Bailey was picked up in St. Louis in connection with auto thefts, and after being questioned it was announced that he had signed written confession to the murder of Elizabeth Short, which happened in Los Angeles last January.

C. B. Dunagan Funeral Held Here Wednesday

Funeral services for C. B. Dunagan, 88, pioneer resident of Midland, were held Wednesday afternoon at the residence of a son, H. B. Dunagan, Sr. here.

The Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery.

Dunagan, a former Midland County clerk, had lived in Midland since 1906, and was well-known throughout this section.

Oil Workers Offer To Arbitrate With Shell

HOUSTON (AP)—CIO Oil Workers have offered to end their six-day strike at the Shell Oil Company's Deer Park refinery and chemical plant if the company will arbitrate the 14 points at issue.

C. H. Cansler, president of the Union's Local 367, announced Wednesday after a day of negotiations with company officials and James C. Hubbard, United States labor conciliator, that his organization was ready to arbitrate.

Earlier this week Shell officials said the union was asking for arbitration of "broad management responsibilities."

The forecast for Friday is cloudy and little change in temperature. The lowest Wednesday was 36, the highest 70. The low, Thursday was 42.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

AUSTIN — (AP) — The House Thursday brought back to life Rep. C. S. McLellan's natural gas tax bill after Speaker W. O. Reed had ruled the measure "void and dead." The vote was 100 to 38. McLellan's bill as amended in committee is designed to raise approximately $36,000,000 yearly to help raise teachers' pay to a $2,000 minimum and to expand the farm-to-market road building program.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Official designation of the McCloskey Hospital at Temple, Texas, as "the 36th Division Memorial Veterans Hospital" was proposed Thursday by Rep. Teague (D-Texas).

LONDON — (AP) — Radio messages reported Thursday the crippled British motorship Fagusta had been abandoned in the Bay of Biscay and that several of the 19 persons on board were feared missing.

Tank Does Rescue Duty

(NEA Telephoto) Pressed into service as a means of moving bungalow dwellers from the flooded river areas around Windsor, England, this British Army tank plows through the water. Snow and heavy rains combined to cause most of Southern England to be flooded under water four feet deep in some sections.

Calves, Lambs And Hogs Bring High Prices At Livestock Show Auction

Eighteen premium, baby-beef club calves averaged 53.2 cents a pound; 97 fat and fancy lambs sold for an average of 44.2 cents a pound, and 16 fat barrows brought an average of 38 cents a pound at the spirited auction sale which closed the successful Sixth Annual Midland Livestock Show Wednesday afternoon.

The sale was held in the arena of the Midland Livestock Auction Commission Company, with M. G. (Mac) McConal doing the auctioneering. A large crowd of buyers from Midland and surrounding cities and counties was present to bid on the classy stock offered by the 4-H Club and FFA members from a nine-county area.

The First National Bank of Midland bid in Perry Walker's 790-pound drylot champion calf at $1.00 per pound, and J. E. (Bob) Hill, Midland ranchman, paid 90 cents a pound for James Fryar's 842-pound milked champion.

Both Walker and Fryar are from Howard County. Walker's calf was bred by O. H. McAllister of Midland, and Winston Brothers of Snyder were the breeders of the Fryar calf.

Senate Panel Studies Evidence Supporting Teacher Pay Boost

AUSTIN — (AP) — A mass of evidence supporting two sharply differing methods of paying Texas teachers more money, looking toward raising educational standards generally, was in the hands of a Senate Finance Subcommittee Thursday.

It was developed at a public hearing that ran well past midnight, that brought some sharp words and accusations, but which both sides finally agreed shed some light on the 50th Legislature's major problem.

Hazelle Midkiff's Midland County grand champion lamb, sold to the Santa Rita Wool Company of San Angelo at $1.15 a pound, the highest price of the sale.

Leland Howard's grand champion barrow brought 40 cents a pound from M. F. King of Midland.

The sale averages were among the highest reported at any West Texas sale this year. Last year's average for calves at the Midland show was 37.3 cents, and for lambs 40 cents.

A floor for the resale of calves was bid in by Bob Hill and 26.25 cents a pound; hogs 26 cents; and lambs 22.75 cents a pound by Buddy Calcutte, Upton County 4-H Club boy.

The sales record:
Beef Calves
(Listing seller, buyer, weight and price per pound.)

Dearborn Survivors Reach California

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP)—A one-armed radio operator who finally ground out a powerful distress signal on a makeshift set after four attempts had failed was acclaimed a hero Thursday by 10 survivors of the broken tanker Fort Dearborn.

While the Navy continued to search for 12 or 13 more crew members still missing, the 10 survivors who reached San Francisco Wednesday gave the full, gripping story of how their ship snapped apart just after midnight March 12 during a storm and east them adrift on the low section for 50 hours.

Interviewed aboard the liner General W. H. Gordon, one of the rescue vessels, they all credited "Sparks" — Radioman Henry F. Wiehr of Los Angeles—with saving their lives.

Wiehr, despite the handicap of only one arm and smashed glasses, sought vainly to transmit an SOS with broken, water-soaked equipment, and finally, with the help of the chief steward, rigged an emergency set in the chartroom.

The weak SOS was picked up by the SS John Foster nine hours after the Fort Dearborn broke, and was relayed to the American President liner General Gordon which was closer to the wreck scene. The General Gordon steamed 300 miles and reached the drifting bow section in 16 hours.

Two of the Gordon's lifeboats were smashed and one, eight-man crew nearly lost in the initial rescue attempts before the survivors were picked up by a motor launch from a second rescue ship, the freighter St. John Victory. They later were transferred to the Gordon.

1,000 Trapped By Floods In England

LONDON — (AP)—Thousands of soldiers, civilians, police and German war prisoners fought a losing battle Thursday to hold back overflowing rivers which already had spread destruction and misery through scores of towns and villages. Aid was on the way to stricken communities.

The Army amphibians sped toward the mining village of Bentley near Doncaster in Northern England, where a telegraphed SOS said Wednesday night 1,000 persons had been trapped without food for more than 24 hours.

"Bosom desperate," E. Whitley, chairman of the Bentley Urban District Council, wired Evelyn Walkden, member of Parliament for the area. Whitley said small boats could not get through churning waters of the Don River surrounding the town and added: "Power-driven boats essential for food distribution and evacuation of people." Walkden arranged for army help.

The amphibians were not expected to reach the town until late Thursday.

Meanwhile, Doncaster police planned another attempt to take food in by rowboat.

Major John E. Miller Receives Luxembourg Government Citation

MAJ. JOHN E. MILLER, post engineer at Midland Army Air Field until his transfer to Perrin Field about three months ago, has been awarded the Grand Ducal National Ordre de la Couronne de Cheve, Grade de Chevalier, by the Luxembourg Government, according to information received here Thursday.

Major Miller was a combat engineer, not the European Theater, and was severely wounded in action. He has several battle stars.

He now is undergoing treatment at Brooke General Hospital in San Antonio where he has been since February 26.

Filibuster Maker Loses In Effort To Amend Mineral Bill

AUSTIN — (AP)—The Senate Thursday killed an amendment which Wednesday was the subject of a five hour filibuster by Senator Jimmy Phillips of Angleton.

The vote was 17 to 9.

Under an agreement made Wednesday night that Phillips would complete his "explanation" to the 33-year-old senator took the floor in the House bill to extend mineral leases on state-owned submerged lands was laid out as unfinished business.

"I believe you thoroughly understand the details of my amendment," Phillips said, his voice hoarse from Wednesday's verbal ordeal. "The time has come to vote on my amendment."

Senator Howard Carney spoke briefly against the amendment.

"All this amendment would do is kill the bill," Carney said, "I move that we table it."

Authority to Land Board
The bill, by Rep. Donald Markle of Galveston, gives the State School Land Board authority to evaluate and extend leases on submerged state land.

Phillips' amendment would have placed the negotiation of bids on a competitive bidding basis.

Many 25-year leases now held on submerged lands expire within the next few years. The Markle bill would allow extension of these leases as long as the lease continued to produce.

He ended his speech marathon Wednesday night with a motion to adjourn in order that a Senate subcommittee could hold its hearing on teachers pay raise bills.

"If it were not for the fact these teachers have come, some of them hundreds of miles, for this hearing, I would fight this iniquitous bill as long as my strength held out."

South Side Political Meeting To Be Held Thursday Evening

A political meeting called by a South Side citizens committee of which Col. J. B. Wright is chairman will be held in the Calvary Baptist Church, 1001 South Main Street, at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

Candidates in both the city and school elections have been invited to attend, Colonel Wright said.

The meeting is open to the public, and Colonel Wright urged a large attendance of South Side residents.

McCamey Man's Mother Dies In San Angelo

MCCAMEY — Funeral services were held in San Angelo Thursday for Mrs. C. E. Horton, 55, mother of C. E. Horton of McCamey, who died in a San Angelo hospital Wednesday. Following the services in San Angelo, the body was taken to Ranney for interment Friday.

Mrs. Horton had resided in San Angelo five years.

Says Time Too Short For UN To Take Over

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Undersecretary of State Acheson expressed conviction Thursday that American intervention in Greece and Turkey to block the spread of Communism will not "lead to war."

That question was raised by Representative Mansfield (D-Mont.) as the House Foreign Affairs Committee questioned Acheson on President Truman's broad program to send money, material and military missions to the two Mediterranean countries.

Acheson hesitated for a moment and then solemnly declared: "I was going to say—no possibility that it would lead to war." He paused again then added: "Would strengthen democracy."

"I don't think it could lead to war. By strengthening the forces of democracy and freedom, you do a great deal to eliminate the friction between great powers."

On the other hand, he said, collapse of Greece and Turkey "might set off a chain reaction" among other countries—both to the East and to the West—"struggling under similar pressure."

He was asked bluntly by Representative Smith (R-Wis.) whether Congress should assume the United States will pursue the same policy in other countries.

"I don't think it is ever correct to assume anything," Acheson replied. "There are other areas in which we may not be able to give help. There are countries in which we may give aid in a different way."

Can't Wait for UN
He insisted that help for Greece and Turkey to resist Communist aggression cannot wait for United Nations action but assured the lawmakers:

"There is no possibility of putting the responsibility for extending the aid which Greece has asked from the United States on some other nation or upon the United Nations," Acheson told the committee.

Even if the project were not blocked by the objections of certain members of the United Nations, he said, "much time would have been lost and time is of the essence."

His emphasis on that point obviously was intended to offset the argument by some Congress members that the international organization, not the European alone, should deal with the problem.

Sand Hills Hereford Show Opens Thursday

ODESSA — A "Parade of Victory" through the downtown streets of Odessa opened the annual Sand Hills Hereford Show here Thursday. It will continue through Saturday.

More than 400 head of cattle, sheep and horses will compete for show premiums totaling approximately $1,700. The judging started Thursday afternoon.

Quarter horses will be judged Friday morning, and registered Herefords Friday afternoon. Club calves and lambs will be sold at auction Saturday morning.

A total of 103 club calves, 115 registered Herefords, 65 quarter horses, and many fat lambs and breeding sheep are entered in the annual event.

Eight West Texas Oil, Products, And Gas Pipelines Planned Or Underway

DALLAS — (AP) — Nearly 20,000 miles of oil and gas pipelines are planned or in construction in the United States, the Petroleum Engineer said in its annual pipeline number. Many of the lines are in Texas.

The magazine predicted that pipeline construction and expansion will reach an all time high during 1947 and estimated the cost at between $1,000,000,000 and $2,000,000,000.

Pipelines already authorized by the Federal Power Commission include 3,953 miles of crude oil lines proposed or in work, 1,988 miles of oil products lines and 3,779 miles of natural gas lines. Applications for another 9,807 miles of natural gas lines are before the commission.

American companies will build a large number of lines outside the United States, the magazine said. Work on these is expected to go slowly, but a huge backlog of pipeline construction is indicated for lines in the Middle East, South America and other regions.

Texas projects listed by the Petroleum Engineer as either underway or proposed include:

Crude Oil Lines:
The Texas Pipe Line Company and Shell Pipe Line Corporation—500-mile, 20, 22 and 24 inch lines from Permian Basin of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico, to Cushing, Okla.

Magnolia Pipe Line Company—650 miles, 20 inch, Corsicana to Patoka, Ill.

Atlantic Pipe Line Company—50 miles, 8 inch, West Texas.

Standish Pipe Line Company—229 miles, 12 inch, Goldsmith to Borger.

Standline Pipe Line Company—75 miles, 16 inch, West Texas Extension.

Phoenix Pipe Line Company—600 miles, 8 inch, Permian Basin area to Phoenix, Ariz.

Mid-Way Pipe Line Company—600 miles, Permian Basin area to Oklahoma and Kansas.

Products Lines:
Cosden Petroleum Corporation—225 miles, 4 inch, Big Spring to Weatherford.

Phillips Petroleum Company and Shamrock Oil and Gas Company—365 miles, six inch, Borger to Denver.

Natural Gas Pipe Lines:
El Paso Natural Gas Company—988 miles, 24 and 26 inch, West Texas to Blythe, Calif. Estimated cost: $53,300,000.

Motor Carriers Are Reminded Of Tax

Charles Shepard, tax supervisor for the State Comptroller's office, visiting in Midland Thursday, reminded "over the road" motor carriers that the Intangible Tax reports were due in Austin by March 1.

Those who have not reported or those filing false reports are subject to a fine up to $5,000, Shepard said. He added that carriers not paying the Intangible Tax owe a 2.2 per cent gross receipts tax on hauls for hire between or through two or more incorporated towns in Texas. Assistance in filing these reports may be secured at the comptroller's district office in the Petroleum Building, Big Spring.

Army Has Openings For Disabled Vets

The Regular Army has openings for partially disabled combat-wounded veterans, Sgt. James C. McNeil, Midland recruiter, announced Thursday. They must possess or be trainable in certain critically needed skills.

Applicants for the openings must meet general Army physical standards with exception of their specific combat, incurred disability and must be able to care for their own personal needs.

Sergeant McNeil said pensions or other government compensations will be suspended while on active duty, but will be resumed the day following discharge. If the applicant's physical status is made worse by his tours of active duty, additional compensation will be paid by the Veterans Administration, McNeil said.

Cattle Raisers' Officers Chosen

FORT WORTH—(AP)—R. B. Anderson, manager of the Waggoner estate at Vernon, M. H. W. Ritchie, manager of the Ja Ranch at Palo Duro, and Tom Armstrong of Armstrong were elected directors of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association here Wednesday at the final session of the 70th annual convention.

Other members of the board, except W. T. Montgomery of San Antonio, accepted re-election.

A prediction of a $20 to $22 per 100-pound cwt market and a $25 per hundredweight market from now until Autumn was made by A. B. Mauder, president of the National Independent Meat Packers Association and a member of Agriculture Secretary Anderson's Livestock Marketing and Research Committee, the first speaker.

Meat Inventories Full
Maurer pointed out that this is the end of the short supply period in cattle by-products, that meat inventories now are full, that the biggest foreign buyer, Great Britain, will not purchase choice beef and that chicken and turkey freezer stocks are excessive in backing his statement that the live cattle market has passed its peak.

Maurer said he does not believe the cattle market will collapse, however, adding:

"Several times during the past few weeks beef prices have touched levels which I think are satisfactory to the consumer at the present level of income."

Predictions of $1 hams and pork chops were ridiculed by Maurer as "mystical forecasts" and prices out of reach of the average consumer.

Funeral Held For Pecos Fire Victims

PECOS — (AP) — Funeral Services were held at Saragosa Wednesday for Angelina Lopez, 22, and her two children, who died Tuesday from burns received in a fire that destroyed their home. The children were Maria, 9, and Margarita, one. The fire is said to have started when the mother tried to start a kitchen fire with kerosene.

Wilson Predicts More Oil Imports

NEW YORK—(AP)—This country will reduce oil exports and increase imports in the future, Robert E. Wilson, board chairman of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, told the World Conference on Mineral Resources Wednesday.

"We can hardly expect to go on indefinitely producing 65 per cent of the world's oil from 30 to 35 per cent of the world's proved reserves, or 15 per cent of the favorable land area," he said.

"However, we must not allow imports to come in on a basis which will discourage the continued search for new reserves or the development of substitute fuels."

Discussing synthetic processes, Wilson said gasoline requirements for about 12 years could be met from known natural gas reserves, but pointed out these resources would not be used entirely for gasoline.

"For an additional three to four cents per gallon," he said, "gasoline can be made from coal, by a modification of the same process, and the U. S. coal reserves are adequate for 1,000 years."

"Increases in the use of liquid fuels will be the principal factors in an anticipated 1970 demand for 2,800,000,000 barrels of crude oil or its equivalent—56 per cent more than the 1945 demand," he said.

Africa has a more uniform climate than any other great division of the globe.

Mrs. James N. Allison, 601 West Storey Street, was hostess Wednesday afternoon for the meeting of the Woman's Wednesday Club when a program on "Old Glass—European and American" was presented by Mrs. J. M. DeArmond.

Mrs. Ernest Sidwell, president, directed the meeting. The resignation of Mrs. R. L. Foulks was accepted. Mrs. C. M. Goldsmith and Mrs. R. M. Turpin reported on the eighth district federation meeting at Indian Lodge.

Two amendments to the club constitution were suggested. They were included in the standing committees and that the historian be an elective officer.

Mrs. W. G. Whitehouse, counselor, reported on the health and welfare issue of the Federation News.

Mrs. Margaret Murray and Mrs. L. W. Sager were guests.

Other members present were Mrs. Russell Conkling, Mrs. Al Cowden, Mrs. Clyde Cowden, Mrs. Andrew Fasken, Mrs. Dave McKee, Mrs. Erle Payne, and Mrs. John Perkins.

HEADS TU LEAGUE

Peggy Bissell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bissell, 107 West Pennsylvania Avenue, who is a junior student in the University of Texas, has been elected president of the Campus League of Women Voters. Miss Bissell was formerly chairman of the legislative committee.

Good Stories are Priceless

Everyone enjoys a good story—children, young people, adults—there are no exceptions. The better the story is told, the more thrilling the action, the more appealing the characters, so much greater is the enjoyment. And if the story is true, then new lustre is added.

Parents are continually looking for stories to tell their children. And wise parents look for stories that also teach everlasting truths about life, and how it can best be lived.

The stories in the Bible are the cherished stories of generations. They are told by masters in the art of story telling. Their characters are interesting, their plots exciting. They are stories of real people, containing timeless truths.

You and your children will find these stories unique, wholesome and thrilling. You and your children can look forward to many happy evenings, as you discover together the eternal appeal of the Bible stories.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Smaller Nations
May Give Views
On Reich Treaty

MOSCOW—(AP)—Deputies of the Four Power foreign ministers were reported Thursday to have agreed that at some future point, all Allied belligerents and all former enemy states which turned against and fought Germany should have a chance to express their views on the German treaty.
The agreement was described as coming at the last minute, before the deputies were to submit their recommendations and their various open disputes to the foreign ministers themselves.
Soviet Deputy Andrei Y. Vishinsky had contended that participation by the Allied states in making the German treaty should be held to the Potsdam formula, under which only "directly interested" would take part. U. S. Deputy Robert Murphy and British Deputy Sir William Strang had urged broader small-nation participation.

Mexicans Children Are Overcome By Gas
Four Mexican children were overcome by gas Wednesday afternoon on North Terrell Street when the car in which they were riding was flooded by carbon monoxide gas. The children, ages three, six, nine and thirteen, were taken to a hospital for emergency treatment. They were released later in the day. The driver and another in the front seat were not affected.

Midland To Have New City Softball Park

The City Council Wednesday voted to equip and ready for play immediately, a new city softball park on a block of ground owned by the city on N. West Front Street between D and E Streets. The new diamond will be lighted for night play. The lighting equipment used last season at the old South Main Street softball park will be installed.

The expense of moving the grandstand from the South Main diamond to the new park was authorized by the council. Approval of the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce in the proposed moving of the grandstand will be sought. The Jaycees have a financial interest in the bleachers, which were erected under their sponsorship.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTEETH at any drug store.

Dallas Cagers To Play Phillips 66 In National AAU

DENVER — (AP) — The Goliaths of the American Basketball League held five of the eight quarter final berths in the National AAU tournament Thursday but they'll have competition from the dark horses for one more day, anyway.

Five ABL members, including Bartlesville's national champions, came through Wednesday's third round firing unscathed. The others were second-seeded Oakland, Denver, Hollywood and Los Angeles.

But three clubs from the tough Western AAU circuit fell by the wayside before unheralded teams from Dallas, Seattle and Golden, Colo.

The Golden team won with surprising ease from the San Diego Dons, 61-44; Dallas whipped Pocatello, Idaho, 58-44, and Seattle eliminated fourth-seeded Oklahoma City's Continental Airlines, 39-29.

For two of the dark horses—Dallas and Golden — Thursday night's quarter final round probably will be the end of the trail. Dallas must meet high-powered Oakland and Golden is matched with Bartlesville, the national champion for four straight seasons.

Girl Scored 221 Points More Than Cliff McNeely

HILLSBORO — (AP) — Who's this Clifton McNeely? The Texas Wesleyan star scored 725 points during the past season to lead the nation. He averaged almost 22 points per game.

Well, says Bill Woodside, sports editor of The Hillsboro Mirror, in surveying the season in high school girls basketball following in the annual state tournament here, Regina Prikrly of Penelope flipped in 956 points. Her average was exactly 22 per game as she led Penelope to fourth place in the state and landed on the all-state team.

Longhorns Favored To Win Western NCAA

By SKIPPER PATRICK

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — The University of Texas Longhorns, who twice have been eliminated by the eventual national champion, are favored to top the four-team field in the Western Regional NCAA basketball tournament Friday and Saturday.

Both of their conquerors in previous play-offs, Oregon and Wyoming, went on to win the national crown, just as four of the other eight Western regional champions have succeeded in doing in the NCAA finals dating back to 1939.

First order of business for Coach Jack Gray's Longhorns, who are heralded as one of the finest cage teams ever assembled in Texas, is that of disposing of the Wyoming Cowboys, the team that beat them in the 1943 Western regionals.

If they pass the Wyoming test the Texans still must beat the winner of Friday night's opening game between Oregon State, the Pacific Coast champion, and the Big Six titlist Oklahoma before clashing with the Eastern representative in New York March 25.

The Texas-Wyoming game will have special meaning to five of the starting players, John Harris and Roy Cox of Texas, and Jimmy Reese, Floyd Volker and Jim Campbell of Wyoming each were members of the teams representing their schools here four years ago.

MIDLAND GROUP TO ATTEND MONAHAN'S C OF C BANQUET

Bulldogs Hold Three-Hour Drill

The Midland High School Bulldogs held one of the longest practice sessions of the Spring training program Wednesday afternoon on Lackey field. For more than three hours Coach Barnes Milam put the boys through their paces in preparation for the inter-squad game Friday afternoon.

Several of the boys who have been ill with influenza were out for the Wednesday workout. Only five or six members of the group now remain incapacitated.

The coaches were very pleased with the showing made during the session. Pass offense and defense drills were held as were downfield tackling and blocking by the backfield.

Houston Ranks Sixth In Number Of Murders

HOUSTON — (AP) — Houston ranked sixth among the nation's cities in the number of murders during 1946, a report issued by the Federal Bureau of Investigation shows.

The report has these homicide figures for American cities: New York 346, Chicago 231, Philadelphia 253, Los Angeles 116, Detroit 109 and Houston 106.

Nation To Pay Tribute To Babe Ruth Who Set Pace For Golden Sports Era

By FRANK ECK

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Babe Ruth was a symbol of the first Golden Era of Sports which produced a Jack Dempsey, a Bobby Jones, a Bill Tilden and other fabulous athletes. This Golden Era blossomed after World War I, and experts are calling us another golden sports age — perhaps even a greater one — is dawning.

No matter how great the athletes of the new Golden Age, however, Ruth's feats probably never will be matched, so much did he do for baseball and the kid in the street.

Because he contributed so much to the American game of baseball, Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler has declared Sunday, April 27, "National Babe Ruth Day."

It was just 20 years ago that the Babe had his biggest homerun season.

Baseball record books show that Ruth hit 60 homers in 1927 and 730 during 22 years in the majors — both still top marks — but they fail to show the color he put in the game when it was near disaster following the Black Sox scandal of the 1919 World Series.

A Massive Figure

You had to see Ruth hit a home run to appreciate him. At the plate he was a massive man with spindly legs that looked like they might crack. He was six feet two and weighed about 215 pounds in his playing days. He put every ounce of the power at his disposal in his drives.

Ruth's home runs were authentic. Most of them were line drives that tore into the right field bleachers or over the fences. But it was the way the great left-handed hitter stood and the manner in which he held that big bat of his that drew the attention of everybody in the ballpark.

He'd take his stance with toes turned in and feet not too far apart. He held his bat at the tip end of the handle and you marvelled at the speed with which he brought the club around to meet the pitch. And when he missed the sphere he did it with color, often cussing at the catcher and daring the pitcher to toss another around the strike zone.

Called World Series Homer

Ruth was at his best when someone rubbed his fur the wrong way. He remembered many of his homers but the one he always liked to talk about came against the Chicago Cubs in the 1932 World Series.

As the Bambino strode plateward one of the Cubs rolled a lemon toward him and several players called him names.

It was the climax to a feud that started in the opening game when Ruth called the Cubs "cheapskates" for voting his former pal, Mark Koenig, only a half share in the series.

Fists flew in the first two games. In the third they were worse. Then the Cubs rolled out the lemon.

Charley Root breezed in a strike and Babe held up one finger. Root sent another through the grove and Ruth put up two outstretched fingers.

Then Ruth stepped back as if to leave the batter's box. He pointed toward the Wright Field fence. Root wound up but Babe was ready. The ball sailed out of the park to break a 4-4 fifth-inning tie.

Ruth hurled the final insult in that memorable game. As he jugged around the bases he yelled: "Squeeze the Eagle Club."

Down through the years it has been known as the "home run Babe Ruth called." Sports writers credit this homer — Ruth's second of the game — as the blow that broke the backs of the National League.

The Yanks swept the series in four straight games.

Ruth's salary ran from a $600 a year contract with the Baltimore Orioles in 1914 to a two-year contract at $80,000 a year with the New York Yankees in 1930-31. No player ever has reached the latter figure although, in these days of inflation, Pitcher Bobby Feller of the Cleveland Indians and Outfielder Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox home run hitter, are closing in.

But Ruth was a Feller and a Williams rolled into one. He could pitch with the best, hit homers and play any position on the diamond. He proved this in his numerous oarstraining campaigns throughout this country and in Japan.

Ruth came up as a pitcher with the Boston Red Sox, winning his first game, 4-3, against Cleveland, July 11, 1914, after Jack Dunn of the Baltimore Orioles had sold him and two other players for $22,000.

The following year he won 18 games for the Red Sox and 23 in each of the next two seasons. He still holds the record for pitching 29 straight scoreless World Series innings — 13 in 1916 against the Dodgers and 16 two years later against the Cubs. In 1916 he pitched and won the longest World Series game on record, beating Brooklyn, 2-1, in 14 innings.

The Babe was born, if records are correct, on Feb. 7, 1895, in Baltimore. His mother died when he was five. His father was killed soon after.

At the age of seven Ruth was sent to the St. Mary's Industrial Home, a Baltimore Catholic institution. Brother Gilbert, an instructor there, took an especial interest in Ruth and was responsible for his start in the game in which he eventually made well over a million dollars. His salaries totaled $372,000, but there was much additional revenue from exhibition games, food sponsorships and signing articles.

When Ruth was 19, Brother Gilbert told him he was to report to Baltimore. "Here comes another of Dunn's babes," said the Orioles, and the name Babe stuck.

After five seasons in Boston during which he played the outfield and pitched—Ruth won 87 games and lost 44—Harry Frazee, Red Sox owner, sold him to Jacob Ruppert and the Yankees for $125,000.

54 Homers In First Season

In 1920, Ruth's first season with the Yankees, he cracked out the almost unbelievable total of 54 homers. The next season he hit 59. For 15 seasons he hit 22 or more homers as a Yank and in only two campaigns did he go below 34.

Despite his success, Ruth never got to realize his one ambition—to manage the Yankees. Ruppert once offered him the managing post in Newark but Ruth refused, saying it was the top job or nothing.

Ruth asked for his release after the '34 season to become an assistant manager and player with the Boston Braves. He played in 28 games for the Braves and hit six homers, three of them in one game at Pittsburgh.

Babe left the game for the next few years and didn't return until 1938 when Larry MacPhail hired him as a coach for the Brooklyn Dodgers at $15,000. The position lasted only a few months, however.

During baseball's off-season months he was the most celebrated holdout sports ever knew. Even as a hospital case—he came down with the flu many a winter—he drew as much national attention as a sick President.

His name was baseball itself even in countries that failed to find a thrill in the contact of bat and ball.

During the war Japanese soldiers, about to make one of their many suicidal charges, paid Babe a high tribute in the jungles of New Britain when they shouted: "To hell with Babe Ruth!"

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

General Ira Eaker Of Eden, Texas Will Retire From Army August 15

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Four-star Gen. Ira Eaker of Eden, near San Angelo, will go on terminal leave June 15 and be retired officially two months later.

The deputy chief of the Army Air Forces doesn't know yet just where he will settle down finally except that he plans to build a fishing shack on the Rogue River in Oregon and spend at least a month there each year.

At a recent dinner given for Texas members of Congress by Bob Smith, president of Pioneer Airlines, some of the legislators started joshing Eaker about homesteading.

Whereas many regular army and navy officers lose their state interests and identities somewhat, these two are regular attendants at Texas gatherings here.

When Eaker and his wife, who was born in North Carolina and reared in Washington, D. C., leave in mid-June, they will go first to Minneapolis to visit friends, then to Colorado and California for a few weeks, and then to Oregon to find that fishing cabin site. They plan to return to Washington in November, then strike out on a tour of several Latin American countries.

As for choosing a permanent residence, they'll do that when they have time to consider the matter. Meanwhile, adds the affable general, he will do some writing based on his 30 years in the Army in the hope that some of the observations may help guide this country away from pitfalls of the past.

As for Nimitz' retirement, there won't be any in the same sense as virtually all other army and navy officers retire.

He is in a particular status occupied by only three others in the Navy—Admirals Ernest King, William Halsey and William Leahy.

They are permanent five-star officers who remain on full pay and are not eligible to ordinary retirement. As long as they are physically and mentally fit, they are subject to immediate recall to active service as "elder military and naval" advisors. Although retired in one sense of the word, or on "inactive" status, they are in closer contact with the War and Navy Departments and are not supposed to take a full time job with private industry.

Nimitz' present two-year assignment as chief of Naval operations continues until December 15. He has made it clear he does not intend to go on an inactive status before that time. After that he and his wife, who was born on Cape Cod near Boston, plan to get in a lot of world traveling together.

Whether they may settle down eventually in the West Texas hill country near Fredericksburg, where he was born, is a matter which apparently hasn't been settled. Accepting invitations to visit friends they have made in 46 years of naval service could keep them traveling quite a while.

SECTION TWO

Patients Not Truthful, Physicians Are Told

DALLAS—(AP)—A new patient rarely is truthful with his doctor, Dr. John C. Whitehorn, professor of psychiatry at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, says.

Whitehorn, speaking at the 16th annual conference of the Southern Clinical Society, said "young doctors often are astonished when they realize patients are telling them bare-faced lies."

"But it is uncommon for patients to be 100 per cent honest with their physician at the start. You might say they are being untruthful as a defense measure. They exaggerate symptoms to be absolutely certain the doctor will take careful heed of their condition. They complain about pains they no longer feel—they limp a little longer than is necessary. Some individuals hide important symptoms from their doctor—afraid of what those symptoms might mean."

Congressional Directory Is Just Off Press

The new congressional directory for the 80th Congress, a 900-page book, is just off the press.

Longest of all biographical sketches of Texans in the volume is that of 33-year-old East Texas Congressman Lindsey Beckworth of Gilmer. Shortest is that of the Rio Grande Valley representative, which simply reads: "Milton H. West, Democrat, of Brownsville, Texas." Beckworth's is 27 lines.

Hitler Upside Down

CHICAGO—(AP)—Stephen Mull, 43, a native of Germany, seeking citizenship in federal court, explained to Judge John Barnes why he had a picture of Adolf Hitler in his home.

"I keep it," he said, "because it looks funny when you turn it upside down."

After Irving Freedman, naturalization attorney, told the court Mull had objected to bearing arms against Germany unless he were an American citizen, Mull was denied citizenship.

According to the Koran, all the angels except Eblis paid homage to Adam and Eblis was expelled from paradise for his refusal, later tempting Adam and Eve to sin by way of revenge.

Methodists Finance State College Centers

DALLAS—(AP)—Three conferences have contributed $213,000 toward a $440,000 fund for Methodist student centers at state colleges, it was announced by Rev. Glenn Flinn, state director of the campaign.

Flinn said that North Texas had filled its quota of $78,000, Northwest Texas $85,000 and Central Texas $50,000. He said the Texas and Southwest Conferences would conduct their campaigns during the conference year beginning in June.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture was established in 1889.

RED CROSS WILL AID FAMILIES OF WAR DEAD

AUSTIN—(AP)—Red Cross chapters in Texas are being prepared to give information to next of kin who are now being asked to indicate what disposition they wish to make of war dead buried overseas, Robert Joiner, state relations officer said.

U. S. DIPLOMATIC MISSIONS RAISED TO EMBASSY RANK

WASHINGTON—(AP)—United States and Siam have agreed to raise their diplomatic missions to embassy rank and to exchange ambassadors, the State Department announced recently.

U.S. railroads bought 125 million tons of coal in 1945.

Express Company Forbids Use Of Military Scrip

FRANKFURT—(AP)—Use of military scrip in American Express Company offices outside the American Occupation Zone of Germany was forbidden recently, with the exception of Paris, where scrip may still be used to buy services and travelers checks.

Enrich Menus With Cheese

Carrots and cauliflower in square dish with cheese sauce.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Looking for a protein-rich meatless main dish for the Lenten menu? Here's a delicious answer.

Peanut Butter Souffle

Two tablespoons fat, 6 tablespoons flour, 1 1/2 cups milk, 3/4 cup peanut butter, 4 eggs, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice.

Make a white sauce from the fat, flour and milk, cooking it thoroughly. Remove from heat, add peanut butter and pour over well-beaten egg yolks. Mix thoroughly, add lemon juice and salt. Cool. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake 30 to 60 minutes depending on size and type dish in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) Serve immediately.

Fish and Chips
(Serves 6)

One cup sifted flour, 1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, well beaten, 2/3 cup milk, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 2 packages quick-frozen fillet of cod, thawed, salt, pepper, lemon juice.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift again. Combine eggs, milk, and melted butter; add to flour mixture and beat until smooth.

Cut thawed fillets in thirds and split each, making 6 pieces. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, and lemon juice. Dip each piece in batter. (Let excess batter run off.) Fry in deep fat (370 degrees F.) 4 minutes, or until done. Drain on unglazed paper. Serve with thin French fried potatoes and coleslaw or tartar sauce.

Zoo Superintendent Says Smelling Brave Aids Animal Handlers

By LYDEL SIMS

MEMPHIS, TENN. — (AP) — Mel says the thing to remember about chumming around with wild animals is not to smell scared.

"And you can't fool 'em by acting brave if you aren't," he warns. "One whiff and they know the truth."

Don't ask in the midsouth who Mel is. Some youngster will look at you with scorn and explain that he's the world's greatest animal trainer, that's all.

To more conservative folks, he's N. J. Melroy, superintendent of Overton Park Zoo, the South's largest and the home of daily free circuses for children in the summer.

Animals have always fascinated Mel. Early in his married life he dumped a nest-full of baby possums into bed with his wife one cold night.

To a man who emerged from this experience unscratched, a nimal training was a cinch. So Mel joined up with an outfit known as the Mighty Haag's One-Ring Circus. Before he settled down with the Memphis zoo more than 20 years ago, he'd worked with all the major circuses and most of the minor ones.

Children Pet Lions

Mel lets brave children stroke the lions' manes, and they love him for it. Himself, he fraternizes with the beasts on a plane that gives ordinary mortals goose-pimples. He's doctor, nurse, midwife and confidante for all of them, from Venus the hippo down to Olive Oyl, the bereaved chimpanzee who won't be good for anybody but Mel since her mate died.

Like Adam, Mel has named practically all the animals in his domain. He plays around with new ideas for hybrids, sends baby hippos to other zoos by air express, and soft-talks the animals till there's hardly a one in the zoo that won't come when he calls.

Mel explained that to smell a beast doesn't like is to smell fright. "You've heard stuff about wild animals going berserk at the smell of blood? Pooley. Why, I've tested it. I've rubbed bloody meat all over my hand, and all they'd do was lick it. They knew I wasn't scared."

That missing finger? "Well, that was something different. I was studying the eyes of a sick polar bear so closely that I forgot . . ."

British Royalty Will Receive Texas Fruit

HARLINGEN — (AP) — The British royal family will soon be sent ten boxes of fancy Texas citrus fruit.

The gift of the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers Association will be included in the 50,000-box cargo to be loaded at Brownsville March 25 aboard the freighter Chippico. This shipment will be the last of several to be exported to England this season.

Veterans Reinstate Service Life Policies

DALLAS — (AP) — National Service Life Insurance policies totaling $645,265 were reinstated in the Dallas region of the Veterans Administration during the week ending March 12, VA has announced. Dallas led the seven other regional offices in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi in both the individual policies and amounts of the revived contracts.

These Students Had A Lot Of Pull

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — Glenn Hosman interrupted Miss Mary Eleanor Bell's fourth grade class at Searritt School to announce that he had pulled a tooth.

After an arithmetic test Dorothy Rodina announced she had a loose tooth and pulled it.

Then Dora Lee Vance pulled a tooth.

James Benton followed suit.

At Recess Dora Lee Vance and

James each pulled another tooth. Before the day was over three other children lost teeth.

TO SPONSOR TEXAS CAMP

LAREDO — (AP) — A try-out camp sponsored by the New York Giants will be held here June 4-7. Bill Lacy, Giant scout, announced. Any boy who is a high school graduate and is from 17 to 24 years of age will be eligible for try-outs.

BEAR CAPITAL BEARS

BERN, SWITZERLAND — (AP) — Two sets of cub triplets and a pair of twins, born during the winter, are to make their debut in the bear pits here on Easter Sunday. Bern has maintained the bear pits for many years because the name of the Swiss capital was derived from an ancient word for bears.

The belief that a rattlesnake will not crawl over a hair rope is false.

U. S. CURBS ADOPTION OF GERMAN CHILDREN

FRANKFURT — (AP) — Large numbers of American soldiers and their wives are trying to adopt German children in the U. S. occupation zone.

A statement issued by the military government of Hesse said adoption would not be permitted until a uniform policy for the entire zone was formulated.

Fruit Juice Salad Dressing

1 cup grapefruit juice
1 cup juice in which dried apricots were cooked (or any canned fruit juice)
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon mustard
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 egg

Mix sugar and cornstarch well with salt, dissolve in the 2 cups fruit juice and stir over low flame until slightly thickened. Add lightly beaten egg and cook two minutes longer. Remove from flame, add mustard and vinegar, and whip until smooth. If more sugar is desired by those who do not like dressing so tart, this may be added last. Store in covered refrigerator jar. Good on all fruit salads, on just plain lettuce, too; but best of all on avocado! Lay half avocado on bed of shredded lettuce and put tablespoonful of this dressing in place where seed came out. It's really luscious!

Secrecy Shrouds War's Cast-Off Ships In Fleet That Runs Palestine Blockade

By S. BURTON HEATH
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Last Christmas Day, an 800-ton yacht once named Cytherea cleared customs in New York. For two days she lay anchored in the outer harbor. Then, very quietly, she stood out for Marseilles.

She flew the Honduran flag. Her crew numbered 23. She had been reconstructed to turn every possible cubic foot into passenger space. She carried stores for hundreds of persons. But she had no passengers and no cargo. Her only pay load was 1000 army-type mess kits and 1500 standard life jackets.

Two months later the 1800-ton former Chesapeake Bay liner President Warfield stole mysteriously out of Baltimore, under the Panamanian flag. Though she had cleared for China she had no charts of China waters. Her crew numbered 40, she was amply provisioned, she had no passengers, yet she carried 35 tons of life jackets and army-type mess kits.

On March 6 the President Warfield limped back into Hampton Roads her seams sprung by heavy seas in a severe Atlantic storm. Her captain said he didn't know where she really had been bound. His orders were to take her to Palestine and turn her over to another skipper—or somebody.

On March 9 the 800-ton yacht April was seized by the British at Haifa, Palestine. She was the former Cytherea. Her crew then numbered 24, including two American and one French newspapermen. Two others were Norwegians with first U. S. Citizenship papers. The rest were full American citizens. There were 599 passengers—385 men, 194 women, 20 children, all Jewish "refugees" seeking to establish homes in Palestine.

The April, informally known as the Ben Hecht, is the first American-bought refugee-smuggling craft known to have reached the Mediterranean. The President Warfield probably was to have been the second. The British had a tip the April was being followed.

But the British weren't sure. The purchase, refitting and operation of these ships are carried on with so much secrecy that no outsider really knows how many may actually be in use.

Shipping circles do know the refugee fleet is large and active. It ranges from motorboats and yachts up to good-sized steamers. French sources estimated recently that as many as 70 off Marseilles and Spezia, Italy. The many vessels show up once in a while to refuel, take up remarkably large stores of provisions, and go about their business. Now and then the British get one, but apparently many get through.

Most of those in use were picked up in Europe. A Stockholm dispatch recently said the British were protesting the sale of old Swedish ships to the Panamanian Shipping Co. for the Palestine "smuggling business."

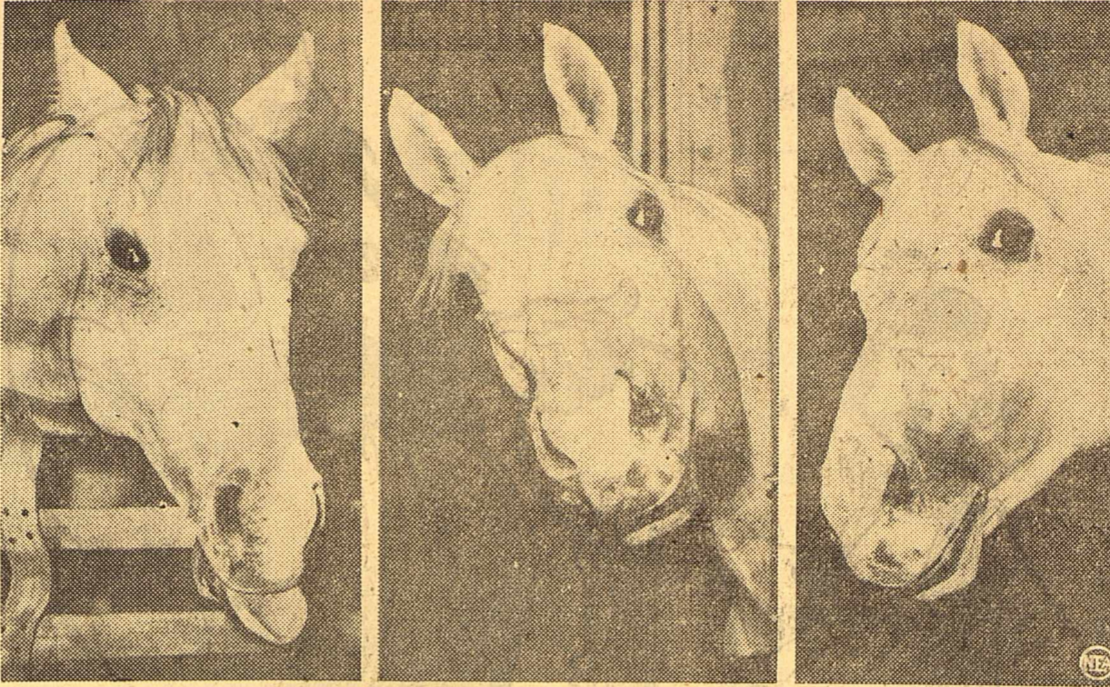

Last fall a Greek named Eliades, described as owner of the Peronanda Navigation Company, bought five and gave them Saint's names. One got to Haifa, two went to Marseilles and had their crews replaced, two were refitted at Stockholm and Göteborg while they waited for the ice to break up.

Both the U. S. and the Swedish governments say there is nothing illegal about such sales under their laws. The ships are bought, honestly. They are registered under Central American flags. They obey national laws while in our ports.

The April is owned in the name of the Tyre Shipping Co. This is properly incorporated in New York. One incorporator was Alexander Wilf, described as vice-chairman of the American League for a free Palestine.

The League is headed by former U. S. Senator Guy M. Gillette of Iowa. It has raised some $300,000,000 for the Palestinian movement, including proceeds of Ben

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE . . .

... and Naturally Admiration coffee

Though there may be many versions and differences of opinion about the "original" kind of strawberry shortcake—it is still universally conceded to be one of the most delicious desserts. But it is unanimously agreed that the really fine coffee is "Cup-Tested" ADMIRATION—the superb complement to an equally superb dessert.

ADMIRATION'S full, mellow flavor—its abundant richness—and its fragrant aroma are kept in a high tradition by the same experts who originated the famous ADMIRATION blend. Only the finest coffees can give you this superior blend—and only the personally "Cup-Tested" ADMIRATION method can assure you the same quality—package after package.

The World Citizen

At Lake Success the members of the United Nations Human Rights Commission have begun work on a unique project. It is the creation of a new political being upon the face of the earth—the world citizen.

Even if the new world citizen is a confirmed stay-at-home, he will be a world citizen all the same. He won't be a cosmopolite, although the Greek words kosmos and polites do mean world citizen. For we think of a cosmopolite as a man of the world, at home in any country.

Politically, this new being will resemble everyone engaged in making him. He will have traces of socialism, communism and capitalistic democracy. His character will be influenced by various religious and philosophies. But he will finally emerge with a new look—the look of a person who has certain definite rights which must be recognized and respected, wherever on the face of the earth he happens to live.

The world citizen will mature slowly. We who are living today may see him only in his infancy, for the people appointed to create him don't even know how to commence. Each knows how he wants his own particular world citizen to look, but right now there is no agreement. The commission members are like the fairies in the nursery stories who stand around the cradle of a new-born prince, endowing him with this quality and that.

Take Tepliakov of the Soviet Union, for instance. He's not sure what rights he wants the new world citizen to have. But he's pretty definite about some of the things he doesn't want him to have.

Tepliakov would leave out the following: The rights of life, personal liberty and protection from slavery and compulsory labor; the right to petition national governments and the United Nations; the rights of property, freedom of movement and resistance to oppression; the right of protection from unlawful expropriation and retroactive penal laws.

Dr. Malik of Lebanon, on the other hand, wants the world citizen to be a free, independent individual, first and last. He would put the "human person" above class, nation and race. He calls the world citizen's mind and conscience the most sacred and inviolable thing about him. He thinks that forcing the world citizen's consent by any social pressure is wrong. In short, he believes the state exists for the individual—an idea which doesn't please Tepliakov at all.

This disagreement among the creators means that their work will be long and difficult. But that is to be expected, and it is not discouraging. At least the creators are assembled and are laying out an assortment of ingredients which they want to see used.

Eventually the creators should be able to agree on enough selections from the assortment to build a being who embodies the rights of all men. The only immediate danger is that one of the creators might get mad, pick up his ingredients, and go home.

Who will protect the rights of this new world citizen—who is all the inhabitants of the earth—in that distant day when he is an actuality? How will the government which denies him these rights be punished? Those are difficult questions. They will have to be dealt with sometime, but not now. The immediate problem is to create the world citizen, for a permanently peaceful world is not possible without him.

Overlooked Virtues

The reasons behind proposed legislation to ban industry-wide collective bargaining are apparent. The country already has seen what happens when bargaining breaks down in basic industries like coal and steel and industry-wide strikes are called.

But recent days have shown the country another aspect of the controversy. An industry-wide agreement in the construction field has set up machinery for voluntary settlement of disputes without strikes. By mutual agreement contracts have been extended in a large segment of the steel industry pending the completion of negotiations. Such extensions promise to become industry-wide. A similar stop has been taken in the New York dressmaking establishments.

There is also the intricate task of simplifying job classifications in the steel industry. This work, which has removed the threat of a lot of potential disputes, has virtually been completed in the United States Steel Corporation and agreed to in principle by the other big companies.

The nation needs protection from the economic paralysis of nationwide strikes in key industries. This should not, however, prevent or wipe out the protection given by industry-wide efforts to settle troubles peaceably.

Just Around The Corner

There's a rainbow round our shoulder. The future's full of hope. Stop the presses. Good news from Washington.

American business, bedeviled by strikes, shortages, red ink, taxes and what not, is going to get a break this year. It will have only about 4,000 forms to prepare for Uncle Sam.

John Q. Public, who can't sleep nights for worrying about one form—his income tax return—may shudder at thought of 4,000 of them, some in triplicate, quadruplicate, and on up the line. But business at the peak of war-time government curiosity had some 6,200 forms to fill out and send in, under penalty.

Hecht's "A Flag Is Born." This all has been turned over to the Repatriation Commission of the Liberation. Some of it is used to buy ships to take refugees to Palestine. The mechanics of the smuggling are handled by the same underground "railroad" that, during the war, freed some 40,000 Jews from Gestapo clutches.
The Abril cost the movement $36,100 when she was bought from the government as surplus after serving the Navy as the PY-31, a converted yacht on patrol duty.
The government got $8,028 for the President Warfield from the Potomac Shipwrecking Co., which sold her almost immediately to the Chinese - American Industrial Co. Marine gossip says the resale price was $40,000. She was sold again to the Weston Trading Co. The Alcoa Steamship Co. is said to be her agent.
Alcoa referred one reporter to Weston. He found a man counting money from a steel security box in a cubby-hole office in an aged downtown building. Another man was whispering into a wall-type coin box telephone. There is no listed number for the office. These men referred the reporter back to Alcoa for information.
A Palestinian source said the Warfield was owned by the underground organization, Haganah, and gave an unlisted telephone number.

"Warfield? Warfield? How do you spell it?" asked the voice that answered.

Marine circles have little doubt that many yachts and other small boats now being bought from the Maritime Commission's surplus at small prices, are for the Mediterranean refugee-smuggling business. But to trace each one is a major job of sleuthing.

That's as Haganah wants it. To run the Palestine blockade takes a dark night—and a ship nobody talks about.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Do Men Like Women?
Maybe you read that recent article in a national magazine, claiming that American men don't really like the company of women. They just put them up on a pedestal and leave them there.
But I wouldn't say that that was so in our town. Look at any married couple—like the Cuppers. Jane wouldn't nag if Dee spent his evenings "with the boys"—but actually Dee likes nothing better than to stay home by the fire, sharing a glass of beer with Jane, playing cribbage, or just talking.
And when he does go out, for an afternoon of fishing down at Seward's Creek, or for an evening glass of beer at Andy Botkin's Garden Tavern, Jane is almost always with him (except when she's got a spot of baking in the oven).
From where I sit, respect doesn't rule out everyday companionship... and never should. They go together—essential parts of a successful marriage.

Your family needs lots of vitamins and protein to withstand March weather. Try this sturdy dish—good for Lenten menus, too.
Carrots and Cauliflower with Cheese Sauce
(Serves 4)

Six small carrots, 1 small head cauliflower, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 cup milk, 6 ounces sharp cheese, parsley.
Scrape carrots and cut in half lengthwise. Cook carrots in salted water in a 1 1/2-quart saucepan until almost tender. Break cauliflower into large flowerets and cook in salted water in a 1 1/2-quart saucepan until almost tender. For cheese sauce, melt butter in top of double boiler. Combine flour, salt and mustard and stir into melted butter. Add milk and stir constantly until sauce is smooth and slightly thickened. Stir in cheese which has been cut into small pieces. Continue cooking until cheese is melted and mixture is smooth and thick. Arrange carrots diagonally in a heat-resistant glass square cake dish, eight-inch size. Fill in spaces around carrots with cauliflower. Pour cheese sauce over all and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F) for 10 to 12 minutes. Garnish with parsley and serve.

Cheese Egg Float
(Serves 4-6)
Three tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon onion juice, 1/2 teaspoon celery salt, 6 eggs, 1 cup grated sharp cheese.
Melt butter in saucepan, blend in flour, and add milk and seasonings, stirring constantly over low heat until thickened. Pour into flat buttered baking dish. Break eggs and drop on surface; sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F) for about 10 minutes, or until eggs are done to desired degree and cheese is nicely toasted. Serve on hot buttered toast.

Both U. S. And Russia Claim They Have Democracy—But Different Kinds

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—What is Democracy? We claim we have it in the United States. The Russians claim they have it.
It has meant different things to different men, and still does.
The Greeks claimed it 400 years before Christ. In their city states the citizens voted, held office, made laws.
But citizenship was by birth only. Their Democracy was built on slave labor. In shining Athens one-third of the population was slave.
In this country Democracy now is different from what it was. We, too, helped build our Democracy on slave labor.
The 1776 Declaration of Independence said "all men are created equal" and the Constitution of 1791 guaranteed freedom, but Southern slaves were not freed until the Civil War.
(The word "Democracy" doesn't appear in the Declaration or the Constitution.

(Historian Charles Beard in his "The Republic" says the Constitution framers considered it a word "to be dreaded rather than encouraged.")
One Definition
Here is a try at what we mean by Democracy in this country now: Freedom of speech, press, assembly, religion, and trial by jury.
We claim we have political Democracy: the people are the government and, from the candidates of opposing political parties, choose their candidates to run it.
According to this, one man's vote is as good as another's. Which would mean: we have political Democracy, or equality. This isn't so. The South negroes don't have political equality because of the various devices used to keep them from voting.
And we don't have social equality. In the South, and elsewhere, negroes are considered social inferiors and are so treated.
We don't have social and economic equality—since we have the rich, middle and poorer classes—although men are free to move up, if they can.
The Russians look at us and say: We have complete social and economic Democracy, or equality. Your idea of political Democracy is absurd.
The Communists, overthrowing the land and money-owning classes, set up what they call the dictatorship of the proletariat, the workers and peasants.
(There's a dictatorship there, all right, but it's the dictatorship of the Communist Party.
(Of Russia's 190,000,000 people, probably not more than 5,000,000 are members of the Communist Party. No one can join just by asking. He must qualify, be obedient, and dedicate himself to party work.)
In 1938 Ambassador Joseph E. Davies, in his book, "Mission To Moscow," wrote:
"No (Russian) household, however humble, apparently, but what lives in constant fear of a nocturnal raid by the secret police."
That is what Secretary of State Marshall must have had in mind when he told the Russians in Moscow:
"To us a society is not Democratic if men who respect the rights of their fellow men are not free to express their own beliefs and convictions without fear that they may be snatched away from their home or families."

Take the Laughter

Copyright by Karen DeWolf Distributed by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Sherry is almost well. Marcia returns from a business trip and helps the boys care for her. The boys are all working. Dr. Drexell tells Sherry not to worry about his bill. Peter has said something about Sherry being the only girl in the world for him and Sherry hopes he does not mean it seriously.

XIX
It was nearly a week later when the boys took her to Henri's one night.

Sherry had to have chocolate ice cream instead of coffee, and the boys had wine because it was a celebration.

After a while some studio people joined them and Sherry began to look a little tired. The boys decided that Tony should take her home.

When he stopped the car in front of the house Sherry hated to get out. She laid her head back and gazed up at the still treetops and the low stars and the warm pink glow that always hung over the boulevard.

"Couldn't we go for a little ride, Tony?" she wanted to know. "It's such a gorgeous night."

Tony said indeed not, that she should be in bed right then; and Sherry sighed and got out.

She could feel the heat pressing gently against her as they crossed the still court. Tony opened the door to Hidden House and felt for a light.

Sherry said, "Don't, Tony. It's nice like this."

"But you'll go right to bed?" he asked, and Sherry said she would. "Then good night, sweet, sleep well," Tony said, and Sherry lifted her face for the usual kiss.

Their lips met and suddenly Sherry felt a queer warm surge, and her breath struck. She drew her lips away quickly because she was surprised, and buried her flushed face on Tony's shoulder. He held her close.

Sherry thought this was too queer for words when Tony had kissed her at least a hundred times before. But because it had felt so nice, and because she wondered if it could possibly happen again, she lifted her face to his.

For a moment their lips clung and Sherry felt Tony's arms about her tight.

Suddenly Tony stopped kissing her, and said, "Good night, sweet," rather huskily, and went out and closed the door.

Sherry's head whirled and she wanted to run after him and make him hold her again, but she could not move. She held to the door-knob and sank to her knees.

"Tony," she said, "Tony."

When Sherry woke up the next morning she did not remember at first. She knew she was ecstatically happy, then she thought of Tony. She closed her eyes for a moment to recapture a little of last night's magic, and then she saw the time and got up.

She flew through her bathing and dressing, and hummed a little Viennese love song that Tony had taught her once. When she got to the boys' house for breakfast Tony had almost finished.

Sandro said, "But you are looking very shiny this morning," and Sherry said, "I'm happy," and looked at Tony.

Kris said, "Then don't look at him; he'd turn milk sour."

Tony said, "Hello."

Suddenly Sherry felt a little shy and self-conscious. She sat down at the table.

"Gosh knows what's eating him," Kris told her, "but he kept me awake all night smoking cigars. Then he couldn't get any hot water this morning."

Tony said, "And you've used all my razor blades. You'd think you could afford a few of your own now."

Sandro said, "It is your liver. You should drink water, Tony," and Tony said, "Oh, shut up."

Sherry was puzzled. Was it possible that Tony was unhappy about last night? Why he couldn't be! Unless—

She felt a little stab of pain. She stole a look at his lean, handsome face and felt a small poignant thrill at the sheer perfection of line in the sweep of his jaw. Yesterday there had been Tony and Sandro and Kris. Today there was just Tony.

Now he was getting up, and something tightened around Sherry's heart. She could not let him go like this! She could not be this miserable for a whole day!

She said, "I'll walk around to the car with you."

Tony said, "All right."

They walked through the court in silence.

When they reached the garage Tony got in the car and started the motor. Sherry thought she could not bear it. She put her hands tightly on the car door.

"Tony! You're not angry or anything, are you? I mean—at me?"

Tony stopped fussing with things on the dashboard and looked surprised.

He said, "Why of course not, Sherry!" as though such a thing was impossible.

Sherry knew he meant it and tears of relief sprang to her eyes. She said, "Oh, I'm glad."

Tony looked at her for a moment as though he wanted to make sure of something. Then he smiled very tenderly.

"You're sweet, Sherry," he told her. "I was afraid you might be angry at me about last night."

She looked at him very earnestly.

She said, "But why, Tony? Why ever should I be?"

Tony stared back at her as if to make very sure of what she had said. Suddenly his face relaxed and he looked relieved and happy and as though something very wonderful had happened.

He smiled and said, "Never mind my, sweet,—You wouldn't understand."

He leaned out of the car and she kissed her lightly and drove happily away; and Sherry stood and stared after him.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY America's Card Authority

Traveling around the country today, one finds good bridge players in every community. We met many fine players at the Winter Carnival Tournament at St. Paul, Minn., and their analysis of bridge hands was very interesting. For example, I listened in while a group discussed some points of bidding on today's hand. I am showing only the North and South hands because it is simply the bidding that we will follow.

Many players feel that a light opening bid is justified on distribution, and I agree, but after opening with less than an original bid, do not continue to be aggressive.

When North bid one heart, the consensus was that South should have signed the bidding off with a trump.

His proper bid was four clubs. This would have placed the whole burden upon North, who, with three small diamonds, would simply bid five clubs. However, when South bid three no trump, North took him to four clubs, North could not pass, with four quick tricks and a singleton. He could not visualize, with all that aggressive bidding, that South did not have an original bid—and he took the contract to six clubs.

If South had been lucky enough to find the ace of diamonds in the East hand, he could have made the contract; but unfortunately the ace-queen of diamonds were in the West hand. Thus a game was sacrificed by poor bidding.

Meteorologists theorize that our cold waves are caused by "chunks" breaking off the vast mass of cold air on top of the world, much as icebergs break off the Greenland ice-cap.

Between-class bull-session outside the School of Chemistry at Oxford occupies ex-GIs Alan Reeves of Cleveland (left), Robert Johnson of Wichita, Kan., (center) and Richard Rosenthal of San Francisco.

Through a Gothic arch framing the quadrangle of Corpus Christi College at Oxford University, Robert Newman of Hannibal, Mo. (center), walks to class with two English friends.

OXFORD, ENGLAND —(NEA)—A few dozen GIs have broken the educational ice for the international exchange of students that is to come.

It was a cold plunge. Uncle Sam forgot to pay their bills for a long time. "Embarrassing," said Robert Newman of Hannibal, Mo., with British-acquired understatement.

The Americans are studying under the GI Bill of Rights. They may be joined abroad by hundreds of other American university students as the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization's program for international student exchange gets going. Details of the UNESCO program still are being developed.

The GIs here just about wore out their welcome before the Veterans Administration got its bookkeeping straightened out.

For months the students received no subsistence allowances; the university no tuition fees. With one eye cocked towards the college auditors, the bursar at Corpus Christi became "exceedingly annoyed" at the failure of the VA to settle year-old tuition bills. But Oxford didn't press for payment.

And Newman said "Washington authorities seem to think that we are dealing with charitable institutions."

All that is passed now, the GIs hope. General Omar Bradley himself came to the rescue. A golden flow of treasury checks began arriving by air mail for U.S. students. The U.S. Embassy in London received over $175,000 in one lump to cover student fees and grants.

The untroubled minds of American students now are concentrating on Oxford's ancient wisdom.

Use Of Seismograph May Eliminate Surprise Attacks Of Ocean-Born Hurricanes For Quakes Trace Storms

By FRED BRADY
WESTON, MASS. (P)—Ocean born hurricanes may never again make surprise attacks on a world across which they have blasted death and ruin since winds began. Wherever in the world the great storms gather—if it's over water—alarms will flash to instruments and men who are sentinels against them.

The alarms will be long-unexplained marks on seismograph papers which reflect the vibrations of the earth, and one of the first men to recognize these marks as hurricane warnings was the Rev. Daniel Linehan, S. J., seismologist at the Weston Observatory of Boston College.

During the war when almost all other weather guards were lost his work guarded American shipping in the Atlantic from the dread ocean winds.

Alarms For Hurricanes
The alarms for hurricanes, Father Linehan explains, are the "small shakings" of the earth. "Great shakings" are earthquakes, and these have been known and charted on seismographs throughout the world since the turn of the century.

The "small shakings"—seismologists call them microseisms—have been noted too during all that time but were simply—and incorrectly—explained by the first Italian observers as "quakes too distant to register a strong seismograph recording."

Now to watch for these small shakings, Father Linehan reports, the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey have started a chain of seismograph stations in Florida, the West Indies and other spots of the hurricane belt.

They are the new watchers against such rioting winds as claimed 6,000 lives in Galveston, Texas in 1900, more than 2,000 lives in Florida in 1928 and 588 lives in New England 10 years later.

10 to 20 Hours Ahead
Microseism warnings, the Jesuit scholar says, start when the hurricane starts and generally will be 10 to 20 hours ahead of alarms from the standard weather instruments in use for 30 years, the barocyclo-meter.

Father Linehan accounts for the linking of microseisms and ocean-born hurricanes in this way:

When atmospheric pressure changes in the forming of a hurricane, the change is a jerky descent from high to low which develops "a pumping effect" from the atmosphere.

This creates thousands of tons of pressure over the water, making the ocean bob up and down and causing vibrations which radiate from the ocean bottom, magnified by the weight of ocean water.

Further magnification of such vibrations—from 400,000 to 1,000,000 times—is then accomplished by the receiver, the seismograph which after nearly 50 years of improvement employs electronics in measuring the vibrations of the earth.

Storms forming over shallow water or over land will not register on these instruments.

Father Linehan says his microseism observations began in 1938, and then in 1939, when Father Linehan, S. J., discovered 15 years ago a modern

15 years ago a connection between microseisms and monsoons, the year of the New England hurricane, and that during the war from his countryside laboratory 16 miles from Boston he was able to keep Washington informed of hurricanes building over the Atlantic.

He insists that credit for the discovery must be shared with the earlier work of two other Jesuits.

At Zi-ka-wei, near Shanghai in China, Father Gherzi discovered

15 years ago a connection between microseisms and monsoons, the year of the New England hurricane, and that during the war from his countryside laboratory 16 miles from Boston he was able to keep Washington informed of hurricanes building over the Atlantic.

He insists that credit for the discovery must be shared with room, where the six recorders of his newest seismograph stand in a line. Darkness is necessary for the recorders because a photographic process is used.

Himself a co-inventor of the Linehan-Arringdale small unit seismograph, Father Linehan is proudest of the instrument which tops the $200,000 worth of equipment in his cellars, the Benloff seismograph. Invented by a seismologist at the California Institute of Technology, the Benloff operates only there and at the Harvard observatory and for Father Linehan.

He says the earth takes a lot of watching.

"After the experience of a thousand readings," Father Linehan says, "a seismologist is about ready to interpret what the seismograph tells him."
