Midland Wildcat To Install Pump, Try To Complete

By JAMES C. WATSON
Oil Editor

Humble Oil & Refining Company is to install a pump at No. 1 Turner, wildcat about 12 miles southeast of Midland, in East Midland County, and will attempt to complete that project as a producer and a discovery from the lower Permian.

Located 650 feet from west and 1,980 feet from north lines of section 43, block 27, W. T. Holcombe survey, T-2-S, this wildcat had tested for between two and three barrels of new oil per hour swabbing from section at 8,500-65 feet, which had been treated with 2,000 gallons and 4,000 gallons of acid.

It is two miles south of the first oil producer drilled in Midland County—Humble No. 1 Buchanan, which completed as a flowing well from the Strawn-Pennsylvanian at 10,370-90 feet. The initial production was 270 barrels of oil and 32 barrels of water per day when finished in October, 1945. Current allowable of No. 1 Buchanan is 85 barrels of oil per day.

Also Drilling Company and Skelly Oil Company No. 1-A Lockhart & Brown, Central-West Andrews County wildcat, about 12 miles west of the town of Andrews, and 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 21, block 45, TP survey, T-2-N, in South Andrews County, and a step-out from Ellenburger production in the Andover field, was on a total depth of 8,887 feet in the top of the Ellenburger, and was to take a drillstem test.

Humble No. 1 Blair, in Southwest Kent County, two miles southwest of the initial producer from the Ellenburger in the Polar field, and 650 feet from west and 1,980 feet from south lines of section 44, block 5, H&G survey, was bottomed at 7,925 feet in Ellenburger line, and was to take a gamma ray survey.

A drillstem test was taken at 7,880-7,925 feet, for one hour. Recovery was 6,770 feet of sulphur water, with no shows of oil or gas. The zone tested was lower Ellenburger. Operator is expected to plug back and investigate a zone in the Mississippi, which had some slight indications of oil and gas.

Humble No. 1 Davis, Northwest Scurry County wildcat, six and one-half miles northwest of Snyder, and in southwest corner of section 339, block 97, H&C survey, was drilling ahead below 7,963 feet in an unidentified lime.

A core at 7,944-60 feet, recovered six feet of lime with a slight show of gas and oil. A drillstem test was taken for one hour at 7,930-60 feet. Recovery was 60 feet of drilling fluid, with no shows of any form of petroleum.

Stanford Oil & Gas Company No. 14-A Seely-Smith, Northeast Ward County wildcat, in section 3, block A, G&M&B&A survey, had reached 8,888 feet in lime and shale, and was drilling ahead.

Operator has filed a supplemental application with the Railroad Commission to continue drilling this

Man Shoots Former In-Law For Advances On Youthful Wife

HOUSTON—(AP)—Vernon L. Kay, 27, was shot to death early Wednesday and Ervin Paul Deaton, 21, was charged with murder after Deaton's 17-year-old wife, mother of his two-month-old daughter, told him that Kay had attacked her Tuesday night.

Kay had formerly been married to Deaton's sister. In a written statement to Police Detectives Hugh Graham and J. O. Graddy, Deaton told how his young wife came home at 1:30 a.m. and sobbed out to him her story. Deaton's statement said that at about 9:30 Tuesday night Kay drove up to the taxi stand where Deaton, a taxicab driver, and his wife were talking. Kay offered to drive the girl into town where she could catch a city bus, and she agreed. Deaton related.

At about 1:30 a.m. Deaton said his hysterical wife returned to their home and told him that Kay had driven her to a country road where the outskirts of town and forced her to submit to his advances.

The shooting occurred about 6:45 a.m. at a suburban street intersection. Kay was driving his car, and had stopped for a traffic light. In his statement Deaton said he went into a sandwich shop and asked that police and an ambulance be called. Kay was dead, with four bullet wounds, when his body arrived at a hospital.

Deaton said that his sister was divorced from Kay early last year and that Kay had remarried.

Pecos Murder Trial Underway; Witnesses Continue To Testify

PECOS—(AP)—Testimony was to continue here Wednesday in the trial of W. T. Tarver, charged with murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of Tom Roberts, 28, Wickett truck driver, last October. Selection of the jury was completed late Tuesday afternoon.

Jack Strickler, manager of the Wickett refinery, and Sheriff F. I. Dyer of Ward County were the first witnesses Tuesday. Strickler testified that Tarver came to his home and reported that he killed a man, and asserted that he accompanied the defendant to the latter's trailer home.

Record High Price Is Paid For Young Hereford Calf

DENVER—(AP)—Blue ribbon steers headed for the fate of ordinary critters—steaks and roasts on the dinner table—as they went on the auction block at the National Western Stock Show Wednesday.

Angus breeding cattle went into the scales ring on the heels of Hereford bulls and heifers for which a high of $27,500 was paid Tuesday. In a private transaction, Harry Stekol, Grove, Okla., paid the top price to Dan Thornton, Gunnison, Colo., for TT Royal Plus 9th, eight-month-old son of the grand champion bull of this year's show. Hereford breeders said the price, $15,000, was the highest ever paid for a young calf.

An average of $1,268 was paid for 48 Hereford heifers exceeding last year's average of $67.

SENTENCED TO HANG
MANILA—(AP)—Sadaki Konishi, tuberculous little warrant officer labeled No. 3 Japanese war criminal in the Philippines because of brutalities to more than 3,000 Allied nationals, was convicted Wednesday of five atrocity charges and sentenced to be hanged.

Chosen as the Maid of Cotton, 1947, is Hilma Seay, 21, Memphis, Tenn. Miss Seay is five feet six inches tall weighing 118 pounds. She is to be King Cotton's ambassador in the Spring and Summer tour over the U. S. and France.

Thames Stevedores Join Strikers In Sympathy Boycott

LONDON—(AP)—More than 2,000 Thames Lightermen and thousands of stevedores and dockers quit work Wednesday in sympathy with the 40,000 or more in London's mushrooming 10-day-old transport strike.

The New York stoppages, protesting the use of troops to replace striking truck drivers for delivery of food, came as negotiations hoped for an early settlement of the truck dispute, crux of a "unofficial" strike which some labor partisans feared might upset the Labor Government.

At least 20,000 other union members—protesting use of troops to deliver food supplies to London shops—prepared to join the walkout if the new conferences fail.

Hopes Placed in Council
The public, which already has missed most of one week's meat ration because of the strike, placed its hope for settlement in a new government-sponsored Joint Industrial Council of transport workers and employers empowered to reconsider the strikers' demands.

The Council was established Tuesday by obviously worried labor government officials. One labor member of Parliament, Tom O'Brien, declared at a union meeting Tuesday night that the strike might bring the downfall of labor's first majority government.

Despite the work of the soldiers, greater London's millions had little food in their larders. Food Minister John Strachey said 1,400 tons of food had been distributed in military trucks since Monday. He estimated London's customary weekly ration at 5,500 tons.

Weather
Partly cloudy, colder late Wednesday afternoon and night. Snow in Panhandle with temperatures 24 to 28 degrees Wednesday night. Thursday partly cloudy to cloudy and colder. Snow in South Plains and Panhandle. Maximum temperature Tuesday was 69 degrees, minimum 52 degrees. Minimum Wednesday morning was 47 degrees.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) announced Wednesday that the Senate Labor Committee will open a "consolidated hearing" on all pending labor proposals January 23. The goal is to have some legislation ready about March 1, he said.

Cotton Queen

Chosen as the Maid of Cotton, 1947, is Hilma Seay, 21, Memphis, Tenn. Miss Seay is five feet six inches tall weighing 118 pounds. She is to be King Cotton's ambassador in the Spring and Summer tour over the U. S. and France.

UN Arms Fight Complicated By U. S. Deadline

LAKE SUCCESS, (AP)—The United Nations arms reduction fight was complicated further Wednesday by a United States plan to set February 4 as the deadline for the beginning of Security Council discussions on specific atomic control measures.

As the Council delegates were called into session informed quarters said U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin was ready to propose that the deadline be added to an earlier American resolution which would assure atomic control of top priority in any arms reduction program.

Austin was said to have been motivated by a desire to make sure there was no unnecessary delay in considering the atomic control proposals submitted to the Council December 31 by the Atomic Energy Commission. At the same time, it was said, he wanted to give all delegates plenty of time to consult their governments on the Atomic Commission's recommendations.

Principle Not Involved
Informed quarters said the British felt there was not necessarily any major question of principle involved, and that atomic control should be given top priority, but that the Council might do this without side-tracking the Soviet proposal for immediate creation of a commission to study a general arms reduction. It was pointed out that the Council would have time to act on the Atomic Energy Commission's recommendations, now before it, while the other commission was getting started.

Truman Will Hold First Bi-Partisan Meet With 'Big-Six'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman will hold his first bi-partisan legislative conference with the new Congressional "Big Six" Thursday.

Pampa, with an even freezing reading of 32 degrees, was the state's coldest place Tuesday night. Amarillo had 33. Brownsville's 68 was the highest overnight minimum.

Georgia In Stew Over Fight For Governorship

ATLANTA—(AP)—Rival claimants to the governorship of Georgia established offices in the state capitol Wednesday and each immediately set up his own military department.

The claimants were Ellis Arnall, who has held the office for the past four years, and Herman Talmadge, who was named by the Legislature early Wednesday to the office which his late father, Eugene Talmadge, won in last November's general election. The elder Talmadge died in December.

Arnall refused to heed the action of the Legislature and in a dramatic early morning encounter with Talmadge and in the face of a yelling mob of Talmadge supporters refused to turn the office over to him.

Adjutant General Named
As his first act upon arrival at his office Wednesday, Arnall named Col. R. W. Collins, commander of the state guard, as adjutant general to succeed Marvin Griffin, who Tuesday night was sworn in by Talmadge as his adjutant general. Griffin formerly served under Arnall.

Then Arnall communicated with Secretary of War Patterson by telephone and asked federal recognition of Collins as a brigadier general and the state's adjutant general. Arnall declined to say what Patterson answered, but when he hung up, he turned to newsmen and said "This is the adjutant general," pointing toward Collins.

(The state guard was set up during the war to function in place of the National Guard. Its demobilization has awaited full reorganization of the National Guard.)

Talmadge Called Extremist
Arnall said Griffin had resigned and had accepted office under Talmadge, "this pretender."

When Talmadge, who was in an office Griffin had set up for him just off the main governor's reception room, heard of Arnall's call to the secretary of war, he told his executive secretary, Benton Odom, to "block all communications."

Then Talmadge put in a telephone call for United States Senator Richard B. Russell in Washington.

Shortly after his arrival Talmadge conferred with Griffin. After talking with Griffin, Talmadge called newsmen into his office and said that he hoped to exercise the powers of the governorship "without any violence," but that the National Guard was ready "to function in any emergency."

Governor Asks Consideration Be Given Purchase Of Land For Resale To Texas Vets

AUSTIN—(AP)—Gov. Coke Stevenson Wednesday asked the 50th Legislature to give its "very best consideration" to matters of legislation on purchase of land for resale to veterans, redistricting the state for both legislative and judicial purposes, correction of defects in election laws, and establishment of a negro university.

In his last personal message as governor at the combined session of the Senate and House, the out-going governor charged members to "devote themselves earnestly and faithfully to subjects of legislation and refrain from running errands to, or practicing their professions before, other departments of government."

"The business of running such errands will be eagerly sought after by blocs, lobbies, and special interests, and as night follows the day, so does errand-running lead in some cases to steady practice for compensation before boards and bureaus which are attached to the Executive Department," he declared.

Should Not Pass All Bills
The governor told the legislators which convened in joint session in the House of Representatives to hear his message that it is elemental that no legislature should pass all the bills which are introduced during its session. He called four matters, however, to their special attention.

"The Enabling Act pursuant to the constitutional amendment recently adopted and authorizing the purchase of land for resale to veterans is in point. By virtue of the amendment, you have the authority to issue bonds and to provide for the purchase and sale of lands. The means by which this is accomplished should be given the utmost attention and the powers delegated to the agency of enforcement should be circumscribed with all the limitations necessary to prevent any waste of money and to preclude any foundation for a charge of favoritism in its benefits.

Restricting Required
"Other measures which you will undoubtedly consider are those of redistricting the state for both legislative and judicial purposes. Legislative redistricting is required by Section 28 of Article III of the Constitution. I am still of the opinion that the Legislature should give attention to equalizing the work of the judicial districts in the state. Redistricting in either particular requires tedious attention to detail in order that complete justice may be done.

"Many of you have made suggestions to me with reference to conflicts which exist in our election laws. Legislation which will correct such defects is highly desirable. It should, however, be carefully considered in order that further conflicts will not occur in the statutory provisions regarding elections.

Increase Good Opinion
"The location and establishment of a university or institution of higher learning for the negro youth of this state is an important matter for this Legislature to consider. The Bi-Racial Commission was composed of faithful and efficient members and they worked diligently for several months in assembling information and considering the various aspects involved in the establishment of a project of this magnitude, and I am satisfied you will desire to give this matter patient and thoughtful consideration.

"These illustrations are sufficient to illustrate the point I am trying to make and that is that the members of the Legislature will increase the good opinion which the thoughtful citizens of this state have of the Legislature if they will devote themselves earnestly and faithfully to subjects of legislation and refrain from running errands to, or practicing their professions before, other departments of government."

Abbott-Costello Top Money Earners

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The movie comedy team of Bud Abbott and Lou Costello led a treasury listing of 122 of the nation's big money earners for 1944 and business fiscal years ending in 1945. Together they got $469,170 — or $234,585 each if they shared it equally. Individually, however, Thomas J. Watson of New York, president of International Business Machines Corp., topped the list with earnings of $425,548, of which $100,000 was credited to salary and the rest to "other compensation."

British Accused Of Discrimination In Holy Land

NEW YORK—(AP)—Dr. David Tannerbaum, Director of the Economic Bureau of the Palestine Foundation Fund, says Palestinian businessmen are unable to buy $50,000,000 worth of goods in the United States "because of the discrimination practiced by British against American manufacturers and businessmen."

Dr. Tannerbaum said the would-be purchasers include both Arabs and Jews and that they are in the market for raw materials and machinery.

Businessmen in Palestine, he declared, have $45,000,000 in dollar credits in the United States, but they cannot import except under licenses. "The British don't grant the licenses," he said. "The Palestinians must buy in England, and their deliveries are very slow."

Dr. Tannerbaum was one of the survivors of the crash of the TWA Constellation Star of Cairo near Shamen, Eire, Dec. 23. He suffered only minor injuries.

Geologists Turn Clock Back In Oil Search

STATE COLLEGE, PA. — (AP) — Geologists at Pennsylvania State College are turning the clock back 450,000,000 years in a search for new gas and oil reserves in the Keystone State.

Under a $50,000 grant by the State Legislature, the College's School of Mineral Industries is studying the prehistoric formation of rocks in order to perfect methods of locating new reserves and recovering known supplies of oil.

Oil and gas were formed millions of years ago by the burial of plant and animal life at the bottom of the seas which at one time spread over the Appalachian region and tend to collect in upfolded or domed areas of that ancient sea floor.

The subterranean rock layers of Western Pennsylvania and New York rise to the surface along the flanks of the Adirondacks and again in great folds in Central Pennsylvania. In addition, deep wells have been drilled along Lake Ontario and near the Pennsylvania-Ohio line.

Armed with knowledge of the surface, geologists study the possible oil-bearing character of rock in the laboratory. Aerial photographs, data recorded by airborne magnetometers and surface geological studies locate domes in the sedimentary rocks.

Court Rules Profit Not Required On Rent

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Supreme Court has given its backing to a lower court finding that nothing in the price control act requires rent ceilings to be set high enough to assure property owners "an adequate fixed return on the investment."

The court refused to review a decision, given by the emergency court of appeals in a landlord's test case from New York City, that the proper standard for determining such ceilings is whether they will provide the rental housing industry with a net return equal to that "enjoyed in the most recent period in which rents had not been influenced by defense activities."

The petitioners argued that since the law requires that rents be "fair and equitable" they are entitled to the same sort of treatment given utilities under the rule of a fair return on investment.

Other Rulings

In other rulings the court: 1. Overturned an order by the Interstate Commerce Commission which had sought to limit the type of service to be rendered by Seatrain Lines, Inc., a freight car carrying ship route between New York and New Orleans and Texas City.

2. Ruled in a sharply disputed 5-4 decision that manufacturers making and selling patented articles under license from the patent holder, can attack the validity of the patent in litigation to recover royalties, if their agreements with the patent holder include price fixing revisions.

The court also: Denied the Interstate Gas Company, Inc., a pipeline supplier operating in the Monroe field of Louisiana, a review of a decision that the Federal Power commission may regulate its rates.

Gather Ye Rosebuds

By JEANNETTE COVERT NOLAN

XXXVIII

THE stairs were rather steep, the train of Rose's gown had a trick of winding around her ankles, Papa's gait was none too steady.

Halfway down the flight from the landing, Papa said abruptly: "Rose, you look beautiful. You remind me of a girl I used to—"

Sidney, teetering on high heels a pace ahead, said: "Hush! People can hear you!"

So Papa hushed, and they went on marching slowly and very unnaturally to the strains of Hannah's music.

"Ta-TAH-ta-ta—"

Here COMES the bride—"

They were in the parlor now and, raising her eyes a little, Rose could see faces turning toward her; rather shimmery they were, but that was because of the veil over her own face. Mamma was standing with Beau, their arms linked, and these two Rose saw clearly.

Then Rose saw Jeff and, beyond him, Dixon—and for a flashing second, the veil or the sheen of candlelight, something, made him look like somebody else, an unworthy somebody gone, gone into the depths of shameful oblivion, never even to be thought of again.

Oh, no, this was really Dixon, so strong and safe, the man she loved, who would love and tenderly cherish her through all the days of her life.

They were halting in front of the altar, the wedding party in a small half-moon around the minister, who was opening his book.

"Dear! beloved, we are gathered together here in the sight of God—"

MAJOR CAMERON opened the door and stepped out upon the porch. Right in the middle of the preacher's unconsciously long-winded prayer, he had remembered that due to all the bustle in the early evening he had

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Everyone was pleased to see the enjoyment that Frederick Snite, the iron-lung man, obtained both in sitting and playing in the recent national championships tournament at Hollywood, Fla. Fred was able to play and kibitz, lying in his iron lung, through the aid of mirrors. He certainly gave his spectators a thrill on the hand shown to Vernoff, one of Miami's outstanding players.

When Snite (North) opened the bidding with one heart without a heart in his hand, the spectators almost gave it away by gasping their astonishment.

Of course when Vernoff, Snite's partner, finally arrived at five she and I will always be eager to have you and her mother, all the Camerons, in our home for as long as we can persuade you to stay."

The Major was quite affected by this declaration, he cast about for a proper reply. "Mr. Thayer—"

"Dixon, please."

"Ummm—Dixon—" He hesitated and rallied his forces, for he had something to say, too, a sort of speech he had been outlining, which should be said sometime, just to get the situation straight.

"—ah—thank you for your understanding, sir; it does you great credit. And I may remark that the regret I feel at Rose's leaving us is ameliorated by my knowledge that she goes from my protection to another as solicitor. We are all very fond of you, umm, Dixon; you have endeared yourself to us. And that, I think, is in a measure because of our fundamental similarities. In breeding, background, the things which count.

"And on this subject, since we are now on terms of—umm—kinship, I should like to add that, though in recent years financial stress has restricted our mode of living, there was a time when the Camerons in Virginia were gentlefolk of means, influence and distinction. Yes, sir. We had then such friends and conferees as are an ornament to any society—and to memory. In Myra, in my youth, I was boon companion to the Kittredges of Kingdon Manor, a clan as noble as—"

"The Kittredges!" Dixon said, interrupting.

"Yes, sir." The Major smiled in the darkness. The magic name could still invoke awe.

"My grandmother was a Kittredge," Dixon said.

"Your grandmother?" The Major stopped smiling.

"My mother's mother. She was Sophie Kittredge."

The Major repeated the words feebly: "Sophie Kittredge?" and then was silent.

"This could not be. It couldn't! But it was, and the Major knew at last that it was, and he smiled again and softly stroked the beautiful banner he held in his arms.

Job-Swapping In Football Coaches Ranks Continues

NEW YORK, (AP)—Post season job-swapping in the ranks of college football coaches continued Wednesday to provide many teams with new pluckin tutors.

The big turnover involving more than a score of resignations since the 1946 season, hit a new one-day high Tuesday when three berths were filled—making six additions to the nation's coaching ranks in less than a week.

A long expected shift took place at the University of Alabama, where Frank Thomas stepped down to make room for Harold (Red) Drew.

The University of Oregon named James W. Alken, football coach and director of athletics at Nevada since 1939, to replace Gerald A. (Tex) Oliver as head coach.

Kansas State announced it was seeking two men to fill the dual position of head coach and athletic director vacated by Hobbs Adams.

Others Fill Positions

Two other colleges took in the "help wanted" shingle last Friday after finding men for the jobs. Ed McKeever, who had resigned from Cornell, went to the University of San Francisco, and George K. (Lefty) James was named to the vacancy at Cornell.

On Saturday Bob Woodruff was named head coach at Baylor. Tuesday, Ray Graves, former line coach at Tennessee, was chosen to fill Woodruff's old spot.

Bulldogs Win Brace Cage Tilts From Monahans, 34-27, 44-11

By TANNER LAINE

The Midland Bulldogs, "A" and "B" quintets kept on the winning track in the MHS gym Tuesday night turning back Monahans "A" and "B" fives, 34 to 27 and 44 to 11, respectively.

Midland's "B" boys did all the good in the warmup 37 points before Monahans scratched. Monahans did not score in the first half of this tilt. The little Lobos could not counter until Coach Aubra Noonester infitrated his third team into the fray. Half-time score was: Midland 31, Monahans 0.

Sharp-Shooting S.M.U., Texas Clash Tuesday

By The Associated Press

Texas' fast-breaking Longhorns and Southern Methodist's sharp-shooting Mustangs clash in Austin Wednesday in the most important tilt to date of the Southwest Conference's young basket ball race.

Although the Arkansas Razorbacks moved ahead of the Longhorns Tuesday night in conference standings by defeating Texas Christian, 54-39, the winner of Wednesday's game has been branded as the probable 1947 champion.

Arkansas, Texas and Southern Methodist are undefeated in conference play. The Razorbacks have won their first three tilts, Texas has won two and SMU one.

The Longhorns will enter the game a slight favorite over the Mustangs, rating the edge primarily on reserve strength and a record that has included only one defeat in thirteen starts.

Whitney Bacaus, Mustang coach, has expressed a fear, however, that the Steers' speed will be their most potent weapon against the Methodists.

Two other conference games are also on schedule, Arkansas meeting Texas Christian again in Fort Worth and Baylor, defending champion, taking on Texas A&M at College Station.

Big Spring Steers Rout Sweetwater

Big Spring led at the half, 30-11. The Big Spring B team also defeated Sweetwater's reserves.

Sports Fixing Bills Are Numerous In State Legislatures

NEW YORK, (P)—An eruption of legislative bills against the attempts of professional gamblers to rig sporting events has taken place in numerous lawmaking bodies throughout the nation.

In Albany, a resolution was brought before the legislature Tuesday calling for a full investigation into gambling, fixing of games and other unscrupulous practices in both amateur and professional sports.

The New Jersey Legislature received a bill that would impose severe penalties on anyone convicted of bribing players to throw athletic games.

Similar Bill in Others

Similar legislations have been presented in at least a half dozen other states, a survey of the Associated Press disclosed.

The survey showed that Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Colorado, Rhode Island, Indiana, Ohio, Virginia and Florida have been asked to pass anti-bribe laws similar to those already in effect in Illinois, Michigan, California, Maryland, New Jersey and New York.

4,500 Japs Remain In Custody For War Crimes
SINGAPORE—(AP)—Of 9,000 Japanese arrested in Southeast Asia as war crimes suspects, only about 4,500 still are in custody, largely due to a new policy bringing to trial "only the most serious cases", a spokesman for the Southeast Asia Land Forces has announced.
Such a policy was adopted, he said, because "it would be impracticable to bring such a number (9,000) to trial in a reasonable time."
The British war crimes courts have tried 183 accused persons, sentencing 123 to death and 263 to imprisonment.

HUGE LOSS
Improperly prepared and addressed mail causes a loss to the U. S. Postoffice Department and users of the mails of $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 annually.

Norwegian Gets Coat Of Dreams 30 Years Later

OSLO—(AP)—Per Hoggbrennen of Trysil got the coat of his dreams after 30 years. In 1917, while working on a railroad in Norway with an American, Per admired his friend's coat. The American offered to sell it for $14, but Hoggbrennen couldn't afford it.
Recently Hoggbrennen was looking over clothing donated by Americans to war-stricken Norway. He recognized the coat. Examining the pockets he found a tailor's remodeling bill with his old friend's name on it.

Neighbors Come To Aid Of Disabled Builder

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO.—(AP)—B. C. Strader, a contractor, injured his back in a fall while building a house and had to be put in a heavy cast.
His physician soon found that worry over his inability to finish the building was retarding Strader's recovery. His friends found out about it, too, so 15 other builders and relatives got together and quickly completed the job for him.
Seventeen Indian reservations and 14 different tribes are scattered throughout Arizona.

HANDS ACROSS THE SEA

RIO DE JANEIRO—(AP)—The Norwegian ship "Stela Polaris" arrived in Rio de Janeiro as the first ship from Norway to South America on a good neighbor mission since the war. Bankers, artists, businessmen, sportsmen, professors and industrialists were aboard.
NEW RADIO STATIONS
RIO DE JANEIRO—(AP)—Two new radio stations are expected to begin operating soon in interior Brazilian towns. One, to be called ZYI, will be in Tatui, Sao Paulo state, with 1,500 kilocycles, and the other in Cruz Alta, Rio Grande do Sul, with 1,530 kilocycles.

Village Becomes Symbol Of American Way Of Life

LONDON—(AP)—Boom towns are mushrooming on the map of Russia's industrial Donets basin, reports Tass.
Novo-Shakhtinsk, onetime tiny mining settlement, is now a city with big apartments, a theater, schools, gardens, parks—and still spreading.
Kamensk, another quick-growing center, is the home of a new agricultural machinery plant and power station, mining equipment plant and food factories.

PARLEE VOO, YOURSELF

ALTON, ILL.—(AP)—William Wallace Phillips pays strict attention to what his wife has to say—at least part of the time. She's the French teacher at Shurtleff College here, and husband William attends her class.
300,000 MORE FARMERS
WARSAW—(AP)—Three hundred thousand young people now are receiving professional training in Poland in schools operated under the Ministry of Education and the Ministry of Agriculture.

FOUNDATIONS!

You have to go down if you want to go up! That sounds like foolishness, but it isn't.

If you plan to build a garage, you don't need to dig very much before you lay the foundation. But if you plan to rival a modern skyscraper, you must start deep below the earth's surface.

Foundations of great buildings must go down until they rest on bed rock. Not until then is it safe to start going up.

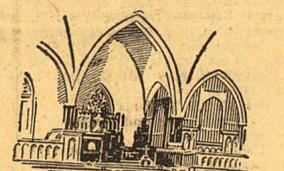

So the next time you look up at a building which rises far above you, don't forget the foundation that makes it possible.

Our lives need such foundations, too. In the building of our lives, and those of our children, we are too often governed by what other people think or by our temporary wants and desires.

But when life's storms come and its testing moments are upon us, it is the foundation that keeps us secure, or the lack of it that permits collapse. Only a life foundation that rests solidly upon faith in the eternal God is really adequate for the kind of character building we must do if we want our lives to be happy and successful.

You've got to go as deep as that, if you want to go up.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Gasoline Drums Mark Migration Route

KHARTOUM—(AP)—Five thousand gasoline drums spaced about 200 yards apart will mark the route for an expected "mass migration" of Britons down Africa between Shellal and Wadi Halfa and Berba and Abu Hamed, according to plans of the Sudan government.

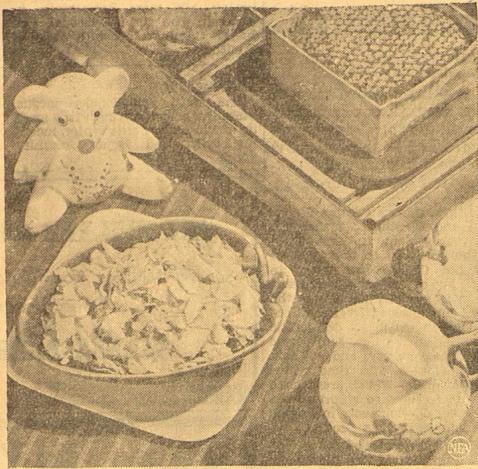

The Public Works Department plans to complete the route marking before the majority of truck-borne families reach Shellal from Cairo.

The Sudan government will require all persons motoring through the Sudan to sign agreements to report to all administrative officers throughout the route, to keep to the routes and to travel only in convoys.

Tourist huts will be provided a short distance from Khartoum.

The diesel engine was patented by Rudolf Diesel in 1892.

Serve Big Breakfast On Cold Days

Try honey-milk on breakfast cereal.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Big breakfasts for cold days is a safe family rule. Begin with a fruit or fruit juice, then have a cereal and next a muffin or toast. With the cereal, try honey milk—2 tablespoons honey warmed with 2 tablespoons milk.

Oatmeal Muffins
(6 muffins)
One cup quick-cooking oatmeal (uncooked), 1 cup sour milk, 1 egg, 1/3 cup brown sugar, 1 cup flour, sifted, 1/2 teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup melted shortening.

Soak uncooked oatmeal in sour milk for 1 hour. Add egg and beat well. Stir in sugar. Sift flour, baking soda, baking powder and salt together into oatmeal mixture. Mix carefully but do not over-mix. Stir in shortening. Pour into well-greased glass custard cups. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.)

for 30 minutes.

Some people like gingerbread for breakfast. Why not?

Fruited Gingerbread

Two cups sifted enriched flour, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 1/4 teaspoons cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon ginger, 1/3 cup shortening, 1/4 cup sugar, 3/4 cup molasses, 1 egg, un-beaten, 1/4 cup milk, 1/2 cup chopped nut meats, 2 cups mixed dried fruits.

Sift together all dry ingredients, except sugar. Cream together shortening and sugar. Gradually blend in molasses. Stir in 1/2 cup sugar. Beat in egg. Add ingredients and milk. Stir in nuts and dried fruit. Pour batter into a well-greased and lightly floured round stemming cake pan (8 inches diameter and 2 3/4 inches deep). Bake 1 1/3 hours in a moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.)

Science Harnesses Bacteria To Obtain Oil From Dry Holes

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Now man is harnessing bacteria in an attempt to dig up oil from so-called dry wells.

Dr. Claude E. ZoBell, a microbiologist, reports that he discovered in 1943 that certain bacteria cultures released droplets of oil from test tubes filled with calcareous (limestone) material. He said additional experiments showed that bacteria also released oil from samples of athabaska (Canadian) tar sands and from Santa Maria (California) oil shales.

The scientist, patented the process last December 24 and has assigned it for public benefit to the American Petroleum Institute, it was announced.

"While there are still technical difficulties to be overcome, the results so far are sufficiently encouraging to warrant a continuation of the field experiments," Dr. ZoBell said.

Dr. ZoBell said his work indicates that bacteria can release oil from oil-bearing sediments by dissolving calcareous materials, by crowding the oil off physically and by producing surface active substances. He said carbon dioxide produced by the bacteria and increased porosity which they produce in calcareous materials favor the flow of oil.

Brother, Sisters Live In Poverty With $165,000 In Their Apartment

By NATHAN POLOWETZKY

NEW YORK—(AP)—The wizened old lady slowly climbed down the three flights to a neighbor's basement apartment, timidly knocked on the door and, when the neighbor appeared, asked for a cup of coffee.

Delia Edwards, 67, had been doing this for many a day, so it was to make conversation that the neighbor, Mrs. Mary Bennett, asked: "How's your brother, Miss Delia?" Still sipping the hot coffee, and pulling her old sweater tighter about her to fight off the cold, the woman muttered: "I think Charlie's dead. Hasn't moved since Saturday."

Found in Attitude of Prayer

Mrs. Bennett immediately called a priest who climbed the dark staircase into the squalor of the Edwards' apartment. There he saw the withered body of Charles Edwards, 77, covered with an old-fashioned nightgown, leaning on the floor beside his unmade bed, his head buried in his hands in an attitude of prayer.

In another "rusty bedroom, piled with yellowed newspapers and remains of unfinished meals, lay Miss Anna Edwards, 67, pleading for aid.

The priest called police. The police physician studied the ancient figure, meaning as if in supplication. He took out his card and wrote:

"Dead on arrival. Natural causes."

Apartment Was Malnutrition

The women were taken to Kinross County Hospital where doctors diagnosed Anna Edwards' ailment as malnutrition.

The neighbors talked. They said the Edwards had lived in such poverty as long as they could remember. And they recalled that the only extravagance the Edwards ever indulged in was Delia's custom of occasionally slipping out to buy an ice cream cone after her brother had gone to bed.

Soon the detectives came. In desultory fashion they dusted off the documents and papers that littered the Brooklyn cold-water flat. Then they stopped short.

For underneath all the rubbish were bankbooks listing $87,000 in deposits and mortgages and bonds valued at $100,000.

Japan Concludes Year With Poor Trade Balance

TOKYO—(AP)—Once one of the most active trading countries in the Orient, Japan in the year through last October exported to seven nations and imported from only four to conclude the period with an unfavorable trade balance.

Dollar values from these transactions were not known because prices for some products have not been established yet, but authorities forecast that imports exceeded exports in value.

Japanese foreign trade since the end of the war has been on a government-to-government basis. In many cases, shipments were exchanged with mutual agreement that the method of payment would be arranged later.

Exports ranged from silkworm eggs to coal and locomotives. Imports were primarily such "essential requirements" as food-stuffs, chemicals for fertilizer, and building materials.

Exports went to Australia, China, Hong Kong, United Kingdom, Soviet Union, United States and Korea. Imports came from China, Hong Kong, Korea, and the United States.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, meantime, in reporting on occupation activities through October, said the Japanese consumed 637,166 tons of imported food from April through October and, despite the 1946 bumper crop, will need additional food from outside sources this year.

The UN And World Government

It would not be surprising if 1947 were to see considerable progress toward the idea of some sort of world government. Some progress, of course, already has been made. There is a growing unofficial enthusiasm for the idea in this and other countries. And in England the government has put itself on record as favoring a super-government of the world's states.

But our guess is that if any favorable sentiment develops where it counts most—in the American and Russian governments—the impetus will come not from the efforts of the enthusiasts, but from the very nature of world problems.

It must be increasingly apparent, even to those most reluctant to admit it, that the UN as presently organized is more of an international debating society than a union of nations. It is in about the same plight that the United States would be with no means of enforcing the provisions of the Constitution, and no executive or judicial branches of the government to assist in carrying out the laws passed by Congress.

The much-discussed veto is an excellent illustration of the UN's weakness. What the veto really means is that the world's most powerful nations are willing to go through the motions of international good will and united action so long as there is nothing particularly vital at stake.

When a crisis is reached, however, these powerful nations reserve the right, through the veto, to return to nationalistic, big-power thinking. In a situation which imperiled world peace, when world co-operation was most vital, the veto would permit any one of the great powers to take a step that would lead almost inevitably to war.

At any other level of government the UN arrangement would be unthinkable. No small city would dream of trying to keep the peace without courts, a police force, and enforceable laws. Yet the UN, being without a body of enforceable law, has no power to curb a great power's indulgence in lawlessness—if indeed, under the circumstances, lawlessness is the right word.

The members of the United Nations must surely see these weaknesses whenever a difficulty arises. But, with the exception of Britain, they have made no public proposal of the obvious solution. The reason, of course, is clear. It is the concept of national sovereignty, that same proud, isolationist, emotional, trouble-breeding concept, decked out in patriotism and loaded with dynamite, which has been at the root of so many wars.

All the UN delegations seem to feel that they have a mandate from their countrymen to protect and preserve that sovereignty, and guard it from insult and disparagement. But if that is their feeling, we think that they are wrong.

We don't hesitate to say that the people of the world would feel a lot more comfortable under a real world government, acting in most cases by a simple majority and with each nation represented on the basis of its population, which had the strength to enforce world disarmament and the utilization of atomic energy, and to supervise world trade.

Perhaps, during 1947, the shape of the world's problems will force international statesmen to face the obvious solution squarely, before suspicious sovereignty precipitates a crisis in which action will be impossible.

Portal-To-Portal Plus

What may turn out to be the billion-dollar question for American industry is this: Just how much of a worker's non-productive time is spent "under company control and in company interest"?

If organized American business has its way, that question will be answered in a series of amendments by Congress to the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938. In the meantime, if we follow the line of common-sense reasoning, we are forced to the conclusion that the unions, in their present lawsuits, are not asking for enough compensation.

The unions are seeking pay only for time spent on company property. But is it not in the company interest for a man to get to work on time? And, if the worker did not have to show up at a specified time, might he not sleep later in the morning? So why not pay him from the time he gets out of bed?

The unions are now asking that the workers be paid twice as much for their non-working time spent on company property as they get when they are engaged in productive occupation. Following that line of reasoning, it would seem only just that they receive triple or quadruple time for the period when they are not working off the company's property.

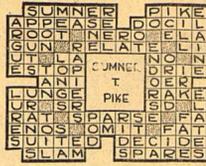

All this might bankrupt most of American industry, of course, or send prices to impossible levels. But you can't say that it wouldn't be carrying the current line of reasoning to its ultimate conclusion in a triumph of logic.

Usually, the only advantage in rushing through your work is that it gives you time to do it over again.
Pin the blue ribbon on the lowly hen! It's doing the best job yet of sitting around and making it pay.

Poland's Coming Elections Are Not Likely To Be 'Free And Unfettered'

By GLENN BABE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

With Poland's national elections little more than a fortnight off, evidence accumulates that they are highly unlikely to be the "free and unfettered elections" envisaged by two of the Big Three at Potsdam. The four-party government bloc, with its Communist core, appears to be taking no chances on a popular verdict that would unseat it. The opposition declares that many forms of intimidation and violence are being used to reduce its chances to a minimum.

All indications are that the voting, set for January 19, will just be one more in the series of elections which Soviet-sponsored regimes in the Russian satellite states are being given the appearance of having been chosen by democratic, legal methods. Such elections have placed or confirmed Communist-dominated governments in power in Yugoslavia, Romania and Bulgaria, and now the process is being repeated in the largest and most important of the satellites. The result will be further strain on the relations of Russia and the Atlantic powers.

Base Interest On Accord
As in the cases of Romania and Bulgaria, the American and British governments have recorded their convictions that the Polish elections will not be all they should be. Britain and America base their interest on the Potsdam Accord, which stated:

"The three powers (United States, Britain and Russia) note that the Polish government in accordance with the decisions of the Crimean Conference (Yalta) has agreed to the holding of free and unfettered elections as soon as possible on the basis of universal suffrage and secret ballot in which all democratic and anti-Nazi parties shall have the right to take part and put forward candidates, and that representatives of the Allied press shall enjoy full freedom to report to the world upon developments in Poland before and during the election."

Part Of Pledge Fulfilled
The latter part of that pledge apparently is being fulfilled, since foreign correspondents have been permitted to travel about Poland and send uncensored accounts abroad. But the first part of the pledge has not fared so well. The Potsdam Accord was announced Aug. 2, 1945. The elections which were to come "as soon as possible" have been deferred more than 17 months. And opponents of the government bloc say the voting will be anything but "free and unfettered."

German Elite Complains Less Than Commoners

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BERLIN (AP)—The princess, a coarse broom in her elegant hands, swept out the coaches at the railway station. The erudite professor, carried bricks. The great actor, with no one to applaud him, herded sheep.

Thus Berlin society has gone topsy-turvy since deNazification started transforming the upper crust of the Third Reich into calloused day laborers.

At 20 district offices in this city, German civilian labor authorities carry out Allied directives by converting the silken elite of yesterday into obscure, hard-working citizens.

How They Take It
Heinz Teichert, former concentration camp inmate, leaped through his files and said prominent Nazis complained less than their small-bore brethren in taking new menial jobs.

Princess Viktoria Cecilie von Hessen, for example, quietly reported to the railroad office where Teichert had told her she could find employment as a "work-woman."

Norbert Schultze, composer of "Lili Marlene" and "Bombs on England," took up hedge-trimming as a gardener.

Prof. Max Kloss, international figure in electrical research, signed on in the building trades.

Countess Sigrid von Rex was enrolled as a housemaid.

'Jew Sues' Tends Sheep
Werner Krauss, star of the Nazi-era movie, "Jew Sues," went in for sheep-herding.

For muscular labor, former Nazis average 90 pfennigs an hour (9 cents), but if it's heavy enough, they get the first category of food-ration card just like any other person at the same task. A class 1 card provides for nearly 1/2 pound of meat daily, as compared to 1/8 pound on class 2 cards.

If a Nazi malingerer, he is liable to trial in a German court. But no noteworthy name has appeared yet. To prevent alibis, the city has all Nazis medically examined to determine if they are physically fit to stand hard labor.

"It usually takes two or three hours to convince a Nazi, when he comes in here to the labor office, that he's through with his former profession, or business, or art," said Teichert.

"When they leave, they're talking very meekly. But I'm certain their real attitude is different. To me, they're all wolves in sheep's fur!"

Teichert produced a Berlin newspaper clipping to show the other side of the picture in deNazification. It reported a purge of Berlin law enforcement agencies. To fill the vacancies, an ice dealer had become a public prosecutor, a male nurse was a police superintendent, and a locksmith was chief of detectives.

UNUSUAL TRIP

A crippled gull once swam the Atlantic ocean, from the North Sea to Newfoundland. It trailed behind a partly disabled Norwegian sailing vessel, eating food tossed overboard to it by the sailors during the trip of more than three months.

Eleven thousand blood transfusions are given annually in New York City alone. A pint of blood each, every six weeks, is donated by 1,100 men. The total is 5,000 quarts annually.

To America's Producers, America's Thanks!

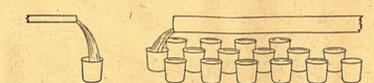

As this new year begins, America's ranchers and farmers are busy with their winter work—feeding and caring for their livestock. And all America is again properly grateful to you who produce the food to keep us the world's best fed people.

To you who ride the range from Montana to Texas . . . whose teams and tractors till the nation's fertile acres . . . who have labored hard, long hours . . . who, with soil and seed, sunshine and rain, grass and grain, have achieved miracle after miracle of food production—to you America gives thanks! Thanks for the part you have had in all-time record crops of wheat and corn . . . for bumper yields of small grains . . . for livestock numbers at high levels . . . for soaring dairy and poultry production. This abundance of food which you have produced means better nutrition for millions of families—because good nutrition is just good food that's good for you.

Vital as it is, production is only part of the nutritional job. Food must be processed. It has to be transported from surplus-producing areas to the markets where there are great numbers of people to eat it. Here is where Swift & Company comes into the picture. It's our job to provide many of the services required in bringing the foods which you produce to the dinner tables of the nation. Together we are in a vitally important industry. Because nutrition is our business and yours, together we can help build a stronger, healthier America.

Things are NOT always as they seem

A 1-inch pipe and a 4-inch pipe run water into gallon pails. It seems as if the 4-inch pipe would fill 4 times as many pails in a given time. The truth is that it will fill 16 gallon pails while the 1-inch pipe is filling one.

When you read something like this: "Meat in commercial storage on January 1 was about 590,000,000 pounds", it sounds like a lot of meat.

But this big country consumes about 50,000,000 pounds of meat every day. So when you figure it out, this reserve supply in commercial storage is only enough to last 12 days.

Yes, some meat is frozen during months of peak production and stored until months of low production. But practically all of the beef, veal and lamb that is in storage is the kind preferred for meat loaves, sausage, prepared meats—not the kind that goes over the butcher's block as steaks, roasts, chops, etc. Also, the amount frozen is relatively small, as it has never exceeded 1.9% of the annual beef production, 9/10 of 1% of the lamb, less than 6% of the pork.

Soda Bill Sez:

... that labor saved is money made.
... speak well of your enemies—you made them.

He Puts the NEW in Nutrition

We'd like you to meet a Swift scientist, Dr. H. W. Schultz. He is head of the nutrition division of our research laboratories. The work of Dr. Schultz and his associates is mighty important to all of us in the livestock-meat industry. They develop new products which open new markets for meats. This widens outlets for your livestock.

Dr. Schultz is the father of three children. As a scientist he knew growing children needed the body-building proteins of meat. As a father he knew the trouble of scraping and straining meats for the baby and dicing meat for the older children. An idea was born: perhaps Swift & Company could discover a way to prepare canned meats suitable for babies. A research project was undertaken. The scientists went to work!

The research took more than two years. The Swift people consulted with leading doctors, child specialists. They agreed that special meats for babies would be a good thing. Many methods of preparing various kinds of meats were tried. Hundreds of feeding tests were made by families with small children. Finally, six kinds of meat were approved by the doctors, nutritionists, mothers, and the babies themselves. Placed on the market in test cities, these products won immediate acceptance. They are now being sold in many cities, and facilities for their manufacture are being expanded.

These new products—strained and diced meats for babies—create a big new market for meats. There are millions of baby appetites to satisfy.

*The five-year average for 1941-1945. Does not include meat owned by the government.

| 2 quarts water          | 1/4 teaspoon pepper      |
| 1 cup sliced onion      | 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard |
| 1 cup diced celery      | 2 tablespoons flour      |
| 3 tablespoons butter    | 4 frankfurters           |

Soak beans in water for several hours or overnight. Drain, add water. Fry onion and celery in butter. Add to beans, simmer 3 to 4 hours or until beans are soft, adding more water as water cooks away. When tender, save out 1 cup beans. Rub other beans through sieve. Reheat to boiling point. Add seasonings and flour mixed with 1/4 cup water. Garnish with hot sliced frankfurters and whole beans. Yield: 4 servings.

Meat Packers' Risks

Meat is perishable. It cannot be held for prices to go up. Like all meat packers, Swift & Company must sell, within a few days, this perishable product for what it will bring—no matter what price we paid for it.

We take risks in both buying and selling. In buying livestock the meat packer must pay the price established by competitive bidding of over 26,000 slaughterers. If the meat packer overestimates the quality of an animal, or the amount of meat the animal will produce, or the market demand for the meat, he will lose money. Hidden bruises, wounds, or other defects can create losses on any animal.

In selling, the meat packer must also follow the market trends established by those who buy the meats. He stands the risk that meat demand will fall off and prices decline between the day he buys the livestock and the day he sells the meat—also the risk of accidents and delays in transit which can wash out his profit.

An average profit of less than 2% on sales is a small return for taking these substantial business risks.

An adequate record book is an extremely useful and valuable tool. It usually pays good dividends for the few minutes it takes out of the day's work to keep it up to date.

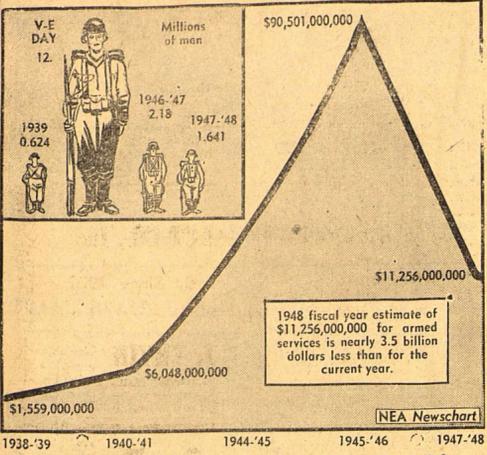

Specifically, a record book helps a farmer or rancher:

- Operate in a businesslike way.
- Learn more about the details of his business than ever before.
- Know exactly how much he is making from his land and his work.
- Find out the weak spots in his enterprises. Tell whether or not his operations are working out as planned.
- Prepare a plan for future operations.
- Itemize investments, receipts, and expenses. Figure the efficiency of his production methods.
- Provide a record of all business transactions. Keep track of bills owed by or to the farm or ranch.
- Establish a sound basis for credit.
- Comply with government programs.
- Prepare income tax returns.

There are farm and ranch record books especially prepared for each state which can help you save time and money. Write to your state agricultural college and obtain one. Properly used, it will give you a better understanding of your business and may open the way to increased profits.

Family Life Absent When U. S. Soldier Marries German Girl

FRANKFORT, GERMANY (AP)—An American soldier now can marry a German girl—but where or when he can live with her while in Germany may prove something of a problem.

He can take her to an Army rest center for a one-week honeymoon, after which he can visit her during his off-duty hours.

But he cannot obtain a Government-requisitioned house for her and neither can he move in with her family.

"Theater policy forbids the billeting of personnel of the occupation forces with Germans," European Headquarters of the United States Forces said in a question-and-answer summary on "fraulein" marriages.

"There is no objection," it continued, "to a soldier visiting German dependents when authorized to be absent from duty or quarters."

The limitations are expected to affect only a brief span of the couples' married lives, however, as marriages generally will be authorized only when the soldier is nearing the end of his tour of duty in Europe.

Concerning wedding trips, the summary said: "For the purpose of a honeymoon, a German dependent, when accompanied by a spouse, may visit a rest center within occupied territory for a period not to exceed one week."

During that time the German girl will be allowed full use of the center's facilities, the same as any other dependent.

Love Has Two Faces

By Irene Lonnen Ernhart

IT was just like Mike not to let her know he was coming. Not that there was any definite reason why he should.

Cassie Fletcher folded the evening paper carefully and put it on the worn step beside her. Her hands were trembling a little.

"Mike Cargill, once reported missing, prisoner in a German camp, long hospitalized, due home tomorrow. Town prepares welcome for one of its heroes." That was what the paper had said.

The last streamers of August sunlight lay across the porch. Pungent smoke from Papa's after-supper pipe floated from the porch swing where he lay reading the want-ad section. Mama rocked placidly at the other end of the porch, making a loose board creak rhythmically. From indoors came the sound of Sid and Leni's quarreling as they coped with the supper dishes.

"Leni! Mama's voice rose petulantly. "Let Sid dry if he wants to, this time. He washed last night!"

Leni came to the screen door. "It rains my hands, Mama. It simply ruins my hands." Her voice was tearful. "And I just got fresh polish on! He's doin' it a purpose! And anyway, it wouldn't hurt him to do the dishes alone!"

Mama got up, sighing heavily, and lumbered inside.

Cassie began to think about Mike Cargill again. The day he'd left. She could still see him, coming along the platform, his small, compact figure swinging along, his dark hair almost blue in the sunlight, his eyes that queer electric blue that never fades, and with a sort of hardness in them. Yet Mike wasn't hard.

"Hello baby!" he'd said, his deep voice lifting a trifle, as if he hadn't known she'd come down to see him or L. "Well, I guess this is it."

She'd been a little let-down at the way he'd said it. Other couples were clinging together, kissing. And Mike just stood there grinning at her like a small boy off on some daring trip. He'd smoked a cigarette and had nothing much to say. But when the train came grinding to a stop he grinned at her again and kissed her, a hard, exciting kiss that she could still feel, she remembered it so well.

His letters had been few and far between and very short those three years he'd been gone. Well, there hadn't been anything definite between them, anyhow. But Cassie was in love with Mike Cargill. She'd had dates with other fellows but they hadn't meant a thing. There'd been Mike in her heart, filling it completely, all the time.

Tomorrow he'd be home! Cassie's heart skipped a beat.

Papa rapped his pipe on the porch railing and cleared his throat. "You goin' to the depot tomorrow, Cass?"

He pronounced it "dee-pot." Cassie shook her head. "I couldn't get off," she said.

"They're goin' to have quite a dem' for that Cargill fella. Thought you might ask off and go."

"And get docked for a whole day's work and lose my time and a half Saturday?" Cassie said. She jumped up and started inside.

"She's too young to have so many dates, Mama. You know that," Cassie warned. "And especially with older fellows."

"I tried to tell her," Mama sniffed. "But you know how she is when she gets her head set on something."

flinging the paper into Mama's rocker.

She hadn't meant to sound rude to Papa, and she hadn't meant to let it slip about not wanting to lose pay. It wasn't exactly Papa's fault that his rheumatism kept him from working regularly at anything, that most of the financial burden of the family fell on her shoulders.

She went out to the kitchen, smoothing at the wrinkles in the front of her yellow linen dress. She tried to take the dishrag out of Mama's hands.

"That good-for-nothing little Leni!" she said. "Mama, how many times do I have to tell you it's not good to give in to her like that!"

"Oh go on, Cassie, Ed as soon wash 'em as not, and you'll spoil your dress," Mama whined helplessly. Her blue eyes watered a little. "Anyway, Leni's got a date with the Cavendish boy again."

"The Cavendish boy!" Cassie echoed. She reached for the apron that hung in back of the door. Then she appropriated Sid's dish-towel and shooed him out of the kitchen. "Leni certainly is going up in the world! But she's too young to have so many dates, Mama. You know that. And especially with older fellows."

"I tried to tell her," Mama sniffed. "But you know how she is when she gets her head set on something."

LENI came out of the tiny bedroom off the kitchen. She leaned against the door casing for an instant, her blue eyes half shadowed with incredible daze.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

A record entry of 92 pairs participated in the national mixed-pair championship in the recent winter nationals at Hollywood, Fla. The winners were Mrs. Annie Burnstein of Miami and Alvin Roth, formerly of Washington and now residing in New York.

Good bidding and intelligent play produced a top score for Mrs. Burnstein and Roth on today's hand. East's jump to two spades indicated a good hand with a long spade suit. West did not quite have the values to freely bid three spades, but when East doubled three clubs, West eagerly jumped to four spades despite his dearth of honor cards.

Many players chose to bid hearts on the West hand, a bed bid. Had Mrs. Burnstein wanted to hear hearts, she would have made an informative double of one club rather than bid two spades.

Against the four-spade contract, South opened a small club and North's ace won. A club was returned, Mrs. Burnstein put up the queen (to gain access to dummy), and South won the king.

A third round of clubs was won by dummy's jack, the ten of trumps was led, North went up with the ace and excited with a heart which declarer's ace won.

The king of diamonds was led, followed by the queen, a trump was ruffed in dummy, a trump was led and when North played low, Mrs. Burnstein finessed her jack. Her reason for the finesse, rather than a play for the drop, was that if North had not held the queen of spades, he would not have gone up with the ace on the first spade lead.

Would you go up with the ace and one or two small spades?

That would be the Cavendish boy. A tiny fettle of warning traced its way up Cassie's spine. What did Len Cavendish see in Leni? He usually ran around with the crowd up on the hill. The Martin girl, Bryn Mawr and Country Club, mink coats and real pearls, was his usual style.

When Mama finished at the sink, she limped out to the front porch again. The rocker began to creak. Papa turned on the small porch radio and the sound of the music came faintly to Cassie, as she walked back and forth putting things away. It set her to thinking about Mike again, about the times when they used to go out to Joe's Barbecue and put nickels in the juke box and dance. Joe's Barbecue wasn't even there any more.

"Mike'll phone me at the office tomorrow, I'll bet ten dollars," she thought. Her heart lurched, and a hard ball of excitement rolled itself up tight inside her.

Astronomers Photograph What They Believe Is Nucleus Of Milky Way

By RENNIE TAYLOR
SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Astronomers at last have seen and photographed what they believe to be a part of the center or nucleus of the milky way.

It is a dense cloud of faint stars in the southern sky 172 quadrillion miles from the earth and hundreds of billions of miles in diameter. In spite of its size the photographed part of the star cloud occupies less sky area than the moon as seen from the earth.

This astronomical achievement, by Dr. W. Baade of Mt. Wilson observatory, further strengthens the already widely held belief that the form of the milky way is something like the mainspring of a clock, with an upward bulge in the middle. Dr. Baade reported his work in the Publication of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific.

Whether earthlings ever would be able to see the milky way was a question among astronomers. The earth, along with the rest of the solar system, is well buried in the milky way, and because of this it is difficult to look into outer space in certain directions.

To visualize the earth's position, consider the galaxy to be roughly the shape of a pocket watch. The sun and its planets would constitute an insignificant speck about one-third of the distance inward from the rim toward the shaft which drives the hands, and somewhat below the surface of the face. To see the center of the watch, a spectator on the insignificant speck would have to look through a lot of brass; to see the galactic center an earth dweller would have to look through an enormous amount of intervening cosmic matter.

For this same reason, it is comparatively easy for earthlings to see other galaxies, centers and all, far outside the milky way. They only have to look through the thinnest part of the watch, toward its face or back, thus encountering a minimum of interference from matter within the milky way.

From observing these other galaxies astronomers already had formed ideas about the milky way center. Some of the far distant galaxies had raised centers, composed of a peculiar kind of stars. Abundant among them were the so-called cluster variables, stars whose light fluctuates in a characteristic manner.

On the theory that our own milky way center might be raised sufficiently to be seen above the main mass of cosmic material, Dr. Baade pointed Mt. Wilson's 100-inch reflecting telescope, at present the world's largest, at a bright cloud in the constellation Sagittarius, which in summer can be seen from the United States low in the south or southwest sky.

He picked on that cloud because it was in the right direction and because he knew it was a dense collection of stars something like those in the nuclei of other galaxies. Centering on a globular star cluster known as NGC 6522, Dr. Baade photographed a little more than one-third of a square degree of sky, a spot somewhat smaller than the apparent size of the moon.

The pictures of that little spot disclosed 152 variable stars, 30 times as many as are found in corresponding areas of the outer portions of the milky way.

Like stars in other galactic centers the majority of these variables were of the cluster type. Others were variables with long period of fluctuation, another characteristic of galactic nuclei bodies.

Dr. Baade calculated the distance of NGC 6522, the key object in the cloud, at nearly 30,000 light years. A light year, the distance which light will travel in a twelvemonth, is 6 million million (6,000,000,000,000) miles. This distance for the galactic center was in line with computations previously made by Dr. Harlow Shapley of Harvard university from data of a different kind.

Dr. Baade concluded therefore that since the bright cloud in Sagittarius is composed of stars characteristic of the centers of other similar galaxies and since it lies at the expected distance from the earth, it must be a part of the hub which rises above the main galactic mass.

"Moreover," he added, "it now appears probable that the faint corona of stars surrounding our galaxy represents a continuation of the galactic bulge."

Jap Decides To Start Life Again; Has Mock Funeral

By DUANE HENNESSY

TOKYO—(AP)—Buddhist priests in robes of gold, purple and scarlet chanted sonorously over the coffin of Jo Shiba, 68-year-old ruler of Tokyo's underworld.

Mourners squatted on mats with heads bowed, praying silently for the departed soul. The priests finished.

"Now let's have the feast—bring on the sake!" shouted J. Shiba, jumping from his coffin and smoothing his morning suit.

The thing was, Jo decided to start life anew and he figured the only way to do it was to die and be reborn.

He called in the priests and said he wanted a funeral. No matter that he wasn't dead. No one says "no" to Jo, a tough and stern-freed cookie who rules with a wick- ed lash.

The funeral was held near Mito, 60 miles North of Tokyo, the other day. When it leaked out that the mourners brought gifts and gave 1,600,000 yen to the "bereaved" family, some suspected that Jo was reborn at a profit.

Others said the funeral cost Jo 2,000,000 yen if it cost him a yen, what with the sake, food for a three-day feast, and honoraria for priests and mourners.

There was a slight hitch at the last. When the priests arrived, Jo said he wasn't going to get in any coffin. They replied, in effect: No get in coffin, no funeral.

So Jo got in.

The "deceased" said later that Jo Shiba was dead and a man named Joji Shibata had been born.

Just the same, the underworld still rotates around a 63-year-old tough and stern-faced cookie.

And Joji Shibata looks an awful lot like Jo Shiba.

English Bulldogs Are Wardens For Chickens

CHATTANOOGA, TENN. —(P)—Two English bulldogs are very important employees of the Tennessee Egg Company. Their job is to catch 300 to 500 escaped, squawking chickens every week and return them unharmed to Night Supt. Floyd Fuller. The oldest dog, four-year-old Lady Pull, has been engaged in the chicken chasing business for three and a half years. Her son, 10-month-old Stubby, has just become a full fledged partner.

Turkeys Give Mayor Plenty Of Trouble

WESTVILLE, ILL. —(P)—The next time Mayor Charles Byron is host he'll probably serve ham. For a recent special occasion, he bought two live turkeys, thrust them in a sack, tossed the bag into the rear of his car and drove home. But, when he went out to get them later, they were gone. He sighted one of the AWOL gobblers in a neighbor's yard. The mayor closed in quickly, but the bird flew into a tree. His Honor brought the feathered fugitive down for good with a shotgun.

Southwestern Indians Making Moccasins Again

PROENIX, ARIZ. —(P)—American Indians in the great Southwestern reservations have resumed a pre-war activity—the manufacture of Indian moccasins. This winter, for the first time in more than six years, the popular soft leather shoes, which many use for bedroom slippers and which can be worn equally well out of doors, have appeared on the market. After the first World War the Indians used colored glass beads imported from Czechoslovakia as decorations on moccasins. When importation of these beads was stopped by the conquest of Czechoslovakia by Germany, the Indians stopped making the moccasins. Resumption of this industry was resumed when Czechoslovakia beads again became available.

Frozen Pie Filling Adds Flavor

Jack Frost pumpkin pie has frozen filling.

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Science Comes Up With Communication System Baby Sitter

WASHINGTON —(P)—Science has come up with a substitute for the baby sitter who, of course, is in turn a substitute parent.

It's the electric intercommunication system. This is the way it came about. Some time ago Keith C. Johnson, head of the Science Department of the District Public Schools wired his nursery for sound—the result of an idea he had while a Navy electronics instructor. By means of this device he and Mrs. Johnson could hear every wail of their two children.

His neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Nalley and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard L. M. Coster, were so taken with the idea that they installed similar systems.

The next step, naturally, was to tie the three systems together. So now any one set of parents—without leaving home—is able to keep a watchful ear on all three sets of kiddies, freeing the other parents for the evening and eliminating the baby sitter entirely. It may result in poverty for the bobby sox set but, to coin a phrase, isn't science wonderful?

Area Girl Scouts To Have Camp In Davis Mountains

PECOS — The Permian Basin Area Council of Girl Scouts plans to operate its own established camp in the Davis Mountains this summer for Girl Scouts in the 15 counties comprising the area, Alton Hughes of Pecos, president of the Council, announced.

A project is underway for the acquisition of the Mitre Peak Guest Ranch south of Fort Davis as a permanent camp site. Improvements on the ranch will enable the camp to be opened this summer, Hughes said. The camp will accommodate 500 girls.

The Permian Basin Area Council is composed of Andrews, Brewster, Crane, Culberson, Ector, Jeff Davis, Loving, Midland, Pecos, Presidio, Reeves, Terrell, Upton, Ward and Winkler counties.
