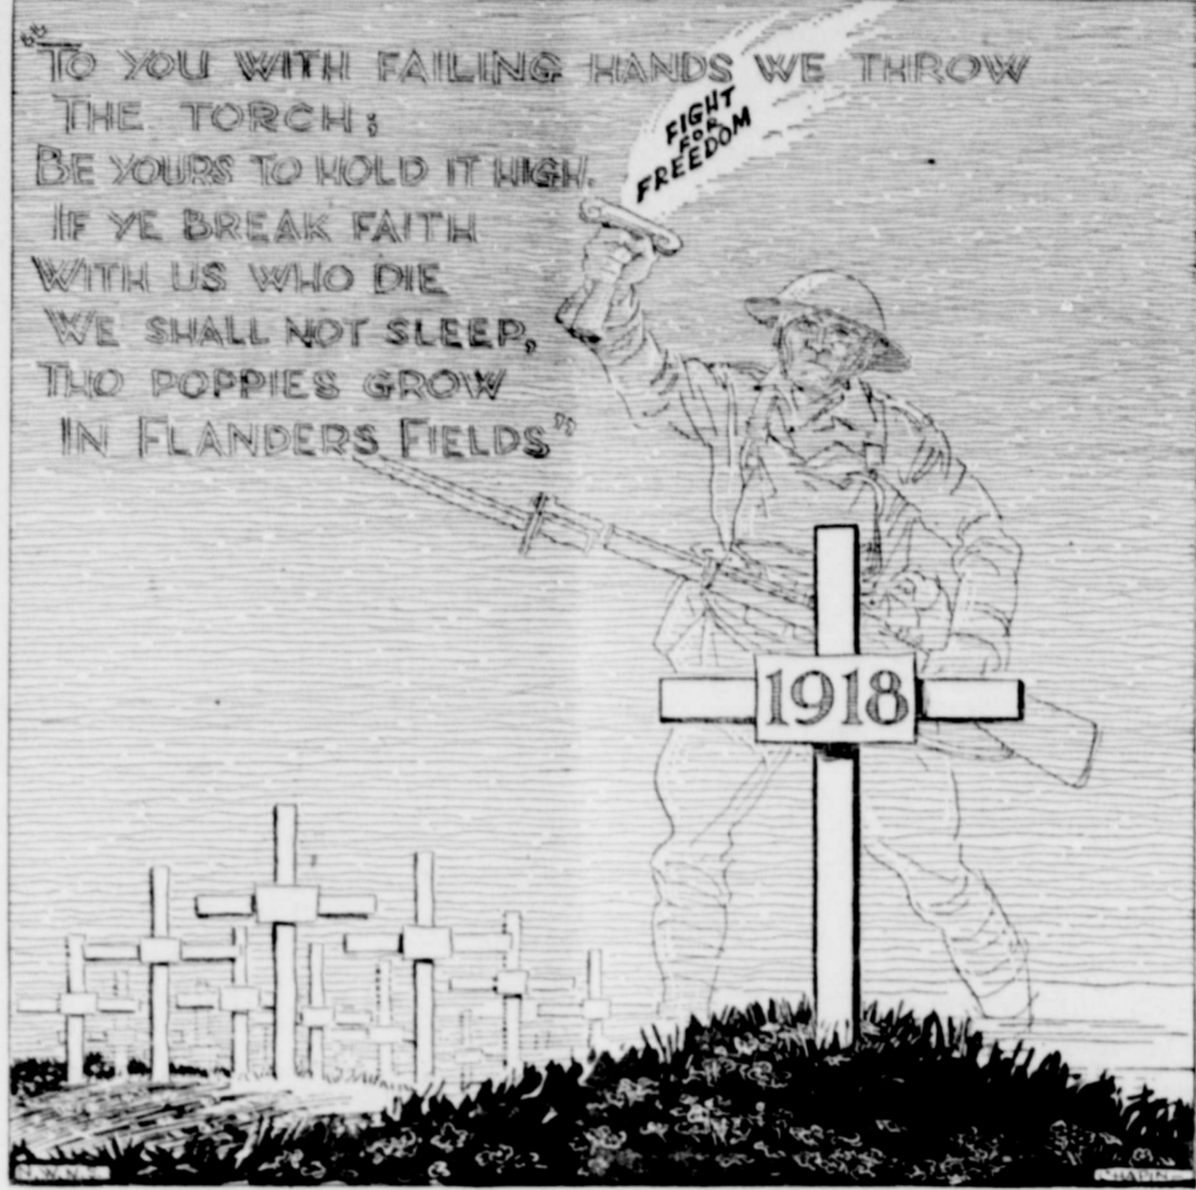

On that day marines all over the world will pause in their duties to listen while the commanding officers read the birthday proclamation of the United States marine corps—which has been read every year since 1921—and which includes these paragraphs:

"In every battle and skirmish since the birth of our corps, marines have acquitted themselves with the greatest distinction, winning new honors on each occasion until the term 'marine' has come to signify all that is highest in military efficiency and soldierly virtue.

"This high name of distinction and soldierly repute we who are marines today have received from those who preceded us in the corps. With it we also received from them the eternal spirit which has animated our corps from generation to generation and has been the distinguishing mark of the marines in every age.

"So long as that spirit continues to flourish marines will be found equal to every emergency in the past as they have been in the future.

FASHION for today by PATRICIA DOW

Dropped Waist Pattern No. 8071—The frock of the future is an apt title for this clever junior model with its long, button-closing dark fitted top which brings the waistline down to a new low! There is figure flattering in the way this contrasting top section emphasizes the slim torso—and the younger girls know it! They also appreciate the youthful effect of this full gathered skirt and the tailored turn-down collar with the matching cuffs. Make this frock in plain and patterned wools—later in plain and checked gingham or chambray.

DALE CARNEGIE Author of 'How to Win Friends and Influence People'

LEARN TO TALK ON YOUR FEET Some years ago a girl was born on a farm near my old home in Missouri. Her father plowed and shucked corn and pitched hay; the girl led the life any girl on a farm does. Her name was Nellie Tayloe.

She fell in love with a young man named Bradford Ross, and her name became Nellie Tayloe Ross. Now you may recognize it. They moved to Wyoming; he was interested in politics and it was not long until he announced himself for governor. There was a whirlwind campaign and, when the votes were counted, he was the new governor of Wyoming. The ex-farm girl was delighted. A governor's wife!

And then things were not so well. The young governor became ill, died. His wife succeeded him as governor. She was qualified to do this, for she had talked over all his affairs with him and had helped him with his decisions. She became an outstanding success.

As the period came toward an end, her friends urged her to run for governor. She was intensely interested in managing the state, but there was a barrier between her and election. She would have to make speeches. She would have to meet the people; they would have to know her.

She had never made a speech in her life and she was terrified. What should she do about it? Well, she decided she would make the speech. She had the very first necessary qualification: she had something to say. She didn't know how she was going to say it; but she was going to say it.

Your BRAIN BUDGET. 1—Through the farmers of America, the nation's egg-drying industry is supplying the United Nations with how many million pounds a year: (1) 400, (2) 143, (3) 254, or (4) 425? 2—The title of a non-commissioned army officer who commands a squad is: (1) sergeant, (2) first class private, (3) corporal, (4) master sergeant? 3—If a PT is a navy patrol torpedo boat, what is a PC boat? 4—Just recently the War Manpower commission announced that by the end of '43 at least 1, 2, 500,000, (2) 4,000,000, (3) 5,000,000, (4) 1,250,000 women would have to go to work in some form of war industry. 5—What is the name of the gentleman who has been placed in charge of the Office of Economic Stabilization, the department that has control over wages and salaries, farm prices, rents and profits: (1) William Standley, (2) Scott Lucas, (3) James F. GROWING TALL GRACEFULLY

Growing tall, though nowadays a much more common experience for girls than in their mothers' youth, is still a process which requires not only careful health checkups but a great deal of tactful persuasion in regard to posture if the added height is to make for the fine appearance it should.

"Helen's two older brothers really deserve most of the credit," she told me. "When she began to shoot up at 13 it was they who persuaded her to make the most of her tallness." I liked that phrase—"make the most of her tallness," so I asked for more particulars.

YOUR CHILDREN'S FUTURE

Can you imagine your children sitting through the Fourth of July oratory we listened to in childhood with its grandiose pictures of past triumphs and rarely a constructive idea in a whole hour of shouting? Indeed, one of the hopeful signs for the future our children will help make is that already we have stopped dwelling on our truly glorious past and are thinking sober, humble, yet grand thoughts about American leadership in the years ahead.

According to the sizes of their incomes? From all over the world the members of those classes will fly, most of them overnight, for their triumphs. And it won't be stories of financial deals or political pull they'll swap—but tales of service in areas devastated by war, in jungles past generations considered impenetrable, in Arctic wastes made habitable. They'll be heroic tales, but they'll tell them as mat-ter-of-factly as we relate our local successes when we meet friends from other parts of the country.

By LITTLE HULL 'General Winter' Returns

The most thrilling weather report of our lifetime was rushed to every corner of the earth last week. It read: "IT'S SNOWING ON THE VOLGA." Even to Americans, who haven't heard a bomb drop or a cannon roar or a single agonized cry of a child who has suddenly had a limb torn off by a piece of shrapnel, this news came as the answer to our prayers—as the event for which we had been waiting for what seemed to be an eternity.

Those soldiers have heard about comrades who were frozen to death in Russia last year. They have talked with others who managed to survive last winter's campaign and came back with tales of horror which put fear into the hearts of even the most fearless Nazis. They have heard about frozen supply lines, hunger, months of endless cold and constant attack on German camps by the well-fed, well-clothed winter fighters of Russia. And they have heard about planes which wouldn't fly, guns which wouldn't shoot and tanks which wouldn't move as even the machines of war rebelled against the terrific cold.

Dealers May Now Increase Stocks of Passenger Car Tires

Under the new regulations which are part of the Government's rubber conservation program dealers may now increase their stocks of passenger car tires so as to be ready to make consumer sales when the new mileage rationing program becomes effective Nov. 22. Jess Brown, chairman of the Hamilton County War Price and Rationing Board announced this week. Dealers may acquire stocks of new tires made of reclaimed rubber as well as recycled and used tires for sale to motorists who receive rationing certificates from the local board. "Rationing of these tires is a part of the Government's plan to keep the nation's passenger cars rolling for essential mileage," Mr. Brown said. Forms on which dealers may apply for their allotments are now available at the local office in the county court house.

A WARTIME APPEAL TO CIVILIANS

CONSERVE

Your Doctor's Time and Energy...

As more and more doctors join the armed forces, the problem of serving civilian needs becomes critical. Only through voluntary rationing of medical care will everyone be served satisfactorily. Follow these suggestions:

- Go to your doctor's office if you can. Avoid home calls whenever possible.
- Phone for house calls early in the morning if possible so your doctor can plan calls efficiently.
- Help your doctor protect his health. He must have his regular sleep and meals.
- Be patient. Your doctor is very busy.
- Don't neglect early signs of sickness and try to "wait out" obvious symptoms.
- Use the phone in minor cases. Let your doctor decide if a call is necessary.

Try "An Ounce of Prevention" to Guard Your Health

Remember the adage, "An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth a Pound of Cure." Fortify your body against winter's ills and you fortify your nation against its enemies. We must keep well, keep working, keep fighting for Victory. Get plenty of rest. Drink lots of water and fruit juices. Avoid crowds. Fortify your system with essential vitamins. It's your patriotic duty to keep healthy!

Another Bond Rally and Rodeo At Lanham Nov. 11

Gardon Streeter, in charge of arrangements for the Lanham Roping Club, requests announcement of another Bond Rally and Rodeo to be held at Lanham on the night of November 11th. A similar event held recently resulted in sale of a large amount of U. S. War Bonds and Stamps, and in addition provided amusement for the large crowd present.

Streeter has announced entrance fees of $1.00 in events for Saddle Bronc, Bareback Bronc, Bull Riding, Calf Roping, Flag Race, and Breakaway. All prize money is to be paid in War Stamps. Admission is a 50c War Stamp for adults, plus 10c; 25c stamp plus 5c for children; and 50c stamp only—"you keep the stamp"—for soldiers.

This is said to be a non-profit show put on for the purpose of selling bonds and stamps.

Death Last Sunday Brought Release to Lad From Suffering

Young Barton Everett, pride and joy of his parents, loved by his relatives, and a friend of everyone permitted to make his acquaintance during the fourteen short years he had spent on earth, entered into rest last Sunday afternoon at 1:30. He became ill in March of last year and since that time had gone through much suffering. Since June first he had spent eight weeks in Gaston Hospital in Dallas and in the Stephenville Hospital. He put up a game fight throughout his affliction, and nothing was spared that loving hands could do to ease his suffering and prolong his existence among those who loved and were loved by him. Only his intense joy of living and his determination to hold his grasp on people and things about him kept his spirit and body alive during the latter stages of his illness, and when the end came it was a peaceful release from suffering of a bright mind, active body and staunch heart.

Barton was a Sophomore in Hico High School, and members of his class, teachers and many outsiders sent him gifts and visited him frequently. Recently he was the recipient of a box of gifts that gave him a lot of pleasure in opening. His schoolmates have been faithful in visiting him and have kept flowers in his room constantly. Though never braced entirely for an ordeal like they have gone through, his parents have the consolation of knowing that they have done everything possible for their son before and during his illness, and are consoled by sympathetic friends and neighbors who are a priceless possession in bearing their load.

Funeral services were held at the Hico Methodist Church at 2:00 o'clock Monday afternoon, conducted by the pastor of the church of which he was a member, Rev. Floyd W. Thrash; assisted by a former pastor, Rev. J. C. Mann of Granger; and also Rev. Ralph E. Perkins, pastor of the Hico Baptist Church. Interment was in Hico Cemetery, with R. B. Jackson, D. R. Proffitt, J. C. Prater, L. J. Chaney, Geo. Griffiths, and A. H. Burden serving as pallbearers. High school girls were flower girls, and the boys were honorary pallbearers. Thomas Ray Coston of Clifton, a former playmate, also served as an honorary pallbearer, having come up with his mother for the funeral.

Sim Barton Everett was born in Amarillo, Texas, August 22, 1925, and moved with his parents to Hico soon afterward. He was converted and joined the Methodist Church in 1939, and was a member of B. B. Gamble's Sunday school class of High School boys. He was also a member of the school band. He took an active interest in activities of young folks, and scarcely knew a stranger among those with whom he had been associated. He leaves to mourn his departure his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Sim W. Everett; grandmother, Mrs. Hattie Chenault, of Hico; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Everett of Las Cruces, N. M.; several aunts and uncles and other relatives, and a host of friends.

Among out-of-town relatives here to attend the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Everett, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Stiles and son, Charles, and Mrs. Lester Lackey, Las Cruces, New Mex.; Mr. and Mrs. C. Y. Smith and Mrs. Kenneth Rutledge, Denton; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Everett, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Everett, Jr., and Miss Bohys Everett, Stephenville; Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Chenault and son, John Otis, Waco; Ben Chenault, Hamilton; Mrs. Joe Lary, Granbury; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Sowell, Carlton; Mrs. J. H. Montgomery and daughter, Janell, Dallas; and a host of friends from Stephenville, Carlton, and Hamilton.

Cautions Urged In Handling Firearms In Hunting Season

Austin, Nov. 4.—As the hunting season approaches, the Texas State Health Department urges caution in handling firearms. More than 200 Texans were killed in 1941 as a result of carelessness in handling guns, and at this time when human lives are being snuffed out in the war that is enveloping the entire world, it is more than ever important that we should conserve human lives on the home fronts.

With the inauguration of meat rationing and the reduced supply of this particular food, there is a possibility of more hunters going into the field than has been the custom for many years.

"It is not enough to deplore the waste of human lives caused by the careless handling of firearms," asserts Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. "We should learn from the deaths of these victims the lessons of safety which will prevent this needless and shocking waste."

The State Department of Health suggests the following safety suggestions in handling guns:

While hunting be sure that the loaded gun is in safety until ready to fire. Never shoot without seeing your target clearly. Never crawl through a fence carrying a loaded gun. If hunting with a companion stay close to him. Do not strike the ground or wounded game with the butt of a loaded gun. Never scuffle while holding a loaded gun or point it at a person "for fun."

Baked Fish with Dill Dressing and Hot Tomato Sauce

by Dorothy Greig

FISH is in a class with meat and poultry. Like them it is a protein food that builds bodily tissue. Growing children, especially, need large helpings of protein foods every day in order to grow big and strong and handsome.

Baked fish is a delicious food. For example, did you ever stuff a fish with a savory onion, bread crumb and dill pickle dressing, and bake to a crinkly crustiness? Then at the table over each serving spoon hot tomato sauce? It's a treat!

Dill Dressing for Fish:

3 cups soft bread crumbs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons onion, minced
1/2 cup melted butter
4 tablespoons dill pickles, chopped
2 tablespoons parsley, chopped

Mix the bread crumbs with seasoning and onion; add butter slowly, and toss dressing with a fork to mix. Then add the chopped dill pickles and parsley.

How to Bake Fish:

3 to 5 pound fish
Salt and pepper

Rub inside of fish with salt and sprinkle with pepper. Fill with Dill Dressing and sew edges of fish together. Place in a well-greased baking pan on an greased heavy paper in a shallow pan. Sprinkle salt on the outside of the fish and baste with butter. If the fish is lean, lay strips of bacon over the fish or baste every 10 minutes while in the oven. Bake in a moderately hot (375-400° F.) oven allowing 10 to 12 minutes per pound.

If the oven is opened to baste fish more time should be allowed for baking.

Hot Tomato Sauce:

1 can condensed tomato soup
Heat the condensed tomato soup just as it comes from the can and serve 2 to 4 tablespoons of sauce over each portion of fish. Serves 8 to 7.

B. & P. W. Club Met Tuesday In Monthly Session

The Business and Professional Women's Club met in regular monthly session Tuesday evening at the Russell Hotel, with Mrs. C. S. McNeely, Mrs. G. M. Barrow, and Miss Fannie Wood as hostesses. Twenty-three members were present.

Thanksgiving suggestions were carried out in the dining room and table decorations.

Mrs. Robert Jackson, newly elected president, presided at the business session. Reports from officers and committees revealed the fact that the club's affairs were in a very healthy condition. It was voted that the civic committee give the water fountain at the end of Main Street a new coat of paint.

Mrs. J. Earle Harrison came in as a new member, and Mrs. Adams was a club guest.

Mrs. Woodward had charge of a most interesting and instructive program. — REPORTER.

Trade Establishments Warned by OPA On Ceiling Price Reports

Jess Brown, chairman of the Hamilton County War Price and Rationing Board, warned service trade establishments such as laundries, dry cleaners, garages, shoe repair shops and photographers this week that the Office of Price Administration has called for a report on the names of all such tradesmen who have not filed their statements of prices on services.

"These reports on the ceiling prices for services were supposed to have been filed with our board by last September 10," Mr. Brown pointed out. "The OPA in Washington is now requiring us to report the list of those who have filed their ceiling price reports and to compile a list of all trade service establishments in this county which do not yet have reports on file with our board."

Each service trade establishment also is required to keep this list of service prices available for inspection by the public during regular business hours.

Failure to comply with these requirements may be considered a violation of the Maximum Price Regulation No. 165 which governs the prices of services, and the OPA has the power to invoke severe penalties against willful violators of this regulation, Mr. Brown said.

Red Cross Sewing Provides Opportunity For War Workers

We have a number of pajamas to be made at the Red Cross room down where the sewing room used to be—also other sewing to do. Garments may be taken home, or the machines in the work room may be used.

There is not much we can do here in Hico in the way of war work, but we can do Red Cross sewing. The committee feels that there are many women here who will help in this work.

Come and work on Wednesdays and Saturdays from 2 until 5 p. m.
