SOLONS TO SEEK RESTRICTIONS— Fast Action Expected On Truman's Aid Plea

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senators and representatives soberly considered Thursday President Truman's plea—and its far-reaching implications—for aid to assist Greece and Turkey stem Communism, with indications pointing to early congressional action.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), Senate Foreign Relations Committee chairman, summoned his group to hear Undersecretary of State Acheson discuss legislation required by the President's proposals.

He said Congress should be able to meet the President's wishes by March 31.

Asserting that "the President's hands must be upheld," Vandenberg told his colleagues that "the plain truth is that Soviet-American relationships are at the core of this whole problem." He advised that Congress "carefully determine the methods and explore the details in so momentous a departure from our previous policies."

There were openly voiced fears on Capitol Hill that war with the Soviet Union might be the eventual result of such a departure.

Some Democrats and Republicans made it plain that strenuous attempts will be made to write at least some restrictions into legislation to authorize loans to Greece and Turkey.

These restrictions may include:

1. An effort to insert a direct prohibition against the use of American troops in either country, beyond the relatively small forces needed to train Greek and Turkish soldiers and those needed to supervise the transfer of supplies.
2. A proposal to limit any help solely to relief, thus banning the transfer of military supplies as suggested in the President's personal address to the lawmakers.
3. A move to make any aid to Greece contingent on the removal of King George from the throne.

President Asks Aid

President Truman outlines his plans for U. S. action in the Greek crisis before an extraordinary joint session of Congress. He asked for $4,000,000, materials, and military skill for aid to Greece and Turkey. On rostrum behind the Chief Executive is the president of the Senate, Senator Arthur Vandenberg.

Co-Op Hospital Group To Meet Thursday

A committee appointed by a group of Midland County citizens interested in establishing a Midland County Cooperative Hospital will give a report to the group at 8 p. m. Thursday in the county court room of the Midland County Courthouse on visits to the Stanton and Amherst Co-Operative Hospitals.

The committee is composed of Sherman O'Neal, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Howard, C. C. Thomas, and Jim Baker.

Meet in February
Midland County Citizens became interested in the co-operative enterprise after several had visited the Stanton organization. Judge B. F. White of Stanton, president of the Martin County hospital board, spoke to a group of twenty-five on February 27. At that time the committee was appointed to investigate possible costs and the chance of obtaining surplus Army buildings and medical supplies for a co-operative hospital for Midland County. The committee will report its findings at the meeting Thursday night.

Weather
Clear to partly cloudy and continued cold. Lowest expected temperatures during Thursday night and early Friday, 26-32 degrees in Panhandle, South Plains and upper portions of Pecos Valley Eastward. Friday partly cloudy and not quite so cold in afternoon. Maximum in land 65 degrees, minimum 52. Minimum Thursday morning 34 degrees.

U. S. May Propose Permanent Balkan Boundary Commission

HOUSTON—(AP)—Twenty-one convicts, 12 of them Latin-Americans, escaped from the Harlem State Prison Farm No. 2 near Sugarland early Thursday after slashing a guard with a knife and threatening another with a gun.

Fourteen of the convicts were recaptured, with only seven Latin-Americans remaining at large, Capt. W. W. Hall, assistant manager of the farm, said.

All roads and bridges in the counties surrounding the prison farm are blocked by guards and peace officers in an attempt to round up the seven fugitives still at large, Captain Hall said. Three packs of dogs are being used in trailing some of the men, he added.

Boss' Harrington, inside picket guard, was called to the door of one of the prison farm "tanks" a little after midnight, the prison official said. One of the escapees, believed to be Mitchell J. Carter, pulled a knife, cutting the guard around the head and chest and snatched his keys.

The prisoner unlocked the doors to all four of the inside tanks and then called to the outside picket guard, Henry Lewis, telling him that the inside guard was sick and needed help. The outside man stepped to the door to be met by the convicts armed with Harrington's pistol. Lewis was disarmed and tied up.

Captain Hall stated that apparently all the cell and tank doors were opened by Carter, but that of the 185 prisoners thus freed, only 21 cared to make the break.

All nine of the non-Latin Americans had been captured by about 2 a. m., the prison captain said. Three were picked up on a highway near Richmond while six were captured at Ganado, near Wharton.

Captain Hall guesses that more than half of the seven men still at large would be captured Thursday.

The condition of "Boss" Harrington, who was knifed and knocked out by the prisoners, was described by prison officials as being "all right" although he was still a pretty sick man.

West Texans Are Named Cancer Society Directors

HOUSTON—Selection of Dr. A. H. Fortner, Sweetwater, and Mrs. R. J. Wallace, Colorado City, as representative directors for District 2 of the American Cancer Society, Texas Division, was announced Thursday by Dr. E. W. Bertner, Houston, chairman of the executive committee.

The duties of the two representative directors will be to supply leadership for the cancer fund raising campaign in April and to help organize the counties of District 2 for a year-round educational and service program in the field of cancer control. District 2 comprises the counties of Andrews, Borden, Dawson, Ector, Fisher, Gaines, Garza, Glasscock, Howard, Kent, Lynn, Martin, Midland, Mitchell, Nolan, Scurry, Stonewall, Terry and Yoakum.

U. S. May Propose Permanent Balkan Boundary Commission

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(AP)—Authoritative sources said Thursday that the United States may propose the establishment of a permanent United Nations boundary commission to watch over the trouble spots in the Balkans.

These sources said U. S. officials felt it was advisable for such a commission to watch the borders of Greece, Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria for some time.

Such a step appeared to be tied in closely with President Truman's declaration on America's new foreign policy aimed at halting the world march of Communism, especially in the Balkans.

There was no indication just how far the American delegation to the United Nations had gone toward drawing up a plan for a permanent UN boundary commission. But authoritative sources said it was under consideration.

An American delegation spokesman said the President's proposals to aid Greece would not conflict in any way with the efforts of the UN Security Council's Balkan Inquiry Commission now studying frontier conditions in Greece, Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

Retaining Strong Army, Navy Rises As US Problem

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman's newly enunciated foreign policy confronted the United States Thursday with the problem of deciding quickly whether to continue reducing its armed strength.

The address to Congress carried no implication that an armed clash is expected or contemplated. However, the armed forces are maintained for the support of foreign policy in time of peace.

At the War and Navy Departments no one was prepared to say immediately what impact any new foreign commitments might have on the planned size of the armed services. It was pointed out, nevertheless, that a critical time element is involved in at least two phases of this general question:

1—Should the planned average strength for the year beginning next July 1 of 1,070,000 for the Army and 571,000 for the Navy be carried out or should the rate of reduction be checked to stabilize the armed services at a higher manpower figure?

2—In this case, will Congress and the White House proceed with Truman's recommendation of March 3 that selective service be not renewed upon its expiration date of March 31?

Forces Weak In Mediterranean
The nation's military forces are of definitely modest proportions in the area where the new foreign policy focuses most sharply, the Mediterranean. The situation in that area seems to be this:

Naval forces—Three light cruisers, the Dayton, Portsmouth and Providence, and six destroyers. Under the rotation plan, a carrier normally would be on station in the Mediterranean, but all such craft in active service now are in the Western Atlantic, most of them on maneuvers in the Caribbean area.

Army ground forces—The nearest organized military force (strength unstated) is headquarters force of the Mediterranean theater of operations at Rome. Some troops also are on occupation duty in the Trieste area, at the head of the Adriatic.

Army air forces—Virtually no American military combat planes in the Mediterranean, although some military transport service is maintained and a few weather stations operated by the USAF.

Overseas Units Weak
(A recent press dispatch from Germany reported that the AAF was returning home all its heavy bombardment aircraft, a report which AAF headquarters here has declined to discuss.)

All of this recalls a recent assertion by a high ranking general. Outlining efforts to get the interim Army into some organized form, he said:

"If we were faced with a crisis tomorrow, our forces overseas would be overrun except in some isolated places."

On the ground that until they receive a directive from the President they will not know the nature or extent of assistance that might be given Greece and Turkey, War Department officials declined to discuss publicly the terms of Truman's suggestions.

Thousands Quit Jobs In Texas As Result Of Odessa Dispute

By The Associated Press
Texas telephone workers left their jobs by the thousands Thursday as a work stoppage which grew out of a five-month-old dispute over a night supervisor in Odessa spread throughout the state.

Long distance service was the first to be curtailed. Only emergency calls were accepted in a number of cities. These and press and radio wires were handled by supervisory personnel. Cities with automatic equipment were not immediately affected.

The first big movement of operators away from switchboards started at 8 a. m., the hour set in several cities for the start of "continuous meetings". Other such meetings were scheduled to get under way at various hours during the day.

More than 1,000 union workers remained away from their jobs at Fort Worth where their "continuous meetings" got under way at 6 a. m. Emergency long distance calls were put through, but there was no rural service, no repair work and no maintenance.

Open Meetings
At Corsicana the operators left a small crew on duty to handle emergency calls and moved across the street to a hotel room where they opened their meeting.

Similar action was taken at Vernon, Tyler, Denison, Gainesville, Pampa and Wichita Falls. At Vernon 36 operators were off duty and more than 100 were out in Denison.

Telephone service in Midland continued on an emergency basis Thursday. Both union and company officials awaited word from the St. Louis conference between union and company representatives and the U. S. Conciliation Service.

The work stoppage came amidst some confusion at Pampa because the city was isolated except by rail Wednesday night during a lashing norther which brought 40-mile an hour winds with gusts up to 70 miles.

Only "death message" calls were accepted at Gainesville. Dallas, Houston, Austin and other operators were to join the work cessation during the afternoon. It has been in progress at Odessa since last Friday.

Vote in Beaumont
Six hundred workers at Beaumont were voting on whether to join the movement. Some union members expected the vote to be overwhelmingly in favor of supporting the Odessa cause. If such is the case, they said they would start their meeting Friday.

Miss Ode Weatherford, chairman of the Paris local, said "Union members in Paris will walk out at 1 p. m. for a continuous meeting." Operators at Victoria Wednesday night expressed sympathy for the Odessa workers, but voted to stay on their jobs.

Conferences to settle the dispute continued in St. Louis between representatives of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, the Southwestern Telephone Workers Union and the U. S. Conciliation Service. No word was forthcoming of what progress, if any, had been made.

Phil Stewart, division manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, said in Dallas that he had not heard a word from St. Louis, but was hoping for some message at any moment.

Governor May Be Called
Gov. Beaufort H. Jester said he had received no proposals to mediate the dispute. D. L. McGowan, president of the Southwestern Telephone Workers Union, was quoted as saying in St. Louis that the governor would be asked to arbitrate.

Operators at Childress stayed away from their switchboards and gathered at drug stores and coffee counters.

No picketing of telephone exchanges was reported since the work stoppage technically is not a strike. (Continued on Page 7)

The election will be held Tuesday, April 1, in the City-County Auditorium. Clint Myrick will be the election manager. A mayor and three councilmen will be elected.

Farm-To-Market Bill To Senate

AUSTIN —(P)— A proposal to build more farm-to-market roads in Texas by reallocation of the state gas tax went to the Senate calendar Wednesday with the approval of the state Affairs Committee.

The bill would require that the State Highway Department spend at least one cent of the two cents it gets from the four-cents gas tax in building and maintaining rural roads.

A bill to levy an additional one cent gas tax for farm-to-market roads was killed by a House committee earlier this week.

The committee approved a measure to exchange teachers with Great Britain and a bill to fix the fee college governing boards may charge non-resident students.

Also approved by the Senate Affairs Committee was a bill to set up annuity funds and a retirement system for state employees. The system would be financed by five per cent from the employees' salary and five per cent state monies.

The committee recommended passage of a bill to raise salaries of certain county officials by 15 per cent in counties of 20,000 to 190,000 population.

There are 110,500 miles of trolley coach, street car, and gas bus routes in the United States.

Odessa's Night Supervisor Denies All Charges Made By Phone Union

ODESSA —(P)— The night supervisor blamed by the telephone union for the Texas walkouts Wednesday flatly denied all union charges.

Mrs. Elizabeth Allen, 34, termed the charges "ridiculous" and answered them point by point.

Mrs. Allen, the widowed mother of a 10-year-old daughter, was charged by Independent Telephone Union members with having improperly distributed Christmas candy, of not knowing her work properly, with abusive conduct and with using physical force on operators.

The dispute began five months ago and reached a climax Friday when union members began what they called a "continuous meeting". The company, after investigating, said it had no basis for either discharging or demoting Mrs. Allen.

Denies Candy Charge

Mrs. Allen Wednesday said she was not responsible for the distribution of the candy, which had been given employees by a subscriber. However, she said the candy was not improperly distributed. She explained that many boxes of candy were brought to the exchange and placed on a desk by the chief operator. The girls were told to help themselves.

She said there were so many boxes that "there was more than enough to go around".

She said one box was left over, and was found long after Christmas. The chief operator placed it on a desk and told the operators that inasmuch as there was just one box, they could have one piece of candy each. She said this might have been the basis for the widely-publicized Christmas candy complaint. She said she, herself, did not get a piece from this box.

Denies Using Force

As to the charge of "shoving" operators' chairs while they were at work, or using force, Mrs. Allen said the chairs did not have rollers and that to shove them around, with an operator in them, would require "quite a shove". She said she never used force on an operator. She said occasionally she would touch an operator on the shoulder to call her attention to a light or a call.

She is of medium height, slender, and weighs about 115 pounds. She was born in Odessa, and has lived there all her life. Her father was an Odessa pioneer, J. J. Ambrugey.

As to the charge of her not knowing her work, Mrs. Allen pointed to her 10-year record of continuous service with the company. She has held her supervisors' post one year.

The Odessa American quoted one operator as saying Mrs. Allen did more than her share of work. She said that, although Mrs. Allen was supervisor, she frequently took head-phones and helped when the switchboards were overloaded.

Meetings Continue

Meanwhile, the union's "continuous meetings" are continuing. Emergency, but sharply curtailed, service is being maintained by company reserves and non-union workers.

The meeting are highly informal, the American said. The workers play cards, listen to the radio, read newspapers and magazines, talk and listen to telegrams from other Texas unions as labor leaders read them aloud.

Once a day formal meetings are held. Mrs. Ruby Thacker, chairman of the local, delivers a brief talk.

George K. Meyer, general traffic employment supervisor of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company who came here to try to settle the dispute, left Wednesday night for Dallas. He is expected to continue to St. Louis to report to officials there.

The clothing, donated to this group will be packed here and shipped to the point in Louisiana specified for shipment to the countries where it is to be distributed. This collection at the Laundrette will be only for clothing given through St. Margaret's Guild and not for the drive as a whole.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat.

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of Liquid Barcenate (formerly called Barcel Concentrate). Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

The Open Bible... Bulwark of Freedom

Strange as it may seem to some, there is no stronger support for freedom than the Open Bible! Wherever its influence is strong, tyranny cannot thrive. Where it is read and loved and obeyed, selfishness in all of its forms finds it difficult even to exist. On its pages one finds God revealed in all of His beauty. And one finds Christ there! And the Church! And all that is good and beautiful and true!

The Bible plainly teaches that the individual is of supreme worth. Even the Sabbath was made for man, said Jesus, and not man for the Sabbath. This fundamental truth is denied by all ideologies that look upon man as a creature of the State. It is denied by those who would use man as a means to an end, rather than the end for whom all creation exists. To protect this doctrine of personal worth, which is fundamental in our democratic way of life, there is no way quite so sure as to rely on the teachings of this Open Book!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Thompson Freed In Kermit Trial

KERMIT—A verdict of "not guilty" was returned here Tuesday night for Wesley Thompson, 66, who had been on trial in 109th District Court for the murder of Archie Green in Crane of December 25, 1945. The verdict was returned 40 minutes after the case went to the jury.

Thompson's trial, moved to Winkler County from Crane on a change of venue, opened Monday morning, with testimony heard Tuesday. The defendant pleaded self defense when he took the stand as the last witness. Judge G. C. Olsen read the charge to the jury and arguments followed in a night session which began at 7:30 p. m. A hung jury resulted when Thompson was tried here last November on the same charge.

Mrs. Radford To Build McMurry Student Center

ABILENE —(P)— Mrs. J. M. Radford will build a student life center on the campus of McMurry College as a gift to the college.

President Harold G. Cooke of the college in making the announcement at the annual meeting of the board of trustees said no sum was fixed on the gift. Cost of the building, which will include a 100,000-volume library, a chapel and a students' social center, was estimated at $350,000.

Dr. Cooke said that Mrs. Radford would build the center as a memorial to her late husband and her family. Radford, one of the section's earliest settlers, founded a wholesale grocery firm which was one of the largest west of the Mississippi River.

Everything Is Big In Texas

The Lilly Review, a publication of the Eli Lilly and Company, Indianapolis, in the February issue mentions Midland in an article, "Home On The Range."

The article says, in part: "the feud between California is a little short of historic, but the nation's largest state ignores that vendetta as being of small consequence, for it knows that Texas boasts the biggest, best and most of everything. From the natives' oversized hats to the very magnitude of the state itself, Texas will take on any challengers to its supremacy."

"The Midland Army Air Field is called 'the granddaddy of all bombardier schools.'"

A picture is shown of bombs being dropped over the near-Midland ranges of the once bombardier school.

Federal Grand Jury Indicts Eastus, Assistant For Income Tax Evasion

FORT WORTH —(P)— A federal grand jury here Wednesday indicted former U. S. District Attorney Clyde O. Eastus and his assistant Joe H. Jones for alleged evasion of income taxes.

In motion of Assistant U. S. District Attorney William Cantrell the indictments were transferred to Dallas for trial before Federal Judge William H. Atwell.

Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, before whom the indictments were returned, set bond for Eastus at $5,000.

Eastus was indicted on five counts, and Jones on six. Cantrell said that an indictment returned against Jones in 1945 and alleging the same offense would be dismissed.

The indictment against Eastus charged him with attempting to evade a part of his income tax in 1942 by filing a false income tax return claiming that the amount both he and his wife owed was $351.21 each, whereas he and his wife actually owed $1,222.91 each.

The indictment further stated that Eastus filed a fraudulent return for 1943 claiming to owe income taxes of $426.17 and that his wife owed $422.92. It was alleged he actually owned $809.84 and his wife owed $814.54.

The indictment against Jones charged that he made an income tax return for the Eastus and Jones law partnership in 1942 reporting ordinary net income of $6,230 after deductions and that the share of each man was $3,115. Actually, the indictment says, income after deductions was $14,556.77 and the share of each was $7,278.38.

Eastus was suspended from the office of U. S. district attorney April 7, 1945, but on July 15, 1945, was reinstated with the understanding that he would not seek reappointment upon the expiration of his term on August 4.

McNeely And Mates Lose Tilt To Beloit

KANSAS CITY — (P) — Fast-breaking Marshall College, its play enlivened by a multitude of trick passes, became the popular choice Thursday to take the National Intercollegiate Basketball Championship as the 32-game tournament moved into the quarter final round.

The Huntington, W. Va., school beat Hamline University of St. Paul 55 to 54 on a free throw by Andy Tonkovich in the final minute of a second round game Wednesday night.

Beloit (Wis) College, which eliminated Cliff McNeely and Texas Wesleyan by a 63-53 count, is paired with Emporia State in the opening quarter final game Thursday night.

Texas Wesleyan's loss to Beloit nipped the chances of McNeely to break the national season scoring record of 777 points set by Brooks Abramovic of Salem, W. Va., in 1942. McNeely hit for 15 points against Beloit to bring his 33 game total to 725.

MINISTER URGES PASSAGE— House Committee Approves Bill To Legalize Parimutuel Betting On Races

Professor Ott

Wearing new glasses, Giants' Manager Mel Ott watches the New Yorks workout in training camp in Phoenix, Ariz.

By DALE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN—Appearance of a minister advocating passage of a bill to legalize parimutuel betting at Texas race tracks stole the show at a House State Affairs Committee hearing Wednesday.

The committee recommended passage of the bill by a 12 to 8 vote. While advocates of the bill found at least one minister for it, opponents also trotted out a horse breeder who was against it.

The favoring minister was the Rev. J. Leslie Finnell, former pastor of the Magnolia Christian Church of Fort Worth, who said he liked to see the ponies run, that he did not believe in betting, but thought it ought to be brought out into the open.

The opposing horse breeder was Otis Cardwell of Junction, who testified he was raising six boys and top quarter horses, and that he didn't want to mess with parimutuel betting.

The committee heard other opponents label the measure as one that would lead people to suicide, encourage inefficiency, promote dishonesty and keep people from paying their debts.

Proponents' Arguments

Proponents said it would keep racing clean, discourage back room bookies, bring gambling on the horses out in the open, promote the breeding of such fine horses as the King Ranch's Assault which won the Kentucky Derby.

They argued it would bring the state millions of dollars in tax revenue and opponents countered by saying the state should not stoop to that extent to fill its coffers.

Dr. D. R. White, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Austin, drew cheers when he thundered: "This bill is not essential to stock raising or improving pastures. You might as well say we need bull fighting in this state to improve the breeding of cattle."

The crowd yelled and clapped again when the Rev. Finnell said: "I went to the race track to see a shepherd to my flock and see that they did not over-bet. It's the intemperance that's wrong. You preachers never saved any souls sitting on a hard-bottomed chair."

Herman Jones, Austin attorney, told the committee that race track gambling and narcotic traffic "go together like ham and eggs."

Opponents sent to the witness box Attorney Jim Langdon of McCamey, a former G-man, who said it wasn't so.

Called "Economic Liability"

H. T. Hinch, representing the Business and Professional Men's Club of Dallas, said horse racing was an "economic liability" and that betting on it drove people to suicide.

Former Rep. Jo Ed Winfree of Houston retorted: "There have been more suicides over women than horses and I would not vote to do away with women."

Robert Kleberg of King Ranch, owner of Assault, told the committee that the public's chief interest was in watching the horses run. He did not think the witnesses who emphasized the gambling phase of the matter "know much about it."

R. T. Hunt of the Dallas Retail Merchants Association said that business men were opposed to the bill, that operation of race tracks is a "bright" on merchandising and a "fictitious lure" that draws small-salaried people who can't afford it.

A telegram from Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Corregidor and Fourth Army commander, urged passage of the bill. Other proponents included G. R. White of Brady, president of the board of directors of Texas A&M College.

Peoples Will Head Aberdeen-Angus Group

FORT WORTH—(P)—Rufus Peoples, Tehuacana, was elected president of the Texas Aberdeen-Angus Association at the organization's annual meeting Wednesday night.

H. E. McCullough, San Angelo, and Troy and John Riggs, College Station, were named vice-presidents. Ed Brewster of Temple was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Happy Shahan, Bracketsville, and Jess Kou of Eldorado, were named directors.

Quarterhorse Group Elects Officers

FORT WORTH—(P)—Albert K. Mitchell of the Bell Ranch, New Mexico, was re-elected president of the American Quarter Horse Association at its annual meeting here Wednesday night.

Officers re-elected were Hugh Bennett, Colorado Springs, Colo., first vice-president; R. E. Hooper, Plainview, second vice-president; and Raymond D. Hollingsworth, Amarillo, secretary-treasurer.

The association directors agreed to open their permanent stud book to stallions having 12 or more of their colts in the tentative stud book, and to mares having three or more of their get in the tentative book.

Blow Torches Help Get Out Newspaper

HAZARD, KY. —(P)—There's nothing that beats a blow torch if you're trying to get out a newspaper, say the mechanical crew of the "Hazard Herald."

A shortage of natural gas during a cold snap stymied the composing room crew. They couldn't get enough heat to melt metal at the proper temperature for casting types. The workers scurried around town and came up with three borrowed blow torches. Pretty soon they had the mats cast and the presses rolling.

Preference For Fish Indicates Locality
BOSTON—(P)—Your preferences in fish are as much a give away as to the place you call home, says Edward Sawyer, head of the fish department for A and P stores.

He finds that fish preference has remained fairly constant during the past 10 years. In Boston, had-dock is preferred while in New York top honors go to cod. Philadelphia wants flounder except when shad is running.

Baltimore buys more croakers but Pittsburg goes all out for had-dock. In Chicago, fresh water fish from the Great Lakes are top favorites while Cleveland, only a few hundred miles away, leans toward North Atlantic varieties.

In the South, preference goes to catfish although Georgia would rather have Florida mackerel. Des Moines, Kansas city, Minneapolis, Milwaukee and St. Louis put ocean perch, commonly called rosefish, at the top of the heap.

Texas likes red snapper while in Louisville and Nashville, whiting is the thing, but Detroit is cod again.

Farmers Income On Commodities Stays On Even Keel

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Agriculture Department reported that the general level of prices received by farmers for all commodities on February 15 remained about the same as on January 15, despite an increase of about $2 per 100 pounds in the price of hogs.

The department said prices of dairy products dropped 5 per cent, and that vegetable oil-bearing crops—such as soybeans and flaxseed—tobacco, poultry and eggs also were lower.

The index prices received by farmers on Feb. 15 was 262 per cent of the 1909-14 average compared with 260 in mid-January and with the postwar peak of 273 per cent last October.

The department said farmers were receiving 119 per cent of parity on February 15 compared with 121 per cent on January 15.

Prices paid by farmers for items used in households and on the farm rose 3 per cent to an all-time high record during the month ended February 15, the department said. Higher prices for lumber and field seeds caused most of the rise since mid-January, although furniture and clothing prices were up.

flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1 cup diced or shredded sharp cheese, 1 teaspoon mustard with horseradish, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 dash cayenne pepper, 2 eggs separated.

Melt fat in heavy saucepan. Stir in flour, salt and 1 cup milk. Cook until smooth and thick. Add cheese and when melted, stir in rest of milk mixed with mustard and horseradish, Worcestershire sauce, dash of cayenne pepper, and egg yolks. Cook 2 minutes more. When ready to serve, fold in egg whites beaten stiff. Serve in soup cups with crisp bread fingers which are dipped into cheese mixture and eaten held in fingers.

Crisp Bread Fingers (Serves 6)
One loaf sliced bread, 1/2 cup melted butter or fortified margarine.

Trim crust from bread, place 2 slices together, sandwich fashion. Cut in fingers and brush all over outside with melted fat. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) about 10 minutes or until delicately browned. Serve 3 pairs in each cup and pass rest as needed.

Chamberlain Had Chickcharney Curse When Facing Hitler

By HAL BOYLE
NASSAU, BAHAMAS—(AP)—If you want to know who really almost lost the Allies the war, it was the terrible curse of the Chickcharneys Bahama's tree-dwelling cousins of the Irish leprechauns.

They put a fearsome hex on Neville Chamberlain, those terrible little men, when the late prime minister was a youth managing his father's sisal hemp plantation on Andros, largest Bahamian Island.

Andros is the home of the legendary Chickcharneys, three-toed and three-fingered white little men and women with malicious powers who live in trees and hate to be disturbed.

They range from 12 to 18 inches in height, have pink fixed and staring eyes, long noses that hang over toothless and almost chinless mouths, and the men sport flame-red beards. They are sun worshippers and rise and set with the sun.

Natives believe that if they glimpse a Chickcharney and avert their head and walk away, nothing will happen. But if you bump into one suddenly face to face, there is only one way to avert the little British colonial gremlin's evil rage. That is to press the thumb and little finger tightly into the palm and hold up your hand. The Chickcharneys only the three fingers and lets you pass—figuring you are a human being just like himself.

Chamberlain, the legend goes, incurred their anger in this wise: He was building a railroad across his plantation. A large tree believed by superstitious natives to be a favorite haunt of the Chickcharneys was in the path. The natives refused to cut it down.

"Boss man he lookin' fer trouble," said an old granny. Chamberlain impatiently imported a crew of men from Nassau who chopped down the tree and built the railroad across its site. The Chickcharneys, natives say, immediately laid a lifelong curse upon him. Soon after the plantation failed and Chamberlain returned to England.

Many years later an old man, on a visit to Nassau, heard about the World War II. The news hadn't penetrated to the swamps of his native Andros. When he learned Chamberlain was prime minister he said:

"Den we gon' lose his war. Duh Chickcharneys don' like dat man." Sometime later the old man was informed that Winston Churchill was in power. Much relieved, he opined:

"Now we gonna win. Duh Chickcharneys hab' n enny grudge 'gin him. Dat'll save us."

Preacher Made County

Richmond In Kentucky

RICHMOND, KY.—(AP)—The Rev. W. E. Davis of Berea is a six-foot, one-inch, 200-pound Disciples of Christ minister, holding pastorates in four rural churches. But that wasn't enough to keep him busy, so he started after lawbreakers. One sortie led to the arrest of eight persons and confiscation of 100 bottles of whisky, two slot machines and several cases of beer in his dry county. The Citizens Committee for Civic Righteousness prevailed upon County Judge J. L. Matherly to name Davis county policeman.

Deaf Youngsters Learn To Speak At Tracy Clinic In Los Angeles

By PAT WATTS
LOS ANGELES—(NEA)—"Go get your coat," Mrs. Spencer Tracy told the pretty, four-year-old youngster.

Not a sound penetrated the child's deaf ears, but he promptly ran for his coat. Mrs. Tracy smiled. Once again she had proved that a child, normally considered "deaf and dumb," can learn to read lips and even talk before it reaches school age.

"Few people are deaf and dumb," she says. "The deaf baby has a voice. He laughs and chirps as hearing babies do. But babies develop speech by imitating what they hear. A deaf child can learn to talk only by imitating the movements of the teacher's lips and the vibrations he feels on her face."

"Speech for the deaf child usually must wait until he is old enough to enter school. But to ease the child's learning to speak at a deaf school, he must have a knowledge of lip reading; he must have habits of attention and cooperation—all called speech preparation—and all of which can be started at home."

Mrs. Tracy knows. She and her screen star husband faced the problem more than a decade ago. Their own son, John, was deaf. He successfully overcame the handicap with the help of his parents and today is a student of a California university.

Four years ago Mrs. Tracy and a dozen other mothers of deaf children got together to do something for all deaf children. The result was the John Tracy Clinic for both parents and children.

The University of California offered the Clinic an old home for its class and work rooms. Mothers and their friends furnished it, painted the wall soft pastel colors, hung colorful pictures on the walls, and rounded up special small-size furniture for the youngsters, two to five years old.

The mother and child enter the school as a unit so that the mother may observe the work of the trained teachers. Mothers also attend courses in child guidance and development of speech.

"Deafness need not be a tragedy," Mrs. Tracy says. "Deaf children can grow up to be happy, well-adjusted members of society. But parents have a big job. Deaf children begin

Congressman Says Too Many Agents Guard President

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill.) says the Secret Service protects President Truman and the White House with so many guards they get in each other's way and block traffic.

The Congressman registered his protest to Secret Service Chief James J. Maloney during hearings on an appropriation bill for the Treasury and Postoffice Departments.

The Secret Service, an agency of the Treasury, operates against counterfeiters and forgers but considers safeguarding the President its principal duty.

Dirksen told Maloney "I think you fellows are absolutely unreasonable in your demands" for funds. The Secret Service proposed to keep the force guarding the President at its present strength to insure "absolute safety during this turbulent reconversion period."

Dirksen said he could see nothing menacing in the reconversion period.

Chocolate Served in Berlin Schools

BERLIN—(AP)—Every fifth day in the Berlin schools is "chocolate day" when the children get a two ounce bar of candy with their school meal from the Allies.

However, the children must eat the chocolate before they leave the school building, because authorities found that grown-ups standing outside school on those days were offering twenty marks for each bar of chocolate and then reselling it on the blackmarket.

Pineapple Workers Get Machine Aid

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—New machines, under development or about ready for use, are taking much of the stoop labor out of the pineapple industry.

A harvesting machine is mounted on a truck and uses an endless belt on a boom. The truck is driven down the row with the boom extending ahead or to one side. The picker drops the ripe fruit on the belt. Formerly, he had to carry large sacks of the fruit along a row.

Another machine will plant pineapple sprouts, one of the back-breaking jobs.

Weed control methods have eliminated hand hoeing. One successful method is to spray an oil emulsion over the ground. It kills weed seeds within three-quarters of an inch of the surface.

Poland Pushes Textile Program

WARSAW, POLAND—(AP)—Poland imported textile raw materials valued at $52,000,000 in 1946. Imports included 41,300 tons of cotton, 19,260 tons of wool, 7,020 tons of flax, 5,313 tons of jute, 13,320 tons of cellulose, 761 tons of oakum and 269 tons of rags.

The Polish government plans to double the import of raw materials in 1947 and quadruple exports to cover about 60 per cent of costs of imports. Textiles were exported in 1946 to Russia, France, Switzerland, the United Kingdom and Norway.

Make 'Em Cry!

BERLIN—(AP)—An audience of 400 actors and backstage hands in a Frankfurt theater suddenly began to cry during a performance of August Strindberg's "Intoxication." The play had to be stopped. "Neue Zeitung" said the theater had been painted with fire-resistant and paint which had the same effect as tear gas.

Mystery of the Rocking Chair

Ma Hoskins has a favorite rocking chair that's worn and shabby, with a noisy creak. Pa Hoskins has listened to that squeak for thirty years... and he decided to do something about it. So he bought a new rocker, and hid the other in the barn.

Ma allowed as how gratted her was... but when Pa missed her one afternoon, he heard a familiar sound that led him to the barn. There was Ma rocking happily in her old chair—squeak...squeak. No need to tell you how Pa felt.

Two Crisis In Relief

President Truman and ex-President Hoover have called attention to two crises in European relief. One is the necessity of financial help for Greece—and incidentally for Britain. The other is the need of food in Germany.

Both would involve the spending of vast sums. And both crises may be looked at in two ways—the humanitarian and the practical. The first element of the problem pretty well explains itself. Greece's plight is still desperate, politically, economically, and nutritionally. The Germans, while they deserve no coddling, shouldn't be allowed to starve. Civilized societies feed even their worst criminal prisoners.

The practical problem is to get three important countries back on their feet. The British government has advised Truman that it cannot continue the financial support of Greece any longer. That is easy to believe. Britain is poor in money, food, manpower, and materials. To continue pouring millions of pounds into Greece might bring British economy close to collapse.

Greece's practical importance is, of course, political. She is the last outpost of British, and therefore of western democratic, influence in the Balkans. Even if one chooses to assume, from conflicting reports, that the present Greek government is scarcely a model of democracy, it is the lesser of two evils to the western democratic mind.

The removal of British support would almost surely give Russia the dominant influence. And if Greece should go communistic, there are some who believe that a political chain reaction would be started.

There would be little to halt Soviet expansion in the Near and Middle East. A Communist Greece would put great pressure on an Italy which already is strongly communistic. If the left should capture the Italian government, a Russian-dominated Europe might be in sight.

Such a possibility if it became an actuality would put Britain in an impossible position. Nor would this country feel comfortable with Generalissimo Stalin the real, if not the official, boss of a vast territory stretching from the English Channel to the Bering Sea.

As for Germany, she cannot remain a charity case indefinitely. The country today is an expensive liability. The products of its resources and skills, put to proper use, are important to Europe's well-being. But Hoover's report indicates that the first need is for food to build up human strength.

The prewar German breadbasket is in the Russian zone. Food produced there stays there or goes east. So it seems up to the British and Americans to get the population in shape to repair and rebuild and to resume industrial production on something like a normal scale.

Money for feeding Germans would not be a popular expenditure. Neither would another loan to Britain to permit continued support of the present Greek government. Communist sympathizers can be counted on for a vigorous fight against the latter.

Nevertheless, we hope that our economy-minded congressmen will not let their zeal for saving taxpayers' dollars blind them to what is at stake. Requests for further military appropriations for Germany and a loan to Britain or Greece will merit a careful, wise, and non-partisan discussion.

The trouble with some of our music is it originated in New York, where everyone is in such a hurry.

Are you using these "hired hands"?

It often seems as though a farmer or rancher never has enough help. But did you ever stop to think that there are literally thousands of people who work for you that you seldom, if ever, see?

These unseen "hired hands" are the scientists of agriculture, who work for you the year 'round in agricultural experiment stations of the nation. Their accomplishments are many—and can benefit you directly in proportion to the advantage you take of their services. They've helped increase productivity of the land, helped develop better-yielding crops, better livestock and poultry. Yet, never satisfied that perfection has been reached, the experiment stations continue to explore the possibilities of further aid to agriculture.

The experiment stations in the 48 states are to the business of agriculture what our research laboratories are to Swift & Company. It is in the research laboratory that we put science to work for us, to improve our products and our business. It costs us money—but we consider it money well spent. Farmers and ranchers are indeed fortunate to have much of their research work done for them—and paid for out of public funds derived from taxes.

We like to think of these agricultural experiment stations as a vast bank of valuable scientific knowledge. To maintain the assets of this bank, millions of dollars from this year's $1,235,055,000 budget of the United States Department of Agriculture go to the various state experiment stations, to conduct experiments sponsored by the U. S. D. A. In addition, about $12,000,000 is provided by the states to staff and maintain the stations.

A Big Market of Little People

A new outlet for meat has been developed! Hundreds of thousands of "little people" in America, the babies of the nation, are now eating meat. Swift's Meats for Babies and Juniors are specially prepared for them. These new products give today's babies a better chance than ever before for robust health and full physical development.

The better the food, the better the baby! That's why doctors are so enthusiastic about Swift's Meats for Babies. They know that meat provides complete, high-quality proteins, the essential body-builders—iron, the blood-builder—and needed vitamins in natural form. They know, too, that these vital food elements in meat are most important when babies are young—actually building their bodies. And so, many doctors are recommending Swift's Meats for Babies and Juniors—strained for the very young and diced for older children.

Two Different Things

There seems to be a good deal of misunderstanding about two factors which are important in the marketing of livestock—grade and price. Simply defined, the purpose of grading is to provide a convenient but necessary means for comparing qualities of the meat animals in a market; or for comparing the animals in one market with those offered for sale in another market. However, grading is not an exact science because it depends to quite an extent on the judgment of the person doing the buying or selling. Grades are standards which take into consideration the sex, weight, quality, conformation and finish of animals.

Now, let's have a look at price. Price is not a factor in determining grade. Just because some animals are in a higher grade does not mean that they always will sell for a higher price than animals in a lower grade. For example, it happens at times that a medium grade of cattle sells for as much or more than a good grade. Such a condition may come about when there is a heavy demand for, but only a light supply of, medium cattle; while on the same day a big supply and a light demand of good grade cattle will not bring so high a price.

The same situation may exist in the case of lambs. In communities where racial customs affect eating habits, there are times when carcasses of lightweight, thin, lean lambs sell for as much as the fat, well-finished, choice type. Again the law of supply and demand is in action.

Always remember that price and grade are two different things. Try to think of each separately, and we believe you will have a much clearer and truer picture of grading and marketing of livestock.

P. C. Smith, Vice President In Charge of Beef, Lamb, Veal

Martha Logan's Recipe for BEEF GOULASH

- 2 pounds beef chuck
- 1/4 cup flour
- 3 tablespoons fat
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 cup celery leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 clove garlic
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1/4 teaspoon sage
- 1 teaspoon caraway seed (optional)
- 1 teaspoon salt

Cut beef into chunks and roll in flour. Melt fat in skillet. Brown meat well. Add remaining ingredients. Cover skillet and cook slowly for 3 1/2 hours, or until tender. (Yield: 6 servings.)

Things are NOT always as they seem
Which of the two shapes shown at left is the larger? The white one or the black one? The white one certainly appears to be bigger. But actually they are exactly the same size. In the livestock-meat industry, too, things are not always as they seem. For example, sometimes people think of Swift's total profits as being large. Yet the actual fact is that in 1946 dividend payments to shareholders were less than 4% on the shareholders' investment; the company's net earnings from all sources were 1 1/2¢ per dollar of sales... only a fraction of a cent per pound of product handled. That seems to be doing business on a mighty narrow margin—and it is!

Big Movie Stars No Longer Making USO Show Tours

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—(P)—Show business is continuing its great work of entertaining men who served their country, but now the little people are doing it, not the big ones.
With only a few glaring exceptions, Hollywood stars gave liberally of their time during the war to entertain servicemen and their efforts were backed up by the rank and file of the show world. Now, with 250,000 patients in veterans' hospitals, the work of providing shows for them is being done almost entirely by the lesser lights. This was evident after a talk with the offices of USO Camp Shows and the Hollywood Co-ordinating Council, which is the clearing house for movie and radio talent.
There are 24 USO units, composed of standard vaudeville acts, touring the U. S. continually, so that each of the 127 veterans' and 59 military hospitals is visited at least every two weeks.
Since the first of the year, only two Hollywood names have gone out on hospital tours—Guy Kibbee and Harpo Marx. Groucho Marx is scheduled to embark on one soon. That's all.

Time And Geography Favor Russia At Meet

By JAMES B. WHITE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
SAN FRANCISCO—(P)—Time and geography deal Russia a strong hand at the foreign ministers' conference in Moscow.
Perhaps almost two years of Allied nibbling around the edges of a European peace settlement only makes clearer the factors which account for Russia's basic world strength.
There is the outspoken pessimism expressed by Secretary of State George C. Marshall.
Marshall said it looked as if a peace with Austria might be written, but he doubted that agreement could be reached on Germany, the really big question.
Later, both British and French delegates said much the same thing. The Soviet press was ahead of them. It already had been sniffing at earlier expressions of such pessimism. Why should anyone be pessimistic, it asked, if he really intended to do his share of the compromising necessary to reach a settlement at Moscow?
This indicates great Russian confidence.
Position Aids Russia
The Russians have the deck on their own table at Moscow, just as the biggest stake of all comes up—what Europe will look like tomorrow.
They occupy a central world position athwart the world's greatest land mass—Eurasia—which may be undeveloped today but which will become stronger the longer they have to develop it.
"It's a spot sought recently by one A. Hitler. It is cushioned around the edges by a fringe of 'friendly neighbors.' No matter how Russia achieved it, this fringe is there to be reckoned with.
To its own people, the Soviet government can and does make out a plausible case that any attempt by the non-Russian world to reduce this overall position is nothing but an aggressive effort to undermine Soviet security.
A weakened British empire sheds its panoply of power around the world. If we do not take it up we may have to see the Russians take it up—that is the American fear. Greece is an example.
Greece may be only a concrete beginning of something that has come face up to the top of the deck.

THE STORY: Sherry likes her job as "reader." Her boss, Mrs. Dood, sends her to Orville Merriman, the famous director with a script. Merriman takes a fancy to her. Peter Barton, a cameraman, drives her home one evening. He seems rather uninteresting.

XIII
SHERRY pushed away a synopsis and laid her head on the desk. With one eye she could see out of the open window and for a while she stared at the green hills, her mind blinking blankly.

It was almost summer, she told herself, that was what was the matter. It had been late but it had come at last. Someone was cutting the lawns outside and the sweet smell of fresh grass wafted warmly through the open window.

Sherry had been working for months. She guessed she was a little tired of routine; getting up to an alarm clock every morning, and getting home at the same time every night. Besides, the boys always needed so much done. She wondered vaguely why men could never find things.

She looked at her watch. Only 3 o'clock. She wished it was 5; she would leave early.

Peter was on location and would not be back in time to drive her home. Sherry had got used to his taking her nights. The boys did not like her to accept rides but they gradually got used to it too. They wanted to see Peter though, and had often told her to bring him in sometime; but for one reason or another she had never done so.

Sherry started to cough. She wished the darn thing would go away. It had hung on after a little cold and kept her awake nights. She coughed for a long time and when she was through she felt weak and dizzy. She went over to the couch and lay down.

Her thoughts rambled untidily. Tony's blue shirt had not come home from the laundry. The mind. It had taken her only a short time at the studio to learn that people did that to be friendly. Now she put her hands on Merriman's shoulders and searched his face eagerly.

"Do you honestly think I can?" she wanted to know.

"Of course you can," Merriman told her. "We'll do it together; you can't go wrong. Then after this script you won't need help."

Sherry slipped one arm around his neck and buried her face on his shoulder.

She said, "I think I'm going to cry."

MERRIMAN laughed and held her away and lifted her face by the chin.

He said, "Why shouldn't you have a break? You're ready for it and you've got the stuff. I've talked to Dood and Sonny. As soon as I'm through shooting you go on writer's salary."

He saw his wrist watch. "I've got to get back. You'll come through all right. I'm confident of that."

He patted her.

"Take care of yourself, dear. Your cheeks are too pink and your eyes are too bright."

Merriman said, "I'll read the book tonight."

After he shut the door Sherry stood and stared at it. So she was going to get a chance to write! The biggest director in the studio was going to give her a break! Orville Merriman had faith in her!

A sudden thought struck her staggeringly. A writer's salary could not be less than $100 a week! She flew to the telephone and called the boys. Tony answered.

Sherry said, "Don't get dinner tonight, darling, we're going out!" Tony wanted to know where.

Sherry laughed.

"How about Marino's?" Tony was practical as usual.

"How about the chops?" Sherry said, "Oh, they'll keep. This is a celebration, Tony! We're millionaires! One of you call for me at 6."

She hung up and went at her work with a vengeance.

synopsis was running too long. Had she given Sandro the ticket for his shoes she had left to be heeled? Tommy Rivers had gone to another studio.

There was a knock at the door and Orville Merriman came in.

He said, "Get up, dear. I just ran over from the set a minute."

Sherry got up anyway, and Merriman handed her a book.

"Read this. It's my next picture."

Sherry said, "Oh, I'd love to!" She was terribly pleased that the director was interested in her opinion. She held the book close to her.

MERRIMAN looked at her for a minute.

"Have you a fever?" he wanted to know.

Sherry said, "I don't think so. I guess it's just warm today. Why? Do I look funny?"

Merriman smiled. "As a matter of fact you look beautiful. More than usual. I've got a rotten cold—these doggone drafty stages."

Sherry said she was sorry and told him how glad she would be to read the book.

Merriman said, "I'm anxious to hear what you think of it, what kind of a picture you'd make of it."

"Who's going to do the script?" Sherry asked. "Steve Prescott?"

Merriman shook his head.

"No. I'm going to work with the writer on it so I wanted someone new. Besides, it's a woman's story."

Sherry said, "Oh, Dale Gibson." Merriman wrinkled his nose.

"Too old. I want a fresh mind. You and I are going to do it."

Sherry stared at him for a minute.

"You mean? You think I—"

Merriman smiled and put his arm around her. Sherry didn't

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
(Written for NEA Service)

While in Chicago recently I watched William McGhee play gin rummy, and it confirmed my belief in his card-playing ability. He played the game as well as I have ever seen it played. McGhee is a rather bold bidder in bridge and depends upon his card playing to deliver the contract. Later I had an opportunity to watch him play today's bridge hand.

It is true that the opponents could have defeated the contract, but even the expert might slip on the defense. West opened the king of clubs, which was won in dummy with the ace. The three of spades was led and East failed to go up with the king, so West was forced to win the trick with the queen. Another club was led, which Mc-

Ghee trumped with the five of hearts. The six of spades was led. East won with the king and shifted to a diamond. McGhee put on the queen and West won with the ace.

West did his best by leading a spade, which East trumped, but McGhee overtrumped with the ace of hearts, then entered dummy by playing the queen of trumps and overtaking with the king.

Another spade ruff established dummy's fifth spade. Now dummy was entered by playing the deuce of hearts and the losing diamond was discarded.

McGhee did not depend upon finding the diamond ace in the East hand because the bidding indicated that it was held by West. If he had led the jack of spades from dummy, in all probability East would have covered with the king. Now when the diamond ten came out, West would win with the ace and could immediately return a diamond, knocking out McGhee's other diamond honor and defeating the contract.

Minor Married Girls Not Subject To Prosecution

AUSTIN—(AP)—The attorney general has held in an opinion that a 17-year-old girl who is married is not subject to a criminal prosecution on criminal charges.

The opinion said that a Texas statute which provides that females under 21 years of age upon marriage are deemed to be of full age, and shall have the rights and privileges to which she would have been entitled had she been at time of marriage of full age, has no bearing upon the question of crime by a delinquent juvenile.

The purpose of that law, the opinion said, was only to emancipate any female of marriageable age from the disabilities of minority upon her marriage.

Howard County Attorney George T. Thomas of Big Spring requested the opinion.

Heart Disease One Of Chief Causes Of Suffering And Death In U. S.

By MARC J. PARSONS
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK —(NEA)— In the second-floor corridor of a hospital clinic in Manhattan's teeming upper east side, 50 people sat stiffly on straight-backed wooden benches patiently awaiting their turn to see one of a half dozen doctors on duty.

Ages of those 50 people varied from the low teens to the eighties. They had one thing in common: all were "cripples without crutches", suffering from heart trouble—like 7,000,000 fellow Americans.

A few of the 50 will die, perhaps in the next few weeks. A few may live a normal life expectancy. The doctor carefully can explain to each his own particular physical limitation within which he has the best chance of survival and a nearly Albert Linton, chairman of the Life Insurance Medical Research organization. That group, supported by 149 U. S. and Canadian life insurance companies, has contributed $733,000 towards heart research in the last two years. Other funds are slowly becoming available. A privately endowed New York City foundation a few weeks ago gave the income from a million dollars for the study of hypertension (high blood pressure), one of the five basic heart diseases. But research still is inadequate compared to the magnitude of the problem.

Research, however, is only one aspect in the cure of the nation's heart troubles. In strike-troubled 1946, the number of man-days of labor lost through heart disease almost equalled the number lost in labor disputes. Many of these could have been saved if properly organized community rehabilitation programs were available to redirect the activities of cardiacs into economic channels where they can be utilized without danger to themselves.

"If our nation is to meet the threat of heart disease, every thinking man and woman must know the facts about this ruthless killer," says Dr. David D. Rutstein, medical director of the association.

"The public must be told about the causes of heart disease. Every citizen must understand how high blood pressure, infections, overweight and rheumatic fever contribute to heart disease. Every citizen must realize the importance of a public health program right in his own community as a means of attacking heart disease.

"It is true that heart disease is on the increase, that it is the greatest cause of death. But it is not true that nothing can be done about it. Medical science has made and is still making progress in the care, prevention and treatment of heart disease. Thousands of persons with diseased hearts are living comfortable and useful lives by cooperating with their physicians, by working at jobs suited to their heart conditions. Many are living as long as they could reasonably expect to live without heart disease. In certain types of heart disease there is even a chance for complete recovery."

Loot From Kiev Found By Americans

BERLIN—(P)—Fifteen thousand volumes of books and periodicals from the library of the Kiev institute for research in physics and chemistry have been located by the monuments, fine arts and archives section of the U. S. Military Government. It was announced today.

The library was found at the "Festsplienhaus" in Bayreuth, Bavaria, together with 1,000 pieces of laboratory material, and the entire collection is now being inventoried under the direction of U. S. Government Property Control. The property will remain there until a restitution claim from the Soviet Union has been approved.

Some of the books and periodicals in the collection date back to 1830.

UNIQUE COLLEGE

Gallaudet college, in Washington, D. C., was founded in 1864 by Edward Gallaudet with seven deaf students. The college today has 160 students, all deaf. The government pays tuition and board expense for 145 students, with the other 15 paying $700 a year.

Where a doctor's work ends, hers begins: Social Worker Frances Levey discusses rehabilitation problems with a heart patient at New York's Hospital for Joint Diseases.

normal life. He can provide a diet to remove excessive weight and reduce heart strain. In cases where the heart is actually worn to the point it can no longer carry its full load of body work, the doctors can sometimes provide medication that will ease or stimulate it. Beyond this, the patient must await results of new research, the financial support of which has been extremely limited.

In a little cubicle, along one side of the corridor, sits a young, dark-haired, carefully trained social worker. Where the doctor's medical advice ends, hers begins. For a heart patient she is as vital in many cases as the doctor himself. It is the social worker who helps these "cripples without crutches" readjust themselves so that they may live within the physical pattern medically required, to try to keep them from becoming a burden upon their families and upon society.

The pattern of this clinic is repeated a thousand times in cities across the country. But it isn't enough.

During the war years heart diseases killed six times as many Americans as were killed in action on the world battle fronts; they annually account for as many deaths as the next five greatest causes of death combined. Yet until recently research into the causes and cure of heart diseases amounted to only 17 cents for each death from such causes—compared to a research expenditure of $2.18 per cancer death and $502 per death from infantile paralysis.

$40,000,000 Loan To Chili Expected

WASHINGTON—(P)—Diplomatic authorities said a $40,000,000 world bank loan to Chile is expected to be granted shortly after John J. McCloy takes over as head of the international monetary agency March 17.

The loan, these informants said, needs only the approval of the new bank president.

Chile's new administration under President Gabriel Gonzalez Videla applied for the loan for construction and development of industry and transportation.

Cottage Cheese Supplies Protein

Lettuce stuffed with cottage cheese makes protein-rich lunch.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

An average serving of cottage cheese supplies as much protein as the average serving of meat, or fish. Well-seasoned cottage cheese sieved and spread on rounds of toast, or crackers, makes tasty appetizers. Finely minced onion or chives gives the cheese an added bit of zip. Almost any fruits or vegetables may be used with it. A salad, with a good-sized serving of cottage cheese as the base, may become the main dish of the meal.

Lettuce Stuffed With Cottage Cheese
(Serves 4-6)

One large head lettuce, 1 1/2 cups cottage cheese, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 1/4 cup thin radish slices, 1/4 cup minced celery, 2 tablespoons diced green pepper, few grains cayenne.

Remove core from lettuce and let a stream of water run hard into the head to wash; crisp in refrigerator. Blend cottage cheese with salt and other ingredients. Spread outside leaves of lettuce to loosen head slightly. Fill center with cottage cheese mixture and return to refrigerator to chill for an hour before serving. Place on salad platter, garnish top of cheese with paprika. Cut in wedges and serve with French salad dressing.

Russian Noodles
(Serves 6)

Five ounces medium cut noodles, 1 cup cottage cheese, 2 tablespoons butter, 1/4 cup fresh green onion, finely chopped, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, salt, pepper to taste, buttered crumbs.

Cook noodles in boiling, salted water only until tender, then drain thoroughly. In the meantime, melt butter in saucepan, add onion and cook until yellow. Add flour and pour into a well-buttered two-quart casserole or baking dish. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 25 to 30 minutes, or until the mixture is thoroughly heated and the crumbs are lightly browned.

Longfellow Home Is Rooming House

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—(P)—The 188-year-old Henry Wadsworth Longfellow house in Cambridge's exclusive Brattle St. has been turned into a rooming house because of the housing shortage.

The Cambridge board of appeals has granted Miss Anna L. Thorp, the poet's grandniece, permission to use the historic colonial mansion in this fashion provided a fire escape is installed.

Eleven persons, including three Radcliffe students lodged in the attic, now occupy the house under the technical classification of "guests."

Washington slept here. The structure was his headquarters for some time after he came to Cambridge to take command of the Continental Army.

The house was built about 1759 by Col. John Vassall, a refugee in the Revolution. Its graceful proportions and plastered entrance make it an outstanding example of New England Georgian architecture.

This is not the first time it was used as a rooming house. Longfellow originally came there as a young Harvard professor to lodge with the Widow Craike. Later he married his landlady's daughter and lived in the house for 50 years.

Much of his poetry was written in the study, notably the popular "Children's Hour."

His grandson Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Dana—son of "Edith with golden hair" of the poem—is a tenant there now.

Solon Hails Cut In Federal Appropriations

WASHINGTON—(P)—Rep. Canfield (R-N. J.), said Thursday House passage of the $12,338,029,971 Treasury-Post Office appropriation is "the first move of a reorganized Congress to produce real economy in government."

"The bill's total is $897,072,750 less than President Truman recommended for the 1948 fiscal year starting July 1.

House passage late Tuesday came by a 387 to 0 vote after Democrats were beaten back, 107 to 57, in an attempt to set up an indefinite sum for payment of tax refunds.

Including the disputing tax refund section, the House cut the Treasury's fund $82,716,750 under the budget estimate, leaving $10,857,496,720. The Post Office allotment was pared to $1,530,733,250, or $14,356,000 less than the budget estimate.

England makes use of about 140,000,000,000 stamps every week.

Belgium Premier Resigns After Red Cabinet Quits

BRUSSELS—(P)—Prince Charles, regent of Belgium, accepted Wednesday the resignation of Premier Camille Huysmans and his Left-Wing coalition cabinet, which has been in office since August 2.

The four Communist members of Huysmans' cabinet resigned Tuesday in a dispute which followed a boost in the price of coal and the premier, a Socialist, decided Tuesday night that he would be unable to continue in power without Communist support.

Romanian King May Grow Vegetables

BUCHAREST—(P)—King Mihai has been asked by his agriculture minister to plant vegetables in the palace gardens instead of flowers to help combat famine.

Traian Savulescu, the minister, announcing a new general agricultural mobilization law was being drafted to help fight Romania's food shortage, said that even members of Parliament will be asked to join in ploughing and tilling, along with other citizens.

Indirectly he admitted negotiations for relief grain in Washington had not progressed and he told the chamber of deputies that Romania must rely on her own efforts rather than on outside help.
